BETTER LAND LAWS

More Liberal Land Laws are Expected Soon From Congress

640 ACRE ACT NOW PENDING

More liberal land laws are known to be the crying need of the Southwest. Several bills for better homestead measures have been introduced in Congress. Some results are soon expected.

The Albuquerque Journal has the following editorial this week, which caustic remarks are worth reading:

The bill proposed by Congressman Ferguson for a 640-acre homestead is a distinct improvement over the present law. Better still is the bill which has the hearty support of Mr. Ferguson. The proposition by Mr. Jones is for an expert appraisal of the lands open to homestead. Where the appraisers find a quarter section sufficiently valuable let that be the size of that homestead; where 320 acres, 480, or 640 are enough to afford a living for a homesteader, set that amount aside for entry. Should the land be such that with reasonable economy a man cannot make a living on less than ten or twenty thousand acres give him the right to enter such an amount. Such law as proposed by Mr. Jones has in it absolute fairness and unassailable good sense.

Senator Fall has taken enough time from Mexican affairs to introduce a bill, advocated by the Journal more than a year ago for the federal government to turn over to the state of New Mexico all of the public lands within its borders. That is the bill that really should pass, and would pass were it not for the ignorance of the lawmakers who live in other parts of the country as to the real conditions in this state.

The Journal states without hesitation and with full knowledge of the subject that quarter section homesteads were taken up in South Dakota, for example, during the past quarter century, worth more by far than any ten thousand acres now open to entry in New Mexico. We will make it a little stronger and say that more than a thousand homesteads have been taken up in South Dakota, during the past twenty-five years, any one of which was worth more than any twenty-five thousand acres tract now open to entry in this state.

What is true of South Dakota is equally true of the public lands that have been taken up in North Dakota and Montana during a like period. In making this statement the underground water, which may be used for irrigation by pumping, in New Mexico is given full consideration.

New Mexico is a state of vast area and sparse population. Her greatest attainable need is good roads, since we know of no way by which the rainfall can be increased. Of course there are vast quantities of water going to waste which might be used for irrigation. Aside from the projects already under way, it is doubtful if the federal government will spend any more money for the conservation of that water. The Carey act is so wound about with red tape that it is useless, in fact a menace, to any one who undertakes to apply it. The man who would make a desert entry and try to prove up is looking directly toward the penitentiary. Under the last administration, the boast of the commissioner of public lands was not how many desert claims had been perfected, but how many he had been able to defeat and how many claimants had been prosecuted. It is no more than fair to note that the spirit of the present administration differs from the rigid and technical constructions which followed the Ballinger furore when conservation was made to mean reservation.

Sometimes, through the efforts of Congressman Ferguson, Assistant Secretary Jones and Senator Fall, we may expect a change that will be better for New Mexico.

ANCHO NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Wood were in Carrizozo Tuesday.

Mr. D. H. Langerak made a business trip to El Paso this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Talbert and Mr. and Mrs. Pitts from Jicarilla were in Ancho Sunday.

Mr. Neilson, having resigned as book keeper for the Ancho Brick Co. will leave Friday to join his wife in El Paso.

Mr. Graves, Guy, Warden and Mr. McKenzie are attending court in Carrizozo this week.

Mrs. Deel took a crowd to Corona in her new Ford car Sunday. They all report a good time.

John Martin has returned to Ancho after spending a few months in Acme, Texas.

Sam Wood had another well drilled on his ranch east of town. He got a fine well of water.

Quite a number of Ancho people attended the dances given by Mr. Fambrough last Saturday night.

NOGAL NOTES

Thos. Hanley recently found a yearling cornered by two dogs in an arroyo and which the dogs would have killed if not driven off. The owners of the dogs have been warned that prosecution would follow if the vicious dogs were not killed.

James Gatewood has purchased the Wm. J. Henley place at Nogal Grandmother Sterling, 96 years old, passed from this earth on Saturday last and was interred in the Nogal cemetery on Monday the 16th.

L. R. Hust makes two trips to Nogal every day for his mail. A new auto is the cause of the trouble.

T. W. Henley has found a wolf den near Nogal, who wants some puppies.

Martin May has left for Ruidosa on a trading trip, and his wife is in Corona.

Peach and apricot trees are blooming in this vicinity and prospects are fine for a full crop this year.

Spring gardening is starting here.

PITTMAN-HIGHFILL

Miss Lena Highfill and Mr. W. C. Pittman both of Carrizozo were united in marriage here last Sunday afternoon, by Justice of the Peace Ed Massee. They left the same day for El Paso on a pleasure trip.

Mrs. Pittman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al. Highfill of this city while Mr. Pittman is a well known railroad man at this point. The young couple will make their home in Carrizozo.

RETURN 46 INDICTMENTS

Grand Jury Adjourns After Strenuous Session of Eleven Days

COURT PROCEEDINGS OF WEEK

The Grand Jury reported last night and this issue has been delayed for a copy of the main report which is given below. In addition to this report there are a number of special reports which space will not permit printing until next week.

The two Presentments returned were against Porfirio Chavez, Sheriff; and A. H. Harvey, Clerk.

GRAND JURY REPORT

To the Honorable Edward L. Medler, Judge of the Third Judicial District, in and for Lincoln County, New Mexico.

Honorable Sir: We, your Grand Jury, have the honor to submit this, our final report:

We have been in session eleven days, have held two night sessions, and during this time have investigated sixty-nine (69) cases, examined ninety-eight (98) witnesses, returned forty-six (46) true bills, two (2) informations, and (12) no true bills.

Through committees appointed by us, we have made examinations of the various county offices, jail, court house, and the general condition of the county property in Carrizozo, and the special reports of these committees are hereto attached, we emphasize some of the things made mention of the jail and building committee, which is attached hereto, viz: we recommend the appointment of a janitor, for the care of the County property, at once, and wish to call particular attention to the report of the building committee, on matters pertaining to the County buildings.

We wish to call the attention of the Board of County Commissioners to the condition of County property in the town of Lincoln, which we are reliably informed, is in a bad state of repair, we feel that with the expenditure of a small amount of money, this property could be put in repair, either for renting or sale.

We note a number of irregularities in the procedure of the various Justices of the Peace Courts, within this County, a case being brought to our attention, wherein the Justice of the Peace in Precinct number eight, in assessing a fine for a misdemeanor in the sum of fifty-five dollars, allowed the defendant to go free without bond, and gave him until May first to pay the amount of the fine.

We are informed that this is irregular, and call the attention of the Court to this fact.

In another instance the Justice of the Peace of Precinct No. 15, failed to send in any papers to the Grand Jury, although he had bound over a man to await the action of said Jury.

Our attention is called to a boy named Charles Gist, 17 years of age who is confined in the County Jail, we understand that he was sentenced to four months in the County Jail for stealing a rifle of the value of $5.00. We consider the sentence excessive, and as the boy has been in Jail for three months, we recommend his immediate release, and request that a copy of this recommendation be forwarded to Gov. W. C. McDonald.

We also recommend that some action in the case of an old man by the name of Whittaker, who is now confined in the County Jail, for vagrancy. The man is old and unable to take care of himself and we believe that he can be placed in some of the many soldiers homes in the south, as he is a Confederate Veteran.

We wish to express our thanks to the Court, the District Attorney and the Officials of the Court for the courtesies extended to Your Grand Jury in their discharge of their duties.

