The destructive fire at Nara Vieja and other towns of eastern New Mexico that have occurred this month and last, are proof of the fact that a water works company is a prime necessity in the growth of every town or city. The amount of money per capita that is spent in public improvements of any character, is insignificant when compared to the great good that inures to the people as a community.

Mexico City, Mexico, May 18.

Mexico is noted for the unique schemes of many promoters who gather in this city to launch their enterprises, but the latest is the most unique.

Panfillo Garza, of Garcia, of Guadalupe, is here with a scheme to harness Mount Popocatepetl to the famous old volcano near the City of Mexico, and make it supply the power for the federal district and, strange to say, his scheme has found many backers and has already raised several thousand dollars of capital for the under taking. "Gracias" promises to sink two wells, close together, in the side of the smoking old mountain, sending them down to the boiling point and says he will then lower nitroglycerine into the wells and touch it off and make an opening between the two wells. He would then run cold water down one of the wells and declares the steam would be forced up out of the other. By harnessing a giant engine to the steaming well, he says he can generate enough power to operate all the factories in the federal district at a nominal cost.—Exchange.

Owing to a lack of funds it has been necessary to withdraw Prof. Tinsley of the New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts from Farmers Institute and field work. The legislature failed to make an appropriation for the territorial appropriation for the College is not sufficient to allow any money to be devoted to this purpose. The government appropriation cannot be used for this purpose and money must come from the territory.

New York, May 20 The closing of 400 bakeries on the east side coincident with the strike of the bakers employes has caused the price of bread to increase to 15c a loaf. The strikers in an effort to prevent a serious bread famine are talking of starting cooperative bakeries to relieve the distress.

Fort Worth Texas, May 20 The heaviest and most extensive rain of the season visited North Texas West Texas and the panhandle early this morning. This rain will be worth at least $5,000,000 to the southwest. El Paso Herald

TRANSPLANTING VEGETABLES

Moving plants from one locality to another is more or less of a violent operation. By the process the plant is deprived of quite a number of its feeding roots and for a time is cut off from its water supply; consequently, it is necessary to exercise considerable care with the plant until it again becomes established in the soil.

To help insure this an abundant supply of moisture in the soil at all times is essential to keep the plant from withering and incite it to take hold of the soil quickly. In sections where irrigation is practiced the transplanted plants should be irrigated immediately after setting, and frequently afterwards until danger of their drying out is passed.

This can be told by the plants freshening up and starting new leaves. It is also very essential when setting the plants out, to farm the soil well around the roots. This is very important and should not be neglected. Many plants have failed on account of not doing this. Proper firming of the soil helps to exclude the air from the roots and prevents the plants from drying up.

In sections where irrigation is practiced plants are pre-erab transplanted during a rainy spell. If this cannot be taken advantage of it will be necessary to water the plants by hand until they are established. When doing this do it thoroughly; a little water is some times nearly as good as none.

In moving the young plants from the seed-bed to the field and until set out they should be protected from the rays of the sun to prevent withering. This protection can be given by wrapping the roots up in a wet sack or carrying to the field in a bucket or tub with a little water in the bottom to keep the roots moist. When digging the plants out of the seed-bed, use a shovel or spade and avoid breaking off as many roots as possible. It is also better to wet the bed first. If the plants are very tall it will be well to cut off a part of the top. This operation will not hurt the plant and helps to keep it from withering as it prevents excessive evaporation of moisture from the plant through the leaves.

Before transplanting the soil should be well prepared being properly firmed and leveled. Plants usually take root more quickly in freshly mixed soil. After the soil has been properly prepared, marked off the rows where the plants are to be set. This may be done if it is desired to plant on ridges with a plow, if on the level by a marker. One thing to keep in mind, make the rows straight and the proper distance apart. It never pays to crowd plants. By so doing a crop inferior in quality is liable to be produced. If in doubt about the proper distance to plant, consult a reliable authority or some one who has had experience.

Transplanting can nearly always be successfully done with most plants if the proper care is observed. Some of the things to keep in mind are: dig plants carefully, protect them from the sun after digging until transplanted, supply plenty of water to transplant plants, set the plants properly in the hole, firm the soil around the roots. It will pay to carefully observe the above points when doing transplanting. Many thousands of plants are lost annually through carelessness in setting and lack of proper care afterward.

A home-suckers train passed through Carrizozo yesterday. Uncle Sam's land is being rapidly taken up by people of the north and

THE OUTLOOK

Entered as second class matter January 4th, 1907, at the postoffice at Carrizozo, New Mexico, under the Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER DESIGNED TO THE INTERESTS OF LINCOLN COUNTY PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY BY ANNA N. DE BOER.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE

One Year (in advance) $1.50

To the Subscribers and Friends of the Outlook: You learned last week that the Outlook had found a housekeeper and we confess that we have been doing a little housecleaning, and much remains to be done, and now just a few words in regard to ourselves before we begin the more serious duties of editorial work.

About two weeks ago we sold our home and newspaper property in north-west Iowa having purchased a relinquished homestead one mile east of the hustling little town of Osceuro. We expected to farm this land as land is farmed in Iowa but found that it would be years before the land could be developed and made productive and as we are not blessed with an abundance of the gold that is said to be so plentiful in the mountains of this rugged country we decided to again engage in the newspaper business while improving our homestead at Osceuro. The good man will do the digging on the farm while we dig in the newspaper office.

Newspaper work is an avocation that brings much pleasure and some times a great deal of sorrow because we are sure to find friends and enemies. "He who has a thousand friends has not one friend to spare."

