Homestead Entries at Santa Fe Break All Records.

Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 5—According to the official report just made, 2,248 original homestead entries were made at the Santa Fe land office during the callender year, 1907, covering more than 350,000 acres. That this rush of homeseekers is being maintained this year is manifest from the fact that during the January just past 352 original homestead entries were made at the land office in this city, which is only one of four land offices in the territory and is doing only one-third the business of the land office at Clayton and one-half of the land office at Roswell. The total acreage filed upon during January in this land district was 55,000.

CARRIZOZO BUILDING OPERATIONS

The erection of new buildings is such commonplace occurence in Carrizozo that we have made no mention of the activity in this direction for some time past, but just in order to let the people know, we will mention briefly that there are now under process of construction about twenty new buildings, many of which are large, substantial business buildings.

Among these are the new two story addition to the Carrizozo Trading Company store, the store building next to the Carrizozo Trading Company, being erected by the Carrizozo Townsite Company, the large brick being erected on McDonald's Main street by W. C. McDonald, and the big brick being built by the Townsite Company on the postoffice corner.

With this much building actually in progress and much more projected for the near future, it is safe to predict that the past years growth in this lively town will be small in comparison with what is in store for the year we are just beginning on.

CATTLEMEN'S CONVENTION

The folowing article was in type for last week's issue, but by some oversight was left out, so we print it this week for the benefit of those interested in the cattle business of this region.

W. C. McDonald returned a few days ago from Denver, where he attended the convention of the National Stock Growers' Association. He reports a very interesting meeting, saying that there was not as large an attendance as in former years, but that those who were there came for business and took an active interest in the live issues of the day.

Aside from the election of H. A. Jastro, of California, as president, there was but little change in the officers or executive committees. The Presidents policy of leasing the public lands for grazing purposes was endorsed by the convention.

Next meeting of the Association is to be held at Los Angeles.

A CHAIN OF COLLEGES

In this issue of our paper will be found the ad of the largest chain of colleges in the world—Draughon's Practical Business College Company, which has a chain of thirty colleges covering a territory from Washington City to El Paso. Read their ad and write for catalogue if interestep

AN ATTRACTIVE EXHIBIT.

One of the most attractiv e exhibits at the Sixteenth National Irrigation Congress and Interstate Industrial Exhibition will be that of forestry. Plans for a magnificent arch are being formulated and are to be constructed upon Contral avenue. This will be constructed of N. Mexico pine and other woods and will be a very elaborate affair. Pictures of this arch and other decorative features will soon be published, which will give a better idea of the general plan of decoration of the city during the congress and exposition.

Illustrative of the great interest, manifest in all official circles is the following letter from the chief forester of the United States:

United States Department of Agriculture Forest Service office of the Forester, Washington, D. C. January 2, 1908.

"Mr. Willard S. Hopewell, Albuquerque, N. M.

Dear Sir—Your letter of December 28 is received. I am very glad to know of the excellent progress of your plans for the National Irrigation Congress and of the enthusiasm which they have aroused in New Mexico. It is gratifying to hear that you contemplate a forest exhibit, and I shall do everything possible to assist you in preparing one. The matter will be taken up in the forest service without delay, and I hope that we may be able to give you some suggestions which will be of assistance. You may of course count on me to further the plans of the Congress in every way I can.

Very truly yours,
GIFFORD PINCHOT.

NEW MEXICO'S GROWTH.

Wonderful Advancement in Population and Development Last Year.

The annual report of Secretary of the Interior James R. Garfield, which has just been issued, treats New Mexico with the utmost fairness and outlines the wonderful development and marvelous growth of the territory in recent years in the following summary:

"More than 16,000 homestead filings on over two and one-half million acres were made.

"It is significant that this increase in the agricultural population is not to any great extent in the valleys, but is along the mesas, most of which until recently had been given up entirely to grazing. This fac is due to the success of the dry farmt ing method. If this proves an ultimate success, it is estimated that nearly 50,000,000 acres of land in New Mexico will be available for it.

"The population of the territory is now estimated at almost 400,000, a gain of nearly 100 per cent since 1900.

"The principal new mineral development has been coal. The explored areas cover a million and a half acres.

"The stock industry, next to agriculture, is still the main support of the people of the territory. The reclamation service has completed two projects in the lower Pecos valley. In this coming season the settlers will receive the full benefit of this improvement.

