REPUBLICAN ANSWERS CHEW

To the Editor of the Outlook, Dear Sir,

In last week's issue of your paper appeared a communication from the pen of Mr. E. H. B. Chew of White Oaks, in which he enters into a very lengthy explanation as to the alleged reasons why he has severed his political affiliations with the Republican Party and has become a full fledged follower of Democracy by appearing and taking part as a Delegate from White Oaks, at the Democratic County Convention recently held in this town.

As this is a free country and the Constitution of the United States and even the Constitution of the state of New Mexico guarantees to every man full and unqualified liberty in matters political it seems to be rather unnecessary for the Delegate from White Oaks to rise and explain his actions. No doubt but that the Republican party of Lincoln County will survive the crushing blow of his secession. We have very little to do with Mr. Chew's change of politics, but it might be well to briefly review a few of the reasons he assigns as the causes of his defection and see to what extent they will stand the light of investigation.

If opposition to the Constitution recently drafted at Santa Fe is the sole cause of his abjuring the G. O. P. he will certainly find himself in strange company in his new found political family, he will find himself in a divided household, where one part of the family is denouncing the Constitution and a larger number of members declaring their allegiance to this much discussed document. True he will have the satisfaction of knowing that the recent rump convention of his party at Santa Fe passed resolutions condemning 13 articles of the said Constitution but at the same time declared that a man could still be a good Democrat and work and vote for the organic law. He will find in that organization some of the wheel horses of the party in the front ranks fighting the battle of Statehood for New Mexico, he will find the three times candidate of his party for Delegate to Congress, the Hon. O. A. Larrázola, stumping the state for the Constitution, he will find two of the ex-Chairmen of his party; Messrs. Walton and Hopewell actively working for Statehood; he will find such prominent Democrats from the very strongholds of Democracy in this state as Chavez, Eddy, Grant, and Roosevelt. Counties, men like G. A. Richardson, Jno. F. Hinkle, C. R. Brice, M. P. Skeen, C. R. Compton, J. T. Mabry, H. M. Dougherty, Samuel Eddot, and a host of other prominent Democrats from all over the state, men who have been honored by their party, who have been members of the Legislature, and of the Constitutional Convention, and who have made a careful study of the question, and who are eminently fitted to say if this document is made in the interests of the masses or of the classes. No doubt there are many things in the Constitution that some of these men object to and many matters omitted that they would like to see incorporated, but they are patriotic enough to think that what it lacks we will ultimately get, and in the meantime the greater question of Statehood in 1911 means considerable to them.

Mr. Chew has a kick coming on the Article on Militia, and is worried for fear that the Wild Cat miners will go on strike in White Oaks, and he may be pressed into the service of the state and compelled to shoulder his rifle against his will, however we would think that hope of a future pension for his military services would compensate him for all the mental anguish he would suffer in the event that the Adjutant General were to call on him, or is it possible that he is also opposed to pensions as well as militia?

Mr. Chew and his fellow anti-constitution, anti-statehood, anti-progress leaguers and associates no doubt consider the Arizona Constitution a model of perfection; let us compare the two documents on this point and see if any material difference exists.

NEW MEXICO.
Section 1. The militia of this state shall consist of all able-bodied male citizens between the ages of 18 and 45, except such as are exempt by laws of the United States or of this state. The organized militia shall be called the "National Guard of New Mexico," of which the governor shall be the commander-in-chief.

Sec. 2. The legislature shall provide for the organization, discipline and equipment of the militia, which shall conform as nearly as practicable to the organization, discipline and equipment of the regular army of the United States, and shall provide for the maintenance thereof.

ARIZONA.
Section 1. The militia of the state of Arizona shall consist of all able-bodied male citizens of the state between the ages of 18 and 45 years and of those between said ages who shall have declared their intention to become citizens of the United States residing therein, subject to such exemptions as now exist, or as may hereafter be created, by the laws of the United States or of this state.

Sec. 2. The organized militia shall be designated "The National Guard of Arizona," and shall consist of such organized military bodies as now exist under the laws of the territory of Arizona or as may hereafter be authorized by law.

Sec. 3. The organization, equipment and discipline of the National Guard shall conform as nearly as is practicable to the regulations for the government of the armies of the United States.

Now will any reasonable man assign this section of the New Mexico Constitution as a sufficient cause to vote against Statehood.

Space will not permit a discussion of the other sections objected to by the gentleman this issue, but they will be fully dealt with next week, Mr. Chew strikes the keynote of his opposition in the winding up of his article, by stating that we do not gain anything by statehood, that with "the gang" in control, he prefers a Territory to a "rotten bankrupt state and that four fifths of the people favoring Statehood," have an axe to grind. "He certainly has exalted opinions of his fellow citizens, and the people of New Mexico if he believes that four-fifths of them are voting for statehood from selfish motives. "Scratch a Russian and you will find a Tartar," is an adage, and if you dig down deep enough into the hide of at least four-fifths of the opponents of the Constitution you will find that the real cause of their opposition to the instrument is that it will bring us Statehood, and, that immediately, so many of us have got into the old rut, that when we are led up to the door of hope, and can see ourselves in the full possession of that great boon of statehood, that we balk, and are glad of any kind of an old excuse to rear back and say we don't want statehood under any circumstances. We would advise Mr. Chew to try the Socialist or the Prohibition Parties if the Constitution don't suit him, as these are the only organizations that are unanimously opposed, to Statehood, Constitution, and every thing that any one else wants.

Yours A REPUBLICAN.

PECOS VALLEY IS FOR IT

Estimate that the Democratic Pecos Valley Will Vote 75 percent for Constitution

LEADERS ALL FAVOR ADOPTION

(Roswell Register Tribune)

There is no doubt that the sentiment of the people of the Pecos valley in favor of the constitution is steadily gaining ground. It was started that way by patriotic pronouncement of Hon. J. I. Hinkle, later followed by Hon. G. A. Richardson in this county, both delegates to the convention, and men whose judgment and sense are rated high.

In Eddy county Hon. C. R. Brice and Dr. M. P. Skeen, also delegates, are pronounced in its favor. Gayle Talbot, the ranking Democrat of Artesia, is in line, and so is Colonel Mullane of the Current.

In Roosevelt county the best element of the Democracy are lined up for statehood, the only exception being Hon. J. A. Hall of Elida, whose chief ground for rejection is the omission of the I. R. and R., on which account he would consign us still longer to bondage, an exhibition of narrowness of which we would not have believed the gentleman capable. Incidentally the Portales Herald is against it on account of the fanaticism of the editor, who is an ultra-prohibitionist. Well posted men say that the great majority of the voters of Roosevelt county are in favor and will vote for the constitution.

In Curry county Hon. W. D. McBee, J. S. Fitzhugh, J. T. Mabry, J. S. Maples and many others of the real progressives will work and vote for the constitution. Several of them were strong advocates of the I. R. R., but recognize that is not sufficient to justify them condemning the whole instrument because of their omission. This is certainly the sensible and correct way to look at the matter, and their attitude in the matter does them honor. In Roswell proper, the sentiment is steadily growing as the people become better acquainted with the provision of the constitution. At first many prohibitionists were inclined to balk because their question was not submitted, but the majority of them recognize that the question is safely one of legislation. Besides, the fairer ones admit that the wet and dry question need no particular legislation, a deduction fully warranted by the almost complete dessionation of the Pecos valley long before the constitution began to be formed. A few extremists who were much taken with the socialistic principles of the I. R. R. are beginning to realize that it would be politically childish to oppose liberty because it was not attended by all the phases that the fancy might suggest, and have lined up with the progressives.

