Democratic National Convention

Nominations Made and Balloting Begins

The total number of delegates attending the Democratic national convention in San Francisco is 1,092. Two-thirds of the delegates present, or 728, is necessary to nominate a presidential candidate.

This is the first national convention ever held on the Pacific Coast. The convention will be occupied until late Wednesday in the disposition of committee work, and the framing of a platform.

It is not expected the nomination of candidates will begin before Thursday, with the beginning of balloting late that day or Friday morning.

The Democratic conventions in past years have been featured by long deadlocks, the 1912 convention balloting 46 times before nominating Woodrow Wilson. In 1916, President Wilson was re-nominated by acclamation.

Of the 1,092 delegates attending the present convention, 730 are unattached, and these hold the balance of power by a wide margin.

The largest number of ballots ever taken to select a Democratic presidential candidate was in 1860 at Charleston, S. C., when the delegates balloted 57 times without a choice, and adjourned. Another convention was held a few weeks later in Baltimore, at which a candidate was chosen on the second ballot.

Under the party rules, 365 delegates can exercise the veto power on a nomination.

There are at least a dozen active candidates, with the odds favoring the naming of either William G. McAdoo or Governor Cox of Ohio. John W. Davis, ambassador to England, is a dark horse possibility.

San Francisco, June 30.—

Stripped for action the democratic national convention today swung into the business of selecting a presidential nominee. Meeting an hour earlier than usual, and working under an order of business which permitted the presentation of candidates before the party platform had been adopted the convention entered upon a day of demonstration and oratory which marks the placing of candidates in formal nomination. With all nominating addresses restricted to 20 minutes, seconding speeches to five and limited to not more than three in number to a candidate, each of the possibilities had not more than 35 minutes for full description of his merits and capacity for the nation's highest gift. Working under that high geared program it was within the range of possibilities that the nominating speeches would all be delivered today, thus clearing the way for the presentation of the platform the first thing Thursday morning if the resolutions committee can complete it by that time. Speeches were on the program nominating:

William G. McAdoo, Attorney General; Palmer, Governor Cox of Ohio, Chairman; Homer S. Cummings of the democratic national committee; Governor Edwards of New Jersey; Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska; James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany; Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma; John W. Davis, ambassador to Great Britain.

John W. Davis, ambassador to Great Britain, were all formally presented to the Democratic national convention today as presidential candidates during the first hour of its session.

New Mexico first on the call simply seconded the nomination of William Gibbs McAdoo. It was the signal for a demonstration which started in the galleries and spread to some delegations on the floor but did not last long.

North Carolina sent W. C. Newland, of Lenoir, to the platform to place in nomination senator Simmons for whom the North Carolina delegates are instructed.

Mrs. Martha Nelson McCann, of California, made a seconding speech for Simmons, merely saying:

"Ladies and gentlemen of the convention, I rise to second the nomination of Senator Simmons, of North Carolina."

North Dakota passed and Oregon announced that the delegates "joined the movement to draft the honorable William G. McAdoo."

The McAdoo boomers helped out by the band, made that the signal for another brief demonstration.

Rhode Island passed, so did South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas, and Utah announced that it seconded the nomination of McAdoo.

Vermont passed and Virginia sent representative Flood to the platform to nominate senator Glass, chairman of the resolutions committee.

A Lesson From Kansas

The first crop of homesteaders in Kansas mortgaged their land just as soon as they proved up—we mean out in Western Kansas. For a time there was a "boom," while the borrowed money was being passed out to the merchants and professional men. Finally there came a day when debts had to be paid—a period of liquidation. "You remember the result, you old homesteaders. When the crash came, Kansas was blamed. Every sort of explanation, but the right one, was made. Some blamed prohibition, while others cursed God and fled the state. Those who couldn't get away got relief by voting for Jerry Simpson and listening to Mary Yellin' Iness. There were no other types of "movies" those days.

