Probate Clerk

OLDEST AND LEADING NEWSPAPER IN CIRCULATION IN THE COUNTY OF LINCOLN, NEW MEXICO

VOLUME 21

CARRIZOZO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1920

NUMBER 41

Seen Through a Woman's Eyes

Suppose, Mrs. Voters, that during three years you lived in the shadow of a terrible war—

And that war for the preservation of civilization then came upon your country—

And that your husband or your son was compelled by sense of his country's necessity to enlist for service in the muddy trenches of France, where he was exposed to cold and lice and disease, to say nothing of poison gas and shells, machine gun bullets and the savage bayonet thrust—

And that you knitted and knitted that your husband or son might be better protected from the cold—

And that you skimmed your food that he might have enough to eat—

And that you wore your old clothes and patched the old clothes of the other members of your family that you might have money to buy Liberty Bonds and subscribe to the Red Cross and to the Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus and the Salvation Army.

And that when the war ended more than 300,000 young American lives had been sacrificed or wounds incurred and untold wealth had been destroyed—

And then suppose that a great League of Nations was formed by which the world was to be saved from the horrors of war through an agreement that any nation with a grievance should submit its cause to the League's adjudication, or suffer strangulation by economic boycott, and then, if necessary, armed force would be employed to protect the nation unjustly attacked—

And suppose the United States should enter that League, but with the reservation that it could not send your husband or son to war except by act of Congress, and that it could quit the League without obligation by giving two year's notice—

Would you not feel that the world had been made a safer place in which to live? Wouldn't you feel that a long step had been taken toward bringing "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men"?

Don't you believe that the election of Governor Cox, pledged as he is to the League to Prevent War, would be better than the election of Senator Harding, who is in favor of going "it the "old way", every year of which "old way" has been red with blood shed upon battle fields?

The League of Nations is organized to prevent war, and it will prevent war, when it is in full operation with America taking her part in this great Christian work.

Mrs. Voter, what do you think about it? Are you aware that the great civilized nations are supporting the League because they believe it a vital, practical step toward abolition of the horrors of war?

Mrs. Voter, can you afford to vote against the League of Nations now endorsed by Thirty-seven of the most civilized nations of the World?

Fatal Accident

A most serious accident occurred Wednesday night at about 8:00 o'clock near Elda station, mile post 189.3. Two motors, both loaded with men, crashed together without warning, neither motor bearing a light. The impact was terrific, as the rate each was traveling was said to have been 35 to 40 miles an hour.

The results of the collision were: Killed Alexander Greaves, assistant resident engineer, died in a hour afterwards; Pat Daugherty, transitman, Tucumcari, badly bruised and cut; V. F. Howell, apprentice foreman, Tecolote, slightly bruised; O. L. Snodgrass, Duran, head cut and back sprained; Antonio Lucero left hip dislocated; Drojin Jochon head injured, and Jose Jaurique scalp wound. Others were badly shaken up. The section crew was on one motor and the surveyors, who were setting grade stakes for the ballast, were in the other motor.

Killed on the Rails

A young man named Jose Sals, one of a section crew, was killed early last Saturday morning by falling from a motor car while returning from putting a derailed car on the track south of here. It appears that he stepped on a crow-bar on the floor of the car while the latter was in motion, lost his balance, and fell off, the wheels passing over him. He was taken to El Paso as soon as possible after the accident, but died soon after arriving there. He was a native of Rabenton, and was buried at Tularosa Sunday. He lived here the past year.

The Democratic County Ticket

Lincoln county is close, politically, the advantage in the past having been slightly with the Republicans. But not every voter is governed by political affiliations when the selection is made for county officers, and the candidate fitness for the position, weighs almost as much with many voters as does the fact that the nomination was made by this or that party.

This being the case, it is, therefore, entirely proper to appeal to Republicans to examine carefully the qualifications of the Democratic nominees before depositing their ballots. A comparison of the two tickets placed before the people is welcomed by the Democrats. We believe we have a superior ticket as a whole, nor is there any disposition to avoid an individual comparison.

Take Ed Harris for sheriff. Everybody that knows him—and nearly everybody does, because he has lived in Lincoln county for almost thirty years—knows that he is an upright citizen and that he will make a good sheriff. He has a thorough acquaintance with the county and an accurate knowledge of the duties of the sheriff's office; and his standing is such that it can be said that he will perform those duties fearlessly and faithfully. More could not be said of any man.

Ralph M. Treat, the nominee for County Clerk, has lived all his life in Lincoln county and his character and conduct will stand the most searching enquiry. He is well qualified theoretically for the position of clerk and has the additional advantage of a practical acquaintance with the office; so that the duties imposed on the clerk will be easy for him to perform, and they will receive his careful and personal attention.

For treasurer and collector Harry G. Norman cannot be excelled by any man in the county. He not only applied himself during the years he was acquiring his education for a commercial career, but has gained a knowledge of the treasurer's office possessed by few. For the past six years, having served under two treasurers, he has been deputy and has grown as the duties of the office have grown. He is another Lincoln county product; his friends are proud of his achievements and feel justified in urging others to give him their support.

For assessor John L. Bryan was named and, in addition to his standing as a citizen and a neighbor, his record as a member of the board of county commissioners should entitle him to the serious consideration of every voter. Mr. Bryan will make a fair, equitable and thorough assessment of county values and the burden of taxation will fall equally upon all. The question of taxation is not a political one; it is purely business, and it is the duty of the assessor to see that every taxpayer pays his just share, and when that is done none will have paid more than his share. John L. Bryan will see that this is done and taxpayers can scarcely ask for more.

