Hartman Says Sub Plans His Own Invention

Asserts Drawings Were Not of U. S. Boats.

Drawings found in the possession of Henry Hartman by Government officials who arrested him at El Paso Wednesday of last week when he arrived from Carrizozo accompanied by Special Officer Ben West, were not plans of United States submarines, according to Hartman's statement, but original drawings and designs, the like of which are not in use by any government.

Hartman, who had been employed by the E. P. & S. W. railroad here as a brakeman, was suspected as being a spy in the service of the German government and when it was learned last week that he was preparing to leave for El Paso with further preparations looking toward the making of a long voyage, he was placed under surveillance by Sheriff Hyde, and when he boarded the train for El Paso, Officer West accompanied, in the meantime notifying the Department of Justice at El Paso, officers of which were waiting at the depot to arrest Hartman upon his arrival.

According to the El Paso Times, Hartman, who is a member of Lodge No. 213, B. of R. T., made the following statement: "I have never been employed by any government. I did not have maps of submarines or any building of the U. S. A. in my possession and never made any arrangements to return to Luxembourg. Further, I am not wanted in California to my knowledge, as I have not violated any laws of any state in the union or any place else. I was never in jail in my life before. This is the first time and I don't see what they are really holding me for. I have been railroading all over the country and have good ser-

Yeggs Wreck Safe of Titsworth Co. at Capitan

About $500 Secured and Robbers Escape.

Shortly after two o'clock Wednesday morning robbers entered the large mercantile establishment of the Titsworth Company at Capitan, some 20 miles east of this place, and blew open the large safe which was in the rear of the building. The estimated amount of money in the safe was about $500, all of which was taken, in addition to several hundred dollars' worth of checks. The safe was a complete wreck; the door being found in the front of the building. The work was evidently that of amateurs who judged the safe to be a thick and heavy one when in fact it was of very light construction, altho of large proportions. It is stated that $4,000 and $5,000 was often kept in the safe over night and it was fortunate that only about $500 was in the safe over Tuesday night.

Three or four persons are thought to have participated in the crime and officers are confident that their escape was made in an automobile. Their advent into town is thought to have been made by a gasoline speeder belonging to the railroad company which was stolen from Coalinga that night. The speeder in some manner got away from vice letters in my possession which ought to clear any doubt, if there is any as to who I am. As to the maps they found on me, it is an invention and drawings of my own, and I do not believe that any government has anything like it."

Hartman's statement evidently has little weight as he is still being held by Federal officers, altho no formal charges have as yet been filed against him.

Exercises Wednesday Close Successful Year

The commencement exercises held at the Methodist church Wednesday night closed the most successful term in the history of the local schools. Five graduates, Clara Brazel, Zella Mayes, Margaret Scott, Mae Kennedy and Ula Edmiston, were awarded diplomas which were presented by O. T. Nye, chairman of the school board. The subject of the baccalaureate address by Dean Chas. E. Hodgin, of the University, was "Progress". High school promotion certificates were also awarded.

In the oratorical contest given at the Methodist church Tuesday evening, Miss Ula Edmiston was declared the winner, the judges being, J. F. Kimbell, Col. Geo. W. Prichard and E. M. Brickley. Miss Edmiston's subject was, "Greater Musicians of Our State." She was awarded the gold medal. The subjects of the other contestants were: "Home Making," Clara Brazel; "Volcanoes of the World", Zella Mayes; "Art and Artists of New Mexico", Margaret Scott; "The Common Chance", Mae Kennedy. Miss Kennedy's oration was decided upon as second best.

In the county 8th grade exercises held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, the Hondo schools were represented by John Brady who gave an oration on Washington, and Corona was represented by Dan Simpson who gave a declamation on the Flag. Dinner was served at the school building by the women of Carrizozo to the eighth graders and their escorts, following the close of the exercises.

The program given last Friday afternoon at 2:30 by the perfect attendance pupils was a complete success. There were 19 who were neither absent nor tardy during the nine months' term. Several interesting numbers in singing and folk dancing were presented. Each function of the closing exercises was largely attended.

Hamiltons go to Arizona.

Mrs. H. B. Hamilton and sons, Wayne and Mayo, left Wednesday for Miami, Arizona, where they will remain several weeks. They were accompanied by Mrs. F. F. Mudge.

