

Carrizozo News

OLDEST AND LEADING NEWSPAPER IN CIRCULATION IN THE COUNTY OF LINCOLN, NEW MEXICO

VOLUME 22

CARRIZOZO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, OCT. 13, 1922

NUMBER 41

Washington News Letter

(Special Correspondence)

By John E. Burgett

WHO WILL CONTROL NEW MEXICO IF REPUBLICAN WINS?

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4th.—Political observers of the Senatorial Campaign in New Mexico are wondering whether the voters of that state will elect a fourth Senator for Kansas. That's what the election of the Republican candidate will mean, in the opinion of these Washington observers.

The Federal Constitution provides that each state, no matter how big in territory or great in population, shall have two Senators, neither more nor less. But the Republican organization in the Senate has decreed that a Senator who is nominally the representative of one state may either volunteer or be drafted to serve the interests of another commonwealth.

Thus, both Republicans and Democrats who have watched the voter cast in the Senate by Senator Bursum of New Mexico recall how regularly he has followed the lead, and apparently at the dictation of Senator Curtis of Kansas. This fidelity to the views—or the instruction—of the senior Senator from the "Jayhawker" state, has earned for Senator Bursum the nickname of "Third Senator from Kansas."

Although the representative in the Senate of a mid-western state which is usually progressive and liberal in its political views, Senator Curtis is one of the arch-reactionaries of the Senate. He is not, however, the maker, but only the mover of the Republican plans. He gets his orders from the little coterie of eastern Republicans who really control and direct legislation in the Senate, especially that which bears the label of the administration. Seemingly the method of these eastern reactionaries is to use Senator Curtis as an intermediary between themselves and the western Republicans who might be a bit timid about acquiring a reputation for friendship and fraternization with the eastern group.

As liaison between the eastern elite and the western Republicans, Senator Curtis corals as many of the latter for the schemes of the former as he can. It has often been noted here that Senator Bursum seldom expresses a view or casts a vote without first having conference with Curtis. Whether it is only a coincidence or a consequence, the fact is that a comparison of the votes cast by Curtis and Bursum will show that they almost invariably are either for or against given measures.

There is perhaps some inaccuracy in calling Bursum "the Third Senator from Kansas." He no more speaks for Kansas in his votes and addresses in the Senate than he voices the wishes of New Mexico. For Curtis doesn't represent Kansas, either. Geographically and legislatively Curtis from Kansas, of course, but politically and legislatively he is either from New York, Pennsylvania or Massachusetts. It is from those states (through the Republican reactionaries they send to the Senate) that Curtis gets his inspiration and his commands.

In the last analysis, therefore, this designation, "the Third Senator from Kansas," does not fit Bursum. He is in reality, so far as his sympathies alliances and votes are concerned, the fourth or fifth Senator from Pennsylvania or the sixth or seventh Senator from New York.

If New Mexico selects a Republican colleague for Senator Bursum in the November election, the chances are that the newcomer to the Senate for that state will add considerably to the voting strength of New York and Pennsylvania, or possibly Connecticut the former home of the Republican candidate. Why not select a senator who is free to serve New Mexico's interests?

Jones and Hinkle

Democratic Candidates for United States Senator and Governor Will Speak in Carrizozo at Lutz Hall, Wednesday, October 18, at 8:00 p. m.

CAMPAIGN ISSUES WILL BE DISCUSSED

Hon. A. A. Jones, nominee of the Democratic party for re-election to the United States Senate, and Hon. James F. Hinkle, nominee of the same party for governor of New Mexico, will be in Carrizozo Wednesday, October 18, and will address the people here that night at 8 o'clock, in Lutz Hall.

Senator Jones is recognized as one of the ablest men in the United States Senate and is easily the first citizen of New Mexico. Jim Hinkle has lived in Lincoln and Chavez counties for a great many years, has represented both counties in the territorial house and council and was first state senator from Chavez county. He is a capable and successful business man and any and all desiring a better state government will do well to hear his ideas as to how that may be obtained.

Senator Jones is a gifter speaker and has an interesting message to all, even though some may not agree with his political ideas. His service to the people of New Mexico has been one of loyalty, faithfulness and a record of accomplishment that places him in the front rank of statesmen. But come, and hear these gentlemen, at Lutz Hall, Wednesday night, October 18. They have a message for everyone.

They will be at Capitan and Lincoln the following morning, and at Hondo and Picacho in the afternoon.

Let The People Think

We shall have lower taxes when we have state, county, city and school governments which find ways and means to get along on less income—not before. We shall have such economizing governments when we have a public determined to enforce economy upon its disburbers of taxes—not before. We shall have a public determined to enforce economy only when it refuses to heed the appeal of this or that, or the other improvement or innovation or service or whatever it is that the public is persuaded it must have.

We need political leaders pledged to economy and business efficiency in government, not political "persuaders" seeking to put something new over on the people, thus swelling the tax bill and creating more offices. Think, voters think.

Town Trustees Meet

The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Village of Carrizozo was held on Oct. 9th, 1922.

Members present: Julian M. Taylor, Mayor; W. W. Staitman; Clerk; F. E. Richard, T. E. Kelley, Fred Lalone, and G. T. McQuillen, trustees; A. M. Vega, Village Marshal. There was also present, Frank A. English, contractor for installation of the water works system.

The minutes of the adjourned meeting held on Oct. 4th were read and approved.

The minutes of last regular meeting held on Sept. 11th, were also read and approved.

The following bills were presented by the clerk and approved by the Board:

Paul Barber, local tax	1.00
W. B. Barber, local tax	1.00
Kelley & Co., bills for fuel	1.00
Western Union, tele. charges	1.00
Lincoln State Bank, tele. charges	1.00
with B. bill	1.00
Lincoln County Light & Power Co.	1.00
Carrizozo Transfer & Storage Co.	1.00
Horse Road	1.00
Paul Kelley, street work	1.00
Mountain States Tel. Co., phone bill	1.00
A. M. Vega, salary for Sept. 22	1.00
W. W. Staitman, salary for Sept. 22	1.00
W. W. Staitman, postage $3.00, office at Carrizozo	3.00
Total	$25.00

T. E. Kelley moves that R. H. Taylor, water engineer, be allowed bill be allowed as correct and payable from the road fund as funds therein are available. Said motion being seconded by F. E. Richard the same is put by the mayor and carried.

G. T. McQuillen moves that the mayor appoint not to exceed three members of the council as a committee to determine the requirements in the way of pipe, valves, fittings and material needed in the making of connections from the water mains to the property line of customers and after the amount and class thereof has been determined that the clerk issue a call for bids for the furnishing of said piping and materials from the local dealers. Said motion having been seconded by F. E. Richard the same is put by the mayor and carried. Thereupon the mayor appointed G. T. McQuillen, Ed Kelley and Fred Lalone as a committee for the purposes get out in the said motion. The clerk is then instructed to place an order for four Ludlow Gate valves for use in the proposed water mains.

There being no further business before the board the meeting is adjourned.

He Knows The State

His intimate knowledge of conditions in New Mexico is strengthening the position of James F. Hinkle, stockman-banker, in each community he visits.

This is seen in reports of the district meetings now being addressed by the Democratic gubernatorial nominee. Stockmen and business men in his audiences sense the ability of the candidate to perform the service he promises—reduction of the state's taxes with the installation of efficient methods in the administration at Santa Fe. Mr. Hinkle speaks with the knowledge of New Mexico gained in thirty-seven years of living here.

There is no question, however, of the ability of Mr. Hinkle. His position in the business world indicates his worth. His long residence in New Mexico, which has been sprinkled with official service to the state, gives him a thorough insight into its needs.

U.B. Thrifty says

Guard your pennies and let us take care of your dollars

Let us take care of your dollars by offering you our CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT as an investment. We know of no better way for your money to be earning 4 per cent for you and still be absolutely safe.

There are many investments that promise a large return but such are usually more or less questionable. Our Certificates of Deposit offer you 4 per cent backed by the safety of our sound banking institution.

The Exchange Bank
CARRIZOZO, N. M.
"The Bank for You in 1922."

Everything for Miladys Toilet

When your toilet preparations come from our drug store, you know they are first quality and free from harmful ingredients.

And it is a pleasure to know you can always get what you want, when you want it, in our store, because we carry the stock.

When you need anything in the Drug Store line—

COME TO US FOR IT.

Robt. Ross' Pharmacy

STEADFAST

Ever since this bank was organized it has been the aim of its management to provide a service a little better than would ordinarily be expected.

To this policy we attribute our growth. To this ideal we constantly adhere. We can, we shall, we do, provide the right kind of banking service.

Try First National Service.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Is your Home PROTECTED?

Money in the bank is the best protection a man can have for his family. It encourages him to work harder and save more and be in a position to educate his children and start them into business.

If you have an account with us increase the balance to your credit.

If you have no account with us, we invite you to start one.

WE WILL WELCOME YOUR ACCOUNT

Lincoln State Bank

THE CROSS-CUT

By Courney Ryley Cooper
Copyright by Little, Brown & Co.

'ARRY!

SYNOPSIS.—At Thornton Fairchild's death his son Robert learns there has been a dark period in his father's life which for almost thirty years has caused him suffering. The secret is hinted at in a document left by the father, Fairchild, which also informs Robert he is now owner of a mining claim in Colorado, and advising him to see Henry Beamish, a lawyer. Beamish tells Robert his claim, a silver mine, is at Ohead, thirty-eight miles from Denver. He also warns him against a certain man, "Squint" Rodaine, his father's enemy. Robert decides to go to Ohead. On the road to Ohead from Denver Fairchild meets a girl, apparently in a frenzy of grief, who changes a tire on her auto. When she has left, the sheriff and a posse appear, in pursuit of a bandit. Fairchild, bewildered, misleads them as to the direction the girl had taken. At Ohead Fairchild is warmly greeted by "Mother" Howard, boarding-house keeper, for his father's sake. From Mother Howard Fairchild learns something of the mystery connected with the disappearance of "Squint" Rodaine, his father's co-worker in the mine. He meets the girl he had assisted, but she denies her identity. She is Anita Richmond, Judge Richmond's daughter. Visiting his claim, Fairchild is shadowed by a man he recognizes from descriptions as "Squint" Rodaine.

CHAPTER VI—Continued.

Quickly he made the return trip, crossing the little bridge over the turbulent clear creek and heading toward the boarding house. Half a block away he halted, as a woman on the veranda of the big, squarely built "hotel" pointed him out, and the great figure of a man shot through the gate, shouting and hurrying toward him.

A tremendous creature he was, with red face and black hair which seemed to scramble in all directions at once, and with a mustache which appeared to scamper in even more directions than his hair. Fairchild was a large man; suddenly he felt himself puny and inconsequential as the mastodontic thing before him swooped forward, spread wide the big arms and then caught him tight in them, causing the breath to puff over his lips like the exhaust of a hollow.

"I'm 'Arry From Cornwall!"

A release, then Fairchild felt himself lifted and set down again. He pulled hard at his breath.

"What's the matter with you?" he exclaimed feebly. "You've made a mistake!"

"I'm blinded if I ave!" bellowed a tornado-like voice. "Blime! You look just like 'im!"

"But you're mistaken, old man!"

"Blimed if I am!" came again. "You're your dad's own boy! You look just like 'im! Don't you know me?"

He stepped back then and stood grinning, his long, heavily muscled arms hanging low at his sides, his mustache trying valiantly to stick out in more directions than ever. Fairchild rubbed a hand across his eyes.

"You've got me!" came at last.

"You don't know me? Oneet saw, don't you? I'm 'Arry! Don't you know now? 'Arry from Cornwall!"

CHAPTER VII

It came to Fairchild then—the sentence in his father's letter regarding someone who would hurry to his aid when he needed him, the references of Beamish, and the mention of Mother Howard to a faithful friend. Again the heavy voice boomed:

"You know me now, eh?"

"You bet! You're Harry Harkins!"

"Arring it is! I came just as soon as I got the call!"

"The call?"

"Harry pranged at his wonderful mustache. "From Mr. Beamish, you know. 'I sent it. Said you'd started out 'ere all alone. And I couldn't stand by and let you do that."

"You're the man!"

"You bet! I am!" said Harry again.

"How did you find the veranda now, sitting there for a week?"

"And I still love you!" he boomed, as he caught the gray-haired, laughing woman in his arms. "Even if you did run me off and wouldn't go back to Cornwall!"

Red-faced, she pushed him away and slapped his cheek playfully; it was like the tap of a light breeze against granite. Then Harry turned.

"Ave you looked at the mine?"

The question brought back to Fairchild the happenings of the morning and the memory of the man who had trailed him. He told his story, while Mother Howard listened, her arms crossed, her head bobbing, and while Harry, his big grin still on his lips, took in the details with avidity. Then the grin faded.

"Let's go up there," he said quietly. This time the trip to Kentucky gulch was made by skirting the town; soon they were on the rough, narrow roadway leading into the mountains. A long time they walked, at last to stop in the shelter of the rocks where Fairchild had shadowed his pursuer, and to glance carefully ahead. No one was in sight. Harry jabbed out a big finger.

"That's it," he announced, "straight ahead!"

They went on, Fairchild with a gripping at his throat that would not down. This had been the hope of his father—and here his father had met—what? He swerved quickly and stopped, facing the bigger man.

"Harry," came sharply, "I know that I may be violating an unspoken promise to my father. But I simply can't stand it any longer. What happened here? There was some sort of tragedy."

Harry chuckled—in concealment, Fairchild thought, of something he did not want to tell him.

"I should think so! The timbers gave way and the mine caved in!"

"Not that! My father ran away from this town. You and Mother Howard helped him. You didn't come back. Neither did my father. Eventually it killed him."

"So?" Harry looked seriously and studiously at the young man. "I didn't write me often."

"He didn't need to write you. You were here with him—when it happened."

"No—" Harry shook his head. "I was in town. What's Mother Howard told you?"

"A lot—and nothing."

"I don't know any more than she does."

"But—"

"Friends didn't ask questions in those days," came quietly. "I might 'ave guessed if I'd wanted to—but I didn't want to."

"But if you had?"

Harry looked at him with quiet, blue eyes.

"What would you guess?"

Slowly Robert Fairchild's gaze went to the ground. There was only one possible conjecture: Stasie Larsen had been impersonated by a woman. Stasie Larsen had never been seen again in Ohead.

"I—I would hate to put it into words," came finally. Harry slapped him on the shoulder.

"Then don't. It was nearly thirty years ago. Let sleeping dogs lie. Take a look around before we go into the tunnel."

