CARRIZOZO GIRLS VICTORIOUS

The Girls' Basket Ball Team of the Carrizozo High School Wins Game from Alamo Team, Score 30 to 4

CARRIZOZO TEAM SHOWN MANY COURTESIES

The local girls' basket ball team accepted a recent challenge of the Alamogordo team and the game was played Saturday of last week with most gratifying results, as the Carrizozo girls won by the decisive score of 30 to 4. The defeat suffered by the Carrizozo girls during the recent field meet had been productive of much consistent practice and combined with Alamo's first game for the girls, the score was a natural result. But this is not to disparage the prowess of either team, for Alamo had some alert and skillful players who would do credit to any team. The game was refereed by Mrs. Spencer who has been coaching the Carrizozo girls for some time, and the clean and fair play of the local girls met with genuine applause from those who would have preferred a reversed score. The whole team were stars—every one properly placed, so it is useless to enter into individual ovation, as it was team work which won the day.

The Alamogordo people had a football eleven from Las Cruces to entertain, but the Carrizozo visitors were shown every courtesy while in the beautiful little city. However special and unexpected favors merit the framing by the team of the following:

CARD OF THANKS

The Carrizozo Girls' Basket Ball Team and officials wish to heartily thank Mr. J. Manley Morgan, Misses Higginson, Redie and Covington for the many considerations and courtesies extended them during their stay in Alamogordo; to especially express their unqualified gratitude to Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Rolland for their delightful treat at Mr. Rolland's confectionery department, and to assure the entire city of a hearty welcome to Carrizozo when the next basket ball game shall be played and any other time which their pleasure may dictate.

Respectfully,

(Signed) The Carrizozo Girls' Basket Ball Team.

Mrs. Spencer and Mr. McCurdy. A Copy of this expression is being mailed to the Alamogordo News.

After the basket ball game, which was played between the hours of one-thirty and two-thirty Alamogordo met Las Cruces in a boys' football game which was characterized by plenty of vim and team work. The Alamogordo boys, however, had the game their way from the very beginning and Las Cruces went down in defeat by the overwhelming score of 37 to 0. This in some measure, made the previous loss more tolerable for Alamogordo, and the Carrizozo girls rejoiced with them in their victory.

All in all, the day was possibly the most successful in the history of the team, in that a nice day of recreation was enjoyed, more intimate and thoroughly congenial relations established between the Otero County High school and our own institution, and a general "good fellowship" and proper school spirit fostered by the events of the day.

The Alamogordo team will play a return game on the local grounds during the progress of the present term, and the date will be announced in ample time for everybody to prepare to witness a good fast game.

CAPITAN BOYS' AND GIRLS' TEAM HERE SATURDAY

The County High School teams, both boys and girls, will invade Carrizozo Saturday of this week. These teams proved very worthy opponents in last year's contests and we hope for a full attendance. All those not holding membership cards in the athletic association will be charged an admission fee of 25 cents. We would like to have these events free, but the expenses of the visitors should be promptly met, and we feel that the loyal patrons and friends of the school will not be kept away by this admission charge nor object to it. Come out and see two good, spirited games for the price of one.

CAPITAN

E. A. Mann, Attorney General Clancy, Judge Medler, H. B. Hamilton, and several other prominent republicans held a rally at Capitan 16th, which was well attended. Mr. B. Hernandez republican candidate for representative to Congress spoke at some length. The keynote of his speech was that the race question should not be brought into the election, but a man should be elected on his own merits regardless of the fact that he is a Spanish American. Judge Mann, then took the floor and with his wit and humor kept the house in laughter for several moments. After the speaking lunch was served by the domestic science girls of the Lincoln County High School. A charge of 25 cents was made which netted the sum of $10.00. After lunch the party departed for Carrizozo in their automobiles.

L. R. York returned from Carrizozo last Friday where he had been attending court, and was busy all day Saturday taking testimony in a Civil Cause in Oklahoma. He returned to Carrizozo Tuesday to attend to some legal matter which he had before the District Court.

Mr. Foster, who has been in Capitan, for several days for his son's health left on last Tuesday's train for Tularosa where he will spend the winter and return to Capitan or vicinity next spring.

The Lincoln County High School has ordered a piano which is expected to arrive within the near future. It will be paid for by intertinentments.

Two applicants appeared Monday and Tuesday before James H. Kinney Forest Supervisor and took the examination for Assistant Forest Ranger.

Monroe Howard was in from his ranch near Alto the first of the week visiting his family who are here sending the children to school.

Mrs. L. R. York and children left Tuesday of last week for a short visit with her parents at Mountain Park, N. M.

W. H. Sellars of Alto, was in town last Monday transacting some legal business.

BIG REPUBLICAN MEETING

G. O. P. Speaking Saturday Night Well Attended, in Marked Contrast to Democratic Meeting Last Week

MANN SCORES GOVERNOR McDONALD

The Republican meeting at the Courthouse last Saturday night was well attended, the room being quickly filled, and there were many who were compelled to stand, owing to the limited seating capacity of the room which only seats about 150. The speakers of the evening were Ben C. Hernandez, Candidate for Congress, Flavio Vigil and Clement Hightower Candidates for the State Legislature, Ex-Judge E. A. Mann, and Hon. Frank W. Clancy, Attorney General of New Mexico. The speakers were well received, and frequently applauded, as they brought out in a convincing manner the evils which have already grown up under Democratic misrule.

