ACCEPT CONSTITUTION

Convention Accepts Constitution with Some Changes. People Will Accept.

ELECTION SET FOR JAN. 21st.

The constitution is written and it is up to the people of New Mexico to say whether or not they will seize the opportunity now for the first time afforded them of becoming a sovereign state in the great American Union. The constitution is to be submitted to the voters at an election to be called on January 21st of next year and that it will be ratified by an overwhelming majority is a matter upon which there can be little argument. The republicans delegates to a man are pledged to support the document at the polls and some of the most able men in the democratic party have announced their intention of taking the stump in advocacy of the instrument, made by the most representative and able body of men ever gathered together in the history of New Mexico.

Democrats voting for the constitution—C.R. Brice, C. C. Davidson, H. M. Dougherty, Samuel Eldott, R. H. Harrison, T. J. Mabry, G. A. Richardson.

Republicans voting against the constitution—None.

The convention wound up its work Monday in a session which was marked by the greatest good nature and from which excitement and hilarity were not lacking. The happy ending of the convention was due in no small measure to the introduction and passage of a substitute for the article on constitutional amendments which was reported from the revision committee late that afternoon. The article as finally adopted permits the second session of the legislature, held under the state government, by a majority vote, to submit three amendments to the constitution, but these amendments may not affect the article on elective franchise nor upon the rights of children regardless of language to attend the public schools. For the first twenty-five years after the adoption of this constitution it will require a three-fourths vote of the members of each house of the legislature to initiate a movement for the calling of another constitutional convention. After the twenty-five year period, two-thirds of the members elected in each house may submit to the people a proposition for the calling of a convention to amend or revise the constitution.

That the adoption of this article will go a long way toward allaying democratic opposition to the constitution, was indicated by the vote by which it was adopted. Roll call on the article showed that every one of the seventy-one republicans voted in the affirmative, while of the twenty-nine democrats in the convention only few of them voted in the negative.

Another important article adopted was that on miscellaneous provisions. In this article provision is made for a uniform system of text books in the public schools, which system may not be changed oftener than once in six years.

Another section forbids all state and county officials, save peace officers, from accepting passes or free transportation on any railroad operating within the state. Other exceptions in this provision are inspectors of the sheep and cattle sanitary boards.

Another provision is that the earnings of convicts in the penitentiary shall be used for the support of their dependant families. The leasing of convict labor is forever prohibited. Section 15 of the article provides that employes of common carriers may not be debarred from recovering damages for injuries which were the result of negligence on the part of any fellow employes or any other person connected with the corporation owning or operating the road upon which they were hurt. This provision meets the approval of the railroad employes.

THE SANE MAJORITY

The Almighty himself couldn't frame a constitution to suit everyone. That the New Mexico act is no exception, but that the sane majority will approve it is pointed out as follows by the Socorro Chief-tain:

It is not to be expected for a moment that the state constitution now nearing completion at Santa Fe will escape criticism and opposition. It will be opposed because it does not contain the initiative and referendum, and it would be opposed if it did. It will be opposed because it does not contain a prohibition provision, and it would be opposed if it did. It will be opposed because it provides for restricted woman's suffrage, and it would be opposed if it didn't. It will be opposed because it is not socialistic in its main features, and it would be opposed if it were. It will be opposed by the anarchists because it is a constitution. In fact, it would be opposed if it had been formulated by the Omniscient himself, but there is good reason to believe that the work of the convention now about to be concluded will commend itself to the judgment of the great sane and sober minded majority of the voters of New Mexico.

SWEET POTATOES

A farmer from near Hope, N. M., in the Pecos basin, raised 10,000 pounds of sweet potatoes per acre this season, and the land was never irrigated but once, in February. He watered the plants as he set them out, and used "dry farming" methods exclusively from that time on. At prevailing retail prices in the Pecos valley towns his "dry farm" sweet potatoe crop would bring $300 per acre, and this year has been one of the driest in a whole generation. Among this farmer's "dry farm" sweet potatoes were some specimens weighing more than five pounds each.

The Duran Gun Club failed to send their shooting team to Carrizozo on Thanksgiving so the local club did not have their shoot.

—Miss Olga M. V. Miller and Miss Frida Eckman both of Alamogordo spent Thanksgiving in Carrizozo.

THE DECISION DELAYED

Judge Wright Called to Deming and Could Not Decide County Seat Case

DECISION EXPECTED MONDAY

Alamogordo, N. M. Nov. 25, 1910. Carrizozo Outlook, Carrizozo, N. M.

"Decision in a few days, Judge Wright just returned from holding court in Deming."

Herb. R. Wright, Dist. Clerk.

The above is a copy of a telegram received from the District Court Clerk's Office Friday afternoon. In conversation later in the day over the phone Judge Wright stated that he thought he would be able to give his decision on Monday.

Judge Wright was called to Deming to preside for Judge Parker and has been unable to give the County Seat Case the early consideration that he anticipated, and this paper regrets not being able to print the decision this week. If Judge Wright decides the case early next week as expected The Outlook will issue a statement of the decision to its subscribers.

GRAND SUCCESS

Thanksgiving evening was commemorated in a most fitting manner by the people of Carrizozo. The dance and midnight supper given by the Rebekah Lodge and Eastern Star Chapter at Real's Hall stands without question as one of the finest if not the most pleasant evening ever taking place in Carrizozo. The largest crowd on record attended the dance and supper and those present enjoyed themselves to the limit. (Grand success is a mild term to apply to the affair and those in charge are to be highly complimented.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

—John H. Canning returned from Santa Fe, Wednesday morning and is well satisfied with the Constitution as completed. He believes as do others in a position to know the figures that the majority in favor at the election will be over 10,000.

—Ed Monroe left Thanksgiving eve for Saint Louis where he intends to interest capital in the Economic Mining and Milling Co of this place. He carries the best wishes of his friends in Carrizozo for success in his efforts.

—Judge A. B. Fall and Ex-Gov. Curry passed through Carrizozo Thanksgiving day on their return from the Constitutional Convention at Santa Fe.

—The switch engine in the local yard was "side whacked" by a passenger engine Sunday morning before dawn. The engine was put out of commission but no one was injured.

DON'T

Turn Down New Mexico's Constitution Until You have carefully read it.

Next Weeks Issue of The Outlook will contain the new constitution as completed.

DRAGGED ALMOST TO DEATH

News has reached Carrizozo this week from Texas Park, a small settlement in the Capitan Mountains, that F. E. Allen was assaulted and nearly beaten to death, then dragged for 100 yards or more after being roped and tied to the horn of a saddle. Allen was picked up by a passer by and taken to Dr. Law's Sanitorium at Lincoln and will probably recover, but at one time his condition was very critical.

Ben Leslie, Jr. has been arrested by deputy sheriffs and the Capitan Mountains are now being scoured by a posse in search of Owen and R. J. Wood who are also said to be implicated in the assault.

Allen is an old time resident of Lincoln County and well known throughout the county. He operates a small horse ranch near Oscura and had taken a small bunch of stock to Stimson's ranch in Texas Park for winter range. Stimson's ranch joins Leslie's and Wood's ranches.

THE SOCIAL WHIRL

One of the most enjoyable afternoons at cards for the Carrizozo Whist Club was given Tuesday afternoon at the Carrizozo Ranch, Mrs. W. C. McDonald entertaining with her accustomed lavish hospitality.

