OLDEST AND LEADING NEWSPAPER IN CIRCULATION IN THE COUNTY OF LINCOLN, NEW MEXICO

Washington News Letter

By Wallace Bassford
(Special Correspondent)

Washington, D. C., March 25.—The house has at last passed another bonus bill, though almost identical in form with the one passed two years ago and which the senate laid on the shelf at Harding's request. It remains to be seen what will be done with the present bill, with all of Wall Street opposing it. The bill itself is satisfactory to no one. The soldier whose "adjusted compensation" entitled him to less than $40 can get in cash; the others have to take a certificate of indebtedness which finally becomes due in 20 years. Meanwhile, if he wants to get money, he has to borrow it at a bank and pay a larger rate of interest than the certificate bears, though the certificate is as much the obligation as is a Liberty Bond and should entitle the owner to the lowest rate of interest at which money can be borrowed. It is difficult to understand why the soldier should be allowed to borrow only 50 per cent of the face value of the certificate; almost any bank will lend 75 per cent of the market value of a certificate of stock in a railroad or industrial corporation if the stock is listed on the New York Stock Exchange, yet these stocks at times fluctuate wildly, and, of course, have much less stable value than the obligation of the United States Government.

The Republicans made a great deal of noise, about a year ago, over the question of reorganizing the government departments, cutting out much duplication of work and thus saving the taxpayers many millions of dollars. A most excellent congressional commission was made up for the work, but some time ago the president insisted that he be allowed to place a personal representative on this commission; the suggestion was opposed by the two Democratic members. Nevertheless, the president appointed Walter R. Brown, of Ohio, and the commission made him chairman. Up to that time the commission was making excellent progress and gave promise of saving many millions, but Brown served as an anesthetic of the most powerful sort and the suspicion is very strong that this was the purpose of his appointment. Since that time there has been absolutely nothing done; reorganization is chloroformed. No meetings are being held and work is at a standstill. Thus the administration escapes two embarrassments—many hundreds of jobs are saved to the party and a number of inter-departmental wrangles are hushed up. Agriculture-Interior were ready to fly at each other's throats over the question of which should control the Forest Service; Interior and Commerce were at daggers' points over Alaska; Treasury and Justice both striving to get control over enforcement of prohibition; Commerce and Agriculture divided over the Packers' Control Legislation, and so on down the list. The departmental chiefs are as jealous of each other as a bunch of opera singers. Each is constantly striving to extend his authority, his dominion and the number of his appointments. Rather hard on the poor taxpayer.

There seems to be no end to the Newberry money; it is now the gossip that members of the family, who seem to be mostly millionaires, intend to contribute liberally to the campaign funds of all Republican senators who have to fight for their seats by reason of having supported Senator Newberry in his contest to hold his seat. There are lively fights now on against Townsend in Michigan, Pepper in Pennsylvania, Poindexter in Washington and Frelinghuysen in New Jersey, for the nomination, and other fights yet to begin. Then at the general election the Democrats will go after every scalp that is still in place after the Republican primaries. This should put a heavy strain on the Newberry barrel, for the buying of one seat cost $200,000. Why not list the Republican senatorial seats on the New York Stock Market and thus make the trading public and under responsible supervision?

Fatal Accident at the Helen Rae Mine, Nogal

Edward F. Russell, foreman at the Helen Rae mine, Nogal, was killed Wednesday night by a fall down the shaft. Some of the particulars of the accident are lacking, but the known facts are as follows:

Mr. Russell had been engaged on some work near the bottom of the shaft, which is a hundred feet deep, preparing for the following day's work. Desiring to go above to secure a tape line, he went to the shaft and gave the signal to the engineer to hoist him to the surface. When the bucket reached the mouth of the shaft the engineer discovered that no one was on it. The engineer, upon investigation, learned from below that the foreman's body lay at the bottom of the shaft where it had fallen, the workers on that level having heard the impact when the body landed.

The body was brought to the surface and a physician summoned by telephone, but the injured man succumbed before medical assistance arrived, surviving the fall only a few minutes.

As the injured man never regained consciousness and no one on the bucket with him, the manner of his fall and the cause of it will never be known. It is possible the bucket tipped or he might have been seized with an attack of vertigo, losing his hold on the cable, precipitating his body to the bottom of the shaft. Neither is it known how far he fell.

The deceased had been in the employ of Mr. Robertson at the Helen Rae mine the past eight months, and was considered by his employer a most valuable man and implicit trust was reposed in him by Mr. Robertson. Mr. Russell was 47 years of age and had been engaged in mining the greater part of his life, having engaged in that business in the various mining regions in this country and Mexico. He leaves a wife and two daughters. The wife and the younger daughter were in El Paso at the time of the accident, but came on the first train when notified. The elder daughter, who is married, lives at Yonkers, New York. The remains will be shipped to that point for burial. The surviving members of the family have the sympathy of all.

3,000 People in New Mexico Need Rehabilitation Aid

Santa Fe, March 28.—That there are more than 3,000 citizens of New Mexico who need rehabilitation and who may be restored to the whole or partial usefulness by it, is the estimate of D. W. Rockey, state supervisor of industrial rehabilitation. The estimate of 3,000 civilians in need of his aid in which the state is prepared to co-operate, was given by Mr. Rockey in course of a letter to an eastern New Mexico man who inquired as to the scope of the work.

"Rehabilitation work applies to both men and women," the letter said, "and to all disabled persons whether disabled from disease, accident or congenital causes. The exceptions are those injured in military service who are already taken care of under soldier rehabilitation, and those whose physical condition is such as to make training impossible and inadvisable."

"We are seeking to bring the work to the attention of the entire state in order to awaken the people to the fact that they have this problem with them and to encourage them to co-operate with us. In a word, many men and women may become useful citizens if they can be trained to fill positions suitable to their condition. In the treatment of such cases we are prepared to co-operate, and we are anxious to have every such case brought to our attention. That co-operation of friends, relatives or the community, will be necessary, of course to aid the victim of accident or disease."

Parsons News Letter

Parsons, N. M., March 29, 1922. Miss Helen Rice departed this week for Fort Bayard where she will make an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. W. L. Weber.

Mr. Edgar Wheatley left recently for Inspiration, Arizona, where he has accepted a position. Mr. J. H. Fulmer, Jr., has gone to Chicago and the east on a business trip.

Britton and Beatrice Vincent spent the week-end as the guests of Miss Eva Grafton.

Mr. O. B. Robison, teacher of the Parsons school, attended the Teachers' convention at Capitan last week-end. Other attendants at the convention were: Mr. Herbert Reddy and daughter Dorothy and Robert and Ima Poage.

Mr. Newt Giveus, who has been laid up with a serious attack of rheumatism, is able to be out again.