Bell Moves Grocery.

John E. Bell, Monday moved his stock of groceries from the Mayer building to the Wetmore block, in the building adjoining the Western garage on the east.

Why Individualism is as Dead as a Smelt

George W. Perkins, Chairman of the New York City Committee on Food Supply, Finds That Science and Invention Are Forcing Revolutionary Changes in the World's Industrial Relations, Whether We Like It or Not.

AT A RECENT public hearing on certain proposed food legislation which Mr. Perkins favored and which recognized the necessity of co-operation some one remarked that the legislation was a violation of the principle of individualism.

Mr. Perkins retorted, "Individualism is as dead as a smelt."

Mr. Perkins' reasons for his belief are outlined in the following article:—

By GEORGE W. PERKINS,
Chairman of Mayor Mitchell's Food Supply Committee.

One of the greatest stumbling blocks to progress is the human inclination to follow precedent and old methods too closely. We find it difficult to strike out along entirely new lines.

Thomas Jefferson, in his old age, wrote a letter in which he said:—

Some men ascribe to the men of the preceding age a wisdom more than human, and suppose what they did to be beyond amendment. I knew that age [of the Revolution] well. I belonged to it and labored with it. It deserved well of its country. It was very like the present, but without the experience of the present; and forty years of experience is worth a century of book reading; and this they would say themselves were they to arise from the dead.

Great Changes Taking Place Rapidly.

The changes that occurred from the close of the Revolutionary War to Jefferson's old age made a deep impression on his mind; yet as we look back at them from this distance they seem infinitesimal when compared with the changes that have taken place in the world the last quarter of a century and the tremendous changes taking place now.

George Washington was a representative of the best type of American a century and a half ago. He was a scholar, a soldier and a statesman, yet he did not know as much about science as a young schoolboy of to-day.

Thomas A. Edison typifies the scientist of our time, but the gap between the man of the Edison type and Washington is probably greater than the gap between Washington and the man whose bones were recently discovered near Trenton, N. J., said to have lived 125,000 years ago.

The advances in science, intercommunication and in universal education—these three great factors account for the stupendous progress this country has made in the last twenty-five years.

They have swept away old precedents, old customs, and they will eventually sweep away many of the laws now on our statute books.

The man of to-day who does not fully comprehend all this is doomed to be somewhat of a failure, while the man who does comprehend it will have taken a long stride toward success.

It is not many years since I was a lad, and yet at that time there was no such thing as a telephone. The telegraph was in very meagre use; fast express trains did not exist. It took several weeks to cross the ocean, and the only flying machine we knew about was the much derided one possessed by Darius Green.

Entering a New World.

When Abraham Lincoln was President it took four days or more for a letter to travel from his home in Illinois to New York. It took him several days to go from his home to Washington to be inaugurated. And yet only a few weeks ago a young woman, unaided and alone, travelled in a flying machine from Chicago to New York in eight hours and fifty minutes.

We are just entering a new electrical world, where everything is done, as it were, on the instant.

Our fathers had none of the modern machinery with which social and business intercourse is now carried on. Their sons are wrestling with the problem of how to use these new tools of intercommunication and still adhere to the laws, the precedents and the book learning of their fathers.

This is OUR great problem. It is a difficult, complicated problem and is causing a struggle of titanic proportions—a struggle to throw off in a night, as it were, the precedents of an old world for the realities of a new.

Precedent makes cowards of us all. But the educator, the scientist and the inventor have left us no choice. We must adjust our thought and action to new conditions.

The Day of Individualism Goes.

The changes of the last twenty-five years socially, industrially and economically have been great, yet I believe they are infinitesimal compared to the changes that are coming.

I believe these changes are going to deal most largely with the relationship of man to man.

In this country we have been living in an age of the utmost freedom to the individual. It has been the individualistic period, when the order of the day has seemed to be "every fellow for himself and the devil take the hindmost."

We have gloried in the freedom of the individual and have practised this freedom to a point where, in many phases of our life, it has amounted to license to do almost anything that we pleased or that brought profit or fancied renown, regardless of its effect on one's fellowmen.

