RUSSIA'S GREEDY DEMANDS

France Threatens Independent Action Against Germany and Lloyd George is Angry—Centenary of General Grant's Birth Celebrated—Great Battle Impends in China.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
Russia may be forced to quit the economic conference at Genoa, France, which is becoming more and more dissatisfied with the way things are going there, may withdraw her delegates.

With true Oriental wit, the Russians are bargaining with the other powers and last week succeeded in bringing about a deadlock. To end this condition the representatives of the big and little nations and Portugal drew up what amounted to an ultimatum, warning the soviet delegates that if they would not accept the propositions made to them, the Russian phase of the conference would come to an end.

It is stated here is what the Russians proposed: First, the powers must recognize the soviet government de jure, and must grant it sufficient loans to enable Russia to reorganize her post-war debts, but demands a thirty years' moratorium on these, with cancellation of arrears of interest and of interest during the moratorium. Russia also demands her claims against the powers due to the anti-Bolshevik campaign and in return expects that her war debts to other powers will be "written down" 100 per cent. Russia refuses to restore confiscated property because this is contrary to their policy of nationalization, but claims Russians have the right to possess property in foreign countries which are under a bourgeois regime. In short, Russia would take all and give nothing.

Though the British declared some sort of a settlement with the Russians must be made, M. Barthou, chairman of the committee handling the matter, abruptly called a halt to further discussion of the Russian debt. The French, backed by their government, were absolutely opposed to recognizing the soviet government and to granting it credits, and, according to dispatches from Paris, Japan would support them in this stand, and probably also Belgium, Hungary, Poland, Serbia, Rumania and Czechoslovakia.

This only increased the widening breach between France and Great Britain, and each predicted that the policy of the other would lead to another war. They agreed that this would result from a combining of Russia and Germany. The German delegates had accepted the command to keep out of the discussion of Russian affairs because of their separate treaty with Moscow, but this was not enough. The Russian delegates were enraged by the fact that Poland joined in this disciplinary measure and in the note signed by eleven of the powers reserving the right to declare null and void any clauses of the Rapallo pact held to be in violation of the treaty of Versailles or any other treaty. In a note to the Poles, the Russians declared that the soviet government could in no case permit treaties made by it to depend for their validity on the action of powers not signatory. Considering that Russia has powerful forces stationed in the Polish frontier, the language of the note was taken to carry a distinct threat of hostilities against Poland, as well as a warning to all the powers.

Certainly alone to see that the treaty of Versailles is executed if the Germans default in their reparations payments, intimating that French troops will be on the march on May 31 unless by that date Germany has accepted the conditions laid down by the reparations commission. The premier declared he ardently hoped for the cooperation of the allies in case Germany defaulted, "but, according to the terms of the treaty," he added, "each may, in case of need, take, respectively, such measures as are deemed necessary."

This also stirred Lloyd George to wrath, because the statement was made without consulting the allies. Said he: "The matter is not connected with Genoa, but French opinion anxiously and excitedly believes that the Russo-German agreement is the outcome of this conference. That idea is being fostered in France by serious misstatements to the French by certain English newspapers—the reference being to Lord Northcliffe's press."

To meet the situation, the British asked a meeting in Genoa of the powers signatory to the Versailles treaty to discuss measures to be taken if Germany does not meet the reparations commission's demands by May 31. Premier Poincare objects to this plan.

LOYD GEORGE seems honestly determined both to preserve the peace of Europe and to satisfy the trade demands of the British, which latter are thus expressed by Lord Chancellor Birkenhead: "England's desperate economic condition, her dependence upon world trade as the only means of sustaining her life blood, make imperative the resumption of political and commercial relations with soviet Russia—whatever the character of the government the Russians choose to adopt." In his eagerness for these results, and perhaps coerced by political conditions at home, the premier lays on France the blame for the threatened failure of the conference; and he is valiantly supported in that by the English financial "expert," John Maynard Keynes, who, according to the Paris press, is in the pay of a group of Berlin bankers. At this distance one is rather inclined to accept the view of the New York Tribune, which says: "The Francophobes and the Teutophiles are the real factor threatening disruption at Genoa."

Berlin dispatches say diplomatic relations between Germany and Russia will be resumed at once. Prof. A. Bernhard Wiedenfeld will be the German ambassador in Moscow and Leonid Krauskin the Russian ambassador in Berlin.

THE hundredth anniversary of the birth of Ulysses S. Grant was observed on Thursday in his birthplace, Point Pleasant, O.; in Washington and in many other places throughout the country. President Harding went to the Ohio town with a large party of prominent men and women, viewed what is left there of the house in which the soldier-president was born, and then delivered an address which was "broadcast" over the land by radio. In the national capital all government business halted while an immense throng gathered in the Botanic gardens to witness the dedication of the magnificent Grant memorial, which is virtually completed after 15 years' work. Vice President Coolidge and Secretary Weeks made the chief addresses, and the memorial was unveiled by Princess Cantacuzene, granddaughter, and Princess Ida Cantacuzene, great-granddaughter of General Grant.

