LOCAL MENTION

If you see it here it happened

C. L. Sbeeler, formerly of this region, passed through town a few days ago, enroute to his home in Michigan.

F. W. Gurney spent a few days in town this week considering a deal on a large eating house and hotel in Carrizozo. Mr. Gurney is well and favorable known here and his connection with such an enterprise would be a guarantee of a first class house, and our citizens would be pleased to see him embark in such an undertaking.

Sheriff John W. Owen, of Lincoln, was in town on official business Monday.

J. O. Nabours came in from the north Sunday evening and spent the day in our town Monday.

County Surveyor W. H. Beaty, of Corona, transacted business in town a few days this week.

County Superintendent, S. G. Anderson, was a business visitor at the County Seat, the latter part of last week, returning home Saturday evening.

J. B. Burrell was in Lincoln a few days last week in attendance at the meeting of the County Commissioner.

Sheriff Peter Schubert, of Torrance county, came in Sunday morning and took a young man by the name of Charles Bell back with him that evening on a charge of mistaking another man's horse for his own and leaving the county with it.

W. C. McDonald, transacted business in El Paso a few days the latter part of last week.

J. W. Barrett, and John Baird have formed a partnership and opened up a real estate office in the building formerly occupied by Mr. Barrett, as a barber shop. These gentlemen are both well known in this community, and will have the confidence of the entire community as a starter toward success in their business.

The firm will handle all kinds of real estate, both town and country, make out abstracts, draw up legal papers and attend to notarial work and write fire insurance. They are local agents for the National Cooperative Realty Company, of Washington, which transacts business in all parts of the United States.

C. E. Buchert, representing the Smith Premier Typewriter, the best writing machine manufactured, transacted business in our town Wednesday and made a pleasant call at this office while here.

C. F. Corruth, and family of Gatesville, Texas, arrived Wednesday evening and think of locating here.

During the past week W. C. Walker sold to James Hurt a business lot on Alamogordo Avenue. The deal was made through the firm of Barrett & Baird.

The ladies of the Baptist church will give a social at the tent on Fourth street Monday afternoon.

The Interstate Portrait & View Co., with their photo tent are in our town and are located on the lot just north of Ziegler Brothers store.

These gentlemen do some very creditable work and are being liberally patronized by our people. They are equipped to do all kinds of photography, either indoor, or outside and their prices are very reasonable, ranging from $2.00 per dozen up.

Charles Henning, of El Paso, was a business visitor here during the present week.

Clay Harkrider, a young stock of near Springfield, Ill. is in town looking over the business situation.

Fred Street, of near Clovis, is in this vicinity visiting with relatives. Mr. Street is quite enthusiastic over his home town and prophesies great things for its future. We hope he is right, and that Clovis will gain great prominence.

Edward Ballinger, a representative of a Kansas nursery was in town for a few days this week.

Premium of five dollars, $5.00 in gold to the one making the largest score in any one game of Box Ball from April 18th to May 1st.

Ice cream every Wednesday and Saturdays. Soft drinks most all kinds always on ice.

W. N. Kennedy

If you have a house to rent list it with Barrett & Baird.

SIX CHINAMEN CAPTURED

Late last Sunday afternoon Officer W. S. Kirby received a telegram from Superintendent F. G. Hawkes, of the Southwestern lines informing him that there were several Chinese on northbound passenger train, No 4, and instructing him to intercept them as they were supposed to be in this country illegally.

When the train reached Carrizozo it was boarded by the officers and after a search six slant-eyed sons of the flowery Kingdom were found hidden in the baggage car behind a great pile of trunks and other baggage. Not one of them could understand English and it was with difficulty that the police got them out of the car.

They were unloaded and locked in the city jail until Chinese Inspector Griffin, of Alamogordo, could get here and take them in charge. He took them to Alamogordo where they are now in jail awaiting their hearing with good prospects for a return trip to the other side of the world as a fine.

