OLDEST AND LEADING NEWSPAPER IN CIRCULATION IN THE COUNTY OF LINCOLN, NEW MEXICO

VOLUME 22

CARRIZOZO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, OCT. 20, 1922

NUMBER 42

Overjumped

Santa Fe, Oct. 4.—Democrats and Republicans alike are aghast here over one of the most daring pieces of fabrication yet attempted in New Mexico politics.

This latest action by Republican vote-seekers involves a trick on veterans of the World War that measures down to the lowest point. Last week, soldiers in Las Vegas were astonished to find veterans from the Rociada district seeking the means of filing claims for bonuses. At first it was believed the soldiers had an idea the bonus bill had passed over Harding's veto.

Then the full meanness of the scheme came to light. These Rociada veterans had been told by the San Miguel county Republican leader that Senator Bursum had been able to get a bonus bill passed just before the senate adjourned. They were told that the Republican nominee for the senate from New Mexico had been instrumental in assisting Bursum in passing this bill.

They were given to understand that their votes were wanted by the Republican party in return for this extraordinary service the New Mexico Republicans had given to the World War veterans.

They were told that the money due veterans under the Bursum bonus bill would be available January 1, 1923.

They were made the victims of a fraud that astounded everyone.

The bonus bill passed by the San Miguel dictator probably would not have been heard of if some of the Rociada veterans had not taken the story to Las Vegas almost immediately after being told the bill had passed. This effort to gain votes for the Republican nominee has failed about as flat as the size of the sponsors for the hoax.

The ways of a certain class of New Mexico politician are devious, but for downright baseness this latest effort has all past performances laid on the shelf.

Democrats to Speak Monday Night

At the Lutz Hall, Monday night, October 23, at 8:00 o'clock, John Morrow, Democratic candidate for Congress, will address the people on the political issues of the campaign. He will be accompanied by J. A. Baca, nominee of the Democratic party for lieutenant governor, J. S. Vaught, of Deming, and others. Everybody of every political persuasion is cordially invited to attend. Remember that date, Monday night, October 23, 8:00 o'clock, at Lutz Hall.

Leg is Broken

Marshall Atkinson is confined to his home in Corona with a broken leg. While running cattle last Saturday his horse stepped in a prairie dog hole and in the fall the casualty occurred. Dr. Davis was called, set the injured member, and at last accounts the patient was getting along well.

Forget-Me-Not

The above is the title of a beautiful play that will be given at the Crystal Theatre next Wednesday night, October 25. It is a pretty, clean picture, powerfully attractive, and will not be forgotten as long as human hearts beat in response to the call of love and youth.

United States Senator A. A. Jones and James F. Hinkle, respectively nominees of the Democratic party for United States Senator and governor, were here Wednesday night and addressed a splendid crowd at Lutz Hall. Senator Jones dealt at some length upon national affairs, reviewing the history of legislation during the past six years, contrasting the policies of the two great political parties. He made, but slight reference, and in a moderate manner, to the shallow attacks that have been made on him, though the attacks lacked directness, and were rather by innuendo and insinuation.

Mr. Hinkle spoke of his early life in Lincoln county; that he came here in youth and the people of this county gave him his first office; that he had served them in various capacities since that time, felt at home among our people, and desired to render them every service in his power. His main remarks related to matters of taxation and he gave facts and figures to show the enormous increase in taxation and the wasteful extravagance practiced by the present administration at Santa Fe and the two immediately preceding it. His authority was the state tax commission, denied by no one and referred to as little as possible by Republican speakers and the Republican press.

The party left yesterday morning for Capitan, Lincoln, Honda and Picacho to greet those assembled here and reached Roswell tonight, where the biggest reception of the campaign was given them. Mrs. Jones accompanied her husband on this tour.