UNLESS President Hsu Shih Chang is able to avert it by his appeal, the impending civil war in China is soon to ensue in what will probably be the greatest battle that country has had in many years. The big armies of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek and Wu Pei-fei are prepared for the conflict, near Peking. The president has called on them both to withdraw from that vicinity and from (Jihli) province and to send mediators for adjustment of their differences. The acting premier has asked the governor of each of the 18 provinces to send to Peking a commissioner to devise measures to rid the country of the war, which are now the largest in the history of China. MICHAEL COLLINS, head of the Irish Free State, recently accused the Ulster government of failing to live up to the peace agreement. This Sir James Craig indignantly denied in words that lead observers to believe a direct break has come. Sir James said that, notwithstanding the undertakings, armed incursions across the Ulster border continued and the border outrages have had a deplorable effect. He declared Sinn Feiners had committed outrages against the property of Ulster Catholics to intimidate those who were anxious to work in harmony with the northern government.

Fighting between the Free State forces and the "rebels" reached the proportions of a real battle on Thursday at Mullingar. The regulars captured the town, Dail Eireann met in Dublin and heard reports from the provisional ministers, who severely scored the element fighting the provisional government. De Valera was there, but had little to say. His followers, it was said, smiled and chuckled at the arraignment of the "rebels," who were accused of many robberies, train wrecks and other crimes. The Irish Catholic bishops issued a statement strongly indorsing the treaty with England, and unequivocally condemning republican militarism.

WARNED by Senator Watson that it would be futile to consider the house soldiers' bonus bill because the President would certainly veto it—no had just been talking with Mr. Harding—the Republican members of the senate finance committee last week began consideration of a new bill formulated by Senator McCumber. Its outstanding feature is that it would require an outlay next year estimated at $100,000,000, as compared with the Treasury department's estimate of $300,000,000 required by the house bill. Representatives of the American Legion were consulted, but seemed to prefer the house measure.

AN AFTERMATH of the West Virginia coal field war of 1921, the trial of nine miners' union officials and members on charges of treason, has opened in Charles Town, W. Va. The most prominent of the defendants are C. Frank Keeney, president, and Frank Mooney, secretary of district 17. Forty-four others are accused of treason and many others of murder and conspiracy. Some of these have not been arrested and some have obtained change of venue. After motions to quash the indictments had been denied the court ruled for separate trials and William Blizard, known as "general of the march against Logan," was selected as the first defendant.

PRESIDENT HARDING is working out a plan for settling the coal strike and preventing future strikes, and which he hopes will serve to stabilize the industry. Details of the scheme have not been given out, but it is known that it does not include federal supervision of the coal industry, but provides for a standing commission empowered to deal with wage issues and other disputes as they arise.

FEDERAL aid for the upbuilding and development of the American merchant marine is given approval by the American Farm Bureau Federation, which has wired President Harding as follows:

"While opposed to any subsidy on principle, we realize the necessity for developing the American merchant marine as naval auxiliary and as an agent in the development of foreign trade. We approve aid temporarily until our flag can be established on the high seas, but no longer. Subsidies, like tariffs, should be flexible, and not continue after industry becomes self-supporting. If subsidy is supported on naval grounds it is essential that merchant ships be available and used for training of naval reserves."

Just now our merchant marine is engaged in a bitter race with the Liverpool & Black Sea of Great Britain, which stands possessing rates in South America. Chairman Lester of

HARDIN PUT BACK ON HIS FEET TWICE

Was Relieved of Both Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble by Tanlac, States Los Angeles Man.

"For the second time Tanlac has put me on my feet, and you may know by that what I think of it," said William T. Hardin, 1400 Garden St., Los Angeles, Calif.

"Three years ago, I had rheumatism in my shoulders and neck so bad I could hardly work. I tried medicine after medicine only to get worse, but finally I got hold of Tanlac, and I haven't had a trace of rheumatism since."

"Then last summer my stomach got out of order, I lost my appetite and what little I did eat made me feel bloated, all-stuffed up and miserable. I always felt weak, tired and worn out, and was so nervous I couldn't sleep."

"Well, Tanlac did a good job for me before, so I just got some more of it, and now it has again fixed me up, and I'm feeling strong and energetic like I used to. I'll tell the world Tanlac's the medicine for me."

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper. Advertisement.

Braille Type Most Popular

Work of Schools for the Blind is Simplified by Adoption of Uniform System.

DOTS TAKE PLACE OF LINES

Enables Blind to Receive Training Through Which They May Become Self-Supporting—Many Books Published.

New York.—The Braille system of embossed type has now been adopted by all schools for the blind in this country, and since 1910 no new book has been embossed in any other type. Dozens of embossed types for reading by the finger have been designed from time to time; the first practical one was devised in France 130 years ago by Valentin Haüy. Three systems retained popularity for many years, but as this made it necessary for the blind to learn three different types, the leading educators of the country decided to make one system universal, and unanimously decided on the Braille.

