OLDEST AND LEADING NEWSPAPER IN CIRCULATION IN THE COUNTY OF LINCOLN, NEW MEXICO

VOLUME 21

CARRIZOZO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, OCT. 14, 1921

NUMBER 49

Washington News Letter

(Special Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—It looks now as if the Republican organization in the Senate has narrowly escaped a split of such seriousness as to threaten the disruption of the party in the nation. The matter has been patched up and the evil day postponed, but those who consider the fundamental differences between the Republican Senatorial group of the West and the Senate bosses of the East feel that the inevitable cleavage between those divergent interests cannot be far off. It is the old, old contest between those who owe their seats to the people and have to depend on the votes of the people and those who receive their commissions at the hands of the political bosses, who in turn are financed by predatory wealth.

Republican high politics was in a critical state to cause Senator Lodge, the New England Brahmin, to go to the home of Senator Capper, where a score of Western Republicans—La Follette, Borah, McNary, Norris, and the rest of the so-called "Agricultural Bloc"—full of fight, were ready to join the Democrats if necessary to reconstruct the big tax measure. There Lodge pleaded with them to meet the regulars in compromises on the bill which would still permit it to be called Republican legislation. How reminding of the day when the Western Republicans of the House formed a coalition with the Democrats to destroy Cautonism!

Lodge conceded much—so much that the people will probably get a better deal in the taxation bill. It looks like (after some forty alterations in the plans of the leaders) the surtaxes on the swollen incomes will go as high as 50 per cent, instead of 32, and that the tax on excess profits will be repealed as of next January, instead of last January. This scheme to make the repeal date back would have left in the hands of the corporations all the excess they had charged the public to cover the federal tax. The bill will probably carry an increase in the corporation tax to offset some of the nuisance taxes which the insurgents desire to have repealed.

The session began in April and the whole world knew that it was the intention to pass a new taxation measure and a new tariff bill and arrange for the financing of the railroads. None of these things is within gunshot of accomplishment after six months have passed. Only three bills of importance have become law—the Farm Loan Act, the Farmers' Tariff Act and the Act to regulate the packers. The first mentioned is good legislation. The tariff was advertised as a great measure designed to enable the farmer to get more for his crops. Canadian wheat today brings a better price in Minneapolis than wheat grown in the United States; all the farmers' products have shrunk seriously in price excepting cotton, which has responded to the shortest crop in the history of the country. The packers' control act was so amended at the dictation of the packers themselves that it is useless. Senator LaFollette drew attention to the fact that the important amendments made to it were in the handwriting of the chief attorney for the packers, who made the remark, "Well, let it pass—we have pulled its teeth."

And this is the history of one measure after another; honest legislators who remain within the Republican party find that there are powers enthroned in Washington who are greater than they. The men who backed the packers' control bill were making an honest effort to help the stock raisers, who are suffering from the baneful effect of the great combinations among the packers, but the final result is a travesty on honest, helpful legislation.

The Rich Escape Liquor Law

On the ground that it would be unjust to punish the lesser offender against bootleg laws, and let wealthy offenders escape, Judge Ben L. Lindsey of the Denver juvenile court last week discharged two boys accused of having liquor in their possession. In a written statement in open court Judge Lindsey charged that "a conspiracy exists, among the rich to have the laws enforced against the poor."

The judge declared that the police last week had followed a truck load of whiskey, bound for the garage of a wealthy citizen on Capitol Hill, arrested the driver of the truck and permitted the man to whom the whiskey was consigned to go un molested. And further, the police and prohibition officers are searching for the thieves who stole $300,000 worth of liquor from a wealthy Philadelphian—not so much to punish the thieves as to restore the stuff to its wealthy owner.

Judge Lindsey appeared in the pulpit of the Grace Community church Sunday evening and made a still stronger talk.

Financial Report of the Fall Festival

Following is a condensed statement of the executive committee's report on the fall festival and field day given on Oct. 7 and 8:

Total contributions	$ 560 00
Gate receipts, 1st day	150 00
" " 2nd day	285 00
Receipts of two dances	116 00
	$1,112 00

EXPENDITURES
Paid for prizes	$ 558 00
" " labor	281 00
" " supplies	159 16
Deficit 1920	58 62
	$1,036 78
Balance	76 02
	$1,112 80

Balance in bank	$ 76 02
From sale of spaces on program, 1920	34 00
From field day at Nogal, July, 1920	36 00
Total	$150 00

The executive committee desires to make this statement: Never in their recollection was work handled as quietly, efficiently and with as little friction as it was this time by various committees and their associates. Some small debts and credits may yet come in and change the above report, but the change will be very slight and will not vary much either way.

Married at Roswell.

Miss Ines Holland, who taught school here three years ago, was married last Wednesday evening at Roswell to George M. Wilcox of Dexter. Mrs. Holland is a sister of Mrs. Wilbur Coe of Glencoe. The following account of the marriage appeared in the Roswell News of Thursday:

"The marriage of Miss Ines Holland and Mr. George M. Wilcox of Dexter was solemnized last evening at the First Christian Church, Rev. Sidney M. Bedford, reading the beautiful ring service in the presence of about seventy-five relatives and friends. The church was prettily decorated with flowers, ferns and tall potted plants, centering in a graceful arch of white lattice interwoven with garlands of amaranth and pink and white blossoms, in the center of which a white wedding bell was suspended. The wedding party left the church to the stately music of Mendelssohn's wedding march, going to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orroll Holland, where an informal reception was held.

"Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox received a large number of handsome gifts, including beautiful silver, crystal and linens. The bride is a young woman of unusual charm and ability and has been one of the most efficient of the Chaves county teaching force for the past three years. Mr. Wilcox is a prominent young business man of the lower valley. Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox left last night for their pretty, new home just completed in Dexter, where they are at home to their friends."

The Festival and Field Day

Notwithstanding that last Friday was a windy, nasty day in Carrizozo, the fall festival and field sports were a decided success. The big crowd, however, did not get here until Saturday morning, and Saturday was an ideal day, the wind of the previous day having exhausted itself. The stage was set for one of the finest day's amusements in the history of the town. People from all points in the county began arriving at an early hour, some by railroad, but mostly by the auto route.

The rodeo was on the usual wild west order, comprising steer riding, goat roping, bull-dogging, pony races, free-for-all races, etc.

The athletic sports were well contested and consisted of relay races, foot races, broad and high jumps, etc., baseball game, three basket ball games between the high school boys and girls teams of Capitan and Carrizozo, and Capitan town boys versus Carrizozo town boys. Capitan won both boys games and Carrizozo took the girls game. Considerable interest was taken in these games.

In the afternoon several boxing matches were staged, the contestants being local boys, who did their best to win the money and please the crowd.

Corona was well represented, as a large number of its people was here Saturday.

Capitan sent over a large delegation, Nogal, White Oaks, Ancho, Oscura, Lincoln and all towns in the county were here in force, and last, but not least, Fort Stanton. The Fort must have been deserted on the last day of the meet, judging from the number of auto loads of pleasure seekers that came over the hill.

The various committees are to be congratulated on bringing to a successful conclusion one of the best festivals and field days ever given here. A statement of the receipts and expenditures is published in another column.

Salvation Army.

The Lincoln county advisory board of the Salvation Army is a branch of that great international organization for practical Christian work that has for the past thirty or forty years given assistance to so many unfortunate people the world over.

The local advisory board was organized for the purpose of carrying this work into every home in Lincoln county where the need exists. No community is too remote for us to reach and every case reported will be promptly investigated. If you know of a needy person or family in your neighborhood, please notify the board at once. Address: SALVATION ARMY, Carrizozo, N. M.

Labor's Cost Held Nation's Handicap

The greatest handicap America has in placing its products in competition with those of foreign countries is that its workmen are not giving a dollar in labor for a dollar in pay, according to Theo. F. Merceles, president of Montgomery, Ward & Co.