Republicans Here

Republican state candidates, accompanied by friends of the cause, reached Carrizozo Monday night, after a trip through the lower part of the county. A number made speeches to a good crowd at Lutz hall the night of their stay here. Among the number were, Dr. C. L. Hill, candidate for governor; O. A. Matson, for treasurer, Fred Mueller, for land commissioner and Col. G. W. Prichard and Hugh H. Williams, the latter a member of the state corporation commission.

Twice Told Tales

Soon after both political parties had named their tickets, statements were made by the Republican press of the state that the Republican candidate for governor had made a strong, manly statement of his endorsement of the Eighteenth Amendment, and that Jim Hinkle, the Democratic candidate had made an equivocal expression on the subject. Of course, the statement with reference to the Democratic nominee was untrue, for he made a clear declaration of his stand for the enforcement of the prohibition laws.

Notwithstanding this declaration the same bunch of reckless handlers of truth again misrepresented Mr. Hinkle, and it becomes necessary to repeat what he said when questioned concerning the matter.

September 22, the Methodist Episcopal church was holding a conference at Raton, and that body, through R. H. Carter, requested a statement from Senator Jones and James F. Hinkle as to their position on the Eighteenth Amendment. Senator Jones and Mr. Hinkle wired this church conference, in a joint statement, as follows:

"You are requested and authorized to say to the Methodist conference that we favor the Eighteenth Amendment and stand for strict and impartial enforcement of all prohibition laws thereunder, both Federal and State."

The above statement was issued September the 22nd, and published all over the state, but, while stopping the canard for a time, the false accusation has again gained currency, and, strange to say, many who had not seen the Jones-Hinkle statement were ready to accept the naked charge as fact. Therefore, we are presenting the statement as it was made to the Methodist conference a month ago, just to set the matter straight in our own balliwick, and so that anyone hearing the charge repeated may characterize it for what it is—and they won't have to go to Teddy Roosevelt's dictionary to find the proper word.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

RUSSIA is determined to be a party to the peace conference of the Near East. Turkey says Russia and all other nations bordering on the Black sea must be represented in the meeting. France finds her policy regarding the Near East is almost identical with that of Russia, and therefore will probably favor the admission of the soviet government to the conference. Do you think this would be both just and wise, and that soviet Russia's rulers have so far exceeded from their extreme policies that they are now entitled to representation in conferences of the powers?

IF, as now seems likely, the crisis in the Near East passes without warfare between Turkey and Great Britain the credit may be given largely to two men and to the good judgment of their governments in giving them a free hand. Those two are General Harrington, commander of the British forces there, and M. Franklin-Rouillon, the skillful Frenchman who negotiated the preliminaries to the armistice conference at Mudania. Between them they are succeeding in bringing about a peaceful settlement and at the same time "saving face" for their countries. This latter, of course, was scarcely needed for France, but England had to recede from the position assumed for her by Premier Lloyd George and is now enabled to do so fairly gracefully.

Since Ismet Pasha, representing the Turkish Nationalists, was quite conciliatory, an agreement was speedily reached at Mudania giving eastern Thrace to the Turks and placing Constantinople under dual control of the allies and the Nationalists. The latter are to establish civil authorities in the capital, but agree that the allies shall remain there and control the port until definite peace arrangements are made. Eventually the Turks are to have full military and naval control of Turkish territory. Meanwhile the Nationalists agree to get out of the neutral zone and the British retire from Chanak to Gallipoli. Greece is given ten days to evacuate Thrace up to the Maritza river, and if she fails to do so the allies will blockade Greek ports and permit the Turkish Nationalists to send troops across the straits to push the Greeks out. This plan seemed to give assurance of speedy settlement of the whole affair, but on Thursday Ismet Pasha suddenly changed his attitude and vehemently demanded that the Turkish army be allowed to enter Thrace immediately. He would not listen to the arguments of General Harrington, and the result was a temporary rupture of the conference. The allied generals asked their governments for further instructions and meanwhile they returned to Constantinople.