Much ingenuity, effort and money have been expended in devising these systems to enable the blind to read and receive training through which they may become self-supporting. All may be divided into two groups—those composed of lines and those composed of points. In general the line types, which came first, were imitations of characters that had survived as best adapted to reading by the eye.

The point types, the characters of which are merely different arrangements and numbers of similar points or dots, represent arbitrary systems justified both as being generally more tangible than the lines, and as being writable as well as readable by the blind themselves. The point systems have gradually driven out the line types, with the exception of the Moon type, which is so large and coarse that anybody having the least patience can learn to read with the finger.

Agreed on a Midway Type. The type adopted is called the Revised Braille, 1 1/2, as the British have been using this type in two forms, one in full spelling and other highly contracted with many arbitrary abbreviations. As textbooks and literature should be models of good usage, the leading educators of the blind in this country agreed on a type between the two. This American grade is a simplified type and can be read by anyone who knows either type.

The music notations for the blind are now the same everywhere, as are the mathematical and the chemical notations wherever English is used. In this way duplication of scores and tables may be avoided through international exchange. Already 208 different books have been published in this uniform type. The printing of embossed books for the blind began with the founding of the first school in this country in 1820.

Books were made as funds were available until 1870, when congress granted the American Printing House for the Blind at Louisville an annual subsidy of $10,000. This house at once became the greatest producer of its kind in the world, and continued to be such into the present century, when the number of blind pupils in the schools drawing upon this source for books had more than doubled.

The cost of production and the increase in demand eventually made the output of this house insufficient, and in the emergency several of the schools put up emergency printing presses and assisted one another. One endowed enterprise set about manufacturing writing appliances and table games for the blind and selling them at less than cost. In 1910, however, congress increased its grant to the American Printing House from $10,000 to $50,000, which made possible the enlargement and improvement of the plant and the increase in the number of books to each school.

Spreading Knowledge. In a report on the work to educate the blind and distribute books among them, Edgar E. Allen, director of the Perkins Institute and Massachusetts School for the Blind, writes:

"Most schools are glad to circulate their embossed books beyond their own pupils and do so as far as they can. But the reading hunger of the blind outside of institutions is chiefly satisfied by circulating libraries located here and there throughout the country. Libraries and schools interested have collected much literature, and some authors have been induced to meet the cost of publishing a book or two in Braille.

"By far the largest number of blind and partly blind pupils in the United States, as elsewhere, attend the residential schools commonly called institutions. There are now 45 such schools, with a total attendance of about 5,000. The day-school movement started in Chicago considered all its pupils blind, and taught them as such for years until in a few cities certain of the semi-blind were segregated and taught as semi-sighted pupils, chiefly through the eye instead of the fingers.

"The movement for such segregation is scientifically correct, and represents a great educational advance in the proper methods of reaching children not suffering from blindness but from seriously defective eyesight."

Bankrupt Town Sold.

Portland, Me.—The sale of a town was contained in a Federal court order recently when Judge W. B. Shepard consented to the acceptance of the $6,500 bid of F. G. Blu of Chicago for the assets of the Town of Valparaiso, which has been in litigation for some time. There were two bids, the one coming from an association of unit holders, who were unable to present before bank closing hour the required certified check for $5,000. The other bid was in cash. The bankrupt town is in the southern part of Okaloosa county.

ANCIENT SCRIPT IS FOUND IN WEST

Writing Similar to Chinese Discovered in Idaho.

Scientists Will Explore Caves and Decipher the Writing Before Revealing Location—May Find Valuable Relics.

Bolse, Idaho.—Symbols and signs, chiseled, it is believed, ages ago, were discovered recently on lava rocks in a remote section of Owyhee county, southwestern Idaho. Many of the inscriptions bear striking resemblance to Chinese alphabet characters of today, it was said, although archeologists say they may be anywhere from 400 to 20,000 years old.

Discovery of the inscriptions, which are said to be a mine of archeological treasure, was made by Robert Lambert, a Boise taxidermist. Their exact location will not be made public until they are examined thoroughly this summer by a number of scientists who are coming here.

The volcanic rock on which the inscriptions are carved is scattered over a 30-acre sagebrush flat. In the immediate vicinity are several large caves, around the entrance of which the rocks also are inscribed. It is believed these caves never have been explored. Possibly, it is said, they contain many relics of scientific value. Two distinct types of carvings, ideographic and pictographic, have been noted. Archeologists believe the ideographic antedates by many years the pictographic. Both systems have been found together on one rock and near them can be discerned what appears to be a third system, supposed to antedate both of the others, but which has weathered beyond possibility of deciphering.

Clear bits of this prehistoric writing are found on one huge water-worn boulder 25 feet long, 14 feet wide and 5 feet high. Near the center is a series of triangles believed to indicate Indian tepees, and next to them are rows of dots and dashes, thought to be numerals.