We are confident that the constitution will carry in Chavez county and the valley by at least a 75 per cent vote

Locally there are many contributory causes to this conclusion that do not hold outside. One, and the strongest, is the general understanding that a vote against the constitution means a vote against the school children and their right to an adequate and well-balanced education. Another is a realization of the slump in property values that would follow rejection, an eventuality not to be considered complacently at this time. Another is a growing understanding that the constitution is a safe and wholesome one, and that it would have been utterly impossible for any convention to have framed a charter that would have been absolutely satisfactory to all. Another is the strong and clear position taken by General Elliot of Dexter and many other men of less prominence, in all parties, who refuse to consider, the constitution in a partisan light and will vote for it as the open door to real independence and permanent prosperity for the valley and New Mexico.

THE SOCIAL WHIRL

On Wednesday afternoon, in spite of the furious east winds and accompanying dust storm in the forenoon, Mrs. F. J. Sager entertained the members of the Carrizozo Whist Club, the first meeting since the Holidays, the weather clearing up just before the appointed hour. Miss Francis McDonald and Miss Virginia Fenton were the guests present, no absentees of the club marring the games. Mrs. McDonald carried off the first prize, a handsome lunch cloth, and Mrs. A. J. Rolland the booby prize, a jar of toilet powder.

A salad course was served before the business meeting which ended in Mesdames W. C. McDonald, Geo. L. Ulrich and A. J. Rolland uniting to entertain the club and their husbands Thursday night at the residence of Mrs. Rolland.

HOME MISSION SOCIETY

The Home Mission Society met with Mrs. B. W. Allen at the Parsonage on Thursday with a large attendance. Reports show that the past year has proven a very successful one, in spite of the many difficulties encountered in a small town. A short but very interesting talk was made by Rev. Allen regarding the new Methodist Church. The society being free from all other indebtedness pledged five hundred dollars toward such a building, taking up this work for the new year. After the meeting adjourned a dainty repast was served. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Walter Miller on January 12th.

TIOFILO LALONE DEAD

Mr. Tiofilo Lalone, one of Lincoln County's older residents, passed from this life Tuesday, January 3, at his home near Carrizozo. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon from the Baptist Church, Rev. Wadley officiating. Mr. Lalone was 73 years old and one of this county's most respected citizens; he is survived by two sons and three daughters. The Outlook joins the family's many friends in extending their sympathy in the sad bereavement.

THE NEW DEMOCRATIC state organ the New Mexico State Democrat in answering the argument against paying the new states officials sufficient salaries is very able taken care of in a recent issue, in comparing it to the salaries paid the state officers of Arizona under their proposed constitution; an organic act which the opposition to New Mexico's constitution is lauding to the skies They state:

"The cheap states of that wing of the democratic party opposing the constitution, overwhelmed at the enormity of the extravagance on the part of the constitution framers in fixing the salaries of the officials of the new states. One of them speaks of the governor's salary of $5,000 as a "princely" salary Evidently the writer is as little familiar with princely things as he is with $100 bills. That, however, by the way.

Those who bellow the loudest at the New Mexico salaries, almost to a man laud the Arizona constitution, yet that democratic document is more extravagant than the one they so bitterly condemn "

Look at these contrasts:

New Mexico legislature, 73 members, 60 days, $21,900; Arizona legislature, 54 members, 60 days, $22,680.

New Mexico judiciary, total, per year, $54,000; Arizona judiciary, total, per year, $62,500.

New Mexico for all state officials, total, per year, $99,900; Arizona for all state officials, total, yearly, $103,680.

These figures show that statehood for Arizona will cost the people for the three departments--legislative, executive and judiciary--$3,780 per year more than the similar three departments will cost the people of New Mexico, though this territory has more than double the population of that territory The blatant objectors to the New Mexico constitution should go and soak their heads "

THE JUSTICE OF THE PEACE Elections in the various precincts of the county occur next Monday, and most of the precincts have put able candidates in the field. Carrizozo has one candidate for the office of Constable and one for Justice of the Peace each deserving the support of the entire people.

Walter Miller, candidate for constable in Carrizozo Precinct, is one of our business men, being engaged in the harness and shoe repairing trade and has been a resident of this city since its inception. That he is qualified to fulfil the duties required of him in the capacity of Constable there is no doubt and it would be difficult to find a man better fitted to fill this position. Mr. Miller, if elected will devote his attention to the office and as he is one of our substantial citizens will doubtless receive strong support for the office at the election next Monday.

Edmund Massie the present incumbent of the office of Justice of the Peace in Carrizozo is a candidate for election to the same office again at the polls next Monday subject to the will of the people. Mr. Massie was appointed, without opposition, to the position last July and since that time has conducted his duties in an honorable and businesslike manner. His ability to devote the time necessary to dispensing the duties of the office and his past record as a just and impartial precinct official both in New Mexico and his former home in Kentucky deserve recognition and consideration and that he will be elected to succeed himself would be no more than deserving if merit and integrity are to be judged in the voting.

COMING EVENTS IN NEW MEXICO.
Jan. 21—State election to ratify or reject constitution.

To Reclaim Lands.

Santa Fe.—The Hope Community Irrigation Company of Hope, Eddy county, incorporated with $441,000 capital, to build an irrigation system to reclaim 20,000 acres on the Penasco river. The incorporators and directors are T. V. Coffin, W. P. Riley, W. J. Lewis, H. M. Gage and C. M. Potts.

Silver City Gets Present.

Silver City.—Silver City got a handsome Christmas present this year from the U. S. Government in the shape of a long term lease on the handsome Corbin block on Bullard street, to be used as a postoffice. The lease is to date from February 1, 1911.

Historical Society Officers.

Santa Fe.—The New Mexico Historical Society elected as president ex-Gov. L. Bradford Prince of Santa Fe; vice presidents, Gov. William J. Mills, Attorney General Clancey, and Col. Ralph E. Twitchell; corresponding secretary, Edward A. Johnston; assistant secretary, Mrs. Mary M. Victory; treasurer, John K. Stauffer of Santa Fe.

Gov. Mills On Speaking Tour.

Santa Fe.—Governor Mills has gone on a statewide tour, on which he will make addresses in favor of the constitution at Albuquerque, Las Cruces, Las Vegas, Mora and other points. Chairman H. O. Bursum of the Republican territorial central committee, has outlined an energetic campaign during the next three weeks.

Indians Make Bond.

Santa Fe.—Each of the four Cochiti Indians arrested for entering the Tiffany turquoise mines, fourteen miles south of Santa Fe, was held in $1,000 bond for the grand jury. The bond was promptly furnished, as the Indians are well-to-do and entered the mines in the belief that they still held title to them, as their forefathers had done.

Big Territory Tax.

Santa Fe.—Up to December 1st, according to the records of Territorial Travelling Auditor Charles V. Safford, the twenty-six counties of the territory collected $675,931.73 of territorial taxes for 1909, a larger sum than in any previous year. The tax collections for 1910, too, are one per cent higher than last year. Of 1909 taxes, three counties collected more than $50,000; namely: Chaves, $56,305.92; Colfax, $54,100.50, and Bernalillo, $50,725.20, while Grant county was a close fourth with $49,673.95, and San Miguel fifth, with $43,940.70.

Valuable Irrigation Project.