They reconnoitered, first on one side then on the other. No one was in sight. Harry bent to the ground, and finding a pitchy pine knot, lighted it. They started cautiously within, blinking against the darkness.

The outlines of a rusty "holst," with its cable leading down into a slanting hole in the rock, showed dimly before them—a massive, chunky, deserted thing in the shadows. The timbers were rotting; one after another, they had cracked and caved beneath the weight of the earth above, giving the tunnel an eerie aspect, uninviting, dangerous. Harry peered ahead.

"It ain't as bad as it looks," came after a moment's survey. "It's only right 'ere at the beginning that it's caved. But that doesn't do us much good."

"Why not?" Fairchild was staring with him, on toward the darkness of the farther recessed. "If it ain't caved in farther back, we ought to be able to repair this spot."

But Harry shook his head.

"We didn't go into the vein 'ere," he explained. "We figured we 'd to 'ave a shaft anyway, sooner or later. You can't do under and stoping in a mine—go down on a vein, you know. You've always got to go up—you can't get the metal out if you don't. That's why we dug this shaft—and now look at it!"

He drew the flickering torch to the edge of the shaft and held it there, starting downward, Fairchild beside him. Twenty feet below there came the glistening reflection of the flowing flame. Water! Fairchild glanced toward his partner.

"I don't know anything about it," he said at last. "But I should think that would mean trouble."

"Plenty!" agreed Harry lugubriously. "That shaft's two 'undred feet deep and there's a drift running off it for a couple o' 'undred feet more before it hits the vein. Four 'undred feet of water. 'Ow much money 'ave you got?"

"About twenty-five hundred dollars."

Harry reached for his waving mustache, his haven in time of stress. Thankfully he pulled at it, starting meanwhile downward. When he reached the bottom, he saw—

"Ain't I the Queezy?"

"Oward. Won't I knock 'er eyes out, now?"

And he boomed forward toward the dining room, to find there men he had known in other days, to shake hands with them and to bang them on the back, to sign Blingde Rosenman and Taylor Bill sitting hunched over their meal in the corner and to go actively toward them. "Arry" was playing, as ever, in his mind.

Justly he leaned over the table of Rosenman and Bill, after he had directed himself toward them. He had received her attention at his expense, and in a way, Harry felt that he was owed.

They turned for the mouth of the tunnel, sliding along in the greasy muck, the torch extinguished now. A moment of watchfulness from the cover of the darkness, then Harry pointed. On the opposite bill, the figure of a man had been outlined for just a second. Then he had faded. And with the disappearance of the watcher, Harry nudged his partner in the ribs and went forth into the brighter light. An hour more and they were back in town. Harry reached for his mustache again.

"Go on down to Mother 'Oward's," he commanded. "I've got to wander around and say 'owdy to what's left of the fellows that was 'ere when I was. It's been twenty years since I've been away, you know," he added, "and the shaft can wait."

Fairchild obeyed the instructions, looking back over his shoulder as he walked along toward the boarding house, to see the big figure of his companion loitering up the street, on the beginning of his home-coming tour.

The blocks passed. Fairchild turned through the gate of Mother Howard's boarding house and went to his room to await the call for dinner.

The world did not look exceptionally good to him; his brilliant dreams had not counted upon the decay of more than a quarter of a century, the slow, but sure dripping of water which had seeped through the hills and made the mine one vast well, instead of the free open gateway to riches which he had planned upon. An hour of thought and Fairchild ceased trying to look into the future, obeying, instead, the insistent clanging of the dinner bell from downstairs. Slowly he opened the door of his room, tramped down the staircase—then stopped in bewilderment. Harry stood before him, in all the splendor that a miner can know.

He had bought a new suit, brilliant blue, almost electric in its flashiness, nor had he been careful as to style. The cut of the trousers was somewhat along the lines of fifteen years before, with their peg tops and heavy cuffs. Beneath the vest, a glowing, watermelon-pink shirt glared forth from the protection of a purple tie. A wonderful cretion was on his head, dented in four places, each separated with almost mathematical precision. Below the cuffs of the trousers were bright, tan, hump-toed shoes. Harry was a complete picture of sartorial elegance, according to his own dreams. What was more, to complete it all, upon the third finger of his right hand was a diamond, bulbous and yellow and throwing off a dull radiance like the glow of a burnt-out arc light; full of flaws, it is true, off color to a great degree, but a diamond nevertheless. And Harry evidently realized it.

"Ain't I the cuckoo?" he boomed, as Fairchild stared at him. "Ain't I 'ad to 'ave a outfit, and—"

"It might as well be now!" he paraphrased, to the tune of the gge-whitened sextette from "Floradora."

"And look at the sparkler! Look at it!"

"But—but how did you do it?" came gaspingly. "I thought—"

"Installments! The Cornishman burst out. "Ten per cent down and the rest when they catch me. Installments!" He jabbed forth a heavy finger and punched Fairchild in the ribs. "Where's Mother 'Oward? Won't I knock 'er eyes out?"

Fairchild laughed—he couldn't help it—in spite of the fact that five hundred dollars might have gone a long way toward unwatering that shaft. Harry was Harry—he had done enough in crossing the seas to help him. And already, in the eyes of Fairchild, Harry was swiftly approaching that place where he could do no wrong.

"You're wonderful, Harry," came at last. The Cornishman puffed with pride.

"I'm a cuckoo!" he admitted. "Where's Mother 'Oward? Where's 'er eyes out?"

Fairchild finished his meal and waited. But Harry talked on. Rosenman and Bill left the dining room again to make a report to the Arrow-faced Squint Rodaine. He did not even notice them. And as long as a man stayed to answer his queries, just so long did Harry remain, at last to rise, brush a few crumbs from his lightning-like suit, press his new hat gently upon his head with both hands and start forth once more on his rounds of saying hello. And there was nothing for Fairchild to do but to wait as patiently as possible for his return.

The afternoon grew old. Harry did not come back. The sun set and dinner was served. But Harry was not there to eat it. Duck came, and then, nervous over the continued absence of his eccentric partner, Fairchild started upstairs.

The usual groups were in front of the stores, and before the largest of them Fairchild stopped.

"Do any of you happen to know a fellow named Harry Harkins?" he asked somewhat anxiously. The answer was in the affirmative. A miner stretched out a foot and surveyed it studiously.

"Ain't seen him since about five o'clock," he said at last. "He was just starting up to the mine then."

"To the mine? That late? Are you sure?"

"Well—I dunno. May have been going to Center City. Can't say. All I know is he said somethin' about goin' to 'th' mine earlier in 'th' afternoon, an' long about five I seen him starting up Kentucky gulch."

"Who's that?" The interruption had come in a sharp, yet gruff voice. Fairchild turned to see before him a man he recognized, a tall, thin, wiry figure, with narrowed, slanting eyes, and a scar that went straight up his forehead. He evidently had just rounded the corner in time to hear the conversation.

"I was merely asking about my partner in the Blue Poppy mine."

"The Blue Poppy?" the squint eyes narrowed more than ever. "You're Fairchild, ain't you? Well, I guess you're going to have to get along without a partner from now on."

"Get along without—?"

A crooked smile came to the other's lips.

"That is, unless you want to work with a dead man, Harry Harkins got drowned, about an hour ago, in the Blue Poppy shaft!"

CHAPTER VIII

The news caused Fairchild to recoil and stand gasping. And before he could speak, a new voice had cut in, one full of excitement, tremulous, anxious.

"Drowned? Where's his body?"

"How do I know?" Squint Rodaine turned upon his questioner. "Guess it's at the foot of the shaft. All I saw was his hat. What're you so interested for?"

The questioner, small, goggle-eyed and given to rubbing his hands, stared a moment speechlessly.

"He—he bought a diamond from me this morning—on the installment plan!"

Rodaine smiled again in his crooked fashion.

"That's your own fault, Sam," he announced curtly. "If he's at the bottom of the shaft, your diamond's there too. All I know about it is that I was coming down from the Silver Queen when I saw this fellow go into the tunnel of the Blue Poppy. He was all dressed up, else I don't guess I would have paid much attention to him. But as it was, I kind of stopped to look, and seen it was Harry Harkins, who used to work the mine with this—he pointed to Fairchild—"this fellow's father. About a minute later, I heard a yell, like somebody was in trouble, then a big splash. Naturally I ran in the tunnel and struck a match. About twenty feet down, I could see the water was all riled up, and a new hat was floating around on top of it. That's all I know. You can do as you please about your diamond, I'm just giving you the information."

He turned sharply and went on then, while Sam the Jeweler, the rest of the loiterers clustered around him, looked appealingly toward Fairchild.

"What'll we do?" he yelled.

Fairchild turned. "I don't know about you—but I'm going to the mine."

"It won't do any good—bodies don't float. It may never float—if it gets caught down in the timbers somewhere."

"Have to organize a bucket brigade. It was a suggestion from one of the crowd."

"Why not berry the Argonaut pump? They ain't taking it."

"Go get it! Go get it!" This time it was the wall of the Little Jeweler. "Tell 'em Sam Hebenfelder sent you. They'll let you have it."

Another suggestion, still another. Soon men began to radiate, each on a mission. The word passed down the street. More loiterers—a silver miner spends a great part of his leisure time in simply watching the crowd go by—hurried to join the scrupled throng. Groups, on route to the picture show, decided otherwise and stopped to learn of the excitement. The crowd thickened. Suddenly Fairchild looked up sharply at the sound of a feminine voice.

"That's the matter?"

"Harry Harkins got drowned." All too willingly the news was dispersed. Fairchild's eyes were wandering now in the half-light from the street above. When they returned, it was to see Sam Hebenfelder, standing at the head of the crowd, and a man with a white beard, who was talking to him.

"You're Trying to Insult My Father!"

the house and pointed him out to me as the son of a former friend of his. Funny how those things happen, isn't it?"

"Decidedly funny!" was the caustic rejoinder of the younger Rodaine. Fairchild laughed, to cover the air of intensity. He knew instinctively that Anita Richmond was not talking to him simply because she had sold him a ticket to a dance and because her father might have pointed him out. He felt sure that there was something else behind it—the feeling of a debt which she owed him, a feeling of companionship engendered upon a sunlit road, during the moments of stress, and the continuance of that meeting in those few moments in the drug store, when he had handed her back her ten-dollar bill. She had called herself a cad then, and the feeling that she perhaps had been abrupt toward a man who had helped her out of a disagreeable predicament was prompting her action now; Fairchild felt sure of that. And he was glad of the fact, very glad. Again he laughed, while Rodaine eyed him narrowly. Fairchild shrugged his shoulders.

"I'm not going to believe this story until it's proven to me," came calmly.

"Who brought the news?"

Fairchild deliberately chose his words:

"A tall, thin, ugly old man, with mean squint eyes and a scar straight up his forehead."

A flush appeared on the other man's face. Fairchild saw his hands contract, then loosen.

"You're trying to insult my father!"

"Your father?" Fairchild looked at him blankly. "Wouldn't that be a rather difficult job—especially when I don't know him?"

"You described him."

"And you recognized the description."

"Maurice! Stop it!" The girl was tugging at Rodaine's sleeve. "Don't say anything more. I'm sorry—" and she looked at Fairchild with a glance he could not interpret—"that anything like this could have come up."

"I am equally so—if it has caused you embarrassment."

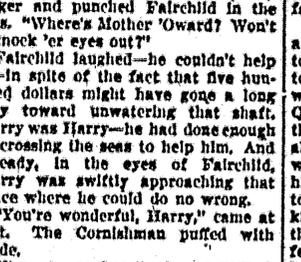

"You'll get a little embarrassment out of it yourself—before you get through!" Rodaine was scowling at him. Again Anita Richmond caught his arm.

"Maurice! Stop it! How could the thing have been premeditated when he didn't even know your father? Come—let's go on. The crowd's getting thicker."

The narrow-faced man obeyed her command, and together they turned out into the street to avoid the constantly growing throng, and to veer toward the picture show.

Carriage lights had begun to appear along the street, as miners, summoned by hurrying gossip mongers, came forward to assist in the search for the missing man. High above the general conglomeration of voices could be heard the cries of the investigator of activities, Sam Hebenfelder, bespeaking the loss of his diamond, ninety per cent of the cost of which remained to be paid. Hastily he shot through the crowd, organizing the bucket brigade and searching for news of the Argonaut pump, which had not yet arrived. Half-dragged, Fairchild turned and started up the hill, a few minutes, their carbide lamps swinging beside them, following him.

"At least I'm thankful to you for being the man you are!"

"You're Trying to Insult My Father!"

the house and pointed him out to me as the son of a former friend of his. Funny how those things happen, isn't it?"

"Decidedly funny!" was the caustic rejoinder of the younger Rodaine. Fairchild laughed, to cover the air of intensity. He knew instinctively that Anita Richmond was not talking to him simply because she had sold him a ticket to a dance and because her father might have pointed him out. He felt sure that there was something else behind it—the feeling of a debt which she owed him, a feeling of companionship engendered upon a sunlit road, during the moments of stress, and the continuance of that meeting in those few moments in the drug store, when he had handed her back her ten-dollar bill. She had called herself a cad then, and the feeling that she perhaps had been abrupt toward a man who had helped her out of a disagreeable predicament was prompting her action now; Fairchild felt sure of that. And he was glad of the fact, very glad. Again he laughed, while Rodaine eyed him narrowly. Fairchild shrugged his shoulders.

"I'm not going to believe this story until it's proven to me," came calmly.

"Who brought the news?"

Fairchild deliberately chose his words:

"A tall, thin, ugly old man, with mean squint eyes and a scar straight up his forehead."

A flush appeared on the other man's face. Fairchild saw his hands contract, then loosen.

"You're trying to insult my father!"

"Your father?" Fairchild looked at him blankly. "Wouldn't that be a rather difficult job—especially when I don't know him?"

"You described him."

"And you recognized the description."

"Maurice! Stop it!" The girl was tugging at Rodaine's sleeve. "Don't say anything more. I'm sorry—" and she looked at Fairchild with a glance he could not interpret—"that anything like this could have come up."

"I am equally so—if it has caused you embarrassment."

"You'll get a little embarrassment out of it yourself—before you get through!" Rodaine was scowling at him. Again Anita Richmond caught his arm.

"Maurice! Stop it! How could the thing have been premeditated when he didn't even know your father? Come—let's go on. The crowd's getting thicker."

The narrow-faced man obeyed her command, and together they turned out into the street to avoid the constantly growing throng, and to veer toward the picture show.