The duties of the probate judge should be performed by a man of unquestioned integrity and the official should possess a knowledge of the duties that will insure a rightful performance of those duties. For the past two years George Kimbrell has presided as judge of the probate court, and his faithful and impartial performance of the duties imposed are commended by all. His upright life for almost half a century in Lincoln county is a guaranty of a continued pursuance of the right line of duty, and his many friends urge his re-election to this office as they know the affairs of the orphan and widow are secure in his hands.

The office of the superintendent of schools is an important one, in that the official comes in closer contact with the home and family than in that of any other office. In her faithful discharge of the obligations of that office depends the successful operation of our schools, and particularly is this true of the rural schools, such as are the great number of the schools of Lincoln county. To meet this requirement, the Democrats placed before the voters of Lincoln county Mrs. Wilber P. Coe, an active young woman of sterling character and exceptional ability. Voters, irrespective of party, will do well to enquire into the qualifications of Mrs. Coe, whose ability, training and attainments so eminently fit her for this position.

The office of surveyor carries with it an importance and duty far in excess of that usually accorded it. On the faithful and accurate work of the county surveyor depend the adjudication of present land matters—the rights of individuals—and immeasurably more to future generations whose peace and prosperity depend upon a fair, stable and just establishment of rightful boundaries now. To do this the official must be of unquestioned integrity and must possess a technical training and practical experience capable of producing such results. That Ben P. Nabours fits this description fully those who know him will avouch, and the Democratic party presents his name to voters of the county for surveyor.

The board of county commissioners should be composed of men who have an intimate acquaintance with the affairs of the county, who know its needs, and who desire to conduct its affairs in the most economical manner and at the same time bring about as much improvement and upbuilding of the county as the means at hand permit. To do this roads must be built, to accomplish which bonds may be sold and the proceeds from this sale must be handled judiciously and honestly. Matters of taxation and the expenditures of the funds derived therefrom are largely in the hands of the board, and, in a word, there are no more important offices in the county than the members of the board of county commissioners. As candidates for these responsible positions the Democratic party presents the names of John C. West, John W. Owen and Newt Kemp. All these gentlemen are long time residents of Lincoln county and each was most loyally supported by the people of the sections wherein they reside. Mr. West has been in the mercantile business since boyhood, has made a success of his own business, and a man capable of handling his own affairs possesses qualifications that warrants the belief that he is capable of rightly attending to the affairs of the public. Mr. Owen was in public life for a number of years, having twice served as sheriff of Lincoln county. He has given his time to ranching the past few years and only permitted the use of his name for commissioner at the earnest solicitation of his home people. To the old-timers he needs no introduction, because he knows every man, woman and child, and he needs little introduction to the new-comers, for he will know them all before the 2nd of November. An invitation to the voters to give John Owen's name consideration would be superfluous, for he has that now and the result is already told in the stars.

Newt Kemp comes from the center of the county and is strategically situated so that he has an insight to a large portion of the territory represented. He has been engaged in ranching the greater part of his time since he has lived in Lincoln county—a period of more than twenty years—and has a wide acquaintance throughout the county. Newt Kemp is an honorable, upright citizen in everyday life and election to office will not spoil those commendable traits, but will give the county a man at an important station that will insure a square deal and an economic administration of county affairs.

Dies Following Operation

News reached here this week of the death of J. P. Perry, of Glencoe, following an operation performed in El Paso, last week. We have none of the particulars but recall that some time ago he was not in good health and went to Hot Springs for relief. He was considered greatly improved upon his return, and the announcement of his death comes as a distinct shock to a large circle of friends.

Mr. Perry came to Lincoln county with his family sixteen years ago and located on the Bonito. Later, disposing of his holdings there, he opened up a ranch in the Pajarito country, south of Glencoe, and has been engaged in stock raising. He was very substantial citizen, a worthy husband and father and a man of sterling worth. To the surviving members of the family the News joins friends in extending sympathy.

Make Gas From Waste Material

Government Engineers Endeavor to Perfect Method of Utilizing Straw.

MAY HAVE ECONOMIC VALUE

An Automobile Has Been Operated With New Combustible and It Has Been Used for Illuminating Purposes and for Cooking.

Washington, A gas which is obtained by the destructive distillation of wheat, oat and rye straws is now being produced upon a small scale at the experimental farm of the United States department of agriculture at Arlington, Va. Although an automobile has been operated with the new combustible, and it has been used for illuminating purposes as well as for cooking, the possibilities of straw gas are not yet fully determined, the department says. In order to determine the exact commercial value of the gas David J. Price, engineer in charge of the new office of development work, a subdivision of the bureau of chemistry designed to help commercial and industrial concerns to use new processes and discoveries developed in the bureau, has placed H. E. Roethe, Jr., in charge of a series of production tests with the experimental apparatus at Arlington.

May Have Economic Value. The work can be carried on but slowly owing to the limited funds available at present, but it is planned to do much that will determine the quantity and nature of the gas that may be obtained from wheat, oat, barley, rye and rice straws, and from cornstalks, corncobs and other vegetable matter usually burned as waste. If the results of these tests warrant further investigation the experiments will be extended to the problem of plant equipment for producing the gas on a scale sufficient to allow the farmer to supply light and heat for his house, power for stationary engines and possibly for his tractor, from a small individual outfit. If a suitable unit can be constructed so that the farmer's initial cost will be small, it seems likely that the straw gas may have a certain economic value in the sections of the country where the raw material from which the gas is made is now considered as waste and burned or left to rot on the fields. In some sections of the country the straw is used as a fertilizer, but in the West and Northwest there is an unlimited supply of the material available for conversion into light and fuel for the farmer.

