Washington News Letter

By Wallace Bassford
 (Special Correspondent)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14—For several years the average American family has been fighting and seeking to evade the encroachments of the high cost of living, has been economizing and pursuing the elusive bargain sale, mending, cleaning, patching and hoping for better days, when a dollar might be expected to buy a dollar's worth of food or clothing. Some material decreases have aroused a hope which the pending tariff bill is destined to destroy. The cost of living, which has been somewhat reduced, is about to take a turn upward. In the things we eat this will hardly be noticed, for the producer of things which grow out of the ground will get no more for his products by reason of the tariff, but in all of the manufactured articles the increases will be considerable. For every group and class of manufacturers there will be a tax levied on one class—the consumers. These unfortunates, in their capacity as consumers, will receive no benefits themselves but will from the pockets of the wool users, in tax and profits to manufacturers in addition to the tax that goes into the Treasury, about $310,000,000 per year. This is enough to stagger the man who is lying awake nights trying to figure out a way to make ends meet. It is well to remember that this new tax is laid under the excuse of increasing the prosperity of a class of men already prosperous, the big wool growers of a few western States incidentally and through the courage of Senator Caraway in exposing the personal interests of half a dozen western Republican Senators, it develops that the political control of these States, the Senate seats which they hold and hence the control of the Senate itself, are all involved in this new iniquity, a 33-cent duty on wool.

How the consuming public will view this new tariff bill, every schedule of which contains as great scandals as that involved in the wool tax, will hardly have time to make itself evident at the November election, as the rates will hardly be in operation before that time and consequently the burdens will not be realized, but following the passage of high tariff bills in the past the public reaction has been swift and effective for the time. But always, after a few years, the beneficiaries of the high tariff, trusting to the short memories of the people, again come back demanding more. In the days of Benjamin Harrison the Republican Congress passed the McKinley bill and was promptly driven from power. In 1892 Cleveland was elected on a pledge to reduce the tariff; the interests managed to defeat the will of the people in that respect and Cleveland was repudiated. Then followed the Dingley Bill and the Republicans were barely saved from defeat by the coming of the Spanish War. Then the Payne-Aldrich bill drove them out again. Will the Smoot bill prove a case of history repeating itself?

Cordell Hull says that the Democratic party faces the general election of 1922 with entire confidence and, just as soon as we can get our nerves under a little better control and feel able to look him squarely in the eye and not choke or stutter or anything, we are going to reply in our default way that we do too.

Senator Simmons describes the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill as a damn fool measure and our pastor says he rather envies a man who can clothe a sentiment in just the right words.

$40,000,000 for the Wool Growers, $33,000,000 for Treasury

Here are some figures concerning the 33 cents a pound tariff tax on clean wool, worth knowing and remembering. They are applied by Senator David I. Walsh (Dem., Mass.), who obtained them from the Federal Tariff Commission. According to the Tariff Commission the public treasury will gain about $33,000,000 a year, while the domestic wool-growers, headed by Senator Gooding (Rep., Idaho) will gain about $40,000,000 a year.

According to the Carded Wool Growers Manufacturers' Association the 33 cent tariff tax will amount to $1 a pound on the finished garment after passing through the hands of the middlemen. This means a tax on consumers of $200,000,000 a year. If no other form of profiteering is injected into the transaction, this will mean an increase of $2.50 on an ordinary suit of clothes; $3.50 on an overcoat and $5.50 on an ulster.

The Democratic Women Organize a Club

Mrs. Frances E. Nixon, vice chairman of the State Democratic Committee, was here Tuesday and Wednesday to organize a Woman's Democratic Club. She held a conference Tuesday afternoon with various committee members, state, county and precinct, and a meeting was arranged for 4:00 o'clock the next afternoon at the court house.

At the appointed hour a number of women assembled in the court room and Mrs. Nixon called the meeting to order and explained its purpose. Mrs. Lillie M. Scott was elected temporary chairman and Mrs. J. B. Dinwiddie secretary. The permanent officers chosen were:

Mrs. Paul Mayer, president; Mrs. Geo. B. Barber, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Eva S. Coldren, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Lotah Miller, parliamentarian.

The meeting adjourned till next Wednesday afternoon, at which time committees are to be appointed and other work of the organization completed.

have to contribute to the increased income of every man benefitted by this special class legislation. The new high tariff rates, always destructive in their past history, will again impoverish the buyers and thus take the market away from the sellers, who will consequently be unable to buy from manufacturers their wares for which there has come a diminished market, and when these things befall, less labor is required in the factories, hence general unemployment, hard times and all of the miseries attendant thereon. One of the worst iniquities of the Smoot bill is the wool tariff, laid upon the backs of more than one hundred millions of users of wool for the benefit of less than half a million growers of wool. The wool tariff which will add about forty millions to the pockets of the wool growers will take Railway Executives Refuse to Accept President's Plan as to Seniority.

STRIKE SETTLEMENT FAILS

Federal and State Control of Coal Distribution Gets Under Way—Chicago Tractor Workers Quit—Results of Some Interesting Primaries—France Warns Germany.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

NEGOTIATIONS for the ending of the railroad strike were at least temporarily halted again last week when the plan of President Harding failed of complete acceptance. Optimistic prophets of immediate peace were confounded.

