Banks Show $125 for Each Citizen of State

Tabulations Just Completed
by Examiner Shows Total Resources of State and National Banks in New Mex.

A total of $17,109,348.45 in resources was reported by the sixty-eight state banks to Examiner George H. Van Stone of June 20, according to tabulations completed by the examiner today. Add to this the resources of the national banks and a total of almost $50,000,000 represents the bank resources of the state—more than $125 for each man, woman and child, a remarkable showing of prosperity for the commonwealth. The state banks show 11,285 savings depositors and 29,626 other depositors, a total of more than 40,000, which would indicate that every voter in the state is a bank depositor. The required legal reserve is 12 percent of deposits, but the report shows a reserve for the 68 banks of 26.87 percent.

The loans and discounts amounted to $12,480,066.24, of which $1,731,362.51 is secured by real estate, $5,948,289.13 by collateral and $4,800,414.60 by other securities. Bonds and securities amounted to $312,105.51; banking houses and lots were valued at $214,149.98; furniture and fixtures, $162,144.13; other real estate, $353,543.45; due from banks $2,854,148.66; checks and other cash items, $175,267.95; actual cash on hand, $586,459.64. The capital stock of the 68 banks totaled $2,445,588.20; the surplus, $541,772.61, the undivided profits to $243,646.37, or about 10% of the capital and 8% on the capital and surplus; deposits totaled $12,801,252.90, of which $1,762,934.35 were savings deposits, $66,214.37 trust, $8,341,675 individual deposits subject to check and $2,627,891.40 certificates of deposit. Notes and bills rediscounted amounted to $83,265.33; bills payable, $485,378.42.

Corona Woman Dies.

Mrs. Pauline Minor died at her home in Corona Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock following a prolonged illness of tuberculosis. She was 26 years of age. Mrs. Minor came to this county for her health last winter. A husband and three children, the eldest 3 years and the youngest 4 months of age, survive the deceased. The body was prepared for burial by Undertaker T. E. Kelley of Carrizozo and shipped to the old home at Highers, Mo., where interment will be made.

The Union Meetings.

The union meetings will continue thru July and August. So far they have been well attended and it is hoped that a great many will come out during the summer. The meetings are being held in the Methodist and Baptist churches. Rev. Marston preaches at the Baptist church and Rev. Gardner at the Methodist church on alternate Sundays. Sunday, July 22, union services will be at the Methodist church. Everybody is invited to attend these meetings.

Dance Well Attended.

The dance given at the E. P. & S. W. club house Wednesday night was well attended. Music was furnished during the evening by George Ferguson of this place. The ladies of the Red Cross society served punch during the evening. About $12 was realized from the sale which will be given to the Red Cross.

Card Party a Success.

The card party given by Mrs. Ira O. Wetmore and Mrs. H. S. Fairbank at the Wetmore opera house Tuesday night was both a social and financial success. Nine tables were arranged for the players who indulged in whist. Music was furnished during the evening by a three-piece orchestra. About $40 was realized, $16 of the sum being raised for the Red Cross society from the sale of candy by the Camp Fire girls. The hostesses were assisted in the serving of refreshments by the Misses Lorena Haley, Pearl Hyde, Evelyn French, Harriet Kimbell and Bessie Hyde.

Red Cross Meeting.

The Red Cross society met at the Crystal theatre Tuesday afternoon. The society will soon have samples of work to be done on hand. The meeting adjourned awaiting arrival of samples.

"Heart of the Sunset."

The Carrizozo Outlook is pleased to announce its good fortune in securing the exclusive right in Lincoln county to publish one of Rex Beach's latest and most popular novels, "The Heart of the Sunset." This story will be published in serial form beginning next week. The Heart of the Sunset is certain to prove very interesting to people of this section since it deals with matters along the border of which many are more or less familiar. This story is said to be intensely interesting from beginning to end and ranks among the author's best works. Don't miss the opening chapters.

Board of Education Meeting.