While it has been possible to operate an automobile with straw gas and it is known that 50 pounds of straw will produce about 300 cubic feet of gas—an amount sufficient to drive a light roadster 15 miles—the problem of reducing the gas to liquid form or condensing it sufficiently to allow it to be carried conveniently in an essential one that must be solved before straw gas can be considered as a possible motor fuel. This will be another of the tasks taken up by the engineers in the development division.

is Not New Thing. Straw gas is not a new thing. The present process was developed by George Harrison, a Canadian engineer at Moosejaw, in 1914, who later cooperated on the project with Professor MacLaurin of the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, Canada. The university, in conjunction with the United States department of agriculture, exhibited a straw gas equipment at the exposition of chemical industries in New York city during the fall of 1918. This equipment was later purchased and improved by the department. The Canadian investigators succeeded in operating an automobile with the product. However, the fuel supply was carried in a large flexible bag on the top of the car—a method of doubtful practicability.

Materials of Paper Money Widespread

Washington. — The materials that go to make up American paper money are gathered together from all parts of the world. Part of the paper fiber is linen rags from the Orient. The silk comes from China or Italy. The blue ink is made from German or Canadian cobalt. The black ink is made from Niagara Falls acetylene gas smoke, and most of the green ink is green color made in Germany. The red color in the seal is obtained from a pigment imported from Central America.

Several valuable by-products are obtained in the manufacture of the gas. Carbon residue suitable for manufacturing lampblack of exceptionally fine quality is one. This residue also contains certain amounts of potash, phosphate and nitrogenous compounds which give it fertilizing value.

The tar and ammoniacal liquids resulting from the process, aside from their value as disinfectants and preservatives, may prove useful in the dye industry. If the engineers succeed in perfecting the present apparatus and in reducing the cost of production, there is no doubt that straw gas will have an important commercial future.

BRAZIL WILL BUILD HOMES

Shortage of Houses in Rio de Janeiro to Be Relieved by Government.

Rio de Janeiro.—Both federal and municipal governments are about to take action to relieve the shortage of houses here.

In the chamber of deputies a bill has been introduced providing for a special bond issue of $50,000,000 for the construction of houses for working families. In the municipal council a measure was presented providing that all workers' houses built in the next two years be free from the usual municipal taxes.

The federal bill proposes the construction, under the municipal administration, of 20,000 houses in various districts of the capital wherever nationally or municipally owned ground is available. It is intended that the houses shall be sold to heads of working families, payment being spread over a period of twenty years. In addition, the bill provides for the construction of two huge apartment houses, for families and for bachelors, respectively, with common kitchens and other communal installations, the rent being placed at a very low figure.

Urga, Mongolia.—"Mongolia, restored as an integral part of the Chinese republic, will soon be opened to foreign nations," said Gen. Hsu Shu-chen, commander of China's frontier defenses across in Mongolia.

It was Gen. Hsu Shu-chen's army of 10,000 men marching 700 miles across the Gobi desert in the winter of 1918-1919 that occupied Urga and put an end to the political power of the Buddhist priests whose burden, termed "the

"Kiaochow, although a Siberian city, is still garrisoned by Chinese troops because Kolschak's representatives asked the Chinese to protect them from the reds, and the date of withdrawal has not yet been decided."

General Hsu said China was not at all interested in the internal affairs of Russia, and that Russians taking refuge in China were all treated alike, regardless of their political affiliations, subject only to Chinese law.

He added that all Chinese troops would eventually be withdrawn from Russian territory, but that substantial possessions would be maintained on the Mongolian border.

Council of League of Nations Has Stopped One War and Headed Off Another.

ITS FRIENDS ARE ELATED

Opponents of Covenant Also Find an Argument for a Lodge Reservation—Poles and Russians Talk Peace While Latter Lose Battles—Guerrilla Warfare in Ireland.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

Believers in the League of Nations are much elated by the results of the ninth session of the league council which ended in Paris early in the week. By diplomatic presentation of fact and argument, the council induced four nations, which were on the verge of engaging in two wars, to agree to peaceful settlement of their differences. In one of the cases, indeed, hostilities already had broken out. This was the case of Poland and Lithuania. These two nations consented to suspend hostilities immediately pending a settlement of their dispute which both sides will accept. In this settlement the league council will be represented by Count Quinquès de Leon, Spanish ambassador to France, and Baron Kishiro Matsui, Japanese vice foreign minister. When the council meets in October, it is expected, at least a tentative decision will be ready for its approval.

The council had almost given up hope of arranging this settlement when, on the last day of the session, Ignace Paderewski, head of the Polish delegation, suddenly arose and in a dramatic speech declared his country was eager for peace with Lithuania and believed the latter nation also desired peace. M. Woldemar and other Lithuanian delegates arose, strode across the room and warmly shook hands with the Poles, while the room rang with cheers. Woldemar declared his confidence in the fairness of the council and said he would abide by its decision.

Sweden's dispute with Finland over possession of the Aland Islands was the other matter which it was believed was put in a fair way to be decided without recourse to arms. The Finns offered a reservation which created some doubt at first, but this, it appeared, was made for technical reasons and would not offer any difficulty which could not be surmounted. Neither nation, it was pointed out by league officials, was legally bound to accept the decision of the league, but both are morally obligated to do so, and if a settlement can be offered that is backed by public opinion, the governments cannot well refuse to concur. A commission was appointed to inquire into the merits of the dispute.

Opponents of the league found in this Aland Islands case fresh argument to support their belief that the league covenant, as it stands, gives the council the chance to do just what the supporters of the League reservations feared—to interfere in domestic questions. They point out that Finland contended that the Aland Island dispute is a Finnish domestic, not an international, question and that the league had no jurisdiction thereof. The league council rejected the Finnish contention, pronounced the question international and appointed the commission.

There is in the covenant, say the objectors, no guarantee that the council would not pronounce the present controversy between Japan and the United States over immigration an international question subject to its jurisdiction; and if Japan should submit the dispute to the league, as it questions should be exempt from the jurisdiction of the league.

