OLDEST AND LEADING NEWSPAPER IN CIRCULATION IN THE COUNTY OF LINCOLN, NEW MEXICO

VOLUME 23

CARRIZOZO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, NOV. 23, 1923

NUMBER 47

Hard Job Confronting the Coming Congress

Washington, Nov. 19.—The clans are gathering for what promises to be one of the most interesting and possibly most dramatic sessions of congress in our recent history.

Providing money to run the government and yet keeping within the limits set by the national budget is one of the most difficult tasks the legislators must face.

The budget has been completed by Budget Director Lord, after almost daily conference with the President. It is likely to be within the $3,500,000,000 mark set by the late President Harding in his demand for drastic economic reforms.

Out of this amount $1,700,000 or $125,000 less than last year, will go for ordinary government expenditures. The remainder will be for interest on the national debt and retirement of war bonds.

And congress will have several investigations on hand, including the Teapot Dome Naval Oil Reserves and the operation of the Veterans' bureau.

Action will not be taken on the former until the report signed by Ladd of North Dakota and A. A. Jones of New Mexico, demanding cancellation of the Fall-Sinclair oil lands leases, are filed.

Ambassadors Agree

Paris, Nov. 21.—The allied council of ambassadors, called to consider the text of the note to be sent to Germany, reached a full accord at their meeting this afternoon. The result was declared by the members leaving the council and by Marshal Foch to be particularly satisfactory.

The ambassadors adopted the texts of two notes to Germany, one concerning inter-allied military control in the north and the other the return from Holland of former Crown Prince Frederick William. Both notes will be delivered to the German embassy here this evening, as soon as they are signed by Premier Poincaré.

One little word—the word "cessant"—is what has been delaying final action by the council on the note, since Monday. It appears from today's developments.

Objections to that word were raised in the French cabinet meeting Monday. It was declared that the necessity thus imposed upon France's "cessant" for every time action was required was just what Germany was relying upon—that no step forward would be made if after making the concession to the British government on the elimination of any reference to penalties, the hands of the French government should still remain tied.

After consultation between M. Jules Cambon and Lord Crewe, the British ambassador suggested another word to his government, which he thought might satisfy London and at the same time would remove the objections of the French cabinet. It is understood the British accepted the modification which amounts to total acceptance of the French reservation of the right to act separately if Germany's attitude should make action necessary.

A horse race is now arranged, between local owners of horses, to be pulled off here Thanksgiving afternoon. It is to be a sweepstake race, and three owners have agreed to enter horses.

Getting Ready for the Big Holiday Trade

Highlands, N. J., Nov. 20.—Rum row today opened its pre-holiday sale.

At sundown more than a dozen bottle fishermen from points along the New Jersey coast and Long Island shores could be seen dashing toward the fleet of liquor carriers, now five strong, and anchored about seven miles off the Ambrose channel lightship, at the entrance to New York harbor.

Several shore craft had visited the fleet earlier in the day.

At dusk nine speedy boats were alongside the rum fleet, while others could be seen approaching from Sandy Hook bay and the Long Island shore. Having made an early start, the peddlers were expected to complete two trips during the night, according to rumor ashore.

Percentage of Tax Collections by Counties to September 30

Governor Hinkle Issues Thanksgiving Proclamation

EXECUTIVE OFFICE
Santa Fe, New Mexico

By a time-honored custom the President of the United States has each year set aside a day of thanksgiving, and for this year it is Thursday, the twenty-ninth of November. It is fitting that the day should be observed in an appropriate manner.

There is no person so humble but that he has something for which to be thankful. We are blessed with the greatest country on earth and wherever our flag is unfurled it signifies help and protection. For this we should be especially grateful and give thanks for the good we have received and extend charity to those not so fortunate.

NOW THEREFORE, I, J. F. HINKLE, Governor of the State of New Mexico, by virtue of the authority in me vested do hereby designate and recommend its observance throughout the state.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1923,

AS

I respectfully urge the people to gather at their homes and usual places of worship and give expressions of gratitude to a gracious Providence for blessings bestowed and ask the guidance of Almighty God and a continuance of his favors.

(SEAL)

Done at the Executive Office this the 7th day of November, 1923.

Witness my hand and the Great Seal of the State of New Mexico.

J. F. HINKLE,
Governor.

Attest:

SOLEDAD C. CHACON, Secretary of State.

School Notes

The Boy Scouts are to meet Thursday evening. A good program has been prepared, and, with boxing, the boys are expecting a good time.

The next community singing will be Friday evening, November 23, at the High School.

Leora Taylor substituted for one of the grade teachers for a short time this week. Leora takes well with the little kiddies and says she enjoys that kind of work.

The Great Circle has been put up on the school grounds and the boys and girls are enjoying it. Some will be slightly hurt and they learn how to use the apparatus.

The basketball game last Saturday between Carrizozo and Lincoln was played on the new grounds at the High School building. The score was 27 to 11 in favor of Carrizozo. The game was very clean from start to finish; the best spirit was shown by both teams. The Lincoln girls are a fine bunch, in every way, and we wait them to come again.

The play, "The Exchange," given last Friday afternoon and Wednesday evening of this week by the Dramatic Club, under the leadership of Miss Meux, was a success in every way. Miss Meux deserves much credit for her fine work with the students.

Here is the cast: Marshall Beck, Judge, an ex-changer of miseries. Jean Reilly, Imp, office boy to the judge.

Fred Lafone, a poor man, who exchanges his poverty for dyspepsia and regrets it.

Leora Taylor, a vain woman, who exchanges her wrinkles for deafness and wants to change back.

Wm Kahler, a rich citizen, who exchanges wealth for poverty and regrets it.

"The Exchange" is a play that presents a moral without moralizing.

When the play was given on Friday of last week, there were three extra numbers. Miss Eleanor Connell gave two piano solos in very excellent manner. Don English spoke his famous essay on "Bones."

Wednesday evening of this week, Mrs. Tom Carr, in a vocal solo, added to her reputation as a prima favorite in musical circles. Mr. Ebb Jones, another favorite soloist, again covered himself with glory. Miss Margaret Sweet was accompanied for Mrs. Carr and Mr. Jones. Maurice Lemus gave a piano solo. Good for Maurice.

Education Week is being honored in the same fine spirit, and with full programs, as was Armistice Day last week. The seventh grade and the High School have especially full programs. The seventh grade, Mrs. Blaney's room, had the following program:

Mrs. Stadman spoke on the Constitution, stressing the rights it gives its citizens—life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Wednesday, Dr. Shaver discussed the relation of health to education.

Thursday, Mr. Treat explained how foreigners are naturalized. He also discussed the literacy of the United States.

On Friday, Mr. Buckley spoke on the relation of mathematics to good government.