Resemblance of many of the inscriptions to the characters of the Chinese alphabet was taken by some to substantiate the theory that the North American native descended from a race which came from Asia by way of Bering straits.

Indians now living in Idaho, when questioned regarding the carvings, say the more modern or pictographic are the work of their forefathers, but they assert the others to be the work of spirits.

ARMENIA BADLY IN NEED OF FOOD

Supply Is Exhausted, American Relief Workers Report.

Bread Is Made From all Sorts of Substances—Break-up of Winter Reveals Terrible Conditions—Seed Grain Needed.

New York.—A cablegram received by Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of Near East Relief, dated Alexandropol, tells of how investigation by American relief workers has revealed terrible starvation among refugees and orphans with the break-up of winter in the mountain villages of central Armenia.

Foodstuffs throughout the area are exhausted, the cable says, and conditions are being made from all sorts of spring planting. The head man of the largest village said: "If we can secure seed we shall be on our feet by mid-summer. If we don't get seed we are doomed to death."

Near East Relief has sixty American relief administrators, doctors and nurses in this area. During the winter, however, their supplies and resources have been so reduced that they have been able to do little more than care for the large number of orphans already accepted in institutions, a single orphanage numbering 18,000 children. Secretary Vickrey declares that not only the lives of the orphaned children this spring, but the food supply for the entire population next winter depends on the prompt dispatch within the next few weeks of grain for food and seed from the United States.

GOOD THINGS YOU WILL ENJOY

A nice small cake which will keep until used is the following:

Nut Macaroons.—Take two well beaten eggs, one cupful of butter, two cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of milk, one cupful of rolled or coarsely chopped nuts, two cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of almond extract, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and rolled oats to stiffen. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a baking sheet. Try one before baking them all; add more rolled oats if too thin. The cakes will be more tasty if the rolled oats are slightly browned and ground before using. Peanuts may be used, but they will not stay fresh as long as other nuts.

White Fruit Cake.—Take four eggs, two cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of butter, one cupful each of seeded raisins and sultana raisins, one cupful of currants, one-half cupful of citron cut in thin slices, three-fourths of a cupful of milk, one small nutmeg grated, two teaspoonfuls of vanilla, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and flour to make a stiff batter. Cream the butter and sugar with two tablespoonfuls of the milk, add the well beaten eggs, warm the fruit and mix with a little flour; sift the flour with the baking powder, add the grated nutmeg and mix all the ingredients well. Pour into a well-buttered and paper-lined cake tin and bake in a slow oven two and one-quarter hours.

Jellied Veal.—Take a large knuckle of veal, cover with boiling water; add eight cloves, six pepper corns, small bits of nutmeg, three bay leaves, salt and a clove of garlic. Cook until the meat falls from the bones, or is tender. Remove the meat and cut in small cubes. Cover the bones with cold water and boil up; pour off the liquid when it is reduced to about three cupfuls. Cover the bones and all gristle again with cold water and give them a good long boil. Add pepper, salt and a little into moule, add some meat and when it is set add more of the gelatin, keeping the mixture over hot water so that it will not become firm. By only half filling the moulds the meat is better distributed, then when firm add more until all is used.

Shepherd's Pie.—Cover the bottom of a well greased baking dish with meat cut in small pieces and gravy. Over the top spread mashed potatoes, sprinkle with paprika and dot with bits of fat. Put into a hot oven and cook until a deep brown.

As aromatic plants bestow No spicy fragrance where they grow; But crushed or trodden to the ground, Diffuse their balmy sweets around. —Goldsmith.

SOUR CREAM AND MILK

The value of sour milk and the buttermilk diet as a bacteria destroyer is well known. Considered from the point of economy, as well as wholesomeness, sour milk is a great food. For the light and tender waffle and griddle, cake there is no liquid equal to the sour milk and cream. Sour milk as a poultry food is too well known to speak about and the preparation of sour milk with fruit juice and sugar for a frozen dish is especially cooling in hot weather. Try this when the hot days make you long for a cooling dessert.

Orange-Pineapple Lacto.—Shred a ripe pineapple with a fork, after peeling it and removing eyes. Slice oranges very thin, using one cupful of prepared fruit to one quart of sour milk and two cupfuls of sugar. Beat the whites and yolks of two eggs and when the ingredients are well mixed freeze as any ice cream.

Southern Spoon Bread.—To one pint of white corn meal add a tablespoonful of lard, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and mix with water to a smooth paste, using warm water, which swells the meal—boiling water would spoil it. Add a beaten egg to the paste, the white and yolk beaten separately, then one cupful of buttermilk or sour milk and one-half teaspoonful of soda. Beat the batter until very smooth and light and pour into a hot, well-greased granite pan and bake in a hot oven. Serve from the pan.

All sorts of cakes and cookies, gingerbread and biscuits are made with sour milk, buttermilk or cream. Doughnuts and cakes have a different flavor keep moist longer and are more wholesome when made with them.

