OLDEST AND LEADING NEWSPAPER IN CIRCULATION IN THE COUNTY OF LINCOLN, NEW MEXICO

VOLUME 21 | CARRIZOZO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, DEC. 16, 1921 | NUMBER 46

School Notes

(By Superintendent E. R. Cole.)

CHRISTMAS

'Tis the time of the year for the open hand,
And the tender heart sings,
When a rift of heaven has riven the skies
And the saints are looking through.
—Margaret Sangster.

Quite extensive prepatations are being made in the schools for the Christmas exercises. The programs of the two primary rooms and the first three grades will be given Thursday, 22nd, before recess in the afternoon. Those of the higher grades will be given after recess. This is to enable parents to visit the rooms of all their children. The training for Christmas programs has high educational value for both both mind and heart; come and make your kiddies happy.

The Camp Fire girls met at the home of their Guardians last Monday evening for their monthly ceremonial meeting. After the work part of the program was over, the girls made candy and then sewed on dolls for some of the kiddies. There were two new girls present who will be initiated soon after Christmas.

Friday and Saturday last week the High School teams went to Corona and Vaughn, playing two games with Corona on Friday night and two with Vaughn the next day. At Corona, Carrizozo won both games—the girls, 15 to 6; the boys 38 to 24. At Vaughn the Carrizozo girls won, 25 to 5; the boys lost, 38 to 19. The teams were accompanied by Mrs. Frances McD. Spencer and Mrs. E. S. Cory, and several others.

We are in receipt of a copy of High Life, a weekly high school paper published at Long Beach Polytechnic high school, Calif., and pleased to note that Herbert Tennis, a former Carrizozo high school boy, has been promoted from circulation manager to advertising manager. He showed promise while he was a member of the Carrizozo schools.

At the regular meeting of the Boy Scouts Friday night, the following program was given:

How to Tell Direction by the Watch, Ed. McCarty.

To Find the Height of a Tree, Albert Roberts.

To Find your Latitude by the Stars, Wayne Richard.

How to Trail a Man or other Animals, Will Kahler.

Indian Club Drill, Boy Scouts.

A Letter from R. T. Cribb

We are in receipt of an interesting letter from R T Cribb, who left here about a year ago for Scranton, Ark., to take charge of a church. He states that he has lately been transferred to a larger pastorate. We take the following excerpt from his letter, as his many friends here will be glad to hear from him, especially the Methodist Sunday School, which he was superintendent of when called to the ministry:

"Bishop Mouzon of Tulsa, Ok., has appointed me to a new pastorate. I go to Mansfield, Ark., a town about the size of Carrizozo. It is supplied with natural gas, being a coal mining section. It will pay about the same as the Carrizozo church. Rev. E. H. Llewelling, formerly Methodist pastor in Carrizozo, was returned to Booneville, Ark., for another year, and I will be about 20 miles from him. While I am proud of my promotion in so short a time, yet I regret leaving the people of Scranton, for they have been kind to me, and sent a petition to Conference requesting the bishop to return me for another year.

This is a beautiful country, lying along the Arkansas river, and is covered with oak, hickory and elm timber. Our conference convened in Fort Smith, which is a beautiful little city of 30,000, with a magnificent church costing $175,000, and A. N. Evans, son of R. B. Evans, formerly of Carrizozo, is the pastor there.

I will always be interested in Carrizozo; therefore I want you to change the address on my paper. If time permitted would write more, but am in the midst of moving. Remember me kindly to all my friends, and accept best wishes.

"RALEIGH T. CRIBB."

Methodist Church

Sunday morning the pastor will preach. Special music by Miss Loreen Stimmel.

Sunday evening the following musical program will be rendered, beginning at 7:15 sharp:

Vocal solo, Raymond Lackland.

Violin solo, Mr. R. C. Pitts, accompanied by Mr. G. Ferguson.

Offertory, E. H. McCarty.

Vocal solo, Miss Edmiston.

Educational News

(By Mrs. M. L. Mason)

The Scholastic Census for the present year shows 2704 children between the ages of 5 and 21—1976 of these children are attending school in this county.

The Capitan, Fort Stanton, Lincoln, Tinnie and Picacho schools were visited the past week and each one found to be busy obtaining an education. A better spirit of co-operation of directors, parents, teachers and pupils could not be desired.

The Capitan school, under the direction of Miss Stalle Wyatt, the home economics teacher, has ventured to place within reach of all the pupils a "cafeteria lunch" and to make this self-supporting as well as self-sustaining. The menu is prepared the day before it is to be served, and posted in the several rooms of the school where children are requested to leave their order with the teacher for the following day, thus avoiding waste. The lunch is prepared and served by the pupils of the Home Economics classes, supervised by the teacher. Parents are co-operating by sending in articles of food which are weighed and credit given children who are allowed to "board it out."

Miss Belle Norton of Encinoso, who last year started a class in home-making, is reaping the results of patient labor. The class planted gardens last spring and as a result of the same I received a box of canned goods and jelly made by the pupils.

As evidence of the interest manifested in education ten children ramble their way from San Patricio to Lincoln to pursue the subjects taught in the ninth and tenth grades under the efficient teachers, Mrs. Mabel Burleson and Miss Harriet Brown. Miss Minnie Dee Fleming, the leader of the Lincoln Glee Club has been ill with tonsilitis, but is rapidly recovering.

To the Junior Red Cross membership we may now add the following rooms: Mrs. Lizzie Virden, White Oaks; J. W. Wilferth, Miss Ola Casey and Amelia Valdez, Hondo. Many children are placing their names on the service roll.

If you have any doubt about the season, step into the schools at Tinnie and Picacho and note the activity of the children in the preparation of the Christmas programs and the gifts being constructed for the various members of the families.

I shall visit Ancho, Corona, Brown and Gallo schools this week, which will complete the first visit to all the rural schools in the county.

Beginning the week of December 19 an art exhibit consisting of 23 pictures will be held at the courthouse every afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock. There will be no charge and it is desired that all school children come and see these pictures. This exhibit is given by the Educational Department of the Woman's Club of Carrizozo, and parents and others are invited to view them.