Mrs. J. H. Fulmer spent the latter part of the week in Carrizozo.

March is departing like a lion. Let us hope he carries the winds with him wherever he goes.

Educational News

(By Mrs. M. L. Blaney)

One of the most successful conventions of the Lincoln County Teachers' Association was held at Capitan last Friday and Saturday, 24th and 25th, when 72 enthusiastic teachers and their friends assembled to enjoy the program prepared for them. An excellent spirit of interest prevailed throughout the sessions.

Contrary to precedents the forenoon was devoted to sectional meetings which I believe proved of unusual benefit to all.

State Superintendent Conway delivered an address on school conditions of today as compared with those of former days.

President Wagner illustrated the necessity of "teacher training" to meet the problems of every day teaching.

President Chamberlain spoke of the need of teacher leadership in the community.

Dr. Frank H. H. Roberts took up the part that parents should play in the education of children, definitely defining the responsibility which necessarily rests upon the father.

State Senator Brickley gave an interesting and instructive talk on the teaching and practice of thrift in the schools, which will no doubt bring results in the future, as the longer his message is considered the more forcibly we realize its truth.

Dr. E. E. Cole made a strong plea for correct pronunciation, less mumbling the teaching of expression and dramatization as of great value to the child's future.

The teachers of the county contributed materially to the success of the sectional programs with papers and talks of unusual merit.

To the teachers and people of Capitan we express appreciation of their co-operation in caring for our daily needs. Miss Wyatt, home economics teacher, who arranged the menus, became ill on the eve of our arriving but her plans were carried out in the minutest detail by fellow teachers and pupils.

A motion was made and carried that the Lincoln County Teachers Association affiliate as an organization with the N. E. A.

A number of resolutions were introduced and adopted, after which the Association adjourned, having terminated the most successful session in its history.

Building a Mountain Out of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil

One of the most colossal engineering feats ever undertaken is now under way in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. The Alorro de Castello, a mountain in the heart of the city, is being removed and the substance of it is being used to make a three-mile extension to the city in the bay.

New Invention Aid to Airmen

Records More Accurately the Air Pressure of Certain Surfaces of Planes.

TELLS OF RESULTS ACHIEVED

Important Facts Determined by Use of This Device Will Prove of Great Value to Science of Aeronautics.

Washington.—A new manometer or instrument for recording air pressure on wing and tail surfaces of airplanes at different points simultaneously has been designed and developed by F. H. Norton, an engineer of the Langley Memorial laboratory at Langley field, Virginia. It was announced by the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

The first experiments were undertaken by the laboratory for the navy department in order to determine the distribution of pressure over the horizontal tail surfaces of an airplane and to analyze the relation of this pressure to structural loads and longitudinal stability and were conducted on full-sized planes in the air and on models in the wind tunnels.

The old method consisted in using a horizontal tail surface inside of which rubber tubes, connected with a series of holes on the surface, led to a multiple liquid manometer. The several tubes of the manometer registered the pressure at each change of speed or air pressure and the results were recorded by an automatic camera which photographed the height of the liquid in the tubes every few seconds.

To study various pressures in accelerated flights or "stunting," it was impossible to use the old liquid manometer and consequently the new manometer was developed, substituting the deflection of metal diaphragms and a means of automatically recording their deflection for the liquid manometer and the camera respectively.

Tells of Results Achieved. Among the results achieved by the investigators are: That the low average load per square foot on the usual type of tail plane doing steady flight is so small that it could not in any conceivable way cause failure.

1920 FARM LOSS IS VERY LARGE

Drop of $3,650,000,000 From Previous Year Is Shown.

Agriculturist Earned Less in 1920 Than in Any of the Last Ten Years. Survey Shows—Suffer Heavily.

New York.—The American farmer, who rose to unprecedented heights of prosperity in 1918 and 1919, earned less in 1920 than he has earned in any year of the last ten. If his income is reckoned in dollars having the same purchasing power as in 1913, according to estimates made public by the national bureau of economic research, reckoned in actual dollars, he lost $3,650,000,000 in 1920, the farmer's income, as shown by the report, was less than in three previous years, but was greater than in the seven years from 1913 laboratory contemplates a further study to ascertain the pressure on different parts of wing and tail surfaces at very high speed, in an effort to learn, if possible, the causes of several accidents which occurred in aviation races, where the planes were making very high speeds and for which no cause has ever been determined.

Fire Underwriters See Stations as Explaining Spots in Antigonish County, Nova Scotia.

Halifax, N. S.—The proximity of radio stations is the latest explanation of Antigonish county spooks, which have driven Alex MacDonald and family from home and baffled investigators.

Fire underwriters are discussing suggestions that the mysterious fires have been due to electric phenomena, caused by powerful wireless stations at Glace Bay.

Several other families in Antigonish county are now reported to have been driven from their homes by mysterious fires during the last dozen years.

Young Shah of Persia Seems to Make Hit With Himself.

Admits His Stuff May Be Little Better Than That of Omar Khayyam—Is Something of Linguist—Also Good Tennis Player.

London.—The young shah of Persia who recently left his capital, Teheran, for another trip to Europe, is said to hold a high opinion of himself as a poet. In fact, according to a story told here, he puts himself in a class with Omar Khayyam and considers himself, if anything, a trifle better than his great countryman.

As the story is told by a London paper, a British minister at Teheran called on the shah at the request of English admirers of the great Persian poet and asked that better care be taken of his grave at Nishapur where, as Omar predicted, "the north wind still scatters roses on his tomb."

But the shah could not be impressed with this need. Persia, he declared, had lots of poets and he, himself, was

Finder of $7 in 1865 Now Makes Restitution

Conestogville, Pa.—Henry C. Moulthrop of Conestogville has received a most remarkable "conscience" letter from the neighboring town of Abies. It is from a man who says he is a veteran of the Civil war and explains that on returning from the war in 1865 he was "broke." In a "grocery and beer shop" in Conestogville he found a pocketbook containing $7 and a card indicating that it was the property of F. Moulthrop.

He now desires to make restitution to the son of the man who owned the pocketbook. He adds $1 for interest, which hardly meets the interest requirements, but the recipient thinks he can stand the loss.

LABRADOR ESKIMOS DYING

Have Been Exploited by Traders, Says Vice Governor of Northern Greenland.

Copenhagen.—Eskimos of Labrador appear to be dying, or at least a deteriorating race, says Harold Lindow, vice governor of northern Greenland, who has just returned from a visit to the Eskimo settlements on the eastern coast of Labrador.