In the early days, when instantaneous intercommunication did not exist, when education was meagre and science undeveloped, what the individual did was of comparatively small consequence, for his deeds did not reach very far and did not affect many people.

"I DO AS I LIKE."

—Individualism.

With intercommunication drawing the world together in one centralized community, the act of the individual can affect a large number of people; therefore, that form of freedom which is simply another expression for license to do as one pleases can no longer exist.

When Manhattan was sparsely settled and most of the people lived on its southern end it would not have mattered much had there been a case of smallpox at the north end. The patient could have done pretty much as he pleased without endangering any one else.

But a case of smallpox in the northern end of Manhattan to-day must be quarantined immediately to protect other people.

When I was a boy there was no Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and had any one suggested that a man could not whip his horse as much as he pleased he would have been ridiculed. Indeed, in those days the idea that a man had not the right to Business men believe in the Federal Reserve System, but many of them know little about it or how it operates. To tell our community how the system benefits them and how they can contribute directly to its support, we have prepared a short pamphlet.

Deputy Treasurer Benedict

Deputy Treasurer Harry G. Norman and Miss Viola Reynolds sprung a surprise on their many friends Thursday afternoon when about four o'clock they were married in the district court room by Justice of the Peace A. H. Harvey. The wedding was a complete surprise and only witnessed by courthouse attaches and a few other friends who chanced to be present. Mrs. Norman is a very popular young lady of Carrizozo, having attained to young womanhood in our midst. Mr. Norman is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Norman, merchant at Lincoln and Capitan, and a young man of sterling worth and exemplary habits. For the past few years he has served faithfully and creditably as deputy treasurer of Lincoln county.

Urges That Lincoln County Patriots Buy More Bonds

E. M. Brickley, of the First National bank, in a statement made to the press this week, says that one of the best ways in which Lincoln county citizens can show their patriotism is by buying all the Liberty Loan Bonds they can afford. He says that the first issue of two billion dollars is not yet entirely taken up by the people of the United States and in order to successfully prosecute the war it will be necessary that the money be forthcoming. Investments in the war bonds will bear 3 1/2 percent interest. Any bank in Carrizozo or the bank at Corona will gladly handle your subscription for any amount of the bonds you are able to carry. All who are able to do so should buy a bond at the earliest opportunity.

Local and Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin came up the first part of the week from Alamo for a visit with their son, H. C. Franklin, and to attend the commencement exercises of the local schools.

Your patriotic duty—buy a Liberty Loan Bond.

Mrs. Will Whittingham and children have returned from Philadelphia and will again make their home here. Mr. Whittingham has his old run on the E. P. & S. W., he having returned about a month ago.

YOUR PATRIOTIC DUTY—BUY A LIBERTY LOAN BOND.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bowling expect to leave tomorrow for Tucumcari where they will henceforth reside. Mr. Bowling, who is in the employ of the local railway, being transferred from Carrizozo to that place. They have purchased a home in Tucumcari.

Miss Lillian Hoize, who has been in charge of the local office of the Western Union telegraph company during the past week, was relieved Thursday and last night departed for her home at Clayton where she will be given her former position as operator for the company at that place.

Next Sunday to be Relief Offering Day

Sunday, May 27th, will be Belgium Relief Church Offering Day thruout the State. The officers in charge of the Relief Fund are making a special effort to interest the church-going people on that day, and seek the co-operation of the pastors in charge of the various congregations.

Col. Willard S. Hopewell, in charge of the Relief Fund in New Mexico, issues the following statement:

"Every American citizen should be interested in Belgium's welfare. There are a million and a quarter babies in the tiny kingdom to be fed by the outside world, and we should take the lead in this noble work. I ask the various pastors in the State to announce a church relief offering Sunday, May 27th, and ask their congregations for a special contribution to be added to our fund.

"The Roman Catholic churches have had such a day and a good sized sum of money was raised for this purpose. We ask the Protestant churches to do as much.

"Unless America does feed these babies, they will be exterminated entirely within a short time. This is a most worthy cause, one in which we should all take an active interest."

Contributions should be forwarded to the Rocky Mountain Club-Hoover Fund, for Relief in Belgium, Albuquerque, N. M.