In time the debts were paid, or else they outlawed, and then Jerry and Mary both died. The Populist party died about the same time. A new crop of farmers came in. Better methods of farming prevailed. Experience taught her lessons as to the sort of crops that were best adapted to the country, and seed selection was made with greater care and better judgment. The results that followed are too well known to justify elaboration. Land that went for the taxes or was taken for a mortgage of not over ten dollars an acre, often less than half that amount, is now selling for $50 to $200 per acre.—Exchange.

A U. S. Traveling Hospital Visits Carrizozo

Major J. J. Madigan, of the Fort Bliss base hospital, arrived here Sunday on a recruiting expedition. The major is accompanied by twelve enlisted men of the medical corps. They left here yesterday for Capitan, Roswell, and other points, where they will give demonstrations of the "Traveling Hospital." The party is accompanied by three motor trucks, equipped with every facility used in a hospital ward—the operating room, the medical room, and an X-Ray laboratory, where the stomach and food digestion may be seen as in an open book.

The U. S. army offers exceptional advantages to ambitious young men, especially in the medical corps. The pay is good, and promotion quick for those who take an interest in the service. Several young fellows joined the army here the past week and others agreed to do so as soon as they get through helping their folks harvest. The recruit has his choice of any branch of the service from Infantry to aviation.

Athletics form a prominent part in the life of a soldier at the present time. Every opportunity is offered in the way of equipment, instructions, etc., for any game. League base ball, football, basketball, boxing, wrestling, swimming.

Space is too limited to dwell more extensively in this paragraph, suffice to add that some of the best boxers, wrestlers, ball players and tennis players on the Border are members of the Fort Bliss Hospital Corps, most of whom got their first lesson there.

The training a young man gets in the army today is altogether different from the training in 1917-18, when the main purpose was to whip him into shape for fighting in the shortest possible time. After a few years in the army, a young man may return to civil life qualified to fill an important position, and command a good salary.

Major Madigan and the "Traveling Hospital" will stop at Nogal on the 3rd.

That Man McAdoo

The situation in regard to William Gibbs McAdoo and the Democratic nomination for presidency is without parallel in American political history. After having developed into one of the strongest candidates he suddenly withdrew his name from consideration by the convention. Normally this would end discussion of his name, but not this time. His original sponsor, a Kansas City preacher by the name of Jenkins, flatly refused to be governed by Mr. McAdoo's wishes in the matter, and announced that he would make the nominating speech anyhow, and while Mr. McAdoo has earnestly reiterated his declination, and asked Mr. Jenkins to forget it, he is actually growing stronger every day.

No one can doubt the honesty of Mr. McAdoo's purpose, or deny the possibility of his nomination. Few doubt that if he is nominated he will accept. History is not bristling with cases in which men have refused the nominations of a great political party, in this or any other country. There must

The County Institute

The Lincoln County Institute convened Monday June 29, 1920. Mrs. Florence Bartlett, conductor of the Institute is a native of Santa Fe. Mrs. Bartlett is a woman of excellent qualities and progressive educational ability. She added to her many credits, a Masters' Degree from the Colorado State College the past year. Her pleasing manner and her inspiring words are having a beneficial effect on those attending her classes.

Supt. D. N. Pope comes to us from the neighboring county of Chavez, where his work of the past several years in the Roswell City Schools is known to most of us. Mr. Pope's good nature and broad smile associated with his unusual ability as an instructor is making him many friends among teachers of Lincoln county.

The present enrollment is as follows: Mrs. Edna C. Burnett, Ida Browning, D. S. Nichols, Grace E. de Nisson, Sophia Jennings, Cora Curry, R. Lucas, H. P. Clark, Fred Burleson and J. H. Mims; Misses Mamie Humphrey, Rachel Hughes, Josephine Stetson, Susan Tully, Mary Fritz, Clara Peppis, Salka C. Bull, and Messrs Bert Paxton and T. P. McColister.

Mrs. Nora Massie left Wednesday afternoon for an extended trip through Colorado, Arizona and Utah. Mrs. Massie will attend the National Educational Association which will be held in Salt Lake City, July 4th to 10th.

The law requires that teachers attend the Institute ten days, which would interfere with the teachers attending the county picnic July 3rd, but being a very wide awake body, the teachers decided to do double duty on Wednesday to make up the time and will join in the activities of the celebration.