Mrs. Louise Spence Dies

Word reached here the latter part of last week of the death of Mrs. Louise Spence, which occurred in her old home at Carroll, Iowa, Wednesday, December 7th, from pneumonia. Mrs. Spence left White Oaks, where she had lived for more than 20 years, for a visit to her old home, about four months ago.

Mrs. Spence came to White Oaks, the bride of Chas. Spence, a pioneer of this section, in 1899, and made that her home continuously since. Her husband died about five years ago, following an operation in the Mayo Bros.' hospital, at Rochester, Minn.

A brother of Mrs. Spence, Adolph Lahaun, who now lives in California, made Lincoln county his home for a number of years, and was esteemed one of our best citizens.

Mrs. Spence was a woman of pleasing personality, charming manner, and of splendid impulses. She was beloved by all who knew her for her womanly qualities and generous disposition. The announcement of her death brings sorrow to all her acquaintances and friends who express deep sympathy to the surviving members of the family.

Her husband, who was one of the successful business men in the early years of this county's commercial life, left a substantial estate, and Mrs. Spence, who was an excellent business woman, held that estate intact to the date of her death.

Basket Ball Results

Our basket ball teams went to Corona last Friday and Vaughn the following day. Both the girls' and boys' teams won at Corona, and at Vaughn the girls won but the boys lost. Our boys' team, however, is picking up, has improved greatly, and gives promise of "makin' a mighty fine endin'," as the old-fashioned gent would say. Should the boys continue the stride, the girls may look well to their laurels; for it has ceased to be victories for only the girls.

Salvation Army.

The Lincoln county advisory board of the Salvation Army is a branch of that great international organization for practical Christian work that has for the past thirty or forty years given assistance to so many unfortunate people the world over.

The local advisory board was organized for the purpose of carrying this work into every home in Lincoln county where the need exists. No community is too remote for us to reach and every case reported will be promptly investigated. If you know of a needy person or family in your neighborhood, please notify the board at once. Address:

Parsons News Letter

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Reddy and son Frank are holiday guests of Mr. Herbert Reddy and family.

Arthur Givens and brother have returned to the Jarilla mining district after a short visit with the Givens.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fulmer are spending the week in Carrizozo.

Chas. Warnicke of Nogal canyon spent a day in Parsons this week visiting friends.

Bryan Robison and Hugh Grafton are interested in getting a Sunday School started about the first of the year.

Mrs. Thos. Grafton, who went to El Paso for an operation, is reported to be getting along nicely and hopes to be home in time for the Christmas feast.

Alto Happenings

(Correspondence.)

E. O. Finley, the cattleman, visited this district last week and bought most of the steer calves, and some fat cows, which were later loaded at Capitan.

W. A. Wholemburg of Tularosa was here the past week on a business matter.

Threshing in this neighborhood is nearly over.

J. H. McMillan and W. I. Broocke are preparing to leave for the northern part of the state.

The stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Coleman this week and left two packages—a boy and a girl. All doing well.

There has been some talk here about moving the postoffice from Alto to Little Creek.

Box & West are preparing to ship two cars of corn-fed hogs.

Sam Kelsey, foreman of the V ranch, is attending to the shipping of a lot of cattle from Carrizozo this week.

Mrs. Beal of Tulsa, Okla., who has been visiting her father, R. Bramlett, expects to return to her home soon.

Dance Saturday Night

The Red Cross dance that was advertised for Thursday night of this week has been postponed to Saturday (17th), because of the absence of a member of the orchestra. Be on hand tomorrow night, not only for a good time but to help in a good cause.

Amended Income Tax Law

The exemption allowed for a dependant is increased from $200 to $400. Married persons and heads of families are allowed a personal exemption of $2,500, unless the net income is in excess of $5,000.

Single persons are allowed an exemption of $1,000. Persons having gross incomes for 1921 of $5,000 are required to make a return, regardless of net income.

Many persons are under the impression that the taxes on ice cream, soft drinks, etc., have been repealed. These taxes remain in force until end of 1921.

No change is made on the tax on admissions, except that after Jan. 1, there will be no tax where admission is 10 cents. Effective Jan. 1, the following taxes are abolished: Musical instruments, sporting goods, chewing gum, fur goods, toilet articles, medicines.

Reached Arkansas

Mena, Arkansas
December 4, 1921

Dear Friend Haley:

Well, to all who may see this scratching: left Capitan the 8th of November and arrived at Mena the 30th; got out home the 2d.

The first half of the road was dry and fine, but the last half, law me! mud and plenty of it. But my wife stood the trip fine, considering the exposure, and found things about as expected, but arrived broke. But the people seems accommodating; so good neighbors is something, you know. Haven't seen any opossum or coon yet—only black coons.

We are on a hill all right, here; not quite as high as some we have, but rough, and not as good roads; and we are among the highest of them.

We have a good orchard and vineyard and a pretty good house to live in and plenty of wood to keep fire with.

We started with a Ford and got through, but traded it for a team of mules, as we couldn't get it up the hill; and we pull the mules up backwards to get them up it.

Well, we only broke 3 things on the road; one the Ford, one lamp globe and a big part of my constitution.

Yours truly,
P. G. JAMES.

If you want plenty of pep, energy and strength, take Tanlac.—Rolland Bros.

The Christmas Spirit

"The Christ" from Painting by Hoffmann.

By ERNEST FREMONT TITTLE
(Pastor First Methodist Episcopal Church, Evanston, Ill.)

EVERY one who is capable of self-analysis knows that there are seasons of the soul.

There are times when we feel unusually patriotic; times when we feel unusually thankful; times when we become unusually conscious of the reality and glory of a spiritual world.

Christmas is the time when we are conscious of an unusual desire to be kind. One day every year the world suddenly becomes different. Physically speaking, it is the same world. The sky is the same. The streets are the same. The houses—barring a touch of holly here and there—are the same. But you and I and our neighbors are different. We are more just in our judgments, more thoughtful in our attention, more unselfish, more kind.

It is probably true that these seasons of the soul, however fleeting, leave their mark. We are, perhaps, a bit more patriotic than we would be were it not for the annual observance of Memorial day; a bit more conscientiously grateful than we would be were it not for the annual observance of a Thanksgiving day; a bit more religious than we would be were it not for the recognition of Lent and the observance of Easter day. And one would like to believe that we are a bit more kind than we would be were it not for the observance of Christmas.

