CONSTITUTION CARRIES

Overwhelming Majority Given Constitution Throughout The Territory

LINCOLN COUNTY IS AGAINST

The Constitution as compiled by the one hundred delegates who adjourned November 23rd has been accepted by the people with an overwhelming majority and immediate statehood is assured us by those in a position to know. Eighteen thousand votes is the majority given the Constitution by figures compiled from the returns from the various counties of the territory but this figure may be lowered or raised after the vote has been more carefully canvassed. Lincoln county was one of the few counties which went against the Constitution and the vote here was very evenly divided, a majority of seven votes against was the result as near as can be stated from the returns received over the telephone from the various precincts. Carrizozo rolled up a majority of 39 votes for the constitution; 115 votes being cast "For" the Constitution in this precinct and 76 "Against."

A general get together movement is under way throughout the new state and party lines and pros and cons are being eliminated and all are combining to assist in the rushing of Statehood through at this session of Congress. The general feeling seems to be that the people have undoubtedly signified a willingness to be governed by the Constitution and now for the coveted Statehood. A proposition has been voiced by the Albuquerque Journal that a Special Statehood train be run across the continent from Santa Fe to Washington carrying the returns of the election together with one hundred of New Mexico's prominent men. The affair, if carried out, as it undoubtedly will be, would be a great advertisement for the new state. The train, it is expected, could leave on February 6th, the day set to canvass the returns of the election from the various counties.

COUNTY SEAT CASE

The County Seat Case, that is, a rehearing of the old Injunction Case, will be given a hearing before the New Mexico Supreme Court Monday, January 30th. This case has no direct bearing on the quo warranto proceedings but will determine whether Injunction is "proper" or not and whether the work on the building can be continued. We expect to be able to report the opinion of the court in our next weeks issue.

—H. F. Campbell and family have returned from Monroe Wisconsin, where they have spent the past three weeks, Mr. Campbell's mother being ill.

SOME COMMANDMENTS

Ten Commandments As Suggestions to Assist Dry Farmers

ADVICE WORTHY OF NOTICE

1. Thou shalt plow deep. Let rain get into soil easily; let in big rains, without run off; provides more feeding space for plant roots; more plant foods made available

2. Thou shalt keep the surface soil loose. Keeps soil moisture from evaporating; lets rain get into soil easily; more plant food available, due to more moisture; harrow the grain after it is up two inches or use weeder.

3. Thou shalt cultivate level. Level soil has the least soil exposed to the air; more evaporation from a ridged soil; level soil will take in rainfall much faster than ridged soil; on ridged soil the rain runs off through the furrows; the soil in the ridges dries out so that the plant has less moist surface soil to draw on for food and moisture; ridging the soil is a most effective way for getting rid of both the moisture in the soil and of rainfall.

4. Thou shalt summer fallow when rainfall is less than 15 inches. The summer fallow saves up two years rain for one crop; the summer fallow kills weeds and diseases; the summer fallow should be cultivated; when rainfall is over 13 inches, corn will be as good a preparation for a crop as the bare fallow.

5. Thou shalt add organic matter to the soil. Holds moisture and plant food; improves mechanical condition of the soil; helps make plant food available; lessens drifting and blowing of the soil; lessens washing of soil; stable manure is the best form; plow weeds under when green.

6. Thou shalt keep down the weeds. Weeds use up moisture; use up plant food; crowd the plants; shade the crop; make it difficult for the plant to grow; makes it hard to work the land properly.

7. Thou shalt grow early maturing crop. Growing conditions best in early summer; winter grains better than spring grains.

8. Thou shalt grow corn, every three to five years. The cultivation given corn saves moisture; kill weed; kills plant diseases; corn's best preparation for a grain crop; corn produces fine stock food, both grain and fodder; corn produces more per acre than other crops; do not hill up the corn as this wastes the moisture.

9. Thou shalt grow clover or alfalfa every few years. Clover and alfalfa add fertility to the soil; add organic matter to the soil; kill weeds and plant diseases; produce a most valuable hay; produce very valuable seed crops.

10. Thou shalt keep stock. The most profitable way of marketing grain and fodder is through stock; they produce manure which is very necessary to the soil; they bring about prosperity.

Whoso obeys these commandments shall reap abundant crops. He who violates them shall be punished by decrease in yield in proportion to the transgression.

NOW FOR STATEHOOD

Under the enabling act the vote must be canvassed by the governor, the secretary of the territory and Chief Justice Pope on the third Monday after the vote was taken, or on February 6th. There seems no reason to doubt that this vote will be canvassed in one day. It ought not to take longer. Therefore by the night of February 6th, no complications arising, a copy of the constitution ought to leave for Washington. It would reach Washington by February 9. This would give ample time to Congress to approve or disapprove. You know a copy goes to the President and another copy goes to Congress. If both approve, we are in the Union; if the President approves and congress does not disapprove, we are also in.

By March 4 we may be in the Union. Then the President notifies Governor Mills that he has approved the constitution and will authorize him to call a state convention within 30 days. We must vote within not less than 60 and not more than 90 days. This would give us the state elections by July 1."

THE SOCIAL WHIRL

Miss Lorena Sager delightfully entertained the ladies of the Carrizozo Whist Club at her home last Wednesday afternoon. After the usual card games dainty refreshments were served the afternoon being a most enjoyable one. Mrs. F. F. Mudge was the winner of the first prize, a silver berry spoon, and Mrs. Houch was winner of the "booby" prize, a gilt edge deck of cards. Mrs. John Eric Bell, Mrs. Dr. E. B. Walker, and Mrs. Houch were the invited guests.

SPIRIT OF SOUTHWEST

Great Army of Empire Builders of This Southwest Ask No Questions

GENERAL IMPULSE 'FORWARD'

The spirit of the great Southwest is progress and the common Brotherhood of Man. Do you get the idea?

The general impulse in this great section of ours is forward. There is no opportunity here for a man to stand still and figure on what might happen if he had a million to invest and knew of a safe place to tuck it where it would bring him 100 per cent.

He must fall in line with the general trend of events, shake off the cobwebbed lethargy of accumulated years and get busy. He must get in quick touch with the virile and red-blooded empire builders who are doing business here every day in the year and demonstrate his adaptability to his surroundings.

Events wait for no man in this land of today where willing hands and sober brains can always find something worth while. Ability to catch on and willingness to become a doer of things is about all that is necessary.

The great band of empire builders who are controlling the destiny of the Southwest don't ask any questions. It makes no difference if you were a hewer of wood and a drawer of water back in the effete East. If you have the qualifications to enter the ranks of the empire builders of the Southwest the way is open to you. All you have to do is to demonstrate your ability to make good and the common Brotherhood will do the rest.

It is these facts that are building here the most magnificent domain of which human architecture is capable.

It is this spirit of the Great Southwest that is building magnificent cities, constructing great land reclamation projects, extending great railway systems, opening new mines and establishing permanent and happy homes throughout this section of the world.

It is this great spirit that has gotten down behind the rugged and uninviting exterior and is making this the most prosperous portion of the union today—the spirit of a brave and progressive people, who in their determination and the exercises of their astounding enterprise have made all these things possible.

Truly, there is much here to make a real man out of even the most unpromising individual. There is everything here to elevate his thoughts, inspire his ambition and imbue him with all the traits and attributes of desirable and honored citizenship.

The Great Southwest is calling for men. It is reaching out to the far corners of the earth and seeking to inspire recognition of the greatest and grandest opportunities ever extended to man. It promises that the spirit of the Great Southwest will make men out of all who come here and put themselves in line with the common Brotherhood of Man, and who demonstrate the fact that they are capable of taking the places that are open to them. The spirit of the Southwest will make a man out of any decent kind of material.

WITH STATEHOOD achieved, the Republican party must take a new stand on and for the progressive measures of the day, must decide the new problems that have presented themselves. The Republican party has been accustomed to take the lead in advocating wise measures adopted to the time. In New Mexico, the party has an opportunity and a responsibility. It should declare itself unequivocally on the questions that are pressing for solution.

