SHEFFIELD IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

After Disposing of Several Important Cases Court Adjourned Wednesday to Reconvene next Monday

AL. HIGHFILL HELD TO AWAIT ACTION NEXT GRAND JURY

Proceedings in the case of the state vs. Al. A. Highfill charged with assault with intent to kill, were brought to a summary close Monday when attorney Geo. Barber, for the defendant, presented a motion to quash the venire of the Match grand jury, on the grounds that notice of the drawing of the names of the grand jurors, had not been published a sufficient length of time in advance of the drawing to comply with the law. The Court took the matter under advisement and later in the day sustained the motion, which it is thought will probably have the effect of practically throwing out all the work done by this grand jury. Mr. Highfill was bound over to await the action of the next grand jury in the sum of $1500.

It seems that the venire of the petit jury is open to question as to legality upon the same point, but any defendant who wishes immediate trial may waive this point and accept the jury as drawn.

The trial of Dan Sheffield, alias Dan Jackson for the murder of Felix Kilpatrick alias Jim Jones, which occurred last fall on the Hondo was a hard fought battle throughout, two special venires being necessary to complete the jury for its trial, a jury was secured Monday morning and the case was given to them Tuesday evening for the verdict, which was brought in Wednesday morning, and was a verdict of "not guilty." The defendant Sheffield was released, but was immediately rearrested on the charge of the theft of a team of mules, the complainant being D. B. Kilpatrick of Sheffield, Texas, a brother of the murdered man. Sheffield was immediately tried in the Justice Court of Ed. Maske and the case was dismissed and Sheffield released. It is his intention to remain in this vicinity and secure work.

In the injunction suit of Thomas Keehn vs. Monroe Harper and wife the court dissolved the injunction; held that the lease held by Keehn was a valid one, and severely criticized the litigants for taking up the time of the Court with trivial matters which in its opinion grew out of a neighborhood quarrel, and which might have been settled out of court. The Court stated that in its opinion either party to the lease was subject to suit in case of non-fulfillment of its provisions, and dismissed the case, assessing each litigant with their own costs.

In the case of Prichard vs. Fulmer et al being a suit on attorney's lien growing out of the foreclosure of a mortgage against the Parsons Mining Co., some time ago, the Court sustained the demurrer filed by attorney Hamilton for the defendant, and the plaintiff elected to stand on the complaint as filed, thus leaving the matter open for appeal.

In the case of J. S. Williamson et al vs. Chas. Stevens sheriff, being a reinstatement of an old case growing out of a sheriff's levy on some cattle, some time ago, judgment was rendered for defendant.

The criminal cases of State vs. Banta for larceny of horses, Elias Baca for larceny of saddle, Garcia Duran et al for compounding a felony, Emilio Flores for murder, W. C. Pittman, flourishing deadly weapon, Pursella Bros. for assault with deadly weapon, Y. H. Porter for burglary, Al. A. Highfill for allowing gaming on premises, Joan W. Owens for attempt to entice a witness, Dewey Herron for assault with deadly weapon, and several cases of alleged sales of liquor to minors, were all passed for this term to be taken up at the first of next term.

The case of John W. Owens and of Eusebio Carabajal cited to appear for contempt of court, growing out of the alleged attempt to influence Grand Jurors at this session, were set down for hearing Monday April 6th.

Ed Peters was found guilty of assault with deadly weapon, but sentence has not yet been passed. We intend to publish next week a complete resume of the entire proceedings of the term, which it is hoped will be finished by that time.

ROAD MEETING

The Commercial Club met Tuesday evening at the Outlook office to consider certain road matters that had been brought to their attention. Among them was a proposal from the Commercial club of Mountainair to construct a road from Mountainair via Gran Quivera to Carrizozo.

The people of Mountainair now have this road worked to the Gran Quivera from the Ocean to Ocean Highway which runs through the southern part of Torrance county and ask the Carrizozo club to assist by working on the section from Gran Quivera to Carrizozo.

It was found by questioning some of the members of the club who are familiar with the Gran Quivera road, that the road is in good condition now, with the exception of about two miles of sand just this side of the ruins, and the club has appointed a committee to see what can be done to put this part of the road in good condition.

It would be of great benefit to this town and county, if this can be done in time to get the road logged and posted in time for its appearance in the 1915 Automobile Blue Book, as it would undoubtedly bring many tourists through this way.

It so happens that the stretch of two miles that is in bad condition lies in a corner of Socorro county, and is hardly ever traveled by any inhabitants of that county, and it therefore would probably not be any easy matter to interest them in its improvement.

The secretary was instructed to write the Mountain Air Club advising them that we would be glad to have them meet with us here at any convenient date, and go over all road matters of interest.

Chas. F. Goddard representing some land owners in the southern part of the county, addressed the meeting and stated that the parties whom he represented felt that an injustice was being done them because of their having granted a right-of-way through their ranches for straightening of the Carrizozo-Tularosa road, and the land owners just south of Carrizozo had not done so and that they believed that the road should come straight up the railroad track clear into this town, as had been promised these land owners by the viewers of the said road.

A resolution was adopted stating that it was the sense of the Commercial Club that the road should be straightened throughout and avoid having the matter brought into court if possible, and a committee was appointed to see what arrangements could be made with the land owners affected.

William Barnett was unanimously endorsed as road foreman for this road district.

OUTLOOK MANAGEMENT CHANGES

O. T. Nye Succeeds Lee B. Chase as Editor and Publisher of the Carrizozo Outlook

MANY ADDITIONS TO BE MADE IN NEAR FUTURE

Commencing with this issue, this paper will be under the management of Orville T. Nye, who succeeded Lee B. Chase as editor and publisher on April first, having on that date secured control of the plant. It is Mr. Nye's intention to make several changes and improvements in the publishing of the paper and hopes to make it the best country newspaper in the southwest. He has arranged to retain Mr. Thos. O. Luster as manager of the mechanical end of the work and Mr. Nye will be assisted in a general way by W. H. Osborn, with whom he is associated in other business.

The new management intends adding to its staff of correspondents whenever necessary to thoroughly gather the news throughout Lincoln county, and wishes to do everything possible to make the contents of the paper of interest to everyone in this district. To this end they hope later on to be able to add a section printed in Spanish for the benefit of our residents who are more familiar with that language.

It is intended to make some changes in the mechanical equipment of the Outlook to facilitate the publishing of the paper and to enable them to handle all kinds of job work in a prompt and efficient manner.

CIVIC LEAGUE MEETS

At a meeting of the Civic League held Tuesday afternoon at the office of Mrs. W. L. Gumm an election of officers was held resulting in the election of Mrs. W. L. Gumm as president to succeed Mrs. G. L. Ulrick, Mrs. H. B. Hamilton as vice-president; Mrs. H. B. Dawson as secretary, and Mrs. John A. Haley as treasurer. The League made an appropriation from their treasury to cover the purchase of two large lights to be used in the interior lighting of the school house. They also decided to give the next monthly dances on Thursday night, April 16th, at which time it is probable that some special entertainment features will be added, consisting of some special dances given by the young ladies and other entertainment not yet decided upon.

NOT GUILTY

We are in receipt of a letter from H. S. Hauner of White Oaks in which he objects quite seriously to the publication of an article in which the Outlook under date of March 20th to the effect that the Fauvet ranch was being run as a Sanitarium etc., and while we believe that this article was inserted in a spirit of humor, we wish to state that although at that time the present management was not in control of the Outlook, we regret that a misrepresentation has been made and to announce that it is the intention of the new management to avoid the publishing in our news columns anything that is not purely and simply news.

The ISOLATED CONTINENT

A ROMANCE OF THE FUTURE

By GUIDO VON HORVATH and DEAN HOARD

COPYRIGHT 1913 BY W.G. CHAPMAN IN THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN

SYNOPSIS.