As expressed by himself, the President's plan comprised these stipulations:

First—Railway managers and workmen are to agree to recognize the validity of all decisions of the railroad labor board and to faithfully carry out such decisions as contemplated by the law.

Second—The carriers will withdraw all lawsuits growing out of the strike and railroad labor board decisions which have been involved in the strike may be taken, in the exercise of recognized rights, by either party to a railroad labor board for rehearing.

Third—All employees now on strike to be returned to work and to their former positions with seniority and other rights unimpaired. The representatives of the carriers and the representatives of the organizations especially agree that there will be no discrimination by either party against the employees who did or did not strike.

The railway executives were the first to act on these proposals. They accepted the first; agreed to the second with the understanding that the strike be first called off and that the representatives of the strikers pledge themselves and the strikers against violence in any form against the men now at work and the property of the carriers; declared it was impossible for them to agree to the first sentence of the third proposal.

Having placed themselves in a strategic position by awaiting action by the executives, the representatives of the striking shopmen met in Chicago and voted, though with expressed reluctance, to accept the President's proposals. This was conditioned upon recognition of the union interpretation of the plan, which, among other things, would require the Pennsylvania railroad to abandon its fight for the open shop. The shop crafts also insist on the establishment of a national board of adjustment which would relieve the labor board of all disputes except those involving wages. Some roads have agreed to regional boards, but probably all of them are opposed to one national board which would prescribe uniform conditions regardless of needs of various localities.

Seemingly the rail executives are in dead earnest in their refusal to abandon their stand on seniority rights. They notified their local employees and other workers that they would be protected and guaranteed permanent employment, and went ahead with the task of fitting the pieces of the strikers. In New York it was said their decisive stand resulted in a rush of applicants for jobs. Public opinion is widely divided concerning this attitude of the railway executives. Many persons feel that it is only justice to the men who have remained at work and those who have responded to the call for workers to take up the tools the strikers laid down. Those who sympathize strongly with the demands of organized labor take the position that the action of the railway heads is a part of a campaign to destroy the union.

It was predicted in Washington that President Harding would do nothing in the matter at present, giving Congress an opportunity to open the road to some degree of activity.

without the services of the striking shopmen. Roads unable to do so, particularly carriers reaching into the producing bituminous fields, may be taken over and operated by the federal government.

PRESIDENT LEWIS' of the mine workers made a definite move for settlement of the coal strike by calling a joint wage conference of operators and miners of the central competitive bituminous field, to be held in Cleveland August 7. Unfortunately, the operators, or most of them, refused to attend.

Meanwhile Henry B. Spencer, who was appointed federal fuel distributor, and his committee and subcommittees began functioning actively. According to Mr. Spencer's plan, the federal organization will cover the distribution of available supplies among the railroads, federal institutions and states, and the governors of the states will handle local supplies. State fuel committees were called on to report at once the consumption of coal in their territories by utilities, industries and households and to submit a list of those who should receive priorities. These state committees are also made entirely responsible for the prevention of profiteering and extortion in the sale and distribution of coal within their respective states.

Governor McCray of Indiana took the most vigorous action yet reported in the matter of getting out coal. The miners of the state refused to issue permits to sufficient men to operate the mines for emergency purposes, so the governor opened two strip mines in Clay county under the protection of 800 state troops as a preliminary measure and declared a state of martial law to exist in that part of the county. These mines are in the hands of a receiver appointed by the federal court, and the governor called attention to the fact that this places the United States government behind them. Mr. McCray also called a conference of the governors of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Kentucky and Wisconsin. Governor Fries of Minnesota says the coal situation in the Northwest is more threatening than ever, and he has asked the governors of Iowa, Wisconsin and North and South Dakota to meet with him in St. Paul August 10. In Wisconsin the bottom of the coal bin is in sight and, at the request of the state fuel commission, all ornamental and display electric lighting has been discontinued.

CHICAGO'S street car strike came along according to schedule. Some 20,000 employees of the surface and elevated lines quit early Tuesday morning and no attempt was made to take the cars out of the yards. Motor vehicles of all descriptions were called into service and on the first day there was a terrific congestion of traffic. By Wednesday the police, motor clubs and individual motorists had worked out a system that brought the situation almost to normal, and many a Chicagoan began to wonder if the city couldn't get along without the noisy street and elevated cars. Also they learned the worth of one-way street regulations in the business center.

Toward the end of the week peace negotiations were resumed, but the local president of the employees said he saw no prospect for an early settlement. The men are fighting not only a proposed wage reduction, but a nine-hour day. Chances of an order by the state public utilities board reducing fares and politics enter into the Chicago situation, and it was frequently and openly asserted that the strike was a "put up job" to prevent the fare reduction and to deal a blow to Mayor Thompson and his organization. The mayor has long promised a 5-cent fare and last week tried to take steps toward the establishing of a municipal bus line to supplement the street cars.