It should favor a corrupt practices act, not because New Mexico and its people are corrupt, but to stop for all times the slanders that were being published broadcast, even as late as last week when an attempt was made at Albuquerque to use the Associated Press as a vehicle for disseminating these slanders all over the United States, an attempt, which fortunately was scotched.

It should favor a secret ballot, not too complicated for the uneducated, but secret nevertheless.

It should favor a registration law that will clean the registration lists of the names of persons who are dead, who have moved and will prevent the registration of the same man in half a dozen precincts.

It should favor direct primaries and should extend direct-legislation within constitutional limitations. It should favor all such laws which will secure a direct expression of the wishes of the majority of the voters, and will put these wishes into effect.

It should favor home rule for all municipalities. Should favor laws that will permit cities to adopt the commission form or any other form of government.

It should favor a new jury law that will prevent juries being packed with political favorites or with professional jury servers. Not that these things are being done but that they are possible.

It should favor legislation that will secure an accurate and frequent audit of the public accounts, of the books of all officials who in any way handle public moneys.

It should favor a new code of probate law, and a graded inheritance tax.

It should favor the widest publicity of the proceedings of all official bodies and boards, and strict accountability of district attorneys and law officers for the enforcement of the law.

These things will furnish a platform on which the republican party should stand squarely, should make a record. It will thus not only win votes but confidence and retain power as long as it stands for all that is clean, that is moral, that is just and that assures the rule of the people as against any other agency, combination or power.—New Mexican.

COL. BRYAN is not a candidate for nomination. The Commoner says so, and it's in a position to know.

"UNCLE JOE" CANNON thinks there are Congressmen enough, and some of us think there are entirely too many.

WHEN COL. WATTERSON said that it was hard to lose the savings of a lifetime he meant that it was distressing. It is easy enough.

A MEETING of Democrats was held in Chicago the other day, and the Record-Herald says of it; "There was not a single fist fight during the session; nobody's pocket was picked; 75 per cent of the audience wore collars."

Colorado.

The "San Juan" district showed a reduced yield in gold in 1910. In 1910 Boulder county mines again showed an increase in production. The Atlas in Ouray district continues to make very heavy shipments of concentrates daily. John Hushberger of Salida is showing ore found near that place which assays $28 to $72 per ton. During the month of December the Yankee Girl and the Brooklyn, Ouray, each shipped twenty-five tons of crude ore.

The Joker tunnel lease, Ouray, has struck a good body of ore which was exceedingly high in silver and the mill is running daily with great success. The Parkside Mining Company, Idaho Springs, is rapidly getting in form for steady production. The ore being removed is paying for developments.

According to the United States Geological Survey, preliminary figures indicate a decrease in the production of precious metals in Colorado in 1910. A strong vein of copper and silver ore has been opened on the Three R. ranch, twenty-five miles southwest of Pueblo, by J. P. Walter, an old prospector.

Owners of the Ohio property on Kelson mountain, Georgetown, have inaugurated an active campaign of development. Mill returns show $25 per ton in silver and lead. Wilson & Mottschall, leasing on the Pelican mine, Georgetown, have started shipments of high grade smelting ore, the product returning $50 to the ton in silver and lead.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Jennie Sample Gold Mining Company, Colorado Springs, a contract was let to sink the main shaft 200 feet into the Grace ore body. It is reported that the Hidden Treasure mine, one of the best known properties in Hinsdale county and well known to many mining men, is preparing to re-open on a large scale this spring.

The Lowell mill in Idaho Springs has been leased by the Colorado Metals Extraction Company of Denver, and will be remodelled at once for installation of the Motter process of ore reduction. Colorado Springs stockholders of the United Verde Extension Copper Company of Jerome, Ariz., received a telegram from Superintendent Varden telling of a rich strike of copper, gold and silver ore.

Shipments from Idaho Springs showed a gain in production in 1910 from Clear Creek county and Gilpin county mines. Upper Clear Creek mines also showed an increased output as compared with that of 1909. The Topeka mine, in Russell district, operated by H. P. Lowe has a number of sets of leasers who are keeping up regular shipments from the old levels, and as the development of new ground is prosecuted new ore chutes are being opened.

The new shaft house of No. 3 shaft of the Barber tract, near Boulder, has been completed and electrical equipment will be installed to work the property steadily with the purpose of getting from deeper workings equal values to that which has been produced above.

An important discovery is reported from the Seven-thirty mine, Georgetown. In running a drift to the east on the Seven-thirty vein a solid streak of ore, eight inches wide, has been exposed, and from a shipment of five tons returns of 410 ounces in silver to the ton and twenty-eight per cent lead were secured.

New Mexico.

At Jarilla some gold-copper operations are carried on. The Pinos Altos mine, Grant county, has been taken under option by Corrigan, McKinney & Co., and is being exploited.

At the Ernestine mines 6,431 troy ounces of refined gold and silver bullion were smelted and forty-six sacks of concentrates were produced during one week from 540 tons milled.

The United States Geological Survey reports that mining conditions in New Mexico in 1910 were favorable to an increased yield in all the metals as compared with the production of 1909. The Mogollon or Cooney district, in the southwest corner of Socorro county, contains several gold mines.

The most important development in mining in New Mexico in 1910 was in relation with the exploitations of "porphyry" copper deposits in Grant county, notably the Chino property, formerly the Santa Rita, at Santa Rita, and in the Burro Mountain district. In Otero county developments were carried on at the Tularosa and an experimental mill was erected.

LITTLE NEW MEXICO ITEMS.

Minor Occurrences of More Than Ordinary Interest.

The Boy Scouts of Albuquerque now consist of seventy-one members. The Santa Fe surveyors broke camp at Fort Sumner after completing their line from Las Vegas.

The contractor has finished the job of putting the roof on Roswell's new $50,000 high school building.

Six months or a year from now may witness the location of a colony of Boer farmers at Los Alamos.

The recent discovery of a very fine quality of paraffin oil near Tucumcari has created a furor of excitement.

Former Assistant Territorial Auditor Morton C. Miller died in Santa Fe at the age of forty-two. He was a native of Indiana.

Eight thousand dollars' worth of baled hay, the property of the C. C. Slaughter Cattle Company, was destroyed by fire near Roswell.

The Russell Mercantile Company filed incorporation papers in Santa Fe. The capitalization is $25,000 and the headquarters Knowles, Eddy county.

The safe of the Hanover Mercantile Company of Hanover was blown open recently with dynamite, and money and jewelry to the amount of about $1,000 taken.

Territorial Secretary Jaffa's report on the statehood account for the quarter ending December 31, 1910, show that $62,978.99 have been expended of the $100,000 appropriation.

In New Mexico an increase in value of gold production of nearly $145,000 is indicated by early returns. The gold mining industry of this state was generally prosperous in 1910.

Twelve thousand entries were filed in 1910 in the six federal land offices of New Mexico, covering more than 2,000,000 acres, but still leaving 36,000,000 acres of the public domain.

A change of time in the running of trains over the Santa Fe railway between Carlsbad and Pecos has been announced. The train will go south in the morning and return at night.

An enthusiastic meeting of citizens of Lake Arthur was held recently for the purpose of approving the plans and arranging the final details for the erection of a $10,000 canning factory.

R. E. Wilson, empire builder and promoter general for the Santa Fe railway, is in Albuquerque and will assist in starting the campaign for fruit raising in this section of the Rio Grande valley.

Within a few hours of each other, Edward Krumpel, aged eighty-three, a war veteran and father-in-law of Sixto Garcia, and Jose de la Cruz Garcia, aged eighty-five, father of Sixto Garcia, died in Santa Fe.

Word was received in Des Moines recently that Mrs. C. A. Miller who lived on a homestead fourteen miles west of there, had been found dead, probably from heart failure or exposure to the snow storm.

What is said to be the largest drill ever received in that section arrived in Silver City recently. It will be used in developing their water supply. The drill has a capacity of 2,500 feet with almost any size bore.