Taos.—Work on the reservoir for the Rancho Orchard and Land Company's tract has already been begun and will be pushed as rapidly as possible until spring, when a large force of men will be engaged, and the reservoir made ready for use at the earliest possible moment. This is one of the big improvements for the valley and brings under irrigation a large and splendid tract, making it ready for settlement. There is no question that settlers will be readily found, for this tract of land is one of the finest in the Southwest, and once under irrigation it will bloom into a veritable garden spot. This will be a good thing for Taos and the valley.

New Rules for Land Office Contests.

Washington.—New rules of practice governing cases before local land offices, the general land office and the Department of the Interior have been approved by Secretary Ballinger and of interest to New Mexico, will go into effect February 1st. These rules are intended to simplify practice, avoid delay and nullify the advantage of a contestant of wealth over a poor one. Under the new rules a contest against an entry or claim or record can only be instituted by a person who seeks to acquire title or to claim an interest in the land involved, and the ground of contest must be based on matters not disclosed by the land office records.

Dennis Hart Confesses.

Santa Fe.—Dennis Hart, an ex-convict, held for the grand jury in $800 bail for blowing up the safe of the Becker Mercantile Company at Belen and securing $1,400, has confessed and implicated two other convicts who served in the penitentiary with him and who are reported to have gone to Salt Lake or Denver.

Had Money in Lumps.

Charles H. Rosenberg of Bavaria had lumps on his shoulders, elbows, and hips when he arrived here from Hamburg on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria. In fact, there was a series of smaller lumps along his spine, much like a mountain range, as it is presented on a bas-relief map.

The lumps were about the size of good Oregon apples, and as Rosenberg passed before the immigration doctor for observation, the doctor said softly to himself, "See that lump." Then he asked Mr. Rosenberg to step aside.

"You seem like a healthy man," said the doctor, "but I cannot pass you until I know the origin of those lumps on your body." "Ah, it is not a sickness," laughed the man from Bavaria. "Those swellings is money."

Taking off his coat he broke open a sample lump and showed that it contained $500 in American bank notes. He informed the doctor that he had $11,000 in all, with which he was going to purchase an apple orchard in Oregon.

He was admitted to the country.—New York Tribune.

Why He Laughed.

Miss Mattie belonged to the old south, and she was entertaining a guest of distinction.

On the morning following his arrival she told Tillie, the little colored maid, to take a pitcher of fresh water to Mr. Firman's room, and to say that Miss Mattie sent him her compliments, and that if he wanted a bath, the bathroom was at his service.

When Tillie returned she said:

"I tol' him, Miss Mattie, en' he laughed fit to bust hisself."

"Why did he laugh, Tillie?"

"I dunno."

"What did you tell him?"

"Jus' what you tol' me to."

"Tillie, tell me exactly what you said."

"I banged de doah, and I said, 'Mr. Firman, Miss Mattie sends you her lub, and she says, 'Now you can get up and wash yo'self!'"—Lippincott's Magazine.

Where He Was Queer.

The negro, on occasions, displays a fine discrimination in the choice of words.

"Who's the best white-washer in town?" inquired the new resident.

"Ale Hall am a bond a'tist with a whitewash brush, sah," answered the colored patriarch eloquently.

"Well, tell him to come and whitewash my chicken house tomorrow."

Uncle Jacob shook his head dubiously.

"Ah don' believe, sah, ah'd engage Ale Hall to whitewash a chicken house, sah."

"Why, didn't you say he was a good whitewasher?"

"Yes, sah, a powerful good whitewasher, sah; but mighty queer about a chicken house, sah, mighty queer!"—Mack's National Monthly.

MAKE UP YOUR MIND.

If you'll make up your mind to be contented with your lot
And with the optimists agree
That trouble's soon forgot.

You'll be surprised to find, I guess,
Despite misfortune's darts,
What constant springs of happiness
Lie hid in human hearts;

What sunny gleams and golden dreams
The passing years unfold,
How soft and warm the lowlight beams
When you are growing old.

Thanks to Burnt Cork.

"Gosh! But the colored race is a-comin' to the front fast!" whispered innocent Uncle Hiram, at the vaudeville show, as the black-face comedian was boisterously applauded.

"Yes, indeed," smiled the city man; "anyone can see that that fellow is a self-made negro."

Lo, the Rich Indian.

The per capita wealth of the Indian is approximately $2,130, that for other Americans is only a little more than $1,300. The lands owned by the Indians are rich in oil, timber and other natural resources of all kinds. Some of the best timber land in the United States is owned by Indians.

The value of their agricultural lands runs up in the millions. The ranges which they possess support about 500,000 sheep and cattle, owned by lessees, bringing in a revenue of more than $272,000 to the various tribes besides providing feed for more than 1,500,000 head of horses, cattle, sheep and goats belonging to the Indians themselves. Practically the only asphalt deposits in the United States are on Indian lands.—Red Man.

No Slang for Her.

"Slip me a brace of cackles!" ordered the chesty-looking man with a bored air, as he perched on the first stool in the lunchroom.

"A what?" asked the waitress, as she placed a glass of water before him.

"Adam and Eve sat on their backs! A pair of sunnysiders!" said the young man in an exasperated tone.

"You got me, kid," returned the waitress. "Watcha want?"

"Eggs up," said the young man. "Eggs up," the kind that come before the hen or after, I never knew which."

"Why didn't you say so in the first place?" asked the waitress. "You'd a had 'em by this time."

"Well, of all things—" said the young man.

"I knew what he was drivin' at all the time," began the waitress as the young man departed. "But he's one of them fellers that thinks they can get by with anything. He don't know that they're using plain English now in restaurants."

The League of Politeness.

The League of Politeness has been formed in Berlin. It aims at inculcating better manners among the people of Berlin. It was founded upon the initiative of Fraulein Cecelle Meyer, who was inspired by an existing organization in Rome. In deference to the parent organization the Berlin league has chosen the Italian motto, "Pro gentilezza." This will be emblazoned upon an attractive little medal worn where Germans are accustomed to wear the insignia of orders. The idea is that a glance at the "talisman" will annihilate any inclination to indulge in bad temper or discourteous language. "Any polite person" is eligible for membership.

The "Country Churchyard."

Those who recall Gray's "Elegy in a Country Churchyard" will remember that the peaceful spot where "the rude forefathers of the hamlet sleep" is identified with St. Giles', Stoke Poges, Buckinghamshire. In the present pages of a recent issue of the Gazette there appears an order in council providing that ordinary interments are henceforth forbidden in the churchyard.

Economy.

The late former Governor Allen D. Candler of Georgia was famous in the south for his quaint humor.

"Governor Candler," said a Gainesville man, "once abandoned cigars for a pipe at the beginning of the year. He stuck to his resolve till the year's end. Then he was heard to say:

"By actual calculation, I have saved by smoking a pipe instead of cigars this year $208. But where is it?"

Moslem Traditions.

Ramadan is the month exalted by Moslems above all others. In that month the Koran—according to Moslem tradition—was brought down by Gabriel from heaven and delivered to men in small sections. In that month, Mohammed was accustomed to retire from Mecca to the cave of Hira, for prayer and meditation. In that month Abraham, Moses and other prophets received their divine revelations. In that month the "doors of heaven are always open, the passages to hell are shut, and the devils are chained." So run the traditions.—The Christian Herald.

A Medical Compromise.

"You had two doctors in consultation last night, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"What did they say?"

"Well, one recommended one thing and the other recommended something else."

"A deadlock, eh?"

"No, they finally told me to mix 'em!"

Hard on the Mare.

Twice, as the bus slowly wended its way up the steep Cumberland Gap, the door at the rear opened and slammed. At first those inside paid little heed; but the third time demanded to know why they should be disturbed in this fashion.