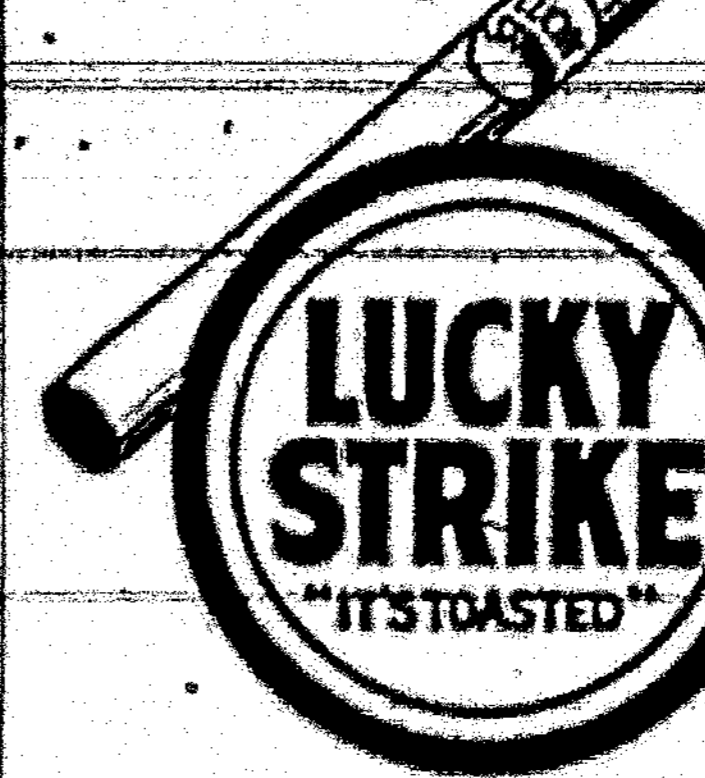

Monday, in the High School, Mr. Cole spoke on the Constitution and its guarantees; on Tuesday, on the Flag and its meaning. Wednesday, Miss Meux discussed the school's and their influence. Thursday, Miss Crouch spoke on literacy and its cure. Friday, Mr. Carter talked on physical education.

The Kentucky Republicans now sing, "My Old Kentucky Home, GOOD NIGHT!" While the Democrats in a neighboring state warble "Maryland, MY Maryland."

Ford Rambling Along

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 21.—A Ford-for-President ticket will be placed on the ballot in Nebraska at the April primaries according to an announcement made at a small gathering of Progressives, Farmer-Laborites and Independents in the office of Roy M. Harrop, national temporary chairman of the Progressive party, here today. This announcement followed on last night that this group of new party men, led by Mr. Harrop, had gone over to the Ford-for-President banner, and would be represented at the Ford conference on December 12, in Detroit. Mr. Ford's name is already on the ballot in Nebraska by petition and this petition has 2,000 signatures to it. Mr. Harrop said this morning when called out of a meeting of his group.

To know how good a cigarette really can be made you must try a

Philippine Policy

(New York Post)

There are times when efficient administration is not the complete answer to a problem in policy.

The incident in Manila would have much less significance if General Wood were not formally on record as cherishing no confidence in the ultimate capacity of the Philippine people to look after themselves.

The United States stands pledged to grant the Filipinos full self-government at the opportune time. We cannot take the risk of writing course in reading as subscribing to the theory that such pledges mean nothing, and that "ultimate" self-government for dependent people means never.

Forest Lumber Sale in the Sacramentos

Albuquerque, N. M., Nov. 21.—Two and one quarter million feet of saw timber have been sold by the United States Forest Service to the Southwest Lumber Co., according to information given out by the District office of Forest Management.

Timber which consists of Douglas Fir, Mexican white pine, Engelmann spruce, lumber pine, white fir and western yellow pine is located on the Lincoln National Forest southwest of the town of Clondcroft.

Purchasers will put this timber to their mill at Alamogordo.

Contract was approved yesterday and provides that purchasers will pay the government $2.15 per M feet for all species except white fir which was sold for $1.25 per M feet board measure, for the timber on the stump. Only such trees will be cut as shall be marked by the forest officers in charge of the sale and brush will be disposed of in accordance with the rules of the Forest Service.

Under this contract, stumps cannot be more than 14 inches high and enough good sized trees, in addition to the young fast-growing stock, will be left to insure the reseeded of the area for successive crops of timber.

Administration of the sale will be under direction of O. Fred Arthur, Supervisor of the Lincoln National Forest, Alamogordo, New Mexico.

Special Plates Ordered for Tax Exempt Cars

Santa Fe, Nov. 20.—Special plates have been ordered for state, county and federal cars which are exempted the payment of motor vehicle licenses, according to Assistant State Comptroller James D. Hannah.

An exception will be made to this rule, however, in favor of sheriffs, prohibition officers and other police officers, Hannah said. "It would not be practical to advertise the business of these officers," he said.

Former Senator Kellogg will probably be confirmed as Ambassador to Great Britain, if so, it is to be hoped he will attend to his duties with more regularity than he did as a Senator, and not become known as an absentee Ambassador.

ARE YOU A SUFFERING WOMAN?

Health is Most Important to You

Dallas, Texas.—"I had serious feminine trouble come on me during the critical time of life and I began to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After taking five bottles the trouble ceased and never troubled any more. I can with all honesty highly recommend the 'Favorite Prescription' to any woman at that time."—Mrs. M. A. Heath, 4239 Metropolitan Street.

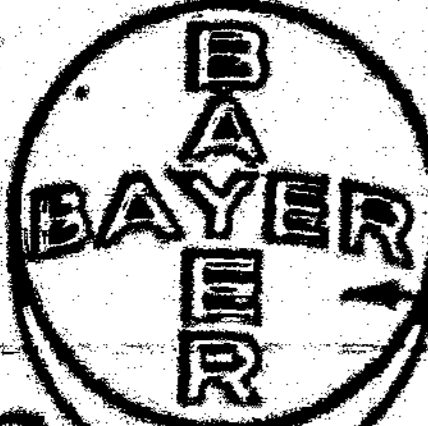

Your health is most important to you. It's easily improved. If you suffer from heat flashes, dizziness, or any of the symptoms common to women at the critical period in life, just ask your nearest druggist for this 'Favorite Prescription' in tablet or liquid form. Send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., if you wish a trial pkg. and write for 'free' confidential medical service.

Radio on Lifeboat.

Two of the lifeboats on the mammoth liner Leviathan are equipped with complete radio outfits. Each boat is 25 feet long and is driven by a 75-horsepower engine. The wireless antennae are 80 feet long with a natural wave of 70 meters. The lifeboats will be able to send messages at least 50 miles. If the experiment proves successful, many more liners may be equipped in similar manner.

"JEANI"

SYNOPSIS.—Under the name of "Captain Sazarac" and disguised, Jean Lafitte, former freebooter of Barataria, proscribed, returns to the city of New Orleans. He is recognized by two of his old companions, Alderman Dominique and Beluche. At the gaming tables Sazarac has won much money from Colonel Carr, British officer, John Jarvis, the city's first bohemian of the arts and letters, an old-time friend of Lafitte, tells of a woman's face and smile. As his last wager, Carr puts up a woman, presumably a slave. Custom compels Sazarac to accept the stake. He wins. The old associate and Count Raoul de Almonaster suggest him as Lafitte. A project of the youthful adventurers of New Orleans is the rescue of Napoleon Bonaparte from St. Helena, and a ship, the Seraphine, has been made ready. From De Almonaster Sazarac learns that the girl he "won" at the card table is white, of high estate, and that the matter has been made a by-word in the city's resorts. Sazarac and Mademoiselle Leveau, a fellow passenger on a river steamer a few days before, and with whom he had fallen in love, is the girl and in shivery forenoon his revenge against Carr, Jarvis and the Mademoiselle Leveau. He is a witness of the meeting and picks up a camellia which the girl had thrown, unnoticed, to Sazarac. Jarvis is dangerous; he talks too much in his cups.