The very approach of Christmas has certain noticeable psychological effects. In 1914 it resulted in a temporary cessation of hostilities. On that first war Christmas the booming guns gave way to Christmas carols, sung in three languages, as British and French and German soldiers fraternized between the lines. In 1918, as the day drew near which would commemorate the birth of the Prince of Peace, a war-weary world dared to hope that foundations would be laid for enduring peace. The heart of the world is wrung by the suffering of China, the tragedy of Armenia, and the pitiful plans of the starving children of central Europe. Is there any man anywhere, not a degenerate, who is not conscious of a desire to diminish by ever so little the world's distress?

The seasons of the soul, however fleeting, do leave their mark. But in the case of many of us how faint that mark, and how liable it is to disappear. If only the kindly dispositions born at Christmas time could be perpetuated, how permanently different the world would become!

Most of us become faint of heart when we think of rebuilding the life of the world. To build a world without any extremes of wealth and poverty in it, how difficult. To build a world without any domestic tragedy in it, how difficult. To build a world without any industrial friction or international strife in it, how difficult. Many people are ready to say that it is quite impossible. Perhaps it is. Yet it would not be if only men and women would keep on cultivating the dispositions that are born at Christmas time.

Does not the solution of the problem of the world's ills depend upon the individual? Better instruments? Yes, undoubtedly. For the removal of disease, better scientific instruments are needed. For the removal of certain domestic difficulties, better housing accommodations are needed. For the removal of industrial tyranny, a better economic system is needed. For the removal of international strife, a new world organization is needed. A world that has been organized for war must be organized for peace. For the rebuilding of the world better instruments are needed. But what is supremely needed is a better spirit! If only you and I and all our neighbors would persistently cultivate the Christmas spirit, our children's children would live in a far better world. For then it would be only a question of time until we should discover the instruments needed for the fashioning of a fairer civilization, and we would be willing to use these instruments as soon as they could be developed.

What a pity, then, if Christmas this year should come and go and leave none of us permanently different.

We need to perpetuate the Christmas spirit in our homes.

It is a solemn moment when two human lives are united for better, for worse, for richer, for poorer, in sickness and in health, till death do them part. As Jane Welch Carlyle once said, "If ever one is to pray, if ever one is to feel grave, if ever one is to shrink from vain show and babble, it is just on the occasion when two human beings bind themselves together till death do them part."

There is nothing that more nearly resembles the heaven of our dreams than does a happy home. Is there anything that so surely suggests the hell of our secret dread as does an unhappy home?

What is needed to build a home? Money is needed, but how much more than money! Money can build a house—a wonderful and wonderfully furnished house. Only love can build a home.

We need to perpetuate the Christmas spirit in industry.

For generations, now, the motive of profit has been the motive appealed to both in the case of men who had money to invest, and in the case of men who had strength or skill to invest, in the industries of the world. This motive of profit has been given a long trial. And it has failed—tragically failed. Its fruitage is a world catastrophe, and, at this present moment, world-wide unrest.

Why not try the experiment of appealing to the noble side of human nature? The motive of profit has tragically failed. Why not appeal to the motive of service?

We need to perpetuate the spirit of Christmas in international relationships.

The nations of Christendom have been motived far more by Nietzsche's will to power than by Jesus' will to serve. Their conception of greatness has been a pagan, not a Christian conception. The great nation has been thought of as a nation able to lord it over other nations, not as a nation eager to serve other nations. The proud symbols of the Western world have been swords and scepters, not basins and towels. But

"Lo, all our pomp of yesterday
Is one with Nineveh and Tyre!"

Surely the meaning of this present hour is clear: Nations must do unto others as they would have other nations do unto them. Nations must enter into the world's life not merely to get something, but to give something, and, in brave international co-operation, even to risk something in the interest of world justice and world peace.

For the first time in history the nations of the world are looking supplicantly into the eyes of Christ, and hoping in His Spirit the hope has the making of life.

Where Your Taxes Go

How Uncle Sam Spends Your Money in Conducting Your Business

By EDWARD G. LOWRY

Copyright, Western Newspaper Union.

I.

WHY YOU'RE INTERESTED

I wish you would take what is written here as a personal report addressed directly to you from me about your business. Don't think of it or read it as an article about "politics," or remote public affairs at Washington. It is not that at all. It is what I ask you to think it, a personal business report to you relating to your individual concerns, your pocketbook and your welfare. I have no other interest than to tell you the exact truth.

Assume that you have sent me to Washington to find out for you what your agents are doing, how they are managing your affairs and spending your money. I call them your agents for that is all they are—the President, the members of the cabinet, the senators and all the members of the house of representatives. You hire them, you pay them, and you can fire them.

You may think of them in deference and awe as a group of eminent statesmen, or you may call them in flippancy and too hasty contempt "a lot of politicians." But whatever you call them, they are your hired men. They attend to your collective business, which is called the public business.

Query: Are they doing it efficiently and with a single-minded devotion to your interests?

Perhaps the largest item in the high cost of living is the high cost of government. And far and away the largest item in the high cost of government is the high cost of armament; preparation for war. About 90 per cent of all government revenues, and that means the money taken from you as taxes, goes to pay for wars, past, present and future.

Before I have concluded this series of articles I expect to show you conclusively that the impelling motive that induced President Harding to call the present conference in Washington to consider limitation of armaments was financial. The pressing need of considering a proposal for a reduction or limitation by agreement of war expenditure was not made entirely on the ground of morality or righteousness, but as a plan for cutting down the operating expenses of the government.

If the United States government were an individual we would say that it was broke, for its expenses exceed its income.

Your interest is simply this: that whatever decision is made you will have to pay the bill. If today we didn't have these army and navy expenses you would have to pay in taxes less than $1,000,000,000 a year instead of $5,000,000,000. That means we would have about $4,000,000,000 more a year to spend on our private needs and pleasures. I frankly confess that I would enjoy having four-fifths of my taxes knocked off. Wouldn't you?

Secretary Weeks of the War department gave public warning a little while ago that the government would require of us about $17,000,000 in the next thirty months to meet current expenses and other obligations. Persons who have given close study to that possibility say that the need will be nearer $20,000,000, than $17,000,000. The great bulk of that is for past and prospective war expenditures.