AT THIS writing it appears probable that United States Senator James A. Reed has been renominated by the Democrats of Missouri, defeating Brookbridge Long in a fight that was hot and even bitter. Mr. Long had the support of former President Wilson, during whose administration he was assistant secretary of state. The feeling that Mr. Wilson and many others have for Reed dates from the years of the World war. The Republicans of Missouri nominated E. K. Browning of Kansas City for the senate.

In Kansas, W. Y. Morgan, Hutchinson editor, was leading former Gov. W. R. Stubbs for the Republican gubernatorial nomination when about 75 per cent of the returns were in. Phil Campbell, veteran member of congress from the Third district, failed of renomination. Senator Howard Sutherland was renominated by the Republicans of West Virginia.

Republicans of Iowa, in state convention at Des Moines, warmly endorsed the record of Senator Cummins and pointedly neglected to mention Smith W. Brookheart, the party nominee to succeed Cummins. This was pleasing to the Democrats, also in convention, and their candidate, Clyde L. Herring, predicted he would win without any Republican opposition.

GERMANY has been trying to postpone the payment of debts to French citizens contracted by Germans before the war, and last week France grew tired of this and brusquely notified Berlin that unless assurance of the payment of $10,000,000 by August 15 were received within four days France would impose penalties of an economic and financial character. It was stated in Paris that these penalties would include the seizure of such German industrial enterprises as are still tolerated in Alsace-Lorraine. It may be some industries in occupied Germany will be seized. A still more elaborate scheme was proposed by members of the French parliament to Premier Poincare. This is nothing less than the separation of the Rhineland from Germany, giving it a parliament and government and a financial regime supervised by the allies. All Franco-German officials would be ousted.

Great Britain sent a note to all the allies explaining that America's attitude concerning war debts made it necessary for Britain to collect from her debtors unless all the inter-allied indebtedness is canceled. The other European nations interpreted this as directed solely to America, and in Washington it was stated officially the note would cause no change in the policy of the United States toward its foreign debts.

Premier Poincare and members of his cabinet are in London this week, the date of the conference with Lloyd George having been advanced. Premier Thaelens and others of Belgium also are there. The general subject of reparations and war debts will be considered.

DOINGS of the Greeks in Turkey greatly disturbed the allies. First King Constantine formally asked permission to occupy Constantinople. This was probably "for home consumption," but the allies, much excited, refused the request and sent a lot of troops into Thrace, forcing the Greeks to withdraw to six miles from the Chatalia lines. Then Constantine suddenly proclaimed Smyrna and its hinterland an autonomous state under protection of the Greek army, declaring the occupied regions in Asia Minor should not be returned to Turkey. He thus upset the plans of the allies for a peace settlement between Greece and Turkey, possibly believing that in this way only can he keep the Greek people from again driving him from the throne.

ONE after another the strongholds of the Irish rebels in the south are being taken by the nationals, and the irregulars so far have not made a determined stand, despite the reported pleas of De Valera. World Union of Engineers Also Advocated in Line With Marconi's Suggestion of Promoting Peace Through Science.

Washington.—Establishment in central Europe of a great American university and library is urged by Dr. B. Stepanek, minister to the United States from Czechoslovakia, who, to advance international peace, calls upon the engineers of this and other countries for united participation in world affairs. Doctor Stepanek makes an appeal for the formation of a world federation of engineers, and for an international engineering conference to deal constructively with the problems of civilization.

Doctor Stepanek's views, made public by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, which, through its official journal, stresses the need of engineering solidarity among the leading nations, are regarded by engineers as a significant diplomatic utterance supporting the efforts now being made in America, Great Britain, France and Italy to bring about closer relations among engineers.

Closer Relations Among Engineers.

Award of the John Fritz medal to Senator Guglielmo Marconi has aroused fresh interest in the idea of a world union of engineers. Marconi's expressed hope of promoting peace through science coincides, it was said, with action to devise a working plan of international co-operation between the engineers of America and Italy.

John W. Lieb, vice president of the New York Edison company, has reported, after a trip to Italy, that Italian engineers are ready to form such an alliance. Herbert Hoover, Prof. Comfort A. Adams of Harvard university, Eugene Schneider of Paris and Sir Robert A. Hadfield of London are others who favored advancement of world peace through the united action of men of science. Actively backing the project also are the presidents of the American Society of Civil Engineers, American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the Federated American Engineering Societies.

Alfred D. Flinn, secretary of the engineering foundation and chairman of the engineering division of the National Research Council, indorses Doctor Stepanek's suggestions "that at an early date there should be an international conference of engineers, rather than of politicians and statesmen, bound by tradition and self-seeking nationalisms—a conference of constructively minded men who could

GEN. SUTTER REDIVIVUS

Even the most lynx-eyed of movie fans will hardly recognize Hobart Bosworth in this genuine, stock-stay-by-nature's-own-process beard. This is the way he looked as he stamped into the dining room in San Francisco, thumped his rifle butt on the floor, and invited the San Francisco Rotary club members, assembled at luncheon, to attend the "days of '49" celebration in Sacramento. He was in the role of General Sutter.

Professor Adams predicted that artificial distinctions between nations would be removed by engineering science. Removal of the barrier of distance, he said, is bringing nations so close together, and making them so interdependent, that intelligent co-operation will make war impossible. Racial and national antagonism, Professor Adams asserted, will give way to the progress of engineering science.

