THE HOUSE OF QUALITY

SECURE VERY VALUABLE RELICS.

The Historical Society has recently obtained a very interesting addition to that branch of its collections which illustrates the Spanish settlement and occupation by securing a number of metates and the accompanying "mano" stones used in grinding corn, from the first Spanish settlement under Onate in July, 1598.

This was at the place on the west bank of the Rio Grande just above the mouth of the Chama river, called by the Indians Yunque and christened by the Spaniards, San Gabriel; and which was the Capital until the removal to Santa Fe about six years later. It is close to the present Chamita station on the Denver and Rio Grande railroad, directly opposite the Indian Pueblo of San Juan. The metates are massive affairs of hard stone but the mano stones have been broken during the lapse of time.

The society has also obtained a remarkable and entirely unique specimen of Indian carving on the stone which has long been one of the treasured antiquities of the pueblo of San Juan. This is in the form of a human face very delicately carved in low relief and bearing the marks of the wear of ages.

WORKS RUNNING

There does not seem to be a serious falling off in the mining interests of Lincoln county now, regard less of the condition in eastern money centers, our mining companies are going right along with their development work and preparing for greater production. The Vera Cruz mill is now running night and day full capacity, and treating about 200 tons of ore per day. A large force of men has just been put to work and arrangements are being perfected for the erection of a large cyanide plant at an early date.

This means much for Carrizozo as the operation of the big mine on such a scale brings up a large amount of trade, besides stimulating other mining companies to greater efforts. M. B. May was in town yesterday from his ranch near Nogal, looking after business interests and made a pleasant call at this office.

EMPIRE

Westward the star of empire still takes its way and westward it will be, for tens of thousands of citizens of this great country, the majority of them hardy, experienced and well to do farmers will come to the southwest for homes and to make this part of the United States powerful, influential and prosperous. The tide of immigration into this section is keeping up steadily. This is also a true sign that the recent financial fiasco in the large money centers will not have the evil and far reaching effect it was at first feared would be the case. New Mexico is ready coming into its own to a great extent in receiving a comfortable and satisfactory immigration. It has done so for the past two years and the settlers, the immigrants and the capitalist who came to the Sunshine Territory during these two years have come to stay. Immigrants are increasing in numbers with the intention of becoming permanent citizens. Under the heading "A Sign of prosperity," the Kansas City Journal views this situation in not to optimistic frame of mind, but sensibly, carefully, and truthfully.

The journal says that one of the best indications that the financial stringency is not deeply rooted and will soon be a thing of the past is the continued flow of home seekers through Kansas City to the Southwest. One day this week seven special trains were run over different railroads to carry the heavy tide of homeseekers who are taking advantage of the cheap rates of "homeseekers' day." Railroad officials say that this immigration is larger now than it has been for several months past. These homeseekers comprise the best classes of American citizenship, the bulk of them being substantial farmers from Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and other states of the middle west who are embracing the opportunity afforded by the low rates to buy out the land in the great empire of the Southwest, and few of them fail to find what they seek. They find that they can sell their high priced farms at home and buy equally fertile land in a more salubrious climate in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and the lowlands of New Mexico and Arizona, which when irrigated or situated near running streams, are as rich as the banks of Nile. Missouri is getting a fair share of these homeseekers, but not as many as the state's natural advantages warrant, owing to the parsimony of the state administration, which have taken little or no pains to attract immigration by liberal policies in legislative enactments and understand her diversified resource to the world. Ozark country alone in the south western part of Missouri now sparsely settled and little known to outsiders, could support a greater population and richer vineyards than France, better conditions for dairy farms than Switzerland, and finer orchards than can be found anywhere else in the world.

This great tide of homeseekers has been pouring through Kansas city for several years in steadily increasing volume, rising as high as forty thousand people a month during the past year. It is heavier in numbers now than ever before and it signifies two cheering things: one that financial conditions have not affected the backbone of the nation, the farming classes, and the other that a period of unparalleled prosperity is due in the Southwest which will add vastly more corn, wheat and cattle to the nation's store and will make its influence felt for the better throughout the entire country. As long as the cornfields and smokehouses of the west and the southwest continue to be filled to overflowing with a constantly increasing supply, no great harm can come to the country at large, no matter how many blunders are made in matters of legislation or how many artificial and unnatural panics may arise therefrom.