DEMOCRATS DIVIDED

It appears that all the Democrats in the territory are not so desirous of the peerless Larazolo for candidate and among the more conservative and well informed members of the party there is a move to nominate Hon. J. L. Hinkle of Roswell, who is certainly one of the best men in the party and would make the strongest run of any man who could be nominated. The great popularity of Mr. Hinkle among the new settlers in the eastern part of the territory is a strong point in his favor.

NOW THEY MEDITATE

On Thursday night, April 9, Officer W. S. Kirby had a rather exciting experience with five "hoboes" in the north end of the local railroad yards, and as a consequence two of the latter are now in durance vile at the Lincoln jail. The five men were seen prowling around the yards and a switchman told the officer. He went to investigate and as he neared where they were they jumped from a car and ran up the track. The officer called for them to stop; such admonition only added to their haste. As Mr. Kirby was gaining on them one of them, the largest man in the crowd, turned and fired at the officer with a revolver, the bullet going over his head and through a box car.

Turning in among a lot of cars and railroad material the men made good their escape by catching a north bound freight. Officer Kirby wired the police at Duran and two of them were later captured there and brought back here and given a hearing in Judge Tompkins court. They were bound to the grand jury in the sum of $1000 bond, in default of which sheriff John Owen took them to the Lincoln jail.

WOOL PAST DANGER

The local wool market closes the regular wool year ending March 31 with moderate stocks, and not an important dealer has failed or been seriously embarrassed during the year, says the American wool and cotton Reporter. This condition speaks volumes for the strength of the wool trade, and even for the banking institutions which have stood solidly behind the trade and saved more than one important factor from going to the wall. The danger line has been passed, so far as the past season is concerned, and with two or three exceptions there are no abnormally large lines of credit out. But the sacrifice has been large in more than one instance. As speaking of the local wool trade in general, everyone has lost money, not alone during the past year, but for the past two or three years, and it is now the unanimous opinion that there must be a change, and henceforth the wool clip of the United States must be handled by the dealers at a reasonable profit or not at all. Sales for the past week were 4,115,000 pounds. Wools of all grades are low enough to be attractive, and this fact is substantiated by the careful buying of a few far-seeing mill men who are constantly in the market picking up desirable offerings. One medium sized mill has taken over 250,000 pounds of fine wool staple grades within the past two or three weeks, and the corporation has no orders to call for this wool, having well covered its orders for future delivery some time ago.

There are only one or two local dealers with more than a normal carry over supply. There has been a general inventory lately, as not a few dealers close their books for their fiscal year on April 1, and stock have been exaggerated just as have the price-cutting stories. The few dealers with burdensome stocks have been very carefully watched by some consumers, expecting that there would be an opportunity for bidding low and getting a few million pounds of clothing wool at sacrifice prices.

THE TAFT PERSONALITY
 Psychologically, even more than politically, it is an interesting situation when one of the important centers of the nation realizes the democratic ideal by coming into close personal touch with the man who may be sent to the white House next fall as the captain of the people.

With the visit of William Howard Taft this experience now engages Chicago. We have known Mr. Taft heretofore as an official caller lingering a moment or two on some consular expedition, and the cartoonist has given him to us almost daily as the whimsical embodiment of some abstract idea. But we have never before had his personality come into direct contact with so many strata or cross sections of our people as will be the case during the crowded days of his present visit.

It cannot be denied that the Taft of the political game is now our most intimate conception of the secretary of war. In its moral and mental sides it is not unpleasing, because the secretary's character and record lack the weak spot which gives the fatal opportunity for bitter and vicious attack. In its physical side, however, the picture is more unjust than even the exaggerations of caricature usually imply.

Through its own eyes Chicago will learn that despite the evidence of the comic dramatist, Mr. Taft is not a jellylike fat man with a complaisant smile. On the contrary, as one Washington commentator has put it "his mighty bulk goes well with his height, his wide, square shoulders, massive bones and big, strong head. It is a tremendous body not merely in its weight, however, but in its evident power; for when the secretary of war moves across the room the walk of him is not elephantine, but swift, light, certain. One feels that those huge arms can strike a crushing blow."