For fifty years the continent of North America had been isolated from the rest of the world by the use of Z-rays, a wonderful invention of Herthal Prudent. The invention had saved the country from foreign invasion, and the continent had been united under one government with Prudent as president. For half a century peace and prosperity reigned in this part of the world. The story opens with President Prudent critically ill. His death is hastened by the receipt of a message from Count von Werdenstein of Germany that he has at last succeeded in penetrating the rays. Dying, he warns his daughter Astra that this means a foreign invasion. He tells her to hurry to the island of Ciryath, but first she must tell the location of the place. Astra is nominated for the presidency by the continental party. Napoleon Edison calls on Astra, informs her that he was a pupil of her father's and promises to help her. He gives her a ring made of a newly discovered substance which, he says, will solve the problem of flying. Chevalier di Leon appears in Europe. He notes that preparations have been made for an invasion of America. He calls on von Werdenstein and offers him the secret of making gold. He demands in return absolute disarmament and peace.

CHAPTER V—Continued.

Seemingly it was a pleasant, enjoyable social affair, with everything so smooth and polished that one might easily make a dangerous slip and break his own neck.

When Chevalier di Leon arrived in his apartment he was well aware that he had been followed, but he did not care. He was thinking of the bewitching Countess Rosiny. Where had he met her?

At last he found the place in his well classified memories. "The American-Cafe Restaurant," he ejaculated. Then without further delay he went to bed.

The chancellor sat in his library awaiting the report of his followers. As soon as he received the information that the chevalier had gone to bed and was safely sleeping he did likewise, but he did not sleep as soundly as di Leon. He had troubled dreams.

The reports that the chancellor received from the men who were following the chevalier the next day were not exciting. He had visited the museums, studied new industries and, in fact, was interested in everything. Shortly before nightfall he went to his hangar, brought out his plane and cruised about above the city, finally ascending to such a height that he almost vanished from the eyes of the detectives. By ten o'clock he was again at the hotel.

Saturday evening the chevalier attended the house ball at the palace of the Countess Rosiny. He even played at the card tables, losing a few gold pieces. The detectives obtained a number of twenty mark coins and sent them to the chancellor with their report; every one was of nineteenth century make.

The Countess Rosiny was summoned to a long confidential talk. No one knew what they discussed, but when the countess was home and alone in her dainty, perfumed boudoir, she locked the door and flung herself on her sofa, weeping bitterly.

"I shall betray him, the first real man I have ever seen; besides, how can I be certain that he will love me?" She cleaved her little fist and shook it at the portrait of a man who happened to be her husband. "You need see what you have made of me!"

Everything went smoothly; nobody interfered with the chevalier's actions.

One evening, after returning from one of his daily aerial trips, as he jumped out of his machine, a dark robe was cast over his head and a number of men grasped him. He struggled, but strong hands held him fast, and a few minutes later he was bound and nearly suffocated by a heavy cloth that shut out the air. Then the cloth was removed and a tight fitting bandage placed over his eyes.

"Will the chevalier promise to keep quiet?" asked a strange voice. "For, in that case, I will not be forced to gag him."

"I promise," was the helpless chevalier's answer.

He was placed on a stretcher-like affair and carried away.

He could not see, but his sense of hearing told him that they carried him to a room by hangar; there he was placed in some kind of a bannan and he heard the chug, chug of a very powerful motor. The buzz of the propellers followed.

The next moment he felt the lifting of the aeroplane; the air craft made one turn, then shot out under full power. Several hours passed without change, but when the machine began to descend he recognized the fresh, salty air of the ocean, and he heard the water break on the rocks in a peculiar, mournful manner.

The machine landed and he heard muffled talk, but could not understand it. At last he was lifted out from the tonneau of the machine and carried into a building where the bandage was removed from his eyes and the ropes cut.

He found himself in a simply furnished, clean room with a uniformed officer standing beside him.

"Chevalier di Leon, this is your room; tomorrow we will have a talk." He saluted courteously and, turning on his heels, left, locking the door behind him.

CHAPTER VI.

The Message From Helgoland.

The election was over. Astra Prudent, daughter of Hannibal Prudent, had been elected President of the United Republics of America. The dignified Ambrosio Hale won the vice-presidency. The elections of the southern republics took place at different dates, but throughout the continent the continentals were in power. The girl, upon whom future responsibilities rested heavily, was strengthening herself for coming events. She was occupied consulting politicians, generals, admirals, making flying trips to the fortifications that were rapidly going up, or being remodeled according to the new requirements of the times.

"I Will Be There at 10, Your Excellency."

Constantly she expected news from the man she had seen only once, the man whom she looked upon as the deliverer of the American continent, and also the man she loved.

Days, weeks, months went by. The day of inauguration came. She had expected confidently that she would hear from him.

The whole American continent celebrated the day, but it was empty of joy for her, the President.

She appeared in white, simple, beautiful, unadorned except for the ring which he had given and she always wore. She looked like a bride on her way to the altar with the man she had chosen.

The ceremonies occupied almost the entire day, and the evening was spent at the ball given by the continentalists. Throughout the congratulations that were received a shadow was hovering over all.

It was late when Astra arrived at her home. She looked over the correspondence that awaited her. There was no line from the man whose handwriting she had never seen, no news whatever from Napoleon Edison.

Yet he had said: "You will hear from me as soon as I can tell you something definite. When you need me I will be at your side ready to help you."

With these thoughts to console her she bent her head to sleep.

The President was at her office early the next morning. Her first official action was to consult with the military commanders, then to send out a proclamation to all the republics of the greatest union of the world, giving them detailed instructions regarding the defense of the continent.

In accordance with the decision of the most competent military men, General Eugene Grant Quammet was appointed commander in chief of the continental armies of America. Extensive arrangements were made to enlist those who were willing to take up arms for the defense of their country, and the old form of national guard tactics were revived.

Astra labored day and night though she prayed that God would prevent the bloodshed for which she was preparing her people. Such were her thoughts and still no news came from the man who had promised so much.

Her cheeks began to lose their color, and her large eyes often looked longingly into the distance. "Why does he not come? Why does he not send a message?"

The Vice-president, Mr. Hale, was announced to her one evening. He bowed deeply before her as the President, then with the familiar air of a close friend, he took Astra's hand in his.

"My dear girl," he began, "I am much troubled; your efforts will undermine your health. The roses on your cheeks are already turning pale. You should think of yourself in the interest of the union, or you will be ill. My dear Astra, you know how much I— I adore you." He had retained Astra's hand, but at these words she slowly withdrew it.

"I first saw you when under the care of your father, watched you develop, strong and beautiful. I wish you would let me carry at least part of your burden. I am a man and I can stand more than a frail woman."

The girl president blushed; taking this for encouragement, Mr. Hale continued: "Astra, I love you, will you be my wife?"

The statesman stood helpless before the girl who smiled kindly at him. "Sit down, Mr. Vice-president, and be good enough to listen to me."

He obeyed and Astra sat down opposite him.

"Your proposal honors me, Mr. Vice-president; I am sorry that I am unable to accept it. The times that we are living in are such that matters such as this would be out of place, and while you have all my sympathy, I cannot tell you that you have my love."

A sigh escaped her lips; she thought of the man whom she loved, for whom she felt that she was created. She yearned to say some soothing words to the friend of her father, but just then a sharp ringing sounded through the whole suite. It was a signal for extremely important communications and she left hurriedly with a glance pleading for Hale's pardon.

A moment later Astra was in the library putting the electro-tylograph in working order with shaking fingers. She could hardly believe her eyes; the pointer of the machine was on the Island of Helgoland, the great German fortification.

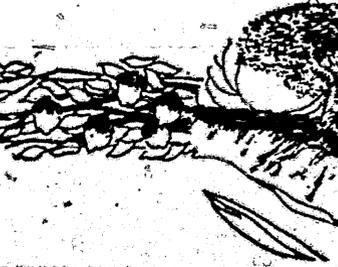

The machine was at last adjusted; the sparkling stopped and the strong, manly voice of Napoleon Edison was heard. His picture appeared on the heliplate, bowing smilingly toward the girl whose heart was beating painfully. Her blood rushed to her head as she responded to the greeting.