Carriage lights had begun to appear along the street, as miners, summoned by hurrying gossip mongers, came forward to assist in the search for the missing man. High above the general conglomeration of voices could be heard the cries of the investigator of activities, Sam Hebenfelder, bespeaking the loss of his diamond, ninety per cent of the cost of which remained to be paid. Hastily he shot through the crowd, organizing the bucket brigade and searching for news of the Argonaut pump, which had not yet arrived. Half-dragged, Fairchild turned and started up the hill, a few minutes, their carbide lamps swinging beside them, following him.

"At least I'm thankful to you for being the man you are!"

"It's his partner."

She moved forward then and Fairchild went to meet her.

"I'm sorry," she said, and extended her hand. Fairchild gripped it eagerly.

"Thank you, but it may not be as bad as the rumor."

"I hope not." Then quickly she withdrew her hand, and somewhat flustered, turned as her companion edged closer. "Maurice, this is Mr. Fairchild," she announced, and Fairchild could do nothing but stare. She knew his name! A second more and it was explained: "My father knew his father very well."

"I think my own father was acquainted too!" was the rejoinder, and the eyes of the two men met for an instant in conflict. The girl did not seem to notice.

"I sold him a ticket this morning to the dance, not knowing who he was. Then father happened to see him pass the house and pointed him out to me as the son of a former friend of his. Funny how those things happen, isn't it?"

"You're Trying to Insult My Father!"

"Decidedly funny!" was the caustic rejoinder of the younger Rodaine. Fairchild laughed, to cover the air of intensity. He knew instinctively that Anita Richmond was not talking to him simply because she had sold him a ticket to a dance and because her father might have pointed him out. He felt sure that there was something else behind it—the feeling of a debt which she owed him, a feeling of companionship engendered upon a sunlit road, during the moments of stress, and the continuance of that meeting in those few moments in the drug store, when he had handed her back her ten-dollar bill. She had called herself a cad then, and the feeling that she perhaps had been abrupt toward a man who had helped her out of a disagreeable predicament was prompting her action now; Fairchild felt sure of that. And he was glad of the fact, very glad. Again he laughed, while Rodaine eyed him narrowly. Fairchild shrugged his shoulders.

"I'm not going to believe this story until it's proven to me," came calmly.

"Who brought the news?"

Fairchild deliberately chose his words:

"A tall, thin, ugly old man, with mean squint eyes and a scar straight up his forehead."

A flush appeared on the other man's face. Fairchild saw his hands contract, then loosen.

"You're trying to insult my father!"

"Your father?" Fairchild looked at him blankly. "Wouldn't that be a rather difficult job—especially when I don't know him?"

"You described him."

"And you recognized the description."

"Maurice! Stop it!" The girl was tugging at Rodaine's sleeve. "Don't say anything more. I'm sorry—" and she looked at Fairchild with a glance he could not interpret—"that anything like this could have come up."

"I am equally so—if it has caused you embarrassment."

"You'll get a little embarrassment out of it yourself—before you get through!" Rodaine was scowling at him. Again Anita Richmond caught his arm.

"Maurice! Stop it! How could the thing have been premeditated when he didn't even know your father? Come—let's go on. The crowd's getting thicker."

The narrow-faced man obeyed her command, and together they turned out into the street to avoid the constantly growing throng, and to veer toward the picture show.

Carriage lights had begun to appear along the street, as miners, summoned by hurrying gossip mongers, came forward to assist in the search for the missing man. High above the general conglomeration of voices could be heard the cries of the investigator of activities, Sam Hebenfelder, bespeaking the loss of his diamond, ninety per cent of the cost of which remained to be paid. Hastily he shot through the crowd, organizing the bucket brigade and searching for news of the Argonaut pump, which had not yet arrived. Half-dragged, Fairchild turned and started up the hill, a few minutes, their carbide lamps swinging beside them, following him.

"At least I'm thankful to you for being the man you are!"

"You're Trying to Insult My Father!"

the house and pointed him out to me as the son of a former friend of his. Funny how those things happen, isn't it?"

"Decidedly funny!" was the caustic rejoinder of the younger Rodaine. Fairchild laughed, to cover the air of intensity. He knew instinctively that Anita Richmond was not talking to him simply because she had sold him a ticket to a dance and because her father might have pointed him out. He felt sure that there was something else behind it—the feeling of a debt which she owed him, a feeling of companionship engendered upon a sunlit road, during the moments of stress, and the continuance of that meeting in those few moments in the drug store, when he had handed her back her ten-dollar bill. She had called herself a cad then, and the feeling that she perhaps had been abrupt toward a man who had helped her out of a disagreeable predicament was prompting her action now; Fairchild felt sure of that. And he was glad of the fact, very glad. Again he laughed, while Rodaine eyed him narrowly. Fairchild shrugged his shoulders.

"I'm not going to believe this story until it's proven to me," came calmly.

"Who brought the news?"

Fairchild deliberately chose his words:

"A tall, thin, ugly old man, with mean squint eyes and a scar straight up his forehead."

A flush appeared on the other man's face. Fairchild saw his hands contract, then loosen.

"You're trying to insult my father!"

"Your father?" Fairchild looked at him blankly. "Wouldn't that be a rather difficult job—especially when I don't know him?"

"You described him."

"And you recognized the description."

"Maurice! Stop it!" The girl was tugging at Rodaine's sleeve. "Don't say anything more. I'm sorry—" and she looked at Fairchild with a glance he could not interpret—"that anything like this could have come up."

"I am equally so—if it has caused you embarrassment."

"You'll get a little embarrassment out of it yourself—before you get through!" Rodaine was scowling at him. Again Anita Richmond caught his arm.

"Maurice! Stop it! How could the thing have been premeditated when he didn't even know your father? Come—let's go on. The crowd's getting thicker."

The narrow-faced man obeyed her command, and together they turned out into the street to avoid the constantly growing throng, and to veer toward the picture show.

Carriage lights had begun to appear along the street, as miners, summoned by hurrying gossip mongers, came forward to assist in the search for the missing man. High above the general conglomeration of voices could be heard the cries of the investigator of activities, Sam Hebenfelder, bespeaking the loss of his diamond, ninety per cent of the cost of which remained to be paid. Hastily he shot through the crowd, organizing the bucket brigade and searching for news of the Argonaut pump, which had not yet arrived. Half-dragged, Fairchild turned and started up the hill, a few minutes, their carbide lamps swinging beside them, following him.

"At least I'm thankful to you for being the man you are!"

"You're Trying to Insult My Father!"

the house and pointed him out to me as the son of a former friend of his. Funny how those things happen, isn't it?"

"Decidedly funny!" was the caustic rejoinder of the younger Rodaine. Fairchild laughed, to cover the air of intensity. He knew instinctively that Anita Richmond was not talking to him simply because she had sold him a ticket to a dance and because her father might have pointed him out. He felt sure that there was something else behind it—the feeling of a debt which she owed him, a feeling of companionship engendered upon a sunlit road, during the moments of stress, and the continuance of that meeting in those few moments in the drug store, when he had handed her back her ten-dollar bill. She had called herself a cad then, and the feeling that she perhaps had been abrupt toward a man who had helped her out of a disagreeable predicament was prompting her action now; Fairchild felt sure of that. And he was glad of the fact, very glad. Again he laughed, while Rodaine eyed him narrowly. Fairchild shrugged his shoulders.

"I'm not going to believe this story until it's proven to me," came calmly.

"Who brought the news?"

Fairchild deliberately chose his words:

"A tall, thin, ugly old man, with mean squint eyes and a scar straight up his forehead."

A flush appeared on the other man's face. Fairchild saw his hands contract, then loosen.

"You're trying to insult my father!"

"Your father?" Fairchild looked at him blankly. "Wouldn't that be a rather difficult job—especially when I don't know him?"

"You described him."

"And you recognized the description."

"Maurice! Stop it!" The girl was tugging at Rodaine's sleeve. "Don't say anything more. I'm sorry—" and she looked at Fairchild with a glance he could not interpret—"that anything like this could have come up."

"I am equally so—if it has caused you embarrassment."

"You'll get a little embarrassment out of it yourself—before you get through!" Rodaine was scowling at him. Again Anita Richmond caught his arm.

"Maurice! Stop it! How could the thing have been premeditated when he didn't even know your father? Come—let's go on. The crowd's getting thicker."

The narrow-faced man obeyed her command, and together they turned out into the street to avoid the constantly growing throng, and to veer toward the picture show.

Carriage lights had begun to appear along the street, as miners, summoned by hurrying gossip mongers, came forward to assist in the search for the missing man. High above the general conglomeration of voices could be heard the cries of the investigator of activities, Sam Hebenfelder, bespeaking the loss of his diamond, ninety per cent of the cost of which remained to be paid. Hastily he shot through the crowd, organizing the bucket brigade and searching for news of the Argonaut pump, which had not yet arrived. Half-dragged, Fairchild turned and started up the hill, a few minutes, their carbide lamps swinging beside them, following him.

"At least I'm thankful to you for being the man you are!"

A TRUE RAT STORY

Amherst, Mass., 6-22-22.
Dear Sir: Mr. Robert T. Donnell of Amherst, Mass., has sent me the following story, and would like me to tell it to you. I sold him a box of Starn's Rat Paste, and he put some paste on the kitchen floor at night, and the next morning he found fifty-four big rats, and the second night he put out four more boxes with paste on them, and the second morning he found seventeen more rats, making a total of seventy-one rats in two nights, and there were lots more that he did not see.

This is some big rat hole, but nevertheless, it is an old-fashioned story, and I would like to let you know that you rat paste is good.

Respectfully, KIMBRO BROTHERS.
Buy a 35c Box Today
Enough to Kill 50 to 100 Rats or Mice

Don't waste time trying to kill those pests with poisons. Buy Starn's Rat Paste. It's the best. Ready for Use—Better Than Traps. Drug and General Store sell STARN'S ELECTRIC PASTE

Pat. Pending LOOM Products
Baby Carriages & Furniture

Ask Your Local Dealer

Write Now For 32-Page Illustrated Booklet

The Loom Manufacturing Company
(Incorporated in Michigan)
Dept. E
Muskegon, Michigan (17)

"I hereby solemnly promise to fill any man's pipe"

This promise is made in the letter that follows. We had sent Mr. Lewis some free samples of Edgeworth (as we do to all who ask for them). We didn't know that he was an Edgeworth smoker until we received this letter.

Niagara Falls, N. Y.
Messrs. Larns & Brother Company,
Richmond, Va.

Gentlemen:

I am a smoker of good tobacco for over 40 years and have no hesitancy in saying that of all smoking tobacco Edgeworth in my estimation occupies the first place.

Having smoked it for a number of years in many different parts of our great U.S.A., and also Alaska and Cuba—it has always given me a steady smoke-satisfaction, at all times, everywhere, regardless of climatic changes or any other horse-poo.

My object in sending for the free samples (if you will forgive me) was to determine whether or not Edgeworth was being made any different—that possibly the samples (like whiskey samples used to be) were the best and best of the whole output.

But on smoking the samples I find no difference whatever, and so I am convinced beyond the shadow of a doubt that Edgeworth always is of the same superior quality in all its forms, and further, that my little joke in asking for and receiving something for nothing will be excused by you on the plea of curiosity.

In thanking you kindly for your courtesy in sending free samples, I hereby solemnly promise to fill any man's (reasonable-sized) pipe with Edgeworth tobacco of my own purchase to convert him to that really good smoke, "Edgeworth."

Very sincerely,
(Signed) Arthur John Lewis.

Edgeworth samples are no different from the regular Edgeworth tobacco you can buy in a store. We wouldn't keep "special" samples any more than we would have a special kind of tobacco in a different pouch in our pocket to hand to a friend.

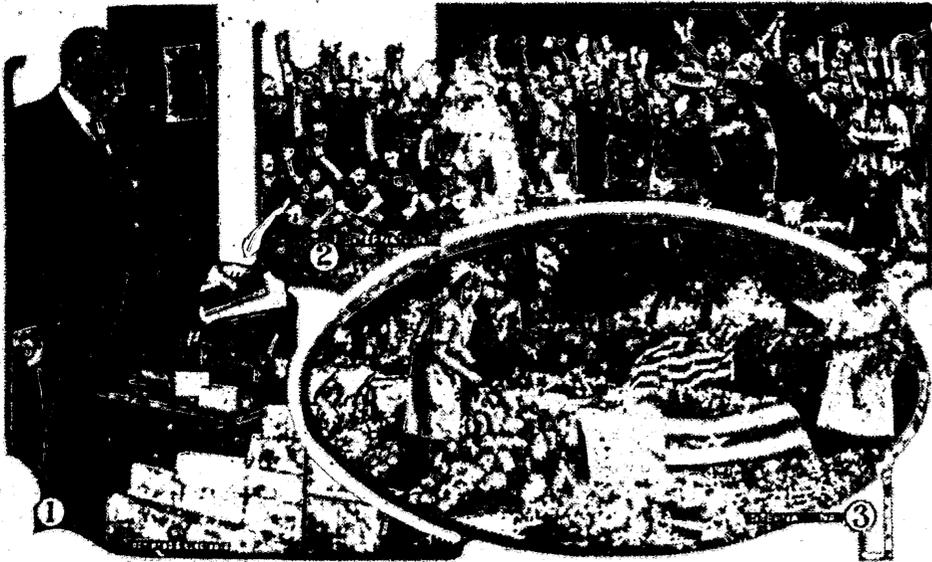

We feel that Edgeworth is good enough, that its pleasant fragrance and mellowness will appeal to most pipe-smokers. We do not think our effort is wasted if we send free samples of Edgeworth to a man who doesn't find it exactly suited to his taste.

If you never had Edgeworth, let us send you enough to fill your pipe a few times. Even if you have decided whether or not Edgeworth was "made for you."

If you'll add the name and address of your tobacco dealer, we'd appreciate the courtesy.

When you send for samples, address Larns & Brother Company, 44 South High St., Richmond, Va. To Retail Tobacco Dealers: If your dealer cannot supply you with Edgeworth, Larns & Brother Company will gladly supply you. Send for a free sample of our Edgeworth Pipe Slice or our Edgeworth Pipe Slice, and you will find it the best.

Edgeworth Pipe Slice

1—Captains Porter, chief of federal secret service in Chicago, and bogus money factory of big gang of counterfeiters uncovered in that city. 2—Scene at national conference of boy scout executives at Blue Ridge, N. C., when Daniel Carter Beard, national commissioner, was presented with gold eagle badge. 3—Girls of Jackson, Cal., laying flowers on coffins of 48 victims of the Argonaut mine disaster.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Allies Ready to Permit Turkey to Regain Her Former Territory in Europe.