The fighting spirit of the Greek army in Thrace has been revived and both the soldiers and their officers believe they can successfully resist occupation of that territory by the Turks. Probably they must yield eventually, and this is admitted by Venizelos, who is acting as Greek ambassador at Paris. His present concern is the safety of the Greek fleet, which is in the Aegean sea.

steps to protect those Greeks and to prevent Turkish troops from crossing to Thrace until the Christians there have been evacuated. Already there are strong bodies of Turkish irregulars in Thrace and, to prevent atrocities and protect property, three military missions composed of British, French and Italian officers have gone to Adrianople, Lulue Burgas and Rodosto.

THE United States has sent 12 destroyers to the Near East to reinforce our naval fleet there and help in protecting life and property, but there is not the remotest chance of America's being drawn into war there. Bishop James Cannon of the Methodist church, South, sent rather hysterical cables to the State department from Constantinople urging militant intervention to save Christians in the East from Turkish massacres. In reply Secretary Hughes said the government had done and was doing all it could in this way through representations and by helping in the evacuation of the refugees from Smyrna. He concluded:

"As you are probably aware, the executive has no authority to go beyond this and there has been no action by congress which would justify this government in an attempt by armed forces to pacify the Near East or to engage in acts of war in order to accomplish the results you desire with respect to the inhabitants of that territory and to determine the problems which have vexed Europe for generations."

THOUGH the revolutionists in Greece are having considerable trouble in getting together a cabinet, they are making progress in other ways and the new government may be considered as established. Actual recognition of King George II by the allied powers and the United States is expected soon. Former King Constantine and his wife and younger son are in Palermo, Italy, and it is said they will come to America.

Jugo-Slavia had been credited with hostile designs on Greek territory in western Thrace, but the Serbian minister to Athens has reassured the new government on this point, at the same time stating that his country would like to be assured free port rights at Saloniki. He said Greece could count on Serbia's help in restraining Bulgaria should she become aggressive.

DISPATCHES from Moscow indicate that the Turkish affair has brought within sight a rapprochement between France and Russia, which have been such bitter enemies since the advent of the soviet regime. As was stated above, they find their Near East policies practically identical, and now the French are being given assurance that the Russians will recognize their pre-war debts to France. The new feeling of friendliness is being fostered by a French business mission now in Moscow, and also by M. Herriot, mayor of Lyons and president of the radical socialist party of France, who also is visiting Russia.

AUSTRIA is saved from disaster, at least for the present, by the League of Nations plan which was made effective last week when Chancellor Seipel and representatives of Great Britain, France and Italy signed the protocol. Austria is authorized to issue and sell bonds for nearly $132,000,000, and the three allied powers named, together with Czechoslovakia, are to be guarantors for 80 per cent of it; Austria pledges her customs receipts and the tobacco monopoly for the interest, agrees to balance her budget and accepts supervision of reforms by a commission of the league. The four guaranteeing powers declare they will respect Austria's territorial integrity, independence and sovereignty.

LOUIS BARTHOLOMEU, who has been French minister of justice, has succeeded Louis Dubois as president of the reparations commission and French member of the board. cancellation of orders with entire absence of fresh demands. On the London market Wednesday German marks struck a new low level. About 2,000 of them could be bought for a dollar.

THE American Bankers' association, in annual convention in New York, was addressed on the subject of the allied war debts by Rt. Hon. Reginald McKenna, former chancellor of Great Britain, and now chairman of the largest bank in the world. He said England was able to pay her debt to the United States in full and would do so but he suggested that the bankers use their influence in favor of postponement of payment by any others of our creditors. Mr. McKenna warned his hearers that an attempt to enforce payment of the war debt beyond the ability of the debtor nations to pay would be fraught with the most serious consequences for the United States, as well as the countries of Europe. There would be an inevitable injury to the international trade of the whole world, reduced profits, lower wages, and unemployment, lower standards of living.

As a solution of the problem he suggested that "a full and frank" conference between the debtor and creditor nations should be called in order to discover the exact amounts that could ultimately be paid by the nations unable to meet their debts in full.