"Your excellency. I have to report that the confederated fleet of the European monarchies started for Madeira today. I have been a prisoner, but an hour ago I escaped. Tomorrow at 10:00 p. m. I will be at the Crystal Palace to tell you everything."

"I am so very, very happy that I have at last heard from you!"

Edison bowed; in the hazy background of the picture she could see another man holding a steering wheel in his hand, and beside him was the faint form of a woman watching Edison.

BRITONS FIRST TO USE SOAP

Roman Conquerors Said to Have Transferred Custom to Italy, From Whence It Spread.

One of the few inventions that are not ascribed to foreign ingenuity is that common household article soap. It is said that the ancient Britons were the first makers of soap, and that the Romans, when they conquered that island took the invention back with them to Italy.

Most of what we wash with is made from fat, but in foreign lands there are natural soaps. The is the soap root of Spain, the soap-berry of China, and the bark of the Peruvian soap-tree. At a little town in Mexico soap actually takes the place of copper coinage! In another part of the same South American republic the inhabitants eat soap, finding much nourishment therein.

The French term for soap, "savon," is the way, owing its origin to the towns of Savona, in France, where

"I will be there at ten, your excellency."

"I will expect you!" The picture vanished. She leaned over the plate that had, a second ago, reflected the image of the man in whom she placed all her hopes.

As she took the paper out of the machine to see the message she pondered: "The message came from Helgoland, and he says he will be here tomorrow. How can that be?"

Recalling that the Vice-president was waiting for her, she went back to the green room.

"A very important message came," she said to Hale, in extenuation of her long absence. Then, after a short pause, she added: "I may as well tell you now, the confederated European fleet is on its way to Madeira."

The Vice-President gasped. "And you have connections with Europe, your excellency?"

She smiled at his surprise. "Not connections; only one, but that one I believe in implicitly."

"Then there will be a session of the union ministers tomorrow?"

"Not tomorrow, but very likely the day after."

Shortly after this the Vice-president left and Astra retired to her private apartment, giving out orders no one should disturb her until the next morning.

When the tired, but now happy girl was alone, undisturbed, she kissed the ring with the word "Ciryath" on it, and looked up to heaven with joyful eyes. The man who gave her the ring was coming.

CHAPTER VII.

The Prison.

The morning after the imprisonment of the Chevalier di Leon a military official came into the room that served as his temporary cell.

"I have the liberty to offer you the freedom of the fort in case you give your word of honor not to try to escape. It will not cause you any uneasiness to do that, as there is not the slightest chance for you to gain your liberty."

"Captain, I thank you very much; not only will I not give my word, but I will tell you plainly that I intend to do my best to escape from this prison, where your superiors have placed me without having the slightest cause for the action." He smiled pleasantly at the captain and continued: "I can see that you realize how I feel about it, and for that reason I advise you to be on the alert or I will escape."

"Just as you please, chevalier. It is my duty to make your temporary detention as pleasant as possible, and if agreeable to you we can get acquainted at the breakfast table."

"That sounds good. I am hungry." The dining-room was comfortable and pleasant; the breakfast was simple and wholesome.

Prisoner and guard sat silent for a while, and at last the chevalier said: "I suppose it is vain for me to ask you the name of the place where I am imprisoned?"

"You are right, chevalier!"

"You have an advantage over me, captain. You know my name and I don't know yours; is it against your orders to tell me?"

"No, indeed, chevalier; my name is Hans Euler."

"Thank you, Captain Euler. I assure you that I am glad I have made your acquaintance."

They talked pleasantly during breakfast. Afterward the captain escorted his prisoner into the adjoining reading and billiard room. They played a game of carrombol.

IS CHILD CROSS, FEVERISH, SICK

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well child again. Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Adv.

Between the Acts.

"Sir," said the man in the orchestra chair, "in passing to and fro you have ruined my silk hat."

"I cannot help that, sir," said the other. "If you had gone out between the acts yourself your hat would not have suffered!"—Puck.

"What is the reason you never married, uncle?"

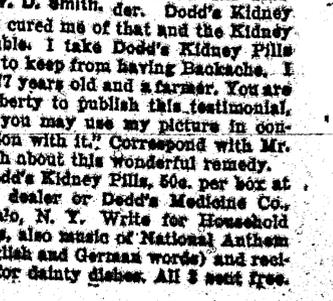

"I never found a girl who would have me, my dear."

"Say, uncle, our sex isn't so foolish as some men try to make out, is it?"

A GRATEFUL OLD MAN.

Mr. W. D. Smith, Ethel, Ky., writes: "I have been using Dodd's Kidney Pills for ten or twelve years and they have done me a great deal of good. I do not think I would be alive today if it were not for Dodd's Kidney Pills. I strained my back about forty years ago, which left it very weak. I was troubled with inflammation of the bladder. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of that and the Kidney Trouble. I take Dodd's Kidney Pills now to keep from having Backache. I am 77 years old and a farmer. POULTRY FOR MARKET

BIG PRICES ARE GIVEN ONLY TO THE FANCY STOCK.

Choice, Plump Stock is Demanded and Always Finds Ready Sale—Select Only Such Breeds as Will Please the Customer.

(By M. K. BOYER.)

Each year the poulterer better understands the care of poultry, knows their wants, and has discovered how to keep them comfortable. The comfortable hens are the ones that do the laying.

About 30 years ago, when poultry-raising was young, as a business, a cry arose that it would not be long before there would be such a surplus of stock that prices would go tumbling, but notwithstanding that, there are ten successful plants today to every one 30 years ago, and the demand not half reached! With the increase of supply came the increase of demand, and today we are no near-meeting the demand than we ever were.

However, there is a change in the market which must not be lost sight of. Almost anything in the poultry line sells, but the choice prices are alone given to the "fancy goods."

The word "fancy" implies more than appearance. It means also quality. Poultry and egg-buyers are becoming particular, but they are willing to pay for their goods. If they want the brown eggs they will not take white; and if they prefer the white, the brown offer no temptation. The market today demands choice, plump, fresh stock. Have you got it? If so the market is waiting for you.

We have today quite a number of breeds, and all, to a certain extent, are practical. But they will not any one of them fill all the purposes; therefore, it is necessary for a man to select only such breeds as will best serve his customers.

Of the entire list of breeds, none will meet the demands of Americans so satisfactory as do the American varieties, and in this class the most popular are the Wyandottes, the Plymouth Rocks and the Rhode Island Reds closely following. Also our American strains of Light Brahmas and Leghorns.

The Brahmas belong to the Asiatic class as a breed, but the Light Brahma, as bred by our people, is so different from that bred in England, that one would hardly suppose them to be of the same family. This is also true of the Leghorns, which belong to the Mediterranean class.

Best Insurance.

The silo is the best insurance a farmer can take out.

Shelter for the Colt.

Let the colt have shelter from storm, but let him have access to pasture also.

Skim Milk for Pigs.

Balance up skim milk for young pigs by adding milk. Skim milk alone compels the animal to eat undue quantities, and pot-bellied, unthrifty shoats result.

Ration for the Flock.

If you mix your own feed use one part corn, two parts oats and two parts wheat. Give the fowls lots of green food and do not forget the grit, oyster shells, charcoal, beef scraps and plenty of fresh water.

Preparing for Young Pigs.

Know the date when your sows are due to farrow, set it down as something important, then be on the ground on that date, not to fuss and cause disturbance, but quietly to watch and right things if anything needs righting. You may save more money indirectly through this watchfulness than by any other thing in dealing with hogs.

GETTING THE WINTER EGGS

Laying Hens Must Have Comfortable House, Plenty of Room and Sunlight and Ample Ventilation.