Meeting at the residence of Mrs G. L. Ulrich, the club members and four invited guests went to the ranch in a three seated hack and two traps

The card game began at two o'clock. The originality of the hostess was expressed in every trifling detail of decoration and appointment, the score cards and table adornments giving honor to the royal Turkey Gobbler as a Thanksgiving reminder

Following the game, the guests were ushered into the dining hall converted into a casino of growing plants, brilliant lights, a long table glistening in cut glass and silver, the center-piece being a red toy wagon overflowing with luscious fruits, driven by a boy doll whose hands held reins of strung cranberries attached to three Turkey Gobblers in tandem.

"Ah's and Oh's" echoed in chorus thru the banquet hall, the sight delighted the senses, Mrs McDonald's guests becoming happy children for the feasting hour

An elegant three course supper was served, the prizes being presented to the winners: Mrs Harry Dawson, highest score, an art scarf; Mrs Frank L Elliott, consolation prize, a jewelcase; Mrs Frank Fairbanks, "booby," a decorated wastebasket.

The chill shades of evening had fallen when, merry and well fed, the Carrizozo Whist Club crowded into their respective vehicles for Carrizozo, whose lights in the distance beckoned them to another Thanks giving two days ahead

Mrs. Frank J. Sager, Miss Lorena Sager and Miss Virginia Fenton were hostesses to the members of the Card Club and their husbands Friday evening November 18 at the home of Mrs. Sager.

The highest scores at whist were made by Miss Nettie Lee and Mr. Wm. Doering and the lowest scores by Mrs. F. Elliot and Mr. W. F. Whittingham, to whom prizes were awarded. Following the card games a game of 'darts' was played in which the highest scores were made by Mrs. Harry Dawson and Mr. F. Elliot, to whom prizes were awarded.

Delicious refreshments at the end rounded out a most enjoyable evening. Among the guests were Miss Nettie Lee, Miss Sallie Hildebrandt, Miss Helen Canning, Mrs. F. Elliot, Mr. Frank Gauchat, Mr. L. B. Holmes, Mr. Wm. Doering, Mr. Albert Ziegler, Mr. T. Spencer and Mr. F. Elliot.

—A party of Carrizozo young folk enjoyed an excursion to Nogal Friday morning where they were entertained at a pleasant dinner by Mrs. M. E. Anderson.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1910

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION has finished its work and January 21st has been the day set for the acceptance or rejection of the Constitution by the people at the polls. It would have been impossible to have formulated a constitution acceptable to all the people, the present organ seems, however, to be acceptable to a majority and will undoubtedly be elected by the people of New Mexico.

IT SEEMS TO BE the general opinion that the democratic landslide of last week will do more to harmonize the republican party than any other one thing could have done. Republicans will see the necessity of getting together and working as a man instead of pulling a dozen different ways. Before the presidential election the party will be strengthened and united, the people will have had their fill of democratic rule, and republican success at the polls will be assured. Already "breaks" are beginning to be made by the democrats. The results of the election had hardly been announced when the race track promoters of one of the large cities announced their intention of resuming gambling, and more than hinted that they would not be molested by a democratic administration. A little of this will go a long way.

Years of success have made the republican party careless. The fact that this country is normally republican has given a chance for disturbances in the ranks to grow from minor occurrences to leading issues. The principles that have made this party and this country great, have been made to take a back seat while personal matters and individuals have occupied the stage. Two years hence will see such issues given their proper place and the republican party will have and deserve the confidence of the nation more than ever before.

SATURDAY'S WICHITA BEACON was an edition of 120 pages, which is believed to top the Kansas newspaper record. Wichita people will be reading it for the next two weeks. The first thing in the paper was this head "Anybody Can Do It. "Men who make newspapers sometimes believe that their profession is an exacting one. They are wrong. It is the simplest calling. Making a newspaper is an easy trick. Anybody can do it. A Lawyer with only a diploma and a brass sign, who would lose a suit even if the other side was ready to confess judgement, will tell you how to run a newspaper. A physician who will send his patient to the morgue before the prescription has been filled will know all about the fine points of making a newspaper. An actor who never earned other plaudits than a soft tomato, will give instruction in handling the world's news. An old lady who knows enough to get off a street car backwards has positive opinions on it. Even a society person who never paid anything but calls or made anything but visits, did anything but a tailor, knows how stupid those men are who write 'stories', edit 'copy', wrestle with 'heads' that won't fit and get the paper out on time. One reason for the universal perfection in this trade among those who do not work at all, is that everybody has been employed in it. It is a most unusual thing to meet a man who, when the occasion seems ripe, will not say, 'I used to be a newspaper man myself. Every time a man works his country editor for a puff on the strength of a big pumpkin, he graduates in journalism. When he writes a 'piece' for the Squash Center Clarion about a most enjoyable entertainment he completes his post-graduate course in newspaper work, and when he writes a communication on both sides of the paper to the editor he becomes a thirty-third degree member of the Tribe of Scribes. That so many men have abundant literature for law, medicine and other easy walks of life simply shows that many men would rather fall in one thing than another."—Roswell Register-Tribune.

The Vindicator's (Cripple Creek) October output was about 1,500 tons of an average value of $35 per ton.

The discovery of smithsonite has placed Leadville in the position of being the largest producer of zinc in the country.

Teams are busy loading three large fifty-ton cars with graphite at the Hecla switch of the Rio Grande near Salida.

The White Pine mining district now registers a greater number of shipping mines than at any time within three years.

The report of the Camp Bird, Ltd., of Ouray, for the fiscal year ended April 30, 1910, shows gross earnings of $2,641,141.06.

The interest of the Leadville district is centered on carbonate of zinc and other mining matters are taking a secondary place.

Machinery has been installed at the Maid of Orleans property on Beacon Hill, Cripple Creek district, and it is expected to begin work soon.

The Spar-Copper mine, White Pine district, with an enviable record, again is receiving attention and will begin the shipment of some high-grade copper ore soon.

The startling discoveries of uranium ore that have been lately made in the Twin Lakes region, a part of the Twin Lakes mining district, are regarded as the most important of the year.

Plans for a mill of about 100 tons daily capacity are under preparation for the Rosebud Gold Mining and Milling Company, operating the Dead Shot mine on Rosebud Hill, Cripple Creek.

The Vivandiere mine at Turret now connects with the Golden Wonder mine at a depth of 500 feet and a magnificent body of sulphide ore is opened which bears heavy values in gold.

The Pride of Cripple Creek, on Iron-clad Hill, worked by the Pride Mining & Leasing Company, is now sending out about six cars a week of milling grade ore, mined from the 200-foot level.

Stockholders of the Golden Cycle Mining Company, Cripple Creek, soon will receive from the company a Christmas present in the shape of a dividend of 1 cent per share, which will be declared the latter part of December.

The Little Jonny mine, Leadville district, still keeps up its record as a wonderful gold producer, and every now and again the mining world is astonished by the opening of high-grade streaks that give the fortunate leaser a fat bank roll.

The Victor mine, Cripple Creek district, is now being operated by the Western Investment Company, since the Roscoe Leasing Company gave it up. Two machines are working in ore, although the production has been cut down to a car a week.

The Colorado Springs Stock Exchange, dealing in Cripple Creek stocks, has shown much activity since the completion of the well in the El Paso, and the news that the heading of the drainage tunnel was about to tap the main water course.

The old days of the Victor mine, Cripple Creek district, may be brought back with the continuation of development. The main veins, found to the east and south of the shaft, and also to the north, which were rich, may be again located at deeper levels.