Hernandez, who was the first speaker, made a great hit with his hearers. He spoke in a convincing manner of his unanimous nomination by the Republican convention and declared that he would go to the Congress of the United States, free from any entangling alliances, and subject to no boss, except the people who will elect him. He has a pleasing personality and made a fine impression upon all those whom he met while in Lincoln county.

The next speaker was Ex-Judge E. A. Mann, of Albuquerque, one of the best known, and most pleasing speakers in New Mexico. He was in fine form, and soon had his audience straining to catch the next word, which was to fall from his lips. He showed in an able manner what harm has already befallen the American industry and American labor, since the placing of the Democratic party in power, how the new tariff bill had utterly failed to do that which it was promised that it would do—lower the high cost of living, how the income tax had failed to raise anywhere nearly sufficient revenue to carry on the expenses of our Government, and that our people, though at peace with all the world are now to be compelled to submit to a new species of taxation, similar to that which was employed during the Spanish American war, when expenses of the war were several million dollars per day, and how the Democratic party had utterly failed to fulfill their campaign pledges. He deplored the mud slinging campaign which was being waged by the Democrats against Mr. Hernandez, and declaring that "Them that lives in glass houses shouldn't shy rocks" showed that an old Court record of Lincoln county, indicated that W. C. McDonald, who was apparently County Assessor at the time, was once sued on behalf of the county for a balance supposed to be due from him as Assessor. He stated that he did not claim that Mr. McDonald was guilty of any wrong in holding such money but that he did claim that Mr. Hernandez should not be criticized in a parallel case, in which Hernandez had the advantage of returning the amount due, without being sued.

He jokingly said that the Governor seemed to think a great deal of Lincoln County, as he understood that he had recently acquired about 65,000 acres of it.

Mann was followed by Attorney-General Clancy, who spoke along the same lines, calling attention to the carelessness and inefficiency of Ferguson the Democratic Congressman, and citing numerous instances of his apparent general lassitude, and lack of interest in his constituents. The attempt of the Democratic party to inject the race issue into the present campaign, he denounced as unfair to the Spanish-American people, and stated that in his opinion the time had come when all race prejudice between the different peoples who compose this great American Nation, should be forgotten, and we should all stand shoulder to shoulder, Spanish-American and Anglo American alike fighting the good fight for a better and more representative government. He paid eloquent tribute to the efficiency and competency of Hugh Williams, present Corporation Commissioner, who is a candidate to succeed himself, and stated that he had had ample opportunity to learn of Williams' close attention to the business of his office, by almost daily association with him in his official capacity.

Flavio Vigil of Socorro county, Candidate for the Legislature from the "shoestring district" composed of Lincoln, Socorro and Otero counties, next addressed the meeting with a few well-chosen remarks, outlining his position on the County officer's salary question as being in favor of fair, but not exorbitant salaries, sufficient only to attract competent men. He modestly stated some of his qualifications for the office which he seeks, saying that he had been in the stock-raising business in Socorro County for a number of years, was the first cashier of the State Bank of Magdalena, and had a close acquaintance with the needs of his district.

He was followed by Clement Hightower of Hondo, Candidate for the Legislature from Lincoln county who is well and favorably known throughout the County, where he has lived for many years. He spoke highly of his opponent Judge Hewitt, stating that there was nothing to be said against him, and in his own behalf said that he stood for a square deal all the way round and pledged his best efforts toward securing it to everybody in Lincoln county, when elected. He asks no man's vote who does not believe him worthy or competent to discharge the duties of the office he is seeking.

MRS. FORREST ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Randolph Forrest was the hostess to a Halloween party Friday afternoon, honoring her weekend guests, Mrs. Say and Mrs. Pitts of El Reno, Okla. The color scheme was carried out in the menus. The guests were mesdames W. C. McDonald, T. A. Spencer, A. J. Rolland, S. L. Squier, F. L. Elliott, J. B. Garvin, Chas. Pierce, J. F. Kimbell, D. S. Donaldson, Geo. Ferguson, Hickerson, Arthur Arrington, Andy McCurdy, Wm. Reilly, C. Jones, H. B. Dawson and Miss Kittie Reilly.

EDMUND R. BALL DEAD

Edmund R. Ball, an eccentric recluse, living on his homestead in Water Canyon, about 9 miles south of town, was discovered in his little shack last Sunday by employes of the Carrizozo Cattle Ranch Co., in a dying condition.

He had evidently been sick for a week or ten days with mountain fever, when discovered, and although he was brought to the "Bar W" ranch and given the best medical attention, he died about midnight Thursday night. Deceased had been a resident of Lincoln county for over thirty years, being an Englishman by birth. He held several mining claims at the time of his death, none of which appear to be of much value. He was very religious, and very eccentric, and many considered him slightly insane on the subject of religion.