With eggs now close to 50 cents a dozen, it stands us in hand to plan our management so that our flock will do its best for the next few months. It is surprising what good care and intelligent feeding will do in producing winter eggs, and on the other hand, no branch of farming will show quicker losses than poor feeding and management of the winter layers.

Winter layers must have a comfortable house, plenty of room, plenty of sunlight and ample ventilation. Too much care cannot be given to providing good ventilation. Cold draughts will check the egg production and prove detrimental to the health of the flock.

With a good, clean and dry house and plenty of egg-making foods, we shall get eggs. On farms where we can feed a variety of grain foods and a mash once a day composed of cut clover or alfalfa steamed or mixed with a bran, cornmeal and green cut bone, egg production is a simple matter. Feed a tempting variety of grain foods and meat foods, keep pure water before them and keep the floors so clean that any part may be used for a scratching floor and you may rest assured that you have done your part toward securing winter eggs.

Charred corn is an excellent corrector of indigestion. Lay a few ears in the oven once or twice a week and bake until they are burnt.

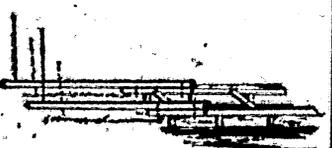

Tame your fowls and give them reason to have faith in you. To have them nearly scared to death every time you come near is not only inconvenient but is a poor way to have them thrive.

MAKING MORE ROOM ON SLED

Arrangement Like One Shown in Illustration Will Be Found Handy in Hauling Corn Stalks.

When hauling brush, fodder, corn-stalks or any light material, the ordinary sled is not long enough to hold much of a load in weight. An arrangement like the one shown in the drawing will be quite a help in turning off the work, especially in clearing off the brush after the trees in the orchard have been trimmed, in clearing brush from the wood lot and in hauling the surplus corn fodder and stalks to the little rats and gullies. A large load of stalks will go a great way in stopping these if the work is begun in time.

For the extension rails a piece of 4-by-1-inch stuff, 10 or 12 feet long will be the thing. Let these rails lap on the top rails of the sled four or five feet. Mark off for holes as indicated by the dotted lines. These should be one inch in size. The hole next to the end of the sled, should be ten inches or one foot from the end, and the other one about the same distance from the end of the extension rail. Bore one and one-half inch holes for the standards near the out-end of the extension rails. Wooden pins holds the extension rails in place and bands of iron keeps them from lifting up. These bands are shown in the drawing. A half-inch bolt placed through the top rail of the sled and through the band holds the rails together.

When not in use the extension rails should be laid away in the loft of the barn or in some place where they will keep straight and in good shape when next they are wanted.

BEANS ARE PROFITABLE CROP

Soil Must Be in Good State of Productiveness to Grow Any Kind of Crop—Good in Rotation.

The old-fashioned saying that land is too poor to grow a good crop of white beans has been the cause of many farmers giving up bean growing. It is a mistake to imagine any soil will grow a good crop of beans or anything else unless it is in a good state of productiveness.

From our own experience we are convinced that beans are one of the best cash or market crops that a farmer can grow for they are a cash crop that will always bring a fair price and find ready sale in all sections of the country.

They are an easy crop on the soil and beans, wheat and clover and make one of the best and most profitable rotations that can be planned out on any farm, especially where a limited amount of manure is available.

Feel All Used Up?

Every Picture Tells a Story

"What will help my back?"

Ever feel that you can go no further—that you must have rest for that lame and aching back—relief from that constant, dead-tired feeling?

Have you suspected your kidneys?

Kidney disease shows itself in back-ache, nervous troubles and disorders of the kidney secretions. If tired, worried, lame, rheumatic, dizzy and nervous don't let a possible weakness of the kidneys escape attention until it turns into a case of gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease.

Sick kidneys go from bad to worse. Their useful work of filtering the blood is only partly done. Poisons that should be passed out with the kidney secretions are held in the blood, circulating freely, attacking muscles, nerves and vital organs. The kidneys inflame, swell and throb, and that is the cause of sharp pains in the back, or that dull, constant heavy ache.

For quick help use Doan's Kidney Pills. No other kidney remedy is used and recommended so generally. Take them when you feel the first bad backache, or see the first disturbance of the kidney secretions. Doan's have brought new life and strength to thousands of despairing men and women, and there is nothing in the remedy to cause any harm or start a pill-taking habit.

Here's the best of proof—testimony from a grateful user.

DOCTORS' TREATMENT FAILED

Colorado Man Tells a Story of Awful Suffering.

L. M. Drake, 223 Bluff St., Denver, Colo., says: "I was so bad with kidney complaint that I thought I was going to die. My feet were terribly swollen and I couldn't wear my shoes. My limbs swelled too and my heart wasn't just right; I often had to gasp for breath. For months I couldn't work and I couldn't hobble a block without sitting down to rest. For several days there wouldn't be a free flow of the kidney secretions and the passages were terribly scalding. Doctors didn't help me and one remedy after another failed. A relative wrote me to use Doan's Kidney Pills and the first box brought wonderful relief. The kidney secretions got all right and the swelling went down. In a short time I was back to work in good health. Doan's Kidney Pills alone cured me and the cure has been permanent. I hope that other kidney sufferers will read about my experience and give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

No Argument. Andrew Carnegie, proponent of a war advocate, told a New York reporter a little story.

"The argument of this war advocate—the argument that warfare perfects a man's character, for example—are just as senseless as that of the Bullfrog fire-eater.

"The sheriff of Bullfrog told a fire-eater that, since he had already killed seven men, he must cease to go armed. "What!" roared the fire-eater. "What, me not go armed? And every little Bullfrog wild fowler has a pistol and shoots!"

ERUPTION ON ANKLE BURNED

Kingsville, Mo.—"My trouble began eighteen years ago. Nearly half of the time there were running sores around my ankle; sometimes it would be two years at a time before they were healed. There were many nights I did not sleep because of the great suffering. The sores were deep running ones and so sore that I could not bear for anything to touch them. They would burn all the time and sting like a lot of bees were confined around my ankle. I could not bear to scratch it, it was always so sensitive to the touch. I could not let my clothes touch it. The skin was very red. I made what I called a cap out of white felt, blotting paper and soft white cloth to hold it in shape. This I wore night and day.

"I tried many remedies for most of the eighteen years with no effect. Last summer I sent for some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The very first time I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment I gained relief; they relieved the pain right then. It was three months from the time I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment until the sores were entirely healed. I have not been troubled since and my ankle seems perfectly well." (Signed) Mrs. Charles E. Brooke, Oct. 22, 1912.

OUR CREED

It is our intention to conduct a clean paper, to print all the news obtainable of the county and vicinity after making sure that it is news; to support the principles of the Republican party and promulgate its teachings whenever consistent with our ideas of right and wrong; to consistently and continually boost and do everything in our power to promote the advancement of Lincoln County, by giving publicity to the development of its varied resources, by bringing its attractions before the people who may assist in such development, and by aiding in any possible way such organizations as may have for their purpose the advancement of New Mexico and of this county.

We believe that more organized effort is needed to present the many features that go to make this section one of the most favorable to homeseekers, and that such effort directed through the proper channels, such as the improvement of our roads, our school system, our churches and public buildings, and by the giving of proper publicity will eventually bring the desired results, and to these ends we pledge our services and the columns of the Outlook

We realize that this declaration of our hopes and intentions is ambitious, it is intended to be so, and it rests largely with you as readers and advertisers, whether we can 'make good' our vision of a greater Carrizozo, a greater Lincoln County and a greater Outlook.