KING CONSTANTINE OUSTED

Greek Army Compels Him to Abdicate and Declare for War to Keep Thrace—Federal Fuel Distributor Spends Gets Busy—Death of Senator Watson.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

OWING to the military and diplomatic skill of Mustafa Kemal Pasha and his colleagues in the Turkish Nationalist government, and to the strong determination of the people of the allied nations not to embark in another war, it is practically certain that Turkey will regain the territory in Europe which she lost in the World war and probably a considerable part of Mesopotamia, now under British mandate. Do you and your friends think the Turks are entitled to this restoration and are really no worse than most of their neighbors? Or do you believe it is worth another great war to keep them out of Europe?

CONCILIATION and concession were the order of the day in the Near East. The allies, in formally inviting the Turks to a peace conference, assured them that they "will take advantage of this opportunity to declare that they look with favor upon the desire of Turkey to recover Thrace up to the Maritza river, and Adrianople." It was even intimated that Russia would be admitted to the conference, and M. Franklin-Bouillon, who last year negotiated an agreement between the Nationalists and the French, was sent to Smyrna with a mandate to deal with Kemal. The stipulation of the allies was that the Dardanelles, the Sea of Marmora and the Bosphorus must remain free and open to all nations. The British also insisted that the neutral zone, which embraces the straits and Constantinople, must not be invaded by the Nationalists during the peace negotiations.

Early in the week Kemal gave a long interview to a correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, in which he said that he had no desire to provoke hostilities with Great Britain, but that he insisted on complete independence of the Turkish empire and complete freedom of the straits to all nations. He said Turkey had no wish to fortify the Dardanelles, but that she must control the Sea of Marmora and the Bosphorus to secure the safety of her capital—Constantinople. On Wednesday the Kemalists announced they would respect the neutrality of the straits pending an armistice conference with the British generals. They then formulated their reply to the allied peace proposals. Not given to the public at this writing, this answer is understood to provide, among other things, that the Nationalists shall occupy all strategic positions prior to the opening of the conference; that all British forces en route be recalled; that the British shall not fortify the neutral zone; that the Nationalists shall occupy Thrace before the conference, at which Russia, Ukraine and all countries bordering on the Black sea shall be represented; that if these conditions are accepted, the Nationalists agree to an armistice conference at Mudania, which is to be followed in three days by the opening of the peace conference in Smyrna.

Meanwhile Kemal, who has already expressed his distrust of the British, especially of Lloyd George, has been busy in the past few days in making arrangements for the withdrawal of the Turkish army from the Balkans, but Kemal responded that he knew of no neutral zone. To the French he explained that he had occupied these places because the British had disregarded the neutrality of the straits by permitting the Greeks to have free passage through them.

lish commanders made several demands for the withdrawal of the Turkish army from the Balkans, but Kemal responded that he knew of no neutral zone. To the French he explained that he had occupied these places because the British had disregarded the neutrality of the straits by permitting the Greeks to have free passage through them.

REVOLT by the Greek army against the government, which was expected, came on schedule time. The troops that had returned from the scene of disaster in Anatolia and were concentrated in the archipelago islands rebelled and, using battleships and destroyers as transports, sailed to the mainland and moved on Athens under the leadership of regular officers of the army and navy. Military airplanes dropped in Athens proclamations demanding the abdication of King Constantine, the formation of a ministry friendly to the allies and the sending of reinforcements to Thrace. On Wednesday the cabinet resigned and Constantine formally abdicated the throne in favor of Crown Prince George, who was sworn in. For the present a revolutionary committee is in charge of the government. The object of the coup d'etat as announced in Athens was to oust Constantine in order to unite the country in firm opposition to the Paris conference's peace terms to Mustafa Kemal Pasha and to wage an immediate and aggressive war to retain Thrace. Army and navy leaders fully support the Thracian war, and they say they can take Constantinople.

THOUGH it had been reported that Bulgaria was ready to seize the part of Thrace which she claims, Dimitri Stancloff, Bulgarian minister to England, denies this. "Bulgaria is firmly resolved to avoid participation in any military action," said he, "not only because the country is practically disarmed, but also because the new Bulgaria is an agricultural country and does not wish to risk a repetition of her previous misfortunes."

SOVIET Russia formally declared herself the champion of Islam last week. She sent a note to the entente, the Balkan nations and Egypt demanding the restoration of Turkey in Europe and warning the world that she would not recognize "any decision concerning the Turkish straits taken without her participation or arrived at against her interests."

ACCORDING to an agreement about completed between the United States and Japan, the international technical control of the Chinese Eastern railway by the Stevens commission will soon be terminated. It is provided that the commission shall cease to function upon completion of the evacuation of Japanese troops from Siberia. The Chinese government is to be made responsible for the continued operation and protection of the railway, and if it fails in this, there will be a resumption of international control. The other allied powers are in accord with this plan. That is the news that comes from Washington. From Peking come reports that put another face on the matter. The president of China has suspended the Russian Boxer indemnity of about $5,000,000 annually and the soviet government, in its reply of protest, intimates that it will seize the Chinese Eastern railway.

GREAT BRITAIN has offered to pay $50,000,000 of interest due the United States, and the World war debt funding commission has been considering the proposition. At the rate of 5 per cent, the interest due in the next two installments, October 15 and November 15, amounts to $26,000,000, but the funding law authorizes a rate of 4 1/2 per cent, so it is suggested that the $50,000,000 be paid October 15 and adjustments be worked out with Sir Robert Borne, who is coming over soon. Congressman Burton of Ohio, who is a member of the funding commission, is in London, and at a luncheon attended by prominent financiers he said plainly that the United States expected Great Britain to pay in full. He pointed out that people, by loans from the American people, who had no reason to expect that they would not be repaid. He also drew attention to the American suspicion that if the loans were forgiven the money thus released might be used in new wars.

CONRAD E. SPENS, railway official of Chicago, who was appointed federal fuel distributor under the act passed by congress, started in by warning the various states that his powers do not extend to coal mined and sold within a given state and their officials must look after that end of the proposition. He then asked eight leading railway executives to serve as an advisory committee in the fuel transportation emergency and named 13 prominent business men as members of an advisory committee for industry, to keep in touch with the distribution of fuel supplies for industries in their respective districts. Large industrial consumers are asked to confine their purchases of coal under present conditions as closely to current needs as safety permits; to suspend accumulation of advance stocks of coal until the present emergency pressure on production is relieved; to unload coal cars immediately and return them to service and to promptly furnish material required for new railroad equipment or repairs.

THE grand jury in Marion, Ill., which investigated the Herrin coal mine massacre, indicted 78 men for participation in the outrage, 41 of them for murder. All of the latter group have been put under arrest, and of the total 20 are still at large. Eight of those accused of murder are held without bail. The others were released on bonds, which were furnished by the leading citizens of Marion. The defense of the men, as already outlined by their lawyers, will be, in brief, that this is a "private persecution by a political boss and a laboring organization," the allusion being to Attorney General Brundage and the Illinois Chamber of Commerce.

FEDERAL JUDGE WILKERSON in Chicago formally entered the temporary injunction obtained by Attorney General Daugherty against the railway shippers, having sustained it on all points. The proceedings were perfunctory and the attorneys for the union did not concern themselves with the form of the order. They said they hoped to be permitted to take the case direct to the Supreme court of the United States on appeal.

SOME twenty thousand veterans of the Civil war assembled in Des Moines, Ia., for the fifty-sixth national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. On Wednesday three-fourths of these grizzled warriors, escorted by two regiments of the regular army, marched in the yearly parade—an event that grows more and more pathetic as the years pass. They were reviewed by their commander-in-chief, Lewis S. Plicher, and by Hanford MacNider, national commander of the American Legion. One tragedy marked the occasion. M. J. Mackenhausen of White Bear Lake, Minn., dropped dead after two hours of marching. Judge J. W. Willett of Tama, Ia., was elected commander-in-chief for the coming year.

THOMAS E. WATSON, United States senator from Georgia, one of the most fiery political figures of the time, died suddenly of asthma Tuesday in Washington. For 40 years he was active in state and national politics, and he was the Populist nominee for vice president in 1896 and for President in 1904. The Populists elected him to the house of representatives in 1891, and in 1920 he was elected senator. He was opposed to Woodrow Wilson and his policies and was especially against the League of Nations.

ACCORDING to the Freeman's Journal of Dublin, Eamon de Valera has abdicated as leader of the Irish republicans and Liam Lynch has succeeded him. The newspaper says this destroys hope of a rational peace as Lynch is driving his followers to fight to the bitter end. The republicans are fighting to their death.

LOCALITY MADE DIFFERENCE

According to Uncle Silas, Horses Evidently Do Not Lead a Fast Life in Boontown.

People in Boontown were used to Uncle Silas' way of talking and enjoyed it; but at last there came, as a member of the summer colony, a man who had a desire to set everything and everybody straight, according to his ideas. "What's the sense of your referring to that animal of yours as a 'colt'?" demanded this person one day. "How old is he?" "Well, he is going on eleven years," said Uncle Silas, mildly. "Eleven years?" sneered the man. "Well, we should call that pretty ancient for a colt—in New York." "I think likely you would," said Uncle Silas, without rancor, but with considerable firmness in his tone; "but perhaps 'twould be well to consider, sir, that this colt of mine resides in Boontown, where eleven years is pretty young for a horse."—Philadelphia Ledger.

DYED HER DRAPERIES, SKIRT AND A SWEATER WITH "DIAMOND DYES"

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple that any woman can dye or tint faded, shabby skirts, dresses, waists, coats, sweaters, stockings, hangings, draperies, everything like new. Buy "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—then perfect home dyes is guaranteed—even if you have never dyed before. Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak, spot, fade, or run. So easy to use.—Advertisement.

LITTLE DIFFERENCE IN POETS

Mr. J. Fuller Gloom Comments on Strain That Seems to Be Common to All of Them.

It is related of Tennyson—not Tennyson J. Draft, but that other and equally asphyxiating poet, Alfred Lord Tennyson—"stated J. Fuller Gloom, "that at one time he took certain visitors up onto the roof of his house to show them a view, which in all probability he wished to give the impression he had made. Presently a woman and child were observed in the distance, running in their direction, and Tennyson would have it that they were hurrying to catch a glimpse of him. A moment later a bull was seen charging out from behind a clump of bushes, palpably in pursuit of the two. Thereupon Tennyson, true to form, declared that the gentleman cow was also trying to get a good look at the world's greatest poet. From this we should learn that the birds of the good old times were fully as silly and conceited as they are today."—Kansas City Star.

Thoughtful. An old Irishman was struggling along the highroad with a heavy bundle, when a friend passed in a cart. It was a hot day, so the friend, thinking Pat would be glad of a lift, said: "Jump up here, old man." Pat was delighted and, after climbing up, rested his bundle carefully on his knee. "Put your bundle on the seat," said his friend. "Oh, no," Pat answered. "Since you are so good as to give me a ride, I'll not be after asking you to carry me bundle as well!"

Naval Battles of the War.

The principal naval battles of the World war were the battle of Heligoland Light, August 28, 1914; the battle of Coronel, November 1, 1914; the battle of the Falkland Islands, December 8, 1914; the battle of the Dogger Banks, January 23, 1915; and the battle of Jutland, May 31, 1916. There were many other sharp engagements, but hardly of sufficient importance to be dignified with the title of battle.

A UNION OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Healthy Housewife—Happy Home

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Helped Form Many

For the ailing, half-sick housewife such a union is impossible. Often times even the slightest form of housework cannot be accomplished. Yet the work must be done. Many women struggle along for years suffering from some form of female trouble that makes their lives miserable and their homes far from happy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped thousands of just such women regain their health and strength. Just give your thought to the following letters and remember that the women who wrote these letters knew how they felt before taking the Vegetable Compound and again afterwards. It helped them—let it help you.

Had Nervous Spells
Horatio, Ark.—"I had nervous spells and awful bad feelings. My right side and my back hurt me all the time and I had been going down in health for six or seven years. For three years I had not been able to do my work without help. I weighed only 95 pounds when my husband's mother persuaded me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Now I heartily recommend it to all suffering women, as I have gained weight and health. I can do all my work, anything I want to do."—Mrs. JIM REARICK, Horatio, Arkansas.

Reading, Pa.—"I was a nervous wreck and could hardly do my housework. I always had to have help or I would never have got it done. Through the advice of friends I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my nerves and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine for my blood and I am feeling fine and doing my work all alone. I can recommend these medicines to any one, for they certainly helped me. I suffered for five years and Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines pulled me through."—Mrs. WALTER U. STROYER, 1218 Mulberry St., Reading, Pa.

Recommends the Vegetable Compound

New Orleans, La.—"I have found relief from my troubles by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I praise it wherever I go. I could not do my work as it should be done for I would sometimes have to lie down because of the pains I had. A friend induced me to take your Vegetable Compound and I have got great results from it. I keep house and am able to do all my own work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to mine."—Mrs. T. FOECKE, 1915 N. Derbigny St., New Orleans, La.

HORSES COUGHING? USE

Spohn's Distemper Compound

to break it up and get them back in condition. Thirty years' use has made "Spohn's" indispensable in treating coughs and colds, laryngitis and distemper with their resulting complications, and all diseases of the throat, nose and lungs. Acts marvelously as preventive; acts equally well as cure. Sold in two sizes at all drug stores. SPOHN MEDICAL COMPANY GOSHEN, INDIANA

SICK HEADACHE

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. They restore the organs to their proper functions and Headache and the cause of it pass away.

THEY REGULATE THE BOWELS and PREVENT CONSTIPATION

Created by Dr. J. C. Carter, Small Pills, Small Dose, Small Price

AT LEAST SHE MADE ATTEMPT

But Probably Girl Is More Than Ever Convinced Public Speaking Is Not Her Forte.

My cousin had always been a most timid girl, finding it difficult to say much even before home folks, let alone strangers. She was a member of a church society. One of the rules was that each member must take some part in the meetings. She had tried and tried, but could never get her courage up at the last minute. Finally, the leader, to help her out, gave her some Scripture verses to read. They read as follows: "And bring hither the fatted calf and kill it." Mazie started the verse, and to her utter dismay, found herself saying: "And bring hither the fatted calf and kill it." She could read no further and sat down amid giggles. Chicago Tribune.

European "Currency."

The continental traveler deposited an enormous bag inside the table in the restaurant car. The conductor promptly rebuked him. "Don't you know you can't bring your luggage in here. You'll have to put that bag in the van." "Luggage," answered the traveler. "That isn't luggage. That's my purse. I'm going to Austria."

Had You Ever Noticed It?