"Whist," cautioned the driver, "don't spake so loud; she'll overhear us."

"Who?"

"The mare. Spake low! Shure, O'm desavin th' crayture. Every tolme she 'ears th' door close, she thinks won o' yez is gettin' down ter walk up th' hill, an' that sort o' raises her sperrits."—Success Magazine.

Exaggeration.

On her arrival in New York Mme. Sara Bernhardt, replying to a compliment on her youthful appearance, said: "The secret of my youth? It is the good God—and then, you know, I work all the time. But I am a great-grandmother," she continued, thoughtfully, "so how can these many compliments be true? I am afraid my friends are exaggerating."

Mme. Bernhardt's laugh, spontaneous as a girl's, prompted a chorus of "No, no!"

"Yes," said the actress, "unconscious exaggeration, like the French nurse on the boulevard. Our boulevards are much more crowded than your streets, you know, and, although we have numerous accidents, things aren't quite as bad as the nurse suggested."

"Her little charge, a boy of six, begged her to stop a while in a crowd, surrounding an automobile accident. 'Please wait,' the little boy said, 'Want to see the man who was run over.' 'No; hurry,' his nurse answered. 'There will be plenty more to see further on.'"

Economy In Art.

"Of course," said Mr. Sirius Barker, "I want my daughter to have some sort of an artistic education. I think I'll have her study singing."

"Why not art or literature?"

"Art spoils canvas and paint and literature wastes reams of paper. Singing merely produces a temporary disturbance of the atmosphere."

Home Thought.

"It must have been frightful," said Mrs. Bossim to her husband, who was in the earthquake. "Tell me what was your first thought when you awakened in your room at the hotel and heard the alarm."

"My first thought was of you," answered Mr. Bossim.

"How noble!"

"Yes. First thing I knew, a vase off the mantel caught me on the ear; then a chair whirled in my direction, and when I jumped to the middle of the room four or five books and a framed picture struck me all at once."

Even after saying that, he affected to wonder what made her so angry for the remainder of the evening.—Mack's National Monthly.

New Process of Staining Glass.

The art of coloring glass has been lost and refound, jealously guarded and maliciously stolen so many times in the history of civilization that it seems almost impossible to say anything new on glass staining. Yet a process has been discovered for making the stained glass used in windows which is a departure from anything known at the present time. What the Venetians and the Phoenicians knew of it we cannot tell.

The glass first receives its design in mineral colors and the whole is then fired in a heat so intense that the coloring matter and the glass are indissolubly fused. The most attractive feature of this method is that the surface acquires a peculiar pebbled character in the heat, so that when the glass is in place the lights are delightfully soft and mellow.

In making a large window in many shades each panel is separately moulded and bent, and the sections are assembled in a metal frame.

Our Voices.

I think our conversational soprano, as sometimes overheard in the cars, arising from a group of young persons who have taken the train at one of our great industrial centers, for instance, young persons of the female sex, we will say, who have bustled in full dressed, engaged in loud, strident speech, and who, after free discussion, have fixed on two or more double seats, which having secured, they proceed to eat apples and hand round daguerreotypes—I say, I think the conversational soprano, heard under these circumstances, would not be among the allurements the old enemy would put in requisition were he getting up a new temptation of St. Anthony.

There are sweet voices among us, we all know, and voices not musical, it may be, to those who hear them for the first time, yet sweeter to us than any we shall hear until we listen to some warbling angel in the overture to that eternity of blissful harmonies we hope to enjoy. But why should I tell lies? If my friends love me, it is because I try to tell the truth. I never heard but two voices in my life that frightened me by their sweetness.—Holmes.

What About Brain Food?

This Question Came Up in the Recent Trial for Libel.

A "Weekly" printed some criticisms of the claims made for our foods. It evidently did not fancy our reply printed in various newspapers, and brought suit for libel. At the trial some interesting facts came out.

Some of the chemical and medical experts differed widely.

The following facts, however, were quite clearly established:

Analysis of brain by an unquestionable authority, Geoghegan, shows of Mineral Salts, Phosphoric Acid and Potash combined (Phosphate of Potash), 2.91 per cent of the total, 1.33 of all Mineral Salts.

This is over one-half.

Beaunis, another authority, shows "Phosphoric Acid combined" and Potash 73.44 per cent from a total of 101.07.

Considerable more than one-half of Phosphate of Potash.

Analysis of Grape-Nuts shows: Potassium and Phosphorus, (which join and make Phosphate of Potash), is considerable more than one-half of all the mineral salts in the food.

Dr. Geo. W. Carey, an authority on the constituent elements of the body, says: "The gray matter of the brain is controlled entirely by the inorganic cell-salt, Potassium Phosphate (Phosphate of Potash). This salt unites with albumen and by the addition of oxygen creates nerve fluid or the gray matter of the brain. Of course, there is a trace of other salts and other organic matter in nerve fluid, but Potassium Phosphate is the chief factor, and has the power within itself to attract, by its own law of affinity, all things needed to manufacture the elixir of life."

Further on he says: "The beginning and end of the matter is to supply the lacking principle, and in molecular form, exactly as nature furnishes it in vegetables, fruits and grain. To supply deficiencies—this is the only law of cure."

The natural conclusion is that if Phosphate of Potash is the needed mineral element in brain and you use food which does not contain it, you have brain lag because its daily loss is not supplied.

On the contrary, if you eat food known to be rich in this element, you place before the life forces that which nature demands for brain-building.

In the trial a sneer was uttered because Mr. Post announced that he had made years of research in this country and some clinics of Europe, regarding the effect of the mind on digestion of food.

But we must be patient with those who sneer at facts they know nothing about. Mind does not work well on a brain that is broken down by lack of nourishment.

A peaceful and evenly poised mind is necessary to good digestion.

Worry, anxiety, fear, hate, &c., &c., directly interfere with or stop the flow of Ptyalin, the digestive juice of the mouth, and also interfere with the flow of the digestive juices of stomach and pancreas.

Therefore, the mental state of the individual has much to do (more than suspected) with digestion.

This trial has demonstrated:

That Brain is made of Phosphate of Potash as the principal Mineral Salt, added to albumen and water.

That Grape-Nuts contains that element as more than one-half of all its mineral salts.

A healthy brain is important, if one would "do things" in this world.

A man who sneers at "Mind" sneers at the best and least understood part of himself. That part which some folks believe links us to the Infinite.

Mind asks for a healthy brain upon which to act, and Nature has defined a way to make a healthy brain and renew it day by day as it is used up from work of the previous day.

Nature's way to rebuild is by the use of food which supplies the things required.

BOILER BURSTS; 16 ARE KILLED

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION AT MORWOOD LAKE ICE COMPANY'S PLANT.

PROPERTY LOSS SMALL

TWO OF THE INJURED MAY DIE IN THE MERCY HOSPITAL.

Pittsfield, Mass.—The lives of sixteen workmen were ended Thursday by the explosion of a boiler at the plant of the Morwood Lake Ice Company at Morwood Lake, two miles south of here. Twelve men were instantly killed, one died shortly after the accident and three others died in the hospital.

In addition twelve men were injured, and it is said at the House of Mercy, the hospital to which they were removed, that two of the patients may die.

State Officer H. A. McNeill was assigned by the Massachusetts police officials to make a thorough investigation of the explosion.

At a meeting of the City Council resolutions were adopted calling for immediate action to supply the wants of the fatherless and injured. Upon the suggestion of Mayor Maslunas, a subscription paper was started and in a short time nearly $3,000 had been subscribed. United States Senator Crane, whose home is near here, headed the list with $500.