Japanese leaders have almost ceased to hope for a settlement of the immigration dispute while the present administration is in power, and their chances for favorable action under the next administration are slim. Following up the declarations made by Senator Harding, Governor Cox has been telling the Pacific coast people that he believes they are right in wishing to exclude the Japanese. It seems certain that the next administration, whether Republican or Democratic, will be pressed to terminate the present treaty with Japan, so that exclusion may be legal. With California's apparent determination to adopt additional restrictive legislation, the race question on the coast becomes more serious daily; but wise and well informed persons, in both America and Japan, have little fear that it will result in war.

In accordance with an agreement made last July between Japan and Asiatic Russia, the Japanese war office has evacuated Khabarovsk and the only Japanese garrisons left in Siberia are at Vladivostok and along the Ussuri railway. Asiatic Russia, it is said, has agreed to preserve the peace, to maintain friendly relations with Japan and to abolish communism.

The Polish-Russian peace conference opened in Riga, but it was surrounded by an atmosphere of gloom and the prediction was made freely that the results will be nil. Each side distrusts the other, and on certain questions it seems impossible for them to get together. One of these is Ukraine, which the Reds assert is already self-determined in favor of soviet rule. The Ukrainians who follow Petlura deny this and say their soviet rulers are foreigners. They have sent representatives to the Riga meet, but these are not admitted by the Reds. Disarmament by both Poland and Russia was declared by Adolph Joffe, head of the red delegation, to be the only guarantee of stable peace.

Military operations against the soviet forces went right along, and their enemies scored several decided victories. The united Polish-Ukrainian front east of Lemberg was moving forward at the rate of fifteen miles a day and had reached Rovno and Kanisels Podolsk, and the Ukrainian cavalry had occupied the latter important city. In the Grodno region the soviet government claimed to have defeated the Poles and to have taken a number of towns. But the Moscow war reports have been almost uniformly false since the collapse of the invasion of Poland.

Following the plan which was outlined last week, General Wrangel has been pushing his way northward along the Dnieper river and, at last reports, after several smashing victories, he had captured Alexandrovsk, together with about 10,000 prisoners, five armored trains, many guns and large stores of supplies.

Turkish nationalists in southern Asia Minor have been displaying renewed activity and dispatches from Constantinople say they are besieging the French in Adana, bombarding Tarsus and making frequent attacks on Mersina. These Turks are assisted by disaffected Arabs and also by German officers who have been stranded in the country since the armistice. These latter are handling the artillery. The French at Adana and Tarsus have got supplies in and are prepared for a winter's siege. The Armenian city of Hadjin has sent out word that it is facing starvation and massacre and must have help.

The immediate situation in Ireland has resolved itself into a guerrilla war of the most vicious description, which so far the British authorities have not been able to control. The Sinn Feiners ambush and slay the police, and the police in reprisal kill the Sinn Feiners like rats and ravage their towns. The most startling of these occurrences was the raid last week on Ballybrigan, the center of the Sinn Feiners, ten trucks full of them started for Ballybrigan. There they first set fire to the public houses and a large number of private homes from which they drove the people, and then burned to the ground some of the largest hosier mills in Ireland, belonging to an English firm. They wound up the raid by murdering a barber and a dairyman, both Sinn Feiners. Similar raids were made last week on other Irish towns where the police had been enraged by the killing or wounding of their comrades. In County Clare a military truck in which were a number of police was ambushed by armed men and in the ensuing fight four of the officers were killed. The police involved in the Ballybrigan incident were not members of the Royal Irish constabulary, but recruits for that force who, from their uniforms, are known as "black and tans." In the last two weeks more than twenty policemen and soldiers and a score of Sinn Feiners have been killed in Ireland, and large numbers on both sides have been wounded.

Oswald Garrison Villard, who used to be notoriously pro-German and anti-British, has formed a committee of 100 Americans to investigate and report publicly on conditions in Ireland, with especial reference to atrocities. Public hearings will be held in Washington by a commission of the committee. Several senators and governors have agreed to serve on the committee, all the members of which are said to be prominent citizens.

So far as the public has been permitted to know, little progress has been made toward discovering and apprehending the perpetrators of the Wall street bomb outrage. It has been definitely established, however, that the blast was caused by the explosion of a huge TNT bomb with a time device, and there is no doubt the affair was arranged by Reds. Many arrests have been made, but it is not known that the guilty persons are in custody. Since the New York explosion a good many other cities have received warnings that certain public buildings were to be blown up. A good guess is that the outrage was the work of radical leaders who wished by this demonstration to keep up the revolutionary spirit of their recruits.

The five Socialists who were expelled from the New York legislature some time ago, and who were re-elected recently, attempted to take their seats. Three of them were again ousted, and the others resigned in protest. The action of the majority in the assembly was opposed by Theodore Roosevelt and is characterized by Charles E. Hughes "incredible folly and flagrant disregard of the fundamental principles of American institutions." Owing to certain complications this time, the case may be taken into the courts.

The Kenyon committee of the senate resumed in Washington its investigation of campaign funds, and subpoenaed several bureau chiefs in the endeavor to learn to what extent federal agencies are being employed to disseminate election propaganda for Cox. The Republicans assert the publications of the bureaus of education, war and navy have been used this way. James W. Gerard, chairman of the Democratic finance committee, told the committee he had collected only $128,000 to date and that he would be happy if he got a million; also that no limit was put on individual contributions. William Boyce Thompson, chairman of the Republican ways and means committee, told the committee the Cox charges were "all bunk," and aroused Senator Reed by asserting that Mr. Cox "is no stranger to Wall street." Pinned down, he said he implied nothing sinister.

Devotees of the national sport are wrought up over another inquiry that began last week. This is an investigation, by a grand jury at Chicago, into baseball gambling, and it gains added interest because it promises to expose a great many players in

One Tenth of Us Lives in Three Cities

WASHINGTON.—About one-tenth of the people of the United States live in the cities of New York, Chicago and Philadelphia, while more than one-quarter live in 66 cities having a population of 100,000 or more. Final statistics of the fourteenth census are expected to show.