Quick Brown Bread.—Take one-half cupful of New Orleans molasses, one pint of sour milk, one teaspoonful of soda, three cupfuls of graham flour and one teaspoonful of salt. Beat well and bake in a moderate oven until a light brown.

Buttermilk cheese is delicious. Heat the milk in a double boiler, drain the curd, adding salt and pepper. The milk if rich will supply enough fat,

WIDER HIGHWAYS WIN FAVOR

Originally Engineers Considered 10-Foot Roadway Adequate—Now Urge 20 Feet.

Former Superintendent of Illinois Highways S. E. Brandt of DeKalb, Ill., who has done much to boost the good roads movement in his state, says engineers originally considered a 10-foot highway adequate to meet the needs of traffic between populous centers.

Then they learned the folly of this contention and boosted the width. It was finally made 16 feet. Roads are being built 19 feet in width and now come prominent engineers advocating a 20-foot highway. The shoulder maintenance is a prominent factor entering into this problem. The upkeep of a shoulder usually exceeds the original cost of the extra two feet of pavement, it has been learned by experience. For this reason highway experts are going on record advocating the wider pavement for trunk line highways. The upkeep of shoulders is very high, especially where there is heavy truck traffic.

PAVED ROADS AND DAIRYING

As More Improved Highways Are Constructed Milk Routes Are Being Extended.

Paved roads and dairying go hand in hand. As more improved roads are constructed, milk routes are extended and the farmer farther from the city is provided with a market for his milk. Over unimproved routes requiring wagon delivery, the longest route possible is only approximately 15 miles while over paved highways, traveled by motortrucks, routes covering as high as 40 miles are established. Large areas of prospective dairy country are waiting only the construction of more hard surfaced roads. When these are built, many more farmers, now cut off from their market, will receive the benefit of the economical and rapid transportation made possible by the motortruck and the paved highway.

HIGHWAYS ON PACIFIC COAST

Various Western States and Government to Spend Immense Sum for Road Improvements.

Twenty million dollars, the largest amount of money expended in one year on the Pacific coast by the federal government on state highways and post roads, is to be spent during this season. The western states, Washington, Oregon, California, Wyoming, Colorado, Montana, Idaho, Nevada, Utah, Arizona and New Mexico will expend the same amount. Many of the roads will be 20 feet wide and of concrete six inches thick, much heavier than highways built by the states heretofore.

Benefits of Good Roads.

Good roads in the country will do more to lower the high cost of living and more for the prosperity, comfort, culture and happiness of the people than things fought over in 12 presidential campaigns.

Good of Motortruck Lines. The establishment of motor truck lines will be a great farming asset.

WHY THAT BAD BACK?

Does spring find you miserable with an aching back? Do you feel lame, stiff, tired, nervous and depressed? Isn't it time then, you found out why you are unable to enjoy these fine spring days? Likely your kidneys have weakened. Winter is hard on the kidneys. Colds and chills and a heavier diet with less exercise tax them heavily. It's a little wonder spring finds you with backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and bladder irregularities. But don't be discouraged. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

A Colorado Case

Mrs. A. G. McNally, House No. 81, Walsen Camp, Walsenburg, Colo., says: "I was suffering from a piercing pain across my kidneys and my back was weak. My head ached and often my sight became dim. I tried many remedies but when I started Doan's Kidney Pills soon cured me of the pain across my kidneys and I have had no return of the trouble."

Golden Pennies.

Sir Robert Hoare's forecast of a return of the gold sovereign to common circulation may recall that the first regular gold piece struck in England was a penny. This became part of the currency in 1257, and weighed about 45 grains, being the equivalent of 20 of the contemporary silver pennies. Its prototype was the bezant, a gold piece belonging to Byzantium, which had been current for centuries, but the English penny was a far better executed coin than its original. It appeared but once in our coinage and only two or three examples have survived. No one in England will be sorry for the disappearance of the paper currency of war times. Montreal Family Herald

Cowboys Reunion

(By Arroyo Peter)
Las Vegas, N. M., May 7—
"We want our convention at Las Vegas when you pull that big Reunion of yours."

Such was the message the F. P. Highway Association of Texas delivered across the Panhandle plains to the Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce.

All of which means a 1600 strong Texas to attend the big Cowboy Show to be held here June 3, 4, 5.

The problem of bedding down this outfit will be plumb easy with a leader fingers that the "Long Horn" boys is going to be along camp outfits in their flower outfits.

The Post Worth, Farwell and Pease Highway extends from Lincoln County through 10 Texas counties to the Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce. From Las Vegas it branches to the Ocean trail to San Francisco.

Pains Were Terrific

Read how Mrs. Albert Gregory, of R. F. D. No. 1, Glencoe, N. M., got rid of her lles. "During... I was awfully weak. My pains were terrific. I thought I would die. The bearing-down pains were actually so severe I could not stand the pressure of my hands on the lower part of my stomach... I simply felt as if life was for but a short time. My husband was worried... One evening, while reading the Birthday Almanac, he came across a case similar to mine, and went straight for some Cardui for me to try.