Notice is hereby given that there will be a call session of the County Board of Education to meet at the county superintendent's office Monday, July 30, 1917, at ten o'clock a. m. for the completion of unfinished business and for the transaction of such other business as may come before said board. All persons having business to transact before the board are invited to meet with them in the Town of Carrizozo upon the above date. A full attendance of the board is earnestly requested.

J. E. KOONCE,
Ex-officio Pres. of Board.

Suppered in Nogal Canyon.

Beware of the Peddler and German Kultur

Government is Unearthing
Most Diabolical Plots Conceivable to Menace Lives of United States Citizens.

Below are cited some splendid examples of the "kultur" the kaiser and his henchmen are attempting to spread over the world and this, at the same time, is a good hint to people to give itinerant peddlers the cold shoulder in these uncertain days.

The following is taken from a western Iowa newspaper: "The latest and most diabolical plot to destroy human lives was shown up last week when a traveling fakir peddling an innocent looking court plaster was arrested at Henderson. When searched at the police station over one thousand dollars in currency was found on his person, and this made the officers suspicious and it was decided to fully investigate the case. A sample of the court plaster was sent to Council Bluffs and when analyzed was found to contain large quantities of leprosy germs, the most malignant and incurable disease known. The aforesaid peddler was a German, hardly able to speak the English language, and appeared indifferent to the consequences when found out. Just what will be done with him is not known, but hanging or even burning is too good for a dirty skunk who would spread that greatest of all pestilences thru the land." An-

Every Woman Should Assist Local Red Cross

The local auxiliary of the Red Cross this week received advice as to what was most needed by the organization. The cause is sufficient to touch every woman and every woman is expected to volunteer to give at least some part of her time in helping her country to the best of her capabilities. Patriotism means more than the display of flags—it is the concrete work that counts. The list of articles suggested for preliminary work can be made by anyone, and patterns, samples and prices will be furnished if desired. All members of the Red Cross are urgently requested to be present at the next meeting, Monday, July 16, at 3 p. m. at the Crystal theatre. At this meeting non-members can become members by the payment of the required $1 and assist materially and financially.

The list of articles needed follows: Doctors and nurses operating gowns, operating caps, helmets, sheets, leggings for patients, muslin bandages, crinoline bandages, head bandages, T bandages, triangular and abdominal bandages, pajamas, convalescent gowns or bathrobes, hospital bed shirts, shoulder wraps.

Dr. R. T. Lucas Thursday received his credentials from Major C. H. Connor, U. S. Army, as instructor in first aid work, cooperating with the local chapter of the Red Cross.

For Sale—Jersey cow, 5 years old, gentle, gives milk now—will all winter. Plymouth Rock chickens. Single harness, new. Household goods. Garden. Rooms to rent. Good cistern. G. D. Sutton, Lincoln, N. M.

Rev. Marston is in El Paso attending the preachers' institute this week.

G. R. Aguerri returned the latter part of last week from a brief visit in Chihuahua City and other points in Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dawson returned Sunday morning from Iowa where they had been visiting Mr. Dawson's parents the past few weeks.

The W. H. M. S. of the Methodist church will serve ice cream from 3 to 5 o'clock Saturday, July 21st at Bell's grocery.

Alleged Robber Bound Over to Grand Jury

The preliminary trial of Merjildo and Demetrio Padilla, charged with entering the store of R. A. Duran at Escinosa the night of July 5th and stealing jewelry and money to the amount of about $500, was held Thursday before Justice A. H. Harvey. Suspicion pointed to the Padillas who were arrested at Capitan a few days ago and brought to Carrizozo by Deputy Sheriff Ralph Dow. On motion of the district attorney the charge against Demetrio was dismissed, while his brother was held to the grand jury in the sum of $1,000. The required bond was promptly given.

Mrs. A. W. Adams left Saturday night for points in Oklahoma and Arkansas for a brief visit with relatives. Before returning she will visit the St. Louis markets to purchase a line of millinery which she will shortly have on display in the Mayer building recently vacated by John E. Bell.

For Sale—Eight full blood Jersey cows, some registered, all young, gentle, easy milkers, tested for tuberculosis. Price right. S. M. Johnson, Ruidoso, N. M.