Mr. Lindow said the Eskimo of Labrador did not compare well with the Greenland Eskimo and that they were in great need of protection. He asserted that they were being exploited those gainfully employed. They had farther to fall. "What the results may have been in 1921 can not yet be determined, because, while farmers again suffered heavy losses, the rest of the country also ran into a period of severe depression."

Happy Man Gets Rid of Trouble by the Simple Process of Burning Them Up.

"By George, but this is a fine day!" exclaimed one man as he met another on the street.

"Yes, so it is," was agreed. "You are looking very happy this morning." "Happy? I haven't been so happy in three months."

"What has occasioned your happiness?" was asked. "When my mail came in an hour ago it brought to me a coal bill, a bill from the grocer, a letter from my landlord raising my rent, and a doctor's bill two years old. Also a notice that my taxes had not been paid and a gas and electric light bill."

"It was enough to fairly crush one and I can't see how you can be happy." "Why, it is a very simple thing. All I had to do was to put the bills in the fire, and forget all about their arrival. Still, It Must Be Admitted That Thief Had Logic of Matter on His Side.

A man was charged in Glasgow with stealing a herring-barrel. After the charge had been proved the accused addressed the magistrate:

"Deed, Sir Bailie, the man at the bar is a great rogue; the stealing of the barrel is nothing to some of his tricks. He stole my sign-board last week, and what does your honor think he did with it?"

"That would be hard for me to say," replied the magistrate. "Well, sir," said the witness, "I'll tell ye. He brought it into my ain shop, wi' my ain name on it, an' offered to sell it to me, as he said he thought it would be o' mair use to me than anybody else."

"Humph. Congratulations," said the boss dubiously. "Oh," said Bunker, "don't congratulate me, sir. Congratulate George Evans, my worst enemy. He's the lucky man."—Detroit Free Press.

Wishing for sleep is a poor way to get it

A LITTLE wisdom in the daytime is a better assurance of rest than any amount of anxious wishing when nerves are a-jangle at night.

What you do at noon often has more influence on sleep than what you want and hope for, at midnight.

Coffee's drug element, caffeine, whips up the nerves, and when its use is continued there's usually a penalty which no amount of mental effort can avoid.

The part of wisdom, as so many thousands have found, is to turn away from nerve-stimulation and adopt rich, delicious Postum as the mealtime drink. Postum delights the taste, but brings no disturbance to nerves or digestion. Even the little children can share in the enjoyment of Postum at any meal.

It's better to anticipate warnings than to be driven by them.

It's better to encourage and preserve sound nerves and complete health than to listen to the clock ticks at night and say, "I wish!"

You can get Postum wherever good food or drink is sold and served. An order today may be the beginning, for you, of the great satisfaction and comfort which so many others have found in Postum.

Your grocer has both forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

The Village Election

The Village of Carrizozo will elect its municipal officials next Tuesday, April 4, for the ensuing two years. A ticket, which was named at a mass meeting, and which appears at the head of our editorial column, is the only one before the people, so far as we know. If there is any organized opposition it is not apparent, and it is the general belief that the verdict of the mass meeting will be endorsed, and for the good of the town and a harmonious existence its election made a certainty. These men were named in open meeting because they were deemed capable of conducting the affairs of the municipality during the coming two years—a period that will be most critical in the growth of Carrizozo. Too much is at stake for us to imperil our welfare over personal or community bickerings, and now is the time of all times for every one to work in unison for a better and more prosperous condition.

The Water Bonds

Again we desire to call the attention of the taxpayers of the municipality concerning the issue of $25,000 in bonds for the purpose of installing a water system for our town. The question will be voted on next Tuesday, April 4th, and, under the law, taxpayers are qualified voters on this question.

As we have stated once before, the opportunity to secure a water system at a moderate figure is now before the people. For years we have desired water; for not only the comforts and convenience it would bring, but for the larger reason that it would mean the greatest boost for the town that could be brought about. Without a water system, thoughtful voters agree, we have about reached our growth as to population and in commercial and industrial enterprises.

We are now offered a water system, through the aid of the railroad company, at a figure far below what it would cost us were we to attempt the proposition independently. In fact, the difficulty of securing pure water and the cost of piping it such a distance as would be necessary, besidered. It would cost many times the amount that it is now proposed to spend on a system; and to not take advantage of the railroad's generous offer at this time would quite likely mean that we should be without a water system of any reasonable service for many years to come.

We do not anticipate the defeat of the bonds, but indifference on the part of the voters, or the idea that everybody is for the bonds, might well prove disastrous, should there be a quiet, but determined opposition to the issue. We, therefore, urge all taxpayers to give the question serious concern, and if there be any who doubt the advisability of the issue of bonds now, they might give some thought to the question "What growth and progress may be expected without water?" Having reached that frame of mind, go into the question deeper and see if the very reasonableness of the proposition doesn't appeal to you.

High School Vocal Concert

On Monday evening, April 3, the pupils of the High School Chorus will give a musical program at the Methodist Church for the public. A small admission fee of 10 cents, to cover expenses, will be charged. The program comprises 16 or 18 numbers, and include folk songs, popular songs, patriotic songs, duets, trios and choruses, and last, but not least, selections from the famous operas, Il Trovatore, Cavalleria Rusticana and The Pinafore. A full house is anticipated and a pleasing entertainment if promised. Mrs. E. E. Cole will preside at the piano.

'Husbands on Approval'

The play with the above title was announced last week in the News to be staged last night at the Crystal, but the illness of some of those taking part in the play made it necessary to postpone it.

We are authorized to announce that "Husbands on Approval" will be presented at the Crystal theater Thursday night, April 13. The Epworth League is putting on this performance, and we have the assurance that it will be a most enjoyable and entertaining affair. Don't forget the date, Thursday night, April 13.

"ALL aboard! All aboard!" The guards who had charge of the London local which was due to stop at Hackney shortly after six o'clock in the evening, were even more insistent than usual in their demands one night in the summer, for the train was already late, and trying to make up time. But a cry of consternation from one of the men who was boarding the train brought the attendants flocking around him.

"Look!" he cried, pointing through the glass of the compartment toward the cushions of the seat on the far side. My God, man! Don't you see? They are soaked with blood! And there's a man's walking stick and a black leather bag! Where's the occupant of this compartment?"

That was the question which puzzled every member of the London police force, and especially Col. James Fraser, head of the department.

Where was the man who had very evidently been murdered in the coach? Who was he?

The black bag contained no information whatever, and the walking stick was merely an ordinary one, lacking even initials. The guard who had charge of that car said that he "seemed to recall two men getting into that compartment at Fenchurch street, in London," but he wasn't sure.

When Colonel Fraser examined the car carefully, however, he found the print of a bloody hand—a hand with short, squat fingers—on the wall of the coach, evidently where the murderer had steadied himself after committing the crime. But where was the body?