The doctor, with the assistance of Dr. Callaway the Agency physician made the examination, last Monday, and found sufficient injuries to cause death. The ligaments and cartilages of the neck were badly twisted and bruised, and the spinal cord broken.

Dr. R. E. Blaney will leave tomorrow for a several days' hunting trip in the San Andreas mountains and will not return to Carrizozo until Nov 5.

W. L. Gumm accompanied by E. P. Kepley of El Paso and another El Paso friend came in Saturday evening from a hunt on the Upper Ruidoso with two big deer.

New Indian Animal Stories

How the Rattlesnake Taught His Song

By JOHN M. OSKISON.

Children, Color Up This Picture.

(Copyright, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Long time ago, in the late afternoon, when the little Indian boys were taught to walk in the trails and through the grass, always with their eyes looking straight at the ground ahead, the old man would tell them that they must do that so that they would not hurt their friends, the rattlesnakes, by stepping on them and provoking them to bite.

"Listen, little one," the old man would say when he was showing the boy how to walk straight and swiftly, "and I will tell you about the time one of our people killed a rattlesnake and how we had to learn a song from the rattlesnakes to keep us safe from their bites."

And as they walked on the trail the old man would say:

"You see, back in the days when the sun was so angry with the people that she stopped every day up in the middle of the sky and glared down until many of the people fell sick, it was a rattlesnake who said he would go up to the house of the daughter of the sun and when the sun stopped there for dinner on her next trip across the sky he would bite her and she would die."

"And so the rattlesnake went up and coiled beside the door of the house of the daughter of the sun. It was not the sun who was bitten, but the sun's daughter, and it was a long time before the sun got over mourning for her daughter. But never again did the people suffer from the angry sun."

"Well, for a long, long time the rattlesnake was the good friend of man and he would not bite any of us. But one day a woman heard her little child, who was playing outside the house, scream. She ran out to see what was the matter and found a big rattlesnake coiled up close to the child. She did not know that the rattlesnake was going to teach the child a song and she picked up a big stick and killed the rattlesnake.

"That night when the hunter came home he met some rattlesnakes in the trail near his home and they told him that he would have to go home and set a task for his wife because she had killed their brother. And that task was one long life-time of working day after day in the fields."

"When the rattlesnakes saw that the woman was carrying out the hard tasks her husband had set for her, they called a council of all the people. It was the great black rattlesnake who sat in the chief seat at the council, and after everybody had taken their places he got up and told how their brother had been killed and how the woman was working even then in the fields to pay for it."

"And the great black rattlesnake told the people that never, so long as the women worked in the fields, would the rattlesnakes bite them. But he told them that whenever any of the people met a rattlesnake they were to sing a certain song. And if a rattlesnake ever bit any of the people by accident they were to go to that person and sing that song over him and he would be well."

And when the old man had finished telling the little boy this story the little boy would ask:

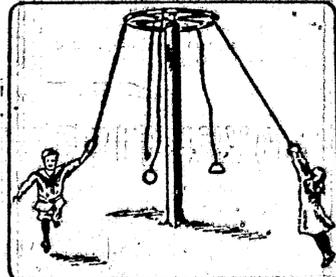

"What was the song which the rattlesnake taught the people?" But the old man would shake his head and say:

"That song is a sacred song, and it cannot be learned by little boys. Until you grow up to be a man you must walk always with your eyes wide and looking at the ground where you step, so you will not risk making our friends angry by stepping on them."

POLE FOR MERRY-GO-ROUND

Streamers of Different Colors and Flowers for Special Occasions May Be Attached.

An inexpensive merry-go-round can be made of a single pole set in the ground where there is sufficient vacant space for the running of the ropes. The pole may be of gas pipe or wood, long enough to extend about 12 feet above the ground. An iron wheel is attached on the upper end so that it will revolve easily on an axle, which may be an iron pin driven into the post. A few iron washers placed on the pin under the wheel will reduce the friction.

Ropes of varying lengths are tied to the rim of the wheel. The rider takes hold of a rope and runs around the pole to start the wheel in motion, then he swings clear of the ground. Streamers of different colors and flowers for special occasions may be attached to make a pretty display.

Chess.

Chess is known as the royal game and observe its name. It is the oldest of games, having been played in approximately its present form for more than 1,000 years; in exactly its present form for centuries. Its devotees are found the world over. England, Germany, Austria, France, Russia, Cuba and the United States being represented in the St. Petersburg tourney. It is a game of pure skill and infinite opportunities for profound thought and depths of resource, and the only objection to it, perhaps, is that it is too serious for a game, not serious enough for a profession. Nevertheless it gives delight to thousands the world over, and as a means of storing up happiness for old age it is probably unsurpassed. — Baltimore Sun.

Pa's Explanation.

"Pa, what do people mean when they talk of laying up something for a rainy day?"

"A rainy day means hard times, my son."

"Why so, pa?"

"Because, I suppose, on a rainy day there is no dust in sight."