"American labor, made extravagant by abnormal wages during the war, today has not recovered and is extravagant with the time of its employer," declared Mr. Merceles. "The European carpenter is driving ten nails while the American carpenter is driving one. No nation can return to normal unless its citizens unite in the effort. Germany today is placing her goods on the markets of the world in competition not only with those manufactured here, but with those of other countries. She is paying her men big wages, but they are working hard, and in addition are devoting one hour each day to the government. There is no necessity for our workmen to give an hour each day, but they should give their best efforts while they are at work. The last year has taught both employer and employee stern lessons. We have ceased to buy luxuries and have learned to content ourselves with the necessities we enjoyed before the war. As a result business conditions for the first time in two years are improving."—The Manufacturer.

The pastor, Rev. C. C. Higbee, returned from the conference at Artesia, New Mexico, on the evening train Monday. He reports splendid things from the work of the Methodist Church in the state, among which is a net gain in membership of more than 1700. Rev. Higbee has been assigned to Central Methodist Church, Albuquerque, for the ensuing year. Rev. Higbee has been diligent, brotherly and obliging. It is likely that no minister who has been in our midst is held in higher esteem than he. Rev. L. F. Conkin of Clayton, this state, has been assigned to the First Methodist Church for the ensuing year. We welcome him to our city.

First Methodist Church

The new pastor has requested Rev. Higbee to conduct the services here Sunday, as he will not arrive until the following week. The following are the subjects: 11 a. m., "Selecting Company"; 7:30 p. m., "Keeping Company." These constitute a part of a series of "Love Affairs" which will be particularly interesting to young people. They are spiced with humor and, being Rev. Higbee's last public utterances among us, will doubtless be given a splendid hearing.

Exemption of Soldier Taxes Two Years Off.

Years Off.

Roswell News. A decision of the attorney general, received by County Assessor Hanna, effectually disposes of the contention of some of the service men that they were entitled to immediate relief by exemption of taxation, as per Amendment No. 4, voted upon by the people recently, which allowed $2,000 to each ex-soldier as his right.

The question was put up to the attorney general by Royal A. Prentice, a lawyer of Clovis, and the answer, establishing a position, is of such deep interest, including, as it does, definite instruction to the commission and the assessors, that we give it entire:

"The amendment as adopted does not grant the exemption. It only authorizes the legislature to provide for such an exemption and of course the exemption cannot under any circumstances be allowed until after the legislature has met and authorized the taxing officials to grant it.

"You should not, therefore, instruct assessors to grant the exemption until after the legislature has taken some action as above suggested.

"HARRY S. BOWMAN, Attorney General."

This decision absolutely disposes of the question, for its language is unmistakable, making it plain that the adoption of Amendment 4 was merely a recommendation to the legislature. At its next biennial session the legislature may adopt the recommendation or not, as it pleases. In any event the relief will not be available for two years.

Rudderless.

The lack of a bold, aggressive leadership, of a purpose or policy, in the Republican party at this time brings to mind a paragraph from the pen of George D. Prentice of Louisville. Had this celebrated writer lived to the present day he could have written nothing more applicable to the present muddle at Washington than the following:

"A ship without a rudder, a mast without a sail; a locomotive off the track, turned upside down, the cowcatcher buried in a stump and the wheels making 250,000 revolutions a minute; a novel without a hero; a kite in the air that has lost its tail; a cypher, hunting for a figure, in order to stand for something."

Very little news leaks out from the Southwestern oil well, located near Tularosa, further than that drilling is going on steadily.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Conference on Unemployment is Working Rapidly to Solve Its Big Problem.

RAIL WORKERS FOR A STRIKE

Democrats Fighting Against Ratification of Peace Treaties—France's Stand on Reduction of Land Armament—Lloyd George Again Invites Irish to Personal Parley.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

Most important of last week's events in the United States was the opening of the national conference on unemployment. The social economists and captains of industry summoned to Washington by President Harding are not expected to work miracles or to find a way in which immediate and remunerative employment can be given all the millions of involuntary idle in the country, but there is reason to believe they can devise means for relieving the distressing situation. In a general way, the solution of the problem, as the leaders in the conference see it, is a plan of co-operation among employers and with governmental construction agencies to distribute, regulate and increase the volume of employment in slack seasons.

Among the broad phases of the problem, as stated by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, are: A determination of the volume and distribution of employment. Emergency measures to provide employment and mitigate suffering that may arise during the coming winter. Measures which may aid in restoring commerce and employment to normal.

Immediately after the opening session nine subcommittees got busy, and so rapidly did they work that the conference reassembled Friday—a week earlier than had been expected—to consider a general emergency relief program. At this writing it is not possible to give an outline of this program, but some of its suggestions, made by the manufacturers, are as follows:

Unite existing private and public organizations to put through a constructive program for your community. See that there is a suitable employment exchange in your community.

Assist private and public employers and labor organizations rather than have any single civic or family welfare agency or combination of agencies assume the full responsibility. Bring to the attention of public authorities specific recommendations for increasing volume of public work.

Urge both private and public employers to distribute labor by rotation in shifts of three days or more at a time.

Persuade each industry to absorb definite quotas of unemployed. Urge not only private and public employers but individual householders and property owners to make improvements, repairs, and general sprucing up of properties.

Formulate standards and rules for temporary employment for those out of work dealing with rotation of shifts; wages—preference to resident family men, etc.

See that certain sanitary accommodations for homeless men are made and differentiate between resident and floating unemployed.

Discourage migration of unemployed to and from your community. In opening the conference President Harding warned that the administration would be opposed to any plan that involved a further drain on the public treasury. In this he differs with the policy followed by England, which of course the conditions of the peace treaty will not permit.

growing worse. Lloyd George admits it is "appalling." Last week many coal mines in South Wales were closed down, and to add to the trouble, the period for which the state subsidy of mine wages was granted expired Friday, and the country faced the possibility of another great miners' strike.

Our own strike threat comes in the railway work. For days the votes of the rail union members have been coming in to headquarters, the question being whether there shall be a walkout because of the reduced wages established by the federal railway labor board and the working agreements and conditions decreed. The vote of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen already has been counted and is announced as being 90 per cent in favor of a strike. The votes of the other brotherhoods are being counted, and it is taken for granted that they will solidly support the stand taken by the trainmen. Of course this does not mean that a strike is a certainty, for the final decision rests with the brotherhood officials and grievance committees. Many of the officials are very reluctant to issue the order that will tie up the country's transportation facilities.

Unexpected opposition sprang up to the ratification of the peace treaties with Germany, Austria and Hungary, even with the senate committee's reservation providing that America's representation on the international commissions must be decreed by congress. The Democrats decided to fight the pact to the end, and it was reported that they were receiving the active support of former President Wilson. They prepared a series of reservations of their own. With the approval of the President, the Republican leaders undertook to hurry up the ratification by means of night sessions of the senate, and Mr. Lodge, it was said, told Mr. Harding that enough votes were in sight whenever it came to final action. It was stated that twenty Democrats and three Republicans favored flat rejection of the treaties. This would not be enough to block ratification, and besides, some of them probably would accept the pact with reservations designed to carry out the idea of closer participation in European affairs.

In the meantime also, there was much opposition to the treaties as they stand, especially to the acknowledgment by Germany of its guilt in starting the war. They hold that the former Kaiser's government, and not Germany, was responsible for the conflict. What worried Germany more than treaties last week, however, was the fact that it was on the brink of a tremendous financial panic. Chancellor Wirth announced the country would go bankrupt if it was forced to pay the next indemnity installment of a million marks in gold, and the German money market promptly collapsed. The value of the mark has fallen to a ridiculously low point, and for this the financial speculators are blamed, the press denouncing them as "treasonable hyenas."