This angle of the case was soon cleared up by the discovery of the body of a man near the railroad tracks in Victoria park. The head and face had been so disfigured that identification would have been almost impossible, had it not been for the card which was found in his vest pocket. By means of this it was found that the dead man was a certain Thomas Briggs, chief clerk of a London banking house, who had been on his way to visit his daughter in Fackham. According to his associates, he was in the habit of carrying a considerable sum of money with him, and also wore a very handsome watch and chain. When the body was discovered, however, the watch, chain and the money were missing.

Immediately after the body was discovered Colonel Fraser measured the fingers of the left hand, but found that they were entirely too long and well shaped to fit the bloody imprint on the wall of the coach.

Pinning his faith to the fact that the murderer would probably try to sell Briggs' watch and chain, the police settled down to watch all the pawn brokers in and around London, but days passed without any developments from this end of the case.

Finally, just as Fraser was hearing the end of his patience a second-hand dealer in Oldspaldie reported that a chain, similar to the one worn by the dead man, had been brought into his establishment on the day after the murder. The chain, he said, had been placed in with some others, and had slipped his mind, until he commenced to go over his stock. The only description he could give of the man who sold it was that he was "foreign-looking," in fact he felt certain he was a German.

More in order to quiet the press than because he attached any real importance to the discovery, Colonel Fraser made public the details of the dealer's story, and the following morning a man called at police headquarters, bringing with him a card which he said his daughter had found on the floor of the room recently occupied by Franz Muller. The card bore the name of the second-hand dealer who had purchased the chain!

Muller, stated Fraser's informant, was a German who had boarded in his house for some time past, but who had suddenly disappeared, leaving most of his effects behind him.

"Didn't happen to leave a photograph, did he?"
"Yes, sir, he did. Here it is," and the man produced a picture which the second-hand dealer immediately identified as the man who had sold him the chain.

It was a matter of only a few hours to trace the German to a steamship office and to find that he had sailed, 48 hours before, for America. Wishing his own men to have credit for the capture, Fraser dispatched two of them to New York on a fast boat, and when Muller stepped off the gangplank he was arrested for the murder of Thomas Briggs, although he vigorously protested his innocence, and stated that he had bought the chain from a man on the street. As further proof of his assertion, he produced Briggs' watch, which he said he had bought at the same time as the chain.

Inasmuch as the guard who had seen the man enter the coach at Fenchurch street could not positively identify Muller, the case against him appeared to be very thin—until Colonel Fraser compared the man's hand with the bloody imprint on the wall of the coach.

Only Co-operation Can Do this Job

New Mexico has the machinery for intelligent direction of rehabilitation of its disabled citizens. It lacks the funds for carrying out the work with each individual case. It can co-operate. It cannot carry the load.

Even were unlimited funds available, successful rehabilitation can only be accomplished by generous community co-operation.

It is to find those cases needing rehabilitation service and to point out methods of co-operation between this department and the individuals or community interested, that we invite full information about every case wherein our services can be helpful. If you know of such a case write the details to

Evils of Protection

"It is an economic law that a nation buys where it sells. It must do this in order to have money to pay its bills in the country where the bills are contracted." This was true when nations first began to trade one with another, and is no less true today; for the principle governing trade changes not. Yet we have a class of political economists who claim the country can be made wealthy by taxation, that a high tariff—a tariff so high that it absolutely prohibits trading between nations—will bring prosperity, and, at the same time, make the foreigner pay the tax.

That such a position is untenable and that the people, as a whole, are losers may be illustrated by a case in point. In a small town in an agricultural section of the U. S., not far from the Canadian border, there is a glove factory. This concern has been for years selling a large part of its product annually in Canada. Congress, in the Emergency Tariff Act, placed on goods imported from Canada a tariff so high that it made it unprofitable for the Canadians longer to sell their goods in the American market. The small town glove factory, among many others, lost its Canadian market and had to shut down. Canada being unable to sell her goods in this country was forced to sell her surplus elsewhere. Naturally, then, she supplied her needs in other markets.

The result: This glove factory was the principal support of the town. Practically all the wage earners work there. When their means of livelihood was cut off their ability to purchase was gone.

The smaller farmers who had a ready market at their very doors for their butter and eggs and other farm products found it necessary to seek other and less satisfactory markets out of town. Everything they tried to sell was sold at a greatly reduced price, but everything they attempted to buy they found was reduced only slightly in price or not reduced at all.

The foregoing is but an illustration of conditions in a small community, yet there are many throughout the country similarly situated. But, for a more general comparison suppose we take this one: There is a chemical plant in New Jersey which makes a fertilizer product for the Cuban market; Cuba's sugar industry has been practically ruined by a 60 per cent increase in the tariff on raw sugar. Cuba is unable to buy the product of this chemical factory. One thousand men are out of work. The families of those one thousand men would use at least a thousand dozens of eggs a week and not less than a thousand pounds of butter and certainly not less than three thousand and pounds of meat, all products of the American farmer.

But in the case of Cuba there is even a more direct loss of market to the farmer. A glance at the trade reports shows that Cuba is one of the American farmer's most important customers. In 1920 Cuba purchased of us more than 50 per cent of all our exports of hogs, lard compounds, canned sausage, rice, potatoes, beans and onions. She ranked second among the nations in the purchase of our cattle, horses, mules, pickled pork, sausage other than canned, poultry, cheese, sweetened condensed milk, cocoa and prepared chocolate and corn. She ranked third in the purchase of hams and shoulders, miscellaneous canned meat products, hay and flour. Cuba bought from us during 1919 and 1920 over $25,000,000 worth of truck garden and farm products, over $6,600,000 worth of livestock, over $14,000,000 worth of dairy products, over $80,000,000 worth of meat products.

money with which to purchase our goods? The answer is "sugar." Cuba produces 4,000,000 tons of sugar annually. This enormous crop is the mainstay of Cuban prosperity. If it fails her, she must go bankrupt. About one-half of her output of sugar she sells in the United States.

If an increased tariff makes it impossible for Cuba to sell her sugar in this country her power to buy goods here is going to be cut off. We sold Cuba $515,000,000 worth of goods in 1920, and a large part of these sales were manufactured products.

As in the case of the little town that was dependent upon the glove factory for its existence and could not buy its supplies from the surrounding farmers when the factory shut down, so in general, if American manufacturers are seriously injured by losing such an important market as Cuba, it is going to curtail the wages paid to labor and in turn will curtail the farmers' domestic market.