FOR REFORM IN TAXATION

Reforms in taxation, whereby property in New Mexico shall be assessed equably and at its full worth, bringing the total tax valuation of the state up to $450,000,000 thereby reducing the tax rate materially and providing sufficient funds for the conduct of the state government, are advocated by governor W. C. McDonald, of New Mexico, who spent Monday in El Paso, stopping here while on his way from his cattle ranch near Carrizozo, New Mex., to Santa Fe. "There is no one who is at all informed on New Mexico's conditions but who believes that the total value of taxable property in the state will reach $450,000,000, or even $500,000,000," declared the governor. "This being true, then there is no excuse for not securing the return of this amount of property for taxation, thereby lowering the tax rate to a figure whereby newcomers and capital will be encouraged to come into the state.

STATE BOARD NEEDS MORE POWER

There is urgent need for granting to the state board of equalization more power to equalize assessments and for appropriating a fund sufficient to enable this board to carry its investigations into the various counties where inequalities in assessments prevail and where assessors fail to do their duty.

"There is much for the next legislature to do and in order that it may be done, I believe that the election of a Democratic majority of the house is absolutely necessary. That the Democrats will secure a working majority, I believe is possible, despite the legislative apportionment of the state, which is a serious handicap to Democratic victory. I am going to take an active part in the campaign to insure a Democratic victory at the polls and expect to go on the stump during the campaign."

FAVORS FERGUSSON'S REELECTION

Governor McDonald favors the renomination and reelection of congressman H. B. Fergusson, Democrat of Albuquerque for congress. He said that congressman Fergusson was working all the time for the interests of New Mexico and that he enjoyed the confidence of the administration.

The governor who recently returned from Washington, spoke enthusiastically of president Wilson. "Everybody in the east and whom I met on the train were for Wilson," said the governor. He is making good and enjoys the people, the governor said.

OPPOSED TO INTERVENTION

The governor is vigorously opposed to intervention in Mexico. "It would hurt the United States for 50 years to come," said governor McDonald, "to send an armed force into Mexico. It would not only hurt us with Mexico, but with all the Latin American countries. You couldn't convince the Mexican people that the United States was not the acquisition of territory. Then too, if we went into Mexico, when would we ever be able to withdraw our army?"

Asked what his opinion was of Carranza and Villa, the governor declined to state, saying he had simply met the two "Constitutionalists", chiefs and had not an opportunity on so short an acquaintance to form an opinion as to the merits or demerits of the men, or the cause which they espoused.—El Paso Herald.

MAY ELECT EDITORS

A situation unique in the annals of state legislature may be brought about at the election in New Mexico next November, when the full membership of the house of representatives of the state legislature will be elected, as well as a member of congress and a member of the state corporation commission. The movement now being fostered is to elect a majority of editors to the house, the total membership of which is 79. The editors are enthusiastic about the plan, since if they had a working majority in the assembly legislation, beneficial to them, as well as for the good of the state, could be enacted, they argue. The editors are particularly aggrieved over the hostile libel law now on the statute books, as well as laws affecting legal publications which they allege are discriminatory to a marked degree. These they would endeavor to have repealed.

As one prominent editor recently put it: "The newspapers are eternally hammering away for 'needed legislation,' and fighting for the rights of the people. In nine cases out of ten they advocate various and sundry reforms in vain. The ordinary soul turns a deaf ear to the newspaper—after he is elected—and legislates to suit his particular constituency or to satisfy his personal interests. It is a case of the 'newspapers be damned' after the votes are counted."

The plan under consideration now is to have a conference of editors this summer, parcel out the tentative nominations in the various legislative districts among the and then begin an active campaign to secure their nomination and election. Any ticket, Republican, Democratic or "Progressive" will suit the editors as a vehicle to be elected on, since the cause for which they stand is a common one.

DAMAGES AWARDED

A verdict of $18,750 was returned by the Jury in favor of Mrs. Angele La Londe, who was suing the El Paso & Southwestern Railway company, in the 34th district court for $25,000 damages for the death of her husband, H. E. La Londe. The case was given to the jury Tuesday afternoon. La Londe before his death, was in the employ of the Southwestern as a freight conductor. He was killed about two years ago at Carrizozo, New Mexico, when he was struck by a passenger train of the defendant company. On the first trial of the case the jury was unable to agree.—El Paso Herald.

Editor of the outlook:

What kind of people live in the Gallinas Mountains? In the later part of January last, with the kind assistance of Mr. Geo. Coldiron I brought my sick husband on a mattress in a wagon to the railroad and then on to El Paso for treatment. Before leaving "Red Cloud Cabin" our mountain home, I locked, barred and nailed all windows and doors. This Cabin contains all of our earthly possessions as we have lived in it for over a year, bringing all of our belongings from El Paso. What have we done to these people that they should break into our home?

"WHERE YOUR TREASURE IS"
Lukes 12:13-34—March 1.
"Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also."—V. 34.

JESUS was surrounded by a multitude of Jews, one of whom requested that Jesus admonish his brother to give him a share of the family inheritance. Jesus declined, saying that He was not a judge or a divider, and backing His refusal with a caution against covetousness. This implies that the man who addressed Jesus was coveting what legally belonged to his brother. Jesus would have him, and all, see that abundance of earthly possessions is not the sum of life. The basis of happiness is measured by the soul's relationship to God and hope in Him.

God's promise to Israel was that if they would keep the Law, they would inherit the Promise made to Abraham, and be used as God's Kingdom to bless the world. Their difficulty was that they were unable to keep the Divine requirements. Nevertheless, the Kingdom hope was ever uppermost in their minds.

JESUS came into the world to give Himself a "Ransom for all" (1 Timothy 2, 6), and to begin the work of calling "Israelites indeed," to constitute His associates in the Kingdom. He kept the Law perfectly, and, additionally, laid down His life sacrificially for Adam and his race. This sacrifice enabled Him to make good for the unintentional shortcomings of all "Israelites indeed." While they could not keep the Law and thus obtain the Kingdom, they could by accepting Christ have the righteousness of the Law imputed to them and be acceptable to God. Hence Jesus' preaching was wholly among Kingdom lines, to the people who for centuries had striven to constitute that Kingdom.

The first opportunity for membership in that Kingdom was granted Israel; and only in proportion as they rejected the favor did it pass to the Gentiles, as St. Paul said, (Acts 13:46). In view of these facts we see that Jesus' teachings were not addressed to the world, but to the people of God.

"Soul, Take Thine Ease."

Our Lord gave a parable illustrating the comparative folly of all earthly ambitions in contrast with the one great possibility of the Kingdom. The parable tells of a rich farmer who built greater barns and storehouses, with the thought of thenceforth taking his ease. But ere long he died.

Many read into this parable things which it does not contain. They infer that the rich man went to eternal torment; but nothing in the Lord's words so intimates. The expression, "This night shall thy soul be required of thee," signifies, This night you shall die in poverty. Earthly riches will be of no account in the future. The lesson is that spiritual riches should be laid up instead.

That rich man might have consecrated his life to God through Christ, and then faithfully laid down time, talent, opportunities, wealth, sacrificially. Thus he would have laid up treasures in Heaven, and in the resurrection would have been received of the Lord as a member of His Kingdom class, commissioned to scatter Divine blessings for a thousand years to all the families of the earth.

That rich man, having missed his opportunities, will nevertheless come forth during Christ's Millennial Kingdom; for all in the graves shall hear the voice of the Son of God and come forth. His resurrection will be that described as the Resurrection of Judgment. (John 5:29, R. V.) He will come forth to shame and contempt, which will continue until he dies a second death, being refused to do so, he will be cut off in the Second Death.

"Seek First the Kingdom."

Jesus did not mean that we are to look amongst the Kingdoms of earth hoping to find one of them His Kingdom. On the contrary, He informs us that His Kingdom is future: "My Kingdom is not of this world"—this order of things. We hope, we wait, we pray, we prepare for that Kingdom, seeking it in the sense of doing those things which shall make us "meet for the inheritance of the saints in light."