KEEP UP THE OLD CUSTOMS

Curious Practices That Have Long Prevailed in Two Aristocratic London Banks.

A New York banker who spends much time abroad and has recently returned was speaking the other day about the amalgamation of the two old private banking houses of London, Coutts and Roberts, and of some of the queer customs which still prevail in them and doubtless will be carried over to the merged institution.

From time immemorial the owners of Coutts's bank have insisted that mustaches and beards must be taboo to all employees and also as far as possible to its customers. The founder of the bank was a firm believer in character reading from the formation of the mouth and always insisted that he must have a free and unobstructed opportunity to study the mouth of either customer or employe and this has been carried on down to the present day. Moreover, it is an unwritten rule that every official of Coutts's must wear a black frock coat and white tie and it is said that the procession from the bank at closing time appears like a delegation of Non-Conformist clergymen.

In the offices of Roberts', antique little lamps, like those pictured in interiors of the olden time, are used for light and for sealing purposes. These lamps are always kept filled with a specially made brand of oil and gas or electric light has never been able to banish these old style lamps from Roberts'. The merger of these two banks was described by the American banker as a wedding of the two aristocrats of the English banking world.

American Military History.

One hundred years ago the little American force pretentiously designated as the Army of the North retired from Plattsburg to the south bank of the Saranac river, in readiness to meet the British army, which was now almost within striking distance. General Macomb, the American commander, had about 3,500 men in his army, but perhaps less than 2,000 were fit for active duty. The British force numbered between 12,000 and 14,000 men, the majority of whom were veterans in the service. Notwithstanding the seeming impossibility of defense, General Macomb maneuvered his little army and gathered such reinforcements by earnest appeal as to enable him to anticipate the meeting with the enemy with the utmost confidence.

The Kaiser's Reign.

The present German emperor has been on the throne twenty-six years and a little more than two months. It will be remembered the Kaiser's twenty-fifth anniversary was celebrated with great rejoicing throughout Germany on June 16 of last year.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food; Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J. McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

PASTOR HAYWOOD CLOSING HIS WORK WITH THE BAPTIST CHURCH

On Sunday next, October 25th, Rev. Herbert Haywood closes his work as pastor of the Baptist Church. During his pastorate of two years and three months, (probably the longest in Carrizozo,) while a number of the membership have removed from the town yet the church has led the State in several branches of its activities. All the time an aggressive missionary propaganda has been carried on, especially in the county, a strong church has been built up at Capitan and nine other points have been reached with the gospel. Over three thousand dollars have been raised for missions and for church buildings, which provided for the clearance of the debt on the church house in Carrizozo, with necessary improvements, and the erection of a neat and modern house of worship in Capitan now under construction, which it is hoped will be ready for occupancy by the middle of November. Perhaps one of the most helpful features of his work in Carrizozo has been the teaching of the Bible, which has been appreciated by his congregation.

Nonwithstanding the smallness of its size and resources, the Carrizozo church is considered by the Baptist Convention of New Mexico not simply as a field but as a force. It has in its membership those who love the Lord, and their spirituality has been a great help to the pastor in his work.

Besides the membership, others have shown great interest in the work, among the special mention should be made of Mrs. Gurney, who has manifested an untiring interest in the welfare of the church Carrizozo not being a church-going community makes all Christian effort very difficult, and for this genuine friends of the cause are the more appreciated. We are deeply grateful for all who have helped in word or in deed.

On November first, Rev. Roy L. Day, the newly-chosen pastor, will begin his work, and we bespeak for him a spiritual harmoniously-working church, seeking their own growth in grace and the salvation of the lost.

Sunday, Oct. 25th, the out-going pastor will preach farewell sermons in the morning at 11 and at 7:30 p. m. You are cordially invited to attend.

HERBERT HAYWOOD

WAR NOT CAUSE FOR THE TAX

In the brief time which the Democratic "gag rule" permitted for the discussion of the Democratic deficit tax, Republican Congressmen poured hot shot into the Democratic ranks. Representative Frank W. Mondell, of Wyoming, said:

"It is not the war in Europe, it is your war on prosperity, and your reckless extravagance which has, in the main, created the situation that has urged your action. Your revenue bill failed from the start. Your extravagance accentuated the shortage. The loss of customs revenue through decreased imports, due to war, did not in the month of August exceed two and a half millions, and is not likely in the future to exceed that amount per month, or twenty-seven millions in a year, if the war lasts that long. The reduction in the appropriations for the current year, below those of last year, for pensions and the Panama Canal alone amount to almost exactly this sum

If it were not for the fact that, in spite of these decreases in expenditure, the total of your appropriations this year is the greatest in all our history, these reductions in expenditures would alone more than balance any loss of revenue by reason of the war in Europe."