Our part in the great world war, or the 2,000,000 Liberty Loan will be the subject of the 11 o'clock hour. The American Bankers Association has sent requests to all ministers to preach on this subject Sunday May 27th. Will Germany win the war? Will the United States pay for the great world war? These are vital questions and may be answered in a way we will not like.

beat his own child as he pleased was given little attention.

When we were all driving horses and buggies there was no speed limit and a man did not have to procure a license to drive a horse. With the advent of the automobile a license has become a necessity. The public must know that the man who operates all automobile knows first how to operate it and, second, to control it.

Society is finding it necessary to take away much of what has hitherto been called "freedom of the individual." In my judgment this process is only in its infancy.

Relation of Capital and Labor.

The freedom of the business man to do as he pleases is now being seriously challenged, and I most heartily agree with what Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., said recently at Cornell University to the effect that one of the chief qualifications for a manager of a large business concern is rapidly coming to be the human quality and ability to adjust differences between capitalist and laborer and to understand their relationship.

Until recent years little broad thinking was given to these problem and differences were settled on the basis of "might makes right." All this is rapidly changing and we are entering a period of new industrial relationships.

In the long ago the relationship between capital and labor was that of owner and slave, then came the period of master and man, then the period of employer and employe, each period being a decided step forward.

In my judgment we are just now entering a period of copartnership, where the tool user will be part tool owner and where capital and labor will share more equitably in the profits of the business in which they are jointly engaged.

This advance is inevitable because of our educational system, which teaches the workman to think for himself.

It is inevitable because intercommunication has told the workman in one community what the workman in other communities are striving for and achieving.

It is inevitable, because strikes and lockouts can never be settled satisfactorily or permanently by merely raising a man's wages.

It is inevitable because it gives stability to business and because it is as advantageous to capital as to labor.

As a matter of fact, when a workman strikes it is not merely to obtain an increase in his wage; that is what the papers tell us the trouble is all about and that is what he asks for; but way-down-underneath what he is really striking for is a larger percentage of the profits of the business.

He may not realize this, but subconsciously, this is precisely what he is doing.

No mere increase in wages can ever satisfactorily solve this problem. It can be solved only on the basis of profit sharing.

By profit sharing I do not mean bonus giving. I mean actual profit sharing plans based on the earnings of the business, with a fair percentage to capital and a fair percentage to labor after ordinary wages and interest have been earned.

Profit sharing can be done satisfactorily only when the business concern makes public its transactions, so that the laborer and the stockholder can know as much about the business as does the manager himself.

In the adjustment of difficulties between capital and labor I am confident that open books will accomplish much more than open shops.

These changes are far-reaching and fundamental. What are we going to do about it? What is to be our mental attitude? How are we going to handle these problems?

Can we approach them from the same point of view as did our fathers, who lived in a strictly individualistic age? Can we approach them from the knowledge we have gained from the individualistic age? If we do we will be combatting the mighty onward rush of new thought and new conditions, provided in large measure by the scientist, the educator, the inven-

What the Future Holds Forth.

What is the outlook? Is it a sad, pessimistic future that unfolds? Does life hardly seem worth living under the new conditions or does it hold out an optimistic future, with finer opportunities and more worth while goals?

Let me see if I can picture it as I see it. First, just a glance into the past.

About the only goal we have had has been the almighty dollar. The first question asked when a man dies is "How much was he worth?" with scarcely a thought as to how much he did for his community or his country.

But what has it all amounted to? Have the men who have lived and worked simply to acquire great fortunes obtained peace of mind, happiness and honor? How many of them could answer "Yes"?

Has the country been benefited by the course they have taken? A very large majority of our countrymen would answer "No."

On the whole, the individualistic age has not been a success, either for the individual, or the community in which he has lived, or the nation.

We are, beyond question, entering on a period where the welfare of the community takes precedence over the interests of the individual and where the liberty of the individual will be more and more circumscribed for the benefit of the community as a whole. Man's activities will hereafter be required to be not only for himself but for his fellowmen.

To my mind there is nothing in the signs of the times so certain as this.

How the Rewards Will Come.

Our only decoration—the almighty dollar—is receding into the background.

The man of exceptional ability, of more than ordinary talent, will hereafter look for his rewards, for his honors, not in one direction but in two:—First—and foremost—in some public work accomplished, and, secondarily, in wealth acquired.