BLACKFEET'S SACRED FESTIVAL

CHIEF'S TEEPEE (BY YEARS OLD) AT COUNCIL

THE TROU DANCERS

PICTURE to yourself a vast treeless plain with high snow capped mountains in the distance. On this level stretch of ground Indian teepees are arranged in a semi-circle. Some are white, others are yellow or red or brown. At one side two tall trees are stripped of their branches. This is for the ceremonies of the medicine lodge. There is a motley crowd of Indians on foot and on horseback. Mingling with them are white men and women from the adjoining country. All are massed around a circular rope fence, inside of which the Blackfeet Indians are holding their annual festival with stories and sacred dances.

If you were in Montana last June this is what you would have witnessed when 3,000 Piegan Indians from Canada and this country held at Browning, the Indian reservation just outside of the Glacier National Park, their remarkably festival. The varicolored teepees held members of many tribes of Indians. The dances which were witnessed are old, old, so ancient that the Indian cannot tell when they started. The beaded jackets, strange feathered headdress, medicine bags and deerskin suits which Indian chiefs wear cannot be purchased for money and the strange chants are handed down from father to son.

If you press closer to the rope fence and mingle more freely with the onlookers you will see among the crowd white men in khaki suits, high boots, sombreros, and white women watching the dances, which last for four or five days and which afford the Indian an opportunity to renew acquaintances and go through religious ceremonies.

Perhaps by your side is a young Indian girl on a pony with trappings of beadwork; next to her is a New York society woman, and jogging elbows with her is an old Indian squaw with blanket or beaded cape and black hair braided down her back. In her arms she holds a blinking Indian baby, strapped to the back board and swathed in embroidered and beaded blankets which lace together. On the outskirts of the crowd are Indians sitting on horses to which are attached the travois for carrying burdens, for they may have come a long distance. Over all, the onlookers, the dancing chiefs, the singing and swaying Indians, the hot sun beats down.

Then suddenly the chiefs cease to chant. Several other leaders of the tribe push into the circle and begin a rhythmic song. Tomtoms are beaten, the Indian braves shout and leap, coming down always on the ground on a certain beat of the music. The Indian women, leaping to their feet, join in a circle that revolves and revolves and produces a hypnotic influence which in some cases seizes the white onlookers.

These Blackfeet Indians with their love songs, their wolf songs, their celebration songs, children's game songs and tribal hymns fascinate you. Their dances, the sun dance, the snake dance, the grass dance, are among the most interesting given by the Indians. Though some of these redmen may ordinarily dress in the store clothes of the white man they are all interested enough in their tribal dances to assume their ancestral garb when the dance and song festivals occur. They look upon many of these ceremonies as having religious character expressive of their beliefs. The sun dance as given by them always has its beginning in a woman's prayer for the recovery of the sick and the whole tribe come together to fulfill vows, to fast and to pray, as well as to seek what diversion dancing affords.

The chief dancer of these Indians is Chief Fish Wolf Hobe. He has many handsome costumes. Some of them are of buckskin with necklace of many strands of beads and leggings and moccasins ornamented with porcupine quills. Another chief may wear a war bonnet of feathers tipped with stained horsehair. Otter and mink skins are woven in and out and the animals' tails hang down behind. Bracelets and leggings of tanned deer skin ornamented with porcupine quills are common.

The Blackfeet Indians have from time immemorial known of a wonderful trail which runs north and south along the Rocky mountains. According to authorities who have gained the confidence of the chiefs, no one knows how old this trail is. It is called the "Old North Trail" and is worn deep by the feet of travelers.

Though it is not used much now since railroads have come, the deep ruts still show amid weeds and mosses. This trail runs at a uniform distance from the Rockies, passes near where the city of Helena now stands and extends south as far as Mexico.

The road has been frequented by Canadian Indians as well as American redmen and it forks where Calgary stands in Canada. This Old North trail has many traditions connected with it and stories are told of expeditions of Canadian Indians who went south to the dark-skinned people (Mexicans). It took 12 moons of steady traveling.

There are many legends in Glacier National Park connected with the early life of the Blackfeet tribe. One of these is associated with the beautiful Two Medicine lakes. Here is the story as told by a Blackfeet chief:

"Many years ago there was a famine in the land of the Blackfeet, which is set down by my father from 1825 to 1827. At that time the Blackfeet Indians owned everything from Hudson bay to the Rocky mountains, and in all that land there was no green spot except in the valley that is called Two Medicine. Even the buffalo left the country because there was no food for them and the Indians that sought refuge in the mountains found no game or anything to eat except berries.

"Then the old men of the tribe withdrew to the valley that is now called Two Medicine and built there two medicine lodges, so great was their need. They worshiped the Great Spirit and prayed to be told what they should do to be saved from the famine. And the Great Spirit heard them and directed them to send seven of their patriarchs to the Chief mountain, where the wind god was then residing.

"They followed these directions and seven of their oldest men retired to Chief mountain, and there surely was the wind god. He stood at the summit of the mountain and the wings extending from his shoulders spread wide over the valleys. He faced north, east, south and west and his wings quivered as he stood. The old men worshiped him from afar but were afraid to come near him to make their prayers, and after their long journey they went back empty handed to their people.

"Then the medicine men directed them to send 14 of their strongest and bravest young warriors to intercede with the wind god. These young men also when they reached the mountain and saw the wind god were afraid, but they drew nearer and nearer to him and finally they dared to touch the skins he was wearing. They made their prayer to him and he listened and his wings quivered and quivered and gradually clouds began to gather over the plains and the rain fell as if in a deluge. He stretched one wing wide over the plain telling them to go back there and they would find the buffalo.

"The warriors then descended to the valley and brought the good news to their people, and they found that already the buffalo had come back and the famine was broken. And ever afterward the valley was called the Valley of the Two Medicine in memory of the medicine lodges that were there erected to the Great Spirit in the time of famine."

Witty Retort.

Curran was on terms of intense animosity with Lord Clare, the Irish lord chancellor, with whom when a member of the bar he fought a duel, and whose hostility to him on the bench he always said caused him losses in his professional income which he could not estimate at less than $25,000.

The incidents attendant on this disagreement were at times ludicrous in the extreme. One day, when it was known that Curran was to make an elaborate statement in chancery, Lord Clare brought a large Newfoundland dog upon the bench with him, and during the progress of the argument he lent his ear much more to the dog than to the barrister. This was observed at length by the entire profession. In time the lord chancellor lost all regard for decency. He turned himself quite aside in the most material part of the case, and began in full court to fondle the animal. Curran stopped at once.

"Go on, go on, Mr. Curran," said Lord Clare.

"Oh, I beg a thousand pardons, my lord; I really took it for granted that your lordship was employed in consultation."

New Meat Juice Cure.

Prof. Charles Ribbet, to whom the Nobel prize for medicine was awarded last year, declares that if a person suffering with tuberculosis will go to a slaughter house daily and drink the fresh juice extracted from eight or ten pounds of raw beef, he will be cured within three years.

GROW WHEAT ON DRY FARMS

Many of Roots of Plant Will Descend to Depth of Eight Feet in Search of Needed Moisture.

(By E. H. WATSON.)

An examination of the underground portion of the wheat plant will bring to light some very interesting facts. It will be found that in a well developed plant, growing under favorable dry farm conditions, that as many as 50 roots or more will descend to a probable depth of eight feet. Each root is supplied with a system of laterals which vary from one to six inches in length and which are spaced on either side of the main root from one-eighth to one-fourth of an inch apart. A very conservative estimate of the combined length of all the laterals of a single root might be placed as ten times the length of the root itself. It thus becomes a simple matter of calculation to learn that the entire root system of a single wheat plant may approach a mile in length—a fact not so startling when we consider that a single seed can reproduce itself one thousand fold. With plants which possess such an enormous root system it is now apparent why some farmers can mature plants without one drop of rain falling during the growing period. It must be borne in mind, however, that the wheat plant cannot mature without moisture, but if given half a chance will forage into the depths of the soil in search of that moisture which the wise farmer has stored up during years of plenty. Yet in spite of this fact, not one farmer in ten thousand is acquainted with the range of the root system of the wheat plant he grows year after year. In fact, it is a current belief among dry farmers themselves that such roots penetrate the soil to a depth of but six to twelve inches.