"The Kid" is Coming

Thursday, April 6, "The Kid" will be presented at the Crystal theatre. This scenario was written and directed by Charlie Chaplin, in which he stars, but Jackie Coogan, "The Kid," is featured in the production. It required a year to make this picture, and it was sold for so much money that it would raise the hair should the amount be named. At any rate, it is conceded to be one of the ten leading productions of the year, and with Charlie and Jackie furnishing the fun it should be a scream throughout its six reels. Two shows will be given—matinee at 4:15 and night at 8:00. The admission will be 25 and 55c.

For Torpid Liver

"Black-Draught is, in my opinion, the best liver medicine on the market," states Mrs. R. H. Whiteside of Keota, Okla. She continues: "I had a pain in my chest after eating—light, uncomfortable feeling—and this was very disagreeable and brought on headaches. I was constipated and knew it was indigestion and inactive liver. I began the use of Black-Draught, night and morning, and it sure is splendid and certainly gives relief."

Theford's BLACK-DRAUGHT

For over seventy years this purely vegetable preparation has been found beneficial by thousands of persons suffering from effects of a torpid, or slow-acting liver, indigestion, biliousness, colic, coated tongue, dizziness, constipation, bitter taste, sleeplessness, lack of energy, pain in back, puffiness under the eyes—any or all of these symptoms often indicate that there is something the matter with your liver. You can't be too careful about the medicine you take. Be sure that the name, "Theford's Black-Draught," is on the package. At all drugists.

Four-Power Pacific Treaty to Be Ratified by Senate Unless All Signs Fail.

MARGIN AT LEAST FIVE VOTES

Allied Reparations Commission Declines to Pay Bill for American Expenses on Rhine—Fighting in South Africa—India in Ferment.

By JOHN DICKINSON SHERMAN

THE four-power Pacific treaty, it was asserted last week, would be ratified by the senate, unless all signs should fail. A margin of at least five votes was predicted. It follows that the other six parts of the armament conference will be approved as a matter of course, if the treaty is ratified.

An agreement to vote was reached Wednesday. It was further agreed to take no more votes on amendments or reservations before the final vote, and to limit debate. It looked last week as if Senator Underwood, minority leader, would come across with at least eleven votes, instead of the eight he was expected to deliver.

Early in the assault on the treaty came the charges that the treaty had been framed by the British and Japanese; that secret negotiations had been concealed, and that the American delegates had been imposed upon. Secretary of State Hughes thereupon stated that he wrote the treaty, that there was no mystery about the treaty and that it was a good treaty. He was modest about it and he was plain-spoken. His statement was made in the form of a letter to Senator Underwood of Alabama, one of the four American delegates, who as minority senate leader is charged with the onerous job of delivering enough Democratic votes to secure the ratification of the treaty. Secretary Hughes said, among other things:

"The treaty itself is very short and simple, and is perfectly clear. It requires no commentary. Its engagements are easily understood, and no ingenuity in argument or hostile criticism can add to them or make them other or greater than its unequivocal language sets forth. There are no secret notes or understandings.

"In view of this, the question of authorship is unimportant. It was signed by four powers, whose delegates, respectively, adopted it, all having made various suggestions. I may say, however, with respect to the general course of negotiations that after several had been given by Great Britain and Japan that France should be a party to the agreement, I prepared a draft of the treaty based upon the various suggestions which had been exchanged between the delegates. . . . I should add that, in order to avoid any misunderstanding I prepared a memorandum to accompany the treaty with respect to its effect in relation to the mandated islands and reserving domestic questions.

"At this stage, while it was not strictly a conference matter, in order to insure publicity at the earliest possible moment, the treaty, as thus agreed upon, and before it had been signed, was presented by Senator Lodge to the conference in plenary session and its import and limitations stated. His statement met with the acquiescence of all.

"There is not the slightest mystery about the treaty or basis for suspicion regarding it. It is a straightforward document which states one of the most important objects the American government has had in view, and is of the highest importance to the maintenance of friendly relations in the Far East upon a sound basis. As the president recently said, in his communication to the senate, it is an essential part of the plan to create cordiality and friendly relations between the United States and the various nations of the Pacific.

during peace. In view of this, and in view of the relation of the treaty to the results of the conference, its failure would be nothing short of a national calamity."

The senate debate over ratification confirms the wisdom of the President's choice of Senator Underwood as a conference delegate. There are those who consider the senator from Alabama one of the ablest men in public life. He certainly had a large opportunity for his skill as a debater when he attempted to round up his recalcitrant followers for ratification. The first day he stood for three hours before the Democrats he has led in so many partisan battles, arguing that they should forget party lines and join with the administration forces for ratification. It was almost exclusively a Democratic show, with the Republicans sitting on the sidelines and watching the astute minority leader fight it out with his unruly followers. The anti-treaty Democrats were trying to trap him into an admission that the treaty in effect constituted an entangling alliance. But he insisted on "conference agreement." Some of them "heckled" their leader. Only the unflinching good nature of the Alabamian stayed off a stormy sea. It was a situation that only an experienced and able man could meet.

Next came an assault on the treaty by Senator Borah of Idaho and Senator Johnson of California, Republican irreconcilables. They questioned the authorship of the treaty, despite the letter from Secretary Hughes. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, majority leader, made them admit they had not meant to reflect on the veracity of Secretary Hughes. In effect the two senators assailed the treaty as a "quadruple alliance." Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin answered them.

The pro-treaty forces scored a victory Tuesday when they voted down an amendment by Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas designed to wreck the treaty. The Robinson amendment would have had the effect of converting the four-power pact into a league of nations. It pledged all the signatories to respect each other's territorial integrity and to commit no act of aggression against any nation outside the pact. Furthermore, it provided, in case of disputes, that outside nations interested should be invited to participate in conferences held under the terms of the four-power pact.

The vote was 55 to 30. Eleven members were absent. Six were paired. The five unpaired absentees are all counted for ratification. Four Republicans, committed against ratification, voted for the amendment: Borah of Idaho, Johnson of California, La Follette of Wisconsin and France of Maryland. Four Democrats voted against it: Underwood of Alabama, Pomerene of Ohio, Randall of Louisiana and Williams of Mississippi. Later similar amendments by Senators Walsh of Montana and Pittman of Nevada, both Democrats, were voted down by substantially the same vote. Then a series of amendments and reservations was dumped into the hamper to be ready for presentation before the final roll call.

LIFE to Uncle Sam just now must seem just one treaty after another. Anyway, he presented last week to the allied reparations commission in Paris a bill for $341,000,000 for the expenses of the American army of occupation on the Rhine up to May 1, 1921. The allied commissioners registered frozen horror, but thawed sufficiently to stick the bill on a spindle. You see, they were engaged in dividing up among themselves a reparations payment of 1,000,000,000 gold marks by Germany and naturally regarded the presentation of the American claim—which to date is something like $300,000,000—as very bad form. They therefore washed their hands of the matter and referred it to the allied governments.