Mosler & Co., operating a lease on the tenth level of the Hill City mine, Cripple Creek, have opened a good ore shoot, grab samples showing smelting grade. The strike was made at a point more than 100 feet west of the shaft. A shipment is now being prepared.

Andy Larson and associates, operating Vindicator No. 2, Cripple Creek district, have put two machines at work in two parts of the mine for cross-cutting. The drifts have been cleaned up, preparatory to working the property. Four veins have been opened and it is probable work on two of these will start at once. This property produced more than $100,000 last year.

New Mexico.

The Mogollon exhibit of gold and silver-bearing ores won the first prize from New Mexico at the El Paso fair.

James T. O'Hara, who recently took an option on the Alaskan group of mining claims situated in the Pinos Altos district, has already a couple of car loads of high grade ore for shipment.

WAY TO MAKE OX TAIL STEW

Cut Up the Joints and Serve in Center of Hot Dish With the Vegetables.

One ox tail, one tablespoonful of flour, one teaspoonful of mushroom catsup, one heaping tablespoonful of dripping, one onion, one carrot, one turnip, salt and pepper. Wash the tail well in warm water and cut it up at the joints; the larger joints may be cut in two. Dry the pieces well and mix on a plate the flour, salt and pepper. Rub each piece of tail over with this mixture. Put into a saucepan the dripping and let it get quite hot, then fry the pieces of tail all round in it, and lift them out when done. Pour out the fat that remains and return the pieces of tail to the pan with the onion chopped up, two cupfuls of water and the mushroom catsup, and stew very gently for one and one-half hours. Cut the carrot and turnip into very neat pieces, add them and stew for three-quarters of an hour longer. If well and slowly cooked this is a delightful stew, as the ox tail contains a great deal of gelatine. Dish the meat in the center of a hot dish with the vegetables around it.

As red currants are more expensive than red raspberries, by cooking one quart of currants and two quarts of red raspberries together the juice makes delicious jelly, having a delightful currant flavor, and is of a beautiful rich red color.

After canning peaches a delicious peach marmalade can be made by cooking the peeling and seeds together, then rubbing them through the sieve. The seeds add an excellent flavor. Add sugar to taste and cook to desired thickness. As there is no waste peaches for canning, even at high prices, are within the reach of most everyone.

An excellent currant sauce for cold meats can be made by cooking equal parts of red currants and raisins together. Add sugar and spices to taste.

Fish and Lemon Juice.

Take a three-pound fish. Clean, cut and sprinkle with salt. Leave for three hours; cut fine one good, medium-sized onion, let simmer in a tablespoonful of butter, add one pint of boiling water, pinch of ginger, pepper, mustard; put in the fish; boil slow 20 minutes. Sauce—Beat well the yolks of six eggs, juice of three lemons; add the hot gravy from fish to yolks and lemons, stirring well, so eggs will not curdle; then put back on stove, let come to a boil and place fish in a dish; pour sauce over, put away to cool; garnish with lettuce leaves, add one tablespoonful of chopped parsley to sauce.

Nut Cake.

One-half cup butter, 1 1/2 cups sugar, three eggs, 2 1/2 cups flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, one-half cup milk, one cup nuts, any preferred. Rub the butter and sugar to a cream, add eggs well beaten, then the flour sifted two times with powder. Mix with the milk and nuts into a thin batter and bake in paper-lined tin 35 minutes.

Spaghetti a la Mexicano. A savory and delicious dish enjoyed by the Mexicans. One-half package spaghetti, cooked in boiling salt water, twenty minutes, drain, add one can of tomatoes, strain. Have cooking one pound Hamburg steak with two large onions. Chop fine and add to mixture. Season with red pepper, paprika, adding six olives chopped fine.

To Starch Linens.

In starching linens and similar goods too dark for the white, put in the boiling starch a large piece of tissue paper in shade to match as nearly as possible the dress material. This will dissolve, and when the starch is strained nothing but the dye will remain, making a starch of the exact color desired.

This is a good hint for the woman who does much color embroidery of the stiffly starched variety.

Gold Cake.

One-half cup butter, one cup sugar, yolks of six eggs, one-half cup sweet milk, one-half teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cream of tartar, one and one-half cups flour. Beat butter and sugar to a cream, beat the yolks and add. Dissolve soda in milk and sift cream of tartar in flour.

Apple Custard Pie.

One large sweet apple, grated, one-half cup sugar, one egg well beaten, pinch of salt, one scant pint of milk. Bake in one crust.

BIPLANE FALLS; AVIATOR KILLED

RALPH JOHNSTONE, WORLD-FAMOUS, MEETS HIS DEATH IN DENVER.

FALLS FULLY 300 FEET

HOLDER OF WORLD'S ALTITUDE RECORD OF 9,714 FEET—WAS 30 YEARS OLD.

Denver.—Trapped in the wire trusses and frame work of his Wright biplane, Ralph Johnstone, 30 years old, America's most daring aviator, and the birdman who held the world's altitude record of 9,714 feet, made a few days ago at Belmont park, New York, fell like a meteor to his death at 4:07 p. m. Thursday at Overland park before the horror-struck gaze of thousands of spectators. He is the thirtieth victim of the lure of the air since Sept. 17, 1908, and the first expert aviator to be killed in America.

Johnstone fell probably 300 feet, landing just outside the fence about 200 yards south of the northeast corner of Overland park grounds with the wrecked machine on top of him. While a score of bystanders were extricating him from the debris, he was heard to groan twice. He was unconscious five minutes later he was pronounced dead by half a dozen physicians.

An examination at the morgue showed that Johnstone had sustained a broken neck. Nearly all his ribs were broken in the shock of his fall, and his left leg was found to be badly fractured above the knee, where the broken bone had pierced the flesh and clothing.

The accident was caused by the collapse of the left lower plane just as Johnstone, from a height of between 500 and 600 feet, was making a sensational spiral descent. In making two complete turns, he had descended about half way. When facing north and continuing his spiral curve downward from left to right, he was seen, at a height of about 300 feet, to flex his left planes strongly so that the wings might grip the air and force that side of the biplane upward in order to make a sharp turn. At this juncture, the lower left plane collapsed; the upper left plane buckled under the double stress laid upon it, and in a flash the machine was seen to turn on its edge. Like a thunderbolt it shot earthward, its momentum, probably 30 miles an hour, causing the machine to describe the parabolic curve of a meteor.

That many were not killed or injured in the crash is due to the fact that the eyes of the thousands of spectators immediately under the wrecked aeroplane were watching intently the thrilling aerial maneuvers. A cry rose from a thousand throats as the machine was seen to collapse. In two seconds a space 100 feet square had been cleared by fleeing humanity, and two seconds later the machine lay on the earth, spattered with the blood of its driver.

Hardly had the wrecked machine ceased its quivering and the body of the broken and bruised aviator ceased to breathe before a throng of ghoulish souvenir-hunters began fighting for blood-stained splinters of the wreckage. Pieces of canvas were ripped off the planes, wires were cut and in a few minutes nearly every movable fragment or splinter was taken away as mementos of Johnstone's death.

The statements of bystanders differ. Some maintain that Johnstone, when he found he had lost control of his machine, climbed out of his seat in an effort to break the fall by tilting the other planes at such an angle as to cause the machine to glide downwards. Others say that Johnstone did not leave his seat; he was thrown out when the aeroplane tipped over on its side.

W. C. Brookins, one of the aviators, who was found standing disconsolately with one foot resting on the wrecked machine, flatly denied the reports of Johnstone losing the control of his machine.