Mrs. E. E. Cole, wife of Superintendent Cole, who has been quite ill since leaving here for Las Vegas, is on the road to recovery.

Condemned Murderer Refused Clemency

Santa Fe, June 30.—A plea for commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment in the case of E. W. Blancett, was heard today by Governor Carrizozo, who refused to interfere with the course of the law. This means that Blancett will be hanged on July 9 in Santa Fe jail.

On appeal both the state supreme courts and the supreme court of the United States affirmed the decision of the lower court and ordered the sentence carried out.

Blancett was convicted of murdering his traveling companion, Clyde Armor, 20 miles east of Santa Fe, in October 1916.

A Booze Mill Seized Near Vaughn

Vaughn, N. M.—A large and completely equipped still for the making of illicit moonshine whisky was found and raided by prohibition officers last Thursday in the Manzana mountains near Vaughn. According to information obtained of the raid, the still was 50 gallon daily capacity. Three hundred gallons of moonshine whisky was also found and seized by the officers. Julius

The Nogal Picnic

Arrangements have been completed to entertain the people in the walnut grove at Nogal tomorrow (Saturday). A large crowd from Carrizozo is expected there; also from Capitan, Angus and other points. Nogal is one of the coolest places in the county on the Fourth for a gathering—plenty of room, and a cool breeze from the adjacent mountains will be found there.

A good program of sports has been arranged, and will consist of pony races, riding pitching broccos, roping and many other entertaining stunts will be pulled off in the afternoon.

A dancing pavillion has been erected for those who enjoy tripping the light fantastic, and the Ferguson orchestra of four-pieces has been engaged to furnish the inspiration.

It is believed, however, that transportation facilities will be short. Those who do not own cars will have to hustle to get there, and the number of service cars will not be sufficient to handle the crowd. It might be a good idea for the committee, to arrange with the Mesa people who own cars to put them into service in the forenoon and evening between Carrizozo and Nogal.

A June Bride

Miss Omi Easley, and Mrs. H. Marr, both of Alto, were quietly married in the Garney Hotel parlor last Saturday, the Rev. Douglas performing the ceremony. Mrs. Easley and Mrs. Marr, mothers of the contracting parties, and a couple of the girl friends of the bride were present.

The bride's parents are engaged in the mercantile business at Alto, and the groom is the son of W. H. Marr, a farmer and sawmill man, of the same place. The bridal party returned the same afternoon to Alto, where they will go to house-keeping.

"Out West Picnic"

The "Out West Picnic" has become a regular annual affair at Fort Stanton and attended each year by families from all parts of the county who love to spend a sane fourth, and there are few nicer places to spend "a day off" than on the banks of the Bonito, just above Fort Stanton. There is plenty of shade, and ample space for parking cars, and good grazing for teams. The committee in charge of the "Out West Picnic" is composed of people who know just how to put on a picnic of the "out west" kind.

From the fact that the Fourth of July falls on Sunday this year, the "Out West Picnic" will be held on Monday, July 5th.

Seek Lusitania Treasure

London, England.—Efforts to raise some of the treasure from the ill-fated Lusitania will be made soon. Engineers and divers who have been prospecting about the sunken liner believe that they can get at least thousands of pounds worth of valuables, but that it will be impossible to raise the steamer or much of the cargo, owing to the great depths of the water in which it is lying. The cargo is estimated at $1,000,000. $7,000,000 of

The New Mexico Oil Fields

The Picacho well No. 1, is down to a depth of 900 feet with showings of oil and gas. The lowering of 15 1-2 inch casings to shut off the water has been finished and drilling resumed.

The oil situation in the Tucumcari field is becoming more doubtful. The McGee well is down over 4,000 feet. The company is prepared to go 5,000 feet. If oil is not struck before that mark is reached the sponge will go up. McGee, however, is confident he will bring in a gusher.

The Lincoln Oil company announces that everything is in readiness to begin active drilling operations on the Lincoln well No. 1, northwest of Lake Arthur. This well has been closed down for sometime on account of the shortage of material.