San Juan county is seeing the beginning of remarkable development. It is stated on good authority that both the Southern Pacific and El Paso Southwestern railways will commence construction toward Farmington next spring. Contracts have been let for many new irrigation projects, including the Illinois ditch system, which will reclaim 14,000 acres.

An inquisitive cat last night caused a $10,000 fire at Chillum, a settlement in the Manzano mountains, fifty miles south of Santa Fe. While the family of B. Salas was absent at a dance, the family cat overturned a lamp which had been left burning and set fire to the house. Salas' store adjoining, with its stock of merchandise, was also destroyed.

Declaring that the taxes levied for the year 1909, and collected in 1910, have been far above the average and praising the district attorneys of New Mexico for their activity in carrying out the recommendations made last January, the members of the territorial board of equalization made a report showing the collections of taxes will amount almost to ninety per cent this year.

Directors of the Elephant Butte Water Users' Association held a special meeting at the office of the secretary, N. C. Frenger at Las Cruces, the purpose of the meeting being to discuss the question of the adjudication of water rights under the government dam. It was decided that as soon as the plan can be perfected friendly suits will be brought in order to settle the questions satisfactorily to the government.

Wonderful Highland Dialect Responsible for Wrong Impression Given Divine.

Andrew Carnegie, at a dinner in New York, talked about the Scotch dialect.

"It's a hard lingo to understand," he said. "It often causes awkward mistakes."

"Once an American divine spent Christmas in a Highland inn. On Christmas morning he gave the maid a tip of a sovereign, and he said, looking earnestly at her—for she was a pretty maid—

"Do you know, Kathleen, you are a very good-looking lassie?"

"Of course Kathleen was pleased, but, being modest, she blushed like a rose and answered:

"Ah, na; Ah, na! But my kisser, sir, is beautiful!"

"The divine frowned.

"Leave the room, you wicked young baggage!" he said sternly.

"He didn't know, you see, that modest Kathleen had been simply praising in her Highland dialect, the superior charms of her cousin Janet of Peebles."

Doan's Kidney Pills Brought Health and Cheerfulness.

Mrs. J. P. Pemberton, 854 So. Lafayette St., Marshall, Mo., says: "For years I suffered from Bright's disease which the doctors said was incurable. I gradually grew weaker until I had to take to my bed. The kidney secretions were suppressed, I became terribly bloated, and finally reached the point where I took no interest in life. It was at this time I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and soon improved. When I had used 12 boxes I was without a sign of the trouble which seemed to be carrying me to my grave. Calumet has been backed for years by an offer of $1,000 for any substance injurious to health found in the baking prepared with it.

Does not this and the fact that it complies with all pure food laws, both State and National, prove that Calumet is absolutely pure?

With the purity question settled—then Calumet is undoubtedly the best Baking Powder. It contains more leavening power; it is more uniform—every can is the same. It assures better results—and is moderate in price.

The Shadow of Science.
 It is hard to believe that a shadow is probably the origin of all astronomical, geometrical and geographical science. The first man who fixed his staff perpendicularly in the ground and measured its shadow was the earliest computer of time, and the Arab of today who plants his spear in the sand marks where the shadow falls is his direct descendant. It is from the shadow of a gnomon that the early Egyptians told the length of the year. It is from the shadow of a gnomon that the inhabitants of Upper Egypt still measure the hours of work for a water wheel. In this case the gnomon is a lhurra stalk supported on forked uprights and points north and south. East and west are pegs in the ground, evenly marking the space of earth between sunrise and sunset. In a land of constant sunshine a shadow was the primitive chronometer. It was also the primitive foot rule.

A Deadly Error.
 Dr. W. B. Cannon of Harvard, discussing anti-vivisection literature at a dinner in New York, said with a smile:
 "This literature, in part at least, is as flagrantly erroneous as the medical department conducted by a young college girl in a weekly paper. A sample reply in this department ran:
 "Bereaved.—The reply given last week was a mistake. It should have been ten drops of laudanum, not ten cups of laudanum. Yes, we advocate cremation rather than the old-fashioned burial."

ELY LANDS ON DECK OF CRUISER

AVIATOR, IN CURTISS BIPLANE, PERFORMS WONDERFUL FEAT.

WAS WITHOUT MISHAP

AFTER LEAVING CRUISER RETURNS TO AVIATION FIELD.

San Francisco.—Flying a Curtiss racing biplane, Eugene B. Ely Wednesday made a successful landing on the cruiser Pennsylvania, and an hour later rose from the deck and flew back to Selfridge field twelve miles away. The feat was accomplished without mishap.

Not a wire or bolt of the delicate mechanism was injured, and the seeming ease of the whole performance lessened the spectacular effect. "It was easy enough," said Ely, as he stepped from his seat and was seized by the cheering soldiers of the Thirtieth infantry and hoisted on their shoulders. "I think the trick could be successfully turned nine times out of ten."

Ely's flight was a feature of the program of the aviation meet which is in progress here.

Adverse weather had caused postponement of the attempt from day to day, but when Ely reached Selfridge field and sized up atmospheric conditions as favorable, he at once decided to make a try at it. The day was smoky, but windless, and the air heavy.

It was just 10:45 o'clock when he left the ground. His motor worked perfectly and after a few trying-out circles he headed northeastward and swept over the San Bruno hills and disappeared.

In the meantime the wireless had notified the cruiser, at anchor with the fleet in the bay, that he would make the attempt, and final preparations were made for his reception.

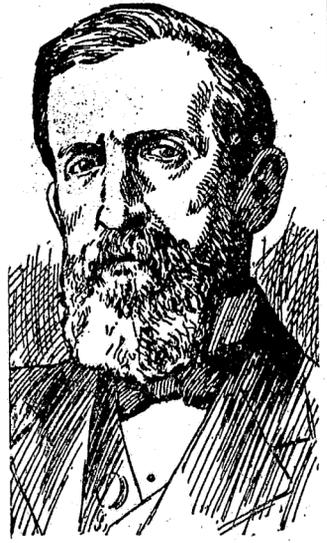

Ely had installed two seven-foot pontoons under his lower planes to float the machine in case he was forced to descend on the water, and forward he had built a hydroplane to keep the aeroplane from diving.

At 10:58 the lookout on the Pennsylvania sighted the flyer through the haze and the ship's siren roared a blast of welcome. He came on at terrific speed and a moment later circled around the fleet, dipping in salute to each ship and came up in the wind for the stern of the Pennsylvania. He was flying low as he neared the ship and dropped down as lightly as a gull, striking the platform about forty feet from the end. The hooks which had been arranged in the center pieces of the aeroplane did their work perfectly and the machine was brought to a stop within twenty-five feet.

When Ely touched the deck he was going at the rate of about thirty-five miles an hour, but so gradually was the speed checked by the dragging of the sand bags that they were picked up in succession that he came to a standstill without disarranging any part of the machine.

Figures obtained from the British naval authorities recently show that 1911 will break all records for battleship launchings and naval activities. These figures show that every nine days, from February to December 31st, a new dreadnaught will take the water in some part of the globe. In other words, thirty-six dreadnaughts will be launched this year, or only two less than the total number afloat. In addition, innumerable cruisers, torpedo boats, destroyers, submarines, etc., will be launched by all the big powers. Great Britain alone will send sixty-one of these war craft into the water.

In open meeting in New York twenty-five of the largest wholesale dealers in butter, cheese, eggs and poultry confessed to each other that their efforts to force the public to pay high prices for produce had failed, and that their campaign had brought them face to face with an impending loss on butter alone of almost $3,000,000. At the same time it was announced that the cold storage warehouses were so overcrowded that prices were being forced down in a sensational way and that the slump in the last two weeks had brought butter, eggs and certain grades of cheese to the lowest figures that had prevailed in seven years. There has been an average fall of about 33 1/2% in prices in the last year.

STATE NEWS

OF INTEREST TO ALL NEW MEXICO PEOPLE

Look for Old Monuments. Santa Fe.—Upon orders of the Department of the Interior, United States Examiner Kirkpatrick of this city, left for El Paso with surveyors to locate, if possible, the old monuments along the Texas-New Mexico boundary.