CHAPTER IV

The Old Sea-Rovers Awaken. At midnight Captain Sazarac turned from the rue de la Lorce to the broad pavement that skirted the Place d'Armes, and, for a moment, contemplated the changes which even the few years of the American occupation had wrought in the Paris of the New World. A palatial iron palisade with ornate grill gates enclosed the square before the cathedral which he had known as a dusty parade-ground over which lazily strolled, now one, now the other—the royal standard of Spain or the fleur-de-lis of France. A portion of the ancient wooden galleys still remained, but about it, now, the children played of scorpions, listening to the fearsome tales of Jean Coupe, the terror of the swamps, who preyed on human flesh and was proof to musket balls, as the colored nurses had it.

In the narrow way between the cathedral and the old Spanish calabosa the cattle passed again. Documents of court and avocet were tacked to the wooden doors. Not so many years ago had not Jean Lafitte—sent his men up from the pirates' fortified refuge on Grand Terre Island to bribe for the escape of his brother, Pierre, from this same prison! And time and again had they not both laughed to read on these same boards, the city's proclamation for their capture—the law's futile fury when no man dared lay hand upon them, so completely did the Grand Terre adventurers awe the town?

"How many changes!" mused the wayfarer. "Hailed by the city as a hero, professed by the President and acclaimed for service to the new republic—denounced again and driven from the sea! Yet I walked these streets when no merchant was too proud to traffic for the goods we brought from the Gulf petticoater. And again the good sea calls—again, again!"

At a small door in a high wall of the rue St. Peter, he tapped with his sword hilt. It opened; he stood within the small garden of the Cafe la Vierge. A dim light showed the wine tins in the warehouse shadows.

Old Dominique, the worthy olderman, lifted a huge pepper bag in greeting. Half a dozen figures arose with smothered exclamations. They were about him, clasping his hands, whispering joyously.

"Thou—Captain Jean?" came a hoarse voice in the old parrot of the count islands. "Here are we all—glad, indeed, out of old days!"

"Johannes! Old braver of the ports! I heard they had hanged you for the loot of the Santa on Grand Isle!"

inches off my belly and I'd be at sea again. Only today I argued with the mayor, Rouffignac, that the city was better off when it fattened on the privateering. Was it not equal robbery when the Americans under Commodore Patterson looted our Grand Terre warehouses?"

"We should have fought instead of scuttling out—" grumbled Johannes. "The Yankees could not have taken us by storm. Glad they were later to have our fellows aid them. Who did General Jackson turn to but Captain Jean's skilled artillerymen when the British threatened the city? Bah! I never saw such a lame lot of dogs as our fellows were the day the pompous governor announced we were all recommended for a pardon! We stood dangling our cutlasses, listening to lawyers' speeches praising us for saving the city, when we should have been to sea again. Captain Jean, thou wert the only wise of the band—departing to the Texas country and setting Galveston Island against the Spaniards. I could curse my heart that I did not enlist again with thee!"

"I intended to have the new establishment—legitimate enough—" murmured Lafitte, "but after the war the politicians lost no chance at Washington, nor with the Spanish viceroys at Vera Cruz, to poison all minds against me. When they sacked Galveston, I took young Bowie and went inland to the Santa Fe. That was my history since, comrades. I came back from the West, drawn by I know not what to tread these streets again."

The old buccannier watched his calm face in the moonlight. He had taken on the hat and peruke, a bronzed handsome man with dark eyes tinged with melancholy—such was Lafitte.

"Aye, You Entered This City, and You Bled a Fugitive Upon Its Streets!"

belies the British offered you at Barataria. And in turn what have the Yankees done for you, Jean—scattered your fortune to the winds?"

"Aye, you enriched this city, and you stand a fugitive upon its streets!"

The captain raised his hand gratefully. "I am a citizen of the United States, gentlemen. Proscribed, Jean now, it is true—but it might be I could serve again. There are curious things reported in the Montones. Colonel Travis, I recall, and Crockett—and young Bowie were not for me to join the Texans in a new republic. And in Kentucky—"

"Ah, but, my captain," growled old Johannes, "what hast thou to do with thy miserable portion of the day? The sea for us! It—d be the gamble of the town! Look you, what it has made of Dominique—sitting, twaddling his tongue on his fat belly! And Beluche—talking off and putting on his gilt chaquet, ticklishly, as if fearing to get dust on his greasy hair!"

"Cease your spewing," growled the Cartagena, "I sail with proper commissions, I would have you know, from Colombia."

"Aye," interrupted Beluche, "the famous attorney who defended you and Pierre in the first indictment they issued against you for piracy!"

"And you sent word, captain, that if the lawyers wished their fee they must come fetch it from our fort at Grand Terre. The city wagged that Grymes would never return alive, but do you recall the week he ventured? The feasting, dancing, the drinking until the skies rocked, all in our guest's honor!"

"Aye, and me—" Johannes beat his hairy chest. "I, the bo'sun, it was, to whom Captain Jean entrusted the lawyer on the return. By the river we came, eight armed fellows pulling the barge and roaring chanties! At every plantation wharf we stopped, the advocates breaking bottles of the finest vintages of Spain and shouting greetings. And on the deck, piled in the sun, forty thousand dollars in gold where all might see! Every gentleman's house from English Turn to the city gate must be routed out that Mr. Grymes could gamble against his hosts, so that, when our villains finally haled him into town, not a dollar did he have left of all his fee. Eoah!—even now they talk of it! Not in all Louisiana such princely hospitality as the famous attorney found in the house of Lafitte, the pirate!"

"Old man," smiled the leader, "I never liked that word!"

"I know. That is all I ever held against you, Jean! I recall the day you shot Gambo through the heart for boasting of a bit of blood he let."

"You were over a bit snicky for some of our folks' accurs, but I swear they saved you, Jean!"

The adventurer looked at the grim faces about the table. The silent Beluche, the complacent Dominique, the hairy Johann and then the slender elegance of the Count de Almonaster. And to him he spoke gravely.

"You are hearing much, young sir. The city sleeping, and these old comrades creeping by stealth to greet me here."

"I've heard the old tales. You dreamed—" he laughed slightly. "These are dull days. The gallants of the town at their courts, or projecting some gentleman's masquerade, or dancing attendance at the opera. They boast of making a little Paris of New Orleans; but who, Monsieur, wishes a little Paris after knowing the big one?"

"Your modesty, Mr. is refreshing, after these town gallants who make one trip to the Oaks, receive a paper tip in the arm, and the rest of their days deem themselves braves who have the ladies in a quiver."

"I have been twice abroad," said Raoul. "I saw a bit of pistoning in the Indies during the blacks' revolt. And there, among a shipload of refugees, I met the affair that saved me—made a man of the boy, Monsieur!"

"A woman," smiled Sazarac. "A child. I fought for her in the flames of her father's house. When I lay wounded they sent her away, orphaned in the arms of a certain officer. He married her. That is all the life of adventuring to Jean Lafitte!"