For this, you and congress and the executive departments at Washington are responsible. You more than anybody else, for it is your money that is being spent and you can stop it. In its simplest terms the procedure is this: You earn the money, congress takes it away from you in the form of taxes, and then congress and the executive departments spend it.

A great part of it is wasted. This is established, conceded, confessed, and acknowledged by congress, which authorizes the expenditure, and by the executive officers of the government, who do the actual spending. It is your money that you have coupled in your business, on your farm, or by the labor of your hands, that is being squandered and wasted at Washington.

Every cent that is unnecessarily or indefensibly expended by the government you could have in your pocket to meet the increased cost of food, fuel, clothing and shelter, doctors' bills and [illegible] age of ten years of age or over, engaged in gainful occupations. A little [illegible] the number of federal [illegible] even larger than it is now, [illegible] out of every 60 in the United States who had any sort of a job at all was working for the government. These calculations are based on proper estimates of the impact of the census in anticipation of the results of the fourteenth general census.

Prior to the outbreak of the war, in 1914, the number of men and women in civil positions in the executive service was approximately 395,000. In 1916-17 had grown to 466,000. In 1917, after our entry into the war, it was 480,738. On June 30, 1919, the number was 707,446. The number on July 31, 1920, was 691,714.

These figures are confessedly approximations. Since the signing of the armistice the number of federal employees has been decreasing. Undoubtedly the decrease in force will continue to be made for months to come, but the growth of the government business in the past few years has been such as to make it a larger employer in the post-war period than it had ever been in the pre-war period.

These thousands of men and women working for the government comprise every type of ability and intelligence. Their duties cover a range of activities that far exceeds that exercised for other public or private employers; for, besides its task of lawmaking and law enforcing, of national defense and national finance, the government is charged with promoting the health and welfare of its people, of promoting their home interests, their agricultural, mining, manufacturing, shipping, fishing and transportation interests.

To do this it must investigate, control and eradicate diseases that attack persons, plants and animals. It must inspect livestock, foods and drugs. It must study conditions and progress in education, labor and commerce. It must prevent individual men or groups of men from using unfair business methods, whether in banking, transportation, trade or manufacture.

The government must administer public lands and the affairs of the Indians, and educate children in Alaska. It grants patents of invention. It sets the clocks of the country, forecasts the weather, and makes observations of the stars and heavenly bodies. It constructs buildings, docks, roads, bridges, irrigation works, builds canals and aeroplanes, makes ordnance and ammunition, clothing and other supplies for its soldiers and sailors. It makes all its own money and does all its own printing. It distributes all mail and many packages.

The government does everything that any employer in the United States does, in addition to a great many things that no other employer does. How does it treat its people? Is it a good employer or a bad employer? Are its employees contented? These are questions that I should advise the railroad men, the miners and other workers who look nationalization of industry, to look into before they commit themselves.

The first thing they will discover, as I discovered when I began the present inquiry, is that nobody knows, and nobody in the government service is charged with knowing, the exact number of employees in the service from day to day. More astounding, nobody knows, or is charged with knowing, even approximately, the sum of the payroll of the United States.

It is not possible to find out within hundreds of thousands of dollars how much the United States pays yearly or monthly in salaries and wages. I went to the Treasury department, to the appropriations committee of congress, and elsewhere where I thought the information might be lodged, but nobody knew. I was told vaguely that the government was not run on an asset and liability basis, and therefore it was not necessary to know the exact number of employees on the payroll.

If the average compensation is $1,100, the federal civil service payroll now amounts to more than seven hundred million dollars annually. The largest single branch is the Post Office department, with nearly 300,000 employees. The War department has more than 125,000 civilian employees, the Navy department about 60,000, and the Treasury department about 60,000. No other branch has as many as 25,000 employees. Any institution that employs one in seventy-three of all this country's workers and calls for the expenditure of such a large part of our annual revenues is entitled to your serious consideration. You and you alone put up the money.

BEFORE AND AFTER CHILDBIRTH

Mrs. Williams Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Kept Her in Health

Overpeck, O.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me both before and after my baby was born. I suffered with backache, was nervous, run down and weak. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the newspapers and decided to try it. Now I feel fine, take care of my two boys and do my own work. I recommend your medicine to anyone who is ailing. You may publish my testimonial if you think it will help others."—Mrs. CARRIE WILLIAMS, Overpeck, Ohio.

For more than forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been restoring women to health who suffered from irregularities, displacements, backaches, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness or "the blues." Today there is hardly a town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman does not reside who has been made well by it. That is why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for such ailments.

At the Top of the Stairs.

During my service in the army I was one day corporal in charge of quarters. One of my duties was to escort the officer of the day on his tour of inspection, preceding him into the men's quarters and loudly calling them to attention.

This particular day I preceded him up the stairs to the upper floor of our barracks, and when about half way up loudly shouted, "Attention."

Upon reaching the top of the stairs I discovered the colonel and a dozen other officers of the regiment rigidly standing at attention. They had picked the place out as a quiet one to get some gas mask drill, and burst out with a wild shout of laughter when they saw me and the second looey in the rear.—Chicago Journal.

Volcano on Kamchatka Hurls Rocks Larger Than Ships Through the Air—Has 65 Volcanoes, 20 of Which Are Active.

Tokyo.—Showers of rocks larger than ships were hurled from a raging volcano on Kamchatka, where a terrible and magnificent volcanic phenomenon occurred some weeks ago, recalling the primitive days of the formation of the earth.

After having been wrecked and washed away on the shore of Kamchatka, Frederick McCormick, a well-known newspaper correspondent, witnessed the extraordinary eruption.

Writes of Spectacle.

In a report to the Japan Advertiser, Mr. McCormick says:

"On arriving at Hakodate, in northern Japan, I heard from a fisherman of an earthquake above Hokkaido, and the disappearance in the sea, September 5, of a part of the island of the Kurile group. The earthquake extended from Hokkaido to the Aleutians, and was but a prolongation of the seismatic phenomena occurring in Kamchatka, where I was wrecked on the Kronotsky peninsula. Ten days later, sixty sea miles to the south, I found myself at Semlschik. From there I saw the magnificent eruption of volcano Karimskaya. Above a mountain ridge which lay between we could see, without the aid of glasses, the expulsion of showers of rocks, many of which must have been larger than ships, as they flew through the sky in giant parabolas. Only the flowery crest of the eruption was visible to us as it played against the sky. The smoke column, tilted southward by the wind, reached upwards thousands of feet, and in two days the smoke cloud extended 100 miles down the coast and out to sea.