Premier Briand has announced that he and the rest of the French delegates to the conference on limitation of armaments and Far East questions will sail for the United States on the steamer Lafayette probably November 1. Though in other matters, the Frenchmen may come with open minds, on one point they will bring a fixed determination. They will refuse to discuss the reduction of land armament unless they are fully assured of the support of the allies in case Germany attacks France. The French now have an army of about 700,000, the largest and best in the world, and they have no intention of reducing its size or efficiency as long as Germany remains the menace to France, which they consider her to be. It is said that Marshal Foch is likely to present to the conference the French reason for opposing a reduction of land armament unless some new security is offered France in place of the provisions of the Versailles treaty, which America has declined to accept.

Japan's delegation to the conference is to be headed by Prince Hirokuma, who is a member of the Japanese cabinet and is a close friend of the United States. The Japanese delegation is expected to be the largest of any of the nations.

great family and is considered Japan's strongest man. This week the members of the American delegation are conferring on the policies to be urged by them. It is known that they will stand firm for the practical and against the visionary, and that they are agreed that complete disarmament is impractical at present; but they believe that an international agreement to restrict and reduce armament gradually may well be reached. Our delegates are of the same mind as the President in holding that the proposal of the pacifists that the United States reduce armament even if the other nations refuse is utterly foolish.

The League of Nations had a flare up over this question last week. The British and French delegates opposed a resolution calling on a fixed commission to make general proposals for reduction of armaments, and Lord Robert Cecil, representing South Africa, declared it was vital for the league and for peace that something be done, and that Great Britain and France should either present their own proposals, or cease obstructing the projects put forward by others. The resolution was adopted. A committee named to submit an opinion on the competence of the league to revise treaties, as was asked by Bolivia in the case of the Peru-Bolivia pact, found that the assembly cannot of itself modify any treaty, that being solely within the competence of the contracting parties.

Once more Premier Lloyd George has sent his "last word" to rebellious Ireland, and this time it really sounds like the last. Briefly, the premier tells De Valera that the British government, though sincerely desirous of peace, cannot enter into a conference on the basis of the Irish leader's communications, because, despite De Valera's personal assurance to the contrary, it might involve the government in a recognition of Irish independence which no British government can accept. Nevertheless the government feels that conference is the most practical way of accomplishing reconciliation and settlement, and therefore Lloyd George extends to De Valera a fresh invitation to a conference in London on October 11. Arthur Griffith, who will head the Irish delegation if the conference is held, has declared the Sinn Fein has never asked the British government to recognize the independence of Ireland as a preliminary to a conference. This leads to the belief that the Sinn Fein can now accept Lloyd George's invitation without qualifying itself.

The senate has received majority and minority reports from its committee on privileges and elections on the Ford-Newberry senatorial election contest from Michigan. In two respects the reports agree—that Henry Ford was not elected, and that too much money was spent in the Michigan primary. On all other major issues they diverge. The majority report clears Newberry of all charges, including corruption, and recommends that he be seated. The minority report, signed by Democrats, finds Newberry was elected by corrupt and illegal methods and recommends that his seat be declared vacant. Final action by the senate may not be taken for several weeks. There is little doubt as to what it will be. Meantime, it is understood Mr. Newberry will not attend senate sessions.

The War department has made public its plan for the creation of the organized reserve of the army on a basis that will permit the quick mobilization of more than 4,000,000 fighting men. Twenty-seven primary divisions of the reserve are provided for, numbering from the Twenty-sixth to the One Hundred and Twenty-sixth, these preserving both in number and the geographical location where each is located the 18 wartime national army divisions. The same territorial distribution as to grades and army corps will be followed, as in the regular army, and the reserve divisions will be organized in the same manner as the regular army divisions. The reserve divisions will be organized in the same manner as the regular army divisions.

CLEARLY NOT UP TO DATE Profiteer Saw at Once What Was Lacking in Dictionary That Agent Was Offering.

Archer Milton Huntington, the famous author and collector, said at a dinner to Baychester: "When a word profiteer begins to collect, the spectacle is amusing. "A New York profiteer was visited by a book agent who tried to sell him a very elaborate dictionary for his library. "This dictionary," said the book agent, has all the latest modern improvements, sir. It includes the newest technical and scientific terms, and there isn't a feature lacking that goes to make a first-class work of the kind. "Let's have a look at her," grunted the profiteer. "He examined the dictionary a moment," then he handed it back. "Young fellow," he said, "you can't work that book off on me." "What's the matter with the book?" said the agent. "She ain't got no copious index," said the profiteer.

Most Americans believe that Nikolai Lenin is president of Russia, whereas he holds an office which corresponds to that of the British premier, Michael Kalinin, a peasant, for more than two years has been president of the All-Russian Central Executive committee. You can avoid this possibility if you'll stop drinking tea and coffee and drink instead, rich, pleasing Postum.

Postum is the delicious cereal beverage with a coffee-like flavor. It affords the advantages of a hot drink, without the ill effects of tea or coffee.

Order Postum from your grocer today. Try it with the family for a few days, and see what a difference there'll be—how it will permit Nature to bring sound sleep and strong, sturdy, quiet nerves. Sold by grocers.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (the one you can get in a cup by the addition of boiling water) and Regular Postum (the one you get in a package of 10 cups). Both are made of the same nutritious cereal grains, and are equally good for you.

Minor Post Offices Cause Trouble for Department by Slackness of Methods.

DON'T TAKE JOB SERIOUSLY

Postmasters Refuse to Answer Department Correspondence and Threaten to Quit When Called to Task by Officials.

Washington.—Some of the trials of the Post Office department with many of the fourth class postmasters of the country, who refuse to answer official correspondence, and who otherwise conduct themselves in a perhaps too high-handed fashion, are revealed by W. Irving Glover, third assistant postmaster general.

Those fourth class postmasters, it appears, have been in part responsible for the delay in adjusting the 50,000 claims for lost and damaged parcels. But more than that, they continually act as if they didn't care a rap whether they held their jobs or not.

The trouble is that they really do not, Glover intimates, and they often tell the department officials as much in just about that many words. They are under civil service, and often they are the only men in their towns who will and can act as postmasters. Most often they run small stores, and if the department in Washington gets "all hot up" over their failure to answer correspondence, the postmasters threaten to give up the post-office work.

That threat usually "works," for it is better to have some sort of post office than none at all.

"Why, some of them pay no attention to us at all," said Glover, with a smile of despair. "One of them recently was asked to fill out a questionnaire showing reasons as to this and that in connection with a lost parcel. "Hell, no; hell, yes; hell, no; hell, yes," was the way he sent the questionnaire back to us," continued Glover, with some feeling. "Then, he continued, "if you don't like it, take your post office out of my store."

"This is a sample of the thing we have to put up with," continued the third assistant postmaster general.

"One postmaster actually tore out the partitions used to mark off the post office from the rest of his store and threw them out into the street, together with all the postal apparatus."

"When the mails arrived the men on the train saw that they could not deliver the letters and other matter to an office out in the street, so refused to let the mail off. Word was sent to headquarters and inspectors sent down at once."

"Do you have to put up with that sort of thing?" Glover was asked.

Many Requests Unanswered.

"There is not much else we can do, sometimes," he said. "Often it becomes a case of having a postmaster like that or none at all. Often they pay no attention whatever to letters asking for information, and some of them even refuse to send back to merchant houses packages refused by customers in their villages."

"For instance, a man asks for samples of suitings from some big mercantile house, that is, perhaps, not as strict in its business ethics as some of the houses.

"A sample of a blue cloth, and a sample of a brown cloth are sent him, from which he selects the blue, and orders a suit of that color. But the clothing house sends him suits made from both colored cloths."

"The customer accepts the blue suit, but refuses the brown one. And the postmaster does not take the trouble either to notify the mercantile house or send the suit back. Then when the house kicks, and begins to flood the customer with letters asking for a remittance for the brown suit, too, the customer tears up the letters and the postmaster pays no attention to letters to him."