The three cities with populations of 1,000,000 or more—New York, Chicago and Philadelphia—have a combined population of 10,145,521, showing an increase of 1,644,847, or about 19.5 per cent in the ten years since 1910.

Cities having 500,000 to 1,000,000 have increased from 5 in 1910 to 9 (his year. Detroit, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Buffalo having advanced into this class.

There was a net increase of 2 in the cities of the 250,000 to 500,000 class, with a total of 12, although six cities advanced into this classification. They are Kansas City, Mo.; Seattle, Indianapolis, Rochester, Portland, Ore., and Denver.

There are 42 cities of from 100,000 to 250,000 this year, a net increase of 12, although 15 have shown increases bringing them into this class.

The list of cities having a population of 200,000 or more, some of which have been revised since first announced, is given below in their order of rank with the designation of the 1910 rank and their 1920 population.

Uncle Samuel Is Not a Censor of Morals

NO MATTER how wicked a foreign city may be, it is not the business of the United States government to censor its morals or to refuse permission for American citizens to visit it.

Secretary of State Colby has made this ruling in reply to a letter from the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist church, which is conducting a crusade against Tia Juana, just over the California line in Mexico. He says, among other things:

"Passport regulations applicable to all points on the border must be uniform. There is a strong and insistent demand from business interests near the Mexican border that border crossings should be facilitated in the interests of American trade and commerce.

"For this reason citizens' identity and border permit cards are now authorized under the passport regulations in all cases where there is reasonable and legitimate need for crossing."

"The department does not deem it advisable to refuse a border permit card nor to revoke such card after issuance on the mere ground that the bearer is performing an act in Mexico which is legal under the laws of Mexico, but which would be illegal on this side of the border.

"It is not deemed advisable to revoke permit cards on the mere ground that the conduct of the traveler constitutes a violation of good morals, as the department does not wish to constitute itself a censor of morals. The determining factor must be violation of law rather than a violation of morals."

"In a circular the Methodist board describes Tia Juana as 'a city of vice, booze and gambling, run by Americans and supported by Americans, which could be closed in two weeks by a change of policy of the American state department.'"

It says the town is now a mecca of booze sellers, gamblers and others.

Is Jazz Real Music or Just Tomfoolery?

IS JAZZ real music? Mario Armeline, a former orchestra leader at a fashionable Washington hotel, has appealed to the courts to decide this momentous question. Armeline contends it is not. He was dismissed because he couldn't play jazz. Now he is suing for breach of contract. If he loses in the lower courts Armeline threatens to appeal to the supreme court. As evidence, Armeline will submit an article by Harecourt Farmer, a noted musical writer in Musical America. He says:

"Evoked out of sheer sensationalism, ramified by an ill-placed enthusiasm on the part of the unmusical, commercially exploited to the 'nth' degree, jazz has had its day."

"The nation is tired of jazz. Not only does jazz deserve to go, it is going. This thing they call jazz is positively one of the most awful and most incessable of musical sins committed against the face of the people.

"Jazz isn't American—it isn't even music. For a more disreputable, savage, tiresome, hideous, screaming piece of musical tomfoolery had never been thrust on the public before the red days of jazz."

"If we recall that the persons immediately interested in the survival of jazz unmolested are the sellers of it, we are spared a deal of conjecture as to the reason for its continued existence even as far as this. But jazz has to be pushed, else there would be no gorgeous dividends to split up."

"So the musical convulsions of a few harmonic freaks have been thrust upon the long-suffering public until they accepted jazz for the identical reason that they accept any nationally advertised product—they were forced to feel that they wanted jazz, and they got it."

"The blatant appeal of the stuff, the exaggerated minor effects, the unmitigated noise, the purple patches of disharmony—all these elements contribute hugely to the success of jazz scores."

"In the meantime we bid a cheerful adieu to our old friend, Mr. Jazz. Play the Marche Funebre, please—and don't jazz it."

Rather Lawmake Than Rock the Cradle

WASHINGTON society is merrily buzzing with things political these days. The latest bit of gossip to drift in is that we are almost certain to have a second woman in congress, if not two or three of them. Everyone remembers Miss Jeannette Rankin, the congresswoman from Montana.

There are several women candidates already in the field, and probably the best known is Miss Anne Martin of Nevada, who is running for the Republican nomination for the senate.

Dr. Esther Lovejoy of Portland, Ore., is a Democrat, and has been regularly nominated by her party for a seat in the house. Doctor Lovejoy's initial public service was as the first woman health officer in Portland's history.

Another friend of the children is Mrs. Helen C. Stetler of Michigan. Her platform is terse and complete. She proposes to tion for the house, was postmistress of Muskogee during the administration of Roosevelt, and has been active in politics.

The other woman candidate for the senate is Miss Rose Schneiderman of New York. She has been nominated by the labor party. She is the president of the New York Women's Trade Union League.

Mrs. Marie Weeks of Norfolk, Neb., is editor of her own newspaper. She

SIX MONTHS I COULD NOT WORK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Me Strong and Able to Work—I Recommend It To All My Friends.

Bayonne, N. J.—"I had pains in back and legs so that I could not stand caused by female trouble. I felt so tired all the time, had bad headaches, and for six months I could not work. I was treated by a physician and took other remedies but got no relief. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has helped me very much. I am well and strong and now able to do my work. I cannot thank you enough and I recommend your medicine to my friends who are sick."—Mrs. BURN SACATANSKY, 25 East 17th St., Bayonne, N. J.

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for over forty years, and today hold a record for such wonderful success as does Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtues and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.