Year's Business Failures. Albuquerque.—There were only fifteen business failures in New Mexico in 1910, with total assets of $113,062 involved, and liabilities of $136,028. This was one less failure than in the preceding year. There was not a single bank failure.

Will Build Cannery. Albuquerque.—Lake Arthur citizens in a mass meeting approved plans for a $10,000 canning factory, to be built at once. Pecos valley fruit raisers believe in canning their products at home and several canneries are to be built soon in the valley.

Will Subdivide Large Tract. Santa Fe.—One hundred thousand acres of the land holdings of the Santa Fe company in Curry county have been purchased by Hugo Seaberg, an attorney of Raton. The land is in one tract northeast of Melrose, and the new owner will colonize it, bore for artesian water, install pumping plants and irrigation systems, lay out town-sites and establish a beet sugar factory.

Record Breaking Snows. Albuquerque.—Record-breaking snows are reported in northern New Mexico, especially in Rio Arriba and Taos county, and parties returning from these districts say that a large volume of water in the Rio Grande this spring is assured. Trains were snowbound on the Denver & Rio Grande near Chama for several days, and in the mountain canons the snow is said to be the heaviest in years.

Paraffin Oil Found. Albuquerque.—A sensational strike of high grade paraffin oil is reported from Tucumcari, N. M., and three companies have been organized to develop the supply. Several wells have encountered oil at three different depths and the richness of the field is to be thoroughly tested by a 2,000-foot well, for which machinery is now being installed. Experts who have examined the oil say it is of the finest quality.

Sugar Company Builds Road. Portales.—A fifty-mile electric line between Portales and Taiban, is to be built by the American Sugar Company in connection with its proposition for sugar beet growing in eastern New Mexico, which is being rapidly taken up by farmers around Portales, Taiban, Tolar and elsewhere. A total of 50,000 acres to be planted in sugar beets next year has already been contracted for, a factory will be built and the industry established on a large scale in eastern New Mexico, where the soil and climate conditions have been demonstrated to be as good as the best in Colorado.

New Modern Schools. Albuquerque.—The fact that a total of approximately $300,000 is being spent this year in New Mexico for fine modern school buildings was one interesting fact gleaned from an interview with Territorial Superintendent of Public Instruction James E. Clark of Santa Fe. Other interesting statements by Mr. Clark were that there will be no radical changes in the text books this year; that 1,400 out of 1,600 teachers attended the county institutes during the past year and that under the splendid school provisions of the new constitution $100,000 will become immediately available for the schools, or $1 per capita for the 100,000 school pupils of New Mexico.

Land Office Ruling. Department of the Interior, U. S. Land Office, Tucumcari, N. M. This office has been advised by the Assistant Commissioner of the General Land Office, that the Department has, by a decision of recent date, overruled the decision in the case of Esberne K Muller relative to leave of absence in commutation proof, in which it was held that, "Commutation is allowed only upon a showing of substantially continuous personal presence upon the land for a period of fourteen months next preceding submission of proof; and residence prior to a period of absence under leave of absence granted the entryman cannot be added to residence subsequent to that period to make up the necessary fourteen months." And that the practice in regard to leaves of absence is now the same as before the Muller decision, that is, that a leave of absence will not break the continuity of residence if the entryman returns to his land and re-establishes his residence before the expiration of leaves of absence.

Very respectfully,
R. A. PRENTICE, Register.

A Lesson for Diplomats. Elihu Root, at the luncheon in Providence preceding the dedication of the John Hay Memorial Library at Brown university, said of John Hay: "His diplomacy was gracious, and it was prudent as well. I remember, in an argument about a certain international complication, how very warmly and aptly he once insisted on prudence.

"It was the Christmas season, and he said that we might learn a lesson from a little girl who was naughty in the early part of December.

"Dear me," her mother said, "if you're going to be naughty I'm very much afraid Santa Claus won't bring you any presents."

"The little girl frowned.

"Well," she whispered, "you needn't say it so near the chimney!"

O, the old apple tree is as brave as brave can be—
It spreads its scattered blossoms out for all the world to see;
Most of its boughs are withered so no

Yet still it answers soldierwise the trumpet call of spring
And one may see it brace itself while its few buds unfold
And try to look as splendidly as it has been of old.

O, the old apple tree! Why, the vagrant honeybee
Will give it scarce a passing glance—
the same as you or me—
And yet it dons its tattered robe as proudly as a king
When through the warming air it hears the trumpets of the spring;
And like an old, old man who stands
defiant of his years
It quavers into weakest bloom when spring's shrill call it hears.

O, the old apple tree!—For a rest it makes no plea
But nods with aged blitheness to the cautious honeybee;
With feeble, creaking stiffness it will bend before the breeze
And try to dance as nimbly as the other, younger trees—
But best of all it gives anew its blossom from the bud
As when long since it fairly dripped with fragrant flower-flood.

O, the old apple tree is as brave as brave can be—
Send that when you and I are old we have such bravery!
That when the years have withered us and left us bleak and bare We rouse ourselves when all the trumpets of the springtime blare,
That we shrink not, nor hold ourselves from other folk apart,
But show how love and life and light are echoed in the heart!

PALMS AND FERNS.

In cold weather it is a capital plan to wrap a silk handkerchief round that portion of the roots of the palm which protrude from the earth, while at night the plants should be drawn away from the window, or the latter covered for some distance from the floor with three or four thicknesses of newspaper, so as to exclude the draught.

One great fault which is often the cause of failure in plant culture is that of changing the temperature of the room too rapidly. To bring a plant straight into a drawing room from the nursery garden or greenhouse is almost certain to affect its health. If possible, the first week after its introduction into the house it should be kept in a perfectly equable temperature—between 62 degrees and 64 degrees Fahrenheit. Draughts must be avoided, while it is impossible to be too regular and systematic in the matter of watering.

MEANT TO COVER DEFORMITY

Queer Use to Which Ear Ornaments Were Put Some Few Centuries Ago.

Some years ago we found in a secret drawer of a pearl embroidered workbox three locks of hair fastened to small enamel heart-shaped mounts, with silver eyelets. Two were inscribed "R. C. obt. 16th April, 1664," "R. C. 1664," the third had no inscription at all. In this box I now keep an engraving of a portrait of Elizabeth, queen of Bohemia, which plainly shows the curl of hair in her left ear, attached to a pearl earring, says a correspondent of Notes and Queries. The painting, by Gerard Honthorst, was engraved by G. Vertue.

When I showed these hair earrings to a gentleman of some considerable learning he informed me that an uncle of Anne, wife of King James I., was afflicted by a malady, still prevalent in Poland and some parts of Russia, which consists of a growth of hair and flesh pendant from the ear, on which it is dangerous to operate, owing to the profuse hemorrhage which ensues. He added that, in consequence of this royal infirmity, a fashion arose in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries of wearing locks of hair pendant from the left ears. (I believe there is a portrait of a Stuart lady still at Ham house so adorned.)

Some Suspicious Persons

Enquired if we were "hiring" a certain "weekly" paper to abuse us.

Of course every time a spot light is turned on from any source it offers a splendid chance to talk about the merits of the products, but 'pon honor now, we are not hiring that "Weekly."

The general reader seldom cares much for the details of "scraps."

A few may have read lately some articles attacking us and may be interested in the following:

Some time ago a disagreement arose with a "Weekly." They endorsed our foods by letter, but wanted to change the form of advertising, to which we objected.

The "Weekly" discontinued inserting our advertisements while they were negotiating for some changes they wanted in the wording and shape of the advertisements, and during this correspondence our manager gave instructions to our Advertising Department to quit advertising altogether in that "Weekly."

Quite a time after the advertisement had been left out, an editorial attack came. We replied in newspapers and the scrap was on.

Then came libel suits from both sides, and some harsh words.

Generally tiresome to the public.

That "Weekly" has attacked many prominent men and reputable manufacturers.