Glover said that the department had been able to clear up the 50,000 delayed cases partly because it had waived the old rules requiring many affidavits as to the cost of articles alleged to be lost.

All-Woman Jury Trial Case.

Sumrall, Miss.—Mississippi's first all-woman jury rendered a verdict in justice of the peace court here in favor of the defendant in litigation between Mrs. Rassy Reed and Mrs. Laura Speed, involving ownership of a cow and calf. GIVES NEW LIGHT ON POISON

French Courts May Reverse Decision of 43 Years Ago.

Chemist Convicted of Murdering Wife by Administering Arsenic Asks for Rehearing of Case.

Paris.—Modern scientific research with regard to arsenical poison may cause the French courts to reverse a life sentence passed 43 years ago on a chemist named Danval, who was found guilty of having murdered his wife.

Danval, who, owing to a press agitation, was released 19 years ago, has now filed a petition asking for permission to bring his case before the supreme court of appeal. The Danval case was one of the most famous poison trials in the annals of French criminal law. In 1877 M. Danval was a prosperous chemist with an establishment in the Rue Mauberg. "Accused of having poisoned his wife, he was brought to trial before the Seine assize court, and on May 10, 1878, condemned to deportation for life."

Famous experts appeared both for the prosecution and the defense, and the whole of medical jurisprudence concerning the qualities of arsenic, as they were then known, was argued before the court for many days. The government experts found traces of arsenic in Mine. Danval's body which would amount to one milligram (.01549 grain). This, it was argued, proved that arsenic had been administered with criminal intent. A toxicologist for the defense, however, maintained that one milligram was a perfectly normal amount of arsenic to find in the human body. It was pointed out that the green curtains surrounding Mine. Danval's bed had been colored with an arsenical dye and contained an ounce of pure arsenic.

M. Danval was sent to the penal settlement of New Caledonia. He was living there, comparatively free, with his family, when, in 1902, the order came for his release.

The French government toxicologist has just issued a new textbook for consultation at criminal trials in which it is declared that the presence of so small a quantity as one milligram of arsenic in the human body is negligible and ought not to be taken as incriminating evidence in a charge of murder.

It is on this new ruling that M. Danval appeals.

FINDS INDIAN MIND IS ALERT

Red Man Excels at Ability to Do Sustained Thinking.

Professor of Psychology Who Has Been Making Tests Gives Results of His Investigations.

Austin, Tex.—For the last three years Dr. T. B. Garth, professor of psychology of the University of Texas, has been making tests of the mental capacity of the Indian, the negro and the Caucasian. These investigations have brought to light the fact, he says, that the Indian mind is as alert as that of the white people. He recently spent some time among the Indians of New Mexico and Oklahoma, carrying on his tests.

In Oklahoma, Doctor Garth tested the intelligence of the Indians of the Oklahoma Indian Territory. "I have tried the tests on many blue as a sign of intelligence. When I tried the riddle test, I thought surely the Indians would find a stumbling block, but they answered readily, and after the test was over one of the Indian girls came up to ask me a riddle."

Out of the general mental tests which Doctor Garth has conducted has grown the problem of studying the psychology of Indian personality, according to which certain traits of character found in the Indian are compared with the same traits found in the whites. In the mental tests which he conducted on the recent trip, Doctor Garth used the form issued by the National Research Council which is very much interested in this work. The American Association of Science also has assigned to Doctor Garth a research fund and gives other aid as evidence of interest in the work.

SEASONABLE IDEAS.

For the waffle lover this will be a piece de resistance, as every one knows how delicious a tender, crisp waffle is. Never serve a hot sirup with waffles, as it tends to soften and destroy their crispness.

Rich Waffles.—Add the yolks of three eggs to two cupfuls of cream, one-quarter of a cupful of sugar, two cupfuls of flour, sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt. Stir to a smooth batter, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Cook on a hot, well greased waffle iron and sprinkle with powdered sugar before serving.

Butterscotch Sauce.—Melt two tablespoonfuls of browned flour, stir to a paste, then add three-quarters of a cupful of water and cook until smooth like an ordinary sauce. Lastly, add one-quarter of a cupful of molasses, one tablespoonful of vinegar and one cupful of brown sugar, and let boil up once.

Spiced Peaches.—Use seven pounds of fruit to five pounds of sugar, with an ounce each of cinnamon and cloves tied loosely in a small bag; add one pint of water and one pint of vinegar. When boiling hot drop in the peaches, a few at a time, and cook until they are thoroughly scalded. Pour the boiling hot sirup over them after the can is full. Seal as usual.

Preserved Figs.—Where the fresh, ripe fig is to be obtained they make a delicious preserve. Pour three quarts of boiling water over three quarts of figs, which have been sprinkled with one-half cupful of baking soda. Let stand ten minutes, then rinse the figs well with water running through them in a colander. Boil two pounds of sugar in three pints of water ten minutes, add the figs, cover closely and cook slowly until the figs are clear and tender. This may take two hours and the quantity of water should not be allowed to become too much reduced. When the figs are clear, boil down the sirup until heavy. Pour over and seal. The rind of two oranges added to the figs improves the flavor, some think. Spiced figs may be prepared as are spiced peaches.

EVERYDAY GOOD THINGS.

The following treatment of lamb stew is unusual but worth trying:

Mexican Lamb Stew.—Take a pound of the neck of lamb, cut in small pieces, roll in two tablespoonfuls of flour, brown in one tablespoonful of drippings with one chopped onion. Add three tomatoes, three green peppers; fry all together for a few minutes, then add two quarts of hot water, one tablespoonful of salt and one-fourth of a spoonful of pepper. Simmer one hour, then add one cupful each of green peas, green corn and one-half cupful of rice. Cook until the rice is done. When ready to serve put in the bottom of the serving dish one egg, one teaspoonful of salad oil and one-half teaspoonful of vinegar. Pour the stew over this.

Calves' Liver.—Fry one-fourth of a pound of bacon cut in thin slices until crisp, pouring off the fat occasionally. Remove to a hot platter. Pour hot water over the liver and let stand five minutes, then drain. Roll the liver in one-fourth of a cupful of flour and the same amount of cornmeal well mixed with one teaspoonful of salt. Fry until brown on both sides, using the bacon fat. Add one-fourth cupful of coffee infusion, boiling hot. Cover tightly for a few minutes and serve garnished with bacon.

Mock Venison.—Purchase a five-pound leg of lamb. Wipe it with a damp cloth and lay in a dish of vinegar, adding one onion, six cloves, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of ginger and ten peppercorns. Allow the lamb to remain in the vinegar one day, then turn and leave for the second day. Remove, cover with flour, season and roast in the usual manner. Use three in four cupfuls of vinegar.

Meat Balls.—Season two cupfuls of finely chopped cold meat with salt and pepper, minced onion, sage, thyme and lemon juice. Add one cupful of fine soft bread crumbs, one egg and water or stock to moisten. Shape into cakes and fry in beef drippings and lard until well browned on both sides.

Apples With Cinnamon Dressing.—Wash and core good flavored apples. Fill the centers with the red cinnamon candies, beating during the baking.

ROAD BUILDING

FEDERAL COMMISSION URGED

Highway Question Concerns Agriculture, Commerce, Military and Social Needs.

"National development and the need for economy demand the formation of a highway policy under a federal commission," said George M. Graham, member of the highways committee, National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, speaking before the senate committee on post offices and post roads.

"The economic barrier now confronting us is the lack of adequate highways. There is urgent need to build these highways as quickly as possible, and with the maximum economy."

"Highways should be planned with consideration of their relationship to railway and waterway communication. The highway question concerns agriculture, commerce, the military and the social needs of the nation. The roads program is national in scope and is related to all departments of the government."

"Highway policy, therefore," Graham continued, "should be unified under a federal highway commission directly responsible to the chief executive, as is now the policy in state road administration."