His whole physical presence suggests force and energy. He may be an "amiable giant," but does not take a second glance at the man himself to understand that the giant, not the "amiable," is paramount. A sight of him makes it more easy to comprehend why the campaign agents of the "allies" have dropped the cry that Taft in the presidential chair would be but an echo of Roosevelt.

The same thing comes out again in his eyes. Their joyous blue conveys an impression of gentleness and simplicity, but there is no hint of weakness in their outlook upon life. The resolute mind back of them makes itself felt at once.

Another striking attribute of Mr. Taft's personality is his American wholesomeness. On his trip around the world the observers called him "The United States personified." When he first came to Manila one home-hungry correspondent wrote of him: "He makes one think of pies, hominy, big red apples, Mr. Dauley's trusty mornings, oysters on the half-shell, the oaks and the pines, the little school house, encyclopedias on the installment plan, the square deal and a home-run with bases full." The imagery is not perfect, but it strikes an essentially true note.

We shall know Mr. Taft better in the next few months. For such knowledge the democracy inevitably gains in the rough and tumble of a presidential campaign. But no friend or foe of the secretary of war can lose by making of his present visit an opportunity to observe, study and judge him not as a great national figure but as a man.

TO BUY HOTEL
 Las Vegas, N. M., April 13.—A. G. Shortle of Chicago, one of the best known hotel men in the United States, is in the city and has under consideration the purchase of the famous Montezuma Hotel at Hot Springs. The hotel and property adjoining is owned by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company.

Mr. Shortle arrived in the city Saturday and accompanied by H. F. Fell chief clerk to Division Superintendent J. M. Kurn of Santa Fe railway, went at once to Hot Springs to inspect the property. It is understood he was vastly pleased with the location and scenery and with the building and grounds in general. It is estimated that it would require an expenditure of about $15,000 to fit up the hotel for resumption of operations.

This mammoth hostelry, which cost over a million dollars, has been idle more than five years. Considerable damage has been done the outbuilding and grounds owing to a lack of proper care, but it is said the hotel and its furnishing and fixtures are as good as when the hotel was first thrown open to the public.

Great interest is manifested locally in the sale of the Montezuma hotel as Las Vegas would welcome the resumption of business there.

A BOGUS MINISTER
 Mesquite, N. M., April 13.—(Special) A man fraudulently claiming to be a Presbyterian minister has been victimizing the people of this community and along the line of the Eastern Railway of New Mexico during the past month.

The man is well educated, fine appearing fellow, who is a very pleasing and impressive person to meet. He is about five feet ten inches tall and has a portly front. He was smooth shaven and well dressed.

The pseudo minister claims to be looking for work in some vacant church, and he will fill the pulpit when requested "very" acceptably. Before leaving he claims that he has run short of money and asks that he be advanced a loan for a short time. He presents credentials and usually succeeds in impressing his intended victims with his sincerity.

While here he got money from ministers and business men and also at Clovis and Tularosa. The pastor of the Presbyterian church here, Rev. Willis Smith, would be glad to furnish proof of the fraud should the man be arrested at any place. The last heard of him was at Carrizozo, N. M.

The newspapers of the southwest are desired to help to expose the fraud by publishing this statement. The man while here claimed his name was Stanley, but usually takes a new name for each place.

MERCHANTS SKIP OUT
 Tucumcari, N. M., April 13.—Quite a sensation was created here a few days ago by the sudden disappearance of the proprietors of the New York Cut Rate Store, Abraham and Samuel Smith. The former on the pretext of having a sick wife in the east, left town some five weeks ago, but as his brother, Samuel Smith, remained in charge of the store, no suspicion was aroused.

However, the latter after conducting sales which reduced the stock on hand to practically nothing, one night posted a notice on the front door reading "Closed on account of sickness," and left for parts unknown. Before his departure he mailed the keys to the store to the First National Bank which held a draft for $401 against his brother, and in a note to the bank said that while he had enough money to pay the draft, yet there was over $1,000 worth of stock on hand and the bank could have this.