Our Company seems prominent enough for a sensational writer to go after, hunt for some little spot to criticise, then distort, twist and present it to the public under scare heads.

So an attorney from New York spent more or less time for months in Battle Creek hoping to find impurities in our foods, or dirt in the factories. After tireless spying about he summoned twenty-five of our workmen and took their testimony. Every single one testified that the foods are made of exactly the grain and ingredients printed on the packages; the wheat, barley and corn being the choicest obtainable—all thoroughly cleaned—the water of the purest, and every part of the factories and machinery kept scrupulously clean.

That all proved disappointing to the "Weekly." There are very few factories, hospitals, private—or hotel and restaurant kitchens that could stand the close spying at unexpected times and by an enemy paid to find dirt or impurities of some kind.

In any ordinary kitchen or factory he would find something to magnify and make a noise about.

But he failed utterly with the Postum Works and products. Twenty to thirty thousand people go through the factories annually and we never enquire whether they are there to spy or not. It makes no difference to us.

He next turned to discover something about our advertising that could be criticised.

An analysis of the methods and distorted statements of the "Weekly" may interest some readers, so we take up the items one by one and open them out for inspection. We will "chain up" the harsh words and make no reference in this article to the birth, growth and methods of the "Weekly" but try to confine the discussion to the questions now at issue.

Some Facts

Battle Creek, Michigan, December 30, 1910.

We the undersigned certify that never to our knowledge has a testimonial letter been printed by the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., which did not have behind it a genuine letter signed, and believed to be an honest statement.

To the best of our knowledge and belief the Company has received upwards of fifty thousand (50,000) genuine testimonial letters.

This Company has never knowingly made nor permitted an untruthful statement regarding its products or its methods.

Distortion No. 1 stated that we have been accustomed to advertise Grape-Nuts and Postum as "cure-alls for everything."

It has never been the policy of this Company to advertise Grape-Nuts or Postum to cure anything.

We say that in cases where coffee disagrees and is causing sickness its dismissal will remove the cause of the trouble, and we suggest the use of Postum for the case as that it furnishes a hot palatable morning beverage, and contains natural elements from the grain which can be used by nature to assist in rebuilding nerve centers that coffee may have broken down.

Likewise Grape-Nuts food does not cure anything, but it does assist nature tremendously in rebuilding, provided the undigestible food that has been used is discontinued and Grape-Nuts taken in its place.

Charge No. 2 states that the passage of the National Food & Drugs Act compelled us to drop from the package some assertions regarding the nutritive value of Grape-Nuts.

We have never been "compelled" to make any change.

Since the beginning it has been a universal rule to print clearly on every package exactly what the contents are made of.

Before the passage of the Pure Food Law the packages stated that Grape-Nuts food was made of wheat and barley.

We did not esteem the small amount of salt and yeast as of value enough to speak of, but after the new Law came in we became as technical as the officials at Washington and added the words "yeast and salt" although we have no recollection of being asked to.

We believed that our statement that Grape-Nuts will supply elements to nourish the brain and nerve centers is true and bring authorities to support the fact. State chemists believed this a gross exaggeration and inasmuch as the Food Dept. at Washington could easily harass grocers, pending a trial on the disputed question, we concluded that much the better way would be to eliminate from our packages such claims, however certain we may be that the claims are true.

Another statement objected to read as follows:

"The system will absorb a greater amount of nourishment from one pound of Grape-Nuts than from ten pounds of meat, wheat, oats, or bread."

Some Department chemists deceive themselves as well as the public. "Caloric" is the word which defines a unit of heat determined by the amount necessary to raise one kilogram of water one degree centigrade. On this basis a table of calories is prepared showing the percentage of different kinds of food. Butter shows 860; Grape-Nuts 836; milk, 0.76. Remember the statement on the package spoke of the nourishment the system would absorb, but did not speak of the calories of heat contained in it, for the heat is not nourishment, and the number of heat units, notwithstanding the fact that certain chemists would have the public believe so.

As an illustration: Attempt to feed a man sixty days on butter alone, with its 860 calories. The man would die before the experiment had run sixty days.

Men take Grape-Nuts with 3.98 and milk with 0.76, the two combined equal 4.66—about one-half the number of calories contained in butter. The man fed for sixty days on this food would be well nourished, and could live not only sixty days, but six months on that food alone, and we do not hesitate to say from our long knowledge of the sustaining power of the food that a man at the end of sixty days would be of practically the same weight as when he started, if he be a man of normal weight.

We will suppose that from his work he lost a pound a day and made up a pound each day from food. If that premise proved to be true the man in sixty days' time would make sixty pounds of tissue to replace what had been lost, and this would be done on Grape-Nuts and milk with half the number of calories of butter, upon which no one can sustain life.

Therefore, we have reason to believe that our contention is right that concentrated food like Grape-Nuts, which is partly digested and ready for easy assimilation by the body presents more nourishment than the system will absorb than many other forms of food, and we will further say that in cases of digestive troubles where meat, white bread and oats cannot be digested, that Grape-Nuts and milk contain more nourishment than the system will absorb than many pounds of these other foods.

Distortion No. 3 charges that our testimonials were printed in the Postum and re-written in Battle Creek. These testimonials were demanded by the opposing lawyers. Naturally this demand was refused, for they are held in vaults and kept safe to prove the truth, and are not to be delivered up on demand of enemies.

Testimony at the trial brought out the fact that we never printed a single testimonial that did not have the genuine letter back of it. Many of these letters came spontaneously. A record was kept of twelve hundred and four (1204) letters received in one month from people who wrote that they had either entirely recovered their health or been benefited by following our suggestions on food and beverages.

On three or four occasions in the past ten or twelve years we printed broadcast in papers offers of prizes to users of Postum and Grape-Nuts—two hundred $1.00 prizes one hundred $2.00, twenty $5.00 and five of $10.00 each—stating that each must be an honest letter with name and address. We agreed not to publish names, but to furnish them to enquirers by letter. These letter writers very generally answered those who wrote to them and verified the truth of the statements.

Under this agreement not to publish names literally scores of letters came from doctors. We kept our word and neither printed their names or surrendered the letters.

Right here notice an "imitation" of the "Weekly" says "Post got those testimonials by advertising for them. In New York they did not have the purpose the New York Magazine of whose editor is now in the Federal Penitentiary for fraudulent use of the mails. For example, Post announced in that magazine in 1907 etc. (then follows our prize competition)."

We used nearly all of the papers and magazines in New York and the rest of America, but the sensational writer never made an impression to his readers that the only magazine we used was one whose editor is now in the Federal Penitentiary, etc., something that we know nothing of the truth of now, and never bold cases was brought in the magazine spoken of on a business basis for the reason that it went to a good class of readers. The incident seems to have furnished an opportunity for a designing writer to deceive his readers.

We look upon honest human testimony from men and women as to the means by which they recovered their health as of tremendous value to those in search of it. Our business has been conducted from the very first day upon lines of strict integrity and we never yet have published a false testimonial of human experience. Many of these letters covered numerous sheets; some, if printed, would spread over half a page of newspaper, if we would attempt to print one such letter in every one of the thousands of papers and magazines we use, the cost for printing that one letter would run into many thousands of dollars.

We hold down these letters exactly as a newspaper writer holds his news—sticking sacredly to the important facts and eliminating details about the family and other unimportant matters. This work of holding down, or editing, is done honestly, and with a full knowledge of our responsibility, but notice the art of the "twister" in the way he presents to his readers this matter of testimonials.

Distortion No. 4. This is a bad one. It reads as follows: "The only famous physician whose name was signed to a testimonial was produced in Court by Colliers and turned out to be a poor old brokendown homeopath, who is now working in a printing establishment. He received ten dollars ($10.00) for writing his testimonial."

We will wager ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00) with any investigator that we have, subject to inspection of any fair committee, upwards of three hundred (300) communications from physicians and many of them expressing the highest commendation of our products, but these will not now or ever be turned over to the publisher for his use.

Notice the statement in this charge: "The only famous physician whose name was signed to Postum testimonial, etc."