Internal cleanliness protects against disease

It is but a step from those immediate results of constipation—headache, heaviness, loss of appetite—to serious disease. Such ailments are a warning that poisons from food waste are flooding your body. Keep clean internally.

Laxatives Aggravate Constipation

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at least in Subrotation a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is not a laxative and cannot grip. Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Don't give disease a start. Adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. Nujol is not a medicine. Take pure water, it is harmless. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

Governor Walton Ousted

The Oklahoma senate, after hearing the impeachment charges preferred by the lower house and the testimony in support of those charges, voted unanimously to remove Governor Walton from office.

The governor blames the Ku Klux Klan for his prosecution and removal, and there is no question he incited the displeasure of that organization, by the rigid means he adopted to suppress its so-called activities. But in the light on the Klan, the governor, also, invaded the rights of other citizens of his state who were not members of the Klan—rights that are guaranteed to every man by the fundamental law of our land—and the result was that these good citizens of Oklahoma, having no association with nor sympathy for the Klan, aligned themselves with the Klan and made common cause against the governor.

Notwithstanding the high-handed tactics the governor employed in what he claimed, an attempt to punish the Klan and to restore a government by law, and his invasion of rights dear to every American, there are many who sympathize with him in his efforts to suppress the invisible empire, and regret that he didn't proceed in a more orderly and effective manner to accomplish his purpose, if the Klan in Oklahoma is anything like it has been painted.

There must be plenty good citizens in Oklahoma who would have aided the governor in his efforts to put down lawlessness and suppress the coverages with which the state was cursed, whether due to the Klan or an independent body working under the cloak of the Klan, but good citizens don't approve much more heartily of illegal acts committed by a governor than they do of those with which the hooded knights are charged.

The Blunder of a Century

Blunders which literally make the hair stand on end of contemporaries, blunders which have already cost the people of the United States billions of dollars and will cost them untold billions more; blunders which may yet reduce half the world to a shambles and result in a catastrophe you and your children will find it difficult to contemplate, have been committed cumulatively by your representatives in Washington during the last two years.

Secretary of State Hughes tells us, and truly, that the German reparations question is a world problem directly affecting the United States. He admits that unless it is quickly settled what is already a disaster in Europe may spread around the world. It has already cost American farmers at least $10,000,000,000 and merchants and business men generally additional amounts.

Other ranking officials admit reparations is the key to the world situation and that unless it is settled shortly, horrors yet undreamt of await Europe and, by repercussion, corresponding suffering await here. We are now preparing to feed 2,000,000 starving children in Central Europe this winter and no man can foresee the end.

Thus Washington at last confesses we are all helplessly bound up in an issue which less than a year ago it was said

STEADY, safe and sure is the pace of a car equipped with Goodyear Tires with the famous All-Weather Tread. The high, thick, sharp-edged blocks of that powerful tread provide the utmost in gripping traction. They give you security all the time, and promote the efficient, economical operation of your car.

Vincent Roll, City Garage

was no concern of ours. When we had the chance to settle the problem, we turned it down; Congress turned it down, stupidly and short-sightedly, on the ground that it was Europe's business and not ours. With the blood of our American boys we had bought the right to have a say in the making of peace, including the right to sit on the Reparations Commission which today virtually holds the fate of the world in its hands. Our interests are vitally at stake, yet we have no voice in the matter.

Whatever happens now, we have only ourselves to blame. We let petty politicians barter away what we paid for in good American lives—the right to make the world secure, to help stave off another war, to help keep war-breeders from invading our homes and driving off our lead-miners to make cannon fodder of them on far off battle fields.

We had the chance but we threw it away. They are beginning daily to realize something of all this now in Washington and are trying to make repair. We hope it is not too late. New Mexico State Tribune.

Of course, when the Republican administration talks about "atrocity" it has no reference to the Veterans' Bureau.

Mail Order Houses Kill Many Good Towns

Ask yourself these questions before you send a dollar to a mail order house, says the Tucumcari News? Who pays the taxes to keep up the roads, to maintain the schools, to keep the water system going, to operate the light plant, and to place at your door other conveniences? The local merchant mainly—certainly not the mail order house.

The man or woman who has the mail order habit should think along this line. Suppose every one living here should send to the mail order house for his groceries, clothing and other supplies, and the merchant did likewise for the things he didn't handle himself, how long would we have stores, schools, lights, water, and other modern conveniences.

Keep the money sent out of New Mexico at home and new money will come in. Land values will increase in a short time, taxes will be lowered, the farmers will receive more for their crops, cattle, sheep and poultry will increase in price; more settlers will come in and the state will advance and progress; business of all kinds will improve, money will circulate and everyone will get their share. The dollar sent out of town never returns. Buy from your home merchant, and you will help your home town and its institutions.

CITIZENS AID IN CHILD WELFARE AND FLOOD RELIEF

Red Cross Rendered Much Volunteer Assistance in Southwestern Division.

Volunteer work in the Southwestern Division, American Red Cross, has been unusually active during the last year, according to reports which have come into the division office in St. Louis recently. The volunteer committee of the Port Arthur, Texas, chapter is regarded as one of the mainstays of the service which the chapter at Port Arthur renders the community. Through this committee garments are collected, sorted and kept in order to be used whenever needed.

In Independence, Kansas, the volunteer committee of the Red Cross chapter has conducted better baby contests and children's clinics with marked success. Volunteers in the six towns of Texas County, Oklahoma, also have been holding child welfare clinics and conferences and have been able to accomplish much good towards the better health of the community by calling the parents' attention to slight physical defects of their children, which corrected now amount to nothing but which if permitted to run on might become serious for the child.

In Little Rock, Arkansas, dancers have been able to play an important part in reconstructing the impaired brains and nerves of the patients in the U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 78 in that city, by teaching men to dance and thus assisting the other occupational therapy work in stimulating the dormant mental faculties of the veterans.

RED CROSS SERVES AT INTERNATIONAL AIR MEET

Ambulances, Horses and Physicians on Duty for First Aid Work.

That the Red Cross never overlooks an opportunity for service was evidenced in the recent International Air Meet in St. Louis when volunteers from all over the world, representing both military and civil organizations, competed for world flying trophies. With a daily attendance of close to 100,000 in the way of spectators, and a Great Army of Hygiene, sanitation, ambulance drivers and the necessary personnel of such a gigantic undertaking, there was real work to be done by the Red Cross.

A first aid station was established on the field under the direction of one of the Field Directors of the Southwestern Division of the Red Cross, and ambulances with nurses and physicians were on duty all day. A battery of 175 horses had to be corralled and maintained in the best of health in case of an accident to the flyers, so that a real first aid service was maintained, with first aid dressing stations and ambulance service.

The station was under the direction of the Women's Overseas League of St. Louis, and while the station of the Red Cross was in the foreground, the Women's Overseas League was in the background. The station was charged for its services and the money thus raised was used for the medical members of the league.

The St. Louis Chapter of the American Red Cross also furnished motor cars and other transportation to bring the World War veterans from local hospitals to the field to witness the flying.

Although the percentage of accidents and other mishaps was remarkably small there were enough of them to keep the Red Cross workers constantly busy for the entire week of the meet, and to give the thought not only of the individuals who were given attention but of the officers of the meet and the representatives of the United States and other governments taking part in the contest.