The French press sets forth what is presumably the allied view: The United States declined to ratify the treaty of Versailles, hence it has no legal claim to payment under its terms. The United States made its own separate treaty with Germany; therefore it should do its own collecting from Germany. The British press—some of it claims that, while Uncle Sam has no legal claim, he may have a moral claim? All of which lends emphasis to the saying of the Man on the Street: "We have all the real money in the world and for that very reason not a single real friend." Evidently the new funding commission to see what can be done about the eleven billions of allied debts is in for an adventure.

DO YOU remember London Punch's famous cartoon depicting a family council of the British Lion's restless brood during the World war? Well, the Union of South Africa is sure restless. Last week saw the climax and suppression of the strike of miners which has held South Africa in its grip for more than two months. It had all the hallmarks of an attempt at revolution. The strikers captured half a dozen towns and nearly got possession of Johannesburg. Gen. Jan Christian Smuts, the premier, proclaimed martial law, called out all the government troops and took command in person. Censored reports show the killing of more than 1,000 strikers, police and soldiers. Grenades, bombs, machine guns, airplanes and tanks figured in the fighting; cities were bombarded; thousands of strikers were captured. It was real war for a week. The South African Industrial Federation then declared the strike off and denied complicity in the rebellion. This man Smuts is a strong man. He has risen from a Dutch general in the Boer war to one of the leading statesmen of the British commonwealth of nations, as he calls it. Many believe Smuts to be the logical successor to Lloyd George.

NEW tangles mark the complicated situation in India. The arrest of Gandhi, leader of the non-co-operationists, was followed by widespread protests from all the Moslem world. Then Britain was startled by the unauthorized publication by E. S. Montagu, British secretary of state for India, of a telegram from the India government making demands for the restoration of Turkey. This constitutes an appeal to the world by a subordinate British government over the head of the imperial government. Lloyd George censured Mr. Montagu and demanded his resignation. Mr. Montagu resigned, but talked back, putting Lloyd George and Curzon on the defensive. Lord Derby was asked to take the secretaryship for India and declined. This, coming upon the failure of the unionists' meeting Tuesday to give Lloyd George a vote of confidence, has raised again the possibility of the resignation of the premier. His political enemies hold it impossible for him to retain the position. Nevertheless, it has been announced that Lloyd George and Curzon will attend the Genoa conference April 10.

REVISION of the Republican soldier bonus bill was finished Tuesday by the ways and means committee, which thereupon reported the measure to the house by a vote of 19 to 5. The program calls for prompt passage of the bill by the house. Report is that the senate will not accept the bill as it comes from the house and that a long delay in the senate finance committee is inevitable. The bill provides cash bonuses only for veterans entitled to less than $50. Four options are given to others: an adjusted service certificate, farm or home aid, land, settlement aid, and vocational training.

IT LOOKS as if All Fool's Day would be celebrated by a strike of the coal miners. Secretary of Labor Davis did not succeed last week in getting the operators and men for conference on a new wage agreement. Neither side appears to care particularly whether or not the strike comes. The only consolation for the public lies in the probability that some of the mining districts will keep at work.

Mary Garden, Chicago's arbiter of grand opera, says that some of the high-priced stars must RH the house or take less pay or get out. Uncle Sam is reported to be considering the negotiation of treaties with Great Britain and Cuba to put an end to liquor smuggling into the United States. Media experts are predicting that the presidential campaign of the future will be conducted by wireless telephony. What's that? Some of the players who were admitted to the White House last week did the wireless Harbingers of the spring season crowd upon us from all directions. From Paris come the cables of the openings there, while right here in New York, observes a fashion writer in the New York Times, we are being treated to fashion exhibits that are truly American in character. Only the best of America's fashion creators paraded their gowns for the fashion people to revel in and to take shaming examples from the clothes of American women this spring.

While the dresses designed for the street have a tendency to remain at a very moderate length—not to say short—those for afternoon and evening are creeping forward and no longer certain pace. And it is interesting to see how variously the different designers achieve their purposes by drapings and transparent founcings and panels and ruffings and underskirts and things.

For these women who will not accept the frankly long skirt (either because their figures are too short or because they want to remain youthful in appearance), there are gowns with trailing trains (a make them look long, while at other portions of their skirts the legs are allowed to show almost to the knees. This style will coalesce to please those husbands, too, who vowed they would not be parties to the re-appearance of the longer skirts. It took them a long while to come around to a whole-hearted acceptance of the shorter skirt; but having reached that point, they seem—many of them—determined to remain there.

One evening gown at the National Garment Retailers' fashion show was made of a black beaded robe just draped about the figure in classic lines, with straps of cut jet to hold it in place over the shoulders. On the left side of the skirt the draping was opened and made a short skirt line, almost to the knees, while on the opposite side the lines of its draping curved downward until it barely escaped the floor.

Made of Metal Cloth. Another of these very brilliant gowns was made of some soft and lustrous shade of metal cloth—that is, one which had a color woven in with the silver threads. Its skirt was draped in one of those irregular ways that brought it very low on one side, where it spread out into a graceful train, and from the other side the fabric came from a higher point, to fasten under the drapery of the train. The interesting part about this gown was that when its lovely wearer stood still in one spot, it had every appearance of being quite amply full. Then when she stepped along the path the movement of her body transformed the lines of the skirt so that they followed her figure exactly.

All the evening frocks had simple straps for the shoulders, with as much neck showing as possible. One was of red velvet, and the shoulder straps considered, then there is a distinctly different type for the young and the slim woman. It is draped, to be sure, but it is extended in some way at the hip line, so that the gown assumes a distinctly bouffant appearance. It is made, more usually, of the thinner materials and of taffeta which, of its own accord, puffs out into distended lines.

One dress of this type was made from heavy flowered taffeta, the light little colorful bouquets of flowers being scattered over a background of soft cream-colored silk. The skirt was invested with full panniers over either hip and, falling from that point, it reached the ankles. There was a short-waisted bodice and little, old-fashioned puffed sleeves, giving the effect of lovely maidenliness combined with a real old-time charm.

Some of the evening dresses were short, as far as the foundation material was concerned, and then had extra lace of gold tissue founcings below that line, which made the skirt long, and yet not long. It was a compromise that many women will like, because it forms an easy transition between the long and the short and allows them to gradually become used to the longer line.

From Paris we gather the first news of the spring openings there. Of course it is, as yet, only snatched information transported by cable, but it serves to give an idea of what the Parisian couturiers will sanction for forthcoming styles.

Two frocks, which are the latest creations of Marital et Armand and Chiralt, are, of course, included in the spring showings of those two houses, but they are the sort of thing that led up to those openings, and for that reason they hold a real significance.