In place of having it said of him at his death that he left so many hundred thousand dollars it will be said that he rendered a certain amount of public service and, incidentally, left a certain amount of money.

Such a goal will prove a far greater satisfaction to him, he will live a more rational, worth while life and he will be doing his share to provide a better country in which to live.

I have two reasons for believing that future conditions will be as I have briefly sketched them:

First, because the world is being drawn together in one centralized community through the wonderful development in science and the marvelous work of the inventor.

Second, because in our country especially we are entering upon a new stage of development, which calls loudly for men who will render disinterested public service.

We face new conditions, and in order to survive and succeed we will require a different spirit of public service.

One reason why I am strongly for universal military training is that it develops in the youth a sense of all around responsibility to his country, not only in time of war but in time of peace. He is much more apt to be a faithful, conscientious servant than if he had not had military training. He enters public service in time of peace in more nearly the same spirit that he would enter military service in time of war—namely, from a sense of patriotic duty and a desire to serve his country and his fellowmen.

Why a New Era Co-operation Must Succeed Pure Individualism.

“WITH intercommunication drawing the world together, the act of an individual can affect a large number of people; therefore that form of freedom which is simply another expression for license to do as one pleases can no longer exist.”

—GEORGE W. PERKINS.

In recent years we have been hearing a great deal about government ownership of our railroads. We are told that in Germany the railroads are owned by the government and that their operation is most successful. This is true, but in Germany conditions are vastly different.

The military training of the youth, in fact, the entire trend of education in Germany is to impress upon the young men of that land that they owe service to their country. When a man enters the government's employ in the railroad business he is as conscientious as he would be were he entering the government's service in time of war.

If our railroads were to be taken over and operated by our government at this time, how many of you think we would duplicate Germany's success?

Government ownership of railroads may be as desirable in this country as it is in Germany, but we must first have public servants who will at least come somewhere near the standard of Germany's public servants in efficiency and honesty.

Look at the spectacle we are presenting to the world at this very mo-

The changes of the last twenty-five years socially, industrially and economically have been very great, yet I believe they are infinitesimal compared to the changes that are coming. Precedent makes cowards of us all. But the educator, the scientist and the inventor have left us no choice. We must adjust our thought and action to new conditions.

GEORGE W. PERKINS.

ment in our pork barrel legislation! Could we afford to have our railroads operated by the same type of public servants?

If our government is to endure, if we are to take our proper place among the nations of the world in the new civilization, the man of the future must live not for himself alone but for others.

Consideration for one another is speedily becoming a social, industrial and economic necessity.

Centralization is the order of the day. The telegraph, the telephone, the automobile and the airship are the causes. They have wiped out not only old precedents and customs but State and national lines as well.

A man living in Boston who wishes to talk to a man living in San Francisco simply rings a bell, puts a little instrument to his ear and proceeds to talk. There is hardly a miracle in the Bible more wonderful than this.

The doctrine of "State rights" is being rapidly demolished. The nation is being obliged to assume many of the functions of government heretofore performed by the State, and this tendency is growing.

The State, viewed as an individual with the right to do as it pleases within itself, without regard for other States, can no longer be tolerated.

Only the nation can act in matters that affect interstate relations, and with intercommunication and transportation developed to their present stage a considerable percentage of a State's activities are interstate in their effects and consequences.

The World is Drawing Together.

We must therefore take on a new nationalism. The world has been drawn very closely together by the cable and the transatlantic liner, but it is on the verge of being drawn infinitely more closely together by the wireless, the airship and the submarine telephone.

When these are practical, everyday instruments of intercommunication and transportation the social practices and the industrial methods of one nation will quickly and seriously affect all other nations. This will require the yielding by nations of certain of their individualistic rights and prerogatives in order to safeguard and benefit the world as a whole.

This opens up a great, new vista—it presents problems that are intensely interesting and of far-reaching importance.

The period that is upon us offers large opportunities for individual thought, initiative and action, for constructive work and for constructive statesmanship.