Gathered in groups about the boiler building, which was some distance from the ice houses, were about 125 men, mostly Poles and Italians, awaiting the chance to earn a few dollars by cutting ice. With a crash heard for miles around, the boiler burst.

Bodies of men and fragments of iron and timber were hurled through the air. Those of the workmen who were not killed outright were seriously hurt or dazed.

The entire monetary loss will not exceed $500.

Bank Books Ordered Changed.

Washington.—Disclosures following the forced liquidation of the Quana National bank of Quana, Texas, caused the comptroller of the currency to issue an order directing every one of the 7,100 national banks in the United States to install what practically amounts to a uniform system of bookkeeping. Investigation disclosed that the bank had been doing business for the last two years, although undoubtedly insolvent and although inspected at regular intervals by national bank examiners. Within that time the examiners were unable to learn the bank's true condition, largely because the management refused to keep a proper record of its transactions. It also showed that the entire capital of $50,000 and probably some of the $38,000 surplus was paid out to stockholders as dividends.

Very Cold in the South.

Louisville, Ky.—Unusually cold weather, with freezing temperatures almost to the gulf, prevails throughout a large portion of the South. The cold wave follows closely upon the heels of a general weather disturbance which took the form of a thunderstorm in the central valleys and snow in northern Texas. Snow fell early throughout the Texas Panhandle, and a severe wind and rainstorm prevailed along the gulf coast.

Hoxsey Flies Over Peak.

Los Angeles.—Arch Hoxsey, of Pasadena, Calif., holder of the present world's altitude record of 11,474 feet, flew over Mount Wilson, the highest peak of the mountain range which rims the valley in which Los Angeles, Pasadena and the towns of the Orange belt lie. Under ideal weather conditions he soared 10,005 feet into the sky and cleared the crest of Mount Wilson, the highest peak of the mountain with 4,200 feet to spare, and returning here, landed safely, but nearly frozen.

Fined $200 for Hugging Wife.

Kansas City.—Jay B. Jordan, a telegraph operator, was fined $200 for hugging his wife so hard as to break two of her ribs. Jordan was arrested on complaint of his wife, who told a policeman that her husband was cruel to her.

LITTLE NEW MEXICO ITEMS.

Minor Occurrences of More Than Ordinary Interest.

A man in Vaughn is agin' the constitution because he doesn't like the name New Mexico.

N. C. Parker of Obar is building a large storage reservoir for watering stock and for irrigation purposes.

Portales valley has secured its irrigation project, which is without doubt one of the best in the United States.

Governor Mills has ordered the Mounted Police to enforce the Sunday closing laws as to saloons in Santa Fe.

Mr. H. R. Herndon states that the Denver and Galveston railroad will surely be built from Las Vegas to Vaughn.

Charley Hayes and Harley Johann dug two wells on their own places near Obar and got plenty of water at less than seventy feet.

James Coleman, living twelve miles north of Roswell, found a hole twenty feet deep on his claim with a running stream of water at the bottom.

City Physician Solomon L. Burton has determined that from this time on the health ordinances of the city of Albuquerque shall be rigidly enforced.

F. M. Smith, better known as "Alfalfa" Smith, has been appointed United States commissioner at Mt. Vernon in the southeastern part of Roosevelt county.

A bone fifty-four inches in length, weighing seventy-five pounds and plainly the thigh bone of some prehistoric animal, was recently found near Roswell.

E. E. Bell, railroad detective for the Rock Island, at Duran, carried ten hobos from the coal chutes to Vaughn and sheriff Casaus took nine to Santa Rosa along with Lee and Mandril.

A Southwestern New Mexico Teachers' Association is the latest addition to the teachers' associations of New Mexico. This is an association of the teachers of Grant, Sierra, Luna and Dona Ana counties.

Land Commissioner R. P. Ervien and the territorial engineer, accompanied by Chairman Farr of the county commissioners of Socorro county, recently left for Mogollon on a good roads inspection expedition.

Francisco Ramos, a Mexican sheep herder who has been working for Hugh Davis on the latter's sheep ranch forty miles north of Roswell, was put in jail for taking a shot with a Winchester rifle at his employer.

Almost a million and a half dollars were in the twenty-six county treasuries of New Mexico on December 1st, according to Traveling Auditor Charles V. Safford, the largest sum on record. Four counties had more than $100,000.

Sal M. Owens, accused of issuing checks for some $5,000 or $6,000 on a bank in which it is alleged he had only a little over $80, waived preliminary examination in Roswell and gave bond for his appearance before the next grand jury.

The Western Clay & Gypsum Products Company, which will consolidate several cement plants in the Southwest, filed articles of incorporation in Santa Fe. The capitalization is $1,000,000 and the headquarters at Ancho, Lincoln county.

After a thorough investigation it has been found that the loss sustained in the robbery at Tinnie, Lincoln county, is greater than at first reported. The postoffice itself was robbed of $60 in cash, Ramond's store of $40 in cash and about $85 in goods.

The Brent oil well at Shamrock, near Alamogordo, was dynamited recently in the hope that oil would be uncovered. The well was then on the 1,800 foot level. A charge of 100 pounds, sixty-five per cent dynamite, was exploded in the well. Water was thrown to a height of seventy-five feet, but no oil found.

The fires in the engine room at the Raton brick plant have been rekindled after a six months' period of inactivity, and the machinery given a thorough overhauling, preparatory to the making of brick, which will begin just as soon as the plant's new superintendent, Mr. R. Dill, of Denver, arrives to take charge of operations.

At a largely attended meeting of citizens from Southwestern Colorado and Northwestern New Mexico, held at Durango, Colo., an organization was formed to promote the interests of the entire section. This organization is called the San Juan Congress, and representatives include the counties of La Plata, San Juan, Montezuma, Dolores and Archuleta and San Juan county, New Mexico.

Harry Glenn, aged 18, son of the late Deputy Sheriff Thomas Glenn, who shot and killed himself in Deming on October 7th last, shot himself through the head in Mogollon recently, from the effects of which he died in the Ladies' hospital at Silver City. The lad admitted during the intervals of consciousness that he did the act with suicidal intent but that he did not know why he did it.

THE LURE OF THE FUR

MAKES UNFAILING APPEAL TO WOMEN OF TASTE.

Introduction of Fur Accessories or Trimmings Necessary to Place Cloak, Suit or Gown in its Winter Class.

There is something about combination of fur and lace or fur and other sheer fabrics that makes an unending appeal to women of elegant taste. It is as if it were always summer in the gay land of fashionables and the introduction of fur necessary to place the coat or wrap or gown in the winter season. Therefore we have draped gowns showing chiffon with fur border or the finest, and most charming, of net or chiffon sleeves finished with bands of fur. There is a hint of the regal in fine furs and wearing them lends an "air" to the costume which is over with fine lace. Tennyson reminds us that "splendor, dear to women" marks the choice of their apparel.

Fur is everywhere introduced in millinery, scarfs, gowns and fancy muffs. The fad of the season is hat and muff to match with a satin scarf which may or may not be bordered with fur.

The pretty lady in décolleté gown with big fur muff and hat, may appear at once inconsistent and charming to the masculine observer, but she is not really depending on her fur accessories as a means of keeping warm. She is wearing them for effect and provides herself this season with an ample and enveloping cloak, worn in the fashion of an Indian blanket, and made for real warmth. This apparent shapelessness in cloaks is another instance of deceptive appearances for every fold in the drapery is carefully considered by the maker.