Simplicity Is Noticeable. The simplicity of the drapings of these gowns is their most noticeable characteristic. There seems to be only a suggestion of a gathering of the fullness at a certain point, or at various points, as the case may be. But in the manner of that draping lies the center of interest in the frock, and around it the trimming and all of the lines of the gown are grouped in harmony.

Cherult's gown illustrates that regularity of beaded trimming which has proved itself so acceptable, and in this case the erose lines of bead tubes and circles follow the line established by the draping about the lowered waistline.

The gown from Marital et Armand has a somewhat higher waistline. That is, a second tier of velvet ribbon establishes a more normal line, while the lowered one remains there, as though to demonstrate its willingness to be pushed from the position of interest, which it has held uninterceptedly. This frock is made with an underskirt of silver that shows charmingly on the bodice under the arms.

Then the overdress is made of a beautifully soft piece of panne velvet, embroidered by hand over its entire surface with designs in silver thread. The velvet is a light violet in tint, and the velvet stripes of ribbon about the waist, along with the velvet and silk bows grouped at one side, are in a deep tone of purple. Incorporated in the making of the blossoms are petals of silver cloth, and the straps over the shoulders are made of this same material.

Cherult's gown is all white—the satin which forms its foundation and the various lines of beads from which the embroidery is made. What, then, will be one of the things that will be seen and it seems probable that when a frock is white it will be especially noticeable. The dress is a beautiful example of the art of the couturier, and it is a pleasure to see it in the window of a Parisian shop.

SPENT HALF HER TIME IN BED

Farmer's Wife Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a Well Woman

Carters Creek, Tenn. "Three years ago I was almost an invalid. I spent half of my time in bed, being afflicted with a trouble which women of a certain age are apt to have. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sensitive Wash. I am a well woman now and have been for two years. I can work as well as any one who is younger and as I am a farmer's wife I have plenty to do for I cultivate my own garden, raise many chickens and do my own housework. You may publish this letter as I am ready to do anything to help other women as I have been so well and happy since my troubles are past."—Mrs. M. J. GALLOWAY, Carters Creek, Tenn.

Most women find plenty to do. If they are weak with some female ailment and troubled with such symptoms as Mrs. Galloway had, the smallest duty seems a mountain. If you find it hard to keep up, if you are nervous and irritable, without ambition and out of sorts generally, give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. We believe it will help you greatly, for it has helped others.

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often seem to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble. Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions. Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper—Advertisement.

ROAD BUILDING

FEDERAL-AID ROAD PROGRAM

Secretary of Agriculture is Considering Tentative Draft of Rules and Regulations.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) The secretary of agriculture is considering a tentative draft of rules and regulations for the administration of the federal highway act, approved last November, under which $70,000,000 is appropriated for the construction of federal-aid roads.

Fifty million dollars of the appropriation became available January 1. The remaining $25,000,000 was made immediately available upon approval of the act, November 9, last. In formulating the fundamental rules which will govern the states and the federal government in administering the law, the Department of Agriculture is seeking the counsel of the state highway departments as represented by the executive committee of the American Association of State Highway Officials.

A Modern Machine Working on a Rutty Highway.

R. J. Windrow, state highway engineer, Texas; W. D. Uhler, state highway engineer, Pennsylvania; and D. P. Olson, director, bureau of highways, Idaho.

Pending definite decision upon details of the federal highway system, each project submitted by the states will be examined with the utmost care by the bureau of public roads to determine whether it is likely that the roads proposed will come within the federal system as finally selected. The department regards the approval of this system as of great importance. Each project submitted in advance of the definite decision upon the system as a whole will have an effect in fixing particular routes and so determining the system. Location of the projects, choice of routes, and character of improvements proposed will be given close study.

Much Money for Roads. Receipts of the automobile division of the Pennsylvania highway department reached the enormous total of $9,877,401 last year, the largest in the history of the division. This amount is an increase of more than $2,000,000 over the receipts of 1920.

ORIGIN OF WORDS

Entertainment and Knowledge in the Search.

In the End, It Will Be Found That Explanations Lie in the Nature of a Quest.

Most people take their words (and their phrases, too) ready made; that is, they learn a small vocabulary from hearing other people talk, and afterward, finding the same words in books and dictionaries, they are emboldened to use them in their speech and writing.

If one has a comparatively small class down to their actual knowledge of the English language—one can learn something more definite, but still nebulous. This small educated class really has heard of the Anglo and Danes who implanted their language on the Picts and thus started the Anglo-Saxon boom.

Coming down to the year 1066, the same cultivated persons explain by means of the Conquest the large number of French words that have been more or less Anglicized that we use every day. And when we ask why there are so many German words in our tongue it is only necessary to recall the fact of a common Teutonic origin of the sailors and beachcombers who lived either in the fens or along the shores of Europe and England.

After Shakespeare, Milton, Dryden, Ben Jonson, Sam Johnson and other notable writers had introduced more Latin, Italian and French words into the language and invented a few of their own English may be said to have been finished. Really every language, including English, is extraordinarily conservative and resents new words. All the same new words do get into them. These words are sometimes required to describe new things in the arts, sciences, etc.

When Morse invented his code a handy word had to be made and so arose telegraph and a variety of derivatives. The airplane has given us in turn several new words. Slang gives us a novel word now and then.

For instance, the word "boycott" had no trouble at all in finding its way into our tongue and into most European languages. It arose from the treatment of Capt. Boycott of Lough Mask House in the County Mayo in 1880. "Boatons," a new word for a new card game, got into the language earlier. It comes from the siege of our city of Boston in 1775-76 and the moves of the game follow all the strategic moves in this military history.

Pomp, meaning a solemn procession, comes from the Latin word pompe, which was in turn derived from the Latin verb pompere, which means to send. Meddle, to mix, is a distortion of the word middle, but it has as good a place in the language now as its forebear.

Who knows where the word haberdashery comes from? Ask any man who sells neckties, collars and other little things to adorn (perhaps) the person of man and he hasn't the least idea. Look up the word in the standard dictionaries; the search will not be rewarded.

Quite otherwise is the origin of the word humble pie. It comes from the eating by servants long years ago of pie made from the umbles, or entrails, of the deer.

There is considerable entertainment and not a little knowledge to be gained by looking up the origin of words. Why not add it to the list of popular indoor sports?—New York Herald.

Long in Public Life. "Uncle Joe" Cannon's announced intention to retire from service in congress at the expiration of his present term, completing forty-six years in the house, has called attention to the length of service of other house members.

Burton of Cleveland and Longworth of Cincinnati are the veterans of the Ohio delegation, each now serving his ninth term. The Clevelander, however, in addition, has served one term of six years in the senate.