After a warm debate, the association adopted by a viva voce vote a resolution declaring that "it viewed with alarm" the tendency toward the establishing of branch banking in the United States and expressed its opposition to any branch banking in any form by either state or national banks. The banks of the towns and smaller cities were far too strong numerically for the big bankers who protested that branch bank system must prevail. John H. Puelcheier of Milwaukee was elected president of the association.

GOVERNOR HARDWICK of Georgia was desirous that his state should be the first to have a woman United States senator, so he appointed to succeed the late Toru Watson, Mrs. William H. Felton, eighty-seven years old and distinguished for her work in the causes of temperance and woman suffrage. At the same time Mr. Hardwick announced himself a candidate for the unexpired term of Watson. The election is to be held November 7 and there is no chance for Mrs. Felton to qualify before that date by taking the oath of office in the senate chamber. Authorities in Washington are wondering whether or not she will be entitled to the salary and to the franking privilege and other prerogatives. Anyway, she has the distinction of being the first woman to be appointed United States senator with credentials duly made out and sent to Washington by a governor.

THAT the prophecies of another coal strike next spring will be fulfilled was made fairly certain by the action of the policy committee of the United Mine Workers of America Wednesday. It reaffirmed the demands of the February, 1922, convention of the union in Indianapolis, demanding the continuance of the present wages in coal mines until 1925, and, in addition, the six-hour day and five-day week, time and one-half for overtime work, and double time on Sundays and holidays.

According to a bulletin sent out by B. M. Jewell, 83 railroads, operating about 65,000 miles of line and employing between 125,000 and 180,000 members of the shop crafts organization, have settled the shopmen's strike with their system federations. The latest road to join the peace ranks is the Chicago Great Western.

FIREST fires in northern Ontario have destroyed the mining towns of Halleybury, North Cobalt, Charlton and Heaslip, and several other towns have been partly burned. More than 5,000 persons were rendered homeless and there was considerable loss of life. Refugees from Halleybury arriving at North Bay said between 50 and 100 persons were drowned when they were crowded from a dock while trying to board a rescue ship.

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

MALE SHOPPERS ARE "WISE"

City Grocery Clerk Denies It Is Easier to Make Sales to Men Than to Women.

"Whoever says that it is easier to sell groceries to men than to women is not acquainted with the facts," said a grocery clerk the other day. "I've seen cartoons in the papers of husbands bringing home cleansing powder instead of rat poison and forgetting half of their wives' orders, but I've never seen it in real life."

"Men are hard customers. I think they read more about the cost of foods, particularly advertising, than women. They seem to know the different brands better, at any rate. I've often substituted brands for a housewife, only to be refused by her husband when I tried it again. I'd rather attempt to talk a woman into buying a new brand of canned peas, for example, than to face her husband with the same sales talk. The male shoppers know too much about food—perhaps because they do most of the eating."

His Version.

Little Frank's parents have been trying to impress on the lad the necessity of saying "if you please" when asking the things he desired. One evening at dinner the following conversation took place:

Frank—Mother, give me some bread.

Mother—Now, Frank! If you—

Frank (promptly)—If you can reach it.

Ebenezer's Explanation Surely Should Have Carried Weight, Under the Circumstances.

Ebenezer Washington was up before the city recorder for being drunk. The judge looked at him for a moment and said: "You have been up here twice for being drunk, Ebenezer, and, seeing you are an old man, I am going to let you off with a fine of $5. Now, see that you don't come here again. It's the road, if you do."

The old negro thanked him and walked out of the court room.

The next morning Ebenezer was up in court again for being drunk. His case was called. The judge looked at him reprovingly and remarked: "Ebenezer, I told you not to come up here again and here you are. Have you anything to say?"

The old negro looked up and replied: "No, sah, Judge, only dat dis am do same drunk."—Judge.

Only One Little Thing Leaves Blot on Character of the Ideal Neighbor.

He is just old enough to suit the husbands and young enough to suit the wives. He has money enough to do, everything the neighbors want to do, but not enough to make any of them envious.