A TRUE RAT STORY

Auburntown, Tenn. June 22, 1922.

Dear Sir:

Mr. Robert T. Donnell of Auburntown, Tenn. came in our store the other day and wanted something to kill rats, so I sold him a box Stearns' Rat Paste. And he put some paste on his biscuits that night and the next morning he found fifty-four big rats. And the second night he put out four more biscuits with paste on them, and the second morning he found seventeen more rats, making a total of seventy-one rats in two nights, and there were lots more that he did not find. This is some big rat tale, but nevertheless it is so. I just thought would write to let you know that your rat paste is good.

Respectfully yours,
KENNEDY BROTHERS.

What Is It Worth to Change a Tire?

On the road changing a tire is not an especially pleasant task. The dust or mud, the grease and grime, the tedious delay—all are things we like to avoid. But the time to think about these things is when you buy the tire—not after the blow-out occurs. For some tires blow out much more easily than others. Outward appearance counts for little. It is the material in the tire and the construction of it that determines its strength. Goodyear recognizes these facts and all Goodyear Tires are made of long staple cotton. Take the 30 x 3 1/2 Cross Rib Clincher Tire here illustrated, for example. It is made of Arizona cotton, the fibres of which average 1 1/2 inches long. Many 30 x 3 1/2 clincher tires are made of short staple cotton from 3/4 inch to 1 1/4 inches long. This means less strength and greater danger of blow-outs—more tire troubles. Yet this high grade guaranteed Goodyear Tire costs only $10.95. You can buy some tires for even less than this but hope with the fine materials and construction of this one. Can you afford to take a chance on more frequent tire troubles for the sake of the slightly lower price of cheaper tires?

WILL TEST THE EINSTEIN THEORY

Photograph Stars in Investigation of Light Rays.

Expeditions Will Go to Australia to Make Astronomical Observations When Sun Goes into Total Eclipse.

Yapeete, Tahiti.—Preliminary observations were made here in April and May by Dr. Robert Trumpler, assistant director of the Lick Observatory on Mount Hamilton, California, in preparation for final astronomical observations in northern Australia to prove or disprove the part of Einstein's theory of relativity which has to do with the composition and characteristics of light.

Various astronomical expeditions will gather on the northern coast of Australia September 21 to take their observations when the sun goes into total eclipse that day. Doctor Trumpler's work here has been to photograph, on a large scale, the stars in that part of the heavens where the sun will be on September 21. On the day of the eclipse, when the sun is totally obscured and the stars are visible, similar photographs will be taken on the same scale.

Einstein's contention is that light is not, as scientists hitherto have held, the very rapid vibrations of the all-pervading ether, but is made up of electrons and therefore is a form of matter. If light is matter in any form, it will be subject to the law of gravitation, and it is to establish or disprove this point that the observations are being made here and in Australia.

If Einstein's theory of light is well founded, according to Doctor Trumpler, the rays of light from a star in that quarter of the heavens passing by so large a mass as the sun will be deflected by the force of the sun's gravitation and the star in question will appear on the photographic plate at a place slightly removed from its true position in a direction away from the sun's disk.

White Squirrel.

Kansas City, Mo.—A white squirrel is a rarity. Last week, in Shannon county, a man saw a white squirrel go into his hole in a big oak tree. The next day he took some incredulous neighbors, determined to capture the little animal. It was necessary to chop down four trees before this was accomplished. And, sure enough, the squirrel was all white with pink eyes. It now lives in a cage in Birch Tree.

Amethysts have the reputation of calming and soothing the nerves.

He didn't like white bread—or ready-rubbed tobacco

And probably he preferred horsecars to the trolley

He admitted frankly that his tastes were peculiar. He didn't know why. It was just a matter of fact that while he was an inveterate pipe smoker, he never smoked Edgeworth.

"But don't let that worry you. I don't like white bread. And there are many other things that nearly everybody I know likes—and I don't."

We have always recognized that no one tobacco would just hit the taste of every pipe-smoker. We have always known, too, that we couldn't make all the pipe tobacco in the world even if it were possible to make a tobacco that everybody liked.

So we have been content to jog along, seeking and finding men who do like Edgeworth, who find its individual fragrance exactly suited to their taste.

Those are the men we want to smoke Edgeworth. If we can give them the full joy of smoking and keep our factories running somewhere near capacity, it is about all we expect—and it is enough.

One thing we do want to be sure of. It is this: That every pipe-smoker try Edgeworth at least once. An judge for himself whether or no. It is the right tobacco for him.

In a way, it is a selfish desire on our part, for we feel that most real pipe smokers will like Edgeworth.

But to make it as easy as possible for you or any other man to test Edgeworth, we will send you free samples if you'll write for them.

Just write a postcard to us and send us your name and address. If you would further add the name and address of the dealer from whom you usually buy your tobacco, we would appreciate your courtesy.

Edgeworth comes in two forms—Plug Slice and Ready-Rubbed. Edgeworth Plug Slice is formed into flat cakes and then sliced into thin, moist wafers. One slice rubbed for a second between the hands furnishes an average pipelul.