ARKANSAS ESTABLISH CORRECT WEIGHT RECORD
More than 1,000 men, women and children had been weighed and measured for health at the Red Cross booth at the Washington County Fair held at Fayetteville, Arkansas. Best records for proper weight for age and height were found between the ages of 20 and 25, and astonishingly few were found to be over or under weight. Washington County people made a remarkable showing in the matter of health as indicated by weight and measurement, according to experts who have looked over the records. Children between the ages of 5 and 7 were especially satisfactory in their weight and measurement. All persons showing defects in weight were given information as how to correct them.

COOLIDGE ASKS NATION TO OBSERVE "GOLDEN RULE SUNDAY" ON DEC. 2

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON
Dear Mr. Bellah,
121 Fifth Avenue,
New York, N. Y.
Dear Sir:
It is with a good deal of satisfaction that I commend your proposal to observe an International Golden Rule Sunday, on the second of December, 1923. I feel sure that this suggestion will meet with very widespread approval and will bring more closely to mind the charitable requirements of those who are prosperous to those who are in adversity. It suggests not only a practical method for help, but the highest expression of sympathy by sharing for a time the privations of others.
Sincerely yours,
Calvin Coolidge

The plans for the observance of Golden Rule Sunday call upon the people of America to serve a menu in their homes similar to that served in the orphanages in the near east, the difference in cost of the orphanage menu and the ordinary meal to be contributed to orphanage work overseas. The observance is very appropriately fixed for the Sunday following Thanksgiving. Having on Thursday partaken from well-laden tables as a token of rejoicing in the prosperity of America, it is fitting that on the following Sunday people give special consideration to the needs and distress of those who are less highly favored.

What Causes Rapid Wear of Tires
"Too many times the car owner blames the tires when he should blame himself," said a Forestone tire expert in discussing the commonest cause of wear of castings. Forestone's are equipped to unusual extent through various forms of wheel troughs and grooves, such as misalignment, improper camber, wobblers and unadjusted brakes.
"Quite often excessive brake application, spinning of the wheels, or a rim not evenly placed will cause undue wear on the treads. When an automobile tire does not run true it is bound to drag, with side motion as it revolves.
"While our tires are advertised as giving 'Most Miles Per Dollar,' there are certain conditions that will cause even these superb castings to wear rapidly, and the driver has nobody or anything to blame but himself. He must see that his car has no bent axles, bent steering knuckles, loose bearings, broken springs, bent spindles or anything of this kind which prevents the wheels from tracking properly.

Lincoln, Nov. 20

The girl returned home Sunday only to be followed by the young Lechivar, in a silver, and a wedding followed Monday night in Carrizozo. Then they told mother. The young couple are spending their honeymoon at the Bonito Inn.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Morgan gave a reception and dance in honor of the bride party. Besides the guests from Lincoln, many friends of the bride from Capitan and Stanton attended the party and everyone had a glorious time. Delicious refreshments were served, and the Miranda band furnished the music.

Mrs. R. E. Robbins is teaching school this week as a substitute for Mrs. Clayton Berry.

Miss Ruby Bryan and Mr. Clayton Berry, of Amarilla, were married in Carrizozo Monday night. They were accompanied by Miss Clara Peplin and Mr. McClure, a friend of the groom.

The cars that left Lincoln that morning were loaded with bright and pretty girls, and in addition there was an unknown guest among them—Fate clothed in the garments of Romance. At the ball game the Lincoln girls were far outclassed by their huskier foes, but they took their defeat gamely and when they reached home they said they had had a fine time anyway.

Fate and a couple of the teachers stayed over and attended the dance.

At their appearance, a young man, a stranger, in turn had a violent attack of heart trouble—or was it that he had received the dart so accurately aimed from the bow of Dan Cupid. He felt the only relief for the pain in his lacerated heart would be to dance away the hours with one of the fair visitors.

They danced right straight into Loveland.

The lady who lost the cameo brooch during the teachers' convention at Lincoln early this month had it returned to her this week. A gentleman from Capitan found it, and, seeing the ad in the News, returned the valuable little article to the owner. It pays to advertise.

Mr. and Mrs. Kingston, and two sons of Ancho visited with their friend Mrs. Morgan before returning to their home from Capitan, where they have had their boys in school.

Saturday the basket ball team returned to Carrizozo, in answer to the challenge of the girls' team of that town. Professor and Mrs. Robbins and Mrs. Raymond of Tinsie chaperoned the girls and several of the teachers also attended the game.

Several passengers joined in the search and finally located the teeth at the bottom of an irrigation canal.

A Mission that Failed No one but high officials of the administration need be surprised at the failure of Eugene Meyer, Jr., and Frank Mondell of the War Finance Board to find a remedy for the depression and distress in the agricultural districts of the West, says our correspondent at Washington. It was a foregone conclusion that, although the western farmers' condition would be manifest to the President's agents, the cure was not to be found along with the disease. There was no need for any representative of the administration to leave Washington to discover the straits in which the producers of wheat had themselves or to learn the cause. This information was already in possession of President Coolidge. Western congressmen urged an extra session of congress to provide emergent relief, but the President refused to take that course. The true reason for the depression in American agriculture is to be found not in the states where it prevails, but in the White House and the State Department and the senate chamber at Washington. The Republican policy of abstinence from the rest of the world and the administration's stupid adherence to a plank in a political platform instead of taking cognizance of the stern realities of the situation at home and abroad are responsible for the loss of foreign markets for American wheat and other products as well. Having permitted Europe to fall into bankruptcy and chaos, thus depriving the American farmer of his former customers, the Republicans leaders enacted a tariff that has put a new obstacle in the way of foreign trade and increased the cost of living on the farm and everywhere else without correspondingly enhancing agricultural prices or wage-workers' pay. All these blunders and obstina-

110 DISASTERS IN YEAR ENLIST RED CROSS AID

Nearly $400,000 Spent in United States—Greek Refugees Work Completed.

For its preparedness to render relief through effective and generous aid to the sufferers from disaster the American Red Cross is universally regarded as the one organization from which response to appeal for help is immediate. In the last year, according to the annual report of the Red Cross, its disaster relief operations were carried out in 110 localities in the United States. This work, with activities carried over from the previous year, required the expenditure in the United States of $397,488.04 by the American Red Cross, its Chapters and Branches. In the emergency following the defeat of the Greek forces in Turkey and the burning of the city of Smyrna, which entailed the relief of nearly 500,000 men, women and children, Red Cross National Headquarters expended $2,505,838.09. The food distributed in Greece aggregated 25,000 tons; garments, 209,000; blankets, 49,550; new shoes, 5,000 pairs; medical, hospital and sanitary supplies, 204 tons. In the feeding of the refugees there was listed upwards of 32,000 children under three years of age.

The disasters in the United States during the past year reported 340 persons killed, 981 injured, 12,892 rendered homeless. The total property loss was estimated at $29,710,000. Relief of suffering caused by disasters of such magnitude as to overwhelm the resources of the communities in which they occur is fundamental to the charter of the American Red Cross. In addition to making appropriations from its treasury and assigning trained personnel to relief work, the Red Cross in disaster centralizes and makes more effective relief funds and supplies contributed by the country at large. Since 1911 the Red Cross has administered more than $100,000,000 for the single purpose of disaster relief. That it may continue to accept the responsibility which grave emergencies place upon the American Red Cross special is made for a nationwide renewal of membership during the annual roll call, which opens on Armistice Day, November 11, and closes on Thanksgiving Day, November 23.