When the store was opened by Sheriff Street there was nothing in it but rubbish and empty shelves. It is said that the proprietors left unpaid bills for stock, etc., aggregating $4,000. Warrants are now out for their arrest on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses and if they are apprehended they will be vigorously prosecuted.

PLANS MODEL FARM
 Las Vegas, N. M., April 13.—Captain Albert Head, many times a millionaire and one of the leading residents and most influential men in the state of Iowa, arrived here Saturday at the head of a party of sixty homeseekers from that state. The members of the party are practical farmers and came to Las Vegas to inspect land in this vicinity as to its agricultural possibilities.

Captain Head made the trip to New Mexico with the intention, if he finds conditions to his liking, of purchasing a large acreage and fitting up a model farm. It is his plan to make his farm his winter home, to equip it with every modern appliance and put on it a large force of workmen.

If Captain Head decides to establish a winter home here, he will maintain his residence at Des Moines, Iowa, spending only a part of each winter in New Mexico.

JUDGE POPE ILL
 Associate Justice William H. Pope of the Supreme Court and presiding judge of the Fifth judicial district with residence at Roswell, has suffered a physical breakdown due to overwork while holding court at Portales, Roosevelt county, forcing him to adjourn and take to his bed, according to the following item which appeared in Saturday's issue Roswell Record:

"Roswell lawyers, returning from Portales, report that Judge William H. Pope has suffered a nervous collapse and had to adjourn court and take to his room. He had a high fever yesterday. The breakdown is the result of many months of almost incessant work. Night and day sessions of the court that occupied many times as much as sixteen hours of work a day, are no doubt the cause of his collapse and he will no doubt be forced to take a rest."

OSCURD ITEMS

THOUGHTS ON ADVERTISING.

A little occurrence during the week brought this matter into our mind with even greater force than usual, and we determined to give a few thoughts along this line gathered from advertising experience.

Advertising is a business proposition, pure and simple, and sentiment or friendship should have no more effect on it than on the purchase or sale of flour or shoes.

The plan of our most successful advertisers is not to figure so much on what the advertising costs as what returns will be produced by it. If it will bring you big returns you can afford to pay well for it, but if it will not bring results, it would be an extravagance at any price. Results is what you want.

Other things being equal, advertising with a home enterprise is better than a scheme of some stranger who happens into the town for a day and moves on to another community to spend his money. By this, however, we must not conclude that all home advertising is good nor yet that foreign advertising should not be done when the conditions are such as to warrant it. It is safe to say that a large amount is spent in every community for home advertising which never amounts to anything, and on the other hand, good returns may be realized from a foreign advertisement if it places us in touch with those in need of the goods you are dealing in.

Home advertising, like home trade of any kind, has a double benefit, beside the regular direct returns received from it there is an indirect benefit as well, from the fact that it places the money expended into circulation in the immediate locality where you are doing business, and you are sure to get some of it in the regular channels of trade, while the saloon keeper is the only person who has good reason to expect anything from the traveling faker. Again, every dollar spent in encouraging home industries is helping to build up the place and bring in more people who, in turn become customers of the party spending the dollar.

From Washington (D. C.) Post (Democratic).

Somebody had the curiosity to ask William J. Bryan this question: "What chance has the poor boy and how can brains win in a contest with wealth?" This is an assumption that every poor boy has all the brains that law allows and that every rich man has more money than honesty allows.

In his response Mr. Bryan did not heed the admonition of King Solomon—"An swer not a fool according to his folly, lest thou also be like unto him"—but made this declaration that the faithful must expect as ex-cathedra: The poor boy has no chance unless he can arouse the people by using his tongue. The corporate powers are busy misleading the people and are responsible for shutting out the poor boy.

Such miserable rot as that coming from the late Denis Kearney would have excited disgust and derision; but coming from the 'Peerless One' it excites admiration and gets applause.