The truth is, this Dr. Underwood was one of a great many physicians who have not only written commendatory words about the value of our foods, but also acted as the "only physician" who writes an article on coffee or on food, and sends it to us with a suggestion of compensation for his time and medical knowledge. Previous to the time when we employed physicians in our own business, we occasionally employed a doctor to write an article on coffee, always insisting that the article be an honest expression of his opinion and research.

The "Weekly" hunted up this physician, and because he seemed to be poor, and as it says, "brokendown," had him brought to Court to be exposed before a jury as the "only physician" who ever endorsed Grape-Nuts, but much to the chagrin of the "Weekly" when our attorneys asked him if the article he wrote about coffee was true he replied, "yes."

Statement No. 5 reads: "The health officers of Mich., Maine, Penn., New Hamp., and other states, their official bulletins have for years been denouncing as preposterous and fraudulent the claims made by the Postum Cereal Company. We do not recall any criticism except from Mich., Penn., Maine and S. Dakota."

The average reader might think that the opinions expressed by the State Officials are always correct, but that conclusion is not borne out by facts. This is intended to mislead the reader. Years ago the Dairy and Food Commission of Michigan for some personal reason printed a severe criticism on us for making Postum of Barley (according to his official chemist) at market price and selling too high. He was shown there was never a grain of barley used in Postum. His report was false and misleading. The governor dismissed him.

We believe that most of the state officials are honest, and on the other hand we are firmly convinced that some of their conclusions cannot be substantiated by facts in scientific research.

They never criticize the purity of our foods, for so much we are thankful. If our conclusions in regard to its being a brain food differ from theirs, and we are both honest, they have rather the advantage, because under the law they can order us to eliminate from the package any statement if it disagrees with their opinion. Otherwise they would harass grocers.

Spasm No. 6 says: "The most dangerous thing in the world for one to eat any food whatever. Notwithstanding he knew that danger, C. W. Post advertised Grape-Nuts at fifteen cents a package for those so threatened."

It is intended to mislead the reader into believing that we put out Grape-Nuts as a cure for appendicitis. Mr. Post, himself, has had probably as wide experience as any other man in America in the study and observation of food as related to the digestive organs, and we proved in Court by the physicians and surgeons on the witness stand that the predominating cause of appendicitis is undigested food, and that it is necessary to quit eating food, and when the body requires food again, use a pre-digested food, or at least one easy of digestion.

Dr. Ochsner in his work on appendicitis refers directly to the use of the well-known pre-digested foods that can be obtained on the market. He also brought out the interesting fact that in "after treatment" it is advantageous to take on a pre-digested food. The price of the package (referred to by the weekly) is not known by us to have any relation to the value of the food in bowel troubles and to use Grape-Nuts food has been a great blessing to tens of thousands of people, and we hope will continue to bless a good many more in the succeeding years.

No. 7 is a live wire. It refers to C. W. Post and his studies and experience and suggestive "therapeutics" or "Mental Healing" which further lead to a most careful and systematic study of the effect of the mind on the digestive and other organs of the body.

He attended clinics in Europe and fitted himself for a future career in which he has become known as one of the food experts of the world, fitted to judge both from the material as well as the mental side of the question. For about eight years previous to 1891 he was an invalid. In that year, after being under the care of several well-known physicians, he was quickly healed by what to him was a curious and not well-understood method. Sufficient to say he became a well man, weighing about 185 pounds.

This experience challenged his investigation into causes of disease and their amelioration. Those studies and experiences developed a very profound reverence for a Supreme Power which directly operates upon the human being, and this reverence for the infinite became to him a form of religion which included honesty of purpose towards his fellow-man. A statement which will be endorsed by everyone who knows him closely.

He will make a public announcement in detail of these facts, and the Postum Company will cause that statement to be published in newspapers and magazines in due time. We suggest the reader look for it.

Prevarication No. 8. "Post spends nearly a million a year in advertising and wages men to keep out of the newspapers the dangerous nature of the fraud he is perpetrating on the public." The Postum Company does pay out upwards of a million a year for trade announcements. Newspaper men believe our statements truthful or they would not print them. Large numbers of newspaper men use our products. They are capable of telling the public whether or not we "bribe" them.

It may have escaped notice that we did not "bribe" that particular weekly.

No. 9 states that the amount of the verdict will "be devoted by the 'weekly' to exposing fraud."

This is almost real humor. We have two suits pending against the "weekly," total $500,000.00. We haven't "devoted" the sum to any particular purpose yet.

Item 10 is a "discovery" that wheat bran is a part of Postum. But the criticism neglected to mention that for years every Postum package announced in plain type that the outer covering of wheat (bran), made part of the beverage.

They ignorantly fell into a trap here, not knowing enough of food value to know that "Baka-Diastase" the article used by physicians the world over for "starch" indigestion is made from "wheat bran."

So we use that part of the wheat berry because it contains the element needed to develop the valuable diastase in manufacture. Good Postum is impossible without this part.

These self-appointed critics do make some laughable blunders through ignorance, but—be patient.

Item 11 is an illustration of the squirming and twisting of the sensational writer delivering distorted matter to his readers. While on the witness stand Mr. Post testified to his studies in Anatomy, Physiology, Dietetics and Psychology, all relating to the preparation and digestion of food. Asked to name authorities studied he mentioned six or eight from memory, and commented on some clinical experience covering several years in annual journeys to Europe.

Now notice the distortion. (Copy from the printed criticism.) He (Post) pointed out a pile of books in possession of his attorneys as the very ones he had read. (Notice—"the very ones he had read," leading the reader to believe that they were the only ones.) "Did you consult the books from these editions?" was asked.

"From those and various editions," answered Post.

The attorney "picked up book after book from the pile and showed the title pages to the jury,—all except two had been published since 1905."

This is an example of distortion and false coloring to produce an unfavorable impression.

The facts are Mr. Post purposely introduced the latest editions that could be obtained of prominent authorities to prove by them the truth of his statements regarding appendicitis and the analysis of brain, also the latest conclusions in regard to the action of the digestive organs. These works are:

Human Physiology, by Raymond.

Physiological Chemistry, by Simon.

Digestive Glands, by Pawlow.

Hand Book of Appendicitis, by Ochsner.

Physiological Chemistry, by Hammarsten.

Biochemic System of Medicine, by Carey.

The "Weekly" carefully eliminates from its printed account testimony regarding the years of research and study by Mr. Post in fitting himself for his work, and would lead the reader to the distorted article to believe that his education began since 1905.

Distortion No. 12 reports Mr. Post as a dodging witness. The shifty kind observed in the head of one of his chief critics. On the witness stand Mr. Post looks quietly but very steadily straight into the eyes of the haggling, twisting lawyer, trying by all his art to ask double-barred questions and bulldoze and confuse a witness.

The "dodging" it seems consisted of replying, "I don't know."

Opposing counsel holds a book in his hand while he queries,—

"I want to know if there is a single thing in your whole book here that suggests any particular kind of food."

"Then followed some discussion between attorneys."

When Mr. Post was allowed to reply, he said, "I don't know until I read the book over to see."

This book, it turns out, was written by Mr. Post seventeen years ago and probably has not been read carefully by him in the last fifteen years. It would require a remarkable memory to instantly say "yes" or "no" as to what a book of 147 pages did or did not contain, without reading it over,—but such conservative and well balanced answers are construed by sensation seekers to be "dodging."

The attorney sought by every art to impress the jury with the fact that Mr. Post's belief in the power of the mind in relation to the body branded him as unreliable and worse.

The following is quoted from one of the questions: (The lawyer reading from the book.) "The writer of these pages desires to say nothing of himself other than as a simple instrument through which the Divine Principle chooses to manifest itself by precept and example."

"Skill in mental practice is gained in the same way as skill in any department of science—by observation, study, experience and the ability to evolve correct conclusions."