"Economy will be served by such a measure as roads will be with regard to all the needs of the nation. It will be possible to pay higher salaries than can now be done under the bureau system. Millions of dollars are to be expended on roads, and it is the highest economy to secure the ablest brains in the country for the administration of these funds."

"Selection of roads of primary interstate importance and concentration of federal funds in conjunction with state funds on these roads is the first step needed. States should be required to meet the federal aid as states rather than passing their responsibilities along to counties as many states do now. In this way, it will be possible to have state policies correlated with the national program. The counties will benefit from the general interstate highway system, and the funds which the counties formerly used in conjunction with federal aid can be devoted to more specifically local purposes."

"Maintenance should be provided for by the states in all cases," Graham emphasized, "in order that as the public highways are developed they may Statisticians announce that losses in the earnings of idle workers the past six months aggregate six and a half billion dollars. The supremacy of a certain political brand, we have often been told, always brought prosperity.

It is to be hoped that good will result from the unemployment conference. However, Mr. Prosperity has a way of coming and going at his own sweet will, and he's a pretty tough citizen to push. Time, more than artificial measures, will ultimately bring him back.

History Repeats

The Washington Post, which is recognized as the official administration organ, emits an editorial that bears a sinister warning to Republicans. It refers to the proposed coalition between the progressive Republicans and Democrats on the tax bill and the alleged intention of the Democrats to vote for a sales tax amendment and then vote against the bill in company with Republicans who are opposed to the sales tax. Referring to this feature the Post says:

"Either horn of the dilemma threatens disaster to the Republican party, in whose ranks the split of discord is daily growing wider. The present situation at the Capital is disclosing to public view, a fact which cannot much longer be concealed, that the Republican party today is not functioning smoothly and efficiently because it is no longer thinking as a unit. Its members are as far apart as the poles on some of the greatest questions underlying what is attempted to be made into definite policy.

"The bonds which held its component parts together during the campaign, when Republicans of all shades of opinion were actuated by a common opposition to what became known as 'Wilsonism,' are today falling asunder. The serious feature of the situation from the party's point of view is not that the party is not working harmoniously, but that the fundamental differences between Republicans are today as great, if not actually greater, than they were in 1912."

And then, as if to show the Democrats in behalf of honest government, the Post adds: "The Democrats have seized

Making Extraordinary Mileage a Certainty

Car Owners want more rubber on the tread where the wear is hardest; more gum between cord plies to perfect a resilient and powerful carcass. And they want a scientifically constructed Non Skid tread with all angles and contacts to resist skidding and give sure traction. Firestone Cord Tires have met these demands of the car owners.

Read Letters Below— Records from 29,000 to 57,000 Miles

Cord Tires built the Firestone way could not fail to produce mileage. Every day, from all over the country, comes the word that 10,000, 20,000 or 30,000 miles are frequent and consistent records.

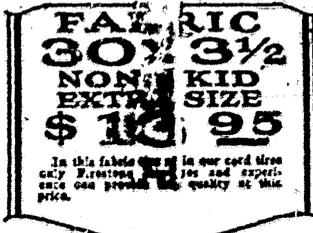

Now and then they are emphasized by unusual instances such as quoted below. Performances like these demonstrate the ultimate possibilities of Firestone Cords under careful driving.

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Jacksonville Branch, Jacksonville, Florida.

Sept. 19, 1921
 I submit herewith the history of a 3 1/2 Firestone Cord tire. This tire has run 57,000 miles. I have recorded it seven times. The average mileage to each recording was about 7,900. I think you will agree this is a remarkable record. It is especially so because I know the owner to be a severe driver. However, he gives his three proper locations. The tire in question is not yet out of service and has every indication of being completely strong for another record. Am making photograph and attaching photograph to this letter.

Sept. 2, 1921
 It occurs to me that you might be interested in the mileage that I obtained from the set of Firestone Cord tires on my Dodge coupe. The tires were built by the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. of Akron, Ohio. The set of tires ran over 29,000 miles. The second tire failed at a mileage of between 5,000 and 10,000. These were both rear tires and had been on it considerably by chain. The two front tires have gone better than 21,000 miles and are still in good condition. I expect to get at least 40,000 miles from each of them. I need scarcely say that the Firestone Cord will be my choice for the future.

Efficiency in Burning Up Money.

We call your attention, kind reader, to the world's most efficient "burning of money." Referring, of course, to the modern battleship.

Uncle Sam is on the eve of putting into commission the tremendous dreadnaught "Maryland." She will have cost $42,000,000 from the start to finish, enough money to build and equip 200 handsome school houses in the state of Maryland—each handsome and big enough to house a thousand pupils.

The Maryland has eight 16-inch guns, each of which cost $256,000. A few shots—a dozen or so—puts such a 'gun in the scrap pile; burns up a quarter of a million dollars in a sort of an off-hand manner.

Then for upkeep each year the Maryland will cost $750,000—

three-quarters of a million, not counting salaries. The wage bill is another $100,000 a month—which amounts to one million, two hundred thousand a year. Thus, it will cost two million dollars a year to keep the Maryland in commission. You could hire one thousand professors a year for that sum.

Whither are we going? How long can this country stand such expenditures?

Bloodshed, barbarism and the utter bankruptcy of mankind are not far ahead unless the nation "come to" pretty soon.—Ex.

New Mexico Will Withdraw Escrow Deposits

Santa Fe, N. M., October 8.—Thirty-nine national and state banks and trust companies of New Mexico were drawn upon by State Land Commissioner Nelson A. Field for the total amount of $286,685.89, which has been remitted to the state treasury and apportioned among the several funds which are the beneficiaries of the federal land grants.

This is the first installment of the sum of more than $500,000 which the state land office has been holding in escrow for several years. It is the accumulation of payments made on oil and gas leases, held because of attacks in the courts upon the validity of the leases of the kind.

The complaints in the suits alleged without authority to execute oil and gas leases. Under a recent ruling from the attorney general's office, the state land office decided to turn all this money into the state treasury. The total amount is being withdrawn from the several banks in two installments, so as to work no hardship on any of the institutions.

More than half of this amount—$175,510—goes into the common school fund.

Total Railroad Wages Increase

The wage bill of the railroads of the United States amounted to $1,457,010,151 during the first six months this year, or 54.44 per cent of their gross operating revenues, according to tabulations made from statistics just compiled by the Interstate Commerce Commission. This compares with $1,707,770,698, or 62.29 per cent, during the corresponding period last year. The total net operating income of the railroads during the first half of this year was $174,062,167.

On the basis of the first six months (and balancing an increase in number of employees in the second half of the year against the reduction in wages which went into effect July 1), the railroad wage bill in 1921 will be $2,914,000,000, or $1,175,000,000 more than the total wages paid in 1917.

The latest reports received by the commission from the rail carriers show that during the first four months this year there was a gradual decrease in the number of railroad employees owing to the necessity of retrenching because of decreased revenues resulting from the slump in traffic, but that in May and June there were increases.

Col. Watterson Cannot Attend Vets' Reunion.

Writes Characteristic Letter to the Committee in Charge—Is More Than Four Score Years Old.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Oct. 10.—Col. Henry Watterson, veteran journalist, former editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal and, during the civil war, publisher of the Chattanooga Rebel, has written a characteristic letter to the committee in charge of the forthcoming reunion of the United Confederate Veterans to be held here, in which he expressed regret at not being able to attend. The letter, written from New York City, and addressed to the chairman of the committee, follows:

"I wish it were possible for me to attend the coming confederate reunion. It is not possible, so you must take the will for the deed.

"Chattanooga possesses many claims upon my affections. It was there that I found my dear wife, who, after fifty-nine years of devotion, still abides and between whom and myself the relations then established remain unbroken and unchanged. She joins me in the regret that we cannot together revisit the scenes of our early love-making. But at four-score and upwards functions of every sort are beyond me.