Miss Anna Flannigan, of Mascadero, is spending the summer months with Mrs. J. B. French.

Dr. H. E. Pine and family motored to Elephant Butte dam and Palomas springs the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Kelley and Mrs. Luster motored to Capitan Tuesday.

Mrs. Sam Allen is visiting friends in Deming.

The Women's Home Mission Society met at the parsonage Wednesday afternoon. A representative number were present. Delicious ice cream and cake was served.

The Auction Bridge club met at the home of Mrs. Frank Sager Thursday afternoon. Miss Anna Flannigan, of Mascadero, was an invited guest of the club. Delicious refreshments were served.

The ladies of the Guild met at the Rolland home Tuesday afternoon. About 15 participated in the knitting of wristlets and making comfort bags for soldiers. Delicious refreshments were served. Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Geo. Spence July 24th. All ladies are invited to attend whether members of the Guild or not.

SELECT 687,000 MEN

ARIZONA WILL FURNISH 3,447;
 COLORADO, 4,753; NEW MEXICO
 2,292 AND WYOMING 810.

Washington.—Secretary Baker announced that in the drawing to select men for draft into the war army, numbers will be drawn representing every one of the nearly 10,000,000 registered, so that each man may know the order in which he is liable to be called for service.
 Liability will be fixed by the order in which the names come out. There are some 6,000 districts with numbered registration cards, so the first number drawn will represent the first 6,000 to appear before the exemption boards.

Following the announcement by Secretary of War Baker that the first draft of American citizen soldiery would be about 687,000 men, the net quotas were compiled as follows:

Alabama	13,612
Arizona	3,447
Arkansas	10,277
California	23,080
Colorado	4,753
Connecticut	10,977
Delaware	1,202
Dist. of Columbia	925
Florida	5,325
Georgia	15,237
Idaho	2,292
Illinois	61,553
Indiana	17,510
Iowa	12,749
Kansas	6,439
Kentucky	14,236
Louisiana	15,582
Maine	3,231
Maryland	7,095
Massachusetts	20,588
Michigan	30,291
Minnesota	17,854
Mississippi	10,301
Missouri	18,480
Montana	3,272
Nebraska	5,852
Nevada	1,051
New Hampshire	1,204
New Jersey	20,665
New Mexico	3,447
New York	69,241
North Carolina	15,237
North Dakota	3,208
Ohio	23,772
Oklahoma	15,544
Oregon	717
Pennsylvania	60,859
Rhode Island	1,401
South Carolina	10,082
South Dakota	3,237
Tennessee	14,568
Texas	30,348
Utah	6,370
Vermont	1,049
Virginia	12,795
Washington	7,395
West Virginia	3,291
Wisconsin	12,374
Wyoming	810
Alaska	898
Porto Rico	12,822
United States	687,000

The table from which the net quotas were compiled shows that all enlistments in the National Guard and the regular army up to June 30th have been allowed as credits. The figures are given as follows:

Total strength of the National Guard on April 1, 1917, 164,292. Enlisted in the National Guard between April 1 and June 30, 183,719. Enlisted in the regular army between April 1 and June 30, 117,974. Total credits allowed for, 465,985.

This means that, according to the estimates of the government officials, the United States now has enrolled or under arms approximately 467,000 men classed as war volunteers and therefore constitute credits to be allowed to the states from which they enlisted.

REICHSTAG TIED UP BY STRIKE.

War Credit Halted Until German Reform is Assured.

London, July 14.—A dispatch to the Morning Post from Amsterdam says that rumors current that Emperor William has abdicated in favor of his son, Prince Joachim, are unconfirmed and must be taken with all reserve. The Reichstag has gone on strike and the members have decided to suspend the labors both of the full house and the main committee until the political situation is cleared up. This leaves the war credit bill in abeyance.

The Kaiser has decreed equal voting rights and summoned high officials as major parties line up for fight. Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg holding post pending vote on credit bill.
 The Russians have burst through the German lines on a front fifty miles wide in their rapid advance toward Lemberg. News from the Eastern front indicates the entire Teutonic line may be turned in Korniloff's dash west.