"I took it faithfully and the results were immediate," adds Mrs. Gregory. "I continued to get better, all my lles left me, and I went through... with no further trouble. My baby was fat and strong, and myself—thank God—an once more hale and hearty, can walk miles, do my work, though 44 years old, feel like a new person. All I owe to Cardui." For many years Cardui has been found helpful in building up the system when run down by disorders peculiar to women.

The State University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, announces a six weeks, summer school session beginning June 10th.

A comedy entitled "A Deal in Ducks" will be presented by the pupils of the Corona schools in the school gymnasium on the 19th at eight o'clock.

Mrs. M. L. Blaney addressed the eighth grade graduates of the Nogal Mesa school Thursday evening May 11th, on the "Relation of Cheerfulness to Success."

A complete list of the eighth grade graduates of the county will be given at the close of the school year.

Nogal school closes May 19th. There are no eighth graders this year, in this school, but a large class is in line for next year.

The Carrizozo school has a very interesting program for next week.

School directors are advised not to sign contracts with teachers until notified by the county board of education as to salary schedule, which will be mailed as soon as possible.

A Social

A social was given by the Baptist church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Haines Tuesday evening. The house was crowded with guests, mostly young people. Games and music were engaged in to the delight of all present. Among the most interesting games was one of baseball, played without bat or ball. At a late hour the party dispersed, all

On a Visit to the Coast

Mrs. Frances McDonald left last Saturday morning for Hollywood, California, for a visit with her children on the coast. She was accompanied by Grandpa Tarbell, her father, who, though approaching the century mark, is as bright-minded and as active as most men a quarter of a century younger, and a very interesting character. While anticipating a pleasant trip, yet the old gentleman said—and he has seen most of the United States—that this state is the best in the Union from a climatic standpoint, and that everything is more satisfactory here than in any other state he has lived in during his ninety-five summers. The winters mild, the summers cool and the altitude—a mile above sea level—about the right elevation for a person of his age, whose heart action is naturally slowing up. They expect to return about October.

Met with Accident

A. C. Climer, one of the local section foreman, met with a painful accident last week that laid him up for several days. While superintending the unloading of some bridge timbers he was struck by a large timber, knocked down and the timber landed on top of him. He was painfully bruised about the back and side but is now able to be up and around. Mrs. Climer was also ill at the time of the accident, and the other members of the household were kept busy administering to sick and injured.

To Every Employer In New Mexico

THE work of the state department of industrial rehabilitation is to find men and women partially disabled, train them for jobs they are physically and mentally able to fill and then find them the jobs.

To be carried on efficiently this work must have the co-operation of every employer in New Mexico, large and small. This department must be informed of your needs if it is to fill them properly.

The people who come under our jurisdiction do not seek alms, pensions or soft snaps. In other states they have proven to be willing workers of the highest type. The training we give them is practical—can be carried on in your own business at no expense to you—if you see fit—until you pronounce them thoroughly trained.

Can your books be kept by a man or woman able to work part time every day? Can you use a worker who hasn't all his fingers—if he is properly trained for the job? Do you need a highly trained man or woman for any position?

By co-operating with us you can find just the right person for the right job—and do a humanitarian service at the same time. If you know of any jobs or positions—no matter how responsible or how unimportant they are—open to people of the right training and ability, communicate with us.

D. W. ROCKEY,

State Supervisor of Industrial Rehabilitation, Department of Education,
Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Cashed Bad Check

Lee Corn and a companion were arrested Tuesday evening near Aucho by Sheriff Harris on the charge of forging a check. The check in question was drawn on a Magdalena bank for $278. It was presented to Mr. Lutz of the Trading Company and an advance of $55 made on the check, with the understanding that full payment would be made upon a verification of the check by the Magdalena bank. When the reply from the bank was received, it denounced the check as a forgery, and requested the apprehension of the person who presented it.

In the meantime Corn and his companion had left town, and the sheriff struck their trail and overhauled them near Aucho. They were given a hearing before Justice Watmore. Corn entered a plea of guilty and was bound over in the sum of $1000 to await the action of the grand jury.
Corn's companion was released, as it was shown he had nothing to do with the transaction. All the money advanced on the check was recovered save about three dollars.

"Theodora"

The above is the title of a picture that will be shown at the Crystal theatre May 24 and 25.
It is based on Sardou's famous romance, and, as it portrays the Roman Empire of which Theodora was Empress, it contains, perhaps, the greatest number of characters of any picture ever filmed—said to be 25,000. Massive buildings, beautiful streets, unparalleled arena of the Romans are pictured in all their ancient grandeur; and the bloody sports of that period receive their share of attention, as well. Authorities claim for it the same of picturalization, and its presentation at the Crystal will be a great attraction.