Sprinkled With Dust.

"Then the wind shifted to the west and the ship was sprinkled with volcanic dust. There was a great roar like the sound of an artillery battle, and it was reported that the water of Kronotsky bay had risen in temperature 5½ degrees, while magnetic disturbances rendered the ship's compass unworkable. Fearing a subterranean sea-wave we put out forty-five miles off the shore, and on September 5, recorded a violent earthquake which shook the ship. The same was experienced at the Commanderskiy islands and Ust Kamchatka.

"There are few places where the direct and positive force of nature can be realized so intensely as in this far-away land.

"There are about sixty-five volcanoes in Kamchatka, of which twenty are active. There is no historian to record their great doings, except an astonished fisherman, 1,000 to 1,200 miles away. A geographical expedition from Sweden intends to announce next year the results of its scientific work in Kamchatka."

$250,000 U. S. 'DOT' REVEALED

New York.—A marriage settlement involving a $250,000 property mortgage made in 1874 by the parents of Lady Randolph Churchill, formerly Jennie Jerome of New York, when she became the wife of Lord Randolph Henry Spencer Churchill, was revealed in court. She died last June after amputation of her right leg, due to complications from a fracture of the ankle.

Papers signed by Supreme Court Justice Mullan canceling the $250,000 mortgage on the Manhattan club in East Twenty-sixth street, showed that it was a gift by her father to George Charles Spencer Churchill, marquis of Blandford and later duke of Marlborough, and Thomas M. Foote of New York, as trustees.

The agreement authorized the two men to hold the mortgage and pay $10,000 a year to Lady Churchill and her husband during her life. The principal will now be divided between Winston Spencer Churchill, British secretary of state for colonies, and John Strange Spencer Churchill.

His Wife a Great Help.

London.—"My wife never lets a chance slip by," said a defendant at Wood Green, N. "As soon as she knew I had a summons she got up a subscription among the neighbors to keep her and the children while I was in prison." He got off with a small fine.

Negress, 112 Years Old, Dies in San Antonio

San Antonio, Tex.—Mary Williams, said to be the oldest negress in Texas, died here, aged one hundred and twelve years. She had lived in Texas 40 years, coming here from Louisiana, where for years she was a slave. She had worked for many prominent families in San Antonio and New Orleans.

SEE HIGH PRICES FOR ALL FURS

Season Offers Wonderful Opportunities to the Trapper.

United States Becomes the Greatest Fur Producing Country in the World—Pelts Worked Off and Market Now Bare.

New York.—The United States in the past few years has become the greatest fur producing country in the world, doing a business in furs running from $90,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year and far outstripping northern Canada, Alaska and Siberia, long considered supreme as fur producing centers.

Fur bearing animals abound in the great farming districts of this country and thousands are captured each year by trappers. While skunk and muskrat are the most important and most numerous of these animals found, there are plenty of mink, raccoons and other small members of the furry tribe which the wily trapper may take in the open season at a good profit.

This season promises to be the best in many years in point of the number of animals taken and the prices paid for raw furs. Very little trapping was done last season. The drop in values which came during the previous summer hit the fur market hard, leaving an immense collection of high priced furs in the hands of the buyers. In order to save the market from complete ruin, this great accumulation had to be disposed of before a large new supply reached the market, so buyers urged trappers to lay off for a season until the market became stabilized. Trappers generally heeded the request and the fact that furs were not wanted and values very low did much to further the inactivity.

The result has been a genuine scarcity of furs. The great accumulation has been worked off and the market is in a receptive condition for large amounts of raw furs. Interviews with leading buyers reveal that the coming quotations on raw furs will be very high—in fact the highest ever offered compared with contemporary values in other commodities.

In the years preceding the World war, trappers received from twenty cents to fifty cents each for muskrat pelts and from one dollar to three dollars for skunk pelts. Living costs then were 40 per cent lower than they are today and wages show about the same differense. By comparing these conditions with prices prevailing today it is shown that muskrats are worth three times as much as they were then, while other furs are proportionately higher.

The high prices of today and the abundance of fur-bearing animals offer an opportunity to the trapper which has seldom been equalled, while residents of smaller towns and even the farm boy and schoolboy will find a chance for a profitable occupation during spare hours.

The club will be formed to get all the newsboys of the city into one organization under the leadership of the Y so they will have better opportunities for all kinds of sports.

Statistics from the 1920 government census show that there are 5,923 registered Hereford cattle in Arizona. This is 4,700 more than any other beef bred, showing how greatly the Herefords predominate in this state. There are also 2,000 registered Hereford bulls in the state as compared with 215, the greatest number of any other breed.

According to reports given out by sportsmen who have just returned from the Black Range country in New Mexico, the number of hunters in that section this year has broken all records. It is estimated that over 300 hunters were in the Black Range and the Burro mountains alone, besides many others in the Pinos Altos and the Datil hills.

The two-year-old daughter of Sheriff and Mrs. M. G. Montoya of Bernalillo, N. M., died at the hospital as the result of getting the shell of a pinon nut fast in her throat. Several children had been eating the nuts and as soon as the trouble was discovered the little one was rushed to the hospital, but in spite of all that could be done for her passed away in a short time.

Mrs. David Sun, wife of David Sun, a Maricopa Indian, died on the Maricopa reservation, about fifteen miles southwest of Phoenix, being struck in the face with an axe by her husband. Sun was arrested and taken to the county jail. Joseph H. Helm, assistant United States district attorney, announced that the government would file a murder charge against Sun.

Two Articles

Article 2 of the new pact, agreement, treaty or association—anything but the League of Nations—is quite similar to Article 10 of the League of Nations, around which the battle raged so hotly for a period. Of course, the wording is different, but the sentiment is the same; and, anyway, a "rose by any other name smells just as sweet."

Article 2, included in the new treaty, which has been signed by the representatives of four nations—England, France, the United States and Japan—reads as follows:

"If the said rights are threatened by the aggressive action of any other power, the high contracting parties (Japan, Great Britain, the United States and France) shall communicate with one another fully and frankly in order to arrive at an understanding as to the most efficient measures to be taken, jointly or separately, to meet the exigencies of the particular situation."