That nature is full of simple facts of scientific importance yet awaiting notice by open eyes and minds is shown by the achievement of a Dutch schoolboy named Van Erpecura, who, during a lesson in physics, given to the high school at Batavia, called Dr. Van Deventer's attention to the fact that water in a glass filled to the brim with water and floating ice does not flow over as the ice melts. In fact, no change of level whatever occurs. Dr. Van Deventer communicated this observation to Professors Van der Wallis and Zeeman, who thought it of sufficient importance to be placed before the Royal Academy of Amsterdam. It is proposed to call the phenomenon the "law of the permanent level."

His Condition.

"Nowt spraddles is getting better bodily, but a heap worse politically," stated Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "What's the matter with him, anyhow?" asked an acquaintance. "Why, a couple of weeks ago an Hon came along and snatched him out of his wagon by means of a corral handstake and dum' nigh broke his back. He says yarrater he'll vote ag'in the Glorious Old Party, even if it kills him." Kansas City Star.

Some people are naturally nervous, while others have prickly heat.

No. 72 New York Now! 1922

I do hereby promise to pay in sleepless nights

Mr. Coffee Drinker

Why sign notes at the dining table?

IF your mealtime cup of coffee leads you into midnight wakefulness and mid-afternoon drowsiness (as so often happens) why not stop giving the promise to pay?

It is so easy to keep out of debt by turning to Postum.

Postum is a satisfying, mealtime drink, rich in flavor and aroma—and with no regretful settlements, afterward.

Why not try Postum instead of coffee today, and pave the way to better health and happiness?

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in time) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared made by boiling fully 20 minutes.

Postum FOR HEALTH "There's a Reason"

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET

For U. S. Senator A. A. JONES
For Congress J. M. MORROW
For Governor JAMES F. WINKLE
For Lieut. Governor JOSE A. BACA
For Secretary of State SOLEDAD CHACON
For Attorney General MILTON J. HELMICK
For Land Commissioner JUSTINIANO BACA
For Treasurer JOHN W. CORBIN
For State Superintendent ISABEL ECKLES
For Auditor JUAN VIGIL
Corporation Commr. BONIFACIO MONTOTA
Supreme Court Justice SAM G. BRATTON
Representative 10th Dist. MERRITT L. FINLEY

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY TICKET

For Sheriff ED W. HARRIS
For Treasurer and Collector HARRY G. NORMAN
For Clerk and Recorder MALFON M. TREAT
For Assessor JOHN L. BRYAN
For Probate Judge W. E. KIMBRELL
For Surveyor BEN F. VADOLKS
For Supt. of Schools LOUISE F. COE
For Commissioners
1st District - EUGENE C. DOW
2nd District - MELVIN FRANKS
3rd District - ROBT. H. TAYLOR

Carrizozo News

Entered as Second Class Matter at the Postoffice at Carrizozo, New Mexico, June 2, 1903.
Oldest and Leading Newspaper in Circulation in Lincoln County, New Mexico
Subscription, in advance, $2.00 per Year
Advertising Rates (able to all) furnished upon request
JNO. A. HALEY - Editor and Publisher

FRIDAY, OCT. 13, 1922

Jim Reed's Respect For The Truth

The other day Senator Reed told an audience in Missouri that if the United States had "entered into an alliance such as the League we would now be preparing to send our boys across the ocean to fight alongside Greeks and British against the Turks."

This will be news to the Greeks. They will be surprised to learn that being a member of the League means rushing troops to Asia Minor to help them against the Turks. And when they notice that no member of the League has sent a soldier to help them they will wonder why the United States, if a member of the League, would behave so differently. For Argentina is a member, but not an Argentinian soldier is on his way to help them. Sweden is a member, but not a Swedish soldier is being sent to Asia Minor. Great Britain is a member of the League, but all the British troops in Asia Minor are there not to help the Greeks but to protect British interests.

And finally, the United States is not a member of the League, but twenty American destroyers have been sent to Turkish waters. We have more military forces at this moment on the way to the seat of trouble than any member of the League except Great Britain and France. We are the only important Nation in the Western Hemisphere that is not in the League and we are also the only Nation in the Western Hemisphere that has sent armed forces to Turkey.

If Senator Reed had any interest in the truth he would have noted these facts. He has no interest in the truth. He is a reckless demagogue who will exploit any falsehood to score a point.

With men of his type popular government becomes almost unworkable. For popular government rests on discussion, but if anything useful is to be done as the result of discussion the man who lead the debate must have loyalty to truth. Reed has no loyalty, and that is why he is an opponent it is his

Miss Eckles for School Supt.

Baca for Land Commissioner

Vigil for Auditor

Mrs. Chacon for Secretary of State

That Tariff about which the Republicans in New Mexico enthuse is called by Arizona's Republican Senator, Cameron, some unpleasant things. He said in regard to the "protection" given eastern manufacturers while Western interests were allowed to drift for themselves:

"The story is easy to tell. The great Tire manufacturers and spinners, all interests using the raw material (long staple cotton) who were already rolling in war profits, not content with tariff protection provided for their finished products, organized in the old-fashioned way, turned loose their money and, for no good reason, smashed this great industry and wiped out the chances of the people for an honest living."

Senator Jones opposed that tariff bill because it made it possible for New England and other Eastern manufacturers to loot the public while Western land and stock interests were given no assistance.

Hinkle for Governor

Morrow for Congress

Bratton for Supreme Court

Helmick for Attorney General

Government Revenues

For three and a half years the Republicans have absolutely controlled the Congress and for nine teen months have had all branches of the government. The war ended almost four years ago. All war expenses have ended excepting interests on bonds, the care of the injured soldiers and the widows and orphans, and other smaller items. After deducting all of these, it is found that the present administration is spending more than twice as much per annum as the Wilson administration was using just before the war. For more than a year every republican who made a speech on the subject has loudly claimed that the administration was saving money and cutting appropriations. They have used every system of juggling known to financial sharpers and three-card monte men, but in the end the President himself, faced by the fear of the bonus adding fresh embarrassments to the Treasury, has had to admit that all their claims were false. In the necessity of giving a clinching reason why the bonus should not be paid he admits that the expenses of the Government in the present fiscal year (from midnight of June 30, 1922, to midnight of June 30, 1923) are running two-thirds of a billion ahead of the income of the Treasury. It has not been a month since Republican leaders in Congress were vociferating loudly about saving 75 millions per month; only a few months ago General Dawes listed hundreds of items as "savings" most of which were unexpended balances of appropriations some of them 18 or 20 years old. But all were listed as "saved this year." One was an old unspent balance left after digging the Panama Canal; another was the sum of $5,000 voted 16 years ago to the widow of a New England Senator; she was rich and would not accept it, so it remained in the Treasury. It is now claimed as one of the "economies" of the Harding administration. A few years of such "economy" would put Uncle Sam in the hands of the Sheriff.

Condensed Statement of the FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF CARRIZOZO, N. M. At the close of business Monday, October 9, 1922.

Table with columns RESOURCES and LIABILITIES. Resources include Loans and Discounts ($204,529.60), Overdrafts (897.59), Bank Bldg and Lot (11,050.00), Federal Reserve stock (1,800.00), CASH AND SIGHT EXCHANGE (61,421.24), Undivided Profits (267.63), Interest Earned, Not Collected (5,319.79). Total Resources: $285,285.85. Liabilities include Capital Stock ($50,000.00), Surplus (9,500.00), DEPOSITS (225,480.28), Interest Collected, Not Earned (305.57). Total Liabilities: $285,285.85.

I certify that the above statement is correct.

E. M. BRICKLEY, Cashier.

DIRECTORS: H. B. JONES, President; PAUL MAYNE, Vice President; DAVID T. BEALS; O. Z. FINLEY; E. M. BRICKLEY. P. W. MAYER, Asst. Cashier.

In order that we may merit the confidence of our friends, we have kept our bank safe at all times.

"TRY FIRST NATIONAL SERVICE" Save and be Safe

FEED YARD HAY AND GRAIN IN CAR LOTS All Competition Met in Prices on These Commodities Roomy Yard - Stalls - Water Coal and Wood Wm. Barnett EL PASO AVENUE

Good Roads

Work on the new road around the rocky hill northwest of town on the Cedarvale road is being pushed rapidly under the supervision of Mr. Pete Burleson of Lincoln. Mr. Burleson is an experienced road builder, having had many years of such work in Lincoln and other counties.

The completion of the new road will, we believe, bring many people to Corona to do their trading who have theretofore gone elsewhere on account of the almost impassable old road.

Dance at White Oaks

The local Democratic Committee will give a dance at White Oaks Tuesday night, October 17. Everybody is not only welcome but are urged to be present to enjoy the evening and to meet the Democratic committee who will be present on their occasion. Reservations are also being made for serving that delicious punch and everybody will be in to

New Pastor Arrives

Rev. J. M. Glazier arrived Tuesday from Magdalena where he has been located the past year. He has been assigned by the conference to the pastorate of the Methodist church here for the coming year, and will preach next Sunday at the M. E. church; morning service at 11:00 o'clock; evening service at 7:30. Mrs. Glazier and the two children are now in Denver and the pastor expects them to join him sometime in the future. We extend a hearty welcome to the new pastor.

New Store Opens

A new store will open for business Monday of next week, and will be located next door to the Lincoln State Bank. Basila Bros., of El Paso, are the owners, and their goods are now arriving. They have a force of men engaged in building shelves, counters, etc., and are arranging their goods as rapidly as the furnishings are completed. The new concern has leased the building for a year, and, as stated, expect to be ready to serve the public Monday.

The Titsworth Co., Inc. WHOLESALE AND RETAIL We carry in stock— Fresh Fruit Fruit Jars Jar Rubbers Cement Lime Chicken netting Hog fence Grain bags Steel and Felt roofing Doors Window glass and sash Building paper Pump engines Wagon skeins, timber, Etc. Lubricating oils Dry batteries Paints and oils Black Leaf "40" Black Aggressin Patent Medicines, Etc. Our prices are reasonable The Titsworth Company, Inc. CAPITAN, NEW MEXICO

Nervous Break-Down MRS. ANNIE LANGE, of R. F. D. 1, Burlingon, Tex., writes as follows regarding her experience with Cardui: "Some time ago I had a nervous breakdown of some kind. I was very weak and so nervous. I had fainting spells and suffered a great deal, but more from the weak, trembly, no-account feeling than anything else. I knew I needed a tonic, and needed it badly. I began the use of Cardui to see if I couldn't get some strength, as I knew of other cases that had been helped by its use. I soon saw a great improvement, so I kept it up. I used seven bottles of Cardui, and can say the money was well spent, for I grew well and strong. Am now able to do all my housework and a great deal of work besides." If you are weak, run-down, nervous and suffer from the ailments peculiar to women, it is very likely that Cardui will help you, in the way it helped Mrs. Lange and has helped thousands of others, during the past 40 years. Ask for, and insist on, Cardui. CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Parsons News Letter

Mrs. O. S. Stearns entertained the Neighborhood Club Saturday night. The evening was spent with music and games after which a bountiful supper was served.

The nearly extinguished flame of mining interest seems to be flickering again. One spark seems to be centered in the "Chinaman," a property on the Bonito owned by Mr. O. E. Warren.

Mr. C. A. Body a mining man who has been looking over the mining industry for some time along the Bonito has concluded to do some development work in Krout Gulch—on property belonging to Ed Peters.

Mrs. Geo. T. A. Worth and daughter Elizabeth were week end guests of the Rice family.

Mrs. O. S. Stearns and son Johnson have gone in a short trip to Ohio.

Mrs. Wilber Coe accompanied by Miss Mildred Peters made a campaign trip to Parsons and community during the latter part of the week, forestalling the merits of her opposition in the mind and hearts of the people.

Mr. and Mrs. Donnelly of Carrizozo were among the week visitors at Parsons.

The flaming colors of September have left our hills, but with the golden browns of October they are no less attractive and any one visiting the mountains at this time will be well repaid for the trip.

The Entertainers

The Carrizozo Entertainers call attention to a slight change in their programme for Oct. 19, 1922.

- 1. Piano Solo.....Fralde In G Sharp Minor Mrs. J. H. Mims
2. Solo....."One Floating Hour" G. Hilary Cooper
3. Solo....."Banahine and Balle" Raymond Luskland
4. Novelty Piano Solo....."You Tell 'Em I'm In Love" Geo. H. Ferguson
5. Solo....."Second Hand Rose" Carolyn Roberts
6. Chorus....."New Flakes" 7 people 7th and 8th Grades, Public Schools
7. Solo....."In Old Madrid" Mrs. E. D. Boone
8. Oriental Macabre Dance.....Almor Merwan Glesler Chorus....."Mrs. O'Hara's" (Ferguson's Orchestra)
Note No. 7 has been changed from a duet by Hilary Cooper and Mrs. E. D. Boone to a solo by Mrs. E. D. Boone.
No. 8 will be rendered by a lady passing through Carrizozo who will dance masked and refuses to have her name divulged.
There will be a six-piece orchestra, operating of Ferguson, Pitts, McCarty, Burke, Appelget and Wright.

Obituary

NANCY JANE PRICE

Nancy Jane Wilson was born near St. Thomas, Osage County, Mo., on July 3, 1859, and died September 7, 1922, aged 63 years, 3 months and 4 days. She was the daughter of Lindsay and Nancy Jane Wilson. She attended college at Weaubleau City, Mo., and was there married to Madison H. Price and moved to Whitehall, Ill. From there she moved to Salem, Ark., then to Indian Territory and back to Missouri, later coming west to Roswell and Jicarilla, N. Mex. About 1909 she came to Ancho where she has since resided.

She was the mother of five children, three of whom live to mourn her loss, Robert Cecil, William Floyd and Lillian Irene. Three brothers, Isaac, William and Hugh Wilson and one sister Elizabeth Roberts, also survive her.

She was a devoted mother, a faithful Christian and a loving daughter, caring many years for her aged and helpless mother. She never recovered from the

Ruidoso News Items

The corn crop in our section is very limited owing to the dry season. The hay crop is fairly good but indications are there will be no great amount for sale near here.

Mrs. F. A. Miller who has been ill is now recovering.

Mrs. Neel of Roswell is visiting her son, Herbert Neel, and family.

P. G. Hale marketed two loads of apples in Carrizozo this week.

We enjoyed a day's visit at the Upper Ruidoso school last week. We were most favorably impressed with the work being done. The co-operation between teacher and pupils is very evident and we bespeak a term of good work for the school. Miss Josephine Stetson is teaching her second term in this district.

Mrs. Ike Wingfield is the possessor of a new car. The old car is doing good service as means of transportation for about six or eight pupils to school each day.