There being no further business before us, we respectfully ask the Court to discharge us.

COURT NOTES

Among the Court Proceedings of the week were: John Ward Roy Wilson and Arthur Morris, Burglary Ziegler's store. All pled Guilty. Ward and Wilson were sentenced to one year each in the penitentiary; Morris, two years in reform school, suspended.

Among the verdicts of Not Guilty were: E. N. Lucero and S. Lucero, assault. Najor, larceny. Gordon Graf, discharging firearm. Jack Shields, burglary box car.

Among the cases dismissed by state were: Jas. Harper, larceny; Joe McDaniels, W. A. Pearce, assault; Jose Antonio Otero, Elias Jacobo, Eduardo and Marcus Bacon charged with abduction and kidnapping.

No verdicts of "Guilty" Arraigs are being made today of the persons indicted yesterday among the 46.

Court adjourned this morning (Saturday) to meet Tuesday, the Judge going to Estancia to open and adjourn court there.

Cases set for Tuesday are Ed. Peters, Elias Baca, Duran et al, and Garcia.

The Sheffield case is set for the 25th. The Al Highfill case for the 26th.

The Ascaro murder case from Las Cruces will be tried in spite of previous announcement, and is set for March 28th.

Court will doubtless be in session until after April 15th.

MINSTREL SUCCESS

The pupils of the public school gave a very creditable Minstrel show at the school house last Friday evening in which the pupils participated. The participants all received hearty applause and the affair was a hit with the audience.

The girls as Indians and the comedy of Louis Adams and Emil Anderson were of especial note. The proceeds from the successful affair will apply on the debt of the piano which the school recently purchased.

CIVIC LEAGUE BALL

The Carrizozo Civic League gave a dance on Tuesday evening of this week which was attended by a very large crowd and the affair was a success from start to finish. The proceeds from the dance go into the League's treasury and are to be used in helping clean up the town which the ladies have so efficiently done in times past. The large crowd present showed a fine spirit for the worthy purpose and over $45.00 was cleared by the ladies.

News has reached here of the death of Mrs. Mart L. Goodin near Kan. City, Mo. The Goodins formerly lived here and are well known in this county.

THE WEEKLY ROUND-UP

News Notes from the Surrounding Towns. General and Personal Happenings

WHIFFS FROM WHITE OAKS

There will be a masquerade tango turkey trot at the Woman's Club rooms here Saturday night which will display all the latest styles of ladies' costumes and perhaps something more, and promises to be something fierce.

Charley Spence with L. M. Wilson motored up the Gallinas mountains Tuesday to see who it was that had been trying to grub his Old Hickory mining claims out by the roots and sell them for wagon timber.

Lee Wilson of Alva, Oklahoma, but for the past year a resident of Artesia, New Mexico, is making a few weeks' visit with his relatives, the Rudiselles.

Quite a number of the town residents have taken the electric light treatment lately. Among them might be mentioned those of William Watson and Ed. Queen and the newly painted poles are making red streaks in the atmosphere.

The "movies" man was up here Monday night casting reflections on the inside appearance of the Woman's Club room. It takes about five times as much coin to see a very indifferent show of this class as it does in the larger towns. The high price of lices feed is probably the cause of it.

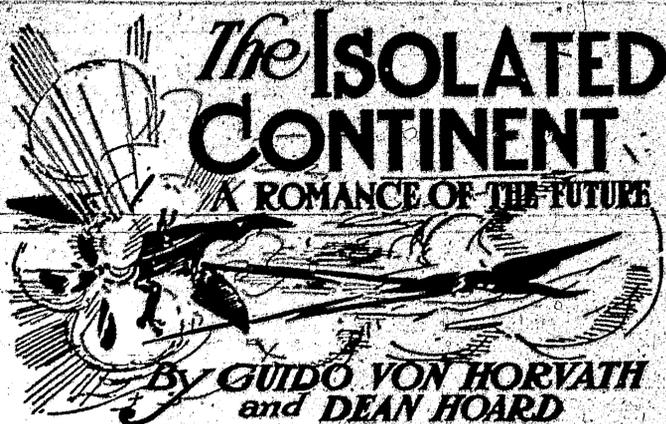

W. T. Swayer who has taken a contract to mine and ship ore at the Yellow Jacket, on the west side of the Lone mountain, came here with his family a few days ago, and is now like Micowber seeking "pretentious domiciliary" accommodations. If he succeeds in getting a suitable house they no doubt will become very desirable residents here.

Dr. H. S. Hedner has established a Bachelor's sanitarium up at the old Fauvet ranch near White Oaks Springs. It will be a sort of cabaret, free lunch counter and Keeley cure combined. A system of manual training will be introduced in which the inmates will be given their choice, cooking, hosing in the garden or roping steers for which the place is supplied with a convenient corral. Doc Randies will do the root grubbing and the tamping, having just laid in a stock of babber metal for this purpose.

There appears to be a sort of slump in the matrimonial stock market after the three rather sensational and unexpected transactions of a few weeks ago. The last two, which occurred here in town were said to have been very pleasant affairs. The boys had planned to give them a nocturne with the usual tin can tintinnabulation chorus, but one couple slipped away to Arizona in the early glare of their own honeymoon, while the other couple invited them all up and really treated them so white they forgot all about the serenade they were going to pull off. The fellow gave them all the candy and nuts they could eat, and still had some left for the happy and blushing bride. There are really only two or three eligibles now left in the town outside of those already spoken for, and it begins to look as if the young men would have to wait for the next blooming of roses in this rosebud garden of girls.

The ISOLATED CONTINENT

A ROMANCE OF THE FUTURE

By GUIDO VON HORVATH and DEAN HOARD

COPYRIGHT, 1913 BY W.G. CHAPMAN IN THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN

SYNOPSIS.

For fifty years the continent of North America had been isolated from the rest of the world by the use of a wonderful invention of Hans Ulrich Prudent. The invention had saved the country from foreign invasion, and the continent had been united under one government with Prudent as president. For half a century peace and prosperity reigned in this part of the world. The story opens with President Prudent critically ill. His death is hastened by the receipt of a message from Count von Werdenstein of Germany that he has at last succeeded in penetrating the rays. Dying, he warns his daughter Astra that this means a foreign invasion. He tells her to hurry to the island of Cymrith, but dies before he can tell the location of the place. Astra is nominated for the presidency by the continental party. Napoleon Edison calls on Astra, informs her that he was a pupil of her father's, and promises to help her. He gives her a ring made of a newly discovered substance which, he says, will solve the problem of flying.

CHAPTER IV.

Europe.

The Zugspitze is the highest peak in Germany; it belongs to the Alps and a panorama can be seen from the perpetually snow-covered summit that is worth while. At the foot of this giant is the town of Partenkirchen, a great place for tourists, but since the isolation of the American continent the number of visitors has diminished somewhat.

One crisp December morning a tall young man on skis slid down from one of the snow-covered side hills of the Zugspitze. He wore an Alpine costume and carried on his back the usual catchall of the mountain climber. The sack evidently was heavy, yet he carried it easily.

The early sportsman stopped for a second or two just about the Tirolian and Bavarian border. After a short meditation, he started forward, and with the agility of a master of the sport slid downward, jumping down steep slopes, and soon landed in the valley. He took a peculiar field glass from his knapsack and directed it toward the great peak, moving it until he found a spot that looked to the unaided eye like a red dot on the mountain side. It was the deserted castle of the great Prince Luitpold, once reigning prince of the kingdom of Bavaria.