"He didn't lose any control of his machine—not Johnstone," said Brookins. "The machine collapsed, and that is all there is to it."

Verdict After 36 Years.

New York.—Thirty-six years after a suit was begun against the Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., a verdict against it was rendered here by a jury in the Supreme Court. Oscar Adler, a glove manufacturer, who had insured his life for $7,500, died in 1876, but the company refused to pay the policies, contending that Adler had committed suicide.

EXPOSURE BROUGHT IT ON.

Thousands of Soldiers Contracted Kidney Trouble in the Civil War.

John T. Jones, Pauls Valley, Okla., says: "The hardships and exposure I endured in the Civil War and when serving as a scout under Bill Cody, brought on my kidney trouble. I was confined to bed for days and the pain, through my back and limbs was the worst I ever experienced. The kidney secretions were profuse, filled with blood and burned terribly. I became weak and debilitated. Soon after I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. I improved and it was not long before I was a well man."

DRINK WATER TO CURE KIDNEYS AND RHEUMATISM

The People Do Not Drink Enough Water to Keep Healthy, Says Well-Known Authority.

"The numerous cases of kidney and bladder diseases and rheumatism are mainly due to the fact that the drinking of water, nature's greatest medicine, has been neglected.

Stop loading your system with medicines and cure-alls; but get on the water wagon. If you are really sick, why, of course, take the proper medicines—plain, common vegetable treatment, which will not shatter the nerves or ruin the stomach."

To cure Rheumatism you must make the kidneys do their work; they are the filters of the blood. They must be made to strain out of the blood the waste matter and acids that cause rheumatism; the urine must be neutralized so it will no longer be a source of irritation to the bladder, and, most of all, you must keep these acids from forming in the stomach. This is the cause of stomach trouble and poor digestion. For these conditions you can do no better than take the following prescription: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime, but don't forget the water. Drink plenty and often.

This valuable information and simple prescription should be posted up in each household and used at the first sign of an attack of rheumatism, backache or urinary trouble, no matter how slight.

In Dissipated Quag.

"They must think we are in a bad way here in New York," said Francis Wilson at the Players' club. "They must think we are as hopeless as the temperance audience in Quag."

Mr. Wilson was condemning the proposed law to imprison for a year any person arrested twice for drunkenness. He resumed:

"A drummer attended a Quag temperance lecture one night. The audience was enthusiastic. It cheered every point that the lecturer made. Yet the lecturer had a red nose and a shaky hand, while an unpleasant odor of alcohol made the air of the hall heavy.

"Are they all teetotalers here?" the drummer whispered to a neighbor suspiciously.

"Yes, sir," was the reply, "all strict teetotalers—between the drinks."—Washington Star.

GRAND OPENING FOR YOUNG MEN

The automobile and motor truck are furnishing an almost unlimited field of profitable employment for young men. Farmers are becoming heavy buyers. Motor trucks are revolutionizing methods of transportation in both city and country. There is a great and growing demand for skilled operators to run and care for these machines. Here is a good chance for enterprising young men. The Automobile School of Denver's noted Y. M. C. A. Trade School fits them thoroughly for this work. The practical character of its instruction is recognized by the managers of garages throughout the state. Its students are thoroughly trained as drivers, repairmen, demonstrators and salesmen; and are greatly in demand in each of these lines.

U. S. WILL NOT ANNEX PANAMA

PRESIDENT SAYS SUCH ACTION WOULD BE DISHONORABLE

AMERICA IS GUARDIAN

MR. TAFT MAKES TALK IN WHICH MUCH ENTHUSIASM IS AROUSED

Panama.—President Taft effectually disposed of the report that the United States was likely to annex Panama.

At a dinner given in his honor by President Arosema and attended by 200 officials, diplomats and merchants Mr. Taft aroused the greatest enthusiasm when he declared the American people would feel utterly dishonored in annexing Panama, unless some conduct on the part of the Panama people left no other course. This contingency Mr. Taft was sure would never arise.

The President arrived at Panama at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday evening from Cuba after spending the day in the great cut, where he was surrounded oftentimes with giant shovels, puffing drills and hurrying dirt trains, while occasional distant blasts sent up tons of rocks.

The recent landslides were visible, but they were in no wise disturbing to the President or to Colonel Goethals, the latter saying they will be taken care of as they occur, until the degree of wall slope prevents a recurrence.

The President reviewed the Marines at Camp Elliott, later hearing grievance committees, who asked for an increase in pay. This is not likely to be granted; because the wages of the men are already higher and the cost of living much lower than in the United States.

Immediately on his arrival in Panama the President went to the American legation, where he was called on by President Arosema, President Taft returned the call at the palace and then went to the banquet. After an address of cordial welcome by the Panamanian President, Mr. Taft said:

"I am glad to accept your hospitality. As once in the case of Mexico, so now in the case of Panama, I ventured to violate the customary limitation upon the movements of the President of the United States, by leaving the soil of my own country, to come beneath the flag and protection of a friendly neighbor. The birth of the Republic of Panama and the peculiar interest which the United States has had since that birth in Panama's welfare and prosperity have found a common cause in the construction of the Panama canal."

Survivors Ask for Aid.

Cordova, Alaska. — Communication with the 83 survivors of the wrecked steamship Portland, who are stranded at Katalla, is still cut off. The last message received before the telephone line went down was an appeal for a revenue cutter, but before explanation of the urgency of the request could be made, the line broke and the exact condition of the storm-bound refugees is unknown. It will be several days before relief can reach them.

The streams across the Copper river flats are not frozen and it is impossible to send supplies and aid by means of dog trains. The terrific storm raging prevents the use of launches.

The steamship Alameda, which attempted a rescue of the marooned passengers was forced to turn back by the storm and is now at Valdez. The Alameda will make another attempt. If this proves unsuccessful, the steamship Northwestern will lay off Katalla until the storm abates.

The revenue cutter Rush is en route to Juneau to Sitka. If the Alameda fails to effect the rescue of the stranded people the Rush will be sent from Sitka and will aid the Northwestern in the attempt to take off the passengers.

Anti-Snoring Device Invented.

New York.—Countless thousands who have been compelled to lie awake and listen to olfactory organ recitals by sleeping relatives and neighbors will rejoice to learn of an invention by a Brooklynite which promises to make snoring a lost art. "The Anti-Snorer" is the name of the little device to make the most noisy face sound-proof.

LITTLE NEW MEXICO ITEMS.

Minor Occurrences of More Than Ordinary Interest.

The daily cost of the convention is $625.

The Territory of New Mexico will become a state about July next.

Four out of five postmasters appointed for New Mexico on one day recently, were women.

Lee Swope, the son of W. Swope, of Weed, New Mexico, was killed in El Paso in a runaway accident.

The highest salary to be paid a state officer in the new state of New Mexico is to be placed at $5,000 for the governor.

It has been decided to print 2,500 copies of the journal of the constitutional convention and 100,000 copies of the constitution, 50,000 in each language.

The official announcement has been made that it had been decided to make Clovis a division point and locate a superintendent, trainmaster and other division officials there.

A bone fifty-four inches in length, weighing seventy-five pounds and plainly the thigh bone of some prehistoric animal, was found near Roswell.

The article on mines, making the minimum age limit for employment during school term 14 years, was adopted by the constitutional convention.

Miles W. Burford has been appointed deputy game and fish warden for Silver City, which includes the nearby surrounding sections, and has entered upon his official duties.