All those who possess good furs should take the best care of them. They are growing more precious from year to year, as the demand outruns the supply. But in millinery there will be no lack for millinery furs are clever imitations, as a rule.

New Table Mats.

Embossed table mats, covers and pillow tops are used this season by all up-to-date housekeepers. These are in two layers, the upper one being embossed. These come in two tones of the same color.

LARGER WAISTS IN STYLE

Paris Made the Law and Everyone Has Followed It Joyously.

Most certainly very small waists are not today a necessity in beauty culture; indeed, some classic statures dressed in Parisian modes might pass muster now; twenty-six inches is none too big, even twenty-eight inches.

Paris made the law, and every one followed it joyously; even the stays, pull as you may, will not give you a small waist. It is even rumored that Frenchwomen pad the front of the figure, to cause it to appear straight. It is not the waist we have to reduce, but the hips; the one desideratum is to keep them to the straight line.

Catherine de Medici, when she introduced the bone corset, made thirteen inches the right size for the waist, and many a woman at court sacrificed her life to attain it. There is no necessity to have long bones to keep in the hips; coutil or brocade may be cut so as to confine the dimensions. Digestive organs are now left full and easy play; but we do not want to get too tubelike, which seems the special danger of the moment.

DASHING LITTLE ULSTER.

This dashing little ulster model might be used for a storm coat or a quite smart garment of cloth or velvet. Here the material employed is a novelty wool coating in red and brown, a handsome satin in the same red lining the garment all through.

Embroidery Substitute.

This season of lovely and costly flowered chiffons and nets, the girl who sighs for them in vain can evolve a creditable substitute if she is skilled with her needle.

Let her embroider on Paris muslin or handkerchief linen flowers and foliage in any color and size preferred. These can be worked in Kensington stitch and shade, but Wallachian stitch is rapid and easy.

The sprays can then be applied to Brussels net for blouses or whole gowns. The work can also be done directly on chiffon by basting tissue paper underneath to give body to the embroidery. The paper is easily pulled away later.

Many different kinds of flowers are found in the patterns for Wallachian embroidery and the ingenuity of the worker will show how they can be artistically applied.

The flowers can be embroidered in a single tone to give monochrome effects, but it is newer to shade them and not much more trouble.

New Hatpins.

Among the newest hatpins are those mounted with birds' heads, small tufts of fancy feathers, a pair of tiny outspread wings and a hundred and one other varieties.

Aeroplane racing, probably the most thrilling of all aerial sports, was initiated in Los Angeles. Eugene Ely, in a sixty-horsepower Curtiss racer, started from scratch with Phillip O. Parmelee, in the "baby Wright," and defeated him by half a mile in an 8 3/4-mile contest.

England and France, in a speed coalition, defeated America at Los Angeles, in the first aerial derby ever run. Jas. Radley, the British speed champion, in a French Bleriot monoplane, beat Eugene Ely, driving a Curtiss racer, and Phil Parmelee, in a "baby" Wright, in an eight and three-quarter miles race.

Two men are known to be dead, four others are believed to have perished, at least fifty men, women and children were injured, and a number of small houses were wrecked by an explosion of nearly 4,000 pounds of powder in a huge slag pile at the El Paso plant of the American Smelting & Refining Company.

Half a ton of gold was brought out over the trail on dog sleds to Seward, Alaska, by a party of five miners who arrived from the Idiorod district. This is the camp's clean-up since the close of navigation for the winter. The gold will be sent to the government assay office at Seattle. Members of the party say the trail is rough, making hard work for the heavy laden dog teams.

Impetus to the movement for a permanent tariff commission was given by conferences at the White House and the capitol, the return of Representative Longworth of Ohio in Washington with a full draft of a bill creating a commission and by announcement of Chairman Payne of the House committee on ways and means that he expected such legislation before March 4th.

Immediate formulation of Panama canal legislation practically was decided upon at a conference at the White House between President Taft, Secretary Knox, Secretary Dickinson, Senator Flint of California, chairman of the Senate committee of inter-oceanic canals; Senator Brandegee of Connecticut, also a member of that committee, and Representative Mann of Illinois, chairman of the House committee on interstate and foreign commerce.

HIRAM CARPENTER'S WONDERFUL CURE OF PSORIASIS.

"I have been afflicted for twenty years with an obstinate skin disease, called by some M. D.'s psoriasis, and others leprosy, commencing on my scalp; and in spite of all I could do, with the help of the most skillful doctors, it slowly but surely extended until a year ago this winter it covered my entire person in the form of dry scales. For the last three years I have been unable to do any labor, and suffering intensely all the time. Every morning there would be nearly a dust-pailful of scales taken from the sheet on my bed, some of them half as large as the envelope containing this letter. In the latter part of winter my skin commenced cracking open. I tried everything, almost, that could be thought of, without any relief. The 12th of June I started West, in hopes I could reach the Hot Springs. I reached Detroit and was so low I thought I should have to go to the hospital, but finally got as far as Lansing, Mich., where I had a sister living. One Dr. — treated me about two weeks, but did me no good. All thought I had but a short time to live. I earnestly prayed to die. Cracked through the skin all over my back, across my ribs, arms, hands, limbs; feet badly swollen; toe-nails came off; finger-nails dead and hard as a bone; hair dead, dry and lifeless as old straw. O my God! how I did suffer.

"My sister wouldn't give up; said, 'We will try Cuticura.' Some was applied to one hand and arm. Eureka! there was relief; stopped the terrible burning sensation from the word go. They immediately got Cuticura Resolvent, Ointment and Soap. I commenced by taking Cuticura Resolvent three times a day after meals; had a bath once a day, water about blood heat; used Cuticura Soap freely; applied Cuticura Ointment morning and evening. Result: returned to my home in just six weeks from the time I left, and my skin as smooth as this sheet of paper. Hiram E. Carpenter, Henderson, N. Y."

The above remarkable testimonial was written January 19, 1880, and is republished because of the permanency of the cure. Under date of April 22, 1910, Mr. Carpenter wrote from his present home, 610 Walnut St. So., Lansing, Mich.: "I have never suffered a return of the psoriasis and although many years have passed I have not forgotten the terrible suffering I endured before using the Cuticura Remedies."

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

Remington REPEATING RIFLE

We are just as proud of the REMINGTON .22 Repeaters as we are of the Remington Big Game high power rifles—for just as good reasons. No other make of the .22 class is built to as high a standard.

The features that place the REMINGTON .22 in a class by itself are the real big-REMINGTON features—Hammerless and Solid Breech. You clean the barrel from the breech—not forcing the dirt back into the working parts as in other .22's, insuring life-time usefulness and maintaining constant shooting condition.

There is perhaps a greater difference between the REMINGTON and other .22 Repeaters than is to be found between rifles of any other class.

WHEN A MAN MARRIES

BY MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
AUTHOR OF THE CIRCULAR STAIRCASE
THE MAN IN LOWER TEN, ETC.

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

SYNOPSIS.

James Wilson or Jimmy as he is called by his friends, Jimmy was rotund and looked shorter than he really was. His ambition in life was to be taken seriously, but people steadily refused to do so, his art is considered a huge joke, except to himself, if he asked people to dinner everyone expected a frolic. Jimmy marries Bella Knowles; they live together a year and are divorced. Jimmy's friends arrange to celebrate the first anniversary of his divorce.