"The financial condition of the territory is excellent.

"In education, progress is steady, more than 1,000 teachers are employed and the total enrollment of school children is 50,000 out of a school population of 80,000 children of school age. The territorial institutions of higher learning are better attended than ever before.

For fine job printing—The Outlook.

GREAT OUTPUT

Boston, Mass., Jan. 29. At the annual meeting of the Santa Fe Gold and Copper Company, held here yesterday the treasurer's report for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1907, shows cash on hand, January 1, 1908, of $139 The receipts for the year were $344,941, and expenditures, $311,162. Cash in banks, $170,750. From the sale of products of the mines at San Pedro, New Mexico, the company ces of silver and 786 ounces of gold. ceived $230,920, and from sales of 10,000 shares of treasury stock, $100 613. The operating expenses were $222,835 and charges for construction and delivery $95,019.

During the year the company's products were above one million pounds of copper, the average yield per ton of ore being 57.4 pounds of the metal. There were 17,625 oun- The company now has 30,000 tons of ore blocked out and 70,000 tons in sight.

It is learned from an authoritive source that the Santa Fe Gold and Copper Company will resume operations at San Pedro within a few weeks. The properties of the company were closed down several months ago at the beginning of the financial panic. However a limited force of men has been kept at work cleaning up, installing new machinery and doing development work. The above report shows that the mines of this company are among the most important in New Mexico.

Philadelphia, Feb. 5—One thousand men, formerly employed by the Pennsylvania Steel Co., at Steelton, Pennsylvania, have been called back to work after an idleness of more than a month. Rush orders for structural material from New York and rails for the New York City Railway company has warranted the company increasing its present force to 2,500 men or about 40 per cent above the normal force.

THAT MESSAGE

The special message which has just been written by President Roosevelt to Congress gives in such forcible language the attitude of the administration toward any and all abuses which will tend to destroy the individual right or to increase fraudulent and corrupt politics that it should be carefully studied by every citizen.

The question of his candidacy for another term has been settled and by the absolute refusal of the President to allow his name used in that connection, and he speaks with the same clear fearless manner as in former messages of the necessities in law making and law enforcing. He does not decry incorporations where they are conducted in a legitimate manner, but advises a better method of controlling them and preventing fraud and monopoly. He encourages and supports organized labor in all reasonable and legal acts but denounces violence and lawlessness.

We quote from the message as follows:

"Protection of Investments."

Corporate methods are the most satisfactory for business purposes in many cases. Every business or enterprise honestly incorporated should be protected, and the public made to feel confidence in its corporate organization. Nothing will do so much to achieve this desirable result as proper supervision and reasonable control over stock and bond issues, that over-capitilization will be prevented and the people may know when they buy a share of stock or a bond, that the name of the state upon it stands as a guaranty that there is value behind it and reasonable safety in its purchase.

"Corrupt Men of Wealth."

"For the honest man of great wealth we have a hearty regard, just as we have a hearty regard for the honest politician and newspaper. We attack only the corrupt men of wealth, who find in the politician the most efficient instrument of corruption and the purchased newspaper the most efficient defender of corruption. Our main quarrel is not with these agents and representatives of the interests. They derive their chief power from the great sinister offenders who stand behind them. They are but puppets who move as the strings are pulled.

"It is not the puppets, but the strong, cunning men and the mighty forces working for evil behind and through the puppets, with whom we have to deal.

"Fairness to All."

"If a labor union does wrong we oppose it as firmly as we oppose a corporation which does wrong, and we stand equally stoutly for the rights of the man of wealth and for the rights of the wage worker. We seek to protect the property of every man who acts honestly, of every corporation that represents wealth honestly accumulated, honestly used. We seek to stop wrong doing and we desire to punish the wrong doers only so far as is necessary to achieve this end.

"One Law for High and Low."