The postoffice at Texico, Curry county was burglarized by bold robbers who blew open the safe with dynamite and nitroglycerine and made good their escape with two hundred dollars in coin.

Sergeant Willard Hird leads in the first week of pistol practice of the Roswell Light Battery, with a percentage of 86, after shooting all ranges, both slow and rapid fire. Van McCune comes second with 84.4. Many members rank above 65, which gives them the title of "marksman."

All county officers in the state of New Mexico, will be elected for a term of four years and with the exception of the judge of the probate court and the probate clerk and ex-officio county recorder, they will be ineligible to succeed themselves in office. Not only will these officers, with the exceptions noted, be ineligible to succeed themselves, but they will be ineligible for election to any other county office, for four years after their terms expire. This was decided by the constitutional convention.

A clash between the Pueblo Indians of the Santa Clara valley, and settlers in northern Santa Fe county, came to a focus when Judge McFie granted a temporary injunction to prevent the Indians from interfering with cattle grazing on the public lands. The Indians defied Sheriff Roabal of Rio Arriba county, who sought to straighten out the tangle, and took his horse, saddle and blanket. United States Attorney Francis C. Wilson and Superintendent Clinton J. Crandall of the northern Pueblos, this evening hurried to Santa Clara to pacify the Indians and to straighten out the tangle.

William B. Hoag, government instructor in agriculture, and Charles S. Rawles, forest guard, both of whom have been employed in the Indian service on the Santa Clara reservation say the reservation is in good condition, some hunting now being done by the Indians, who are alone entitled to hunt thereon, game being somewhat plentiful, especially wild turkey. Forest fires have been carefully guarded against the past season, and the Indians have been successful with their crops; there have been a great many visitors to the Puye cliffs, interest in which increases yearly. Mr. Hoag has returned to the canon.

Of the public domain, 12,877,700 acres still remain to be surveyed, so that for the present 23,576,992 acres are available, from which the new state will soon select the best lands to the extent of 8,000,000 acres for the public schools, institutions and the payment of the Santa Fe and Grant county railroad bonds. Even if every acre that remains were suitable for cultivation, which is not, twenty years at the most will see every acre of available public land in New Mexico in private or state ownership. This is one of the reasons for haste on the part of New Mexico to come in as a state, so that it may have an opportunity to select its lands while there are any lands worth while remaining, and also a reason for not tying up the state lands in such a manner as to prevent settlement and improvement of those lands by bona fide settlers.

Reports from the Pecos valley and from the range country near Silver City and Lake valley to the agricultural college are to the effect that the cattle are dying in large numbers and it is thought that they have been poisoned either by the water or by some plant which they have eaten.

Indian Trouble Settled.

Santa Fe.—The trouble between the Pueblo Indians at Santa Clara, northern Santa Fe county, and settlers, who were grazing stock on the Santa Clara reservation, under permits from the forest service, which has been acute for some time has been settled by the Indians surrendering the cattle they had seized and obeying the injunction issued against them by District Judge McFie.

National Forest, New Mexico.

Washington.—The president has signed a proclamation adding 22,333 acres to the Alamo National Forest, New Mexico, and eliminating 245,450 acres. The addition is made effective at once, and the elimination will take effect January 1, 1911. These changes are the result of a careful field examination made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in pursuance of a general plan for the correcting of all National Forest boundaries.

The largest addition comprises seventeen and one-half sections in T. 20 S., R. 16 E. of juniper and pinon land. The other additions comprise a strip from one-half to two miles in width lying east and southeast of Alamogordo. This addition is made for administrative reasons in order to bring the Forest boundary along the base of the Sacramento mountains, where it can be readily patrolled. The former cut across a very rough country high upon the slopes of the mountains where patrol was practically impossible.

The lands to be eliminated are located along the exterior boundaries of the Guadalupe and Sacramento divisions of the Forest and embrace foothills or level flats practically treeless and of no value for National Forest purposes.

Tucumcari-Texico-Knowles Road.

Knowles.—W. G. Woerner of Knowles, one of the best known men in the valley, and who has been from the first closely connected with the development of the plains country, east of Carlsbad, in the city recently on his way home from Texico, where he had gone to look after matters concerning the Tucumcari-Texico-Knowles railroad, said:

"The road is a sure go. The big grading outfits are now taking to the field at Texico, and getting ready to begin work in earnest. In all likelihood the road will build south from Tucumcari and north from Texico at the same time, while a large outfit will push south from Texico. This latter link will be among the easiest built of any in the West, as the entire hundred odd miles will be across the plains. There is not an eight foot cut or a bridge on the whole line, a most remarkable thing in railroad building. The road will run down just across the Texas line a part of the way and then take a sharp turn across the sands, and with this exception the line will be without a curve almost.

"Nearly $500,000 has been subscribed for the road, by our little town digging up around $100,000, and the other points touched by it as well in proportion.

"The plans of the road do not at present extend beyond a terminus at Knowles, but it is practically certain that it will soon be extended down to connect with the Texas Pacific at Pecos City, and eventually be pushed on into El Paso, the great southwestern gateway."

Water Rights Claims Rejected.

Santa Fe.—A sensation was created by the rejection of all the pending claims for water rights on the Pecos river by Territorial Engineer Sullivan, on advice of the attorney general. The rejection is on the ground that the reclamation service has already appropriated more than twice the flow of the river for the Carlsbad project. The applications rejected include several million dollar projects and number twelve. This action will retard materially the development of the Pecos valley north of Roswell, the situation being similar to that caused by the reclamation service tying up all of the waters of the Rio Grande and its tributaries, as far as new projects are concerned, for the proposed Engle dam. The controversy will be carried to the United States supreme court.

Indians Arrested.

Santa Fe.—Six more Laguna Indians have been arrested near Magdalena for slaughtering game on the Magdalena and Datil forests. R. G. Parsons another Pueblo Indian was fined $500 for violating the gun laws.

Back to the Wild.

There was a time when all dogs were wild and when what we call wolves were different from other dogs only as a collie now is different from a Newfoundland, for instance. From time to time you will hear of dogs that have returned to the life of their ancestors and have run wild with the wolves of the prairie or of the woods. In the town of Sandy in Oregon a greyhound one night made the acquaintance of a coyote, which is a kind of wolf, and ever since he has lived away from the town, running with the coyotes and approaching human dwelling-places only to steal a hen or two when he has been more than usually hungry.

COUNTY NEWS-NOTES

LINCOLN LOCALS

The last car of apples of the season shipped by G. H. Copeland from various orchards below Lincoln will go out from Capitan on next Thursday to El Paso buyers.

W. A. Beaty of Chynne, Okla. and Oscar Caudill of Sayre, Okla. have been in town for several days buying cattle, hogs, mules and horses for shipment either to Oklahoma to be fattened or to market. An order was put in this morning for five cars to move their stock.

The matrimonial fever seems to have cooled a little during past week. The Clerk has not issued any licence for a full week.

The County Commissioners will be in session on Tuesday to appoint Boards of Registration for the various Precincts in the county preparatory to holding an election Jan. 21, 1911 to vote upon the acceptance or rejection of the proposed Constitution.

NOGAL NOTES.

The largest deer of the season for this vicinity was killed by the hunting party composed of Messers: Greer, Davis and Cochran. It weighed 187 pounds.

THERE'S a treat in store for you if you have not met Big Ben. You may have read his Ads in the big magazines, but these are not half strong enough. I don't think they begin to do him justice.

In fact, no Ad can, so I won't attempt to write one about him. This announcement is simply an invitation for you to walk by my store and meet him.