"Perhaps it is as well that I am not again to look upon the thin gray line soon to disappear, forever, from the scenes of this world, for it might put too great a strain upon an old man's tenderest sensibilities.

"My love to the old boys. It cannot be long when we shall meet on that beautiful shore, and when we meet, be sure the Bonnie Blue flag will be flying at the shore and the bands will be playing Dixie on parade, whilst the pretty girls will be distributing the Chattanooga Rebel to groups of ragged, red-nosed angels who have not forgotten the rebel yell.

"Sincerely,
HENRY WATTERSON."

More Coyotes Than for Years.

"There are more coyotes than ever this year in New Mexico, perhaps because of the low price of fur last year, causing many old trappers to let wild animals alone," declared O. L. Coleman, of the U. S. Biological Survey, who arrived this afternoon from Las Cruces to assist in organizing the fight against the coyote.

"Some stockmen complain they have lost ten per cent of their calves," he added, "and an effort will be made to organize the ranchers and stockmen to fight the pest. Felix Armijo of Santa Fe will organize in this part of the state.

"Mr Coleman says that in the southwestern quarter of the state contiguous organizations have covered the ground pretty well and are hot after the coyote, killing the animal by rifle or poison.

"Charles F. Bliss, with headquarters in Albuquerque, is the 'generalissimo' of the biological survey men, who are trying to exterminate rodents and predatory animals."—New Mexican.

BALMY PEACE

"IN THE sylvan solitudes," said the wild man of the woods, "a man doesn't see any magazines and doesn't receive any bulletins from the health authorities, so he enjoys a peace that is never known in the busy haunts.

"There a man simply has to subscribe for a lot of magazines, as a matter of self-defense. Canvasers are after him all the time. Some of the canvasers are lone widows with many children to support, and others are energetic young men who are trying to work their way through the veterinary college.

They are deterring people, and you feel it a duty to help them along, so the first thing you know your mail box is jammed full of literature. Having paid for it, you feel that you ought to read it, and your life is ruined thereby.

"When I was young, the magazines tried to entertain people. They had good stories and a Poet's Corner, and a department devoted to timely jokes, and another to household hints and domestic recipes. There was some sense in reading a magazine then, for it soothed and sustained you. But nowadays the magazine editors consider it their duty to harrow your soul and make your hair stand on end like quills upon the porkful freckles, or words to that effect. They are always stewing with alarm, and trying to convince you that you take your life in your hand every five minutes.

"They have a lot of health specialists writing for them, and these health sharps point out that pretty near everything you eat and drink is a deadly poison. They didn't scare me to any great extent, for I am a most intrepid man, but they soon had my wife so rattled she didn't know whether she was going or coming.

"I always was passionately fond of a good cup of coffee, and my wife could make the best coffee, you ever heard of. She went to work at it like a learned apothecary compounding a prescription. There was no guess work about it. She took an honest pride in it, and her coffee was a revelation to every consumer. I used to lie awake at night wishing it was breakfast time, so I could have my morning cup of coffee.

"But one morning when I went to the table the coffee was missing. In its place there was a sickly beverage I had never seen before. I asked an explanation, and my wife said that no more coffee would be made in our house. 'The wonder is,' said she, 'that we still live and move and have our being, for coffee is a rank poison. If you read Dr. Zinkfoogle's article in the Junkopolitan Magazine, you will see that coffee contains a large percentage of tannin, which is so deadly that if you place a drop on the tongue of an alligator, it will roll over, dead.'

"I told her that I had no alligators on the premises, and consequently could not try the experiment, but I assured her that I didn't care anything about the poison. I wanted my coffee at regular hours. She said I'd have to keep on wanting. She thought too much of me to send me to an untimely grave. And, anyhow, she explained Dr. Zinkfoogle had told how to make a substitute for coffee that was perfectly wholesome. She had followed his instructions, and the result was before me. Perhaps it didn't taste as good as coffee, but it was wholesome. It would fill my veins with red corpuscles and restore hair to my bald head. It was made of marrowfat peas which had been carefully roasted in a hot oven.

"In order to get a cup of coffee after that, I had to make a sneak to the chop house, and the kind dished up there made me old before my time. My wife cut out all my favorite dishes because Dr. Zinkfoogle or some other magazine writer denounced them, and finally I was living on roasted peas coffee and boiled spinach, and I concluded that if I had to feed like the cows I'd live like them, so I came to the forest fastnesses."

A newspaper headline, "Quarter Cut in Dresses." It is to be hoped for decency's sake that skirts will not be cut any shorter.

According to the census figures the state of New Mexico has 360,350 population, an increase of about 30,000 over 1910. Of the total there were 30,000 more males than females. There were 126,765 school children.

"Tanlac made me feel younger." "It put me back on the payroll." "I can eat whatever I want now." "I no longer suffer from indigestion." "I gained weight rapidly." These and many more expressions are now heard daily as people tell of their

Pains Were Terrific

Read how Mrs. Albert Gregory, of R. F. D. No. 1, Bixford, Ill., got rid of her ills. "During . . . I was awfully weak . . . My pains were terrific. I thought I would die. The bearing-down pains were actually so severe I could not stand the pressure of my hands on the lower part of my stomach . . . I simply felt as if life was for but a short time. My husband was worried . . . One evening, while reading the Birthday Almanac, he came across a case similar to mine, and went straight for some Cardui for me to try.

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"I took it faithfully and the results were immediate," adds Mrs. Gregory. "I continued to get better, all my ills left me, and I went through . . . with no further trouble. My baby was fat and strong, and myself—thank God—am once more hale and hearty, can walk miles, do my work, though 44 years old, feel like a new person. All I owe to Cardui." For many years Cardui has been found helpful in building up the system when run down by disorders peculiar to women.

Licensed to Wed.

A marriage license was issued yesterday, October 13th, to Wm. Booth and Merced Hernandez. The closest friends of the contracting parties were surprised over the announcement, as the event was closely guarded, and if anybody knew about the approaching nuptials they managed to retain the secret. Best wishes are extended.

For the Young Woman Who is Pale

Misses C.M. Kays.—When I was a girl just coming into womanhood I became all run-down, weak and nervous. I was pale as death. My people became very much alarmed; they thought I was going into a decline. My mother took me to our druggist and asked if he could recommend some medicine. He told her to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and she did. I had only taken it a short time when I began to improve and it was not long when I was well—in the best of health.—MRS. BELL GAMMON, 2213 Roosevelt Ave.

"I never heard of that complaint." "Purty common round these diggin's. Too many people noticed that he was stealin' hosses."—American Legion Weekly.

SWAMP-ROOT FOR KIDNEY AILMENTS

There is only one medicine that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidney, liver and bladder. Dr. Kilmear's Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that it has proven to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of distressing cases. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound. Start treatment at once. Sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmear & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

The Delay.—"I'm sorry but you'll have to wait an hour for this prescription to be filled," said the clerk in the drug store. "Why?" asked the man who was in a hurry. "There are eight or nine clerks in the store." "I know that, sir, but the only one who knows how to put up prescriptions has gone to lunch."

THE SANDMAN STORY

VAIN LITTLE CRICKET.

ONE night a little Cricket was singing loudly, when a Toad which had been doing by the trunk of a tree said: "Oh, do be quiet! I never heard such a noise as you and your family make." "Very true," replied the little creature, "for our family are, of course, the best singers in the world. We can make a great noise, as you have said."

"But that does not make you the best singers in the world," replied the Toad. "Did you never hear the birds singing in the trees, silly creature?" "Why should I listen to the birds when I can sing better than they do?" asked the Cricket. "Just listen now. Our family are tuning up and I am sure birds could not sing louder."