Article 10 of the League of Nations reads:

"The members of the League undertake to respect and preserve as against external aggression, the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the League. In case of any such aggression or in case of any threat or danger of such aggression, the council shall advise upon the means by which this obligation shall be fulfilled."

SALVAGE FROM AMERICAN RAG BAGS CLOTHES DESTITUTE EUROPE

Great-hearted women all over the United States are busy salvaging waste of this country to clothe the destitute of America and the war-stricken children of Europe. All sorts of comfortable and, in many cases, really beautiful garments are made from the contents of the rag bags of America.

In the Red Cross workshops throughout the Southwestern Division women with clever brains and skilled hands fashion children's stockings from the legs of the worn-out stockings of the grown-ups. Warm caps are made from the tops of men's woolen socks. Little shirts come from the unworn sections of discarded underwear of men and women. Old coats and trousers form new suits for boys, and women's dresses are cut down into the smaller garments of children. Odds and ends

"Marriage Breaker" Busy.

One of the deplorable results of bolshevik misrule in Russia is the installing of a "breaker of marriages" in Petrograd, who is said to be granting more than 500 divorces a week. No investigation is necessary, the only requirement being the signature of the person desiring freedom from marriage.

A Helpful Hint.

"Ar-r-r-r!" growled a hypercritical customer in the rapid fire restaurant. "This confounded piece of meat is so tough I can hardly eat it!"

MAKING WORK EASY

"MRS. SIDEWINDER made a sensible talk at our club meeting yesterday," explained Mrs. Jamesworthy. "She said there are many disagreeable tasks which might be made easy and pleasant if women worked together at them. Things that are tedious when one does them alone, are interesting when done by a crowd. She pointed out that the dandelions are becoming a terrible pest, ruining most of the lawns in towns, and suggested that the women hold dandelion parties."

"I can imagine the rest," said Jamesworthy. "You don't need to hand out the sickening details. A gang of old beldames will come to our place, for instance, and pull about five cents' worth of dandelions and then sit and have a photographer make a large picture of them; after which they'll eat two dollars and eighty cents' worth of ice cream, and a lot of sponge cake and anything you happen to have in the refrigerator. One of the beldames will be appointed a committee to write up the affair for the newspapers, and Mrs. Sidewinder will see that she gets most of the glory as the originator of the scheme, and next spring her husband will be running for alderman on the strength of it.

"Nowadays the women never get down to brass tacks and do real work. They must make a society function out of every little chore they do. They won't carry a dead cat out of the front yard unless there's a photographer on hand to make a group picture of it. If work can be reorganized so it looks like a game they will be industrious enough, otherwise they strike and send communications to the newspapers explaining that no woman should permit herself to be a drudge.

"One able-bodied man will destroy more dandelions in half a day than 18 women will in three weeks. The man takes off his coat and gets down on his marrowbones and pulls dandelions. The 18 women lean against trees and fan themselves with Japanese fans, and try to look like so many Mary Andersons, and wish there was somebody around to set them to music.

"Women are becoming more and more an expensive luxury since they organized themselves into clubs. I have nothing to say against the club idea in itself, Mrs. Jamesworthy. I want to see the females have as good a time as they can, within reasonable limits. The men belong to clubs and lodges, too, but they have halls in which to hold their meetings.

"The women wouldn't enjoy holding a meeting in a hall. They have to assemble in the home of one of their suffering sisters, so they can rise up the furniture and fittings, and be able to say, when they go away, that they never saw such execrable taste. And the suffering sister sees that her home is a frost, and she makes up her mind to give her heart-sick husband no rest until he has chartered a string of painters and paper-hangers, decorators and glaziers.

"But this isn't the worst of it. The suffering sister who entertains the club is expected to set up refreshments, and she feels it her duty, as a good sport, to furnish the best the market affords. The last time the ladies of the Busy Bunch club met at this house you bought all the strawberries in town, and at that period strawberries were shipped in from points 5,000 miles away, and when the bill came in, at the end of the month, I had a stroke of paralysis and an attack of paresis. If you get up a dandelion party you will want to buy out the leading confectioner, so I'll advertise for a man to come and do the job."

One Good Point.

A very kind-hearted man could never be brought to say an unkind word about anybody. One day a friend expostulated with him.

"Look here," he said, "it's all very well being charitable and all that, but you can carry that sort of thing too far. Now, there's Blank. Can you honestly find a single good point about Blank?"

The kind-hearted man appeared to be nonplused, for Blank was a very bad man, and it seemed impossible to find anything good to say about him.

"Well," he said, at length, "you must admit he wears a fine fur-lined coat!"—London Tit-Bits.

Here's a Real Argument For Philippine Independence

A Typical Philippine Homestead

The United States isn't the only country that has homesteaders—those enterprising pioneers who leave thickly populated districts and take their families into virgin territory to create homes for themselves. The Philippine Islands have thousands of thrifty homesteaders.

The above photograph shows a picture of a Christian Filipino homesteader and his family near Pikit, Cotabato province, Mindanao, P. I. Five years ago he was a cab driver working for low wages at Cebu, a thickly populated city. He went into the then wilderness of Mindanao, planted hemp and cocoanuts, paid for his land and has become wealthy. Thousands of similar instances could be cited. One Mindanao homesteader is worth $200,000.

The Philippine government is encouraging the immigration of Filipinos from the thickly populated sections into Mindanao. This is the second largest of the islands of the archipelago. It is still sparsely settled, although it is one of the richest and most productive islands in the world. Many Americans have established plantations there and become rich.

Filipinos are using the stories of the many successful Filipino homesteaders as an argument for independence. They make the point that a people that can go out into a tropical wilderness with no capital save their patience, perseverance and energy and win homes for themselves, have the necessary stamina to run their own affairs.

IS YOUR HEALTH GRADUALLY SLIPPING?

Interesting Experience of a Texas Lady Who Declares That if More Women Knew About Cardui They Would Be Spared Much Sickness and Worry.