The roots of the wheat plants of farmers who do not believe in the theories which underlie the storing of moisture in the soil, are burned out during times of drought. However, the plants of the deep-rooted farmer, go down ten feet into the soil, and this farmer sows seed wheat to the shallow-rooted farmer. Does it pay to learn how the wheat plant grows?

Farmers who have the knack of making good meat can add to their profits by curing hams, shoulders and bacon instead of allowing the packers to make the profits in this way.

Excellent for Poultry.

Throw an armful of clover or alfalfa or grain hay into the poultry yard during these days of absence of green vegetation, and see what the fowls do to it.

Spraying Failures.

Many failures from spraying result from working when the temperature is below 40 degrees.

Clean Bedding for Ducks.

For ducks provide plenty of clean bedding and change it frequently. Straw or litter should be kept on the floors all the time. If bedding material is plentiful put it on several inches thick. It will help to keep the ducks comfortable and also keep the floors clean, thus serving a double purpose. Never pick ducks in cold weather nor during the laying season.

Protect Foundations.

Some of the farm buildings will need protection around the foundation; or, in other words, they should be banked up either with building paper or with good coarse straw and manure. This is important where there is an opportunity for drafts around the foundation of the building.

Also Feed for Weal.

Remember that when you are feeding for the lamb crop, you are also feeding for weal.

Means Uniformity.

Pure bred poultry means uniformity of products.

DRUG HOUSE ENJOINED

E. FEDERAL COURT

Judge Jeremiah Neterer, of the United States district court, today granted a permanent injunction in behalf of the Centaur Company of New York, the manufacturers of Fletcher's Castoria, against the Stewart & Holmes Drug Company of this city.

The controversy arose from the simulating of the labels of this well-known preparation, and from the evidence filed in the case it was shown that the infringing label was first discovered on sale in Honolulu, and was traced to its origin here in Seattle.

The defendant company is one of the oldest and largest concerns of its kind in the Northwest.

The decree carries with it an order that the Stewart & Holmes Company recall the goods which are on the market under the infringing label, and to pay all costs in the suit and damages assessed at $400.—Seattle, Wash., "Times."—Adv.

PROFIT IN WRECKS

Sunken Ships Sometimes Yield Very Rich Treasures.

Lucky Investment by Melbourne Firm in French Bark Brought Concern $60,000 for $1,840—Treasures on British Coast.

London.—Another instance of lucky speculation in wrecks has been provided, a Melbourne firm having bought a disabled ship for $1,840 and found that it was worth $60,000. The ship was the Jean Bart, a French bark of 1,981 tons net, and she was saved from entire destruction and towed into harbor after lying a battered wreck for two months.

The bark was on a voyage from Antwerp to Wallaroo, laden with 3,000 tons of pig iron and coke, when she ran aground on Waudang Island, in Spencer gulf, South Australia. Her hold quickly filled and it was soon impossible to float her. For two months she was in this condition, the whole after part of the ship being under water. Her captain cabled to his owners in France for orders and received a reply to the effect that she should be sold at auction.

A number of Australian firms sent representatives to inspect the wreck, but none of them thought that it was worth while to buy. It was confidently stated that salvage was hopeless, but J. Bell & Co., grain merchants of Melbourne, made a bid, and the wreck was sold for $1,840. Some critics laughed and remarked that they were paying for a hold full of water which could not be raised. Messrs. Bell said nothing, but engaged a diver to inspect the vessel, and then the news became known that the damage to the bark was only slight. A hole a little more than a foot in diameter had been torn in the bows and the diver reported that this could easily be repaired.

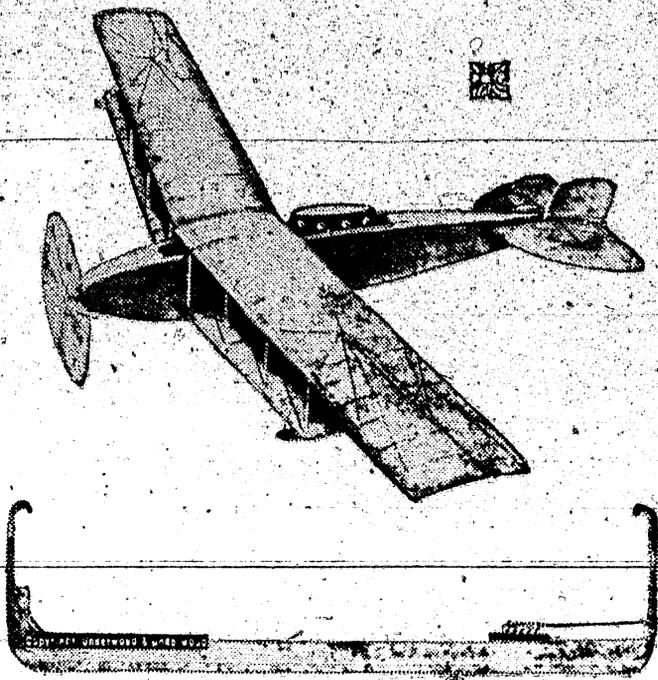

Work was begun at once, the water was pumped out of the hold after the hole had been plugged up, and after the vessel was thus lightened she was towed off and beached. After that further repairs were carried out, so that the ship could be brought to Melbourne to be docked. The work was successful. In spite of a strong gale right ahead the vessel was towed by a powerful tug to her destination and now it is seen that the value of the ship and cargo is over $60,000. It is believed that before long the Jean Bart will be sailing the sea again, for she is very little damaged.

At Lloyd's a newspaper representative was informed that though this is regarded as one of the plums of the business, there have been several similar ones. "Round the shores of Britain every year," said a marine broker, "there is a large number of wrecks which would yield a large profit to any enterprising buyer provided he had the necessary facilities to sell or dispose of the property."

"Some time ago a steamer was wrecked off Yorkshire, and the buyer was a man who knew little about such matters, but he bought the vessel for about $1,500. It was not a big ship, but she had a valuable cargo on board, and it was feared that the bottom had been ripped out of the ship and the cargo lost. In the cargo was a large number of pictures. Few firms cared to touch the business, and the underwriters let it go for the sum stated. But the ship was inspected and raised, and then, to the surprise of everybody, the cargo was discovered to be little worse for its immersion. The property sold for nearly $50,000."

"There was another case a year or so ago of a ship which was wrecked with a valuable cargo on the coast of Africa. She was given up as hopeless and sold for a song. The new owner took a sporting chance—knowing the value of the cargo—of charter-

First sketch of the gigantic hydroplane being built to carry out Rodman Wanamaker's plan of crossing the ocean this summer. The hydro was designed by Glenn Curtiss and will have a boat hull 35 feet long, entirely enclosed. The 200-horsepower motor will be put right up in the bow.

ing a ship and sailing out to the wreck. He succeeded in raising her and towed her to Gibraltar. Here the cable parted and she was lost for two days, but ultimately was found again and brought to the Thames. That ship is still sailing the seas under another name, and the owner made his fortune out of the deal.

"Few people have any idea that we have scores of wrecks lying around our shores. In some cases they are entirely abandoned to anyone who cares to take the 'pickings,' but in others they have been sold to local firms for a small sum. Even the amount of iron and wood in some hulls would pay for the cost of salvage. One easily remembers the fate of the Oceana, which went down off Folkestone; the Manratta, on the Goodwins, and the Preussen. From the Lizard one can see quite a number of wrecks on the coast line, and it has often been suggested that if these boats were salvaged systematically a profitable business could be built up in that way."

SEEK AN EDUCATION

Immigrants Keenly Interested in Children's Schooling.