Life Saving Work Of Red Cross Corps Wars on Drownings

The leaders of the American Red Cross Life Saving Corps on the bathing apparel of men, women and children in each every where at favorite bathing places along the coast, rivers, lakes and ponds. In its unrelenting campaign to reduce loss of life by drowning the Red Cross is making constant headway. The demands for instruction from organizations in all parts of the country were so numerous the past year that it was necessary to move more than double the staff of Red Cross instructors. This work of training for water life-saving showed an enrollment of over 40,000 students enrolled for duty on patrol, for rescue and resuscitation. All component of the Red Cross life saving water safety methods. The Red Cross by request of the War Department gives water first aid training at the United States Military and Naval Academies and in the military training camps for reserve officers and army men. The four cash prizes awarded by the Red Cross last year for heroic rescues were conferred upon two girls, a boy and a man, including that the youths of the country stand well at the top in conserving life along our water courses.

Red Cross Field Of Action Covers All the World

Represented by 91,643 members, the American Red Cross penetrates to nearly every part of the world. The regular and foreign roll call statistics for the past year are a most convincing manifestation of the Red Cross spirit carried into the most remote lands. In Europe there are 4,000 members; in Turkey, and active in the Constantinople Chapter 3,500. China has an enrollment of 1,251. Africa, 115; India, 254; and Australia, 20. Even Vladivostok, in frigid Siberia, has a five chapter with 166 members. The Philippine Islands can boast 5,747 under the Red Cross banner and Hawaii 7,000. The total funds raised through foreign and branch membership enrollment and sent to national headquarters in Washington amounted to $90,216.54, while an additional $23,266 was forwarded for the endorsement fund of the American Red Cross. The high seas roll was in 1922 was an inspiring success. The Navy signed on 1,211 for the Red Cross and the merchant ships 1,111. Of the total membership outside the United States 12,574 are registered with chapters in foreign lands, the balance permanent and non-permanent.

"I want to; therefore I can" is the spirit that opens the Red Cross work in war-torn.

Bavarian Monarchists Attempt to Start a Revolt—But Are Easily Suppressed.

LUDENDORFF IS IN PRISON

By HOWARD W. PICKARD
FOR a few hours toward the close of last week Germany was on the verge of civil war, and excited correspondents called the republican government was about to fall before the attack of the monarchists. Then it all petered out. The revolt, which was started by Adolph Hitler, leader of the Bavarian Fascists, and Gen. Eric von Ludendorff, chief of staff of the German armies during the war, was easily suppressed. The government under Chancellor Brüning was declared to be stronger than ever. Von Ludendorff, who has become something of a pompous ass, was in jail; Hitler, wounded, was reported to have escaped, but another dispatch said he also was a prisoner.

Thursday night Hitler led 500 armed men into a political meeting in Munich, proclaimed the overthrow of the republican government and ordered the arrest of Brüning, von Kappeler and Minister of the Interior Brüning, who were accused of conspiring with Brüning. Hitler then declared himself to be the new national dictator and appointed General von Ludendorff war minister and commander in chief of the new national army. Von Kappeler was made extraordinary governor of Bavaria, General von Lossow Bavaria war minister and Lossow premier of Bavaria.

Hitler troops in Augsburg also attempted to bring off a coup like that in Munich. The police met and dispersed them. Absentee patches in one of two other places were reported. Martial law was declared for all Bavaria and it was announced that death sentences would be promptly executed.

The leaders of the Munich party had counted on the support of the monarchist troops under Captain Schmidt along the Thuringian border, but that commander wired Berlin that he would stand firm behind General von Seeckt, who had been named supreme military dictator of Germany by President Ebert, and would obey his orders. Former Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria declared himself strongly opposed to the revolutionary movement in Bavaria, and France let the Germans know she would not permit the overthrow of the republican government.

At the request of the allied council of ambassadors, the Dutch government has forbidden former Crown Prince Frederick William to leave Wieringen.

NOT so good" fairly commences the status of the negotiations for adoption of the Hughes reparations plan at this writing. They are not broken off, however, and there is still a chance that France will see her way to joining Great Britain in the formal invitation to the United States to take part in the suggested commission of Germany's "present capacity," and just what period that word "present" should cover. If Mr. Hughes is fairly liberal in his interpretation of this restriction, making the time, say five years, it is likely America will be able to make good on her obligations to the allied governments without having to see Secretary Hughes arrested times last week and received several long communications from Poland. Neither has yet made any public statement, but it is understood the French are not disposed to press at this time their contention that reduction of German reparations is impossible unless the debts of France to America and Great Britain likewise are scaled down. Mr. Hughes was said to be willing to concede that the legality of French occupation of the Ruhr and other questions pertaining to it should be declared outside the jurisdiction of the committee of experts, though he cannot see how Germany's ability to pay can be explored without taking into consideration the productivity of the Ruhr.

London dispatches assert that Belgium and Italy have joined Great Britain in the demand that the inquiry into Germany's financial and economic condition shall be free and unlimited, and that if the United States and France cannot come to an agreement, the three nations will probably unite in such an investigation. Certain correspondents are insistent in their reports that France is about to be isolated, but with some of them the wish may be father to the thought. Belgium officially admits that she is seeking to act as a mediator and is "hopeful of establishing an accord between France and England."

Ambassador Herrick, just returned to France, in an address at the Bavaria farm where the Kappeler division fought beside General Gouraud's army, seemingly commended the United States in the duty of helping re-establish Europe. Said he:

"We put our hands on the plow, and we are ready to run the furrow through, for we know if the present program is not solved, and finally and quickly solved, then truly America will have fought the war in vain."

This stirred up the "irreconcilables" in the United States. It was understood that Mr. Herrick was merely expressing his own views. Paris, however, believed the American government has made up its mind to take a hand in European affairs, mainly because it is considered that during the coming winter America must provide Germany with hundreds and thousands of bushels of wheat on barter credit to prevent wholesale starvation.

A demand for the re-establishment of allied control over German military equipment, which has been in abeyance since the occupation of the Ruhr, and stated that France might be forced to take military measures for protection against "reactionary nationalist parties who exercise power in a considerable part of Germany."

Brüning's reply was to the effect that attempts of allied officers, especially French and Belgian, to uniform to check up the armed strength of Germany would be extremely dangerous and that the German government cannot take the responsibility of guaranteeing the safety of members of the commission if they insist on proceeding with the work.

IF THE recommendations of the London economic conference in London are adopted by the British parliament, and they probably will be, the United States will be given a strong dose of the hard medicine it has been administering to others for many years. These recommendations are that Great Britain put a tax of six shillings a hundredweight on raw apples from foreign countries; a duty of ten shillings a hundredweight on canned salmon; a duty of six pence a gallon on fruit juices, and a 25 per cent duty on foreign tobacco. The first, second and fourth of these proposals would hit America especially. It was pointed out that the whole basis in considering these questions was whether domestic trade can expand rapidly enough to supply all British needs, and in the case of apples it was stated that the supply would easily equal the demand.