KEEP OLD GLORY FLYING.

Salutatory

Pursuant to announcement made July 6th, this issue of The Carrizozo Outlook comes out under the new management and we, in this connection, make our formal announcement to the public.

First, we wish to state that the newspaper game is not altogether new to us and we came here to make a success of the venture. We were favorably impressed with Carrizozo and its surroundings and saw the need of a real live newspaper. The latter is what we shall endeavor to make of The Outlook. Whether or not we succeed will depend entirely upon the honest and energetic efforts on our part and the assistance of the intelligent community.

We shall endeavor at all times to please our readers, to give all the news of the town and community and in this we kindly ask your cooperation to the extent of your convenience. That is if you know an item of news we will greatly appreciate it if you will call Telephone No. 24 and tell us about it.

New material is being added to the equipment of The Outlook which will enable us to better serve our patrons both in our newspaper and job departments. With the new equipment in our job department we will be prepared to handle any order from the simplest card to the more complex book to your entire satisfaction.

Our policy will be constructive and progress will be one of The Outlook's chief aims. The columns of the paper will be open to our readers for the free discussion of important issues and all are urged to take advantage of this privilege.

The politics of the paper will remain unchanged in that it will proudly carry the banner of the Republican party of the county, state and nation.

I thank you.

-A. L. BURKE.

The most essential factor in community building is the local newspaper as it reflects the community spirit. The editor himself being a part of the community and influence by his associations with the public, voices its sentiments, defends its interests and boosts its enterprises. A wide-awake community supports the live newspaper with full advertising columns bristling editorials, well selected general news and well written locals. It contains what is of interest from the coming and going of the people to the crop reports and the improvement of the town and country. It gladly receives and prints the joyful occasions of its people and sadly records its sorrows and misfortunes.

It takes money to conduct a newspaper and its success depends largely on the support given it by the public in return for its service. Much of what is printed in the home newspaper finds its way into the columns of the dailies of the large cities and thus advertises its own locality on a broader scale. It is an asset of value in development but to attain the full benefit of its influence it must receive a full measure of support from its community.

Out-looking—not looking backward is The Outlook policy.

These are the days when we often meet the chronic pessimist who says that on account of the war everything is going to the bad and that our business interests are in grave danger. He rolls the sweet morsel under his tongue and delights in its flavor; he can see good results in nothing. But what a relief it is to meet the optimist. He looks beyond the evil to the good; he sees more of the beauty, hears more of the music. His mental vision is keener and his spiritual insight deeper. He sees the rainbow of promise in his view of life; he tells us that business is bound to be good during the war because the war is a just and righteous one, that the result will be good and conditions will be good during the war period and business will prosper. So he talks prosperity and thus it reflects prosperity on all with whom he comes in contact. He says that there never has been so much money in this country and if the people will continue to keep it in circulation. We cannot help but be prosperous. Walk in, Mr. Optimist. Glad to see you. Continue with us and the arguments of the pessimist will pale into insignificance.

As the water users have announced an intention of fishing there in defiance of the state game warden, some very interesting legal proceedings may be looked for.

The wage of the miners in Bisbee is based on the price of copper, and this last pay day it was exactly $5.75 for eight hours work. The I. W. Also the Industrial Workers of the World announce that there will be no strike settlements anywhere until all are settled in their favor, which adds that much to the conviction that they do not actually want the properties to resume, at least, the leaders do not.

Marketing Beans to be an Easy Matter

Marketing of the largest bean crop New Mexico has ever produced should be a comparatively easy matter according to information coming from dealers and brokers in the eastern states.

The fact that New Mexico was fourth in bean production in the United States last season attracted the attention of bean dealers all over the country who have been asking for samples of the New Mexico Pinto bean. Writing to the State Publicity Bureau recently Peabody & Co., merchandise brokers of Boston, make the following interesting statement:

"During the last two or three years, there have been extensive importations of Manchurian beans and each year there have been quite large carry-overs of these beans on account of the poor quality of some of them. We believe that a great deal of this importation can be cut out just as soon as buyers all over this country understand the quality of Pinto beans, and as soon as buyers become aware of the superiority of Pinto beans, we believe large quantities of them can be sold in the east."