Herbert Neel has purchased Geo. Wilson's Ford truck and is hauling cabbage to Roswell where Mr. Wilson is distributor for the Davis-Neel crop of cabbage.

A prominent weekly periodical commenting upon the lack of religious teaching of the young of this land states that seven out of every ten of the youth "receive no formal religious training." Then follows this question—"How long may a nation endure, 7 out of 10 of whose children and youth receive no systematic instruction in the religious and moral sanctions upon which its democratic institution rest?"

Too true this is, for we find through out our own county a laxness along this line. Why not a weekly gathering in each community for religious training of our young?

Old Timer,

Corporation Commissioner

Bonifacio Montoya, the Democratic candidate for re-election as corporation commissioner, first gained public recognition for his conspicuous service in combating the threatened destruction of the Bernalillo ditch by the Rio Grande.

Born in Bernalillo fifty-four years ago, Commissioner Montoya was educated in the district schools there and at St. Michael's. He has lived in Bernalillo virtually all of the time, with the exception of his term as corporation commissioner, which necessitated his residence in Santa Fe. The commissioner was county school director and commissioner of the Bernalillo Ditch.

When the Rio Grande manaced the ditch and the Santa Ana Pueblo, Commissioner Montoya arranged a project which included the construction of wings in the Rio Grande, saving the pueblo and the ditch. The cost of this was divided so that the Indian service paid two thirds of the bill.

Mr. Montoya received the Republican and Independent endorsement for assessor of Sandoval County in 1906, entering the election without opposition. The following election found him the county's choice for school superintendent, which place he held until 1916. Commissioner Montoya then was elected to his present post and has filled that office in a manner which commends him for re-election.

STATEMENT OF OWNERSHIP, MANAGER MONT, etc., of Carrizozo News, Carrizozo, New Mexico, as of October 1, 1922.
Name of the Publisher, Editor and Business Manager, and the address of the office of each of them, and the address of the principal office of the publication.
Name of the publication.
Date of issue.
Number of copies printed.
Number of copies distributed.
Number of copies not distributed.
Total number of copies.
Name and address of the printer.
Name and address of the circulation agent.
Name and address of the advertising agent.
Name and address of the subscription agent.
Name and address of the circulation agent.
Name and address of the advertising agent.
Name and address of the subscription agent.

WHOLESOME BREAD

delicious biscuit, cake and pastries that melt in your mouth—that is the reputation we enjoy. All we want is to have you try us once. We know what the result will be. And you will like it.

Pure Food Bakery C. H. HAINES PROPRIETOR

WESTERN LUMBER COMPANY, Inc. (Successor to Foxworth-Salbraith Co.) Dealer in Lumber, Shingles, Doors, Sash, Mouldings, Hardware and Building Material generally. With a large stock and lower prices, we solicit the trade of the people of Lincoln County. Carrizozo Western Lumber Co., Inc. NEW MEX. Phone 39 D. R. STEWART, Manager.

LOOK! Can You Beat This? A Suit made to your measure, with an extra pair of Pants, For $25.00 AT THE Oklahoma Tailor Shop CLEANING AND PRESSING A SPECIALTY

Special Facilities For Banquet and Dinner Parties. Carrizozo Eating House E. H. SWEET, Manager Table Supplied with the Best the market affords.

Skinner's Shoe Hospital Boots Made To Order Best Leather Reasonable Prices Style of Work Shoes in Stock Old Shoes Made as Good as New Return Charges Will be Paid on Parcel Post Orders

Crystal Theatre Wednesday, Oct. 18. 25 & 50c Have you ever been a King? At any rate, you'll want to see this picture from the novel of glorious adventure by Anthony Hope. Rex Ingram Production of The Prisoner of Zenda

Prison Politics

Santa Fe, Sept. 29.—Democrats are holding up the prison-killing as another instance of why New Mexico should oust Republicans from office.

Politics alone, they maintained, actuates the movements of the men elected by the Republican leaders. The wishes of the majority members of the party are of no consequence. The penitentiary board, composed of Republicans and Democrats, returned a recommendation to the Governor that the warden be removed.

If the governor felt that such a recommendation, twice made, should be followed, he did not let his own judgment rule. He could not. The Republican leaders stands in the way of correct procedure. The right thing would be the wrong thing for the party. The warden is a favorite with a wing of the Republican faction. He must be retained because that crowd wants him in office.

Republicans and Democrats would not tolerate such conduct in their own circles, but they are compelled to accept the situation when their dictators so decree.

In an address in Santa Fe, James F. Hinkle, gubernatorial candidate on the Democratic ticket, declared, "I would have fired that man in thirty minutes."

Such official action would have been to the credit of New Mexico. But it is possible to have the correct thing done only through the election of officers who put business administration only into their work. Such officials are possible in the Democratic nominees.

Baptist Church

(T. M. BLACKLOCK, PASTOR, PRESENT)

Rev. A. L. Maddox, State Evangelist, will preach morning and evening.

On Sunday evening October 22, Rev. U. S. Villars will speak in interest of the Red Cross. All the citizens of Carrizozo should be at this meeting. Remember the date, not next Sunday, but Oct. 22.

October 31 closes our conventional year. O. H. Haines, Mrs. T. M. Blacklock and the pastor have been elected to represent the church at the state convention at Tucumcari Nov. 9-12. Others are planning to attend.

Cattle Sales

B. L. Stimmel has concluded a sale of five car loads of cattle to a Los Angeles concern. This sale consisted of dry cows from the Ed Haskins ranch in Jicarilla. Mr. Stimmel has also contracted a number of other cars of cattle, some of whom were bought by Senator Mitchell, of Mosquero. However, no deliveries have been made, because cars are not available for transportation.

Crystal Theatre

- Sat. Oct. 14—"Her Nite of Nites" featuring Marie Provost "Off His Beat" featuring Harry Sweet (Comedy) (Consolidated)
Mon. Oct. 16—"Man of the Forest" with Robert McKim and Claire Adams. This is one of Zane Greys famous stories. (W. W. Hodgkinson)
Tue. Oct. 17—"An Ah Star Pioneer Picture, title not known.
Wed. Oct. 18—"Prisoner of Zenda" featuring Alice Terry. A big special feature—admission 25c and 50c.
Thu. Oct. 19—Carrizozo Entertainers.
Fri. Oct. 20—"White Eagle 6" "What Women will Do"—(Pinks)

The Most Unkindest

It must have been a shock to President Harding and members of his administration when they saw in a recent issue of the Washington Herald, a paper in which Secretary Hoover was formerly one of the owners, and still owned by his former associates, a cartoon somewhat as follows:

"President Harding is seated in the living-room of a house talking into a telephone to a stout woman far away labeled Congress. Congress while behind him the entire visible part of the room is on fire, the fire being labeled "Transportation Tie-up". He is saying: "Oh, Arabella, the house is on fire and I wish you'd come home so I can take up with you the matter of calling out the fire department."

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

W. T. BROTHERS

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW Practice in State and Federal Courts Law Office—Next Door to Exchange Bank Carrizozo, New Mex

A. H. HUDSPETH

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW Office: Exchange Bank Building Carrizozo - New Mexico

GEO. B. BARBER

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW Carrizozo : New Mexico

GEORGE SPENCE

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW Rooms 3 and 4, Exchange Bank Bldg. CARRIZOZO, : : NEW MEXICO

FRANK J. SAGER

FIRE INSURANCE Notary Public Office in Exchange Bank, Carrizozo.

R. E. BLANEY

DENTIST Office in Exchange Bank Bldg Upstairs

T. E. KELLEY

Funeral Director and Licensed Embalmer Phone 90 CARRIZOZO NEW MEXICO

LINCOLN ABSTRACT & INVESTMENT TRUST

Phone 119 CARRIZOZO, N. M. ABSTRACTS--ALL KINDS OF INSURANCE.

Carrizozo Lodge,

No. 41,

A. F. & A. M.

Regular Communications of Carrizozo Lodge No. 41, A. F. & A. M., for 1922:

January 7, February 11, March 11, April 1 May 9, June 5, July 5, August 5, Sept. 5 & 30 Nov. 4, Dec. 2 and 27. G. P. HOFFMANN, W. M., S. F. MILLER, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.

Carrizozo Lodge

NO. 30

Carrizozo, N. M. Regular meeting nights, 1st and 3rd Tuesdays in each month.

AUSTIN WOOTEN, N. G. WM. J. LANGSTON, Sec'y.

We Sell for Cash Only

TWO DELIVERIES

9:30 a.m. 3:30 p.m.

Open from 8 to 9 a.m.

Sundays

WE KEEP ICE

City Market

Is Backache Crippling You?

Is that dull, nagging backache making it hard for you to get around? Are you lame, sore and tortured with sharp, rheumatic pains? It's time, then, you gave some attention to your kidneys!

A Wyoming Case

Abraham, in-Idaho, 1860, was a young man, 21 years old, who was afflicted with a severe case of kidney trouble. He was unable to work and his back was so sore and lame that he was unable to stand.

Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Suspicious That Hurt.

Suspicious that the mind of itself grasps, are but buzzes; but suspicions that are artificially nourished and put into the minds of others, have stings.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

A young man who practiced medicine in Pennsylvania became famous and was called in consultation in many towns and cities because of his success in the treatment of disease.

WATCH THE BIG 4

Stomach-Kidneys-Heart-Liver Keep the vital organs healthy by regularly taking the world's standard remedy for kidney, liver, bladder and uric acid troubles.

GOLD MEDAL HAZLETON

The National Remedy of Holland for catarrhes and endorsed by Queen Wilhelmina. At all druggists, three sizes.

Skin Eruptions Are Usually Due to Constipation

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowels to keep the food waste soft and moving.

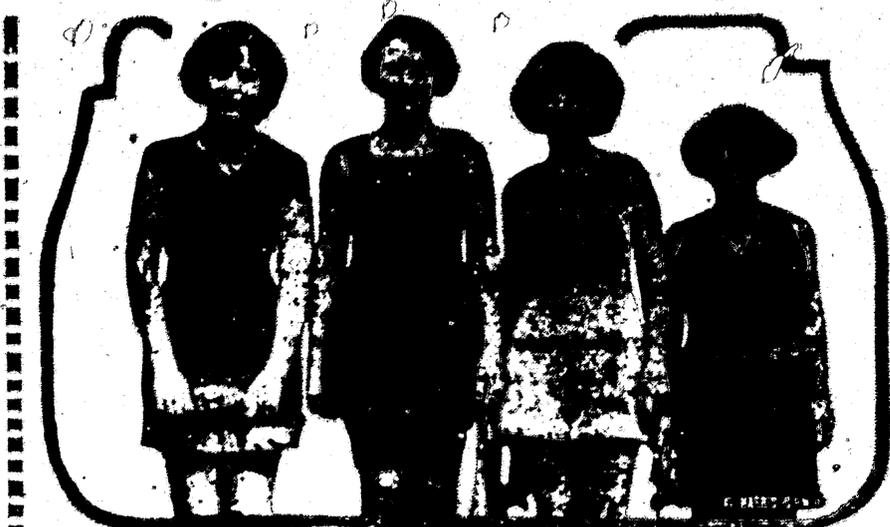

Nujol

ALL RHEUMATISM NOT A CATAVRA

Cuticura Soap

The Safety Razor Shaving Soap

Washington's Four Most Beautiful Young Women

"Miss Washington," Miss Evelyn Lewis (second from the left), winner of Washington's 1922 beauty contest.

Fight Fire and Water in Wreck

American Professor, Wife and Children Have Exciting Experience in Argentine.

OIL-LADEN VESSEL BLOWS UP

Battle in Water With Fear-Crazed Passengers—Burning Oil Spreads Over Water and Many Are Horribly Burned.

New York.—A burning ship surrounded by a sea of blazing gasoline, attacks by passengers crazed with fear that threatened to impede escape and the buffeting of rough waves were the obstacles that Professor Edward K. Kemmerer of Princeton University, his wife and two children battled against and overcame when the steamer Villefrance was wrecked in the Parana river, Argentine, last June.

Professor Kemmerer, a noted economist, who was at one time financial adviser to the Mexican and Guatemalan governments, returned recently with his family.

"We were awakened at 2 a. m. by a roaring explosion," Professor Kemmerer began. "We were in bed and jumped out clad only in our night clothing. Running to the companionway, we found the ship ablaze from stem to stern.

Bull Attacks Trainman When Engine Struck It

Knocked down by a locomotive when it wandered on the railroad tracks in front of a train near Braintree, Mass., a big bull chased a flagman who descended from the last car in the train and walked back along the tracks with his red flag in his hand.

WILL TAP LAST BIG PINE FOREST

Great Tract in Oregon to Be Laid Under the Axe.

Will Be Out in Rotation as Its Timber Will Never Give Out—When Last Unit Is Out First Will Be Ready for Cutting Again.

Washington.—The last great tract of untouched pine timber in the United States is soon to be tapped.

Behind the announcement of the forest service regarding the proposed sale of timber in the Malheur National Forest, Ore., says a statement by the National Lumber Manufacturers association, lumbermen see the flat prospect for their trade in deal with a virgin pine forest of great extent and the best opportunity for the present in this section of a nation.

shouting and shrieking all about and there was great confusion. We saw it all in an instant and we knew we had no time to lose. Suddenly the ship began to list.

"My wife and children—Nuth, twelve, and Donald, sixteen—are good swimmers. I shouted to them to run to the rail and we waited there a few minutes. We could see people who had jumped overboard who had been seized by the flames and were terribly burned, and all seemed to be drowning.

"We saw gradually the flames were dying out, as the oil surface was consumed. That was our chance for life. We dived over. The dive carried us out of reach of the flames near the ship. We swam under water a while.

"There was wreckage about us and many were struggling in the water. We got some distance from the vessel

THRIFT HABIT IS NOW POPULAR

Average of More Than One Savings Account for Every Family.

New York.—An average of more than one savings account for every family in the United States is indicated in partial data for the country, compiled by the savings bank division of the American Bankers' association, revealing more than 26,000,000 savings depositors. In addition, there are at least 10,000,000 other owners of savings accounts of varied forms whose numbers cannot be reduced to definite figures.

The summary follows: "Complete data is practically impossible to obtain under present statistical conditions in regard to savings. But even with all figures lacking for the thousands of state-chartered banks which accept savings in Illinois, Missouri and twenty-three other states, and the District of Columbia, and with only the mutual savings banks out of all the state banks and trust companies in Indiana, Ohio and New Jersey included, the number of savings accounts reported by the federal and state supervisors of banks reached a total of 26,057,961 on June 30, 1921, which is the only date for which the statistics are available. The figures are made as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Institution type and Total reported. Includes Mutual savings banks (17 States), Other State banks (13 States), Trust companies (3 States), Private banks (New York only), National banks (all States).

when there was another explosion. That was followed by more flames on the water, as more oil was blown out of the ship's hold where the cargo of gasoline was stored. We looked back and could see the ring of the fire coming toward us.