State Republicans Revolt

Reliable reports are at hand showing the existence of a formidable revolt in the Republican party in the state, which is practically certain to elect the Democratic ticket. Revolt does not mean that these Republicans, who are disgusted with the management of their party, are turning Democrats, for such a statement is not warranted, as most of them, despite their bitter opposition to the state ticket named at Albuquerque, will vote the Republican national ticket. It merely means they are tired of the dictation that has ruled their party so long and are determined to bring about a new deal.

They do not regard such action as a reflection on their party, as they do not consider the action of the convention at Albuquerque as expressive of the will of their party, but they do regard that convention's results as a glaring miscarriage of justice, an over-riding of the popular will by a few—those few the ones who have brought ruin to their party in the past. The revolt is widespread and determined and, if indications are worth anything,

TARGET PRACTICE.—Thousands of pounds of steel and powder have just left the business end of the big guns of the U.S.S. Oklahoma. Simultaneously with the pressing of the firing key, the photographer clicked his camera, thus making one of the most remarkable photographs on record. Ten miles in the distance is the target, hardly discernible from the decks of the great battleship, but it will soon be shell-riddled as the result of the accuracy of Navy marksmen. Clouds of black and yellow smoke that obscure the target for a few seconds gradually lift and are lost in the sky. The guns belch forth again and again until the practice is completed and the target resembles a

Consider the obstacles that must be overcome in determining the wind and speed deflection and the range so that the pointer's aim will be true and the shells hit their mark.

and will make a desperate effort to secure the legislature, especially the senate, in order to block any legislation looking to a reform in our taxation laws. It is, therefore, practically, as important to the people that a majority of both houses be elected in sympathy with Judge Hanna on matters of taxation and important fiscal matters as that Judge Hanna should himself be elected Governor. Many Republicans and much of the press of that party openly express the hope that the "cleaning" will extend to both houses of the legislature, and regard that as the only means to bring about the desired results—the dethronement of the bosses in their party and the re-institution of a rule by the people instead of by the interests.

The entire production of gold in the whole world since Columbus discovered America and up to 1918 has been a total of 17 billion dollars. This year alone the farms of the United States will produce crops, not including livestock, valued at 26 billion dollars, according to figures recently given out by Secretary Edwin T. Meredith of the Department of Agriculture.

A Court or the League?

The International Court as organized by Mr. Root and his conferees on the Commission and recently submitted to the Council of the League of Nations for their action, provides that when a dispute has arisen between nations which is found to be impossible to settle by diplomatic means or by an agreement to arbitrate, the complaining nation may bring the case before the International Court. The court shall decide first whether jurisdictional conditions have been complied with, and, if so, can hear and determine the dispute according to the next article in the draft.

The next article provides that the court shall have jurisdiction to try cases of a legal nature concerning the interpretation of treaties, questions of international law, breaches of international obligation and reparation for such breaches.

The question arises, where is Senator Harding to insert his "teeth" into this court? If we have not the League of Nations? Shall the court itself have power to force nations to submit their cases to it, and how is it going to enforce its decrees? Suppose one nation refuses to appear before the court, or, having appeared, refuses to abide by its judgment?

The League of Nations Covenant, which provides by Article XIV of the treaty for an International Court, provides penalties against nations which refuse to arbitrate their disputes or which refuse to carry out the court's decision. As one of the instruments of the League of Nations, the International Court of Justice will be a benefaction to the world. As a substitute for the League of Nations, it would be an impotent and miserable failure.

District Democratic Nominees

The voters of Lincoln county will have an opportunity the coming election to vote for a district attorney, two members of the lower house and two members for the state senate. So far as we are informed, Democrats have not made nominations for the legislative district composed of the counties of Lincoln, Torrance and Socorro, nor the senatorial district composed of the counties of Lincoln, Torrance, Otero and Socorro. Neither have we seen an announcement giving names of Republican nominees for the same districts. However, Democrats, as well as Republicans, have made nominations for district attorney, senator for the 18th district, formed by Lincoln and Otero counties, and a member of the legislature for the 16th district, which is constituted wholly by Lincoln county.

Lee R. York, of Alamogordo, is the Democratic nominee for district attorney and is making an active campaign in the four counties, viz: Lincoln, Torrance, Otero and Dona Ana. Mr. York lived in Lincoln county some years ago and began the practice of law in this county; moved to Alamogordo and there continued the practice of his profession. The nomination for district attorney was given him without solicitation, but he accepted the responsibility, and in his visits to various parts of the district he has been greatly encouraged in that this district like many others, ready made Republican by the constitution, has all the indications of being anything but Republican this year. It is about time for a change and the election of Mr. York to the district attorneyship, is one that is now looming on the horizon.

For Senator from the 18th district E. M. Brickley is the nominee and for representative for the 16th district A. S. McCamant was drafted. The case of both of these nominees is similar in that both were nominated, not because they sought the position, as it was decidedly the reverse with each of them, but accepted as a matter of duty, and are making the campaign at a sacrifice of personal interests; for these offices are liabilities, and men who are able to give their time and means to the state, as practically members of the legislature must do, are the best men to send there. And the crying need for a change, the demand for a little even justice to begin operations at Santa Fe, calls for men without strings on them—men who owe nothing to the bosses or to the interests; men who will give every taxpayer, no matter how lowly, a fair deal all the way round. Every voter in the state possessing a reasonable acquaintance with actual conditions knows that a reformation is essential to the welfare of our people; that the time has come to put and end to the rule of the interests, through the bosses, and that when that is attained greatly improved conditions in behalf of the general public will be achieved. Many men who assisted in bringing about conditions of which people now complain—either by silence or acquiescence—admit the existence of these evils, while others, equally conversant with them, do not admit it, but smilingly assert it might be worse. Brickley and McCamant stand for a new deal, and the way for the people to get it is to stand by Brickley and McCamant.