The National Exploration expects to spend ten million dollars in development work in eastern New Mexico in search of oil. They have several wells drilling night and day near Roswell; the location for other wells will be announced by the company in the next few days.

Roswell, June 26.—The Roswell Oil Development company has granted an extension of 30 days to the National Exploration company for the spudding in of its No. 4 well. The National officials announce that they will have all material on the ground by July 1st, but that it will be impossible for them to start actual drilling before the first of August.

2,600 Miles in a "Henry"

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have returned from an extended overland trip which took them through many states and occupied a month and a half. They first visited the Palomas hot springs, going from there to the oil regions, of Texas. Then through parts of Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado, returning through northern New Mexico. Their last stop was at Santa Fe. Both Mr. and Mrs. Taylor look wonderfully improved. Julian most have added at least ten pounds to his avoirdupois on the trip. He reports the highways good and the weather conditions likewise. They ran into one rain storm in Texas, and narrowly missed a cyclone in Oklahoma; but in all other respects the going was pleasant. They traveled about 2,600 miles, at an expense for gas and oil of $25. The little Ford stood up well, and looked to be in as good shape as when they pulled out of here on the 16th of May.

Ball Game Sunday

The Carrizozo ball team will be called on Sunday afternoon to do their darndest, when it meets a Fort Bliss team. Ambulance Company No. 10 will arrive here early Sunday morning. This team has considerable of a reputation in El Paso and Fort Bliss, and should keep the local team hustling every minute for nine innings.

The indications are that it will be the best game of the season—provided that the boys are in good shape—that they don't absorb too much lambrada at Nogal

June Bride to Wear Old Lace

This year's bride may be an individual in the choice of her clothes as she pleases and still follow the latest dictates of fashion, for designers themselves, observes a prominent fashion correspondent, have chosen to be individual in the preparation of their models. Personal taste governs fashion today more than ever before, and in the hands of the smartly dressed woman lies the fate of every style.

The crowning triumph of the trousseau is the wedding dress, and the Paris designer spares no effort to have this exquisite. It is interesting to note a marked revival of the use of real lace in the bridal toilet, a tradition which was threatened with effacement from modern outfits. The newest bridal toilets are typical of the renaissance of the lace and the tulle industry of France and Belgium. Patient women workers in this field have again taken up making the delicate and intricate meshes characteristic of fine needle point.

Unfortunately, their numbers have been depleted by the war. Frail old women, expert in the art of lacemaking, died from fright, exposure and hardship during the long months of the struggle that went on in the north of France. Others voluntarily left lacemaking to engage in more profitable occupations. Thus lace has grown more precious, and some specimens are almost priceless.

Old Lace in New Settings.

Last year tulle was used almost exclusively for wedding veils, except by an Egyptian design. The foundation at it is of platted tulle. Over it the lace tulle is arranged in a low drapery. The skirt, as well as the bodice fullness, falls in puff and blousing draperies.

Strapping the figure in typically Egyptian mummy style are bands of silver ribbon which cross the shoulders and pass to each side of the figure, falling in pendant loops and ends at either side. The décolletage is Y-shape and only slightly low. Little puffs of tulle form the sleeves. The veil is a shower of tulle held in place by a diamond and platinum fillet.

Vivid-Toned Taffeta for Bridesmaid.

Decidedly different in type are the bridesmaid's dresses of vivid-toned taffetas which often have an all-over pattern of embroidery in open eyelet or broderie anglaise fashion. Such frocks are perfectly simple, with nothing more than an increased garland of roses and buds on each side of the little full skirt. Each attendant wears a different color; the favorite shades of spring being orchids pink, jonquil yellow, elegant rose and stem green.