A GOOD POSITION

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or Railway telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the Wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph institute operates six official institutes in America, under supervision of R. R. and Wireless Officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Memphis, Tenn., or Columbia, South Carolina.

THE WORLD IN PARAGRAPHS

A BRIEF RECORD OF PASSING EVENTS IN THIS AND FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

IN LATE DISPATCHES

DOINGS AND HAPPENINGS THAT MARK THE PROGRESS OF THE AGE.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

This year of 1910 is drawing to a close. The records of population and harvests, which are the index of progress, show vigorous national growth and the health and prosperous well-being of our communities throughout this land and in our possessions beyond the seas. These blessings have not descended upon us in restricted measure, but overflow and abound. They are the blessings and bounty of God.

We continue to be at peace with the rest of the world. In all essential matters our relations with other peoples are harmonious with an ever growing reality of friendliness and depth of recognition of mutual dependence. It is especially to be noted that during the last year great progress has been achieved in the cause of arbitration and the peaceful settlement of international disputes.

Now, therefore, I, William Howard Taft, President of the United States of America, in accordance with the wise custom of the civil magistrate since the first settlements in this land and with the rule established from the foundation of this government, do appoint Thursday, November 24, 1910, as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer, enjoining the people to meet in their churches for the praise of Almighty God and to return heartfelt thanks to Him for all His goodness and loving kindness.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at Washington, this, the fifth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and ten, and of the independence of the United States, the one hundred and thirty-fifth.

(Signed) WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT, By the President, Alveo A. Adee, acting secretary of state.

Colorado fruit dominates the annual exposition of the National Horticultural Association at Council Bluffs, which is in full blast. The competition between various fruit sections of the United States has never been so keen as at this show, thirty-seven states being represented. The Colorado exhibit is clearly a walk away from the whole show, occupying 1,000 feet of space. The Grand Junction Fruit Growers' Association has sent there more than $3,000 worth of choice apples and pears, selected by the best growers of the Grand valley. This is reinforced by exhibits from the Montezuma valley, Delta, Montrose and other Colorado points.

WASHINGTON.

The Supreme Court of the United States has adjourned for its Thanksgiving recess. It will reconvene November 28th.

Monahan of New York defeated Bickert and Murphy of Philadelphia by the score of fifty to thirty-three in a match under the auspices of the Intercity National Amateur Three Cushion Billiard league.

POLITICAL.

The Socialist administration of Milwaukee has borrowed another $160,000 to meet expenses during November. This is the second sum needed since the funds ran out, two months ago. It is expected the city will have to borrow again before tax money comes in make up the deficit.

Aerial navigation has proven that it is a factor which must be dealt with in the naval tactics of the future, if the successful flight made by Eugene E. Ely in a Curtiss biplane from the deck of the cruiser Birmingham at Fort Monroe, Va., can be taken as a criterion. From Hampton Roads, the scene forty-five years ago of another epoch in the history of naval warfare, when an ironclad proved its superiority over the former type of fighting vessel, the aviator flew across the lower end of Chesapeake bay, landing on the shore opposite from Fort Monroe.

THOUGHT ONLY OF THE GAME

Filial Affection Lost Sight Of by the Small but Enthusiastic Lover of Football.

Among the spectators at a match between the Blackburn Rovers and the Olympic was a little lad about nine years of age. Though the boy's knowledge of the game may have been limited, his notion of correct play was 'extremely robust.

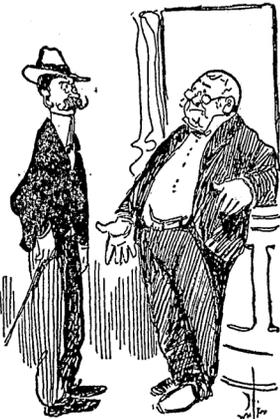

"Go it, 'Lympic," he yelled. "Rush 'em off their pins. Clatter 'em. Jump on their chests. Bowl 'em over. Good for yer. Mow 'em down. Scatter 'em, 'Lympic."

When his parent neatly "grassed" one of the opposing forwards, the youngster expressed approval by bawling, "Good fer yer, owd 'en," adding proudly to the spectators, "Feyther 'ad 'im sweet."

"Yes," said a hearer, "but he'll get killed before the game's finished."

"I don't care a carrot if he does," said the boy.—London Tit-Bits.

BABY WASTED TO SKELETON

"My little son, when about a year and a half old, began to have sores come out on his face. I had a physician treat him, but the sores grew worse. Then they began to come out on his arms, then on other parts of his body, and then one came on his chest, worse than the others. Then I called another physician. Still he grew worse. At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad that I had to tie his hands in cloths at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh. He got to be a mere skeleton, and was hardly able to walk.

"My aunt advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I sent to a drug store and got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of the Ointment and followed directions. At the end of two months the sores were all well. He has never had any sores of any kind since. I can sincerely say that only for Cuticura my child would have died. I used only one cake of Cuticura Soap and about three boxes of Ointment.

"I am a nurse and my profession brings me into many different families and it is always a pleasure for me to tell my story and recommend Cuticura Remedies. Mrs. Egbert Sheldon, Litchfield, Conn., Oct. 23, 1909."

Have You Tried?

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? We can furnish positive proof that it has made many remarkable cures after all other means had failed.

Women who are suffering with some form of female illness should consider this.

As such evidence read these two unsolicited testimonial letters. We guarantee they are genuine and honest statements of facts.

Cresson, Pa.—"Five years ago I had a bad fall, and hurt myself inwardly. I was under a doctor's care for nine weeks, and when I stopped I grew worse again. I sent for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, took it as directed, and now I am a stout, hearty woman."—Mrs. Ella E. Alkey, Cresson, Pa.

Baird, Wash.—"A year ago I was sick with kidney and bladder troubles and female weakness. The doctors gave me up. All they could do was to just let me go as easily as possible. I was advised by friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier. I am completely cured of my ills, and I am nearly sixty years old."—Mrs. Sarah Leighton, Baird, Wash.

Evidence like the above is abundant showing that the derangements of the female organism which breed all kinds of miserable feelings and which ordinary practice does not cure, are the very disorders that give way to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who are afflicted with similar troubles, after reading two such letters as the above, should be encouraged to try this wonderfully helpful remedy.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit. Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

ARCHIBALD'S AGATHA

By EDITH HUNTINGTON MASON
AUTHOR OF "THE REAL AGATHA"

COPYRIGHT 1910 BY W. E. CHARPAIN. COPYRIGHT IN GREAT BRITAIN

SYNOPSIS.

Archibald Terhune, a popular and in-dolent young bachelor of London, receives news that he has been made heir to the estate of his Aunt Georgiana, with an income of $20,000 a year, on condition that he becomes engaged to be married within ten days. Palling to do so the legacy will go to a third cousin in America. The story opens at Castle Wyckhoff, where Lord Vincent and his wife, friends of Terhune, are discussing plans to find him a wife within the prescribed time. It seems that Lady Vincent is one of seven persons named Agatha, all close childhood chums. She decides to invite two of them to the castle and have Archie there as one of the guests. Agatha Sixth strikes Archie as a hand-painted beauty. Agatha First is a breezy American girl. Lady Vincent tells her husband that Agatha Sixth already cares for Archie. He gains from Agatha Sixth the admission that she cares for him, but will require a month's time fully to make up her mind. Agatha First, neglected by Terhune, receives attentions from Leslie Fraser. Four days of the precious time have passed when Terhune is called to London on business. Agatha First, on the plea of sickness, excuses herself from a motor trip planned by the Vincents. Later they see Agatha First picking flowers with a strange man. The Vincents discuss Agatha's seeming duplicity. The following day the party visits the ruins of an old convent. Terhune continues his attentions to Agatha Sixth. Then suddenly he transfers his attentions to Agatha First. Vincent scores him for his apparent fickleness. The last evening of the time allotted in which to become engaged arrives.