"When we are able to put the real wrong-doer in prison, this is what we strive to do; this is what we have actually done with some very wealthy strive to do; this is what we have actually done with some very wealthy criminals, who, moreover, represented that most baneful of all alliances, the alliance between the corruption of organized politics and the corruption of high finance. This is what we have done in the Gaynor and Greene case, in the case of the misapplication of funds in connection with certain great banks in Chicago, in the land fraud cases, where, as in other cases, likewise, neither the highest political position nor the possession of great wealth, has availed to save offenders from prison. The federal government does scourge sin; it does bid sinners fear; for it has put behind the bars with impartial severity, the powerful financier, the powerful politician, rich land thief, the rich contractor—all, no matter how high their station against whom criminal misdeeds can be proved. But it often happens that the effort to imprison a given defendant is certain to be futile, while it is possible to fine him or to fine the corporation of which he is head; so that, in other words, the only way of punishing the wrong is by fining the corporation.

"The financial Panic and its Causes."

"We have just passed through two months of acute financial stress. At any such time it is a sad fact that entirely innocent people suffer from no fault of their own; and everyone must feel the keenest sympathy for the large body of honest business men, of honest investors, of honest wage-workers, who suffer because involved in a crash for which they are in no way responsible. At such a time there is a natural tendency on the part of many men to feel gloomy and frightened at the outlook; but there is no justification for this feeling. There is no nation so absolutely sure of ultimate success as ours. Of course we shall succeed. Ours is a nation of masterful energy, with a continent for its domain, feeling within its veins the thrill which comes to those who know that they possess the future. We are not cast down by the fear of failure. We are upheld by the confident hope of ultimate triumph. The wrongs that exist must be corrected but they in no way justify doubt as to the final outcome, doubt as to the great material prosperity of the future, or of the lofty spiritual life which is to be built upon that prosperity as a foundation. No misdeeds done in the present must be permitted to shroud from our eyes the glorious future of the nation; but because of this very fact it behooves us to never swerve from our resolute purpose to cut out wrongdoing and uphold what is right. I do not for a moment believe that the actions of this administration have brought on business distress; so far as this is due to local and not world-wide causes, and to the actions of any particular individuals, it is due to the speculative folly and flagrant dishonesty of a few men of great wealth, who seek to shield themselves from the effects of their own wrongdoing by ascribing its results to the actions of those who have sought to put a stop to the wrongdoing. But if it were true that to cut out rottenness from the body politic meant a momentary check to an unhealthy seeming prosperity, I should not for one moment hesitate to put the knife to the corruption. On behalf of all our people, on behalf no less of the honest man of means than of the honest man who earns each day's livelihood by the sweat of his brow, it is necessary to insist upon honesty in business and politics alike, in all walks of life, in big things and in little things; upon just and fair dealing as between man and man.

Prof. J. J. Vernon, of the New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, at Mesilla Park, advocates a thorough course of agriculture in the schools of the territory, beginning with nature study in the lower grades and continuing long after graduation through series of lectures and institutes. The idea is wise and should be adopted.

BY MAGIC

The town of Carrizozo has grown up from the Plain, where, a little over a year ago there was nothing but a depot and water tank.

There is a reason for this wonderful growth, and the same natural conditions which caused it will lead to a development within the next five years which has no equal in the history of the west.

A sample of Vegetables and Grain grown in the Carrizozo Valley without Irrigation, on sod ground plowed up last year for the first time

A NATURAL RAILWAY CENTER.

It will be the crossing point of two or more roads.

The center of a vast mining region it will be the site for mills and smelters, iron furnaces and marble works, supporting thousands.

Surrounded by one of the richest valleys in the southwest, it will be the trading point for farmers and fruit growers—a shipping point for poultry, stock and fruit—a city of thousands.

We are now offering inside lots at prices that will give the purchaser a fortune in the near future. We also handle mining and ranch property, and locate settlers on government land.

FAST MAIL.

New York, Feb. 5.—After it had been more than forty years in the mails, a letter was delivered yesterday to Mrs. Elizabeth M. Nicholas, of Newark, N. J. Yesterday morning New York newspapers reported at the local postoffice a letter addressed to Miss Elizabeth Carthwaite, the postmark on which showed it was mailed in New Orleans December 30, 1851. The letter proved to have been addressed to Mrs. Nicholas' maiden name and was written by her cousin, Miss Fannie Britton, who now lives in El Paso, Texas, who attended school with Mrs. Nichmore than half a century ago.

The ink in the letter is so badly faded that the letter is hardly decipherable but the address is plain. The envelope was badly worn but held together. No one is able to offer an explanation as to the whereabouts of the letter during the years since it was mailed.