LET THE DEMOCRATS EXPLAIN

"The so-called war revenue bill, in the first place, the name itself is a misnomer. This country is at peace with all the world. We are neither at war nor are we in need of war revenue. Comparisons are made between this bill and the act of 1898. At that time we were engaged in war and needed the revenue to support the Army and Navy of the United States. The speeches of the gentlemen advocating this bill today, made at that time, make pleasing reading now. The present Speaker of the House and the able leader of the minority both made speeches against the enactment of what was at that time necessary legislation. Let the Democrats cover up and make such explanations as they can, the people during the next month will learn, if they do not already know, the real cause of the enactment of this bill."—Representative Treadway.

FOREST HOMESTEADS

To provide for the settlement of lands chiefly valuable for agriculture within National Forests Congress passed on June 11, 1906, a special act popularly known as the Forest Homestead Law. Since that date 3213 homesteaders have taken up land within the National Forests of Arizona and New Mexico according to the annual report of the District Forester at Albuquerque, New Mexico. Over five hundred of these homesteaders settled this year.

FARMERS SUFFER THROUGH POSTMASTER GENERAL'S POLICY

It must be said for Postmaster General Burleson that he is at least frank about his intention to discriminate against the farmers in his plan to economize by refusing to establish any more rural free delivery routes. His Fourth Assistant Postmaster General is writing members of Congress: "It is apparently advisable to withhold for a time all applications for additional postal facilities that involve increased expenditures except in case of urgent necessity, and I think you will agree with me that much can be accomplished in this line by deferring the establishment of additional rural routes." This boldly announced policy will be considered with intense interest by several million farmers entitled to rural free delivery service who read for days in newspaper dispatches from Washington of the persistent efforts of the Democratic Congress to pass a $53,000,000 "pork barrel" rivers and harbors bill, the most of which was for scooping the mud out of the bottom of inconsequential little creeks in the South.

We're Opposed to Mail Order Concerns Because—

They have never contributed a cent to furthering the interests of our town—

Every cent received by them from this community is a direct loss to our merchants—

In almost every case their prices can be met right here, without delay in receiving goods and the possibility of mistakes in filling orders.

But—

The natural human trait is to buy where goods are cheapest. Local pride is usually secondary in the game of life as played today.

Therefore

Mr. Merchant and Business Man, meet your competitors with their own weapons—advertising.

Advertise!

The local field is yours. All you need do is to avail yourself of the opportunities offered. An advertisement in this paper will carry your message into hundreds of homes in this community. It is the surest medium of killing your greatest competitor. A space this size won't cost much. Come in and see us about it.

BELL STARTS ON LAST SWING AROUND CIRCLE

Santa Fe, Oct.—Chase Bell, motion picture operator for the exposition commission, has started on his last filming expedition for the New Mexico exhibit. His first stop will be at Carrizozo, where he will take moving pictures of cattle ranch operations, expecting to cover Governor McDonald's ranches.

From Carrizozo he goes to Roswell to take feature films of the products exposition to be held there next week and to finish his work at the New Mexico Military Institute.

Bell has just returned from Silver City, where he filmed the Woman's State Federation convention. At Santa Rita and other mining camps he secured remarkable films of mining operations on a large scale, pictures that will be eye-openers to those who were not aware that New Mexico has become one of the leading copper producers in the United States, the production last year exceeding 50,000,000 pounds.

With, perhaps, the exception of several educational films, the phenomenal picture taking campaign of Col. Ralph E. Twitchell for the exposition ends next week. Waldo Twitchell is at work completing the lettering for the films and slides, this work being done in a most artistic and striking manner, so that the legend makes doubly valuable the picture.

ALAMOGORDO OFFICE AGAIN GIVES TROUBLE

The bitter postoffice fight at Alamogordo has entered upon its second stage by the appointment of L. R. Hughes to succeed J. M. Hawkins who resigned two months ago to go to Oregon for a year. Protests have been filed with the postmaster general against the appointment of Hughes by the friends of C. W. Morgan, editor of the Alamogordo News, who was a candidate for the place. These protests will now be sent to the senate committed with a view of holding up and eventually defeating the nomination.

Hawkins has been postmaster for twelve years. He is a brother of Attorney W. A. Hawkins of the El Paso & Southwestern and a former newspaper man, who has worked on the Los Angeles Times, the El Paso Herald, the Santa Fe New Mexican and the Alamogordo News.

SOWING ALFALFA CROP

NO PLANT IS MORE AFFECTED BY CONDITIONS.

In All Regions Not Under Irrigation Advice is Almost Universally Given to Plant in Rows From 30 to 36 Inches Apart.

(By PROF. THOMAS SHAW.)

The last word has not been said yet as to the best way to sow alfalfa. Some who pose as teachers on this question are very sure that their advice is correct. The less the experience these men have had in growing it, the more positive are they that they are correct. There is no plant that is more affected by conditions. The plan, therefore, that is best in one locality may be far from the best in another. It is greatly important, therefore, that all those differences shall be noted, and noted carefully.

In all the region not under irrigation from the western rim of the Red River valley to the Cascade Mountains the advice is almost universally given to grow alfalfa in rows from 30 to 36 inches apart. Under some conditions of growth the advice is good. Under other conditions it is misleading. Where the conditions are very dry, it may be best to grow the crop in rows spaced thus widely. But it will probably be found that in much of the dry country it will be better to grow it in rows not more than say 12 inches distant.