When he had focused the glass, he saw a round, ruddy cheeked man rubbing his hands vigorously.

"It must be somewhat cool there," smiled the sportsman.

He drew a red handkerchief and made some circular movements in the air with the fluttering linen, always watching through his glass. Then,

A Tall Young Man on Skis Slid Down from One of the Snow-Covered Side Hills.

With a satisfied expression, he placed the glass and kerchief in their respective places and started toward the town.

The narrow, winding streets were always deserted and he used his skis even through the town.

There were several hotels around the square; the Golden Eagle and the Red Star were the most promising looking, and he selected the latter. Unfastening the straps of the skis, he cast them over his shoulder and entered the famous old hotel.

At the sound of the stranger's footsteps in the hall a big, white-aproned man whose head was covered with a Turkish fez, appeared in the doorway at the end of the hall; in his right hand he held a murderous looking knife and in the left a fork. He greeted the newcomer with great respect; it was surprising to see a guest at this time of the year. The man of the skis leaned his knapsack and the skis against the wall and said, "Guten morgen, Herr Wirth!"

The big German threw fork and knife on a table and rubbing his hands on his apron to remove the grease, took the stranger's sack and carried it into the office. There he put a long, official blank of reporting paper before him, together with pen and ink.

It took a long time for the stranger to fill out all the somewhat impertinent questions, but at last it was done. On the last line he wrote in large, round characters the name: "Chevalier Sonapó E di Leon."

"What can I do for you, chevalier?" asked the hotel-keeper, who had used the time to remove his apron and put on a clean coat.

"First of all, I want some breakfast, then a room, as I would like to spend a few days here."

The host's face shone with pleasure and he led his guest into the small dining-room.

The chevalier's eyes wandered around searchingly; they seemed to penetrate into every nook and corner.

The host returned, followed by a girl, who put a snow-white cover on one of the tables, then steaming hot rolls were brought in with coffee, butter, honey and some eggs.

The chevalier ate heartily; the early morning exercise had given him a splendid appetite. When he had finished, the host offered him some cigars, but he smilingly refused, assuring him that he never used them.

"They are real Baharan, chevalier." "Baharan? Is that a new brand?" "Not exactly; we have had it for ten years, ever since the successful irrigation of the desert. I understand that it is even better than the once famous Havana."

The stranger looked at the host thoughtfully, then with some hesitation he asked:

"What is the name of the engineer who planned that project? I have quite forgotten."

"You are not a German, chevalier, otherwise you would know the man whom all the German-speaking nations regard with hope; his name is Count von Werdenstein."

The young man started, but recovered himself quickly. "How foolish, I have nearly spilt my coffee. Yes, Werdenstein; I remember the name now."

"He is our Bismarck, Moltke and Edison, in one person."

The young man stared at the host for a second. "Quite a remarkable man."

"Indeed, sir, he was selected as commander in chief by the International Federation, for the war against America."

"I am sure it is a very happy selection."

"Well, sir, he is a great man indeed, but I do wish, and I am sure many others wish so too, that instead of militarism, he would devote his energies to the betterment of the people."

"To industrial, agricultural and financial developments; is that what you mean?"

"Yes, sir, and above all else, to lifting the burdens from the citizens. You know what we have to suffer under this terrible military rule."

"I am a stranger, my dear host; I came from where the coffee and slender palms grow, so I don't know much about the happenings around here. However, I am interested and pray that you tell me more."

The good host of the Red Star was happy to find some one who was glad to listen to his talk; this stranger even took his notebook out and dashed some interesting details into it.

Later on he found a queer little newspaper, the Kochschabe Zeitung, and read the news station with much interest.

The same morning he inquired for the best tailor in town and after some delay, the host telephoned for him. When the little tailor arrived he took measurements, showed fashion plates and goods, but the chevalier left the selection to him, stipulating that all he wanted was the latest in every thing.

The tailor touched the cloth the chevalier's Alpine coat was made of and examined it closely with an air of surprise. "This is something new to me," he said at last. "I never saw a weave like this." He looked questioningly at the chevalier, but he seemed to be busy with the fashion plates and did not answer. However, at the tailor's request, he removed his coat and that little man looked searchingly at the lining, hoping to find the maker's name. His eyes grew large when he saw a small tag bearing the name of a Chicago manufacturer.

Three days later the new clothes were ready; the Chevalier di Leon paid for them in gold. It did not matter that the mint stamp was quite old; indeed, some were of the nineteenth century, and none of the pieces were later than 1919. The curious little tailor noticed this fact, also; he shook his head again, but kept quiet. That quality was still golden.

The same evening the stranger left by the slow local train for Munich, that old art center. He selected a promising hotel and was soon settled for the night.

Upon his inquiry for the quickest route to Berlin the Aero-Electric Line was suggested. It made the trip in six hours. "It is quite ingenious," thought the chevalier. Four tremendous cigar-shaped aluminum balloons were attached to each other; the whole aerial train was at least 500 yards long. The first and the last balloons had very high powered dynamos, and both were connected with some ingenious device to the rail that was supported on tall iron columns.

"Not a bad idea," thought the chevalier as he mounted the Aero-Electro the next morning. "It is in some way similar to the old electric car system; they economize on the rails and the roadbed, but let me see—the gas? Yes, it says, after all, and it is quicker."

The chevalier selected a place where he was able to see both sides of the train, and took out his field glass. It was cold on the upper deck, but he did not pay much attention to that; he was too busy watching the country below.

He saw many interesting things with his extremely powerful glass, but at almost every town that they passed he observed military maneuvers, notwithstanding the cold and deep snow. "Oh, what a waste!" he thought, then retired into the large saloon, because the wind had risen and was unpleasantly cold.

He sat down at the reading table and looked through a number of periodicals. There he found pictures of almost all the monarchs and also a very good picture of Count von Werdenstein. Just below this picture was an article that did not speak very highly of his genius. The paper was ultra-socialistically inclined, and the article pointed out the futility of the militarism of which the count was the advocate.

The chevalier took out his little notebook and wrote the name of the author there. The paper was edited in Berlin and he did not anticipate much trouble in finding Paul Kalmár through the editorial office.

The aero-train was half an hour late on account of the high wind, but finally arrived.

The traveler took a taxicab and at random told the chauffeur to drive to the Metropole Hotel. It was one of the old-fashioned places left over from the nineteenth century, but it was excellently equipped with all modern improvements.

The Chevalier di Leon did not stay long in his rooms, but after a short consultation with the clerk left the hotel and mingled with the crowds on the street.

The beautifully decorated stores showed Christmas splendors and luxuries. The ancient beauty of the town impressed him. At one end of the park stood a magnificent equestrian monument of colossal size. The horse was bounding forward; the face, with upturned mustache and fierce eyes was familiar. All the muses of art and science were gathered about the base in a fantastic but expressive manner—but in front of them, holding the most prominent position, was Mars! The chevalier shrugged his shoulders: "It does seem that monarchism cannot exist without the sword."