ADVANTAGE in the elections of last Tuesday was claimed by both the Republicans and the Democrats. The report transmitted the Twenty-fourth congressional district of New York, where Benjamin F. Fairbank was elected, and with it Vermont, where Porter Daley was chosen United States senator. The Democrats elected three governors—Metcalf in Maryland, Fields in Kentucky and Whitefield in Mississippi, and Tammany was victorious in New York city, routing both the Republicans and William Randolph Hearst in the judicial contest.

In the next congress the senate will have 51 Republicans, 43 Democrats and 2 Farmer-Laborites. The lineup in the house will be: Republicans 225, Democrats 205, Socialist 1, Independent 1, and Farmer-Laborite 1—a Republican majority of 17, with two vacancies still to be filled.

Senator-elect Dale is a dry and defeated an avowed wet, but in general the results were accounted a victory by the anti-Prohibition law element. This was especially true in Maryland and Kentucky. In many localities the Ku Klux Klan was an issue, and in most cases the Klan won.

GOVERNOR WALTON of Oklahoma sought the intervention of the federal courts to halt the impeachment proceedings against him, but this was denied by Judge Cotter at Lawton on the ground that the court had no jurisdiction in the case. However, the governor was granted a new hearing at a date not yet set. Meanwhile the trial has begun and Walton has appeared before the senate court through counsel and pleaded not guilty, making a sweeping denial of all the charges. The governor's lawyers insist the court shall hear all the evidence on all the charges before voting on a verdict.

IN A report to the President the War Finance Corporation asserts that the solution of the wheat problem requires the adjustment of production to American needs if the world market is to be supplied from other producing countries at lower prices than are satisfactory to American growers, and the development of an improved marketing system. The latter, the directors of the corporation think, can be brought about by the organization of the producers of the country for the purpose of marketing their wheat under the cooperative marketing plan, making it unnecessary to rely so completely upon the mercantile functionaries of the speculative public contract market.

The report expresses strong opposition to the various proposals looking to an increase in the tariff on wheat, government price-fixing and government operation of "surplus" wheat.

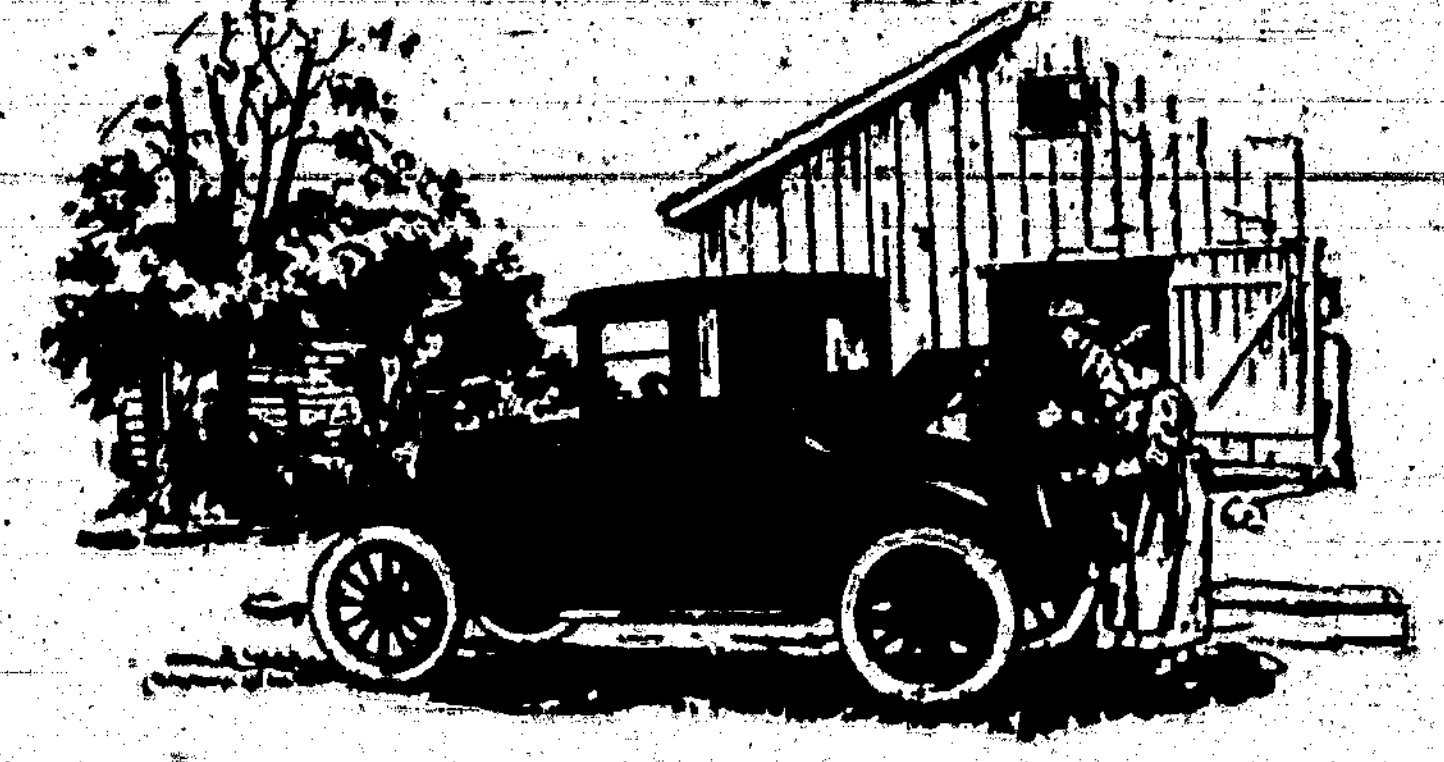

AFTER hearings in the branch of the Federal Reserve Bank, the Federal Reserve board has ruled, as a condition of membership in the reserve system of state banks, that the applicant agree to establish no branches except within the city where the parent bank is located. This policy goes into effect February 2, 1924. A resolution adopted by the board declared that establishment of branches by state banks produced an inequitable situation for national banks, which cannot establish branches without permission of the controller of the currency.

SIR ERIC DRUMMOND, secretary general of the League of Nations, was recalled the other day by President Woodrow Wilson, and came away with the assurance that Italy had no prejudice against the league and that the president favors its principles. Drummond, however, informed the secretary general that Italy required that her position as one of the great powers and one of the founders of the league and a principal signatory of the Treaty of Versailles should be "adequately maintained."

THE budget bureau has received the department estimates for the next fiscal year, passed them to the house and submitted them to President Coolidge. The total sum asked by the bureau is $1,700,000,000, representing a saving of $128,000,000 from the amount being expended in the current fiscal year. Of course congress may see fit to change some of the items.

IN A decision announcing the principal to be applied in determining American claims against Germany, the state claims commission upheld broadly the claims growing out of the torpedoing of the Lusitania, numbering 228 and aggregating about $28,000,000. The commission refused to agree to a compromise of positive damages, holding they are paid in nature and not authorized by the treaty of peace. It also ordered $2,500,000 in claims, totaling about $28,000,000, for the recovery of business premiums paid by Americans for protection against war hazards.