He is busy enough to be an example to the lazy husbands and laudably enough to make a good companion for them. He can lend any kind of automobile or garden tool; can play chess, checkers, cribbage, bridge, pinochle, poker, golf, tennis and roque. He can dance, swim, and ride; he likes to fish and knows just where to go for bait, canned or hotted. He can change a tire and start an unstartable car.

He admires everybody's children and everybody's house, lawn, pictures, books, cars, dogs and putters. He is the ideal neighbor. There is only one disagreeable thing about him. Nobody likes him.—Life.

Legislative Nominee

The Democrats of the 30th legislative district, composed of the counties of Lincoln, Otero, Socorro and Catron, have named as their candidate Benjamin Sanchez, of Socorro. This district was created by the constitutional convention, as its components parts indicate, for the avowed purpose of always sending a Republican to the legislature, and ever since statehood it has run true to form. Lincoln and Otero counties whose political affiliations are very evenly divided, were made appanages of Socorro county, with its 1500 Republican ascendancy. But conditions are different this year. Not only is the Democratic nominee one of the most popular men in his county, notwithstanding his political beliefs, but old Socorro county is causing the Republicans a lot of grief this year—they are sitting up nights formulating plans to overcome the revolution that is pending in the political field in the kingdom of Bursum. It would be a well nigh impossible feat for the Democrats to elect a member from this district, but it looks as though Socorro county, herself, might turn the trick.

Labor Ignored in Republican Campaign Literature

Conspicuous by its omission from the batch of campaign literature thus far issued by the Republican National organization is any record of Republican performance in behalf of labor.

In the series of pamphlets and screeds being sent broadcast by the Republican National Committee and its auxiliaries there are special pleas for the votes of different groups, but none is addressed directly and specifically to the workman.

Spokesmen for the workers of the country have noted this Republican silence on its labor record. They know it was not modesty that restrained the Republicans from making claims of "achievements" for the working people if there had been any to make. The leaders of labor have put the correct construction on this Republican silence. The administration's attitude has been not only not helpful but actively hostile to the workers of the country. The authors of its numerous appeals have themselves

The Carrizozo Entertainers gave a musical program at the Crystal Theatre last night to a crowded house. It was one of a series the Entertainers have been giving the past few months from the proceeds of which an old deficit of the Redpath Lyceum course is being met. This entertainment was put on at little cost and will help materially in wiping out the deficit. The entertainment was most enjoyable and many commendable remarks had been made as to its merits.

New Mexico Should Elect JAMES F. HINKLE, of ROSWELL

An Able, Useful Senator

No American Senator has ever given more striking demonstration of using ability, capacity for hard work and brains to use a high position for high purposes. His most vigorous opponent in his own heart does not question the sincerity and the conscientious motives of Senator Jones. The opposition is silent in the face of the concrete results won for the country and for New Mexico by the Senator's sheer ability, or falls back on the woman's reason that it is against Jones "because." We have a big man in a big job doing big things for his country and his State. It would be folly to displace him for the sake of a party label. Roswell News.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoffman came up from El Paso this week to resume their residence here. They have been in El Paso the past three months, where Henry had a run, but business falling off there they returned here, where conditions promised more steady employment on the road.

Mike Doering returned Wednesday from a three weeks' trip to Indiana to visit his daughter and grandchild. He spent four days in St. Louis seeing the sights, including the annual Veiled Prophet parade, which is always an elaborate affair. Joe Doering, an aged brother, came back with Mike to make his home in Carrizozo.

The advantage of buying and selling for cash is mutual—merchant and customer profit.—City Market.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben J. Copeland came over from Capitan Tuesday afternoon and took that night's train for San Juan Capistrano, Cal., where they will make their home. Their son John lives there and they will make their home with him. Mr. and Mrs. Copeland have lived in Lincoln county for more than fifty years, and leave us now in their old age with the best wishes of all our people who regard them as the finest old people the sun ever shone on.