The palace guard marched by, a company of the 221st infantry regiment. Their helmets glittered; they wore grayish cuirasses, and carried clumsy looking rifles; they had no bayonets, but short pistols in their belts. The music boomed in warlike tones and the uniformed men marched in stiff, unnaturally long steps. The chevalier shook his head again, and turned sadly into a side street.

At the editorial rooms of the Freie Gedanken he gave his card to an attendant and asked to see Herr Paul Kalmár. "Are you a poet?" the boy asked inquisitively.

"No, indeed, not even an author." This seemed to please the boy, who hurried away; he soon came back with a smile. "Third door to the right."

The next moment Chevalier di Leon stood before Herr Paul Kalmár, who invited him to be seated. The ultra-socialist was a mild, calm giant with very light brown hair, but his greenish eyes held sparks of courage and dogged determination.

The tall chevalier seemed to impress him favorably, and he listened with a quiet air.

"I have come from afar to see you, Herr Kalmár. I read your article about Count von Werdenstein, and as I have an idea that probably will influence the count to preach peace instead of war, I wish you would kindly listen to me and give me your advice."

"I also am a man who wants peace, Chevalier di Leon, and I will be glad to discuss that theme with you; if you will give me a few minutes' time I will take you to the Cafe American and we can talk and eat at the same time."

"I am sure it will please me very much."

Half an hour later they were on the balcony of the famous Cafe American in a cozy corner among the palms and vines.

The big German ordered an epicurean lunch with Mosel wine; he listened attentively and ate with a relish. The chevalier's words seemed to meet with his approval.

"To prove my good will, to win his influence, I am willing to give him the secret of gold manufacturing."

These words were said so enthusiastically that a beautifully dressed woman who sat at the neighboring table looked up from her plate and gazed at the bright-eyed chevalier.

"Not so loud, my dear man, not so loud; even the walls have ears."

The advice came somewhat late, for the woman already had noted the chevalier's words, and now she watched them from beneath her long, silky eyelashes, but it was in vain; she could not hear another word.

After the long lunch Herr Kalmár and the chevalier entered a taxicab.

"To the palace of the honorable chancellor, Count von Werdenstein," thundered Kalmár in the ear of the taxi driver.

Mr. Kalmár seemed to know how to reach his excellency, the iron-handed chancellor, as a gorgeously liveried attendant soon conducted them into the presence of the man they sought.

Chevalier di Leon stopped for a moment when he beheld the man whose face he had seen only in print; he stopped with a trace of caution in his manner.

DIZZY, HEADACHY, SICK, "CASCARETS"

Gently cleanse your liver and sluggish bowels while you sleep.

Get a 10-cent box. Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Ady.

Astute.

"Jonesby has the reputation of being a very original fellow."

"That's because he's smart enough to steal his epigrams from unfamiliar sources."

When He Missed It.

Briggs—Did you experience a sense of loss after you had been operated upon?

Griggs—I did when I got the bill—Life.

Prosperity Communicative.

A man cannot prosper in any honest business without benefiting the community as well as himself. For he cannot induce men to deal with him without offering them an advantage; and, taking all the transactions of life together, the advantages which men offer to others must, on the whole, be equal to those which they receive themselves.

Doing business, therefore, is a very effectual and extended mode of doing good; and the fortune which is acquired in doing it is, in a very important sense, the measure and index of the good done.—Jacob Abbott.

Dusseldorf Exposition.

The sum of $1,190,000 has been pledged as a guaranty fund for the exposition to be held next year in Dusseldorf, and it is assured the co-operation of museums, organizations and authorities in all parts of Germany. The exposition will be divided into ten main groups, with 62 divisions and 118 classes, and will occupy over 700,000 square yards, extending over two miles along the Rhine. A plan of the exposition grounds will be loaned on application to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, Washington, D. C.

SCHOOL TEACHERS, Also Have Things to Learn.

"For many years I had used coffee and refused to be convinced of its bad effect upon the human system," writes a veteran school teacher.

"Ten years ago I was obliged to give up my much-loved work in the public schools after years of continuous labor. I had developed a well defined case of chronic coffee poisoning."

"The troubles were constipation, flutterings of the heart, a thumping in the top of my head, and various parts of my body, twitching of my limbs, shaking of my head and, at times after exertion, a general 'gone' feeling, with a taper's desire for very strong coffee. I was a nervous wreck for years."

"A short time ago friends came to visit us and they brought a package of Postum with them, and urged me to try it. I was prejudiced because some years back I had drunk a cup of weak, tasteless stuff called Postum which I did not like at all."

"This time, however, my friends made the Postum according to directions on the package, and it won me. Soon I found myself improving in a most decided fashion."

"The order of boiling coffee no longer tempts me. I am so greatly benefited by Postum that if I continue to improve as I am now, I'll begin to think I have found the Fountain of Perpetual Youth. This is no fancy letter but stubborn facts which I am glad to make known."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Write for a copy of "The Road to Wellville."

Postum now comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled.

Instant Postum—in a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. Green tea both kinds.

"There's a Reason" for Postum.

GOT A WRONG IMPRESSION

Minister Seeking Material for Sermon Made Mistake in Superficial Reading.

A reform wave was in progress. A noted divine, wishing to get local color for his next Sunday's soothing attack on vice, took a trip through the segregated district. He had seen only a few blacks when he came upon a sign which read "No Further Use for Mother."

Horrified beyond expression, he concluded that this was all the material he needed, and he went home to write his sermon on the glacial degeneration of a society that would throw mothers on the rubbish heap.

At the close of his denunciation the next Sunday, when he was receiving the congratulations of his parishioners, a friend came up to him and said: "That was a fine sermon you preached, only you didn't see one thing when you read your sign."

"I saw everything there was on it," the minister replied, with some asperity.

"But not what was above it," his friend enlightened him as he went off.

"Right over it you should have read the sign: 'Incubators Made Here.'

Like the "Gray Hawk."

The London police are making diligent search for a tall, handsome Norfolk girl named Mabel Bush, who mysteriously disappeared from Liverpool street station a few days ago. The girl, who is eighteen years old, arrived at the London terminus from her home at Diss at 2:35 o'clock in the afternoon. She was seen by a porter named Hammond, who, noticing that she was a country girl and obviously unused to London, inquired if she could be of any assistance. She told him that she was awaiting the arrival of a friend, and just before seven o'clock she was joined by a woman, and the pair went off together. Since that time Miss Bush has not been seen, and her friends are fearful that some harm has befallen her.—London Mail.

Regular.

Curate—I am glad to see you come so regularly to our evening services; Mrs. Brown.

Yes, let me, no "nobbed" does me quite best of a hurrying, so I do it to spite 'em.—Punch.

INDIGESTION, GAS OR BAD STOMACH

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin ends all Stomach misery in five minutes.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, let this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food. Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or bad stomach. Adv.

Mechanical Calculator.

A Swedish inventor has designed an apparatus for counting money and sorting the pieces into specified quantities. In the first place, money of various denominations is put into the machine and separated according to value, these being sent into various tubes. When in the tubes the coins can be taken out in lots of ten, twenty, fifty to one hundred pieces, at the will of the operator. The apparatus is capable of separating, counting and dividing in the lots mentioned above 72,000 pieces in an hour. One machine under one operator is able to accomplish in one day as much counting as could be done by fifty most experienced bank cashiers.—Northern Weekly Gazette.

SUFFERED FOR 25 YEARS.