Distinctly bridey are the new robes d'intérieures, without which no modern trousseau is complete. In fact, more emphasis is put on this sort of trousseau garment than on any other. A new Greek type of indoor dress, charming in its youthfulness and simplicity, has just been completed by a fashionable dressmaker for the trousseau of a June bride. It is developed in soft satin with a platted chiffon under petticoat, and delicate borders

Bride's dress of accordion platted silk tulle having an apron panel front made of a succession of narrow platts ending in sun-ray rosettes. With it is worn a real lace veil held in place by a diadem of orange blossoms mounted on a frame of silver filigree. Also a lace bridal dress of oriental form made over a foundation of platted tulle. Silver ribbon straps the figure in Egyptian mummy style. The shower veil of tulle is encircled by a diamond and platinum fillet.

those fortunate enough to possess beautiful old family laces. At that time nobody knew how long it would be before the lacemaking industry could be restored. Fortunately, this has taken a much shorter time than anyone anticipated.

Paris has fairly outdone herself in the creation of lovely bridal dresses developed entirely from tulle with long mantle-like veils of real lace. The tulle is not of that quality known as mailles, but is an all silk tulle net exactly imitating the hand-made meshes that form the foundation of real lace. Using this quality insures longevity, making it possible for the dress to serve several generations.

Nothing could be more girlish, simple and bride-like than the dress entirely of tulle plattings, the skirt and bodice being accordion platted with a tablier or apron panel front made of a succession of narrow plattings ending in sun-ray rosettes. Another plattings outline the modest décolletage and the short sleeves.

The priceless lace veil, arranged in coronet fashion, is held in place with a diadem of natural orange-blossoms mounted on a wreath of silver filigree. The work of an Italian artist, the silver filaments forming the work according perfectly with the mesh pattern of the lace. There is a coronet of orange blossoms tied with done in gold embroidery. Gold colored sandals, which show the toes, complete this modern classic costume, and, to be entirely in keeping, the wearer uses a wicker feather fan of ancient Greek design.

Influence of Greece and Rome.

A tea gown, emphasizing Greek and Roman influence, is in the form of a simple chemise dress of pale yellow georgette crepe girdled with flowers in Pervenche blue. There is an artistic one side drapery, which looks like a Roman toga, falling from the shoulder. This is of a gorgeous blue and gold brocade lined with yellow georgette crepe.

The low hanging blouse drapery, typical of one of the latest fashion movements, is embodied in a tea gown. It is of souffe de sole, a new marquisette-like gauze. This airy fabric is combined with a heavy metal brocade which forms a cape back, a really stiff collar and a yoke design for this unique costume. The metal note is repeated in the floral garniture at the right side.

Bedroom jackets with trains are new to indoor clothes. A jacket of flame colored georgette crepe is cut in semi-circular form almost like a little shoulder cape and ornamented with a lace cable. Two long strips of the crepe are hemstitched to the undercape at the back. From there they flap away in long, pointed trains.

DEATH WAS NEAR

Florida Woman in Critical Condition From Dropsy, But Doan's Brought Recovery

"Doan's brought me right down to the shadow of the grave," says Mrs. Ida B. Atwell, 201 William St., Key West, Fla. "For fifteen years I was a hopeless wreck, struggling between life and death. The pains were so severe in my back I screamed in agony. My head ached so severely I thought my skull was being crushed. Black spots floated before my eyes, and I had to grasp the bed to keep from falling."

The kidney secretions turned acid and acidified and I could pass only a few drops at a time. My body bloated. The pressure of so much water on my chest almost smothered me. My feet also swelled and large spots of water hung beneath my eyes. My skin had a shiny, white appearance and anywhere I pressed a dent would remain for hours. I became a nervous wreck.

"A friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and oh! I felt so happy when I found they were helping me. Continued use of Doan's completely cured me." Success is before me.

Kept New Doll for "Company" Days.

Nancy, my little niece's old doll, was looking much the worse for wear, so I sent a delightfully dressed doll to take her place. A week after the presentation of the new doll I called at my sister's and found Betty playing with Nancy, her old love. On asking her what had become of the new one, she smiled: "Oh, she's nice for company days, but I like Nancy for plain days."—Exchange.

In politics the race is not always to the swift nor the battle to the strong. Senator Harding, a "dark horse" candidate, proved himself to be neither ring-boned nor spavined in the recent Chicago convention and he will doubtless be a formidable candidate in the November elections. However, other "dark horses" are booked for the presidential race and the San Francisco delegates should have no trouble in selecting a candidate from the large list of available men who will have sufficient speed to leave the Ohio entrant in the dust.