"My dear," she said over the telephone, when I invited her, "I want you to know him. He'll be crazy about you. That type of man, big and deadly earnest, always falls in love with your type of girl, the appealing sort, you know. And he has been too busy, up to now, to know what love is. But mind, don't hurt him; he's a dear boy. I'm half in love with him myself, and Dallas trots around at his heels like a poodle."

But all Anne's geese are swans, so I thought little of the Harbison man except to hope that he played respectable bridge, and wouldn't mark the cards with a steel spring under his finger nail, as one of her "funds" had done.

We all arrived about the same time, and Anne and I went upstairs together to take off our wraps in what had been Bella's dressing room. It was Anne who noticed the violets.

"Look at that!" she nudged me, when the maid was examining her wrap before she laid it down. "What did I tell you, Kit? He's still quite mad about her."

Jim had painted Bella's portrait while they were going up the Nile on their wedding trip. It looked quite like her, if you stood well off in the middle of the room and if the light came from the right. And just beneath it, in a silver case, was a bunch of violets. It was really touching, and violets were fabulous. It made me want to cry, and to shake Bella soundly, and to go down and pat Jim on his generous shoulder, and tell him what a good fellow I thought him, and that Bella wasn't worth the dust under his feet. I don't know much about psychology, but it would be interesting to know just what effect those violets and my sympathy for Jim had in influencing my decision a half-hour later. It is not surprising, under the circumstances, that for some time after the odor of violets made me ill.

We all met downstairs in the living room, quite informally, and Dallas was banging away at the piano, tramping the pedals with the delicacy and feeling of a football center-rush kicking a goal. Mr. Harbison was standing near the fire, a little away from the others, and he was all that Anne had said and more in appearance. He was tall—not too tall, and very straight. And after one got past the oddity of his face being bronze-colored above his white collar, and of his brown hair being sun-bleached on top until it was almost yellow, one realized that he was very handsome. He had what one might call a resolute nose and chin, and a pleasant, rather humorous, mouth. And he had blue eyes that were, at that moment, wandering with interest over the lot of us. Somebody shouted his name to me above the Tristan and Isolde music, and I held out my hand.

Instantly I had the feeling one sometimes has, of having done just that same thing, with the same surroundings, in the same place, years before. I was looking up at him, and he was staring down at me and holding my hand. And then the music stopped and he was saying:

"Where was it?"

"Where was what?" I asked. The feeling was stronger than ever with his voice.

"I beg your pardon," he said, and let my hand drop. "Just for a second I had an idea that we had met before somewhere, a long time ago. I suppose—no, it couldn't have happened, or I should remember." He was smiling, half at himself.

"No," I smiled back at him. "It didn't happen, I'm afraid—unless we dreamed it."

"We?"

"I felt that way, too, for a moment."

"The Brushwood Boy!" he said with conviction. "Perhaps we will find a common dream life, where we knew each other. You remember the Brushwood Boy loved the girl for years before they really met." But this was a little too rapid, even for me.

"Nothing so sentimental, I'm afraid," I retorted. "I have had exactly the same sensation sometimes when I have sneezed."

picture. Anne pounced on me at once.

"Isn't he delicious?" she demanded. "Did you ever see such shoulders? And such a nose? And he thinks we are parasites, cumbers of the earth, heaven knows what. He says every woman ought to know how to earn her living, in case of necessity! I said I could make enough at bridge, and he thought I was joking! He's a dear!" Anne was enthusiastic.

I looked after him. Oddly enough the feeling that we had met before struck me. Which was ridiculous, of course, for we learned afterward that the nearest we ever came to meeting was that our mothers had been school friends! Just then I saw Jim beckoning to me crazily from the den. He looked quite yellow, and he had been running his fingers through his hair.

"For heaven's sake, come in, Kit!" he said. "I need a cool head. Didn't I tell you this is my calamity day?"

"Cook gone?" I asked with interest. I was starving.

He closed the door and took up a tragic attitude in front of the fire. "Did you ever hear of Aunt Selina?" he demanded.

"I knew there was one," I ventured, mindful of certain gossip as to whence Jimmy derived the Wilson income.

Jim himself was too worried to be cautious. He waved a brazen hand at the snug room, at the Japanese prints on the walls, at the rugs, at the

"When I got married," Jim persisted, "Aunt Selina doubled my allowance. I always expected to sell something, and begin to make money, and in the meantime what she advanced I considered as a loan." He was eying me defiantly, but I was growing serious. It was evident from the preamble that something was coming.

"To understand, Kit," he went on dubiously, "you would have to know her. She won't stand for divorce. She thinks it is a crime."

"What!" I sat up. I have always regarded divorce as essentially disagreeable, like castor oil, but necessary.

"Oh, you know well enough what I'm driving at," he burst out savagely. "She doesn't know Bella has gone. She thinks I am living in a little domestic heaven, and—she is coming tonight to hear me flap my wings."

"Tonight?"

I don't think Jimmy had known that Dallas Brown had come in and was listening. I am sure I had not. Hearing his chuckle at the doorway brought us up with a jerk.

"Where has Aunt Selina been for the last two or three years?" he asked easily.

Jim turned, and his face brightened. "Europe. Look here, Dal, you're a smart chap. She'll only be here about four hours. Can't you think of some way to get me out of this? I want to let her down easy, too. I'm mighty fond of Aunt Selina. Can't we—can't I say Bella has a headache?"

"Rotten!" laconically.

"Gone out of town?" Jim was desperate.

"And you with a houseful of dinner guests! Try again, Jim."

"I have it," Jim said suddenly. "Dallas, ask Anne if she won't play hostess for tonight. Be Mrs. Wilson pro tem. Anne would love it. Aunt Selina never saw Bella. Then, afterward, next year, when I'm hung in the Academy and can stand on my feet—" ("Not if you're hung," Dallas inter-

"I shall do nothing of the sort!" I snapped. "It's ridiculous!"

"I dare you!" said Dallas.

I refused. I stood like a rock while the storm surged around me and beat over me. I must say for Jim that he was merely pathetic. He said that my happiness was first; that he would not give me an uncomfortable minute for anything on earth; and that Bella had been perfectly right to leave him, because he was a sinking ship, and deserved to be turned out penniless into the world. After which mixed figure, he poured himself something to drink, and his hands were shaking.

Dal and Anne stood on each side of him and patted him on the shoulders, and glared across at me. I felt that if I was a rock, Jim's ship had struck on me and was sinking, as he said, because of me. I began to crumble.

"What—what time does she leave?" I asked, wavering.

"Ten: nine; Kit, are you going to do it?"

"No!" I gave a last clutch at my resolution. "People who do that kind of thing always get into trouble. She might miss her train. She's almost certain to miss her train."

"You're temporizing," Dallas said sternly. "We won't let her miss her train; you can be sure of that."

"Jim," Anne broke in suddenly, "hasn't she a picture of Bella. There's not the faintest resemblance between Bella and Kit."

Jim became downcast again. "I sent her a miniature of Bella a couple of years ago," he said despondently. "Did it myself."

But Dal said he remembered the miniature, and it looked more like me than Bella, anyhow. So we were just where we started. And down inside of me I had a premonition that I was going to do just what they wanted me to do, and get into all sorts of trouble, and not be thanked for it after all. Which was entirely correct. And then Leila Mercer came and banged at the door and said that dinner had been announced ages ago and that everybody was famishing. With the hurry and stress, and poor Jim's distracted face, I weakened.

"I feel like a cross between an idiot and a criminal," I said shortly, "and I don't know particularly why every one thinks I should be the victim for the sacrifice. But if you will promise to get her off early to her train, and if you will stand by me and not leave me alone with her, I—I might try it."