Edgeworth Ready-Rubbed is already rubbed for you. You pour it straight from the can into the bowl of your pipe.

Both kinds pack nicely, light quickly, and burn freely and evenly.

Edgeworth is sold in various sizes to suit the needs and means of all purchasers. Both Edgeworth Plug Slice and Edgeworth Ready-Rubbed are packed in small pocket-size packages, in handsome tin tins, and also in various handy in-between quantities.

For the free samples address Larus & Brother Company, 44 South 21st Street, Richmond, Va.

American Bird Specialist Invades Jungles of Nicaragua.

Gets Large Collection of Rare Birds, Beasts, Fish and Reptiles—Penetrates to Villages of Sumo Indians.

Philadelphia.—Wharton Huber, assistant curator of the ornithology section of the Academy of Natural Sciences, returned recently to this city from hitherto little known regions of Nicaragua, where he assembled a large collection of birds, beasts, fish and reptiles, a number of which he believes have not yet been classified.

He also claims to have penetrated to the village of Sumo Indians, who rarely had seen a white man. The specialist specimens include 500 birds, scattered tribes of Indians apparently of Spanish and Mixkito Indian descent. With a body of these Indians as guides, I penetrated to certain villages of the Sumo Indians.

"The Sumo men are very skillful hunters, but the tribe is rapidly becoming extinct. With all their ability in hunting and their courage of facing wild animals, they are excessively timid of strange human beings and will run away even from members of other Indian tribes. Mixkito Indians sometimes walk into their villages and take anything they want without meeting resistance. The Sumos, numbering about 500 souls all told, have the slant, almond eyes of the Chinese, and their skin is about the same color as that of a Chinaman."

Mr. Huber had with him a number of dogs, two of which were killed by jaguars. The scientist believes that fully 40 per cent of the birds and animals he shot were lost, because neither dogs nor Indians could make their way into the jungles to the point where placed on exhibition in the local institution.

"My research work was done about 180 miles inland from the Nicaraguan coast," said Mr. Huber. "We established our headquarters at a small mining camp, whence we made trips farther into the country. The average annual rainfall here is 147 inches. From the time I reached the interior until I left there never was a dry article of clothing on me. The country is infested with red bugs, smaller than fleas, which burrow under the skin and inflict serious wounds.

"I went up the Frijoles Poika river for 100 miles in a pitepan, an open boat made of a hollowed-out mahogany log. Then in a smaller pitepan I ascended the Bambana river to Mininda. The district is hilly and covered with tropical forests so dense that it is impossible to enter them until a

Another Richmond

Lincoln county Doesn't claim all the honors that come in a political way, but does claim Col. G. W. Prichard, the latest aspirant for the Republican senatorial nomination. True, the Colonel has made Santa Fe his headquarters for several years, but Lincoln county has been his home for thirty years, and if the G. O. P. awards him the nomination we shall insist that he is a Lincoln county man. Sub rosa we don't think any Republican will go to the senate from New Mexico this year, but we do believe the slaughter would be less dreadful with the colonel as the nominee than any other candidate that has been suggested. We also compliment the Colonel in being willing to lead a forlorn hope.

A Chip o' the Old Block

The nation-wide coal strike, which has paralyzed the coal industry of the nation and made us all shiver, even in summer, when we thought of a coalless winter, has vitally interested the entire population. Many schemes have been proposed for settlement of the strike, but no agreement has been reached between operators and operatives, and each day we approach nearer the period when every coal bin should be filled, when, as a matter of fact, every one is as empty as the cupboard of "Old Mother Hubbard."

Limit of Economic Idlcy

The Government crop reports for August are all that the most ardent optimist could desire. But without a European market, what do the American farmers think they are going to do with their 3,000,000,000 bushels of corn, their 800,000,000 bushels of wheat and all the rest? What is to become of the surplus on the sale of which their prosperity depends?

Democratic Precinct Primary Call

A Democratic Precinct Primary is hereby called to meet at the Court House, in Carrizozo, Precinct No. Fourteen (14), Lincoln County, New Mexico, on the 26th day of August, 1922, at 8:00 P. M., for the purpose of electing Thirty-one (31) Delegates to the Democratic County Convention which meets at Carrizozo, New Mexico, August 28, 1922, at 10:00 A. M. in the Court House, for the purpose of nominating Candidates for the following offices:

SHERIFF, ASSESSOR, TREASURER, CLERK, PROBATE JUDGE, SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT, SURVEYOR, AND COMMISSIONERS, one from each of the first, second and third districts; A REPRESENTATIVE to the New Mexico Legislature; also Twelve (12) Delegates to attend the State Democratic Convention at Albuquerque on the 31st day of August, 1922. A County Central Committee is also to be selected and a Chairman and Secretary thereof.

All persons of legal voting age who may wish to support the principles of the Democratic Party, regardless of past party affiliations, are cordially invited to attend. Women delegates may be elected to the convention.