So we have it that the eloquent tongue is the one thing that can make wealth stand in the corner and behave; Mr. Bryan himself is an example. He has the gift of gab, and he makes constant patriotic incursions in the Sodom of wealth and the spoil is said to reach $70,000 per annum. May we ask what poor boy without the gift of eloquence has a chance against Mr. Bryan?

The catechism does not rise above the level of the silly. It is an undeniable fact that of the successful business men of every state, county, town and village of this country, this day, a big majority of them began poor boys. Of the directories of the railroads, banks, manufacturing concerns and all other corporations it is not extravagant to say that more than 70 percent of their seats are filled by men who were born the children of toil and achieved success by their own unaided energies of mind and body.

The laboring man of 1908 is infinitely better sheltered, better clothed, better fed, better educated, and owns many fold more property, real and personal, than did the working man of 1808, or 1848, or 1875. In the savings banks of the United States are deposits exceeding $4,000,000,000, the property of more than 1,000,000 depositors and when, to this stupendous sum there are added the other acquisitions of labor—real estate and chattels—it is gross ignorance, or shameless mendacity, to say that the American working man is an object of pity or an object of charity.

To say that the corporations of the country seek to beggar the masses their customers—is to say that corporations are managed by idiots.

Let us be done with the sham and cap of it. If children could only get out of a school building as well when the fire really breaks out as when the practice alarm is sounded, it would be all right—but they seldom do.

The Nara Visa Register, published at the growing town of Nara-Visa in Quay county, seems to be prosperous and is evidently not a bit afraid to put itself on record. It is published in a newly settled section of the territory and the immigrants are hard working, hardy, sensible and well-to-do farmers, many of them from Iowa and Wisconsin. The Register thinks that President Roosevelt should be renominated, although it favors Secretary of War Taft should the President persist in his declaration not to be a candidate. In the same editorial it puts itself squarely on record for renomination of Delegate Andrews. The editorial reads:

"A great many of our people, regardless of party, want President Roosevelt to serve another term. He has begun a campaign against trusts and combinations that they believe no President but Teddy will carry through a successful finish.

Let the Republican party of New Mexico have peace and unity in its ranks, adjust all misunderstandings and differences return Delegate W. H. Andrews to Congress and show that our territory will be solid in the Republican column when it becomes a state next December."

From Fort Worth Star.

Not a few people in New Mexico would like to have the state named Lincoln when it is admitted. The name would certainly be vastly more appropriate than New Mexico. There is no very precious sentimental association with the name.—El Paso Herald.

No doubt the whole country will indorse the suggestion of the Herald. The entire south, we think, would be pleased to have the new state named Lincoln.

Our people will doubtless be very thankful to those Texas editors for taking so much interest in our welfare, but the fact remains that the people of New Mexico, can see no reason for any change of name, and the state should be admitted under the present name, and with the existing boundaries. Lincoln was all right, and we honor his memory as much as any of the patriotic people of other commonwealths, but why rob us of the name for which we have fought so long when he can be honored just as well in other ways. Let the territory of New Mexico be admitted to the union as the state of New Mexico.

In speaking of the new settlers coming to the Southwest, Southwest ern Opportunities says:

The thought that will be uppermost in their minds will not be of returning to the grind of eastern life. Ask them what it is and they will tell you that all they have to worry them is the fear that some one will come and take that next quarter section before some cherished friend or neighbor in the east can get a chance to file on it.

The reformers may talk about the greed and grasping ways of railroads until their throats get sore. The New settler on the freelands of the South west will be biased in favor of the company that runs the homeseekers through train to the land of contentment and wealth.

Labor has as much of a right to organize for its protection and well being as has capital but both should respect the rights of each other and treat each other with justice and fairness. There is no necessity whatever for secret labor unions. Where its demands are right and proper there is nothing to hide, and improper, unjust or exorbitant claims they should not make. The same is true of capital. The better the feeling that prevails between the two the better for the country and the better for each individual member of the two.