Mr. R. M. Fleenor, R. F. D. 33, Otterbein, Ind., writes: "I had been a sufferer from Kidney Trouble for about 25 years. I finally got so bad that I had to quit work, and doctors failed to do me any good. I kept getting worse all the time, and it at last turned to inflammation of the bladder, and I had given up all hope, when one day I received your little booklet advising your pills, and resolved to try them. I did, and took only two boxes, and I am now sound and well. I regard my cure as remarkable. I can recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to any one who is suffering from Kidney Trouble as I was." ### MIGHT HAVE HELPED.

Speaking in a Washington club the other night of overcoming difficulties, Congressman John M. Nelson of Wisconsin told of the happy thought of little Gladys.

Some time ago, according to the congressman, little Gladys sat watching her mother ironing some white frocks. The day was very warm and mother was rather weary.

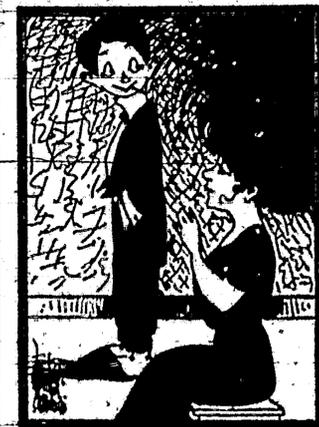

"Mamma," finally asked the youngster, "isn't it awfully hard to iron?"
"Yes, dear," answered the tired parent, with a gentle sigh, "sometimes it is very hard."

For a moment the little girl was very thoughtful, and then came a ray of sunshine that rippled over her pretty features.

Uric Acid Is Slow Poison

Excess uric acid left in the blood by weak kidneys, causes more diseases than any other poison.

Among its effects are backache, headache, dizziness, irritability, nervousness, drowsiness, "blues," rheumatic attacks and urinary disorders. Later effects are dropsy, gravel or heart disease.

If you would avoid uric acid troubles, keep your kidneys healthy. To stimulate and strengthen weak kidneys, use Doan's Kidney Pills—the best recommended special kidney remedy.

FRIDAY, MARCH 20, 1914

MARCH 27 ARBOR DAY

Governor McDonald last Friday issued a proclamation in naming March 27th as Arbor day for New Mexico. More than usual interest attaches to the event this year, because it has been set aside for a vote by the school children of the state to express their preference as to what they will name as the state flower.

The governor's proclamation, which was received here last Friday, is as follows:

"In response to a universal call for conservation of national resources in harmony with the movement to have agriculture taught in every school in the state, and with the desire of arousing in the youth of the land an intelligent appreciation of the dependence of all upon nature, it is important that our state have the opportunity of fittingly observing Arbor day:

"Now, therefore, I, William C. McDonald, governor of the state of New Mexico, by virtue of the authority of law and in accord with the spirit of the times, do hereby designate and proclaim Friday, March 27, as Arbor day, to be formally recognized in all the schools of the state, and I urge that on this day, teachers, pupils and patrons unite in such appropriate tasks and exercises as will leave a permanent desire in the mind of each one to become an active agent in the conservation of all useful things so that the spirit of the day may create a healthy influence in the lives of our boys and girls, leading them to devote not one or two special days in the year to the study of trees, birds, flowers, school gardens, good roads and nature study, but parts of every day, to the conserving, enriching of plant and animal life.

"Given under my hand and the great seal of the state of New Mexico at the capital in the city of Santa Fe this 13th day of March, A. D. 1914.

CLEARED OF CHARGES

Elias G. Rafferty, well known as a resident and booster of Oscura and recently charged with swindling a Chicago party on a New Mexico Land Deal, has been cleared of the charge and has filed suit against his accusers which is described in the following clipping from the Chicago Tribune, of March 13th:

"E. G. Rafferty of Oscura, N. M., yesterday filed suit for $100,000 damages against Rose J. Beatty, vice-president of the Inland Street company, Parke T. Snyder, and Samuel F. Knox, an attorney, whom he accused of malicious prosecution. The suit is the outcome of the arrest of Rafferty on a warrant sworn to by Snyder charging Rafferty with swindling Beatty in a land deal. The case was tried before Judge Hill in the Municipal court and Rafferty was dismissed after the court had expressed the opinion that Beatty was unworthy of belief.

Beatty asserted Rafferty had made misrepresentations to him in regard to 160 acres of land near Oscura. He had bought a half interest in this land for $6,000. He said Rafferty had told him there was a gushing water well on the land.

Letters written by Beatty after he had received a report on the land from Snyder were introduced in evidence. There was no intimation in these communications that Beatty thought himself swindled. Beatty attempted to explain the letters had been written for the purpose of luring Rafferty to Chicago so he could be arrested. Judge Hill declared Beatty's letters flatly contradicted his testimony.

There is no falling off in land office filings in spite of the fact that there have been repeated failure of crops in some of the dry farm sections of the state.

There still remains in the State 54,768,158 acres of surveyed land and 23,643,762 acres of unsurveyed land. The total filings on land in the year of 1913 were 14,294 a total of 2,324,250 acres of land.

At Roswell where most of the filings in this county are sent there were 2,433 entries of 74,738 acres. 55,387 acres were patented and final proof made on 272,474 acres.

New Mexico offers the best opportunities for homeseekers and those who want land as an investment of anyplace in the Union. We certainly have the country and there are many good farmers who will want the land when they get started coming this way. An investigation is all the proof that will be necessary to satisfy them that we have the best there is to be had.

J. O. Nabours, Jr., of this place and Miss Dorothy M. Brown were married at the latter's home in El Paso Saturday evening, coming up to White Mountain Sunday, where they will make their future home.

LINCOLN FOREST HOMESTEADS

During the months of January and February, 1914, a total of 761.47 acres of land within the Lincoln National Forest, New Mexico, were listed with the Secretary of the Interior and will shortly be opened to entry under the Forest Homestead Act. The lands thus listed were applied for individually by eight applicants, and each one of these tracts was examined by a Forest Officer and found to be more valuable for agriculture than for Forest purposes.

Those whose homestead applications within the Lincoln National Forest were favorably acted upon during the months of January and February are:

Nicolas Chavez, Capitan, New Mexico.

Marquez L. Demasters, Cedarvale, New Mexico.

Charles N. Allen, Ruidoso, New Mexico.

Leslie Avent, Ruidoso, New Mexico.

L. J. Bryan, Holloway, New Mexico.

Steve A. Pearce, Lincoln, New Mexico.

T. H. Shoemaker, Capitan, New Mexico.

Harvie Titus, Meek, New Mexico.

In addition to this, 4179.77 acres were listed to applicants within other National Forests in New Mexico, and 6020.93 acres in National Forests in Arizona.

CORONA SCHOOL ACTIVE

The Corona school is working hard to enlarge its library which was created in January of this year. The teachers and students have given a pie supper, and have solicited aid from the merchants of the town.

At present they are arranging for the president of the New Mexico Normal University, at Las Vegas, Dr. Frank H. H. Roberts, to lecture here for the benefit of the library fund. Dr. Roberts is a man of wide experience, both in and out of the school room. Coming west from Ohio, where he received his education in the Ohio State Normal, he has been professor of Political Science in the University of Denver, and also in the State Normal of Wyoming, and for the past four years, he has been president of the New Mexico Normal University at Las Vegas.