School Notes

The Camp-Fire Girls had a candy sale the early part of this week, and netted the neat little sum of about ten dollars. The money will be used to buy equipment.

On Friday of last week the eighth grade, with Mrs. Gumm, had a "hike" to Indian Rocks. At the same time the ninth grade, with Misses Herron and Fordon, had a "wenie-roast" at the Bar-W ranch. Both trips were made after school Friday afternoon.

At the beginning of the school year, we wish to extend to Mr. Burke, of the Outlook, and Mr. Haley, of the News, our thanks for a column in each of their papers, each week of last year to be devoted to school news. It has been of great help to us in getting school items before the parents and the public.

The pupils themselves are very anxious to have us print, each month the names of those who belong to the Honor Roll. The Honor Roll contains the names of those pupils who have been neither absent nor tardy during the past school month. The following is the Honor Roll for September:

Senator Jones Here Tonight

Tonight at the K. P. Hall Senator A. A. Jones will address the people on the issues before the American people. He and party are coming up from Roswell and will deliver short talks along the route, beginning at Picacho, arriving here in time to greet the people of Carrizozo and community at 8:00 o'clock in the evening. As a speaker, Senator Jones is equaled by few in the entire country, as is evidenced by a respectful hearing he is always accorded when he addresses the United States Senate. Do not miss this opportunity to hear an address worthy of hearing by our United States Senator.

The Burning Issue

New York—Thirty-nine nations, including every great power except the United States, have entered the League with a full understanding of every obligation assumed. Merely for political purposes a small group of senators have blocked every effort to bring world peace.

The Republican party would make separate peace with Germany. They would allow this nation to desert its Allies and stand with Russia, Turkey, and Mexico—a fine combination surely!

Governor Cox is for the League of Nations. His stand is emphatic. Senator Harding is against the League and his stand,

Colds & Headache

"For years we have used Black-Draught in our family, and I have never found any medicine that could take its place," writes Mr. H. A. Stacy, of Bradyville, Tenn. Mr. Stacy, who is a Rutherford County farmer, recommends Black-Draught as a medicine that should be kept in every household for use in the prompt treatment of many little ills to prevent them from developing into serious troubles.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

"It touches the liver and does the work," Mr. Stacy declared. "It is one of the best medicines I ever saw for a cold and headache. I don't know what we would do in our family if it wasn't for Black-Draught. It has saved us many dollars. . . . I don't see how any family can hardly go without it. I know it is a reliable and splendid medicine to keep in the house. I recommend Black-Draught highly and am never without it."

R. R. Officials Here

The E. P. & S. W. officials were here this week on their annual tour of inspection, and went over the line as far as Dawson. In addition to the general officials of the road, both east and west of El Paso, H. S. Fairbank, superintendent of the western division, and J. F. Kimbell, master mechanic on the same division, both of whom were long-time residents of Carrizozo, were on the special. They now make Douglas their headquarters.

Judge Hanna Monday Night

Judge R. H. Hanna, Democratic nominee for governor, Hon. Antonio Lucero, nominee of the same party for Congress, and Hon. R. E. Putney, a prominent business man of Albuquerque, will be here Monday night, October 11, and address the people at the K. P. Hall, Lutz Building.

These gentlemen are touring the state in the interest of the Democratic party, but have something to say that should cause every citizen to appreciate their visit. It does not necessarily the contrary, Republicans may profit by attending, for the speakers will have something to offer that may well cause Republicans, who are Republicans without reference to a knowledge of what has been going on Santa Fe, pause and consider the advisability of joining in a house cleaning. At any rate, everybody be on hand Monday night.

FOR SALE—Cement office or store building in Oscuro; also 160 acres, being lots 1 and 2, and the S 1/2 of NE 1/4 of sec. 5, twp. 10 S R 9 east, Lincoln county, N. M. —J. P. Phillips, Manchester Tennessee.

Mrs. Cribb Succumbs

The grim reaper descended upon the Cribb household Sunday afternoon and claimed for his own Mrs. Ethel Weekly Cribb, wife of Raleigh T. Cribb. The angel of death had been hovering over the household for several days and the final summons came at 4:30 p. m. on the date named. Mrs. Cribb, who was a sufferer from tuberculosis, came here several years ago with her husband, and made a valiant fight against the dread disease. The funeral services were held at the Methodist church Monday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock and interment was made in the local cemetery. Rev. A. C. Douglas, pastor of the Methodist church, conducted the ceremonies, and a large concourse of people gathered to pay their respects to this estimable woman, wife and mother. The floral offerings were elaborate and beautiful and the assemblage was overwhelmed with grief.

Mrs. Cribb was born at Perdida Station, Alabama, January 8, 1891, and was, therefore, in her thirtieth year. She was a consistent Christian, a devout member of the Methodist church and, despite her failing health, took an active interest in all Christian affairs up to within a short time of her death. She was the author of a number of songs, some of which were given here and created very favorable comment.

Mrs. Cribb's mother, Mrs. L. B. Weekly, was at her daughter's bedside when the summons came, as was also Miss Edna Cribb, a sister of Mr. Cribb. Mr. Cribb watched through the dark hours and gave every aid to his wife whose life was slowly but surely drawing to a close.

To the saddened husband, the darling little daughter, the grief-stricken mother and sorrowing sister the News extends sincere sympathy.

C. Spence and family returned this week from a visit to their old home in Iowa. Katherine, the youngest member of the family, was left at Nashville, Tennessee, where she entered Ward-Bolmont College.

John C. West, of San Patricio, candidate for commissioner for the first district, was a Carrizozo visitor this week. He has lived in this county all his life, and is known to most of its people as one of the best of men.