PENDING MINING LEGISLATION

The following bill is now pending in the congress of the United States. A bill to amend section twenty-three hundred and twenty-four of the revised statutes of the United States relating to mining claims.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, that the provisions of section numbered twenty-three hundred and twenty-four of the revised statutes of the United States which requires that on each claim located after the tenth day of May, eighteen hundred and seventy-two, and until after patent has been issued therefor, not less than one hundred dollar's worth of labor each year, be suspended for the year nineteen hundred and seven, so that a mining claim which has been regularly located and recorded as required by the local laws and mining regulations shall be subject to forfeiture for nonperformance of the annual assessment work for the year nineteen hundred and seven. Provide that the claimant, or claimants of any mining location in order to secure the benefit of this act, shall cause to be recorded in the office where the location notice or certificate is held on or before December thirty first nineteen hundred and seven, a notice that he or they in good faith intend to hold and work on claim.

OLD TIMER GOES TO SOLDIERS HOME

Dick Cavanaugh, one of the oldest residents of this part of New Mexico and well known by all the older inhabitants of this country has secured an appointment to the Soldiers Home at Los Angeles, California, and left a few days ago for the land of flowers.

Mr Cavanaugh came to New Mexico over 25 years ago and worked as soldier, stage driver and cattle man in various parts of the territory. When the opening of the mining camp of White Oaks came he was among the first to go to the new camp.

During the past few years Mr. Cavanaugh has made his home with James O. Nabours of Three Rivers, but lately decided that he would enjoy a change of scene and climate so will try Los Angeles for a time. The best wishes of a multitude of friends go with him on his journey.

OPEN SEASON.

In response to a request that the season be lengthened for quail shooting in this locality, the Territorial Game Warden writes the following letter which gives desired information for the benefit of any and all who are interested in field sports.

December 31, 1907.
Mr. N. S. Rose,
Secy. Carrizozo Commercial Club,
Carrizozo, New Mex.

Dear Sir:—
Under the game laws the Territorial Warden is not authorized to extend the open season on any of best Legislature passed a law authorizing Boards of County Commissioners to extend the season on quail on the application of twenty-five house holders, but it is questionable whether this provision is not in conflict with the act of Congress of July 30, 1886, prohibiting legislatures of the Territory from passing local or special laws for the protection of game and fish, although the provision has never been ruled upon by the Attorney General. As the Attorney General is not here I am unable to get an opinion from him but as soon as he returns the matter will be taken up, and let you here from me further.

I return herewith petition and enclose copy of the game laws.
Yours very truly,
W. E. GIMLIN,
Warden.

INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS ON TUBERCULOSIS

New Mexico State Committee,
Fort Stanton, N. M., January 4, 07.

Dear Sir:—
The International Congress on Tuberculosis will be held in Washington, D. C. September 21st to October 12th, 1908. I have been appointed a member of the State Committee and, as representative of this district, requested to form sub-committees to obtain additional members to the Congress. Members will be either lay or professional. Active members pay a fee of $5 and receive, besides the ordinary privileges of membership, a full set of published transactions without extra charge. Associate members pay a fee of $2.50 and not receive the published transactions.

In view of the vast importance of the work of this Congress to the people of the whole world in the struggle to limit the ravages of tuberculosis, it is believed that our citizens are vitally interested and it is desired to secure for New Mexico a large and representative membership.

I therefore earnestly request that you will make application for membership, addressing your communication to me and enclosing money order for either $5 or $2.50, according to the class of the membership which you elect to apply for. Special rates and hotel rates will be arranged for the benefit of such members who desire to attend the meeting of the Congress in Washington City.