"Of course, we'll stand by you!" they said in chorus. "We won't let you stick!" And Dal said, "You're the right sort of girl, Kit. And after it's all over, you'll realize that it's the biggest kind of lark. Think how you are saving the old lady's feelings! When you are an elderly person yourself, Kit, you will appreciate what you are doing tonight."

Yes, they said they would stand by me, and that I was a heroine and the only person there clever enough to act the part, and that they wouldn't let me stick! I am not bitter now, but that is what they promised. Oh, I am not defending myself; I suppose I deserved everything that happened. But they told me that she would be there only between trains, and that she was deaf, and that I had an opportunity to save a fellow-being from ruin. So in the end I capitulated.

When they opened the door into the living room, Max Reed had arrived and was helping to hide a decanter and glasses, and somebody said a cab was at the door.

And that was the way it began.
(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Novels by Weight.

Bernard Shaw's latest contribution to the world's fund of wisdom is the suggestion that fiction be sold, or bought by weight. This certainly is Mr. Shaw's profoundest utterance. It marks the acme of his greatness as a sage. By all means buy it by weight, then there can be very little ground for complaint at the high price of novels. Moreover, it will be in direct line with this popular movement to buy groceries by weight, as a means of solving the high-cost-of-living problem and getting one's money's worth.

Perhaps, also, this Shaw system will have the desired effect of limiting the output of bringing the supply somewhere near the demand. The present method of buying it by the yard seems utterly to have failed in this achievement. That means of measurement has not even proved wholly successful with reference to Dr. Elliot's five-foot book shelf, which, of course, no one but Shaw ever would have thought of buying by the pound.

He Knows What's What.

"Say, we've come to ask you to be our candidate for congress."

"Eh! Well, well! Thank you, boys, I'll run if the Old Guard will let me."

"Hold on. You're not as much of a hidebound partisan as that, are you?"

"Partisan? Of course not. I'm talking about my wife."

Veteran "Office Girl."

Mrs. Harriet M. Martin, of Newcastle, N. H., who is 93 years old, is the oldest "office girl" in the world, it is believed. For many years she has been in charge of a doctor's office in that town.

READERS WANT FACTS

It Pays Best to Take the Newspaper That Prints the Largest Amount of Fresh and Reliable News

It costs an immense amount of money to publish a modern metropolitan daily. Such a journal reaches a vast number of people, and its usefulness, if it is a purveyor of genuine and important news, is beyond estimate. Each issue is a volume of the up-to-date history of the world. People will often bear with scandal, falsehood and all that "yellow journalism" implies if, along with the things they detest, they get the news they want. Some publishers are wont to boast that they get two "scarehead" items where there should be none—by printing a lie one day and "taking it back" the next. But this is an insult to the intelligence of their readers.

There are newspapers that are conscientious in getting at the real facts and telling the plain truth. Such a newspaper is a fountain of satisfaction. If it prints rumors which are important if true, but which cannot be verified at the moment, it prints them as rumors and does not go into hysterics over them. Josh Billings said that "it is better not to know quite so many things than to know a lot of things that are not so"—or words to that effect.

In all parts of the country the Denver Republican is noted for its efficiency as a news gatherer and its impartiality in stating the facts. And even those who do not agree with it politically are for this reason frequently warmest in its praise. On its editorial and news staff are men of experience and judgment, who can usually spot a false statement as soon as it reaches them. They are not "tenderfeet," but men for many years in touch with the great interests of the Rocky Mountain region. In all this region there is no other paper that publishes during the year so great a number of important items of news. Its correspondents, who thoroughly cover all sections of Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico and adjacent regions, are the most enterprising and reliable that it is possible to secure.

In the place of inane "Funnies" the Republican publishes the best of literary matter and the most entertaining of fiction. The illustrations in its Sunday magazine are by the best artists, photographers and engravers. Its cartoons are humorous and pointed without being grotesque.

The various departments of the Republican include fresh news and carefully selected matter for the farmer, the miner, the workman, the housewife, the children, the student and the business man, in whatever line—for all who want to keep posted.

The Republican's market reports are extensive and reliable. Whoever has anything to buy or sell should consult them daily. In one sale or one purchase the subscriber may often save or make many times the price of a year's subscription.

The Republican is in sympathy with every honest movement to build up the Great West. It has no use for charlatans and their "get rich quick" schemes.

It is a newsy newspaper, a reliable newspaper, and a clean newspaper. "Once a subscriber, always a subscriber," may be said of its patrons. The subscription price of the Republican is 75 cents a month for the daily, including the Sunday edition and Magazine, and one dollar a year for the weekly. Address

"All this," he said comprehensively, "every bite I eat, clothes I wear, drinks I drink—you needn't look like that; I don't drink so darned much—everything comes from Aunt Selina—buttons," he finished with a groan.

"Selina Buttons," I said reflectively. "I don't remember ever having known any one named Buttons, although I had a cat once—"

"Damn the cat!" he said rudely. "Her name isn't Buttons. Her name is Caruthers, my Aunt Selina Caruthers, and the money comes from buttons."

"Oh," feebly.

"It's an old business," he went on, with something of proprietary pride. "My grandfather founded it in 1775. Made buttons for the Continental army."

"Oh, yes," I said. "They melted the buttons to make bullets, didn't they? Or they melted bullets to make buttons? Which was it?"

But again he interrupted. "It's like this," he went on hurriedly. "Aunt Selina believes in me. She likes pictures, and she wanted me to paint, if I could. I'd have given up long ago—oh, I know what you think of my work—but for Aunt Selina. She has encouraged me, and she's done more than that; she's paid the bills."

"Dear Aunt Selina," I breathed.

jected.)—"I'll break the truth to her."

But Dallas was not enthusiastic.

"Anne wouldn't do at all," he declared. "She'd be talking about the kids before she knew it, and patting me on the head." He said it complacently; Anne flirts, but they are really devoted.

"One of the Mercer girls?" I suggested, but Jimmy raised a horrified hand.

"You don't know Aunt Selina," he protested. "I couldn't offer Leila in the gown she's got on, unless she wore a shawl and Betty is too fair."

Anne came in just then, and the whole story had to be told again to her. She was ecstatic. She said it was good enough for a play, and that of course she would be Mrs. Jimmy for that length of time.

"You know," she finished, "if it were not for Dal, I would be Mrs. Jimmy for any length of time. I have been devoted to you for years, Billiken."

But Dallas refused peremptorily. "I'm not jealous," he explained, straightening and throwing out his chest, "but—well, you don't look the part, Anne. You're—you are growing matronly, not—but what you suit me all right. And then I'd forget and call you 'mammy,' which would require explanation. I think it's up to you, Kit."

HOMESTEAD RULING

Department of the Interior, U. S. Land Office, Tucumcari, N. M. Dec. 16, 1910

Gentlemen:—

This office has been advised by the Assistant Commissioner of the General Land office, that the Department has, by a decision of recent date, over-ruled the decision in the case of Esberne K. Muller relative to leave of absence in commutation proof, in which it was held that,—

"Commutation is allowed only upon a showing of substantially continuous personal presence upon the land for a period of fourteen months next preceding submission of proof; and residence prior to a period of absence under leave of absence granted the entryman cannot be added to residence subsequent to that period to make up the necessary fourteen months."

And that the practice in regard to leaves of absence is now the same as before the Muller decision, that is, that a leave of absence will not break the continuity of residence if the entryman returns to his land and re-establishes his residence before the expiration of leaves of absence.

Very respectfully,
R. A. Prentice, Register.