Not Fair to New Mexico.

An Associated Press dispatch recently printed carried the per capita contributions of the different states to the Red Cross fund. The per capita contribution credited to New Mexico was 10 cents which would have meant the total contributed by the state was only $35,000. Colfax and Bernalillo counties alone gave a total greater than this.

The Council of Defense has wired the chairman of the Red Cross, asking that a corrected statement be given to the press. Request was made also that the total amount subscribed by New Mexico be wired to the Council so that the false impression might be corrected thruout the state. Each chapter reports direct to national headquarters in New York, hence it has not been possible to tabulate the figures in this state.

AMAZING STORY OF HOW PROVIDENCE JOURNAL UNCOVERED GERMAN PLOTS

Met Guile With Guile and Spy With Spy, and for Almost Three Years Kept the Government Informed of Teutonic Intrigue and Treachery in This Country—Editor Tells How It Was Done.

New York.—How the Providence Journal met guile with guile, and spy with spy, how it had its man in Bernstorff's own household and its two wireless stations "listening in" on the German-Sayville "line" to Berlin—how, in fact, this one New England newspaper for almost three years kept the United States government informed of the German-Austrian plots in America—has at last been revealed.

John R. Rathom, in a speech made at the convention of the Canadian Press association in Toronto, and reported in the Editor and Publisher from the Toronto Star, weaves a story of plot and counter-plot as remarkable as any that have come from the pen of E. Phillips Oppenheim. And Mr. Rathom says that he has a safe full of documents yet unused which he will pull out if the situation ever again requires it.

It's a Great Story.

It's a great story, and greater still in its hints of what it might be. Here it is:

"The Providence Journal," begins the Editor and Publisher, "happened upon its course of exposure through having had for ten years before the war what other papers described as a 'bug' in wireless telegraphy. The paper had maintained two powerful wireless plants at Point Judith and at Block Island. When war broke out they had decided to 'listen in' on the messages crossing the Atlantic. For five months they kept record of these messages, and then they set out to find the codes and make revelations. Of the material they secured they used only a fractional part.

"One of the newspaper's stenographers was sent and secured an appointment in the Austrian consulate in New York. Other of its workers were constantly engaged in shadowing Captain Boy-Ed, Captain von Papen, former Austrian Ambassador Dumba, the German Ambassador Bernstorff and other German and Austrian officials. The two wireless plants unceasingly listened in, two shifts of operators at work day and night, on Sayville and Nantucket, the two wireless stations which were being used mostly by the Germans to keep in touch with Berlin, from where they received instructions for every detail of their plotting policy.

"For the United States government the Brooklyn navy yard had had instructions to keep a close watch on the Sayville and Nantucket stations, but nothing suspicious was ever reported until Mr. Rathom took some of the messages which he had received from his operators to the state department. It was then learned that the navy yard operators had been in the pay of German agents in America, and had been told not to hear too much.

"The first revelation which Mr. Rathom told illustrated the German capacity for blundering. It was the story of Werner Horne—the man who was responsible for the attempt to blow up the Vaneboro bridge. Horne had been detected as a German spy by one of the Journal reporters in New York. In an effort to disguise himself Horne allowed his beard to grow for three days, put on an old suit which he purchased for three dollars (even this detail was reported) and packed his personal effects in an old carpet bag. Having carried out these elaborate precautions he took passage for the point where the "job" was to be done, on one of the finest and most luxurious trains in the United States. As is well known now, he was caught. When asked later by Mr. Rathom why he had been foolish enough to travel first-class in such shabby dress, Horne replied that he was a German officer and a gentleman and always traveled in the best style. Passport Fraud Outlined.