Foreigners Conspicuously Obedient to School Attendance Laws Says U. S. Commissioner of Education Dr. P. P. Claxton.

Washington.—That immigrants are keenly interested in schooling for their children, or at least conspicuously obedient to school-attendance laws, is the declaration of Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education. "The least illiterate of our population are the native-born children of foreign parents," says Doctor Claxton, in a bulletin on education for immigrants just issued. "The illiteracy among the children of native-born parents is three times as great as that among native-born children of foreign parents."

Doctor Claxton reviews the whole problem of education for immigrants, in and out of school. "To the people of no other country is the problem of so much importance as to the people of the United States. No other country has so many men, women and children coming to its shores every year from all parts of the world."

"Many of those who have come to us in recent years are from countries having very meager provisions for public education. According to the federal census of 1910, more than 25 per cent. of the foreign-born population of three states was illiterate, from 15 to 25 per cent. of five states, from 10 to 15 per cent. of 11 states, and from five to ten per cent. of 21 states.

could run the unemployment committee to suit itself they would not give one cent to help these poor girls get publicity."

"You are just an ordinary liar!" cried Miss Pauline Newman. "What I did say was that if we gave money we had a right to know what was going on."

Hecht retorted hotly. Women broke into the argument to aid Miss Newman. Miss Mary Dreier, president of the league, was vainly trying to make peace, and Miss Axelrad was pounding her gavel for order when the large, muscular Miss Maggie Hinchey appeared in the doorway. Maggie formerly was a laundress. Calmly rolling up her sleeves, she approached Hecht.

"I'll give you just one minute to clear out," said she. He hesitated. Her trusty right shot out. He fled to the corridor and passed there. Maggie followed, and within two minutes he was on the sidewalk.

Arrangements were then made for a mass meeting at Cooper union.

Hecht, on the outside, announced that a rival meeting would take place

"Most of the immigrants in recent years have little kinship with the older stocks of our population, either in blood, language, methods of thought, traditions, manners or customs; they know little of our political and civic life, and are unused to our social ideals; their environment here is wholly different from that to which they have been accustomed. Strangers to each other, frequently from countries hostile to each other by tradition, of different speech and creeds, they are thrown together, strangers among strangers, in a strange country, and are thought of by us only as a conglomerate mass of foreigners.

"Immigrant education is not alone the question of the school education of children. The millions of adult men and women, and of children older than the upper limit of the compulsory school-attendance age, must be looked after; they must be prepared for American citizenship and for participation in our democratic industrial, social and religious life; they must be given sympathetic help in finding themselves in their new environment and in adjusting themselves to their new opportunities and responsibilities. The proper education of these people is a duty which the nation owes to itself and to them. It can neglect this duty only to their hurt and its own peril."

STRONG ON SPELLING REFORM

Critics of Present System Again Urge More Logical Method of Orthography.

London.—Spelling reform is being discussed again. William Archer, in the course of a recent speech, declared there is not a single letter in the English language to which only one sound is attached, nor is there a sound which is represented by only one letter.

If one took the "a" sound in "bed," he said, one would find it spelled seven different ways in as many different words, for exactly the same vowel sound occurred in "head," "may," "leopard," "said," "says," and "paper."

When a child asks why "proceed" and "recede" are not spelled the same way in the last syllable, nobody can possibly give him a reasonable answer.

"CASCARETS" FOR SLUGGISH LIVER

No sick headache, sour stomach, biliousness or constipation by morning.

Get a 10-cent box now. Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out to-night, and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret to-night straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken. Adv.

Napoleon's Vain Struggle.
One hundred years ago the Emperor Napoleon, after having fought three battles with the allies in three successive days, met Blucher himself at Vauchamps, and, after a keenly fought engagement, drove the invaders back with considerable loss. By the four engagements with the Silesian army, fought between February 10 and February 14, Napoleon gained 18,000 prisoners whom he at once sent to Paris in order to raise the depressed spirits of the populace. In that, however, he only succeeded imperfectly, for while Blucher was temporarily held in check Prince Schwartzberg advanced up the Seine toward Paris, and the Russians under the Emperor Alexander were likewise pressing steadily forward with the French capital as their objective.

NO GUSHER
But Tells Facts About Postum.

A Wis. lady found an easy and safe way out of the ills caused by coffee. She says:

"We quit coffee and have used Postum for the past eight years, and drink it nearly every meal. We never tire of it.

"For several years previous to quitting coffee I had scarcely eat anything on account of dyspepsia, bloating after meals, palpitation, sick headache—in fact was in such misery and distress I tried living on hot water and toast.

"Hearing of Postum I began drinking it and found it delicious. My ailments disappeared, and now I can eat anything I want without trouble.

"My parents and husband had about the same experience. Mother would often suffer after eating, while yet drinking coffee. My husband was a great coffee drinker and suffered from indigestion and headache.

"After he stopped coffee and began Postum both ailments left him. He will not drink anything else now and we have it three times a day. I could write more but am no gusher—only state plain facts."

DEATH RATE IN DENVER LOW.

Fourth Lowest, With 14.5 Per Thousand—Memphis Highest.

Washington.—The general condition of the public health is good, but there were more deaths last year than in 1912, according to mortality statistics issued by the census bureau.

The indicated national death rate for 1913 was 13.8. In 1912 it was 13.6. Of the states in the registration area New York led in deaths with a rate of 15.2 per thousand population. Minnesota was apparently the healthiest state, the rate being only 10.7; Wisconsin being a close second with 10.9. The same two states led in health in 1912 and New York was likewise the state with the heaviest death roll.

Of the cities in the registration area Memphis, Tenn., led with a death rate of 22.9, and Richmond, Va., second, with 22.4, occupying the same place as in 1912. Portland, Ore., showed the lowest death rate, with only 11 per thousand. Minneapolis and St. Paul were second, with 13. Milwaukee was third with 14.3; Denver fourth lowest, 14.5.

Death rates per 1,000 for the following cities were announced:

Los Angeles, 14.9; San Francisco, 16.7; Denver, 14.5; Chicago, 17.1; Indianapolis, 16.3; Baltimore, 16.4; Grand Rapids, Mich., 13.4; Kansas City, Mo., 16.3; St. Louis, 16.2; Omaha, 15.3; Cincinnati, 17.3; Cleveland, Ohio, 15.7; Columbus, Ohio, 16.2; Dayton, Ohio, 16.3; Toledo, Ohio, 17; Milwaukee, 14.2.

METHODIST CHURCH

(J. W. Hendrix, Pastor)

Next Sunday is the time set apart for the holding of the Third quarterly conference, Rev. Geo. H. Given, Presiding Elder of the district who lives in Albuquerque, is to be here, preaching both morning and evening.

In the Methodist church there are five different conferences: The church conference which is called and presided over by the pastor, and has to do with revising the church roll, dropping names of members who are gone, discontinuing names of unworthy members, and looking after the Elder who presides. The Quarterly conference, called by the Presiding Elder who presides: It concerns itself with the number and state of the Sunday school, the Epworth League, and the spiritual state of the church. The District conference, called at such time as the Elder sees fit and such place as the preceding conference may decide. It has to do with the reports of pastors and conference as to best methods for the solution of various problems of the work. Its members are composed of the superintendents of Sunday schools, presidents of Epworth Leagues, and pastors of the charges in the districts. The Annual conference meets at such place as the conference may set apart and such time as the Bishop may set in his episcopal plan. This conference has to do with the record of membership of churches built and funds raised, and pass upon the moral character of the ministers and assign them to their places of pastoral service for the next year. The General conference which meets every four years, is made up of delegates of equal ministerial and lay from each annual conference at large, presided over by the senior bishop or one whom he may suggest. This is the conference which makes the laws and orders the policy and elects the officers of the church at large, heads of parent boards, mission, church extension, education, etc., and elect editors to various publications, managers of publishing houses and general superintendents, or bishops.