CHEVROLET Every Farm Needs Two

EVERY farm needs two automobiles, one of which should be a closed model Chevrolet.

The open touring car is best for general farm use, carrying passengers or perhaps miscellaneous bulky produce or merchandise, but for cold or rainy weather, and for church or social use the family needs a closed car, either a 2-passenger Utility Coupé as illustrated, or the 5-passenger Sedan. The extra large rear compartment is a feature of the Coupé.

These closed cars are very finely made, furnished, upholstered and trimmed. The windows are of plate glass and can be lowered, providing as much air as an open car, yet affording full protection against wind, rain, snow or cold when raised. With a second car on a farm, one is always available for those at home when the other is out.

The low price of Chevrolet makes the ownership of two cars feasible for most farm families.

CROP REPORTING BY PLANE 40,000 RADIOS ARE ON FARMS

Army Air Service Takes Photographs of Fields of Cotton, Corn and Hay.

The practicability of measuring crop acreages by means of airplane photography is being determined by the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington in an effort to remove so far as possible the hazard of errors in crop reporting.

In recent experiments at Tallahassee, Fla., in cooperation with the Army Air Service photographs of fields of cotton, corn and hay were made at heights ranging from 2,500 to 7,000 feet with the plane traveling at the rate of 60 to 90 miles an hour. In photographs taken at 7,000 feet it is possible to distinguish the fields planted to the various crops. With the use of a "planimeter" it is then possible to measure the exact acreage in the different fields shown in the photographs.

Promoted the Interval.—What did you say your age was?
She (smiling)—Well, I didn't say; but I've just reached twenty-one.
"Is that so? Who detained you?"
London Answer.

Recent Survey by U. S. Department of Agriculture Shows Wide Use of Wireless Outfits.

The use of radio for practical and social purposes is shown in a recent survey made by the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington. County agricultural agents estimate that there are approximately 40,000 radio sets on farms in 750 counties. This is an average of 51 sets per county. Applying the average to 2,850 agricultural counties, a total of more than 146,000 sets on farms throughout the country is estimated. The county agents' estimates cover every state.

Going into Details.
"Do you always fully understand that subject you feel called upon to discuss?"
"That couldn't be expected," replied Senator Schreiner. "When we were in Europe we frequently had occasion to mention a million marks, but not one of us had ever counted as much as a million in our lives."
Even if a man doesn't manage to come out on top his hair will.

THINKING moulds the mind and exercise develops the body, but food supplies the materials for building mind and body.

Grape-Nuts, made from wheat and malted barley, is a crisp, delicious cereal food, rich in wholesome nutriment.

The important mineral elements of the grains are readily available in this splendid food. The essential Vitamin-B is supplied in generous measure. The nutritious starches of the wheat and barley are partially pre-digested by 20 hours' baking.

Grape-Nuts with milk or cream is a complete food. Its compact form makes a little go a long way.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

W. R. Lovelace, a well-known sheepman of Corona, was a business visitor Monday.

Attorney J. L. Lawson was here Monday from Alamogordo on professional business.

Miss Tiny Finley came up last Sunday from Roswell to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. U. Finley.

Mildred, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. McCall, who has been quite ill, is reported to be much improved.

Bryce Dugger took second money among local hunters. He brought in an antlered beauty the day following the opening of the season.

Will Marr, the Little Creek saw mill man and ranchman, was here Monday. Mr. Marr says cattle are in fine condition, but prices are far from satisfactory.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. French are in El Paso, Mr. French going yesterday and Mrs. French this morning. Mr. French is to undergo an operation tomorrow for ulcer of the stomach.

William Booth has purchased the Village water wagon and team. He will deliver water until the first of the year, as per agreement of the Village trustees, and will also do repair work on the streets.

Alec Adams is off the water wagon, and has taken to the road—the Carrizozo-Socorro highway. Alec didn't join the John Harley-corn brigade, but the Village disposed of its water wagon, and still Alec is "dry."

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Braum have received the news that a fine boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Braum, Los Angeles on the 17th inst. The new grandson weighed 7 1/2 pounds and bears the name of David Rufus.

John Keith is expected in this week from Texas, and will go to White Oaks and re-enter the mining game. Mr. Keith is an old-time White Oaks citizen and was engaged in mining there for a number of years.

G. R. Reichelt, and family left Sunday night for Gail, Arizona. They had returned to Carrizozo, where they formerly lived, to pack their household goods for shipment to their new home. Gus is now with the Southern Pacific.

W. L. Burnett, proprietor of the Star Cafe, was the first nimbler to return with a big buck. He got his'n in Tortolita canyon. It weighed about 200 pounds. His star boarders didn't get even a smell—against the law, ye know.

J. C. Hester, assistant-cashier of the First National Bank, Roy, N.M., has accepted the position of assistant cashier of the First National Bank here, and has assumed his duties with the latter bank. His family will join him soon. Mr. Hester was connected with the First National of this town a few years ago, and will not be a stranger to the people.

B. W. Rantrow has returned from Kansas City where he went with four cars of cattle last week. While prices are still down, he stated, he got a fair price for his lot which were in fine condition. He has sufficient hay put away to carry the remainder of his herd through the winter. He does not look for much change in market quotations for a year and may be two. Before returning to his ranch across the main pass, he visited his old home at Capitan.

"Enchantment" will be presented at the Crystal theatre tomorrow (Saturday) night. Marion Davies, who plays Ethel Hoyt in the title role, is a badly-spelled young lady—a "Dapper," if you please—but her father doesn't realize it until he reads her diary, from which he learns that Ethel believes she is a Cleopatra—that all men are mad about her. The father plans to circumvent her, and things begin to happen. Ethel is finally tamed—but see the show.

Fire at Tinnie

A large apple shed, containing about eight car loads of apples, was destroyed by fire, at Tinnie, last Friday night. It is said that a number of automobiles and trucks also burned. The fire is thought to have been the work of an incendiary, gasoline, according to reports, having been utilized as a quick means of ignition. The shed and its contents belonged to The Titworth Company, of Capitan. This is the second fire this company has suffered within a month, and it is believed both were of incendiary origin.

Appointed Chief Clerk

The friends of Miss Ula L. Edmiston will be glad to learn of her advancement in the Federal Reserve service. After having been with the First National here several years, Miss Ula was offered and accepted a position at Dallas, Texas, with the Bank Examiner of the Federal Reserve District. She made good, and just recently has been advanced to the position of chief clerk to the Federal Bank Examiner at Dallas, Texas, with a salary of $3,500 a year, a distinction of which Lincoln county, the place of her birth and training, is justly proud.

average audience are not as pleasing as other forms of entertainment, Miss Bewley held the rapt attention of the audience from beginning to end and proved to be a most talented artist. In character impersonations she was exceptionally good, and, in fact, every number evoked generous appreciation, and the popularity of the Lyceum Course was enhanced by her coming. The next number to be presented here will be the Kellam Duo, and the date is December 14. Kellam is a baritone singer; also reads, impersonates and plays the violin, mandolin and piano. Miss Lala Lowrey, the second number, sings—and will also give piano and accordion selections. This couple have been in Lyceum work for a number of seasons and have a splendid reputation as entertainers.