"Suddenly I heard my wife scream. She had been seized by a drowning man who had gripped her and would have carried her down. Before I could reach her she had released herself and was swimming on. She was quite exhausted from the effort, however, and she had injured her leg, which had been broken several years ago.

"A man who had been burned and driven insane was on top of a table which had blown from the ship. He sprang off the table on me and after a severe struggle I succeeded in disengaging myself from him.

"When I had done so I found the sea was running higher and we became separated, and unable to get together. Finally, we brought up to shore at various points and were cared for by the natives. It was two hours before I found my wife and children. My wife's face was slightly burned, but she has recovered from it."

HAS TROUSERS 25 YEARS OLD

Fulton, Mo.—J. N. Hook, a retired farmer, lays ownership to a pair of pants that are twenty-five years old, and almost as good as the day they were made. Hook says they excel even the present-day summer trousers that are supposed to bring coolness and comfort. They are a pair of real honest-to-goodness home-made trousers of "tow-linen." They show some evidence of wear, but still are entirely serviceable. The pair from which they were made was grown in Callaway county and hatched by Hook's stepmother, who also spun it, wove it and made the trousers.

Little Boy Tramp

Business City, Pa.—Frank Nudy, who years of age, of Muskegon, Ohio, claimed the runaway championship of the world. Frank, found asleep in an automobile near after riding the rails, was brought from Muskegon, admitted it was his first adventure. The last but not first one will be ready for cutting again.

"The agricultural development to ensue upon the lumbering activities, which will employ hundreds of men, and the necessary railway building, will demonstrate the policy of using the national forests as an adjunct of the general progress and welfare of adjacent regions. According to the forecast of the forest service there will be at least one logging and lumbering unit that will never have to move on to find new forests, at least one sawmill town, which will never die for lack of material for its industries."

You Can Get Back Your Grip on Health

Persons suffering from stomach trouble and who are under weight find an ever-ready friend in Taniae. This celebrated medicine has ended indigestion and increased the weight for thousands of people everywhere.

"My son's health was fully restored by Taniae and he actually gained twenty pounds in weight. After every meal he suffered terribly from severe pains, palpitation and shortness of breath, and had awful headaches. He was terribly nervous, too. He is working now every day and is in as good health as he ever was."

Under nourishment is the cause of most cases of under weight. Taniae enables the stomach to extract the healthy nutriment from the food, builds up the whole body and increases the weight to normal. Millions of people have testified to its great benefits. Get a bottle today at any good druggist.—Advertisement.

Carving 5,000 Years Old.

What is described as the "finest expression of Egyptian statuary art in the world" has been sold at Sotheby's auction room in London for 10,000 pounds sterling. It is the head of Amenemhat III, an Egyptian king who lived about 3000 B. C. It is cut in obsidian, which is said to be one of the hardest stones on which an artist can work.

It measures 4 1/2 inches from the top of the head to the chin, but Prof. Percy E. Newberry, the Egyptologist, has pronounced it "a masterpiece that has not been surpassed by any sculptor of any country or age."

Quiet—About the hardest thing for a woman to keep in this world.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

"Blue-Blooded" Ants. Ants had developed their present highly organized society long before our ape-like ancestors had settled down into communities.

One Good Merchant in Every Town can establish a profitable and permanent shoe business on limited capital through the W. L. DOUGLAS NEW SALES METHOD

W. L. DOUGLAS shoes are the world's best known brand. They are made of the finest materials and are guaranteed to last. They are sold in every town and city.

2 or 3 Cans of Baking Powder

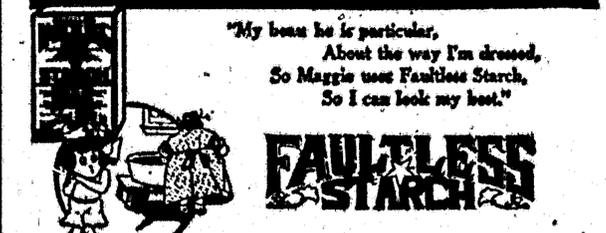

Are Not Worth the Price of One If they are the "big can and cheap" kind because they may mean baking failures.

CALUMET The Economy BAKING POWDER

Don't let a BIG CAN or a very low price mislead you. Experimenting with an uncertain brand is expensive — because it wastes time and money. The sales of Calumet are over 150% greater than that of any other baking powder.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

WESTERN CANADA Wheat Growing, Cattle Raising and a Happy Home of Your Own

Prosperous Farms and Happy Homes await those who are desirous of enlarging their present resources and securing for themselves homes in a country that while yet in its infancy, has made itself famous by the quality of the grain it produces and by the excellence of its live stock. There are Millions of Acres of the highest class of soil available for the man whose object in life is to become his own landlord, and who wishes to share in the opportunity which has been given to the thousands of Americans who, having secured on Western Canada farms with best small tracts, are now writing home to their friends, telling of what they have done, and how they are prospering. Upon these lands can be grown the best of wheat, corn, barley, oats, grass, hay, fodder and stock raising.

DENVER BUSINESS DIRECTORY

SPECIAL RUBB LITHOGRAPH...
10c for 6 KODAK PRINTS
Any size and one exposure film developed. First order only. To prove our superior Kodak finishing. C. B. AUSTIN & COMPANY
268 17th Street Denver, Colo.

BEAMING AND WASHING...
GRUND DRY CLEANING...
PIANOS
Direct from the manufacturer to you. Our factories at Cincinnati and Chicago are the largest and best equipped in the world. Pianos and player pianos of our own manufacture of every description, each one sold with our one-year free exchange privilege and guarantee. Lowest prices, reasonable terms. Write for a catalog, prices, THE BALDWIN PIANO COMPANY 1236 California St.

INFORMATION DEPARTMENT
Commercial inquiries answered and information gladly furnished without cost. Address any firm above.

General Crop Conditions.
Denver.—The condition of late crops in the Rocky mountain region shows continued improvement in most sections according to reports of the U. S. Division of Crops and Live Stock Estimates. Threshing of small grains made good progress in the northern section but yields are generally reported as slightly less than expected. Rain is needed to facilitate fall plowing in Wyoming. Some seeding of winter wheat has commenced in Colorado. The production of fruit and truck crops is generally good. The apple crop is below average in New Mexico, due to drought; picking is just commencing in Colorado. Pasture conditions are good in most sections but rain came too late to insure sufficient feed in New Mexico and the movement of cattle out of the state continues.

Lineman Touches Live Wire, Lives.
San Francisco, Calif.—At a hospital here it was reported that Frank Sutro, a lineman, was out of danger, although he remained entangled in a live wire of high voltage for half an hour while two firemen and a policeman struggled to free him. The accident occurred at the top of a seventy-five-foot power pole. Sutro, apparently dazed temporarily by his experience, kicked and fought back the rescuers, while firemen stood below with a life net. Finally he was pulled loose from the wire.

Prisoners Escape During Reception.
Florence, Ariz.—Three prisoners escaped from the Arizona state penitentiary here. They are: Morris W. Nichols, sentenced from Cochise county to serve from one to fourteen years for forgery; Jack Langdon, alias Joyce Shipley, and Wallace Kesseling. The three men are rustlers. They played at a reception at the house of Captain Thomas Rynning, superintendent of the state prison. They disappeared during the entertainment.

Train Cuts Automobile in Two.
Sabula, Iowa.—Miss Elizabeth Tappin, 18-year-old daughter of George Tappin, residing near Sabula, had a miraculous escape from injury when a passenger train cut off the unoccupied rear seat of an automobile which she was driving, leaving her unharmed in the front seat.

Defeat Motion to Disregard King.
Dublin.—Much of the time of Parliament was devoted to a continuation of a discussion of the new Irish constitution. Gavin Duffy offered an amendment to the document which was a virtual invitation to proclaim a republic by leaving the king out of the constitution. The amendment was defeated by a vote of 45 to 16. Kevin O'Higgins, minister of home affairs, in opposing the amendment said it was impossible within the limits of the constitution to leave the king out.

Harris Suspects Released on Bond.
Marion, Ill.—Circuit Judge Hartwell granted the application for the release on bond of thirty-six of the forty-four men indicted for murder in connection with the Harris mine killing, but denied liberty to the remaining eight. The judge acted on the application after attorneys for the miners' union had promised to surrender James Childers and Oscar Howard, the two charged with murder who have not been arrested.

Five Fires in Northern Minnesota.
Duluth, Minn.—Five buildings have been destroyed in the forest fire area of northern Minnesota; the wind rose to twenty-five miles an hour, according to a report from the patrol. With a fifteen-mile wind, it is estimated that the loss of property is $100,000.

Important to Mothers.
Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the signature of Dr. J. C. Watson in Use for Over 30 Years. Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria.

Birds of the Sea.
Gannets are strictly oceanic birds, and are only found inland when they have been driven by storms, or for some reason or other missed their accustomed migratory routes, says the American Forestry Magazine. It is a big bird, as big as a goose. They are wonderful on the wing, flying with great swiftness, and dipping in a most extraordinary manner to their prey.

Good Roads in Georgia.
The state of Georgia spent nearly $20,000,000 on good road construction last year, leading all states in the South. Almost $10,000,000 represented federal aid.

Cost of Our Highways.
The average cost per mile of highway construction in the United States is $10,000.

Aspirin

Say "Bayer" and Insist!

Genuine

Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians over twenty-two years and proved safe by millions for

Colds Headache
Toothache Lumbago
Earache Rheumatism
Neuralgia Pain, Pains

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monacelluloseacetate of Salicylicacid.—Advertisement.

His Tools.
A middle-aged man entered a restaurant in Brightwood recently and edged up to the counter with a quart of milk and a sack of crackers, which he brought with him. He ordered a ham sandwich. When the waiter delivered the order he noticed the crackers and milk.

"Did you bring your cat's tools with you?" he asked, "or do you want a knife and fork?"—Indianapolis News.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

Robbery.
An old man was walking along a road one night, when he was confronted by a burly stranger.

"What do you want?" he asked.
"We're going to 'ave a game of put and take, mate," replied the stranger.
"Put and take?" gasped the old man, shivering with fright.

"Yes," said the burly one. "You put yer 'ands up and I'll take yer watch!"—London Tit-Bits.

Don't Forget Cuticura Talcum.
When adding to your toilet regalia. An exquisite face, skin, baby and dusting powder and perfume, rendering other perfumes superfluous. You may rely on it because one of the Cuticura Trio (Soap, Ointment and Talcum). 25c each everywhere.—Advertisement.

The Wild Gentleman.
"I saw a wild man in a sideshow last summer," stated J. Fuller Gloom. "The gentleman was a most disreputable looking personage. If I had had with me either a bottle of soothing syrup, a club, a book of etiquette, a cake of soap, or a tract, I believe I should have given, or taken, as the case may have been, it or them, to him."—Kansas City Star.

Important to Mothers.
Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the signature of Dr. J. C. Watson in Use for Over 30 Years. Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria.

Birds of the Sea.
Gannets are strictly oceanic birds, and are only found inland when they have been driven by storms, or for some reason or other missed their accustomed migratory routes, says the American Forestry Magazine. It is a big bird, as big as a goose. They are wonderful on the wing, flying with great swiftness, and dipping in a most extraordinary manner to their prey.

Good Roads in Georgia.
The state of Georgia spent nearly $20,000,000 on good road construction last year, leading all states in the South. Almost $10,000,000 represented federal aid.

Cost of Our Highways.
The average cost per mile of highway construction in the United States is $10,000.

Highway Improvement

LINKING UP STATE SYSTEMS

Progressive Step Attributed to Requirements of Federal-Aid Legislation.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
A recent meeting of New England state highway officials and engineers of the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture, marks an important point in the development of highways in this country. This is the first meeting ever held between officials empowered to act, for the purpose of laying out a system of highways to serve an area larger than a single state. It is the first of a series of similar meetings which will be held between the federal officials and highway authorities of various groups of states, the object of which will be the solution of the problem for the whole country.

This progressive step, long wished for by all users of the highways, can be attributed to the requirements of federal-aid legislation. It is required that all federal aid be spent on a connected system of highways designed to serve the needs of the whole country. Tentative systems have been submitted by all except eight states, and now the series of meetings is being held to connect and co-ordinate the proposed state systems.

The bureau of public roads intends to push this work as rapidly as possible, so as to lay before the people the plans for what will be by far the greatest highway system in the world. At present only roads certain to be on the system are being approved for construction with federal aid; in May more than twenty miles of completed road was added to the system on each working day. It is estimated that the system will comprise 180,000 miles of highway.

An Improved Road in Red Bank, N. J. Before and After Its Completion.

LARGE STATE ROAD PROGRAM

South Carolina Wants to Spend $34,000,000 on Improvements in Next Six Years.

A proposal to spend $34,000,000 within six years and to complete within that time 4,000 miles of the state system, more than 600 miles of which would be hard surfaced and the remainder surfaced with sand-clay, top soil, or gravel is to be urged upon the legislature of South Carolina. In order that this proposal should conform to the federal aid acts the state highway officials recently held conferences with representatives of the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture.

If this greatly expanded program is carried out, the state will match all of the federal aid money now available and any future appropriation that may become available. Funds will be raised by automobile licenses, by continuing the state-wide two-mill property tax, a one-cent-per-gallon motor fuel tax, plus a bond issue of $10,000,000.

HIGHWAY RULES ARE STRICT

Vehicles Not Permitted to Carry More Than Fourteen Tons Without Special Permit.

In Massachusetts no vehicle may travel over the highway which, with its load, weighs more than fourteen tons without a special permit and the load must not exceed 800 pounds upon tire inch of the vehicle. No motor vehicle which, with its load, weighs more than four tons, is allowed to travel at a speed of over four miles per hour if equipped with metallic tires, or over twelve miles per hour if equipped with tires of rubber or similar substances. The outside width of a vehicle is limited to eight feet.

Good Roads in Georgia.
The state of Georgia spent nearly $20,000,000 on good road construction last year, leading all states in the South. Almost $10,000,000 represented federal aid.

Cost of Our Highways.
The average cost per mile of highway construction in the United States is $10,000.

Southwest News

From All Over New Mexico and Arizona

The three convicts who escaped from the Arizona state penitentiary at Florence were recaptured at a point between the towns of Gilbert and Chandler, and were returned to the prison. The three men surrendered without resistance.