Fess, of Yellow Springs, is serving his fifth term; Cooper of Youngstown, and Kearns of Bavaria, their fourth; and Cole of Findlay, Foster of Athens, Moore of Cambridge, Murphy of Steubenville, Stephens, of Cincinnati, and Thompson of Defiance, their second. The others are all first-termers.

Tens Producer for Violin. It is said that a modern violin, of any ordinary make, can be converted into the equivalent of a Stradivarius, or other violin of Italy's golden days of string-instrument making, by the attachment to it of a newly invented tone producer.

According to a preliminary report that has just been issued by the Department of Commerce, through the bureau of the census, the total mortgage debt on owned homes and farms in the state of Arizona in 1920 was $24,750,000, and the total value of these mortgaged homes and farms was $72,404,150, the mortgage debt thus representing 34.2 per cent of the total value. Rented homes, tenant farms and farms that are partly owned and partly rented, it should be noted, are not included in this report. The total number of homes in the state other than farm homes was 60,430, of which 21,823 or 36.1 per cent were owned by the occupants, and of these owned homes 5,108, or 23.4 per cent, were mortgaged.

A large number of cattle in Arizona are infected with scabies and a quarantine has been placed over one district near Holbrook.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover, speaking at a dinner in Phoenix, declared he was prepared to recoment the Boulder, canyon dam project. "When engineers of the status of Arthur F. Davis say that dam is practicable, and that it will not encroach upon the rights of any of the seven states involved, I am prepared to adopt that dam, Secretary Hoover asserted. Davis is director of the government reclamation service.

The best tobacco-bargain I've ever found

Here is the story of a man who wouldn't take something for nothing: 1840 Hickroot Road, Cleveland, Ohio. Larus & Bro. Company, Richmond, Virginia.

About a year ago, in Richmond on a business trip, I was fortunate enough to be allowed to go through the factory where you manufacture Edgeworth Tobacco. Until that time I had supposed that tobacco manufacture was a comparatively simple operation, and I was very much impressed by seeing how carefully you choose the best tobacco used in Edgeworth, how strictly you blend and treat the various kinds of leaves, how scrupulously clean your factory is kept.

During my visit I helped myself to a can of Edgeworth from a pile on one of the packing tables. I'm guessing it costs to pay for that tin, I know you'd have been glad to give it to me, but I want to pay for it because I consider it the best tobacco-bargain I've ever found.

Well, I smoked that package of Edgeworth from your factory and, to be brief, it suited me down to the ground. It was a real find. I've stuck to Edgeworth since that time and so far I've failed to notice any of the bad qualities that bothered me in other tobaccos. Several of my friends also have adopted Edgeworth on my recommendation, and they're as enthusiastic about it as I am.

Yours very truly, [Signed] Edward A. Evans.

We can add nothing to such a recommendation. Would you like to learn if Edgeworth would suit you as perfectly? It may not—or it may.

Illustration of Edgeworth Ready-Rubbed tobacco packs and a plug slice.

Just drop us a post-card bearing your name and address, also those of the store where you buy most of your tobacco. We will send you samples of Edgeworth in both forms—Plug Slice and Ready-Rubbed.

Edgeworth Plug Slice consists of flat cakes made up of a large number of thin, oblong slices. One slice rubbed between the palms of your hands, furnishes an average pipeful.

Edgeworth Ready-Rubbed is the same tobacco already rubbed up for you and in form to pour right into the bowl of your pipe. Both kinds pack nicely, light quickly, and burn freely and evenly to the very bottom of the pipe.

Edgeworth is sold in various sizes to suit the needs and means of all purchasers. Both Edgeworth Plug Slice and Edgeworth Ready-Rubbed are packed in small, pocket-size packages, in handsome tin humidor and glass jars, and also in various handy in-between quantities. Normal Auditorium Will Be Center of Culture

NEW HESKELD AUDITORIUM, NORMAL UNIVERSITY.

The new auditorium of the New Mexico Normal University, now under construction at Las Vegas, will be one of the most handsome structures in the Southwest. It will fill a pressing need, for the school long ago outgrew the quarters used for assembly purposes, and was obliged to use a theater.

Provision has been made for installation of a large pipe organ; the stage will accommodate the largest musical and dramatic productions, and it is the plan of President John H. Wagner and the board of regents to use the building's facilities to arouse the interest of the students in music, art, dramatics and oratory, and thus make the Normal University a center of culture.

The building is 153 feet long by 73 feet wide, of beautiful Romanesque architecture to match the main school building. It is of beautiful Las Vegas brown sandstone and St. Louis hydraulic tapestry brick; interior finish will be of birch.

Following are details: Seating capacity, 2,000; size of stage, 30 feet by 70 feet by 48 feet in height, with proscenium arch 24 feet wide by 22 feet high; dressing rooms, large and convenient, below stage; lobby, large and beautiful, with two entrances to ambulatories and with retiring rooms, coat rooms, storage closets and ticket office opening from lobby; foyers. Heating system, low-pressure steam. Ventilation, fan blower system.

Present contract provides for enclosing building, including doors and windows, to cost approximately $112,000. Total cost estimated at $125,000. Amount needed to complete, about $43,000, exclusive of Charles Hild's gift of $25,000, and other gifts. It is believed the state will appropriate the money for completion, realizing the importance of the structure to the school's development. In the meantime, the regents and Las Vegas citizens are working on plans for immediate completion, anticipating the state's aid, so that the building may be used during the 1922 summer school.

Our services last Sunday were well attended. In the evening the pastor preached on the "Prodigal Son, Lev. 15: 18. The prodigal was presented as typical of the sinner in spending his substance in a selfish and sinful way and coming to poverty. He fed himself on the husks which did not satisfy his hunger. His return home is typical of the sinner coming to God with a ruined life. The prodigal son did not wait to dress up—he could not do that. He came just as he was, in his rags. So the sinners must come to God, and God does the dressing up; a robe for his back, shoes for his feet, a ring for his fingers and the fatted calf to satisfy his hunger. There was complete forgiveness without any question as to his sinful life.

We desire to express our hearty thanks to members of other churches for their faithful co-operation in our recent series of meetings.

We cordially invite the public to all our services.

AUTOMOBILE OWNERS TAKE NOTICE

I find that a great many automobile owners in Lincoln county have not yet made application for their 1922 license, and it is my duty as sheriff to remind them of the fact that the law is strict, and requires me to apprehend the owners of all cars that do not bear a 1922 license plate. It is an offense punishable by a fine of every day the car is operated without a separate license. I am my duty to apprehend any owner of this nature, but I will not do so unless you make it my duty. I will advise you by calling at my office.