While he was professor of Political Science in the University of Denver, he was selected by the Denver city council to go to Edinburgh, Scotland, for the purpose of investigating the municipal government there. At that time Denver was considering the adoption of a commission form of Government, and municipal ownership of public business. His recommendations, which were given after a careful study of the matter, which study consumed two years, were accepted by the Denver city council, without question.

MANUAL TRAINING

Manual training has been found a necessity in Lincoln county says Mrs. Wallace L. Gumm, superintendent of schools, in a report to Miss Mannette Meyers, supervisor of industrial education at Santa Fe.

"Most of the primary classes," writes Mrs. Gumm, "have some of the sewing cards, outlining, drawing and cutting as busy work. The Carrizozo schools have a class in high school at odd times for basketry and drawing. The lower grades have followed no set course, but have paper construction, booklet covers and some raffia work. The primary teacher, with an enrollment of nearly 100, tries to give the painting besides the usual work. Miss Edith Tickner at Rabenton, a Spanish-American settlement, has done more than any other teacher in the county. She has had a most successful sewing class and her pupils have done some paper work.

"At Ancho, Mrs. Edna Barnett and W. P. Robinett have organized a club. The girls have done sewing and the boys some bench work. The school has two lessons a week in different kinds of industrial work. This is a very good beginning as it is the first bench work in the county in a rural school.

"The Lincoln county high school at Capitan has classes, of course, in woodwork, cooking and sewing which are excellently taught with the best results. Miss Edith Wells at Glencoe has had a most successful sewing class."

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION
CORONA TRADING COMPANY

We, the undersigned, citizens of the United States of America, and subscribers to the capital stock of the Corona Trading Company, being desirous to form a corporation under and in pursuance to the laws of the State of New Mexico, and having associated ourselves together for that purpose, have prepared and hereby adopt the following Articles of Incorporation:

ARTICLE I

The name of said Corporation shall be Corona Trading Company.

ARTICLE II

The purpose and object for which said corporation is formed is the buying and selling, both at retail and wholesale, of goods, wares and merchandise, and generally the doing of a general mercantile business and the buying and selling of all kinds and character of products, wool, hides, pelts and live stock, and the doing of everything necessary in the carrying on and prosecution of a general mercantile business.

IN FURTHERANCE and not in limitation of the general powers conferred by the laws of the state of New Mexico, and of the objects and purposes as hereinabove stated, it is hereby expressly provided that the company shall have also the following powers, that is to say:-

(a) To do any or all of the things herein set forth as objects, purposes, powers or otherwise, to the same extent and as fully as natural persons might or could do and in any part of the United States as principals, agents, contractors, trustees, or otherwise.

(b) To conduct its business in all its branches, and have one or more offices, and to hold, purchase and convey real and personal property, both within and without the State of New Mexico, and in all other states and territories of the United States.

(c) To purchase or otherwise acquire, hold, own, sell, assign and transfer, invest, trade, deal in and deal with goods, wares and merchandise, live stock, and property of every class and description, and to do manufacturing of any kind.

(d) To purchase or otherwise acquire, to hold, own, maintain, develop and to sell, convey or otherwise dispose of, without limit as to amount, within and without the state of New Mexico, and every State and Territory of the United States, real estate and real property and any interest and rights therein.

(e) To acquire the good will, rights and property of all kinds, and to under, take the whole or any part of the assets and liabilities of any person, firm, association or corporation, and to pay for the same in cash, stock of this corporation, bonds, or otherwise.

(f) To hold, purchase or otherwise acquire, to sell, assign transfer, mortgage, pledge, or otherwise dispose of shares of the capital stock, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness created by other corporations, either municipal or private and while the holder of any of such stock to exercise all the rights and privileges of ownership, including the rights to vote thereon, to the same extent as a natural person might or could do.

(g) To make and enter into contracts of every sort and kind with any individual, firm, association, corporation, private, public or municipal, or any other body politic.

(h) To do all and everything necessary, suitable or proper for the accomplishment of any one or more of the objects herein enumerated, which shall at any time appear conducive or expedient for the protection or benefit of the corporation, either as holders of, or interested in any property.

It is the intention that the objects, purposes and powers specified and clauses contained in this Article, shall, except where otherwise expressed in said Article, be no wise limited or restricted by reference to or inference from the terms of any clause of this or any other Article in this charter; but that the objects, purposes and powers specified in each of the clauses of this Article shall be regarded as independent objects, purposes and powers.

ARTICLE III

The total capital stock of this company shall be TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND Dollars, which shall be divided into TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY SHARES, of the par value of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS each; and said corporation shall commence business with a capital stock of FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

The rights, privileges, conditions and limitations following shall attach to the shares aforesaid:- that is to say:

This company shall not be at liberty without the consent in writing first obtained of the holders of two-thirds in amount of the capital stock of this corporation:

(a) To create or issue any other or further shares of capital stock, or increase the capital stock of this corporation.

(b) Nor to create any charge, except as herein provided, upon the net profits of this corporation (which shall not be subordinate to the rights of the holders of the capital stock of this corporation).

(c) The balance of the net profits of the corporation, after the payment of all legitimate charges and expenses of said corporation, may be distributed as dividends among the holders of the capital stock of this company, at such times as and when the Board of Directors of this company shall in its discretion determine.

ARTICLE IV

The term for which this corporation is to exist shall be fifty years from the date of the filing of these Articles of Incorporation in the office of the State Corporation Commission of the State of New Mexico.

ARTICLE V

The principal place of business and the principal office of this corporation is at Corona, in the county of Lincoln, in the State of New Mexico, and the agent of this corporation in charge of said office is EARL L. MOULTON whose post office address is Corona; State of New Mexico.

ARTICLE VI

The names and post office addresses of the incorporators, and the number of shares of stock subscribed by each, the aggregate of which is FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS, are as follows:
Name. P. O. Address. Stock Subscribed
Earl L. Moulton, Corona, New Mexico, $4,800.00; Arthur W. Varney, Corona, New Mexico, $100; Elmer A. Heisel, Corona, New Mexico, $100.

ARTICLE VII

(a) The corporation shall have no power to mortgage its real property or to dispose of its business as an entirety or mortgage the same except upon the assent in writing first obtained of the holders of two-thirds of the issued capital stock of the company, or upon the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the said capital stock at a meeting of the stockholders duly called for that purpose; however, upon such assent so obtained, or upon such affirmative vote so had and not otherwise, the corporation shall have power to mortgage its real property:

(b) The Board of Directors shall have power to make, alter, amend and repeal the by-laws of this corporation.

(c) With the assent in writing, or pursuant to the vote of two-thirds of all the issued capital stock, the directors shall have power and authority to sell, assign, transfer, convey or otherwise dispose of the property and assets of this corporation as an entirety on such terms and conditions, and for such consideration as the directors shall deem fit right and just.

(d) The Board of Directors in addition to the powers and authorities by the statutes of the state of New Mexico and by the by-laws of this corporation expressly conferred upon them, are hereby empowered to exercise all such powers and to do all such acts and things as may be exercised or done by the corporation, but subject nevertheless to the provisions of the laws of the State of New Mexico, of this charter and to such regulations as may be made from time to time by the stockholders.