We were shown a letter this morning written by Barret Hamilton to W. J. Langston. Barret is now in Coalinga, Cal., and his children are with him. He is employed at the carpenter's trade, drawing $7.50 a day, seven days a week. The elder daughter, Maudie, who was quite ill for a period before leaving here, has undergone an operation, Barret writes, and is recovering nicely. Many of our people were greatly interested in the welfare of this young lady, and will be delighted to hear of her improvement.

Rev. J. M. Glazier, pastor of the Methodist church, comes well equipped in head and heart for his work. He has an A. B. degree, and has done special work as a resident student in the University of Chicago. He has completed the latest course in evangelism in the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.
Rev. Glazier has served the church in the Florida, Denver, Southwest Missouri and New Mexico conferences. He is here for constructive work, and makes his appeal to the church and the people of Carrizozo to rally and help make the church a dominant force serving for the supreme values of the town and community life.

"Baptists Split"
Carrizozo readers of the daily press need not be excited over the articles written by J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Fort Worth, in which he speaks of the Baptists as being split on two issues. The truth is Southern Baptists are now more strongly united than in most any former period in their history. Dr. Norris seems to be so constituted that he cannot enjoy himself without a fight. His church was recently excluded from membership in Tarrant County Association. While he talks of splits the great Baptist host of Texas and the South go on taking care of the Lord's cause.

"When I feel stupid, get constipated, or bilious, I take a good dose or two of Black-Draught and it sets me straight," writes Mr. George B. Halsep, of R. F. D. 2, Columbia, S. C. and the good medicine it was, I had been having a tired feeling when I'd get up in the morning. I would be stiff and sore, and had a slimy, bad taste in my mouth, but didn't think so much of it till I began to feel stupid and didn't feel like eating—then I knew I needed medicine. It was then I began Black-Draught, and I felt all made over, ready for any kind of work, ready to eat and sleep. So, for any return of this trouble, I take Black-Draught, and for 26 years it has been my medicine, and I wouldn't be without it at all. My work is constant. I am on my feet a lot. Carrizozo School Notes
(By Edith E. Cole)
Mrs. Vaughn's room, the sixth grade, has not had a single case of absence or tardiness during the present school month, October.
We welcome Miss Lucile Crenshaw to the junior class of the high school. She comes from White Oaks.
The fourth grade, under the guidance of Mrs. Tuton, is making a study of rocks and minerals of all kinds. The pupils are bringing in the specimens.
Mr. Cazier's second class in manual training has just made a two-shelf bookcase to go over the rolltop desk in the superintendent's office. It was very much needed and we extend our thanks to the class.
The first-year class in domestic arts is finishing the making of nighties and laundry bags. The second-year class is making sweaters. These classes are doing very good work under the efficient direction of Mrs. Clarke.
The seventh grade is very active with Mrs. Mims as teacher. It gave one of the best Columbus Day programs we ever heard. The pupils have organized a Good English club and expect to do a great deal towards improving their language. It is a fine idea and we wish more pupils would do the same. This grade recently had a picnic out at the Bar-W ranch with Mrs. Dinwiddie and Mrs. Mims as chaperones.
The high school chorus has just about learned "La Spagnola" and is now taking up the study of "The Armourer's Song." This is from the beautiful opera "Robin Hood," by R. DeKoven.
A chorus of thirty-five voices, taken from the seventh and eighth grades took part in the program of "The Carrizozo Entertainers" last Thursday evening. They sang "Stars are Gleaming" and "Snow Flakes".
Last week we had a very pleasant call from President Hill, of the State University of New Mexico. Our State University is making rapid strides in all departments under the management of its new president of the last three years. The teaching force is much stronger and the moral tone greatly raised. The standard has been raised much higher and the University is coming to be recognized as one of the great educational institutions of the west.
The address was given in the assembly room of the high school. We are gratified over the fact that nearly all the students of the high school were present, and a large number from the grades. The subject of the address was, "The Relation of Education to the Welfare of the Community." The following are the main points: The people of the United States believe not only in education but in universal education. It defends us from the evils of ignorance, vice and poverty. It discovers and develops our natural resources. This great work is done by college graduates. One third of one percent of the country go to college but that one third of one percent furnishes seventy percent of the conspicuously successful men of the nation. It is the birthright of every American to have educational advantages and a chance in life. The State has the money and the desire to do this work for the people and, therefore, the boys and girls of the nation should take every advantage offered.
Dr. Hill's special advice to the students was: Invest four years of your lives in education, be grateful to the taxpayers for what these taxpayers are doing for you; be square with them by giving back to the State some of that investment; have hope and