T. A. SPENCER

sel for the National City Bank, and also representing various coal companies. The Colonel is the son of Judge and Mrs. Seth F. Crews, of Oscura. The judge and Mrs. Crews have made Lincoln county their home for a number of years, having been attracted here by our superb climate, and where they enjoy the evening of their lives after the judge retired from a half a century practice of law. The son, of whom we write, is one of the ablest lawyers in America, and during the war was called by the Wilson Administration to the position of general counsel for the ordnance department, and there awarded the title of colonel; hence the title he still wears. Therefore, the local color; the appreciation of a man capable of bringing about a solution of a difficulty that threatened the very life of the nation, when all the "best minds" had become paralyzed, and that man the son of our old friends, Judge and Mrs. Crews.

Limit of Economic Idlcy

The Government crop reports for August are all that the most ardent optimist could desire.

But without a European market, what do the American farmers think they are going to do with their 3,000,000,000 bushels of corn, their 800,000,000 bushels of wheat and all the rest? What is to become of the surplus on the sale of which their prosperity depends?

While they are engaged in raising bumper crops the Congress of the United States is engaged in framing a tariff to exclude European goods from the American markets and hence exclude American food products from the European markets. No matter how much Europe needs American food it cannot buy American food unless it can sell what it makes. It has no gold, and even if it had, gold is the last thing that the United States needs or desires.

With an assured European market the indicated crop for 1922 would mean a complete return of prosperity for the American farmer. The ready sale of the surplus abroad would stabilize prices at home and American agriculture would be again on its feet. But Congress refuses to have it that way, and, strangely enough, the agricultural bloc is voting with the representatives of monopoly schedules to cut agriculture's throat.

The limit of economic idlcy has been reached in the Fordney-McCumber schedules, and the August crop report helps to emphasize it. Here is a country whose agricultural prosperity depends wholly on the opportunity to market its surplus abroad, and yet a Republican Congress has consecrated itself to the task of destroying that market by making it impossible for Europe to pay for food in the only commodities it has with which to buy food. It is precisely as if a manufacturing establishment divided its energies equally between speeding up production and driving away its customers.

In ordinary walks of life the man who did that sort of thing would be regarded as mentally incompetent and the courts would be requested by his relatives to deprive him of any control over his property. But in government that kind of conduct passes for statesmanship and a great political party stakes its lease of power on a policy that if applied to private affairs could lead only to bankruptcy.

Bumper crops ought to mean the beginning of a new prosperity for the American people, but bumper crops cannot overcome a bumper tariff. The American farmers who have been upholding the agricultural bloc in its fatuous trading of monopoly schedules on manufactured articles for useless schedules on farm products will be wiser a year from now, but they will pay a large price for their experience.

For County Treasurer

Few men who have held the position of Treasurer and Ex-Officio Collector of Lincoln county, among the many good ones we have had, have given better service, been more accurate in his work and kept his accounts in better shape than the present incumbent, Harry G. Norman. Nominated by the Democratic Convention without opposition, and elected at the ensuing November election by a splendid majority over a popular and worthy opponent, he assumed the duties of the office, with which he had had years of acquaintance as deputy, and the affairs of the office are in the best condition. His record is as clean as a hound's tooth; he has accounted satisfactory, to all authorities and to the people, for all funds coming into his hands, as his oath required him to do. And in all his dealings he has been courteous to the public and just to all. Mr. Norman again asks his party for the Treasurer's nomination, and his record is such that it is quite likely that he will have no opposition in his party convention. And, given the nomination, it is equally likely that the people will reward him for his faithful service; as a better man cannot be found for the position in either party.

Editor's Big Day

In appreciation of the work of a Kansas editor for their community a bunch of citizens recently presented him with a bouquet. On the same occasion a quartet from a local church sang a few sweet songs and a minister made a little talk. After the minister's talk six husky men carried the popular editor from the house and placed him tenderly in a model 1921 plumbed sedan, and the whole town formed in parade behind the editor's expensive car. After the parade the appreciative crowd returned to their homes serene in thought of having provided one bright day in the life of their local news purveyor, even if they did wait until he was dead to do it.—The Fourth Estate.

Was Very Weak

"After the birth of my baby I had a back-ache," writes Mrs. Mattie Crosswhite, of Glade Spring, Va. "I was very weak thought I was going to die. I was so weak I couldn't raise my head to get a drink of water. I took... medicine, yet I didn't get any better. I was constipated and very weak, getting worse and worse. I sent for Cardui."

TAKE CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"I found after one bottle of Cardui I was improving," adds Mrs. Crosswhite. "Six bottles of Cardui and... I was cured, yes, I can say they were a God-send to me. I believe I would have died, had it not been for Cardui." Cardui has been found beneficial in many thousands of other cases of womanly troubles. If you feel the need of a good, strengthening tonic, why not try Cardui? It may be just what you need.

WOMEN'S JAIL VISITED
Santa Rosa, Calif.—Retreat of John
M. Hayes, sheriff of Sonoma county, to accept an appointment in the county jail
two persons arrested in Santa Rosa on charges of violating the Valente act,
led to the statement by prohibition enforcement officers that an attempt would be made to force the sheriff to accept federal prisoners hereafter without process of any kind. Sheriff Hayes was firm in his position that he would render his headman liable were he to acquiesce in the instant demands from prohibition officers who are appearing continually at the Sonoma county jail with strangers, asking that they be incarcerated without warrants for violating the dry law.