Navasota, Texas.—Mrs. W. M. Peden, of this place, relates the following interesting account of how she recovered her strength, having realized that she was actually losing her health:

"Health is the greatest thing in the world, and when you feel that gradually slipping away from you, you certainly sit up and take notice. That is what I did some time ago when I found myself in a very nervous, run-down condition of health. I was so tired and felt so lifeless I could hardly go at all.

"I was just no account for work. I would get a bucket of water and would feel so weak I would have to set it down before I felt like I could lift it to the shelf. In this condition, of course, to do even my housework was a task almost impossible to accomplish.

"I was .... nervous and easily upset. I couldn't rest well at night and was ... just lifeless.

"I heard of Cardui and after reading I decided I had some female trouble that was pulling me down. I sent for Cardui and began it. ...

"In a very short while after I began the Cardui Home Treatment I saw an improvement and it wasn't long until I was all right—good appetite, splendid rest, and much stronger so that I easily did my house work.

"Later I took a bottle of Cardui as a tonic, I can recommend Cardui and gladly do so, for if more women knew, it would save a great deal of worry and sickness."

The enthusiastic praise of thousands of other women who have found Cardui helpful should convince you that it is worth trying. All druggists sell it. L 78

Wherein Harry and Abe Ride Up to Springdale and Visit Kelso's.

Illinois was growing. In June scores of prairie schooners, loaded with old and young, rattled over the plains from the East. There were many Yankees from Ohio, New York and New England in this long caravan. There were almost as many Irish, who had set out for this land of golden promise as soon as they had been able to save money for a team and wagon, after reaching the new world. There were some Germans and Scandinavians in the dust clouds of the National road. Steamers on the Illinois river scattered their living freight along its shores. These were largely from Kentucky, southern Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia. The call of the rich and kindly lands had traveled far and streams of life were making toward them, to flow with increasing speed and volume for many years.

People in Sangamon county had begun to learn of the thriving village of Chicago in the north. Abe said that Illinois would be the Empire state of the West; that a new era of rapid development and great prosperity was near. Land was in great demand and there were many transfers of title. Abe had more surveying to do than he was able to accomplish that summer. Harry was with him for some weeks. He could earn two dollars a day with Abe, whereas Samson was able to hire a helper for half that sum. Harry made a confidant of his friend, and when they were working at the northern end of the county they borrowed a pair of horses and rode up to Kelso's house and spent a Sunday there.

Him met them down the road a mile or so from Hopedale. She, too, was on the back of a horse. She recognised them before they were in hailing distance and waved her hand and hurried toward them with a happy face.

"Where Are You Going?" She Asked.

"Where are you going?" she asked.

"To see you and your father and mother," said Harry.

A sad look came into her eyes.

"If I had a stone I would throw it at you," she said.

"Why?" Harry asked.

"Because I have to get used to being miserable, and just as I begin to be resigned to it, you come along and make me happy, and I have it all to do over again."

The young man stopped his horse.

"I hadn't thought of that," he said, with a sad face. "It isn't fair to you, is it? It's rather—selfish."

"Why don't you go to Brimstead's," Him suggested. "A beautiful girl over there is in love with you. Honestly, Harry, there isn't a sweeter girl in all the world."

"I ought not to go there, either," said the young man.

"Why?"

"Because I mustn't let her think that I care for her."

So it happened that Harry went on with Him and Abe to the little house in Hopedale.

They put out the horses. The girl came and sat on her father's knee. Harry sat down by the side of Abe on the grass in the oak's shadow.

"It's a joy to have the little girl back again," said Kelso, as he touched her head with his hand. "It is still as it was a year ago, when I—"

"Don't, father," Him begged, as she put her hand on his mouth.

"Where is Annabel?" Harry asked.

"She is visiting her aunt in Springfield," said Him.

"Is she well?" Harry asked.

"Yes, she is well," said Him.

"Is she happy?" Harry asked.

"Yes, she is happy," said Him.

"Is she going to be married?" Harry asked.

"Yes, she is going to be married," said Him.

"Who is the lucky man?" Harry asked.

"Percy Brimstead," said Him.

"Is he a good man?" Harry asked.

"Yes, he is a good man," said Him.

"Is he rich?" Harry asked.

"Yes, he is rich," said Him.

"Is he handsome?" Harry asked.

"Yes, he is handsome," said Him.

"Is he a gentleman?" Harry asked.

"Yes, he is a gentleman," said Him.

"Is he a fool?" Harry asked.

"Yes, he is a fool," said Him.

"Is he a knave?" Harry asked.

"Yes, he is a knave," said Him.

"Is he a liar?" Harry asked.

"Yes, he is a liar," said Him.

"Is he a coward?" Harry asked.

"Yes, he is a coward," said Him.

"Is he a thief?" Harry asked.

"Yes, he is a thief," said Him.

"Is he a murderer?" Harry asked.

"Yes, he is a murderer," said Him.

"Is he a—"

"Oh, Harry, you mustn't ask any more questions about him," Him begged. "I'm sick of him. I'm sick of the whole subject. I wish I never had to hear his name again."

"Why don't you marry him?" Harry asked.

"Because I don't want to," said Him.

"Why don't you want to?" Harry asked.

"Because I don't like him," said Him.

"Why don't you like him?" Harry asked.

"Because he is a fool, a knave, a liar, a coward, a thief and a murderer," said Him.

"Why don't you tell your father so?" Harry asked.

"Because father likes him," said Him.

"Why does your father

China and Japan Persuaded to Negotiate Settlement of Shantung Question.

HOW to bring Japan into line for the solution of the problems before the armament conference was the question last week in Washington. That appreciable progress in the matter was made was encouraging, for the island empire has many claims that it does not willingly relinquish. If there were no other reasons for approval of the conference and confidence in its final results, enough could be found in the fact that its delays are condemned by the press of Germany and by the "Friends of Irish Freedom" in the United States. But there are plenty of other reasons for optimism.

Committee meetings, discussions by expert advisory bodies and private "conversations" were continuous throughout the week, and from the progress made it was deduced by the most hopeful that the conference might end the major part of its work before Christmas. That this meeting can accomplish everything desired is out of the question, so President Harding's suggestion that there be a continuing series of conferences is meeting with favor throughout the world. Senator Borah naturally registered his objection because he fears the plan would result in the formation of an association of nations which would be as bad as he considers the League of Nations. The French also are withholding entire approval because it is understood Germany and Russia would be invited to send delegates to such future conferences.