"Read carefully, thoughtfully no more than twenty pages daily. Afterward seek an easy position where you will not be disturbed. Relax every muscle. Close your eyes and go into the silence where mind is plastic to the breathings of spirit and where God talks to the soul. The thoughts from Divine Universal Mind come as winged angels and endow you with a healing power. If you go into the silence humbled and trusting, you will come out enriched and greatly strengthened in body by contact even for a short time with the Father of all life and all power. You will feel refreshed in every way and food taken will digest readily as the stomach works smoothly when under the influence of a Higher Power."

"I ask you if you did not write that, and if you did not believe it when you wrote it."

For a moment the Court Room was in absolute silence.

Mr. Post slowly leaned forward over the rail, pointed his finger at the Attorney and to emphasize his reply and with eyes that caused those of the Attorney to drop he said, "Yes, I am proud to say I did."

It may be remembered that we were first attacked and have since defended ourselves by placing facts before that great jury—The Public.

A good "scrap" is more or less comforting now and then, if you know you are right.

In the case lately tried, an appeal has been taken to the higher courts. We have unbounded faith in the ultimate decision of our American Tribunals.

Our suits against the "weekly" have not yet been tried. They are for libel and $500,000.00 is asked as damages, and may the right man win.

After all the smoke of legal battle blows away, the facts will stand out clearly and never be forgotten that Postum, Grape-Nuts, and Post Toasties are perfectly pure, have done good honest service to humanity for years, the testimonials are real and truthful and the business conducted on the highest plane of commercial integrity.

WHEN A MAN MARRIES

BY MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
AUTHOR OF THE CIRCULAR STAIRCASE
THE MAN IN LOWER TEN, ETC.

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THE BOBBY-MERRILL COMPANY

SYNOPSIS.

James Wilson or Jimmy as he is called by his friends, Jimmy was round and looked shorter than he really was. His ambition in life was to be taken seriously, but people steadily refused to do so, his art is considered a huge joke, except to himself. If he asked people to dinner everyone expected a frolic. Jimmy marries Bella Knowles; they live together a year and are divorced. Jimmy's friends arrange to celebrate the first anniversary of his divorce. Those who attend the party are Miss Katherine McNair, who every one calls Kit, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Brown, the Misses Mercer, Maxwell Reed and a Mr. Thomas Harbison, a South American civil engineer. The party is in full swing when Jimmy receives a telegram from his Aunt Selma, who will arrive in four hours to visit him and his wife. Jimmy gets his funds from Aunt Selma and after he marries she doubles his allowance. He neglects to tell her of his divorce, as she is opposed to it. Jimmy takes Kit into his confidence, he tries to devise some way so that his aunt will not learn that he has no longer a wife. He suggests that Kit play the hostess for one night, be Mrs. Wilson pro tem. Kit refuses, but is finally prevailed upon to act the part. Aunt Selma arrives and the deception works out as planned, as she had never seen Jim's wife. Jim's Jap servant is taken ill, his face is covered with spots. Bella, Jimmy's divorced wife, gives the house and asks Kit who is being taken away in the ambulance? Bella says it is Jim. Kit tells her Jim is well in the house. Bella tells Kit that it is not Jim she wanted to see, but Takahiro, the Jap servant, as she wished to cure his services.

"It's immoral," I protested. "It's immoral to steal your—"
"My own butler!" she broke in impatiently. "You're not usually so scrupulous, Kit. Hurry! I hear that hateful Anne Brown."

So we slid back along the hall, and I rang for Takahiro. But no one came. "I think I ought to tell you, Bella," I said as we waited, and Bella was staring around the room—"I think you ought to know that Miss Caruthers is here." Bella shrugged her shoulders. "Well, thank goodness," she said, "I don't have to see her. The only pleasant thing I remember about my year of married life is that I did not meet Aunt Selma."

I rang again, but still there was no answer. And then it occurred to me that the stillness below stairs was almost oppressive. Bella was noticing things, too, for she began to fasten her veil again with a malicious little smile.

"One of the things I remember my late husband saying," she observed, "was that he could manage this house, and had done it for years, with flawless service. Stand on the bell, Kit." I did. We stood there, with the table, just as it had been left, between us and waited for a response. Bella was growing impatient. She raised her eyebrows (she is very handsome, Bella is) and fung out her chin as if she had begun to enjoy the horrible situation.

I thought I heard a rattle of silver from the pantry just then, and I hurried to the door in a rage. But the pantry was empty of servants and full of dishes, and all the lights were out but one, which was burning dimly. I could have sworn that I saw one of the servants duck into the stairway to the basement, but when I got there the stairs were empty, and something was burning in the kitchen below.

Bella had followed me and was peering over my shoulder curiously.

"There isn't a servant in the house," she said triumphantly. And when we went down to the kitchen, she seemed to be right. It was in disgraceful order, and one of the bottles of wine that had been banished from the dining room sat half empty on the floor.

"Drunk!" Bella said with conviction. But I didn't think so. There had not been time enough, for one thing. Suddenly I remembered the ambulance that had been the cause of Bella's appearance—for no one could believe her silly story about Takahiro. I simply left her there, staring helplessly at the confusion, and ran upstairs again; through the dining room, past Jimmy and Aunt Selma, past Lella Mercer and Max, who were flirting on the stairs, up, up to the servants' bedrooms, and there my suspicions were verified. There was every evidence of a hasty flight; in three bedrooms five trunks stood locked and ominous, and the closets yawned with open door, empty. Bella had been right; there was not a servant in the house.

As I emerged from the untidy emptiness of the servants' wing, I met Mr. Harbison coming out of the studio.

"I wish you would let me do some of this running about for you, Mrs. Wilson," he said gravely. "You are not well, and I can't think of anything worse for a headache. Has the butler's illness clogged the household machinery?"

"Worse," I replied, trying not to breathe in gasps. "I wouldn't be running around—like this—but there is not a servant in the house! They have gone, the entire lot."

"That's odd," he said slowly. "Gone! Are you sure?"

In reply I pointed to the servants' wing. "Trunks packed," I said tragically, "rooms empty, kitchen and pantries full of dishes. Did you ever hear of anything like it?"

"Never," he asserted. "It makes me suspect—" What he suspected he did not say; instead he turned on his heel, without a word of explanation, and ran down the stairs. I stood staring after him, wondering if every one in the place had gone crazy. Then I heard Betty Mercer scream and the rest talking loud and laughing, and Mr. Harbison came up the stairs again two at a time.

"How long has that Jap been ailing, Mrs. Wilson?" he asked.

"I—I don't know," I replied helplessly. "What is the trouble, anyhow?"

"I think he probably has something contagious," he said, "and it has scared the servants away. As Mr. Brown said, he looked spotty. I suggested to your husband that it might be as well to get the house emptied—in case we are correct."

"Oh, yes, by all means," I said eagerly. I couldn't get away too soon. "I'll go and get my—" Then I stopped. Why, the man wouldn't expect me to leave; I would have to play out the wretched farce to the end!

"I'll go down and see them off," I finished lamely, and we went together down the stairs.

Just for the moment I forgot Bella have not exhausted that kind of diversion."

But the man on the step spat his tacks in his hand and spoke for the first time.

"No, you don't," he said. "Not on your life. Just step back, please, and close the door. This house is quarantined."

CHAPTER V.

From the Tree of Love.

There is hardly any use trying to describe what followed. Anne Brown began to cry, and talk about the children. (She went to Europe once and stayed until they all got over the whooping cough.) And Dallas said he had a pull, because his mill controlled I forgot how many votes, and the thing to do was to be quiet and comfortable and we would get out in the morning. Max took it as a huge joke, and somebody found him at the telephone, calling up his club. The Mercer girls were hysterically giggling, and Aunt Selma sat on a stiff-backed chair and took aromatic spirits of ammonia. As for Jim, he had collapsed on the lowest step of the stairs, and sat there with his head in his hands. When he did look up, he didn't dare to look at me.

The Harbison man was arguing with the impassive individual on the top step outside, and I saw him get out his pocketbook and offer a crisp bundle of bills. But the man from the board of health only smiled and tacked at his offensive sign. After a while Mr. Harbison came in and closed the door, and we stared at one another.