Postage Stamps to Be Changed
Washington.—Postage stamps ranging in denomination from 1 cent to 95 are to undergo radical changes as to design and color, with a view to preventing losses by the Postoffice Department due to lack of distinctive features, it has been announced.

All stamps ranging in denomination
from 1 to 7 cents now bear the portrait of George Washington, while an evidence of Benjamin Franklin appears on those ranging from 8 cents to 95.
The department contemplates retaining the Washington and Franklin portraits upon certain of the stamps, but,
it was said, will substitute portraits of leading figures in American history on the others.

The department was of the opinion,
it was explained, that different designs and colors would enable postal employees to detect more readily what paid matter. The department in time would save thousands of dollars, officials said.

Stranger Tribal Legend
From the Navajo country, embracing the adjoining corners of Utah,
Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico,
there has recently been smuggled one of the rarest patterns of Indian blankets that has been permitted to fall into the hands of white men.
The pattern, described and illustrated in Popular Mechanics Magazine, is known as the "Yebitai dancera," and involves a tribal tradition about which the Navajos are decidedly uncommunitive. The word "smuggled" is used advisedly, for the blanket was removed with extreme secrecy, inasmuch as knowledge by the Indians of its removal probably would have resulted in unpleasantness, to say the least.

Collectors of Indian curios, who have inspected the blanket assert that they have never seen another of the same pattern, although it has been understood that one of a similar type was obtained some years ago and sent to the Smithsonian institution.

ROAD BUILDING

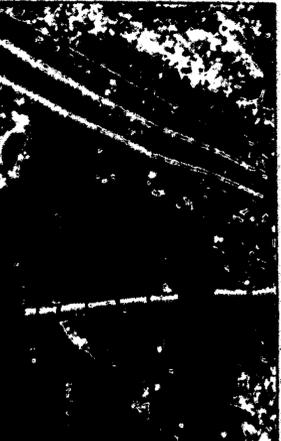

PLAN FOR FOREST HIGHWAYS

Secretary Wallace Approves Program
Involving Outlay of Approximately $10,000,000.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
A program of national forest highway construction involving an outlay
of approximately $10,000,000 for 1,170 miles of road in 26 states has been approved by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. This program will be financed largely from the forest highway fund provided by the federal highway act. About $8,500,000 will come from this source, $1,000,000 from other national forest road appropriations, and the balance of $2,500,000 will be contributed by states and counties.
The work provided for is as follows:

States	Proposed Expenditure	Miles
Alabama	1,500	25
Arizona	250,000	125
Arkansas	1,000,000	50
California	1,500,000	75

The funds and mileage are for forest
roads of primary importance to states, counties, and communities. The program was recommended to the secretary by the forest service and the bureau of public roads, jointly, after conference with state officials. The bureau of public roads will supervise the construction work, and it is expected that a large number of the projects

will be completed this season.

Practically all the roads to be built
are parts of the state or county highway systems and will therefore in most cases connect with and extend the system of federal aid highways covering the whole country. In some cases the new construction will provide roads through mountainous regions of the national forests hitherto penetrated
only by pack trails.

In addition to the major road projects, about $5,000,000 will be expended by the forest service on minor roads and trails required primarily for the protection and administration of the national forests.

Observant Man Explains Aver- age Stenographic Force.

Generally Selected as the Result of the Boss' Early Experience—Wife
Sometimes an Influence.

"How do you account for the fact that in some offices all the stenographers are fat, in other offices all the stenographers are thin, and in still other offices are medium sized?" demanded the loquacious commuter, the New York Sun states.

"They aren't," replied the sleepy commuter crossly. "In offices I know there are thick, thin and medium stenographers, all together."

"No, you're wrong, old man," commented the loquacious commuter cheerfully. "I've given this matter my solons attention for some time. The offices where stenographers are of mixed sizes are the exception. In size offices out of ten you'll find the stenographers all run true to form—
whether the form is light, heavy or medium."

"It's the same way with coloring. In some of the offices all stenographers
are dark and in other offices all, or almost all, of the stenographers have medium coloring."

"Well, what's the answer?" sighed
the sleepy commuter, resigning himself to instructions.

"My opinion is," explained the loquacious commuter happily, "that it's all due to the proprietor's early experience."

"When he began business and was only able to employ one stenographer, he happened to draw a plump one. She proved amiable, reliable, and just what he wanted, and without realizing it, he stored away in the back of his mind the experience that fat stenographers are desirable. When engaging stenographers ever since he has always leaped when this type. He may have had many good stenographers who were plump, but in a big office the work goes on in such a way that this work actually comes to his attention.
Quite unconsciously he continues to cling to the type he first favored."

"But suppose the plump stenographer whom he first employed proved a total loss?" questioned the sleepy commuter.

"That's just where it is!" said the loquacious commuter, happily. "In the event you speak of he would naturally store away in his inner consciousness a distrust of plump stenographers and in his selection would go to the other extreme—he would want
the thinnest stenographer obtainable." The sleepy commuter smiled irritat-ingly.