For the first time in two years China consented to treat directly with Japan concerning the evacuation of Shantung. Secretary Hughes and Mr. Balfour brought this about, persuading the delegates of the two Asiatic nations to meet in their presence and thrash out the complicated problem. It was agreed that their decision, if they reached one, should be referred to the full conference. China still demands that the ownership and operation of the Shantung railway be restored to her. If Japan yields in this a settlement seems possible. As for the withdrawal of troops from China, Mr. Hanihara says Japan is ready to agree to this except in the case of Manchuria. There he insists, the retention of Japanese troops and police is absolutely necessary to protect the zone of the South Manchuria railway from bandits. Moreover, he asserts, it is in accord with the treaty of Peking of 1905. Japan, according to the delegate, will withdraw the troops from Shantung when China is able to protect the railway—that is, from north China when the powers agree their coalitions may quit it, and from the line of the Chinese Eastern railway in Siberia "as easy as the evacuation of Siberia by the Japanese troops is effected."

China's demand that extraterritoriality be abolished will be referred to a committee which is to report within twelve months. This indicates that the conference on the Far East is not expected to be protracted.

THE pernicious anti-French propaganda conducted by certain writers in Washington took a new turn when stories were cabled to Italy telling how Premier Briand had spoken roughly and insultingly to Signor Schanzer of the Italian delegation. This was formally and flatly denied by Secretary Hughes, Rene Viviani and Senator Schanzer himself, but before the truth could catch up with the falsehood serious anti-French riots had taken place in several Italian cities. Briand's farewell interview in New York also was so distorted by the propagandists that it was made to appear distinctly unfriendly to Great Britain. Chancellor Wirth of Germany drew up a note of protest on Briand's speech to the conference which should be highly pleasing to Mr. H. G. Wells, since it denied in detail the truth of the premier's statements and asserted his insincerity.

HUGO Stinnes, the German magnate, has been in London in conference with Lloyd George and other officials, and Dr. Walther Rathenau, who followed him is still there. Their chief mission was to arrange a moratorium for Germany's reparations debt, and there are strong indications that they will be successful. It is convinced that Germany will pay a part but is unable to pay all. Lloyd George probably will favor the plan, which is approved by Sir John Bradbury, the British member of the reparations commission. The French member, M. Dubois, is opposed to it, and if he cannot be converted it may be the decision will rest with Colonel Logan, who represents the United States on the commission.

An alternative to the moratorium is proposed by certain French authorities. This is a receivership for Germany as a bankrupt, and an autonomous Rhineland to be exploited by the allies for reparation purposes. Former President Poincare has pointed out that the treaty of Versailles gives the allies the right, in case Germany defaults, to control her customs duties, taxes, exportations and coal production. He said this must be demanded if the reparations commission thinks it is obliged to give Germany further time.

Stinnes and Rathenau, according to reports, have also discussed with English leaders various great industrial propositions, extending even to a European railway trust and the exploitation of Russia.

SERIOUS riots broke out in Vienna Thursday, due to the rising price of bread. There was much looting of shops, and many Americans were robbed and roughly treated. The stock exchange was wrecked.

Rev. L. E. Conkin, Methodist minister, will preach at Fort Stanton Sunday afternoon at four o'clock.

Editor Weigand of the Fort Stanton Press paid this office a pleasant visit Wednesday while in Carrizozo.

Cranberries 30c a quart at the Co-Operative Store.

George Ferguson, local storekeeper of the E. P. & S. W., went to Tucson, Arizona, Tuesday. He expects to return Saturday.

J. L. Lawson, a leading attorney of Alamogordo, spent the early part of the week here, looking into matters of record.

Ed Pfingsten was down from the Mesa Wednesday with a truck load of farm stuff. He carried 2,000 pounds on his truck, besides five passengers, and the little motor never stalled.

Tom C. Fitzpatrick left last night for Kansas City. Tom has a position in the big city on the Kaw, and will make that his home.

Tom McDonald, the Mockingbird Gap cattleman, was here the first of the week. Tom owns a fine bunch of cattle and has a fair range, which will aid him in getting by these tight times.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ziegler, and their daughter, Mrs. John Gutknecht, returned Tuesday from Trinidad, Colo., where the last sad rites were paid to Mrs. Leon, the mother of Mrs. Ziegler, whose death was announced in last week's issue.

Judge Mecham was here this week from Alamogordo, for the purpose of giving a hearing in some pending civil matters, but the cases were postponed as the litigants were not ready to proceed with their cases, and the judge returned home.

Tom Johnson, foreman of the Hatchet Cattle Co., loaded out 14 cars of cattle last night for the K. C. market. The shipment was made up from cattle on the reservation and at Nabours' Tank, and consisted of all classes from yearlings up.

Judge Medler was up the past week from El Paso. As presiding judge for a number of years in this district, and later a member of the bar, the judge is widely known and highly respected by our people.

The appearance of "Tarzan" at the Crystal Theatre Monday night, in his "Revenge," drew a large crowd. His first appearance here some months ago in the "Apes," was so novel and attractive that the public was glad to welcome his return.

Representative Paine of the Y. M. C. A., located at Fort Stanton, was here Wednesday. He was here in the interest of the boys at the Fort, in an effort to

J. K. Such, the watchmaker and jeweler, has moved across the street to the building he formerly occupied. The store has been altered, repaired and renovated, and presents a very attractive appearance. Mr. Such not only has more room in his new quarters for displaying his wares, but finds himself much more comfortably situated.

There will be a Christmas tree and a program at the Methodist Church Saturday evening, 24th. A cordial invitation is extended to all to take part. If you feel like helping to make it a success, notify the committee, Mrs. R. E. Lemon, Mrs. Hooper and Mrs. L. E. Conkin.

John W. Minion and Miss Jewel Lowery, both of Fort Stanton, were married at the Methodist parsonage last Saturday afternoon, Rev. L. E. Conkin officiating. The bride will remain temporarily in Carrizozo. The groom, who is in the military service, is to report for duty at another post.

W. I. Broocks was here this week from his home near Alto. Mr. Broocks has leased his farm and ranch for a term of three years, and will leave early in the year for Rio Arriba county, the extreme northern part of the state, where he will engage in farming and stock-raising.