Senator King, of Utah, says Beveridge, in the Indiana primaries last week, took the New out of Newberry. Incidentally, it might be added, he also took the starch out of the Harding Administration.

Senator McCumber is credited with having said that, at the rate the senate is now going, the tariff bill will pass in 1946. We hope the senator is right. We'd like to see the evil day postponed as long as possible.

Senator Newberry's victory in the retention of his seat has already proved disastrous to one of his supporters, and promises to unhorse a number of others. The American people will endure a great deal, but the time is past when they will set the seal of approval on the purchase of senate seats and the debauching of the electorate. It is quite evident that, if the Newberry affair caused the Man in the Moon to hold his nose when he passed over Washington, the olfactory nerves in this mundane sphere, also, came in contact with the unpleasant odor.

He says he has smoked more Edgeworth than any other living man

Let Mr. Baldwin's letter give you the facts, and you will see he has some justification for his claims.

H. F. BALDWIN Signs and Show Cards Cloth Bosses 80 Clark Street, Cor. Grant Burlington, Vermont

Larus & Brother Company Richmond, Va. Gentlemen:

I think that I am entitled to be called a charter member of the Edgeworth Society. As I have used the Edgeworth Plug since I was twenty and twenty-five years.

When I commenced using it I was selling hardware on the road. One of my customers who kept a general store told me that he had just received a new tobacco and wished that I would try it. He gave me a box for which he charged me five cents. He made a mistake, as it was selling at that time for fifty cents. I liked it so well that I made it a point to ask for it in every store in the different towns that I made, but few had it. The next time that I called on this customer I bought six boxes, which would last until I got around again. I still continued to ask for it in the different towns and tried to induce the dealers to stock it.

In 1896 or 1897 I went to So. Carolina and stayed there three years. I was surprised not to be able to get it there. At that time I was in Southport, S. C., and made frequent trips to Savannah, Ga., and Charleston, S. C., and was unable to get it in either of those cities. Finally I ordered some direct from you and also induced a dealer in Southport to stock it. I have used it always for over twenty years except occasionally when I could not get it. I figure that I have smoked over 1000 of the five cent boxes which have been for the last few years. For at least five years I have not bought a cigar. Have had some given to me, but they do not induce the pipe of the old pipe filled with Edgeworth.

I am sixty-one years of age and still think that it is the best tobacco on the market. I don't think there is a man living who has smoked any more Edgeworth than I. What do you think? Yours truly, (Signed) H. F. Baldwin

It is always pleasing to hear from old Edgeworth smokers, and we would like to know if this record is the best ever made.

But we are interested, too, in new Edgeworth smokers. We like to know that young men, men who are breaking in their first pipes, find Edgeworth before they get very far in their pipe-smoking careers.

So we have a standing invitation to send free samples of Edgeworth to all who ask for them. If you haven't tried Edgeworth, we have a sample package here containing Plug Slice and Ready-Rubbed that is only waiting for your name and address.

When you write for it, address Larus & Brother Company, 80 South Street, Richmond, Va.

To Retail Tobacco Merchants: If your jobber cannot supply you with Edgeworth, Larus & Brother Company will gladly send you prepaid by parcel post a one- or two-dozen carton of any size of Edgeworth Plug Slice or Ready-Rubbed for the same price you would pay the jobber.

Cost of "Eats."

The people of the United States spend more than $10,000,000 a day for food or nearly a billion and a half dollars a month. Nearly one-third of the money goes for bread, potatoes, fruits, sugar and other "grub" of a vegetable nature. More than two-thirds is spent for meat, fish, eggs, butter, cheese and lard. The average householder hands over to the butcher more than one-fifth of his income. The people of this country consume in a year two and a half billion eggs and nearly ten and a half billion gallons of milk. But a large part of the milk goes to make 1,000,000,000 pounds of butter, 400,000,000 pounds of cheese and 200,000,000 gallons of ice cream.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

owers that happened to be growing near the little stream which ran along by the conservatory.

Often the wild flowers had nodded to the hothouse flowers and some of them had bent a little in answer, but not the stately Calla Lily. She pretended she did not see them or their friendly nod.

And there was a reason for this, for Calla knew that Jack-in-the-Pulpit was a relative of hers—distant, to be sure, but still he was related—and if one stooped to look and compare Calla and Jack they would see at once a family resemblance.

Calla's dainty, waxlike cup resembles Jack's greenish-brown pulpit, and Calla's pretty, yellow, upright center resembles in shape Jack himself as he stands beneath the curved pulpit. And that was the reason Calla did not nod or notice the little wild flowers outside her glass home; she was afraid that some one would know that she and humble little Jack were cousins, for she supposed that Jack knew it and was bragging to the other wild flowers about it.

"They will be sure to tell it to some of the flowers standing near the door some day when the gardener leaves the door open."

The truth of the matter was that Jack knew nothing about the stately relative growing inside the hothouse, and if he had he would have pitied her, for he was quite happy and satisfied growing out in the air and light and would not have changed places with Calla for all her beauty and stately bearing.