One objection to growing the crop in wide-spaced rows arises from the soiling of the crop when it is being harvested. When it is mowed, much of it falls on bare soil. The horses that draw the mower tramp over it. This aids in the soiling of the crop, more or less. It is then raked, and the raking process adds more to the adherent dust. Of course, where the conditions are such that it cannot be grown without spacing the rows thus widely, this is one of the things that must be borne with.

If the crop is sown with the grain drill, and every other drill tube is plugged, the rows will then be about twelve inches apart. The plants will then have a fair amount of room, if small quantities of the seed are used. The crop may then be kept clean with the disk and harrow, a process that is much quicker than the cultivation of the wide-spaced rows can be. There would then be enough of plants on the ground to keep the crop from being soiled with earth while it is being harvested.

The question may be raised, how is one to know in the absence of experience, whether to plant in wide-spaced rows or in those that are closer? The answer is, that it can only be known by trying. Before rushing blindly into the matter and planting a large area one way or the other, it is better to go a little slower and plant only a moderate quantity by each of the two methods. Of course, where one of these has been tried and found successful, under the same conditions, this experience may be safely taken as a guide for that locality.

Where the rainfall is not less than 14 or 15 inches in a year, it has yet to be proved that it is better to grow alfalfa in wide rows than otherwise, when it is grown for hay. Possibly it may be different when it is grown for seed. More light is wanted on this question. Should the average rainfall be as low as 10 to 12 inches, it will probably be found that it will pay better to grow it in wide spaced rows.

In dry areas the preparation of the soil is greatly important. The preparation should be such that much moisture will go down. If the moisture is not far down in the subsoil when the alfalfa is planted, the roots will not go down. Where the roots do not go down.

ALFALFA SUCCESS IN WEST

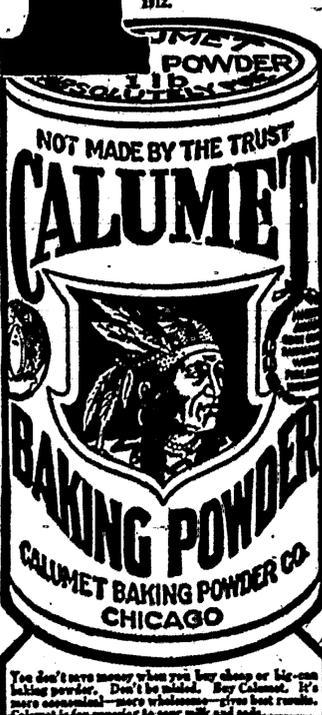

Patience and Perseverance Are Essential in Getting Good Start, Especially in Dry Areas.

When growing alfalfa, considerable patience must be exercised in starting a crop. It is liable to certain hazards, especially in dry areas. If the seed is not put down to moisture, the plants will not start. If put down to moisture under some conditions, it will make a strong start. Sometimes the seed may be prevented from coming again, the seeds, after being moistened, may be injured by cold. Notwithstanding, under these conditions, if the farmer will persevere, he will find that he can grow alfalfa with more or less of success in all or nearly all of the tillable land of the West.

Good Roosting Place.

It will do no harm if the chickens and turkeys roost in the trees during the hot weather. There is no more healthful roosting place, though sometimes it makes it difficult to get them in the fall.

MORE REMARKABLE.

Rose had called, on her afternoon out, to see her friend Arabella. Arabella's mistress had just purchased, a parrot and Rose was much interested in the bird.

"Birds is shore sensible," she observed; "yo' kin learn them anything. I uster work for a lady that had a bird in a clock, an' when it was time to tell de time ob day it uster come out an' say cuckoo just as many times as de time was!"

"Go along! Yo doan' say so!" said Arabella, incredulously.

"Shore thing!" replied Rose. "An' de mos' wonderful part was dat it was only a wooden bird, too!"—Harper's Magazine.

Useful Art.

The man in the automobile duster and goggles confronted an artist painting a picture by the roadside.

"Say," said the motorist, "I'll give you $5 for that picture just as it is. Don't put another stroke to it."

"I am really flattered by your offer," replied the artist, "but why not wait until the picture is finished?"

"Can't, I need the canvas to mend a busted tire with."

Different Now.

The freshman from Georgia was discussing pronunciation with the coed from Cornell.

"And," queried the coed, "do you say 'do' for 'door' and 'flo' for 'floor'?"

"No, indeedy," replied the young Georgian, emphatically, "I used to once, but I don't any mo'."—Woman's Home Companion.

THE VERY IDEA.

Mr. Smithson-Sloane—Why do you want to go to these overcrowded summer resorts? You can be much more exclusive at some smaller place.

Mrs. Smithson-Sloane—Who wants to be exclusive if nobody knows it?

Cheerful Assurance.

"You must have an easy life," said the obtrusive passenger.

The conductor granted.

"Don't you have to do anything but collect fares?"

"Yes. Sometimes, when the road isn't running so well, I have to turn in and help collect a few mangled remains."