"Another German scheme in which the Journal reporters outwitted the Teutons occurred soon after in New York also. A fraudulent passport bureau, operated by German officials, was discovered, doing a land-office business in an office building on Broadway. The Journal—taking as a public accountant on the one side and a manufacturer's agent on the other—sandwiched the passport forgers between them. Every word that passed in this office was recorded by means of the instruments used for that purpose, and reported to the Providence Journal. When sufficient evidence was gathered the United States secret service was notified and the three forgers were taken away. As soon as they had been removed three of the Journal's employees were allowed to take charge of the office to receive the patrons. It was not long after that Von Papen and the German military attaché at Tokyo came in with a list of names of men for whom they desired passports. The name at the top of the list was that of Werner Horne.

"A friend of mine," said Mr. Rathom, "thinking himself very friendly, but in a thing which I objected to, went to Paris and while there bought a lot of war relics. Among them was one of the first iron crosses that had been given by the German emperor to a major of a German regiment, who died on the field and whose cross had been taken from him and taken to Paris. It was sold to my friend, with statements as to whom it had belonged, and my friend sent it to me. I sent it to Bernstorff with a letter, saying that that mark of honorable distinction of a man who had done his duty for his country belongs to his family. I gave the name of the man and the name of the family, and begged him to take care of the cross so that it could be sent back after the war or at some time to the man's people.

Tears Note to Pieces.
"The ambassador tore the note to pieces, threw the note in the face of the man I sent, and threw the cross on the floor, saying that, after having been defiled by the hands of American dogs, that cross was of no use to anybody in Germany. I knew my man was telling the truth, because the man I had in there reported the incident to me exactly the way he did. Incidentally I might say that the individual to whom I refer was in the German embassy 17 months as one of the ambassador's secretaries, and the ambassador had no knowledge that he was not what he pretended to be until the Frederick VIII left New York for Halifax. He said to my man, 'You had better get aboard or you will lose your boat,' and he replied: 'I am safer on this side.' Mr. Bernstorff had no idea of that man's identity or whom he was serving until he left New York.

"Another incident," he continued, "that is of great interest came when one of our valued and keenest stenographers in our own office, a girl that came to us seven years ago from about twenty miles outside of Providence, was given a position in the office of the Austrian consul general in New York city. She had never been in New York before, but she was ahead of a number of people in competition, and the man choosing the stenographer they wanted (a capable girl able to do his work and to keep her mouth shut) had been informed that she was the party to choose—by other friends of ours. One day about five or six weeks after she got there she informed us that a great packing case was being filled up with propaganda documents and with bills of expense in connection with explosions in munition plants and other vital and valuable things, and was to be shipped off the following week right straight to England on a Swedish ship and from there to Germany.

Von Papen Filtrates.

"The only thing we could possibly do was to identify the package. One day when they were about to close the package up this girl, under instructions—and I may say incidentally she is now back at work getting her $16 a week—sat on this box eating her lunch. Nearly everybody else had gone, but Von Papen, rather debonair and fond of ladies, wandered in and sat on the packing box and asked if he could share her lunch with her. She said certainly, and while they were sharing the sandwiches he made some sentimental advances and she in rather a dreamy way took out a large red pencil and drew two big red hearts on this packing case. It was Captain Von Papen himself who put an arrow through them. And, ladies and gentlemen, when the ship Austrasia II reached Falmouth they picked that package out of the hold from about a hundred and fifty others and identified it by the two big red hearts. And yet they say there are no brilliant people but the Germans."

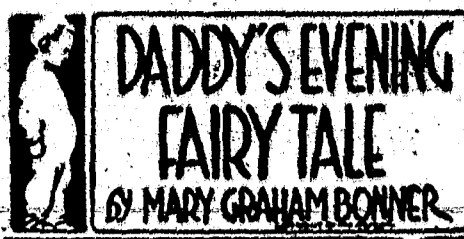

"Another incident, the loss of a portfolio belonging to Dr. Heinrich Albert, an Austrian official, which contained papers relating to Ambassador Dumba's efforts to incite labor troubles in the United States, created quite a stir among the diplomats. Mr. Rathom told of how a Journal reporter got the papers as the result of which Dumba was sent back to Austria by the president.