The Rio Grande valley is so fertile that a handful of ten penny nails thrown onto the ground and carefully irrigated will soon grow a bush wire fence—so some people say, and there is no reason to doubt the assertion from the way others things grow thereabouts.

The position taken by President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor that unless Congress grants the legislation demanded by the labor unions the latter would constitute themselves secret societies and would fight in the dark, is not well taken and cannot redound to the benefit of labor and the good of labor unions. Every sensible man who knows anything about the industrial and business situation of the country as well as its political conditions admits freely that the union of labor has proven of great good in many instances and that the efforts of the unions to better the laboring man have been very successful during the past two years and that the condition of the laboring man today in the United States is the best on earth and constantly improving. These great achievements came about under and with the present system of unions and a change to secrecy would retard the progress and injure the influence of the unions.

Not a day passes but the papers tell of some large factory or mill in the East resuming work, while the market reports show a good demand with constantly increasing prices on meat, metals and other products, which shows that times are fast recovering from the recent depression and that only the question of a short time until there will be just as great a vitality in trade as at any time during the past few years.

Now that the season is open and all the surrounding towns have organized ball teams, it is about time for Carrizozo to get into the game.

The money value of New Mexico's farm crops is $25,000,000 a year, but it won't be very long before the Rio Grande valley alone will be bringing in as much as that.

WANTS COAL LANDS OPEN states commerce act by participating in a through movement of traffic from a point within which it is located, although its own service is performed entirely within one state. This decision was made in the case of the Baer Brothers' Merchants company against the Missouri Pacific and Denver & Rio Grande railroads, Alaska. In the northern territory, the same decision reducing the rate on beer from Pueblo to Leadville especially, it is said, there is an acute situation as the result of the large withdrawal of coal lands from entry. The commission also announced a reduction in freight traffic from $4.50 to $3.50 per ton on coal from Rock Springs and Hanna, Wyo. to Nebraska points.

LOCAL MENTION

If you see it here it happens!

On Tuesday evening of this week the ladies of the Methodist Church gave a Waffle Supper in the new building on El Paso avenue, for the benefit of the church. There was a good attendance and a very enjoyable time, and the financial results were very satisfactory.

The work being done by the various departments for the building fund of the new church is proving very successful and the time is not far distant when Carrizozo will have one of the neatest churches in the Southwest.

C. W. Hyde is on the water wagon this week. We do not mean to say Walker has turned prohibitionist, but that he is driving the Townsite Company's tank wagon to furnish water to other folks.

Mrs. Agnes Crowell known to all of the older residents of this county, left Wednesday evening for her home in Scotland.

W. H. Lumbley, the popular Singer Sewing Machine Agent, from Alamogordo, transacted business in our town a few days this week.

J. T. Brown returned the first of the week from an extended visit in the eastern part of the territory, and is doing some work on his claim east of town, building fences, etc., ready for the spring work.

Mrs. M. E. Argo, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. S. Campbell, of this place for sometime, left last Tuesday evening for her home at Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Attorney George B. Barber of Lincoln transacted business in our town a few days the first of this week.

Wm. C. Thornbrough, who filed on a claim south of town last fall has arrived from Illinois with a very complete farming outfit and moved on his claim ready for the season's work.

Messrs. Hall, Spence and Walker, spent a few days out in the hills prospecting the first of the week but they did not state whether it was a gold or a coal mine they discovered on the trip.

Adam Zumwalt and Miss Anna Copeland, both of Angus, were married at the home of Judge Tompkins last Sunday. Judge Tompkins performed the ceremony in his usual dignified manner and sent the young couple on their way through life amidst the wishes of a host of friends in which the Outlook joins.

Ira O. Wetmore and Clay Van Schoyck spent a few days out in the hills prospecting this week; they went as far as Alamogordo on the trip.

Chairman Robert Taylor of the County Commissioners Board, was in the county seat last week at the sessions of the Board.