"If you would take the trouble to listen some time when the birds are singing in the daytime I am sure you would not be so vain," said the Toad. "Ah, there you are!" exclaimed the Cricket. "In the daytime you say; why do the birds not sing at night? I ask you, my friend? I will tell you; because they dare not compare voices with my family; that is why. We can outstring them and they do not wish to let everyone know that the Crickets have the best voices."

"If you would come out in the daytime and sing," said the Toad, "I am sure you would have to agree with me that the birds can sing louder and more sweetly than your family. I think you are the ones who are afraid to have a contest, not the birds."

"Not at all," said the Cricket, "but why should we come out in the sunlight when we much prefer the night-time to be abroad? We know that our family sings better than any other in the world. Let the birds, if they doubt this, come out at night and sing with us."

"You are a silly and conceited little creature," said the Toad, hopping away, for it was almost daylight by this time.

"You awoke me from my morning nap with your silly chirping," said a big Robin flying down from his home in the branches of the tree.

"And so you think your family can outstring mine, do you? Well, there will be one less at any rate tonight to help your family sing, friend Cricket, and I believe my children would enjoy you for breakfast."

"You see, Mr. Toad, it is just as I told you," chirped the vain Cricket, as the Robin flew up in the tree with him in his bill, "the birds are jealous of our voices, for this fellow is taking me to his children that they may have their voice improved by eating one of the finest singers in the world."

The Robin thought this so funny he had to laugh, and when he opened his mouth down fell the Cricket to the ground and quickly hopped away.

By MARY MARSHALL DUFFEE

WHEN YOU EAT FRUIT.

Remember this—that there is a proper dignity and propriety to be observed in the performance of every act of life.—Marcus Aurelius.

IN THE formal, many-course dinner a fruit course usually follows the sweets and cheese, directly preceding the coffee. In many families fresh fruit is always served at dinner following the dessert. The decorative trays of fresh fruit served in this way has, no doubt, had something to do with the establishment of this course in the dinner menu.

planned the dinner. To serve the bananas sliced would be just as grave an error. But really it is no very difficult task to eat whole fruit as it should be eaten at dinner. This becomes comparatively easy at tables where the English custom of serving a fruit knife and fork is followed. The banana should first be peeled. Oranges should then be cut by means of the knife and eaten with the fork. Do not cut it all at once.

The best way to eat an apple at the dinner table is to cut it in quarters with the knife, handling it as little as possible, and then to pare the skin from each quarter and to core it as required. There is quite a knack in doing this without taking the apple up into the hands any more than necessary.

Pears are eaten in much the same manner and so are peaches and plums, but the considerate hostess does not serve these fruits when they are so juicy and over-ripe as to be difficult to manage.

Many persons would not serve oranges at all for dinner, but instead tangerines that can be managed more gracefully. Tangerines may be peeled and then broken into sections, the seeds being removed by means of the knife before taking them in the fingers to eat. Orange skins should be removed by holding the orange firmly on the plate with the fork and then cutting off the skin by means of the knife. After this morsels of the orange may be cut from the core by means of the knife and fork and the pieces conveyed to the mouth by the fork. Needless to say, this is more easily accomplished when the oranges are firm and not extremely juicy. So the wise hostess selects California oranges for dinner, though she may prefer those delicious Florida oranges when they are to be eaten with a spoon for breakfast.

You may have your own pet way of eating grapes, but there is only one right way—that is, according to the accepted usage. They should be eaten by means of the fingers of the right hand, the stones should then be dropped into the left hand inconspicuously and thence conveyed to the fruit plate. Cherries should be managed in the same way.

By adding a final "a," the feminine Juana was formed, a name which proved more acceptable than the masculine Juan as a preface to Maria, and soon Maria was dropped entirely and Juana became a separate name. Spain is fond of endearments and diminutives, as Rosita and Carmencita and scores of other names prove, so presently the ever-popular Juana was evolved. Many famous women of Spain bore the name, among them a queen, who was known as Juana la Loca. Her reign in Castille was an unfortunate and distressing period.

It may be that the Spanish influence in the Southwestern states brought Juana into vogue in this country, or her fame, according to some, may have been established by the country-wide vogue of the old song with which even the present generation is familiar. Who does not remember: "Juana, ask thy soul if we should part?" Juana's talismanic gem is the freemason. That gem of sunny Spain protects her protection from evil spirits, good health and happiness. Tuesday is her lucky day and seven her lucky number.

Alice Lake

The emotional force displayed by charming Alice Lake in her most recent pictures has placed her in the front rank of screen stars. Miss Lake is barely twenty-two years old. A few short years ago she was attending Erasmus Hall high school in Brooklyn. She is the daughter of a successful merchant. The winsome "movie" star is of medium height and lithe in figure. Her eyes are a dark hazel and her hair a rich brown.

HOW WOMEN AVOID SURGICAL OPERATIONS

Some Are Extremely Necessary, Others May Not Be Every Woman Should Give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a Trial First

Chicago, Ill.—"I was in bed with a female trouble and inflammation and had four doctors but none of them did me any good. They all said I would have to have an operation. A druggist's wife told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took 22 bottles, never missing a dose and at the end of that time I was perfectly well. I have never had occasion to take it again as I have been so well. I have a six room flat and do all my work. My two sisters are taking the Compound upon my recommendation and you may publish my letter. It is the gospel truth and I will write to any one who wants a personal letter."—Mrs. E. H. HAYDOCK, 624 St. Lawrence Ave., Chicago, Ill.

A Vermont woman adds her testimony to the long line of those fortunate women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after it had been decided an operation was necessary: Burlington, Vt.—"I suffered with female trouble, and had a number of doctors who said that I would never be any better until I had an operation. I was so bad I could hardly walk across the floor and could not do a thing. My sister-in-law induced me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it certainly has helped me wonderfully. I keep house and do my work and have a small child. I have recommended Vegetable Compound to a number of my friends and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. H. R. SHARON, Apple Tree Point Farm, Burlington, Vt.

In hospitals are many women who are there for surgical operations, and there is nothing a woman dreads more than the thought of an operation, and the long weary months of recovery and restoration to strength if it is successful. It is very true that female troubles may through neglect reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but most of the common ailments of women are not the surgical ones; they are not caused by serious displacements, tumors or growths, although the symptoms may appear the same. When disturbing ailments first appear take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present distress and prevent more serious troubles. In fact, many letters have been received from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after operations have been advised by attending physicians.

Passing of Old Dobbin. Old Dublin and the high-wheeled buggy, long since pushed from the city streets by the advent of gasoline and the trolley, are losing favor in the rural districts of the United States, according to the preliminary report of the bureau of census on the 1920 census of agriculture. American farmers now possess 2,140,512 automobiles, and this allows more than 332 machines for every 1,000 farms.

Not only is the one-horse shay on the decline in rural centers, but the report on motor trucks, tractors, telephones, water supply and gas or electric light indicates a rapidly increasing adoption by the farmers of urban conveniences.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. O'Connell, who has been visiting the M. U. Finley family, returned to her Roswell home Tuesday.

Sam Bigger, junior member of the Mountaineer editorial staff, was a business visitor Tuesday from Capitan.

H. E. Keller was down from his home on the Mesa Thursday. He stated the farmers in his vicinity are busy winding up the harvest.

The first frost of the season fell east of Capitan Friday night, after a heavy rain the previous day. The ground was blanketed in white.

Quite a number from here motored to White Oaks Sunday afternoon to see a ball game between the East Side and White Oaks teams.

Dr. F. S. Randles was over Monday from the Bonito. Doc is operating the hoist on the Robinson properties, which are undergoing a systematic development.

Billie Ferguson was down Wednesday attending to some business matters and, incidentally, watching the returns of that day's world's series, in which the Giants defeated the Yankees by a score of 2 to 1.

Misses Mamie and Margaret Humphrey left last week for their old home in Michigan. Miss Margaret has been in bad health for a period and the trip was undertaken with the hope of benefiting her health. Miss Mamie is expected home Sunday.