And he who has one enemy will meet him everywhere. We are strangers in a strange country and we will be pleased to meet you and make your acquaintance, and if you have any news items for publication please hand them in, for in supporting your home paper you are supporting your home town and thus increasing the value of your own property interests and last but not least you are winning the eternal gratitude of the "poor editor."

We are told that the Outlook has had rather a discouraging past. May we not forget the past and build for the future? The people of Carrizozo are the right kind of people—intelligent bighearted westerners, free from provincialism because they are a cosmopolitan people and free from all conventions because the very atmosphere of the west brings liberty—the liberty of the libertines but the joyous communion with nature that lifts our hearts to God with joy and forgiveness for our fellow men.

Carrizozo is a good town. Its development in the past two years has been phenomenal. When we first visited your city we noted the progressive spirit of the place and felt it was good to be here. We are all pioneers in a new country—a country that may have a great future.

When the rains that at certain seasons of the year sweep down the mountain-sides have been conserved for irrigation purposes a wilderness shall be made to blossom as the rose and land here will have a value that the boasting agricultural states may never reach.

While traveling in Southern California, Statistician Blanchard of the Reclamation Service met a man who hailed from one of the wonderful new garden spots in the arid west created by irrigation under Government auspices.

"I understand that the fruit growers in your section are rapidly getting rich," said Mr. Blanchard.

"We are doing pretty well," replied the man. "I don't mind telling you that my wife and I are taking a forty days' vacation and that we are paying all the expenses of our trip from last season's proceeds of eleven peach trees."

Such results are possible for this section of New Mexico. We have the soil—a lot of it on windy days—the climate—and the sublime mountain scenery and it remains for the wisdom and toil of man to make possible the results. It is no matter of surprise that people should be flocking to the mountain valleys of New Mexico in view of the fabulous crops of fruit and garden truck they yield. What this country needs is more farmers and fewer speculators for even dry farming is possible. The farmers of this country must be scientific farmers. They must study the seasons, the climate and the soil and their harvest shall be in proportion to their knowledge.

It is easy to understand just why Carrizozo should be the county seat of Lincoln county and while we are waiting for all the good things to come our way let us forget all factional strife and become a united people. Why not incorporate and install a system of water works, an electric lighting plant and make a few more improvements. Who is the city park is only a dream, and what is the matter with our school system. Let us get away from the iron and steel works and plant a few more trees. Let us live and work for the future and though the present alone may be ours we shall at least have the joy of service.

Secretary of the Treasury Mac Veigh is struck by the hopeful appearance of the business situation throughout the country and expresses the belief that the completion of a tariff bill satisfactory to the people will bring rational and permanent prosperity. James J. Hill, railroad king and one of the keenest judges of business affairs in the United States declares the outlook fine in all directions, with the country only waiting for a settlement of tariff agitation to turn in and make things hum. All this while Thomas Lawson is predicting that riots and bloodshed in the larger American will result if the price of bread continues to advance, and Socialists assert that the army of the employed is constantly increasing.

None but the best that the market affords is used on our tables. Every attention given to the comfort of our guests.

CONCERNING 320 ACRE LAW

Instructions have been sent to the land offices, concerning the enlarged homestead act. Among the important points are the following: Land must be non-mineral, non-forested, non-irrigable.

Non irrigable means land lacking sufficient rainfall or irrigation facilities. Such as has to be worked by dryfarming. Any land capable of irrigation from springs may be taken to the amount of 40 acres.

No application received until list of suitable land is sent by interior department. Land must not exceed a mile and a half in length.

Present homesteaders can take additional 160 acres if they lie contiguous to the present entry. One eighth of entry must be cultivated. No commutation proofs allowed.

WHICH IS RIGHT

America has reached the point where she refuses to worship the material god, Money. The great leaders of thought and deeds want to know how wealth is made and how used.

The question of talented money has come to vex the multimillionaires. America no longer worships men for what they own, but wants to know what they are. Sulphur Springs, Texas News.

Nothing could be farther from the truth. The man with an ounce of brains and a million of dollars is a big man in eyes of the world, no matter how little, low down, dirty mean he may be, and the man without money, no matter how brilliant and talented he may be, has a long hard pull to attain success and the respect and esteem of his fellow men that he really deserves.

ALL IN THE FAMILY

Labor troubles are not yet to bother editors of the weekly press in the Southwest. For many instances, the editor not only writes his copy but also sets the type. In fact, the New Mexico has been in the Daily Record office at Roswell when the editor got in a hot list of editorial on the linotype with out even writing them. In other instances, the getting out of the paper is a family affair in which father, mother, sons and daughters down to the baby lend an assisting hand. Says the Lakewood Progress for instance: "Carroll J. Wood" youngest son of the editor of this paper, who has been absent for more than a year, returned to Lakewood Sunday night. He was married a month ago, and his bride arrived last night. They are both first class printers and will from now on have charge of the mechanical department of the Progress. For the son of the editor of a paper to marry a woman who is also a type setter, demonstrates foresight that amounts to canniness is not genius. No wonder the publishers of New Mexico do not care much for the benefits of a public law.

"Oh, Henry," said she blithely
As he sat him down to dine,
I have bought the sweetest cushion
For a dollar ninety-nine.
"It was bargain day at Stanley's,

That the store was fairly crowded,
For the prices were so low."
"If you," he coughed, "looked askewly,
"As sure as I'm alive,
We are selling that same cushion
At a dollar twenty-five."
Not a word then broke the silence
Till his wife, with many sighs,
Softly said in accents tearful,
"And why don't you advertise?"