She Knew.

"You say he is very ill?"

"Very ill, indeed, and his wife won't permit anyone but herself to nurse him."

"She used to be a trained nurse."

"Oh, that accounts for it. She knows the danger there would be of his falling in love with his nurse."

Mother's Ultimatum.

"Mr. Timkins, I'll bet you can't guess what mother said when father telephoned her that he would bring you up to lunch?"

"Why, no, Tommy. I can't guess that. What did she say?"

"She said, 'Bring him if you want to, but he's eaten his last jar of my plum preserves!'"

To Be Determined.

"Lady," said Plodding Pete, "is that dog going to take a bite out of me?"

"Can't you see he has a good disposition?" snapped the woman. "He began to wag his tail as soon as he set eyes on you."

"I know it. But is he wagging his tail because he's friendly or because he's hungry?"

Embryonic Sagacity.

"What do you think the lawyer's son asked his teacher when he was told for punishment he must stay in and write two sentences which would require a quarter of an hour each?"

"What did he ask?"

"If his teacher couldn't make the sentences concurrent."

HARD WORK.

First Stork—You look bad. Don't you need a vacation?

Second Stork—Yes. That last youngster I brought was a terror. He wanted me to land him on the moon and bawled because I wouldn't let him pull the tail of a comet. I'm just about all in.

Not on the Map.

Mrs. Malapropia has a modern prototype in the person of a jolly South side matron who, although she has not received a thorough education, never allows that to interfere with her conversation.

While visiting in Washington, D. C., recently, the local young woman was introduced to a dark-skinned diplomat who informed her that he was a Peruvian.

"Is that possible," gushed the young matron, "and what kind of weather have you been having in Peruvia?"

Supervision.

"I never know where my husband is," said the unhappy-looking woman.

"Oh, well," replied the neighbor, who had called around to sympathize, "you have the same comfort that I have. You know your husband is not going to break the law and get into serious difficulty."

"I'm not so sure that I don't wish John were more reckless. If they put him in jail, I'd at least know exactly how he spends his evenings."

Moral Obliquity.

"I am afraid baseball is a bad game," said grandmother, severely.

"Here I've been reading about a player who was found out to be a thief."

"Why, grandma," cried her "fan" grandson, "what do you mean by that? Nobody in that team you were reading about is a thief."

"This one is," asserted grandmother, stoutly. "The paper says they caught him stealing bases, whatever they are."

Where the Sand Comes From.

Church—From the fact that the teeth in the skull of prehistoric man that have been found in Europe from time to time are much worn a French scientist has drawn the conclusion that they lived upon food much contaminated with sand.

Gotham—Sure, they must have had the same kind of grocer's sugar then that we get now.

Oh, Yes.

"Pop!"

"Yes, my son."

"This paper says a fool is born every minute."

"Yes, my boy."

"And does the stork bring them, too?"

WOULDN'T TELL.

Jiggson—They say old Koynes has untold wealth.

Wiggson—Yes; so the tax collector was telling me.

Contagious.

Yes, money is filthy lucre; There's no mistaking that. Let's call a twenty dollar bill A billion microbes mat.

ARRANGE FOR WINTER

TASK SHOULD BE PERFORMED WHILE WEATHER IS WARM.

Each Hive Should Be Examined to Ascertain If Required Stores Are on Hand—There is Nothing Better Than Sealed Honey.

(By F. G. HERMAN.)

If there is one item above another having great importance in the wintering problem, it is the securing of the winter stores near and about the cluster of bees in time for them to settle down into that quiescent state so conducive to good wintering, prior to the middle of October, in the more northern localities.

To arrange these stores properly and seal them, requires warm weather hence all will see the fallacy of putting off caring for them until cold weather arrives. To be sure that all have the desired amount of stores there is only one certain way to do, and that is to open the hives and take out each frame.

If, after going over a hive and weighing each comb, I find that there is 25 pounds of actual stores, I call that hive or colony all right for winter. If less it must be fed the deficiency; if more, it can spare some to help another colony which is lacking in the amount. In this way the whole apiary should be gone over.

Colonies left on the summer stand require anywhere from 20 to 30 pounds of good food for successful wintering. A little in excess of this will do no harm, but on the contrary will stimulate the colony in building up faster in the following spring.

If one has on hand some sealed combs of honey, a few of them can be distributed among the light colonies, but in the absence of these it will be necessary to feed liquid honey or a sirup made of sugar and water.

Do not think of using anything but the best granulated sugar. When bees can fly all the time, you can safely feed them anything. But when they cannot fly, there is nothing better than sealed honey. When you cannot have that use a sirup of granulated sugar.

If the feeding can be attended to while the weather is still warm, the sirup may not be quite so thick, say about 2 pounds of sugar to one pint of water, which will make 3 pounds of sirup.

If the feeding is deferred until cool weather has set in, the sirup will, of necessity, have to be a somewhat thicker consistency, for the bees will not be able to evaporate the superfluous water out of it.