Uncle Johnny Skinner was down Wednesday from the Mesa. He says he has his crop practically harvested and he and Mrs. Skinner will soon move to Carrizozo for the winter. Crops were the best in years and Mr. Skinner believes he had acres of corn that produced 60 to 65 bushels. Some record for "dry farming," we insist.

A. H. Hudspeth came in Saturday from Santa Fe, having turned the Marshal's office over to his successor, Segundino Romero. Mr. Hudspeth will reside in Carrizozo and practice law here. His long residence in Lincoln county, where he practiced his profession before his appointment as Marshal, his record for honesty and integrity, and his well-known ability, will assure him a fair share of business, while his return to his old home county is appreciated by a host of loyal friends.

Miss Laura Scharf has let the contract for a four-room residence on Alameda avenue. The building will be of cement blocks, with a large porch, of the same material. A. L. V. Nilsson, the contractor, has already begun work on the foundation.

E. L. Moulton was here Monday from Albuquerque. Mr. Moulton was in business at Corona for a number of years and was at one time County Commissioner, serving as chairman on the board. He still holds interests in Lincoln county and visits this section semi-occasionally.

Major George Dillard Dies in El Paso

George Dillard will be remembered by all old-timers in Lincoln county as one of the pioneers of the Nogal mining district, where he lived for many years. He was considered one of the foremost mining authorities in the southwest and was the discoverer of several gold and silver properties in this county. He retired from active business several years ago, since which he lived with his daughter, Mrs. M. D. Gaylord in El Paso.

The deceased was 89 years of age, locating in Lincoln county in the early eighties, coming here from Virginia. His last visit to this county was just one year ago, when he was having some work done on his claims in the Nogal district. Considering his advanced years, he was a bright, active, man to the end.

During the civil war he served in the 11th Texas Cavalry and a short time after the war was made a major in the confederacy.

He leaves a number of old friends in this county, besides relatives. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. M. D. Gaylord of El Paso and Mrs. M. Graves of Yaleta, and one son, George L. Dillard of Tucson, Ariz. Ami Gaylord of Nogal canyon is also a relative.

The remains of Major Dillard were laid to rest in Evergreen cemetery, El Paso, last Friday.

It will take 200 cars to ship the surplus beans grown in the Estancia Valley, and an equal number of cars to transport the apples from the Artesia belt.

Favorable reports are coming from the Duran oil well. At a depth of 1700 feet, a thin oil sand was struck. The company has decided to drill to 2500 feet. It is possible that Duran may bring in a producer one of these days.

School Notes

(By Special Agent E. K. Cole.)

Visitors' day, the first Wednesday of October, was a success, as evidenced by the number of parents present.

Mr. A. V. Coombs of El Paso, representing the Underwood people, called at the high school last Saturday and gave our seven Underwoods a good "going-over."

Mrs. Gumm, supervisor of the grades, held a meeting of the grade teachers last week. Several topics of interest were discussed.

Wednesday, October 12th, was Columbus Day, and was observed by the schools of Carrizozo in a very appropriate way. Some of the schools sent quite beautiful and suitable invitations to the parents and friends.

The Boy Scouts met October 6 in the assembly room. One new member was elected to membership and nine, who had been recently received, were initiated. The "Billy Goat" was in a spirited mood, with red pepper on his beard, and made the imitation a very enjoyable affair.

Miss Cross, division Junior Red Cross organizer, met the teachers of Carrizozo Saturday, October 1, and presented to them the matter of reorganizing the Junior Red Cross in the schools. A motion to reorganize was unanimously carried. Miss Ivy Lindsay was elected chairman, Miss Vinnie Burton as vice-chairman and Miss Herndon Reilly as secretary-treasurer. The high school, Miss Herron's room and Mrs. Vaughn's room have already joined and will soon receive their charters.

The presentation of the beautiful bas relief, The Spirit of '76, given to the high school by the class of 1921, occurred October 5. The presentation was made in a letter from Miss Eva Week, now a freshman in the State University of New Mexico, and a member of the class of 1921. The acceptance was by Miss Herndon Reilly, and an essay on The Spirit of '76 was given by Miss Claire Adams. Two patriotic songs closed the program. A large number of visitors were present.

Superintendent Cole met with the high school teachers last Tuesday. The high school literary society was especially discussed, and the faculty given supervisory work as follows: Mr. Casier, Current Events and General Supervision; Miss Fordon, the School Paper; Miss Leyer, Debates; Miss Cowan, Spanish Dramatics; Mr. Cole, Music and Scientific.

On four days of last week the superintendent invited the seventh and eighth grades into the high school to practice the yells to be used in "rooting" for the Carrizozo basket ball teams in their games with Capitan on Field Day. Did you hear them yell? The girls' team of the Carrizozo high school defeated the Capitan team 26 to 7; the boys' team of Capitan defeated the boys' team of Carrizozo high school 23 to 14. A return game is to be played at Capitan October 15th.

Stole and Ate

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Vaughn was entered Saturday night by robbers and the house ransacked. Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn were at the picture show and during their absence the house was entered. When they reached home they found that kitchen and dining room had been visited and quite a quantity of food taken. Other rooms were examined and it was found that the robbers had also been there and taken the greater part of Mrs. Vaughn's wearing apparel. No sign was left by the marauders, nor has any trace been found of the stolen goods.

Tanlac has made life worth living for millions of people who had almost given up hope. It is the only medicine you need.

Over the Garden Wall

Our earliest associations are connected with trees, shrubs and flowers, and later in life, when we have our own home, we take pride in cultivating them, and adding to the attractions of the home. A walk through the residence streets of Carrizozo any morning at this season would do one good. Most of the residences have well-kept lawns, flower beds and vine-covered porches, which add to the value as well as the attractiveness of the home.

One block north of the court-house is the snug, little home of Ernest O. Prehm. It is surrounded, back and front, by ornamental trees and shrubs and flower-bearing plants, with all the colors of the rainbow, comprising chrysanthemums, dahlias, golden glories, four-o'clocks, and many other kinds it would take a botanist to name.

In complimenting Mr. Prehm on his artistic ideas, he stated he was the architect of the cottage, but the credit of beautifying it belonged to Mrs. Prehm, who spent most of her leisure hours attending to the garden and flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Prehm have a beautiful little home and are justly proud of it.

Another comfortable and beautiful cottage is that of William Kahler. It is almost hidden in clusters of vines and flowers. Mr. Kahler stated it was the work of Mrs. Kahler and her daughter, Mrs. W. F. Lowrey. He admitted, however, he worked the lawn mower occasionally and watered the flowers when required, otherwise it was the work of Mrs. K. Mrs. Kahler presented this office with a bunch of botanical beauties, of fine perfume and color.

Harry Little Goes to the Coast.

Harry Little left on Tuesday morning for the Pacific slope, where he intends to settle down for good. Harry has lived in this county continuously for twenty years. He acquired 160 acres of land on the east side in the early days of Carrizozo, of which he still holds 20 acres and a residence. The balance he sold in town lots. He also owns about 400 acres of patented grazing land, which may be valuable some day. He tired of mountain life, and has been thinking for some time of making a change.

Day in and day out our bread is the same perfect article. Because we always use the same fine materials. Why not try it now as you will sooner or later?

Pure Food Bakery C. H. HAINES PROPRIETOR

A Chamber of Commerce was organized in Yaglar last week. This town is located in the heart of a fertile country, which is rapidly being settled up. Strikes and threatened strikes, but the next big strike is liable to be the taxpayers, as they have a real grievance that needs remedying.

Rothschild's Star Hats

Better made hats in the latest styles await you here for your Spring selection.

The Rothschild Mark identifies hats worn by good dressers for sixty years.

Taste is a matter of tobacco quality

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield are of finer quality (and hence of better taste) than in any other cigarette at the price.