"One of the Journal reporters had been shadowing Doctor Albert in New York, but for months nothing seemed wrong. One day he went into a leather goods store, where he ordered a portfolio and gave the salesman instructions to put his initials on it. The reporter, as soon as Albert had gone out, walked up to the salesman and ordered another portfolio of the same kind.

"A day or two later Albert, carrying the new portfolio, was followed from the front of his apartments by the Journal man. Albert boarded an elevated train. He placed his bag containing papers on the seat beside him. Suddenly he was stirred by a fight in the front of the car. As he stood up to see what the trouble was, as did nearly everybody else in the car, the portfolios were changed. This happened on a Saturday morning. Albert, in a statement later, said that he discovered the trick the same day, but we know for a fact that he did not discover the difference until Monday morning. Needless to say, the men who were fighting on the street car were also in the employ of the Journal."

"It was through the Journal, Mr. Rathom said, that a great quantity of important papers were secured, from Wolf von Igel. These papers revealed the Casement plot for the Irish uprising. When the papers were taken, Mr. Rathom said, in illustrating his point that there is a certain amount of stupidity in all German diplomatists, Von Bernstorff made application to the state department to have them returned. He was told that any paper he could identify would be returned to him, and then realized how he had committed himself in asking that the papers be returned.

"We have not printed one-fiftieth of what we secured, but we were very glad, when events turned, to turn the key on the safe in which it is deposited and forget the balance, because the work we tried to do has been accomplished."

THE STORM:

"The Wind," said Daddy, "thought he must have a frolic.

Old Queen Thunder Clapped With Pleasure.

"Old Queen Thunder clapped with pleasure. 'Are we going to have some fun?' she asked.

"That all depends," said the Wind. "Depends on what, Mr. Wind?" "I'd like to have a little exercise."

"And all the leaves on the trees trembled, for well they knew what the wind meant by a little exercise. The Breezes were a family who did not exercise quite so hard—but the Wind—well, he had absolutely no consideration for anyone—least of all the leaves. So they were shaking while the Wind was talking.

"If I had bones," said the Wind, "I would say they were getting stiff."

"It's true, you can't very well say that," answered Queen Thunder—while down on the earth people said:

"It must be going to thunder and lightning pretty badly in a few moments. Do you hear the rumbles?" "And they all rushed about taking in things from porches and closing windows.

"But I can say that I am getting quite slow and stiff from not blowing," said the Wind. "It makes me just as stiff as it would if I had bones and hadn't stretched them for days and days."

"I can understand that," said King Thunder. "I am feeling the same way about roaring and crashing and banging."

"So am I," said Queen Thunder. "Shall I call the lightning children?"

"Of course, of course," said King Thunder and the Wind said:

"Heigh-ho, heigh-ho, I'll blow and I'll blow. The thunders will crash. We'll move with a dash. The lightning will call. We'll have a regular ball."

"The lightning came quickly enough and flash after flash flew across the sky. All the people went indoors, and the Wind was delighted.

"We have everything to ourselves," he said happily. "No one is around to bother us. We've frightened them all away, hurrah, hurrah!"

"We need a party like this," said King Thunder. "We've been so lazy this summer. We have hardly given any storms at all."

"And he said this with as much pride as if he had been talking about fine performances he was able to give.

"It's so funny," said Queen Thunder, "that people don't see how fine and royal we are. Just think how powerful we are! We can make so much noise! We are a great, wonderful, glorious king and queen. So full of life and gaiety."

"Now each time the Queen spoke there were great sounds of thunder and the same thing happened when the King talked. Their voices are rumbling and roaring just as they say.

"When the wind spoke he blew. He can't talk very well and stay still. And the lightning always flashes when there is a good storm.

"As they all got very excited talking and boasting, the storm became worse and worse. Shutters came off from windows, plants in gardens were knocked quite flat and benches and chairs which had been left in gardens or on the porches were overturned.