He loved the woods and the moist spot where he grew and his friends that grew about him.

There were the sickle, late-coming wind-flowers; though they never tarried, Jack was always glad to see them and hear them prattle of the sights they expected to see, and their farewell flutters as they sailed away always made Jack glad he did not care to roam, as they did.

There were the wild Lilies-of-the-Valley; they were friends of Jack's also, and he felt they had much in common, for their name was as long as his; there were the birds and the trees, too. Jack was happy in his wild home and gave no thought to high-toned relatives.

But if Calla Lily had but known it there was another Jack not far from the one she could see from the window, of whom she had more to fear, for he bore much more striking resemblance to the stately Lily than the other Jack.

This second Jack-in-the-Pulpit had a green-white covering which looked very much like Calla's wax white cup, and if sometime you are in the place where the little Jacks grow and you look you may be fortunate enough to find this other Jack with the greenish-white pulpit, though this is not so common a variety as the dark-colored Jacks.

But you can be sure both Jacks would rather live in their airy, light homes in the woods than in the glass house where their stately cousin Calla Lily lives. (Copyright.)

CONVENTIONS

"DON'T you think it is perfectly splendid the way we are getting away from conventions?" a gushing young married woman asked the other day. "Why, my mother would have thought it was a disgrace to serve dinner without a table cloth and linen napkins, and she would have thought we were going to land in the poor house if we had had breakfast in the kitchen. But we have given up table cloth entirely, laundry is so expensive, and we never use anything but paper napkins. What's more, some of the most aristocratic people I know are having breakfast nooks in their kitchens and don't ever intend to have breakfast in the dining room. Isn't it perfectly wonderful?"

And, of course, I agreed that it was well that we could alter our customs to suit the times without actually lowering our standards. And she went on:

"And it is just the same with other things. Tom doesn't in the least mind having me have my men friends, and I suppose he keeps up with the girls he used to know. I go to dances without him if I choose and accept invitations from men to lunch—it is all part of this new disregard for conventions. It's just like paper napkins—mother would have been horrified at the idea of either, but mother wasn't advanced."

And I suppose that there are some other people who have this same hazy notion of the "conventions," but there really is a vast difference between the slight innovation that changes our precise mode of having breakfast or dinner, and another innovation that means a radical change in our notion of married life.

So we may change our manners with regard to shaking hands; we might give up hand shaking entirely, but that would not mean that we might change our basic ideas of friendship and loyalty toward our friends.

If you have the gift of thinking clearly you won't confuse these two sorts of unconventionality. (Copyright.)

Preparedness.

An Indianapolis druggist had been rather persistent in endeavoring to collect an account from a man whose credit was rather doubtful. A series of letters, each a little stronger in tone than the one that preceded it, finally brought a reply, as follows: "Dere Sirs—Be Pysshunt, I'd rather owe ye all my life than beet ye out of it. I ain't forgettin'. When them that owes me pays me you'll get somethin' not before. If ye want no more prepared to meet yore Maker jest now than I am to pay yore bill you shure as goin' to halifax in a hamba-bit."

Genuine Happiness.

"Colonel," the beautiful girl asked, "what was your happiest moment? I suppose it must have been when that medal was pinned on your chest, wasn't it?" "No," he replied, "it was night before last. I had tried to buy a ticket at the box office of one of the theaters but the man at the window told me there was nothing left. I then went to a broker and got a ticket by paying a dollar extra." "Oh. And did you like the show so much?" "Oh. The show wasn't any good, but I was happy. The house was less than half filled."

Weapons Laid Aside.

"Nobody tries to stop card playing in Crimson Gulch." "It's valuable for its social influence," replied Cactus Joe. "I thought friendship opened in a poker game?"

Dead—Old Man Credit

Saturday night, May 6th, A. D., 1922, Old Man Credit, the senior member of this firm, passed away. Cause of death—Overwork, the Trend of the Times.

Cash—Monday morning, May 8th, a new partner by the name of CASH AND SELL FOR LESS was taken into the firm as an equal partner by the members of this Corporation. This young man has all the "pep" and "go," and is the spirit of the year that we're living in.

To Our Friends

On Saturday, May 6th, we closed our credit books forever. Our reasons for doing this were not because we think the people of Lincoln county dishonest. On the contrary we have found them more than honest, and their word something to be relied upon.

But we believe that in changing our business into a strictly cash business we will be able to do business on at least a 10 per cent less basis, thereby enabling us to sell you the same goods for 10 per cent, and more, less than we have in the past.

We have not taken this step without taking into consideration everything, and we know you can use this ten per cent, if for nothing else you can buy more goods.

We know that this is only falling in line with what all the rest of the Large Business all over the country are now doing in their effort to bring the prices a little farther down.

All we ask is for you to come and see for yourself. Our slogan will be: "THE SAME GOODS FOR LESS MONEY."