In making the sugar-sirup be careful not to burn it while boiling. In fact it need not be boiled at all; just pour the boiling water over the sugar and stir until thoroughly dissolved; when cool it is ready to give to the bees.

RETURNS FROM WORK HORSES

Many Little Points Are Enumerated That Will Lessen Cost of Animal Labor on the Farm.

(By A. H. BENTON, Assistant Agriculturist, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn.)

One of the most frequent sources of loss on the farm is insufficient return from work horses.

Have you satisfied yourself on the following points?

Do your horses earn enough to pay for their feed and care, and enough to meet the interest, depreciation and other expenses, as harness costs and shoeing?

It costs $100 annually to keep the average horse, in Minnesota, but this horse works only a little more than three hours each working day. This makes the horse labor cost approximately ten cents an hour.

Do you handle the horse labor on your farm so that the annual cost of keeping your horse is less than the average, or so that the number of hours worked is greater? Both meth-

It is claimed by some beekeepers that if a few tablespoonfuls of extracted honey are added to the sugar sirup it will prevent it granulating in the comb, but there is little danger of this anyway. If there are weak lots just unite two or more together, removing the least valuable queen.

The bees of two lots may be united peaceably by sprinkling them thinly with sugar sirup flavored with peppermint, and then placing the frames with adhering bees alternately in a fresh hive. The stronger the colony and the bees the less is the honey consumed.

This appears strange, but it is quite true; a small lot of bees in a hive containing several combs are restless, with the consequence that they consume honey to raise the temperature lowered by the cool air surrounding them.

The food supply may be ample owing to a particularly favorable season after the supers have been removed, but even if feeding has to be resorted to, very little time will be needed to perform this part of the work.

In order to obtain young bees for wintering, a supply of sugar, given at the close of the honey flow, will probably be all that is necessary to continue breeding up to the middle of September, when whatever further supply is needed to make the colony safe for winter can be given in the form of sirup.

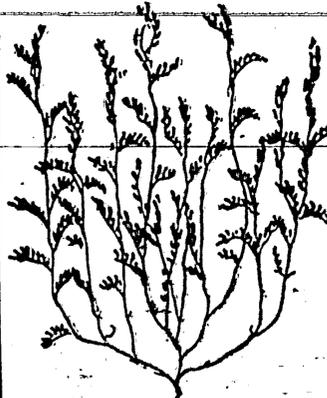

VETCH IS IMPORTANT CROP

Its More General Growth Would Aid Materially in Live Stock Industry—Also Improves Soil.

(By A. SMITH.)

Vetch should occupy an important place in the agriculture of those states where it can be raised with success. In four years' comparisons on over 800 fields, vetch has consistently made heavier growths and greater yields than crimson clover, red clover, or bur clover, although under favorable conditions these have done well.

Vetch is high in protein content, is a good hay, pasture, and soiling crop, and its more general growth would aid in the development of the live stock industry and remove much of the existing necessity for buying hay. Vetch is used as a cover crop to prevent the leaching and washing of soils. Like all legumes, it improves land by adding nitrogen and organic matter to the soils. As it grows through the winter and spring and may be harvested in time to plant corn or cowpeas on the same land, it should be used in building up impoverished soils and in maintaining the productivity of the land. The vetch crop does not require horse or man labor at any time when this is needed for the cowpea crop, except possibly at the harvest time of cowpea hay.

Mulch the Celery.

Do not delay applying the manure mulch to the celery. It conserves moisture better than any kind of amount of tillage. Use three to four inches of manure.

Transplant Late Celery.

It is time in most sections to transplant late celery into the field. See that the roots are disturbed as little as possible and that they come into contact with fine, moist soil. Never set the plants deeper than they stood in the seed-bed.

Keep Down Uric Acid

Uric acid is a poison formed inside our bodies in digesting certain foods, especially meat, and by the burning up of nerve and muscle cells during exertion.

Uric acid is harmless as long as the kidneys filter it promptly from the blood, but people who overeat and overeat, and so fast that it overloads the blood, weakens the kidneys, and attacks the nerves, causing rheumatism, gout, kidney stones, and other ailments. Doan's Kidney Pills help to overcome excess uric acid.

SICK DOCTOR

Proper Food Put Him Right.

The food experience of a physician in his own case when worn and weak from sickness and when needing nourishment the worst way, is valuable:

"An attack of grip, so severe it came near making an end of me, left my stomach in such condition I could not retain any ordinary food. I knew of course that I must have food nourishment or I could never recover.

"I began to take four teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts and cream three times a day and for 2 weeks this was almost my only food. It tasted so delicious that I enjoyed it immensely and my stomach handled it perfectly from the first mouthful. It was so nourishing I was quickly built back to normal health and strength.

"Grape-Nuts is of great value as food to sustain life during serious attacks in which the stomach is so deranged it cannot digest and assimilate other foods.

"I am convinced that were Grape-Nuts more widely used by physicians, it would save many lives that are otherwise lost from lack of nourishment." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The most perfect food in the world. Trial of Grape-Nuts and cream 10 days proves. "There's a Reason."