(e) The stockholders shall at their first meeting elect by ballot or viva voce, a board of directors, to manage and control the affairs of this corporation, subject to the provisions, clauses and limitations contained in this charter; and said Board of Directors when so elected shall immediately, or as soon after their selection as is convenient, hold a meeting and elect a president, a Secretary and a Treasurer of said corporation.

(f) The Directors shall determine by a vote the compensation to be paid to the officers of this corporation.

(g) The directors shall, from time to time, determine whether and to what extent and what times and places and under what conditions and regulations the accounts and books of the corporation, any of those, shall be opened to the in-

PROMOTION EXAMINATION

At the last meeting of the State Board of Education the following provision was made for the holding of the Eighth Grade Promotion Examination.

There shall be one examination on the first Friday and Saturday in April of each year. A fee of fifty cents shall be charged to defray the expenses of such examination, each applicant to furnish such material as is needed for holding the examination.

The examination shall be at such places as may be designated by the County Superintendent and such persons as County Superintendents may name, under such restrictions as may be imposed by the Department of Education.

All examination papers are to be read by the County Superintendent or a committee named by County Superintendent and the same shall be graded in accordance with instructions of the department of Education. A duplicate transcript of grades shall be made by the reader—the original to be filed in the office of county superintendent, and duplicate copy sent to the office of state superintendent.

Examination papers after being read by persons designated to do such work shall be filed with the county superintendent and remain on file for a period of six months.

An honor list giving the names of pupils having the highest grades in each county in the eighth grade promotion examination will be published by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction on June 1st, 1914.

The subjects in which the applicants for promotion will be examined are the same as last year, reading, penmanship, orthography, grammar, geography, arithmetic, physiology, history, and civics. Questions will be sent out, also, in agriculture, and if pupils pass a satisfactory examination in this subject, two per cent will be added to the general average secured in the other subjects. In reading the examination will be based upon the following selections: "The Building of the Ship," "Christmas," "Sella," "The Last Leaf," "Michael," "Ode on the Duke of Wellington," "The Recessional," "Geltysburg Address," "Each and AH."

The state Department of Education will prepare and print the questions and distribute them to the county superintendent who will send them to the various persons conducting the examinations. With the questions will be sent rules governing the examination grading of the papers. It is suggested that class grades be sent to the county superintendent in such form that he may combine the grade for the term with the examination grades, that is the term grade should be given for each pupil taking the examination on the scale of 100 in each subject pursued.

Except as indicated above each county superintendent will have entire charge of the examination in his county and will provide for distribution of questions, reading of papers, the preparing of certificates, etc.

Very truly yours,

ALVAN N. WHITE
State Supt. of Public Instruction

WONDERFUL PERFORMANCE OF WIND WAGON

Wind Wagon Equipped With Runners Furnishes Much Good Winter Sport.

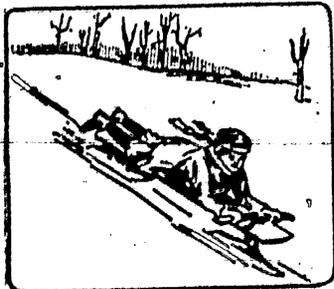

Surprises come often when the wind wagon performs. It has now been equipped with runners and has been driven at high speed over the snow-covered roads and the ice of the river and creeks around Indianapolis. The wind wagon is driven entirely by the wind resistance created by the revolving propeller in the rear. The differential is not connected with the drive shaft. In fact, there is no drive shaft.

as a chain combination connects the motor and the eight-foot wooden aeroplane propeller in the rear. There is only a six-inch clearance between the wooden propeller and the ice and for this reason, and also because it frightens horses, it cannot be used much on the roads. One can have great winter sport "skating" with the wind wagon on the river when the ice is thick enough.

MAKE-UP OF MONORAIL SLED

In Coasting the Rider Lies at Full Length on the Top Board, With Hands on Steering Bar.

A monorail sled, having a simple tandem arrangement of the runners, is very easily constructed as follows: The runners are cut from one-inch plank of the size and shape given in the sketch, and are shod with strap iron, one inch wide and one-quarter-inch thick. Round iron or half-round iron should not be used, as these are liable to skid. The square, sharp edges of the strap iron prevent this and grip the surface just as a skate.

The top is a board six feet long and 11 inches thick, securely fastened to the runners as follows: Blocks are nailed, or bolted, on either side of the upper edge of the rear runner and the top is fastened to them with screws. The runner is also braced with strap iron, as shown. The same method applies to the front runner, except that only one pair of blocks are used at the center and a thin piece of wood fastened to their tops to serve as the fifth wheel, writes Harry Hardy of Whitby, Ont., in the Popular Mechanics.

The hole for the steering post should be six inches from the front and a little larger in diameter than the steering post. The latter should be rounded where it passes through the hole, but square on the upper end to receive the steering bar, which must be tightly fitted in place.

In coasting, the rider lies full length on the board with his hands on the steering bar. This makes the center of gravity so low that there is no necessity for lateral steadying runners, and aside from the exhilarating glide of the ordinary sled, the rider experiences a buoyant sense of freedom and a seat peculiar to the monorail type. Then, too, the steering is effected much more easily. Instead of dragging the feet, a slight turn of the front runner with a corresponding movement of the body is sufficient to change the direction or to restore the balance. This latter is, of course, maintained quite mechanically, as everyone who rides a bicycle well knows.

IN HORSESHOE DESIGN

NOVEL LITTLE CUSHION TO HOLD THE SAFETY PINS.

Something That Anyone Can Make, and the Finished Article Will Be an Ornament to Any Boudoir.

A novel little cushion, specially suitable for safety pins, is shown in the accompanying sketch, and as it is made in the form of a horseshoe, it should bring good luck to its possessor.

In making it, in the first place a piece of stiff cardboard must be cut out in the shape of a horseshoe, and well padded with cotton wool on that side which is to be the front, and then covered with grey silk. The edges are next neatly finished off with a scarlet silk cord, and at the top of the shoe there is a smart bow of scarlet ribbon with a loop arranged above it, by which the cushion may be suspended from a nail in the wall.

Other effective combinations in which this little cushion might be carried out are blue silk with ribbon and cord of the same color, but in a darker shade or green silk, with ribbon and cord of an old gold color, or it would look pretty made entirely in one shade of almost any delicate color. A ring to hang it up by may take the place of the ribbon if preferred.

No. 2 shows a very pretty and useful safety-pin holder, and is easily made from a yard of ribbon and five brass rings. The ribbon should be a pale tint, such as pale blue or a delicate pink, and it should be two inches wide. Cover the rings with a double crochet of black silk, or they can be covered by button-holing with black silk. The ribbon is cut into four strips, which are all different lengths, such as 12, 9, 6 and 3 inches respectively. Sew a ring at the end of each ribbon, the ribbon will have to be slightly full, as the width of it will be wider than the ring. Now take the four pieces, neatly hem them at the top, and sew them together at the top, so that the longest piece of ribbon is underneath all the rest, the

MADE UP OF PAPER ROPE

Some of the Most Useful and Practical of Gifts Are Constructed of This Material.

Jardiniere and baskets are always useful. Baskets are probably the most popular subjects for rope handicraft, as they are interesting to every woman and indeed are a hobby with not a few. There are flower baskets of every description; there are scrap baskets, trinket baskets, work baskets and just baskets in styles galore!

Picture frames, table mats and even rugs are being evolved from paper rope.