Steve F. Katonka, convicted in San Juan county of murdering two taxicab drivers south of Shiprock, was sentenced by the Supreme Court to be hanged Friday, Oct. 20, at Aztec when he failed to perfect his appeal from the lower court.

Theodore West, maintaining to the last his sham of insanity, died on the gallows at the state penitentiary at Florence. He was executed for the murder of Lem Smith in Mohave county in July, 1921. West went to his death with never a hint of a confession.

Paroles were granted by Governor Mechem to J. W. Thomas of Curry county, sentenced to the penitentiary to serve from twelve to thirteen months, and Pedro Maricga, Sierra county, 19 years old, sentenced to the reformatory as a juvenile delinquent, to test their ability to abstain from crime.

The Melroe Planing Mill at Alamogordo, one of the best plants of its kind in the state, was completely destroyed by fire recently, and will be a total loss. The plant was doomed before the water was turned on and the most that could be done was to keep the fire from spreading to adjacent buildings.

Zane Grey, famed writer of fiction dealing with Arizona and the great Southwest, arrived in Flagstaff recently with a party of seventeen hunters and immediately started for the Tonto basin, where Mr. Grey has a hunting lodge and where the party will spend the next six weeks hunting big game. Mr. Grey's home is at Altadena, Calif.

Walter P. Geyfere, president of the New Mexico Federation of Labor, and Andrew Bruno, taxi driver, who were convicted of a conspiracy to transport explosives on an A. T. & S. F. train, were sentenced in Federal Court at Santa Fe to serve two years in Leavenworth penitentiary and fined $5,000 each. The maximum penalty was two years and a $10,000 fine.

The eight proposed amendments to the Arizona state constitution, voted on at the special and primary election of September 12, were officially declared defeated after the state-wide vote had been canvassed in accordance with the law, by Governor Thomas E. Campbell, Chief Justice Henry D. Ross of the State Supreme Court, and Secretary of State Ernest Hall.

A. B. Van Zandt, 22-year-old bank clerk of Patagonia, who was arrested in Magdalena, Sonora, recently on a charge of having embezzled $2,200 of the funds of the First State Bank of Patagonia, and who has been in jail in Nogales, Sonora, was released by Mexican officials. The Mexican authorities refused to hold the youth longer on the ground that he had committed no offense in Mexico against the Mexican laws.

Pablo Archibque was instantly killed and William Wildenstein fatally injured when they were overtaken by a Santa Fe train on a bridge north of Las Vegas. The men were walking to the city on the tracks from a ranch where they had been employed and were unable to reach the end of the bridge when the train came suddenly around a curve. Archibque was killed instantly and Wildenstein died without regaining consciousness.

J. H. Ferguson and LeRoyette Bennett were found guilty by a jury in Federal Court in Santa Fe on a charge of conspiracy to defraud. A Paul Stegel and Fred Simmons, included in the case, were acquitted.

A party of hunters, who have been hunting in the White mountains of Arizona for some time under the guidance of Kay Grayson of Silver City, returned to Silver City, N. M., with five large black bears. One of the animals measured seven feet from the tip of his nose to the end of his tail and eight feet from toe to toe. Hunters report that bears are more plentiful in southern Arizona and New Mexico than in many years.

According to reports of the Biological Survey over 120,000 acres of land in New Mexico was treated for the extermination of prairie dogs during the month of August. The crop lands totaled 19,225 and the range lands 100,900 acres. The work has been carried on in nearly every county and will be no dogs in the state in the next two years. The extermination work took 7,724 quarts of poisoned grain for the destruction of the rodents.

Notable additions are being made by all the big mining companies of Arizona to the rare collections of the state and mineral exhibit at the State Fair grounds and which afford one of the most interesting of the educational exhibits of the 1922 fair. Always an exhibit of popular interest because of the gem-like beauty of many specimens, the exhibit attracts the year-round after every meal adds a zest and helps digest.

WRIGLEY'S

One five cent package of Wrigley's contains a beneficial after dinner treat for the whole family.

It gives delight and keeps teeth white. It's a satisfying sweet.

Wrigley's is cleansing, cooling and soothing to mouth and throat.

Lasts long—costs little—does much.

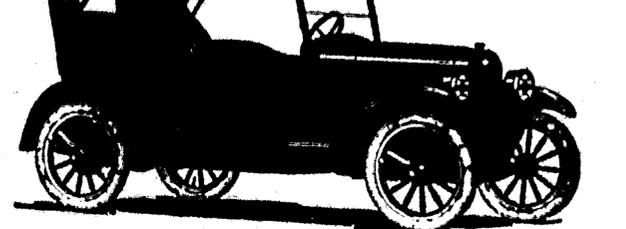

Wrigley's is made clean and comes to you clean, wholesome and full of flavor in its wax wrapped package.

WRIGLEY'S F. K. is the new sugar-jacketed gum. All Wrigley's benefits and an extra treat for your "sweet tooth."

CHEVROLET

SUPERIOR Model $525
C. O. Flint, Michigan

Announcing the New SUPERIOR Models

Again Chevrolet Motor Company has emphasized its admitted leadership as producer of the World's Lowest Priced Quality Automobiles.

The new SUPERIOR models—one of which is here illustrated—represent the most sensational values in modern, economical transportation ever established.

Quality has been still further improved by more artistic design and added equipment.

Economy has been still further increased by engineering refinements and greatly broadened production and distribution facilities. Service is ensured by more than 10,000 dealers and service stations operating on a flat rate basis.

Prices remain the same in spite of added equipment and more expensive construction, which have greatly increased value.

Some Distinctive Features	Prices f. o. b. Flint, Mich.
Streamline body design with high hood; vacuum feed and rear gasoline tank on all models; drum type head lamps with legal lenses. Curtains open with doors of open models. All closed models have Fisher bodies with plate glass. Tempered regulated windows, straight side cord tires, sun visor, windshield wiper and dash light. Sedanette is equipped with auto trunk on rear.	5 Pass. Touring - $625 2 Pass. Roadster - $110 5 Pass. Sedan - $40 4 Pass. Sedanette - $50 2 Pass. Utility Coupe - $40

Nothing Compares With Chevrolet
Chevrolet Motor Company, Detroit, Michigan
Division of General Motors Corporation

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Judge F. Crews was an Occuro visitor Wednesday.

J. F. Morris, who was in the Exchange Bank some years ago and who is well known to many of our people, spent Wednesday and Thursday here.

FOR SALE:—A Ford speedster in good running condition, price reasonable. Enquire at News Office. 9-29-17

Pete Burleson passed through here Tuesday for Corona, after a few days visit at his home at Lincoln. Mr. Burleson is superintending the building of a new road leading into Corona from Cedarvale.

Come in and be convinced that cash talks with us. —City Market

Guy Warden returned this week from a visit to his old home at Wardsville, West Virginia. Contrary to the expectation of friends, Guy returned in single harness, and is still going at the same rate of speed as before.

The advantage of buying and selling for cash is mutual merchant and customer profit. —City Market.

W. A. Lee was down Wednesday from his home near Bogle. He reports the range not only short but that his water supply is almost exhausted, which is another evidence that misfortunes never come singly.

Rev. A. L. Maddox, Baptist State Evangelist of New Mexico, visited Pastor T. M. Blacklock Wednesday. He left Thursday for Alamogordo, but will be back to preach at the Baptist church at 10th hours Sunday.

FOR SALE:—Some 11-4 inch Studebaker wagons at low prices. The Pittsworth Co. Capitan.

Mr. H. O. Bogle of Bogle, New Mexico and Miss Myra May Boydston of Jicarilla, N. M. were joined in holy matrimony at the home of Pastor T. M. Blacklock Saturday evening, Oct. 7. Mrs. Edna C. Burnett and Alton Cooper accompanied the couple.

We have gone on a strictly cash basis, and our customers will receive the benefits of the system. No bookkeeping, no bad accounts—just a legitimate profit. —City Market.

On Sunday October 22, at 7:30 p. m. at the Baptist church there will be a meeting in interest of the Red Cross. Rev. U. S. Vjilars, a secretary of the Red Cross, will speak. The purpose of the meeting is to elect officers and make plans for the coming year. Every one in Carrizozo interested in this good work should be present.

At a special meeting of the members and friends of the Women's Missionary Society of the M. E. church it was decided to discontinue conaactional work for the present and to concentrate all efforts on the reduction of the church debt. It was decided to give a home talent play at an early date. There will be a meeting held Tue. Oct. 17. Place to be announced later.

FORSAID: A bat, on road between Carrizozo and Nogal. Owner may have same by properly describing the article and paying for this notice.

T. A. Scherer came up yesterday from Hondo, called at our office and renewed acquaintances. Toney worked out of here a number of years ago, but had been in Arizona for sometime until a few months ago when he and Mrs. Scherer returned to Lincoln county. Mr. and Mrs. Scherer now live at Hondo where they have purchased a fruit and alfalfa farm and are very pleasantly situated.

TRADE FOR CATTLE:—Well improved farm of 160 acres near Roswell, abundant water for irrigation, alfalfa and other crop. Good house and outbuildings. One of the best money-making farms in the Pecos Valley. Value $24000.00. Encumbrance 6000.00. Address, J. B. Bockman, Las Cruces, N. M. 9-29-21

Mrs. Helen Castle, one of the popular teachers of Tularosa, has returned from the Rousseau Hospital Alamogordo where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. Mrs. Castle was engaged as a teacher in a Junior High School in Wyoming for the present year but was compelled to resign on account of her recent illness. She was formerly well known as a teacher in Lincoln county.

A short trip down the Ruidoso, Hondo and Bonito valleys disclosed a busy people. The fall harvest is on and in the irrigated portions very good crops were produced. In the fruit section the people were especially busy, gathering and picking apples. A large crop of the finest apples ever grown in this or any other county is being gathered; but the difficulty is that the market is so poor that the growers are realizing little for their efforts.

The following Resolution was adopted at regular meeting of Women's Club, held Oct. 6, 1922: Whereas:—Regardless of political affiliations, the members of the Women's Club of Carrizozo, appreciate the honor extended to one of its members who aided in its organization and served as its first president; therefore be it resolved that this club endorse the action of the Republican party of the State of New Mexico in placing the name of Mrs. Maude L. Blaney on the State ticket, as nominee for State Supt. of Public Instruction.

Carrizozo School Notes

(By Sup't. E. B. Cole)

In the fire drill at the large building last week, the last pupil was out of the building in just one and a quarter minutes after the last tap of the alarm. That time is good enough and needs no improvement. In case of fire the great danger is not from the fire but from panic. Our pupils march out quickly but not in a rush.

In the chemistry laboratory, during the last week, the members of the class have been making oxygen and hydrogen.

At the last meeting of the Boy Scouts, the attempt was again made to make fire by the Indian method—with bow and thong. After three attempts, fire was obtained by an effort of about one minute. The apparatus is called "The One Minute Apparatus." Practice will no doubt make us more perfect so that with every effort we can get a fire in about one minute. Anyhow, it works.

The latest addition to the high school is a magazine rack made by Mr. Cazier. It is in Mission style, well made, and is a very attractive piece of furniture. Thanks, Mr. Cazier.

The new desks, two dozen in number, have arrived and have been placed in the assembly room of the high school. They were made necessary by the increase of high school pupils. Last Saturday the old desks were taken up, the rows placed closer together and lengthened, thus making room for new desks.

The bi-weekly literary society of the high school gave a very interesting program last week. Every number was good but we wish to especially commend the musical numbers. The "Girls' Trio," consisting of Audrey Miller, Leora Taylor and Ada Corn, gave "The Little Red Schoolhouse" in which they were very well trained by Mrs. T. E. Kelley. They received an encore, of course. The duet, piano and saxophone, by Rue Shulda and Edwin McCarty, received the usual encore given when these young people play. How we need a violin and corset for our orchestra.

A debating club has been added to this literary society. Fourteen students joined at the first mention of the proposition. Possibly a Senator from New Mexico in embryo, will get his training in this new club.

Miss Mildred Shrader, our popular teacher of the commercial branches, has subscribed for The El Paso Herald, to be placed in our magazine rack. Fine, Miss Shrader, fine. Next.

The Literary Digest, Popular Science Monthly, Boys' Life and Wohelo were subscribed for this week through the generosity of our worthy school board. The Boys' Life is especially for the Boy Scouts and Wohelo for the Camp Fire Girls.

The first meeting of the Camp Fire Girls was held last Wednesday and the following officers for the coming year were elected: president, Beulah Burr; vice-president, Juell Miller; secretary, Audrey Miller; treasurer, Lillian Johnson. Several new girls have joined the Camp, among them are Dorothy Reddy, Opal Fite, Jessie Rustin, Dora Anderson, Rue Shulda, Gwen Climer, Josephine Malone. Much enthusiasm was shown by the girls and a great year is anticipated.

We will give a write-up of President Hill's visit next. Lack of space forbids it this week.

Building Cabins

Wm. A. Eckerty, of the Globe Exploration Co., went to Bardo Tuesday. He is planning the erection of some miners' cabins for the company preparatory to beginning work on the Comabuck and Peters' properties.

FALL OPENING

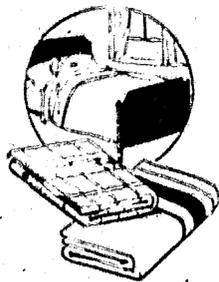

New Arrivals
Sweaters, Ladies Dresses
In New Materials
Coats and Suits

Make it to your advantage to shop early

We show Better for less
CARRIZOZO TRADING CO.
The Store Ahead

BLANKETS
and COMFORTERS

Crib
Blankets
Pink and Blue

Cortex Finish
Bath Robe
Blankets

With changeable Fall Weather, one can't be too comfortably warm, when asleep particularly so when good health demands open windows and fresh air.

We have all cotton Blankens, part wool and all wool. We have them in Gray, White and Fancy Checks. You will find the prices much less at this time. We have a large selection of Blankets and you can find what you want here.

Conforters filled with fine pure white fluffy Cotton, the covers are sateen or other silk finish materials some have plain centers with fancy borders. Everyone will give splendid service while our prices are much less than last year.

ZIEGLER BROS.

Firestone GUM-DIPPED CORDS

Most Miles per Dollar

Everywhere You Hear It -
Firestone Builds
the Finest Cords

HARDLY a day goes by but some one goes out of his way to tell us that Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords are the best tires built.

Cords—no only Firestone builds them—they give you many extra thousands of miles of wear. And for fall and winter driving there's nothing like them. The strong, resilient Firestone cords of gum-dipped cords, can stand the heaviest wear.