The members of the New Mexico Committee earnestly hope that you will be able to have a very large representation in its Congress. Congress is not especially large on the contrary, the ship is open to all professions and occupations.

Very truly,
J. M. ...

HOW CONDITIONS OF DISTRICT SCHOOLS CAN BE IMPROVED

[illegible]

Now that the battle for statehood for New Mexico is being waged earnestly let's keep the ball rolling until the goal is accomplished. Prospects were never brighter for secessors than they are now.

A suggestion of the El Paso Herald-Examiner is that you raise bees on your neighbor's property. This traps the fly and makes the best honey in the world. How would you start? Get the bees and the hives. That is all. After a while get the honey.

A Boston youth the son of a millionaire, came with the cook and afterward found out that he was a disguised Wellesley girl studying social conditions. She had about thirty millionaires' sons flirted with, cooked and, by decided that she did not like the life, but the young man must be mightily disappointed. When his name was set on a card, it must be terrible to get a student of sociology.

Blackwell's Island will absorb the backstep. How would the two-step do?

Two clergymen, four college professors, and 25 college graduates have taken jobs within the past two weeks on Pittsburgh cars as conductors, asserting that they cannot get no other work. What's the matter with Pittsburg, where being a street car conductor pays better than being minister or teacher? Are education and religion at a discount, or are the fare registers out of order?

That plan to find out the exact situation with respect to catch-and-release, for example, is a good one. It is never wise to waste ammunition, no matter how big the game supply.

Delegate Andrews is credited with having secured pensions for sixty-six soldiers in New Mexico during the month of December alone. Wonder if he will be made a mark for the shafts of envy, malice and all ungodly things on that account.

The latest arrival in the New Mexico newspaper field is the Willard Record, under the editorship of Eugene Forbes. It is a bright, new

PROFITS IN TRUCK FARMING

In the January number of the Southern Farm Magazine is an article on truck farming that should serve as a profitable pointer to our valley farmers. A truck farmer near Wilmington, Del., gives the following figures of net profits from carefully measured ground:

Lettuce, 1 1/2 acres, $812.49; radishes, 1 acre, $54.05; onions, 2-3 acre, $58.95; cauliflower, 1-9 acre, $57.40; beets, 1-2 acre, $98.90; turnips, 1-4 acre, $35.60; cabbage, 1 1/2 acres, $123.58; beans, 1 acre, $257.27; cucumbers, 2-5 acre, $114.57; egg plant, 1 acre, $392.17; tomatoes, 4 acre, $86.37; peppers, 1 acre, $10.30. These profits came from one planting, and after each crop was taken off the ground was immediately planted in something else.

The star performance—authentically reported this year was that of George W. Trask who has a place about three miles from Baltimore. He planted 12 acres of lettuce, 3 acres under canvas and eleven in the open, from which he reaped a net profit of $12,000. Think of that! A neat little fortune, as money goes in a modest community made in one year from a small plot of ground, seasoned with judgement and industry. Mr. Trask bought his place, 60 acres, in October, 1902 for $3,000 on credit. It was cultivation, had a good house and a full equipment of mules and implements. At the end of two years he had paid for the place, built a good barn and had some $500 in bank.

Every vegetable grown on the Delaware seven acres of net profit of over $2100 can be grown in this valley and there is a ready market for such products, right here where such vegetables bring better prices than in Baltimore.

A 20 acre truck farm in this valley intelligently cultivated, would yield bigger profits on the capital and effort invested than in any other business to be found in this city.

POOR COAL LAND WILL BE RESTORED TO ENTRY

Washington Jan. 6.—Land Commissioner Ballinger has called upon the geological survey to expedite reports upon various areas of land withdrawn from settlement in Western states on account of their supposed coal bearing character.

Examinations have shown in many instances that the lands withdrawn from settlement do not contain coal of marketable value and some of these lands have been restored to entry.

It is Commissioner Ballinger's intention to obtain, if possible, early reports upon all areas withdrawn as coal lands with a view to having them permanently classified and restored to entry if found to be without marketable coal.