"I know what I'm going to do," I said, swallowing a lump in my throat. "I'm going to get out through a basement window at the back. I'm going home."

"Home!" Aunt Selma gasped, jumping up and almost dropping her ammonia bottle. "My dear Bella! Home?"

Jimmy groaned at the foot of the

Here he caught Jim's eye and stopped. But I had suddenly remembered. Bella down in the basement!

Could anything have been worse? And of course she would have hysteria and then turn on me and blame me for it all. It all came over me at once and overwhelmed me, while Anne was crying and saying she wouldn't cook if she starved for it, and Aunt Selma was taking off her wraps. I felt queer all over, and I sat down suddenly. Mr. Harbison was looking at me, and he brought me a glass of wine.

"It won't be so bad as you fear," he said comfortingly. "There will be no danger once we are vaccinated, and many hands make light work. They are pretty raw now, because the thing is new to them, but by morning they will be reconciled."

"It isn't the work: it is something entirely different," I said. And it was. Bella, and work could hardly be spoken in the same breath.

If I had only turned her out as she deserved to be, when she first came, instead of allowing her to carry through the wretched farce about seeing Takahiro! Or if I had only run to the basement the moment the house was quarantined, and got her out the areaway or coal hole! And now time was flying, and Aunt Selma had me by the arm, and any moment I expected Bella to pounce on us through the doorway and the whole situation to explode with a bang.

It was after eleven before they were rational enough to discuss ways and means, and, of course, the first thing suggested was that we all adjourn below stairs and clean up after dinner. I could have slain Max Reed for the notion, and the Mercer girls for taking him up.

"Of course we will," they said in a duet. "What a lark!" And they actually began to pin up their dinner gowns. It was Jim who stopped that. "Oh, look here, you people," he objected, "I'm not going to let you do that. We'll get some servants in tomorrow. I'll go down and put out the lights. There will be enough clean dishes for breakfast."

It was lucky for me that this started a new discussion then and there about who would get the breakfast. In the midst of the excitement I slipped away to carry the news to Bella. She was where I had left her, and she had made herself a cup of tea, and was very much at home, which was natural.

"Do you know," she said ominously, "that you have been away for two hours? And that I have gone through agonies of nervousness for fear Jim Wilson would come down and think I came here to see him."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

ONE BY BACHELOR BURTON.

Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, who is a bachelor and has never been ensnared by the wiles of women, tells a story of a young lady and a judge of his acquaintance. The former was a witness in the latter's court. The prosecuting attorney had repeatedly put to her questions which she persistently evaded under the plea that she did not comprehend his meaning. Whereupon his honor undertook to bring out the proper responses. Leaning over he said in a kindly and fatherly manner, "young woman, why is it that you insist in refusing to understand the questions of counsel? You are a person of charm, grace, beauty and more than average intelligence, and—"
"Thank you, your honor," interrupted the young woman, "if it were not for the fact, judge, that I am under oath I would return the compliment."—National Monthly.

Another Kind.

"Ha!" said the Russian count, with a fierce scowl on his Muscovite features. "This worm of an American writer has insulted me with his pen!" "Has he written a biting satire about you?" inquired the fair charmer to whom he spoke.
"Nothing so gentlemanly!" yelled the count. "He has named his pig after me!"

Not Boseley's Style.

Lush—That man Boseley is a regular sponge.
Nipton—You're unjust to the sponge, old man.
Lush—How's that?
Nipton—When a sponge gets soaked it loosens up.

Very Appropriate.

"Your lines to a hobble skirt are truly suitable."
"As to how in particular?" inquired the gratified poet.
"They limp badly."

Letting Father In.

"I am going to ask your father a night for your hand in marriage."
"How dreadfully old-fashioned you are."
"In what way?"
"Don't ask him, tell him."

Kitchen Philosophy.

"Do you think there is anything in nutmeg raising?"
"Well, it ought to have grate possibilities."

Meant Quality, Not Size.

Mrs. Prunes—How did you find the steak, Mr. Newboard?
Newboard—Oh, I turned over the potato.—Boston Transcript.

A Gentle Hint.

He—I'm afraid you are cold. Shall I take off my coat, and put it around you.
She—You may put your coat around me, but why take it off?

And He Never Knew It.

"The captain told me they kept you alive for eight days on brandy and milk."
"Just my luck; I was unconscious all the time."—M. A. P.

Didn't Like Any of It.

She—Now that you have looked over my music, what would you like to have me play?
He—Whist or dominoes.

Between Neighbors.

"That thermometer I bought is a fraud. It hasn't brought on no extraordinary weather." "You've got the wrong idea, Peleg." A thermometer won't act like a lightning rod.

His Dim Impression.

"Father," asked the boy, "what is a 'gink'?"

"I have only a vague idea, my son," said Professor McGoozle; "but I presume a gink is a guy, or a geezer or something of that kind, raised to the ninth power."—Chicago Tribune.

Oh, No.

Dubbs—Was it a serious accident? Swiftleigh—Not at all. Only two pedestrians killed and the motor car wasn't even scratched. I'm glad, too, for I had just had it revarnished.—Tit-Bits.

In Sunday School.

Teacher—What happened to Lot's wife?
Young America—I suppose you mean about her turning to salt, but that looks to me like a yellow journal story.

Could She Melt Him?

Jack—Athena is so cold in her manner. I don't think she possesses a particle of sentiment.

Ethel—I don't know. I've heard her talk of melting her affinity.
Jack—Huh! She must have come across a snow-man somewhere.

He Was Nailing Something to the Door.

altogether. I found Aunt Selma bonneted and cloaked, taking a stirrup cup of Pomona for her nerves, and the rest throwing on their wraps in a hurry. Downstairs Max was telephoning for his car, which wasn't due for an hour, and Jim was walking up and down, swearing under his breath. With the prospect of getting rid of them all, and of going home comfortably to try to forget the whole wretched affair, I cheered up quite a lot. I even played up my part of hostess, and Dallas told me, aside, that I was a brick.

Just then Jim threw open the front door.

There was a man on the top step, with his mouth full of tacks, and he was nailing something to the door, just below Jim's Florentine bronze knocker, and standing back with his head on one side to see if it was straight.

"What are you doing?" Jim demanded fiercely, but the man only drove another tack. It was Mr. Harbison who stepped outside and read the card.

It said "Smallpox."

"Smallpox," Mr. Harbison read, as if he couldn't believe it. Then he turned to us, huddled in the hall. "It seems it wasn't measles, after all," he said cheerfully. "I move we get into Mr. Reed's automobile out there, and have a vaccination party. I suppose even you blasé society folk stairs, but Anne Brown was getting over her tears and now she turned on me in a temper.

"It's all your fault," she said. "I was going to stay at home and get a little sleep—"

"Well, you can sleep now," Dallas broke in. "There'll be nothing to do but sleep."

"I think you haven't grasped the situation, Dal," I said icily. "There will be plenty to do. There isn't a servant in the house!"

"No servants!" everybody cried at once. The Mercer girls stopped giggling.

"Holy cats!" Max stopped in the act of hanging up his overcoat. "Do you mean—why, I can't shave myself! I'll cut my head off."

"You'll do more than that," I retorted grimly. "You will carry coal and tend fires and empty ash pans, and when you are not doing any of those things there will be pots and pans to wash and beds to make." Then there was a row. We had worked back to the den now, and I stood in front of the fireplace and let the storm beat around me, and tried to look perfectly cold and indifferent, and not to see Mr. Harbison's shocked face. No wonder he thought them a lot of savages, browbeating their hostess the way they did. "It's a fool thing anyhow," Max Reed wound up, "to celebrate the anniversary of a divorce—especially—"

50 Per Cent Better

"I have used less than one bottle of Cardui," writes Mrs. Gertrude Ward, of Rushville, Neb., "and am feeling fifty per cent better than when I began taking it. Before taking Cardui, I had suffered with female trouble, for eight years. My greatest trouble was irregularity. I also suffered with severe pains, every month, but now I am greatly improved and will recommend Cardui to all my suffering friends."