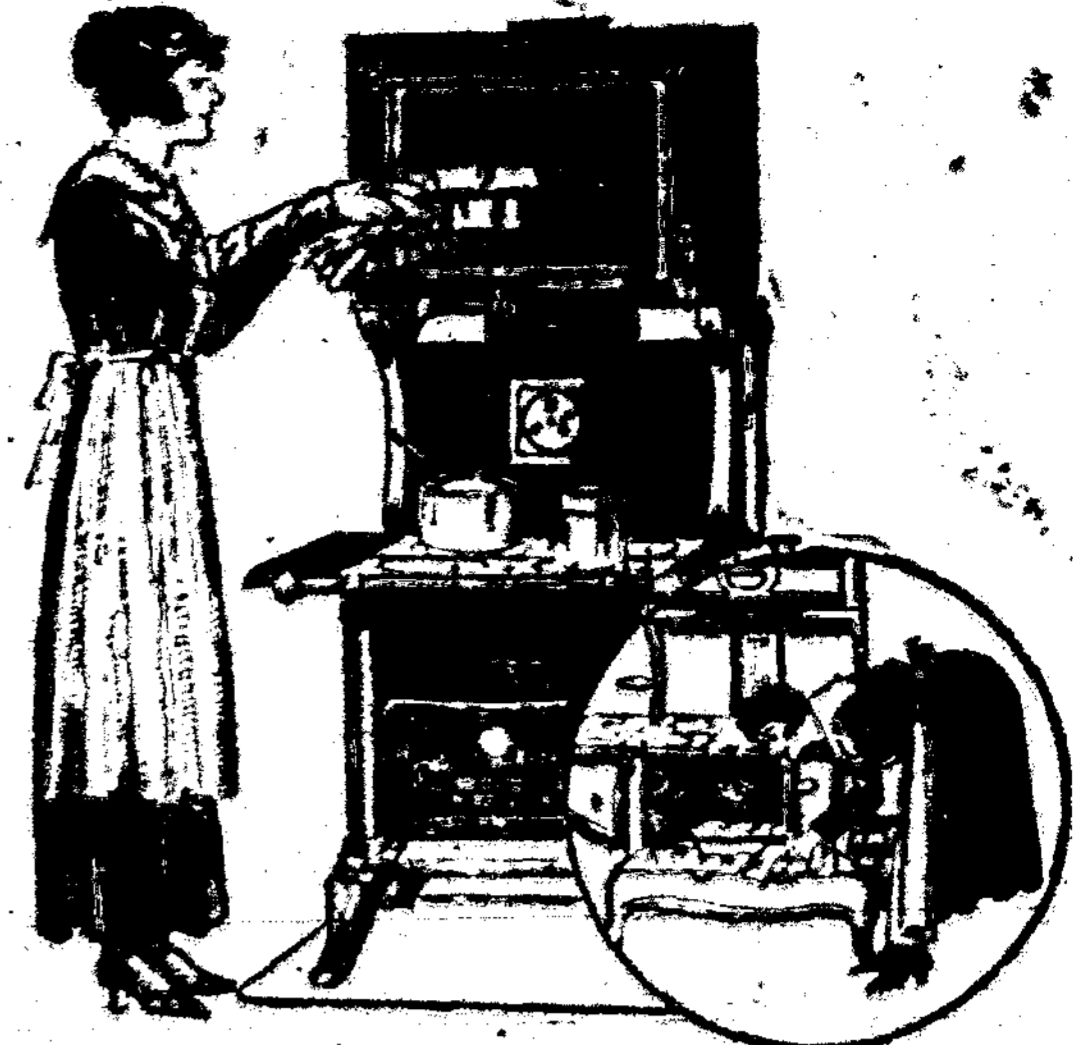

Will G. Thornboro left Saturday for his home at Canton, Ill. He had spent the past month here doing development work on some mining property in the Nogal district which he located while a resident of Carrizozo and to which he devotes a portion of his time annually.

Rev. A. C. Douglas, pastor of the M. E. church, returned Monday from the Methodist conference at Las Cruces. Contrary to expectation he was assigned to Gallup for the coming year, which is greatly regretted by the people of Carrizozo who had hoped for his return to this station.

The Whittinghams have returned to El Paso, after an extended stay in Philadelphia. While in the east Mr. Whittingham, who lost a foot in a railway accident eleven months ago, had a foot fitted and is getting along fine—not even corns are bothering him, on his new foot, at least. The family, and especially the kiddies, had an enjoyable stay.

Card of Thanks

I desire to return my sincere thanks to the community for their sympathy in the loss of my beloved wife; and especially to the many friends for the kindness shown during the last hours of her illness. As it would be impossible to thank each one individually I trust this will be ac-

REDUCTION IN PRICES FORD CARS

The War is Over and Prices Must Go

EFFECTIVE AT ONCE—Ford Cars, Trucks and Tractors will be sold f. o. b. Detroit, at the following prices:

Touring Car (Regular)	-	-	$440
" " (Starter)	-	-	510
Runabout (Regular)	-	-	395
" " (Starter)	-	-	465
Chassis	-	-	360
Coupe (Starter and Dem.)	-	-	745
Sedan (Starter and Dem. Rims)	-	-	795
Truck (Pneumatic Tires)	-	-	545
Tractor	-	-	790

The Ford Motor Company makes this reduction in face of the fact that they have on hand, immediate orders for 146,065 cars and tractors.

The Company will suffer a temporary loss by using up the material bought at high prices. They are willing to make this sacrifice in order to bring business back to a going condition as quickly as possible and maintain the momentum of the buying power of the country.

Henry Ford says, "The war is over, and it is time war prices were over. There is no sense or wisdom in trying to maintain an artificial standard of values. For the best interest of all it is time a real practical effort was made to bring the business of the country, and the life of the country, down to regular pre-war standards."

We are at your command with a regular force for efficiency in service and eagerness to fill your orders.