America Has No National Flower

No Blossom Ever Has Been Selected as the Symbol of the United States.

HUMBLE DAISY IS PROPOSED

Bill in Congress Would Raise the Daisy to Official Post of National Flower—Columbine and Mayflower Suggested.

Washington, D. C.—An important defect in the structure of American civilization has been brought to public notice again. This great nation, so complete in most respects, has no national flower.

There is no blossom that the political candidate can stick in his button-hole to show that he is a patriot and to which he can point with pride as the living symbol of his high ideals. There is no flower that can be carved into public buildings about Washington to remind the government worker of some inspiring tradition.

When the President chooses a flower for his coat or his wife selects a decoration for a state dinner, they must ponder the entire list of flowers in the White House conservatories. No national blossom comes instantly to mind as the emblem which fittingly represents the nation. This catalogue could go on indefinitely. The nation simply has no national flower.

Generally such things are arranged for a country through accident. Some gallant leader takes to wearing into battle the flower beloved by his lady and his cohorts follow suit. Eventually the nation is saved by the hero and he attributes everything to the charm of the flower. Popular sentiment is aroused. The story of the flower that saved the country becomes tradition. Gradually it becomes the national flower without any argument.

England acquired the rose as its national flower through a series of romantic instances each of which deepened the significance of the flower. The thistle really saved Scotland when a moat filled with thistles prevented the enemy from reaching an important fortress.

American heroes neglectful. But early American heroes were strangely neglectful of this matter. They spent much time planning a suitable seal and flag. But they never bothered to snatch up a sprig of goldenrod or sunflower when they went out to fight, and their great-grandchildren are suffering today as a result.

In the recent war when the scarlet Flanders poppy became so poignant a symbol of America's sacrifice the national flower seemed about to appear. But the beautiful poppy, it was explained by horticultural experts, was a weed in France and to introduce it into the gardens of this country would be a mistake. So the poppy remains only a memory except for the artificial specimens that occasionally bloom on national holidays.

Now, Representative Kissel of New York has introduced a bill in congress which would raise the humble daisy to the official post of the national flower. Representative Kissel's bill has aroused a number of inquiries, and expressions of protest and approval.

Some people think that the national flower should not be a common weed but a blossom that can be cultivated and cherished. They want something handsome that will do the nation credit. Others applaud the sweet simplicity of the daisy, but believe that we should choose a flower that is more capable of historic association. Others read into the daisy a fitting symbolism for national use. The heart of gold, the whiteness of pure ideals, the green stalk suggesting fruitfulness of earth are pointed out.

It seems to be especially important to link up a complete set of associations with a national flower if it is to be arbitrarily legislated into existence. The columbine, for instance, which was persistently pushed in a hot race for the national flower some years ago, is said to be deeply significant.

Moreover, the columbine grows wild over the greater part of the country, and blooms in adverse circumstances. It grows in a variety of colors, among them red, white, and blue.

Mayflower Suggested. The mayflower has since had quite a following, particularly in the East. This was the first flower that greeted the Pilgrims after their hard winter in Plymouth. Unfortunately, however, it is a blossom of our eastern coast, and is scarcely known to other sections of the country.

Goldenrod, which has many supporters, also arouses opposition. It was suggested because of the association with gold, America being the traditional land of gold. But goldenrod has a bad reputation as a hay fever agent, and it would probably make a great many people miserable if it were to be widely used as the national flower.