The conclusion was obvious and we fell away from our point of vantage at the door and looked at each other with scared and troubled faces. Our attempts to make a match for Agatha Sixth and win Terhune a fortune were certainly going wrong with a vengeance.

But the worse was not yet. Before we had time to more than breathe a new complication presented itself in the shape of the sudden appearance of Agatha Sixth upon the scene.

We met her at the foot of the stairs just as we were going up, wrapped in a black and white dress hanging over her shoulders. I felt myself grown quite cat-like in regard to seeing in the dark, and had perceived who she was and the vital necessity of keeping our discovery a secret from her, before my wife had time to more than gasp a greeting.

"Is that you, Agatha Lawrence?" she inquired.

"Yes. What is it?" whispered back Agatha Sixth, peering at us from the stairs, and by Jove, I felt so sorry for the poor girl if she should see what we had just seen that I rather lost my head.

"Dogs," I said, my voice quite hoarse with whispering, "one of 'em's got shut in the drawing-room some way, and he's knocked over a vase!"

"Did he also light the lamp?" demanded Miss Lawrence suspiciously, as she came and stood beside us. And I cursed myself for a blunderer as she said it. Then Dearest had a go at the situation, and I felt that if this attempt failed we could do nothing more to save the girl from the certain misery she seemed so eager to bring upon herself.

"I lit the lamp, darling," she said, standing directly in front of the doors so that Agatha Sixth's view was cut off, "to see if there was much damage done. We forgot to turn it out, but Wilfred will do it now if you'll come along upstairs with me and not bother." But the girl was not to be turned from her purpose so easily. Some instinct seemed to tell her that what lay behind those closed doors concerned her nearly.

"Let me look—Dearest," she said, using my name for my wife for the first time, as she's usually a cold little thing, and Dearest, as if convinced that it was for the best after all, stepped aside.

It didn't take long, the delivery of the blow, and Agatha Sixth took it like a martyr. One glimpse was enough. Then she turned and silently led the way to the stairs.

At the door of our guest's room which we passed before reaching our own suite, my wife stopped.

"Good night, Wilfred," she said. "Agatha, dear," to the girl, and taking her hand, "you must let me spend the rest of the night with you." And as I stumbled on to my own room I couldn't help thinking that if anything in the world could comfort her, if consolation was to be found, Agatha Sixth would find it in those dear arms.

PART THREE. CHAPTER X.

The following morning dawned upon the Castle Wyckhoff house party clear and balmy and typically June. For all the world as if the day it heralded was not a critical one for one of its members, and an anxious one for his two friends, Dearest and myself, who had invited Terhune to the castle solely to further his interests and welfare. At least that was the way I felt about it. Dearest may have had some other object in view. I hadn't seen her since last night, by the way, and I own I felt alarmed for the success of our plans when I thought of the events of that evening and the shocking disclosure of Terhune's inconstancy, to the very one of all others from whom it should have been hidden.

"Poor old Arch!" I said to myself as I sat down at the breakfast table and began to read the paper until the others should join me. "I'm afraid he's gone and done it now! He's made a bally mess of it this time, as sure as eggs!" And yet even in spite of appearances, secretly I hoped, if Agatha Sixth were really as daffy about him as my wife had seemed to think—But the entrance of both the young persons my thoughts had just named interrupted my meditations and I rose as they seated themselves and with an amazing calm began a commonplace little chatter about unimportant things, just as if nothing had happened at all. Nor did the appearance of Agatha First and Terhune one after the other at all disturb their beautiful serenity.

Strange to say, Terhune gave no evidence of any inward disquiet or cause for alarm. He showed not the faintest symptoms of a guilty conscience, but laughed and chatted with his customary sociability. If it had not been for his persistent avoidance of conversation with Agatha First I should have been convinced in spite of the evidence of my own eyes that he was not the traitor and double-dealer we had every reason to think him, but an upright and innocent gentleman deeply in love with Agatha Sixth and Agatha Sixth only, his straying toward Agatha First having been but a temporary swerving from the path of loyalty, born only of his conceit and thirst for flattery. I'm bound to concede, however, that he made no sort of headway with Miss Lawrence, who met his advances with unflinching courtesy, it is true, but a pillar of ice could scarcely have been more unyielding and the look on her little white pansy face was rather pitifully hard. Dearest was only a little more cordial herself, and I pitied the poor old boy as I saw an expression that I could almost have sworn was hurt and bewildered growing upon his face.

But I didn't get a chance to observe them much longer than a first glance before I plunged myself into the duty of entertaining Agatha First, which naturally devolved upon me. The poor girl wasn't game for much conversation, though, I could see that. And by Jove, if Agatha Sixth looked badly, Agatha First looked worse. Never saw such a hopeless wretched looking young woman in my life. If it hadn't been for the presence of the footman, who was in the room, I believe she would have given way to tears at any moment. She certainly looked as if she'd cried all night as it was, and there was hardly a trace of her splendid color left. Gad! If ever a girl had the appearance of having been run through a wringer, she had. I began to feel more sorry for her than I did for Agatha Sixth, even though her conduct had been more open to criticism. After all, I soliloquized, the poor thing had as much right to be in love with Terhune as Agatha Sixth did, and perhaps it wasn't quite fair of Dearest to side so entirely with the latter. Of course it was true, as Dearest had explained to me often enough, that Agatha Sixth had cared for him months before Agatha First had ever thought of such a thing, and I suppose had therefore a sort of first claim upon him. And of course the point that she should have seen how things were from the beginning and not allowed herself to get interested, was good, though I didn't argue with them, that she had deliberately tried to alienate Terhune from his acknowledged preference for Agatha Sixth. The girl had never seemed to me to be aware of such a state of things in regard to Terhune and Miss Lawrence and had always gone about her business with the air of a sleep-walker, or as if her mind were on other things.

However, whether that was true or not, I must confess I made rather a mess of my efforts to converse with her and frankly abandoned them for an attempt to get her to eat, but failed also in that. She steadfastly refused everything, even though Dearest, who can't bear anyone to go hungry, however displeased she may be with them, urged her with the utmost cordiality. Dearest makes the prettiest hostess imaginable, and it's only recently that I've been half able to eat for looking at her. Today in honor of its importance I suppose, she had put on my favorite white linen dress with a lot of lace or crochet or something of that sort let in, and I tell you she looked wonderful good. Gad! It's nice to have a wife!

But as I was saying, we were all as I am—though of course that's not literally possible, as there's only one Dearest in the world.

For myself, I followed my wife out upon the veranda and began to tell her my apprehensions for my friend.

"Look here, Agatha," I said, "I want to know what Terhune's prospects are. What chance has he with Agatha Sixth now? Any, at all?" As I have said, I had not yet had an opportunity of speaking privately with her, and she had been with Agatha Sixth all night and was of course in her confidence. I expected to hear how matters stood with Miss Lawrence that moment and with the fullest detail. I was therefore as disagreeably surprised as I've ever been in my life, by Jove, when my darling eyed me coldly and impersonally and remarked, "What do you want to know for?"