Socializing North Dakota

A press dispatch from Washington, D. C., says, "The supreme court upheld seven of the most important laws enacted by the nonpartisan league legislature of North Dakota, all of which gave the state power to enter the private business field."

This means that the state of North Dakota can now use the taxpayers' money to establish such business as the non-partisan league dictates to compete with private industry in the state which pays the taxes to maintain state competition.

The league is working hard to extend its activities in other states but so far has not secured a foothold outside North Dakota.

The plan of the league would establish socialization of industries and land if its program were put into effect and farmers would soon be land renters from the state instead of free land owners.

Some facts about the Philippines

The Filipino people number 10,350,640, of which 9,495,272 are Christians, and only nine per cent non-Christians.

They have been Christians for 300 years, and have a culture and refinement that will compare very favorably with that of other nations.

The University of Santo Tomas is 25 years older than Harvard.

English is taught exclusively in the Philippine public schools. Two million natives now speak English fluently, and there are 700,000 English-speaking children in the public schools. It is destined to be the national language.

Seventy per cent of the inhabitants of the Philippines over 19 years of age, according to a census just completed, are literate. This is a higher percentage of literacy than that of any South American country, higher than that of Spain, and higher than that of any of the new republics of Europe whose independence is being guaranteed by the Allies.

A special delegation of Filipinos, officially representing the Filipino people, are attending the two national conventions, seeking an endorsement of the Filipino desire for independence in the platforms. Their arguments, briefly stated, are as follows:

First. That the American Declaration of Independence declares that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed;

Second. That the American Congress, in the Jones law, solemnly promised the Filipinos independence upon the establishment of a stable government, and that their claim that the stable government, is now in existence in the Islands has been officially confirmed by

BOOKS AS MEDICINE

Books are frequently referred to as tools and as the key to the treasure trove of knowledge. The American Library is daily demonstrating in U. S. Public Health Service Hospitals that convalescent soldiers and sailors find returning health and increasing strength in good books.

? What will you be ?
 when you are 65 ?

You will be ahead or behind the game. That is certain! But it all depends on what you do now.

Of the average One Hundred people just One is wealthy at 65; only Three are well-to-do; merely Six are living on their incomes; Fifty-four are living on their friends and charity; Thirty-six die before reaching their 65th birthday. It is easy to tell who had a bank account.

The odds are stacked against you 87 to 1, if you don't save a little every pay day.

Last Sunday's Game

The ball game on the local diamond between Tularosa and the home team last Sunday was a hit and run affair, with too many scores made to list them all, as we are shy on figures this week. However, Carrizozo won, making about four times as many scores as the visitors. The Tularosa boys showed lack of practice and team work, possessed of which they could have made a better showing. They were pleasant, jolly fellows, and took their defeat as though they expected it.

New Mexico the Next Oil Field

(New Mexico Oil Digest)

New Mexico beyond a question of doubt is destined to become the next great oil field of America. The oil fever throughout the entire state is at its height. Many eminent geologists are located in the state, and they are all of the opinion that the next few months will prove the greatest oil structure that can be found any place in the world.

Every county in the state is receiving a play, and from Tucumcari to Carlsbad, on every hand, new locations are being made, rigs are being erected, material is being hauled to every point in the state.

Helps Sick Women

Cardui, the woman's tonic, helped Mrs. William Everole, of Hazel Patch, Ky. Read what she writes: "I had a general breaking-down of my health. I was in bed for weeks, unable to get up. I had such a weakness and dizziness, ... and the pains were very severe. A friend told me I had tried everything else, why not Cardui? ... I did, and soon saw it was helping me ... After 12 bottles, I am strong and well."

The Woman's Tonic

Do you feel weak, dizzy, worn-out? Is your lack of good health caused from any of the complaints so common to women? Then why not give Cardui a trial? It should surely do for you what it has done for so many thousands of other women who suffered—it should help you back to health. Ask some lady friend who has taken Cardui. She will tell you how it helped her. Try Cardui.