"That's a queer theory," he remarked,
"but as a matter of fact, it isn't the boss who selects the stenographers. It's the office manager."

The loquacious commuter looked decidedly crestfallen and the sleepy commuter would have scored an unqualified triumph if a commencing friend had not joined them as they disembarked.

"Say, have you been in Bill Jones'
office recently?" asked the commencing friend. "He's got the greatest line of lady help that ever I saw—every one of 'em as round as a barrel. You see, Bill's wife is a heavyweight, and she won't stand for a girl in the office
who tips the scale at less than 150."

With them were a couple of well-

I noticed that Bobby, my small

STORK MADE LONG JOURNEY

Bird Flew From Africa to Germany
With a Message From Exile to the Fatherland.

The population of Litzkau, Germany, noticed one day recently that one of the many storks which annually return to the neighborhood from distant southern zones to rebuild their nests
was carrying something about its neck which only human hands could have fastened there.

Repeated efforts to approach the bird had failed, but one of the villagers finally lured the stork into his barn and then and there learned that the bird carried a little leather case in which a note was inclosed. The note revealed that the stork had come all the way from East Africa, where a German colonist, Willi Bucha, has his little farm near Victoria lake.

Bucha must have anticipated that the bird spent his annual vacation in his beloved fatherland, so he wrote:
"Just a greeting to the fatherland," and used the stork to convey his message.

SAFE PLACE FOR VALUABLES

Harassed Citizens of American Cities
Should Welcome Idea That Comes From Buenos Aires.

In these days of lawlessness, when the honest citizen cannot take a walk around the block with any certainty that he will not be held up by a bandit, the novel idea of Antonio Mossoco, a citizen of Buenos Aires, ought to be of value.

He suggests suspenders with pocket-
ets attached to them—two pockets, that is to say, each of them being fastened with a buckle to the loop of the "gallus" at the front. The lower end of each pocket has two buttonholes, which button onto the ordinary buttons of the waistband of the trousers,
thus making the pocket flaps secure against the body of the wearer.
To prevent escape of its contents, each pocket is provided with a buttoned flap.

Few bandits would think of looking for loot beneath a man's waistcoat, and so the suspender pocket should afford excellent hiding places for money. Against pickpockets they ought to furnish a perfect protection.

A DISH of crisp, delicious Grape-Nuts, with cream like) is cooling to serve, cooling to eat and cooling to digest—with a charm of flavor and goodness that rouses appetite enthusiasm. No preparation, no

starchy meals do—but well-rounded nourishment
for every bodily need.

There's a noticeable feeling of lightness and com-

that usually goes with the midsummer food problem.

Stanley-White

Last Friday evening Ben M. Stanley and Miss Mary White quietly walked into the home of Rev. T. M. Blacklock, pastor of the Baptist church, and requested his services in making them husband and wife. They further requested that their marriage be kept quiet for a few days, as they desired to "put one over" on their friends. However, near neighbors suspected the purport of the couple's visit, and a rumor became current that the wedding had taken place, but the actual knowledge of the event was lacking and did not positively become known until the following Monday.

The groom has made Lincoln county his home the past two years, and is recognized as a young man of sterling character and worth. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe N. White, who now reside at Hot Springs, and the grand-daughter of Mrs. Martha Taylor, and has spent practically all her life in Lincoln county. A host of friends, upon learning of the nuptial event, warmly extended congratulations and best wishes. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley, we understand, will soon go to Midland, Texas, where they expect to make their home.

For Commissioner

The announcement of Robert H. Taylor for County Commissioner for the Third District of Lincoln county appears in this issue. Mr. Taylor makes his announcement as a candidate for the nomination for commissioner from the Democratic party. Three times in the past Mr. Taylor has been honored by his party with the nomination for this office and each time the people of the county ratified the action by electing him at the following elections. In 1906 and 1908 he was elected and again in 1918. During the period of his service as a member of the board he was for the greater part of the time its chairman. And in all the history of Lincoln county it never had a better member. His grasp of the situation, his unswerving manhood, his ability to see the right and his determination to do it won for him the admiration and support of good citizens of the county, irrespective of politics. Everybody got a square deal whenever his voice and vote would give it and an appeal for justice never went unheard. He was rigid in the scrutiny of expenditures and saved the county much money during his terms of office. He is the kind of a man Lincoln county needs for Commissioner, for his nomination and election would be an assurance to the taxpayers of the county that their interest would be protected and the affairs of this county conducted in a business-like manner.

Entertained Society

On Tuesday evening, Mesdames C. A. McCammon and L. A. McCall entertained the Missionary Society of the M. E. Church at the home of Mrs. McCammon.

A delightful entertainment was planned by a committee from the society, to include the ladies and their friends, the board of stewards and all friends of the Church. About sixty guests were present and entered into the amusements of the evening with a spirit of hearty good will.

A short musical program, rendered under the supervision of Mrs. Donaldson, was a pleasing feature, as well as the games arranged for young and old.

Punch was served throughout the evening and an ice course was served at the close of the program.

The party broke up at a late hour with many expressions of enjoyment.