"Why, because I'm interested in Terhune!" I cried, a little injured. "I want him to succeed in inheriting his aunt's property of course! What else?" "What else indeed?" retorted my wife scornfully. "If you don't know what else," emphasizing the word "know," "I can't waste any more time talking to you!" Then, as she caught my look of utter astonishment, "O, you men! You men!" she added, shaking her head at me, "you're all alike, after all! But I thought better of you, Wilfred!"

"Thought better of me? But what about?" I queried.

"Have you forgotten?" she asked me, without answering my question. "Have you forgotten last summer, not quite a year ago, when you and Mr. Terhune first came through the fields of Wye and stayed at Castle Wyckhoff with us all—my aunt Mrs. Armistead and the six other Agathas?" "Rather not!" I exclaimed. "But what's that got to do with the present case? What do you mean, dear?"

"Don't you remember," she persisted, still ignoring my question, her voice thrilling with tears, "how you yourself behaved at that time? Have you forgotten why it was that you wanted to marry me?"

"Because I loved you!" I burst out, as vehemently as if it were indeed that wonderful self-same moment when I first had asked her. "What else?"

"Grey" and "Gray."

What is the difference, if any, between "grey" and "gray," aside from the matter of spelling?

The editor of the Oxford Dictionary some years ago made extended inquiry as to usage, and found that opinions in London varied. Replies to his questions showed that in Great Britain the form grey is the more frequent in use, despite the authority of Dr. Johnson and later lexicographers, who give the preference to gray. Many correspondents said that they used the two forms with a difference of meaning, or application, the distinction most generally recognized being that grey denotes a more delicate or lighter tint than gray. Others considered the difference to be that gray is a warmer color, or that it has a mixture of red or brown. Another group held that grey has more of sentiment, gray more of color, which may mean that grey is a suggestion rather than a positive outline.

Saying Grace.

I own that I am disposed to say grace upon twenty other occasions in the course of the day besides my dinner. I want a form for setting out upon a pleasant walk, for a moonlight ramble, for a friendly meeting, or a solved problem. Why have we none for books, those spiritual repasts—a grace before Milton—a grace before Shakespeare—a devotional exercise proper to be said before reading the "Faery Queen?"—Charles Lamb.

His Awful "Break."

The little god of bad breaks is ever seeking victims. He made a young man at a social gathering the other evening blush for a week. The young man had been introduced to a young woman. "Why, I know a lady by the same name in Kansas City," he remarked, "only she's a beautiful girl." The young woman froze him to the spot, and he was glad of an excuse to leave the gathering.

Wanted Further Information.

James Albery, the dramatist, was descending the steps of his club, when a stranger addressed him thus: "I beg your pardon, but is there a gentleman in this club with one eye of the name of X—?" Albery answered the question at once by another: "Stop a moment. What's the name of his other eye?"

Chance for American Capitalists. Russian manufacturers invest $50,000,000 annually in American cotton, and it is stated that should a Russo-American bank be established in St. Petersburg the cotton investment would reach $100,000,000 annually.

Pretty Close.

"Heaven is so close to us," writes an enthusiastic philosopher, "that we can almost touch it with a ten-foot pole, and use the wings of the angels for fans in warm weather!"

WOMAN TELLS STORY OF INTENSE SUFFERING

At the age of about 40 years, I was attacked with hemorrhage of the kidneys or bladder which continued for several years without a check. I finally took advantage of your generous offer and procured a sample bottle of Swamp-Root. Believing it helped me, I purchased a fifty-cent bottle, which convinced me that it was helping me. Three other bottles cured me. In two or three years, over-work brought my ailment back, but one bottle stopped it. I feel as if I owe my life to you for the great blessing Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root has been to me. I recommend it to all human beings suffering as I was. You have my permission to publish this letter and if any person doubts it, if they will write me, enclosing stamp, I will give full particulars.

Yours very truly,
MRS. T. B. PHELPS,
Rocky, Ark.
Personally appeared before me this 31st day of August, 1909, Mrs. T. B. Phelps who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do For You

Send to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling all about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention this paper. For sale at all drug stores. Price fifty-cents and one-dollar.

Pie.
"You Americans," said the London man, "are very fond of what you call pie. But properly speaking a pie should have meat in it."
"Perhaps. But the beef packers compel us to economize."

Somewhat Indignant.
The two extra specialists had pounded and sounded him, and felt of his pulse and tapped his frame till he could only lie in a cold perspiration of fear.

"Undoubtedly it's a case of appendicitis!" said specialist No. 1, gravely.

"Undoubtedly!" assented specialist No. 2.

"But would he be able to stand an operation?" pondered No. 1.

"Ah, would he?" echoed No. 2.

They dug him in the ribs again, and he squealed.

"Ah," remarked No. 1, "I think we ought to let him get a bit stronger before we cut into him."

"Confound your palaver!" gasped the patient, starting up. "What do you take me for—a cheese?"

Easy Marks.
"Talk about yore easy marks," said Uncle Silas Gehaw, who had been passing a week in the city, "us rubes ain't in it with them air teowya chaps."

"Did yew sell 'em enny gold bricks, Silas?" queried old Daddy Squash-neck.

"Naw, I didn't," answered Uncle Silas, "but I seed a feller peddin' artificial ice—hed th' sign right on his wagon—an' blamed of th' chumps didn't buy it fer th' real thing, by grass!"

The Number.
"I hear your new auto made a good record on its trip."
"Yes; ran over in about an hour."
"How many?"

MORE THAN EVER Increased Capacity for Mental Labor Since Leaving Off Coffee.

Many former coffee drinkers who have mental work to perform, day after day, have found a better capacity and greater endurance by using Postum instead of ordinary coffee. An Illinois woman writes:

"I had drank coffee for about twenty years, and finally had what the doctor called 'coffee heart.' I was nervous and extremely despondent; had little mental or physical strength left, had kidney trouble and constipation.

"The first noticeable benefit derived from the change from coffee to Postum was the natural action of the kidneys and bowels. In two weeks my heart action was greatly improved and my nerves steady.

"Then I became less despondent, and the desire to be active again showed proof of renewed physical and mental strength.

"I am steadily gaining in physical strength and brain power. I formerly did mental work and had to give it up on account of coffee, but since using Postum I am doing hard mental labor with less fatigue than ever before."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville, in pkgs. 'There's a Reason.' Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

"I suffered with my head and back, for over six years, and although I tried everything, I never could get anything to do me any good, until I began to take Cardui."

"Cardui has surely helped me and built me up and I am so thankful that I have found something that will do me good. I feel so much stronger and better than I have in a long time."

JAS. DEAN IN COURT

Our ubiquitous townsman James Dean, better known as "Scotty" has been very much in the lime light of the justice court for the past few days. Any one that knows Scotty well knows that he is possessed of highly developed and clearly defined bacchanalian propensities and proclivities. Saturday he got into the clutches of the law, not on the charge of dipsomania but was charged with assault and battery on deputy sheriff Leo Oswald.

When the case was called for trial attorney Spence discovered an anachronism in the complaint and on motion of Mr. Spence, "Scotty" was discharged on "grounds of duplicity."

Scotty was immediately re-arrested for the same offence on a new complaint and had a hearing Monday morning which took up the attention of the court all forenoon. After hearing the case Judge Massie again dismissed the defendant as the prosecution failed to prove that the offence was committed in Lincoln County.

Scotty has announced his intention of leaving Carrizozo, as he says that too much of his time is taken up in the justice court when he should be out earning money. FSR