The mighty changes taking place in Europe tell us with unmistakable voice that the reconstruction period is at hand. The man of the future must realize it. He must be ready to adjust himself to the new conditions. He must have sufficient vision, intelligence and courage to cast aside the methods and precedents of a bygone age. He must let the dead past bury his dead. He must not look back to the setting but forward to the rising sun.

Resolutions of Respect.
Whereas, God in His infinite wisdom saw fit to take from us in the midst of her usefulness sister Marjory Rolland, whom we all loved and with whom association always redounded to the betterment of the community in which she lived,
Therefore, be it resolved;
That in this hour of gloom and trial we extend to A. J. Rolland the husband and the family our sincerest condolence secure in the thought that He whose knowledge surpasses all understanding has done well in this as in all things.

Therefore be it resolved that a copy of these resolutions be placed upon the minutes of our Lodge and a copy sent to both of our local papers.

Remember the Lusitania; Buy an L. L. Bond

that the Government reserves the right to pay them 15 years after date. If this right is not exercised by the Government 15 years from date, the bonds will run the full 30 years.

These bonds bear interest at 3½ percent per annum, and the interest is payable semi-annually on the 15th day of December and June in each year.

WHAT SPECIAL ADVANTAGES HAVE THESE L. L. BONDS?

One especial advantage no other bonds, National, State, municipality, or corporate, have is that if the United States during the continuance of this war shall issue other bonds at a higher rate of interest, the holders of these Liberty bonds have the right to exchange their Liberty bonds for bonds bearing the higher rate of interest, dollar for dollar.

WHAT OTHER SPECIAL ADVANTAGES?

They are nontaxable. If your city, county, and State taxes are 3 mills on the dollar, a not unusual tax, these bonds are equivalent to ordinary corporate bonds or other investments bearing 6½ percent.

In addition, no Federal tax which war conditions may later make necessary will affect these bonds. The only tax these bonds are subject to is the inheritance tax, which applies to all property of all kinds whatsoever.

HOW ARE LIBERTY LOANS OBTAINED?

Blank forms of application for the purchase of these bonds can be obtained from the Treasury Department, any Federal Reserve Bank, any National, State or private bank, any express office, and any postoffice in the U. S. Any bank or postmaster will aid applicant in filling out his blank and the other acts necessary to obtain these bonds.

IF THESE BONDS ARE SO DESIRABLE WHY IS IT NECESSARY TO ADVERTISE THEM SO EXTENSIVELY?

It is not necessary to advertise these bonds to sell the whole issue, but it is earnestly desired that this loan shall be a popular loan, a loan by and from the people at large of the United States, and not alone from banks trust companies, and financiers. To that end bonds are to be issued of small denominations, and subscribers for small amounts are to be supplied before the subscribers for large amounts are granted their full subscription.

IS IT PATRIOTIC TO BUY THESE BONDS?

Yes; every American who subscribes to the justice of the course of the United States in entering and conducting the war we are now engaged in should subscribe to the Liberty Loan Bond issue to the extent of his or her financial ability.

Every American subscribes to the belief that an American should stand by his or her country should subscribe to the Liberty Loan Bond issue.

Every American who loves America and is jealous of America's honor should subscribe to the Liberty Loan Bond issue. The real success of the loan is to be more determined by the number of Americans participating in it than by the amount subscribed. The spirit of the Nation is going to be judged abroad, especially by our enemies, more by the number of its American men and women who support this bond issue than by the mere amount of money subscribed.

WHY "LIBERTY LOAN"?

The $5,000,000,000 bond issue of this year is named "The Liberty Loan of 1917" because it is to be a loan from a free people to be used in freeing the world. It is the loan of a liberty-loving people to be devoted to the establishment of liberty in Europe and on the high seas.

It is the loan of the great democracy of the New World to redress the wrongs and support the cause of the democracy of the Old.

By special call of the Bishops of our church, next Sunday will be observed as a day of special prayer for our boys who are enlisting in the army, and for the homes from which they go.

Increasing Bean Acreage.

Officials of the E. P. & S. W., says the Tucumcari American, have entered into an agreement to set aside one-tenth of their salaries this crop season for the purpose of planting beans and a thousand acre tract has been provided for the purpose somewhere down the line of the road to El Paso. This is certainly showing the right kind of patriotism for people who ordinarily would not be expected to assist in the expansion of crops.