The pansy seems a strange flower to be proposed for our national emblem. Yet in 1892 two bills were introduced to that effect. Deciding upon a national flower by legislation seems impossible. The old spontaneous way of acquiring one is undoubtedly the most natural, and perhaps it is not too late for America to follow the rules even now.

MINING IN THE DIAMOND FIELDS

Methods Are Interestingly Described by Geographic Society.

Precious Little Lumps Are Imbedded in Great Volume of Worthless Rock—Engineers Solve Difficult Problem.

Washington, D. C.—A "rush" such as frontier America knew in its free-land days, but in this case to peg out claims in a newly discovered diamond field was mentioned in recent dispatches from South Africa. This new diamond country opens up possibilities of a rival to the great Kimberly diamond field in the same general region, the world's greatest source of the sparkling white gems.

The methods of mining diamonds at Kimberly, which may be followed in the new fields if the formation proves the same, are outlined in a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"The mines at Kimberly," says the bulletin, "are in very ancient volcanoes which ages ago lost all semblance of activity. But during their youth the great heat and pressure of these volcanoes created gigantic laboratories in their depths in which thousands of the hard white carbon crystals, which are diamonds, were created. The precious little lumps are imbedded in a great volume of worthless rock known as 'blue ground,' and under old conditions were as hard to find as the proverbial needle in a haystack. But just as a clever searcher could probably locate his needle with a powerful magnet, despite the straw, so engineers have evolved mechanical means cleverly to separate the few tiny diamonds from the many tons of dirt in which they are hidden."

"The effectiveness with which Nature has concealed the crystals is evidenced by the fact that the 'blue ground' brought up from the depths of the mines and carrying its priceless gems, is spread out in the open for four months to a year to the weather. The diamonds are perfectly safe, for officials who have walked over the weathering 'floors' for many years assert that they have never found a diamond in this way. As the 'blue ground' weathers it crumbles, and great harrows like those used on the bonanza farms of the West are dragged over it to facilitate the process.

"Eventually the material is broken down into relatively fine particles. It is then taken in truck-loads to the mechanical plant of the mine for treatment. The ground is mixed with water in great mixing machines and passed over screens of fine wire meshing.

"When as much as possible of the foreign material has been removed in this way the coarse residue, containing the diamonds, is passed over sloping, vibrating tables covered with thick grease. Because of some little understood physical property, diamonds stick to the grease while the worthless material flows over the edge of the tables. The grease with its load of crystals is then scraped into a perforated container and heated by steam. The grease melts away and leaves the small but highly valuable objects of these months of work."

Trout Swallowed Chipmunk.

Woodville, Wash.—Tom Fulda, a timber cruiser, caught a rainbow trout in Tolt creek which had just swallowed a small chipmunk. The trout was about 23 inches long. It is presumed the forest animal was attempting to swim the creek when he was gobbled up by the voracious trout.

THEY NOW HIDE BOOZE IN FURS

Liquor Leaves British Columbia Ostensibly for Mexico.

Smugglers Take Advantage of Exceptionally Heavy Shipments of Furs to Eastern Ports—Ruse Is Discovered.

Victoria.—British Columbia has experienced bootlegging in its original and best known form and also so-called bootlegging in furs, but now there appears to be a combination of the two, and officials of the provincial liquor board are disturbed by reports intimating that headed liquor, carefully packed in pelts, is being shipped to dry districts in the guise of local fur shipments.

once getting out to sea, head northward again and their cargo eventually reaches a British Columbia port such as Prince Rupert. The cargo being in bond is not disturbed except by the agents of the "ring." Furs are wrapped around the liquor, and when the job is completed the bundles are such as to pass the eyes of the most zealous railway official as just so much furs labeled for some eastern city, usually Toronto.

The ruse was discovered when one of the shipments was held up on account of overweight and reclassified when the shipper protested. The liquor was found hidden in the furs.