This novel work is more than a mere pastime, for it has many uses that are pleasing to the home-maker. Then, too, there are always gifts to be made, and what is more acceptable than something made by the giver?

BEADS HAVE A WIDE VOGUE

All Sorts and Descriptions Are Being Worn With the Various Costumes of the Day.

There is a craze for beads just at present. At one time, and that not long ago, well-dressed women refused to adorn themselves with anything so gaudy and merely glass. Now, however, glass beads are essential, unless one can afford strings upon strings of genuine stones. The glass beads are beautifully cut and can be had in many lovely colors. Strings of them are worn to match the gowns. Composition beads, such as imitation coral in pink, red and white, and beads of smoked amber, are much worn. The latest to be had is beads made of wood.

One can often get better beads and more inexpensive necklaces by buying a quantity of loose beads in the art needlework stores. Very often they have these sample necklaces made up and it is a very simple matter to copy them. If one is original a necklace can, fortunately, be made that will far outshine any of those that can be bought.

Newest Modes in Mourning.

Ten years ago to go into mourning meant for women to have all her wardrobe of a dull black material. Nowadays any material of black or white is proper for mourning.

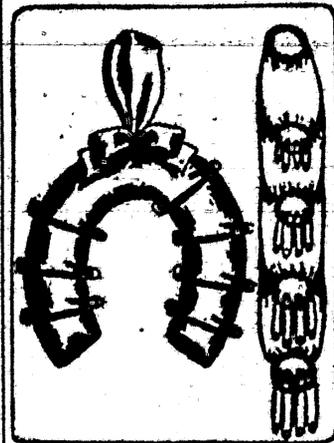

Hats of black moire, uncut velvet, or tulle with a band of crape and a standing bow are extremely fashionable for mourning. All white hats of the same materials are even more so, but white mourning is very expensive and is really only intended for the wealthy. Small turbans or sailor shapes are liked best for all mourning wear.

English and French fashionable summer resorts were gay and with these sweaters during the past season.

To Protect Curtains.

How not to muss panel lace each curtain when the windows or sleeping rooms are opened at night has been a problem of many particular housewives. About halfway up the lower half of the curtain sew a small dress hook on either edge of the curtain and one in the middle, if there is heavy lace or strong material at that point. Beside the small ring screwed into the wood rod of the window shade for the pull cord screw a similar ring into each end of the rod, where it will not be noticed. Catch the dress hooks into the three corresponding rings on the window shade and roll the latter up as high as it is desired to have the window open. The screw rings can be put into the window frame if preferred.

Every particle of dirt and dust may be removed from a felt hat by rubbing the entire surface with fine sand-paper.

shortest on top, and the other two in similar order. Sew a ring to the top of the ribbons when they are put together.

The holder is now ready to receive the safety-pins, four different sizes can be hung. The top ribbon should have the smallest size, and the largest ribbon the largest.

The holder can be hung up by the ring at the top; it will be found most useful on the dressing-table glass. Safety-pins are rather large to put on the usual cushion, in any case, it does not allow of such choice as the holder. The ribbon the holder is made of, should match or tone with the general color scheme of the room for which it is intended. These holders will be found a valuable addition to baby's basket, and most useful when on a journey.

SWEATER SHOULD BE LONG

Of Brilliant Colors and Made of the Softest of Wool Are These Comfortable Garments.

From over the Atlantic sweaters have come for women that are dazzling with their vivid brilliancy of color.

The new imported woolen sweaters are not knitted out of rough, wiry wool or in ribs. The wool used is soft as silk to the touch and the stitch is just the plain knitting stitch. They are for the most party very long, coming well down over the hips.

They seem to have taken their colors from the most vivid sunsets: yellow, orange, purple, metallic greens abound. A striking orange model has a rolling collar striped with black. A cap and a sort of the striped orange and black go with the sweater.

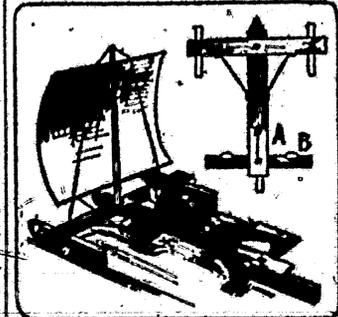

A shining purple silk model has a knicker of knitted silk in vivid orange in the same stitch and weight as the purple outside. The rolling collar and revers show the orange lining. These double ply sweaters are reversible.

CONSTRUCTION OF ICE BOAT

For Use on Lakes and Wide Rivers Craft Has No Equal—Three Boys Can Build One.

The ice boat shown in this sketch runs directly before the wind, with a square sail as shown in the picture. A three-cornered sail may be used, but it is harder to manage. The frame work of the craft consists of two two-inch planks, which are laid across each other as in Fig. 3. Fig. 3 shows the under part of the top plank at the rear end. Note how the planks are jointed and braced with wire.

The steering is done with the rear single runner. The lower part of Fig. 3 shows how it is made. A bolt in the center of "A" fits in a hole in the center of "C," not so tightly as to interfere with the free motion of the steering runner. The bottom of the runners should be shod with flat iron. Half round or round iron will not do. The mast is three inches in diameter by six feet long. The sail is six feet by four feet. The mast is braced by running two stout wires from the top to the cross plank. The sail is controlled by a wooden handle bar. For use on lakes and wide rivers this boat has no equal, writes Moses La Bom-

True for Once.
Such was Willie's misconduct that the school authorities in despair, reported it to the boy's father, hoping he would see that the crime was visited on the miscreant's head—or elsewhere—in a more effective manner than they could.

Next day tender inquiry was made for Willie's health, but the boy's answer proved disappointing. "What!" exclaimed the teacher. "Dyea mean to say your father didn't whip you?"

"No, ma'am," said Willie. "He told me a licking would hurt him more than me."
"Stuff and nonsense! Your father's too absurdly sympathetic!"
"Not, he, ma'am," he remarked; but just now he's got rheumatism in both his arms!"—London Answers.

Richmond, Pa. — "When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown state of health, had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache.

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad; I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. FRANK CLARK, 3145 N. Tulip St., Richmond, Pa.

Women Have Been Telling Women for forty years how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills. This accounts for the enormous demand for it from coast to coast. If you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It will pay you to do so. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

THE RIGHT SOAP FOR BABY'S SKIN

In the care of baby's skin and hair, Cuticura Soap is the mother's favorite. Not only is it unrivaled in purity and refreshing fragrance, but its gentle emollient properties are usually sufficient to allay minor irritations, remove redness, roughness and chafing, soothe sensitive conditions, and promote skin and hair health generally. Assisted by Cuticura Ointment, it is most valuable in the treatment of eczemas, rashes and itching, burning infantile eruptions. Cuticura Soap wears to a wafer, often outlasting several cakes of ordinary soap and making its use most economical.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with $1-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

—Saturday evening S. L. Northland while coming down 4th El Paso Ave. slowly in his Overland, collided with Morris Edmiston who was on his motor cycle and who was making a run for the grade by the depot. Emil Anderson was riding on the motor cycle with Edmiston and both were thrown under the auto. Edmiston's leg was broken near the ankle and it is feared internal injuries may result, and he has been taken to the hospital at El Paso. Emil Anderson came out of the affair with a few cuts and bruises but no serious injuries.

The collision happening at the old Postoffice corner was doubtless unavoidable, although the result was quite serious.