"But the Wind said when the storm was all over and he was going to be quiet and rest for awhile: 'Well, this has done me good. And I do believe it has done the grown-ups and children good. They have had day after day of sunshine, and now they know that old Mr. Sun isn't the only creature in the world. There is the storm wind, King and Queen Thunder and the lightning children!'"

FARM MORE LAND

Cultivate for the Soldier at the Front.

This question of conservation of food has become so agitated by those who have a knowledge of what it means in the preservation of life, who have made a study of the food conditions, and the requirements of the country, that it is beginning to arouse the entire nation. The economist whose duty it is to study the output and compare it with the consumption, sees a rapidly creeping up of one on the other, and when the appetite of consumption gets a headway on the output, where will the nation be? It is time the people were aroused, for there is danger ahead unless the intelligence of the people is awakened to the facts. The crop of 1917 will be less than an average one, and see the work it has to perform. It has to feed the man producing it, and he is of less efficiency today than a year ago. His strength has been reduced by the drawing away of the thousands from the farms, who are now in the ranks of the consumer instead of in that of the producer. There is an inverse ratio here that can only be understood when confronted with the appalling figures presented by those in charge of the conservation work. The army has to be fed, dependents cared for, the navy has to have provisions, and we cannot sit idly by and see the women and children of the countries across the sea starve. There is such a great call for active participation in the matter of providing food, that those who are left at home in charge of this work have a responsibility placed upon them fully as great as has the man at the front who has gone out to protect the homes, the sanctity and the honor of those who are left behind. The producer should think only of this; there should be economy, not only of labor. Every acre of available land should be producing. Advantage should be taken of every daylight hour. It must not be a case of how much can we make. It must be a case of "fight" with those who have gone overseas, but in our way, fight to win the war. Where that spirit pervades will be found the spirit of the patriotic American. There is no difficulty in securing land in any of the states. It may be rented on easy terms or purchased at low prices, and there should be little difficulty arranging with bankers to get the necessary funds to carry on operations. Should you not be able to get what you want in your own state, Western Canada offers an immense wide field for operations at the lowest possible cost, and Americans are welcomed with open arms. Homesteads of 100 acres each may be had on easy conditions, and other lands may be purchased at low prices on easy terms. The yields of all kinds of small grains are heavy. The prospects for a 1917 crop are excellent, and it looks today as if there would be as good a return as at any time in the past, and when it is realized that there have been yields of forty and forty-five bushels of wheat over large areas this should be encouraging. Now that the two countries are allies and the cause is a common one there should be no hesitation in accepting whatever offer, seems to be the best in order to increase the production so necessary, and which should it not be met, will prove a serious menace. Particulars as to Canadian lands, whether for purchase or homestead, may be had on application to any Canadian Government Agent.—Advertisement.

Using Cast-Off Gloves.

A use for all sorts of cast-off gloves has been found in London in connection with relief work in England. The old leather, after proper sterilization, is applied on heavy cambric or buckram and made into sleeveless wind-proof jackets, which are much in demand for men both in the trenches and the navy.

Similarly. "Do you know anything about golf?" "Only this—that when my husband's golf is bad so is his disposition."

Disagreeable Feature. "She has fine eyes and a pretty mouth, but I don't like her nose." "Neither do I—it's into everything."

KNITTING AS CHURCH LURE

Long Island Pastor Institutes New Scheme to Draw Laggards to Services.

Glen Cove, L. I.—Small attendance and lack of enthusiasm at the Carpenter Memorial M. E. church has caused the pastor, Rev. Dr. W. H. Hughes, to institute a new scheme to draw laggards to church.

"Hereafter both men and women members of the church will come prepared to do their knitting," he has announced. "If there is anyone in the gathering who cannot knit, be he man or woman, then we will see that that person learns the art. If we can't pray, we can knit and do something for the army of Americans who will soon be crossing the sea."

What They Ask.

There's no objection to a fellow losing his heart, but nine times out of ten his close friends and confidants would be much obliged to him if he'd refrain from losing his mind at the same time.—Mass. Telegraph.

CHARGES HE ROLLED UP UNCLE SAM'S SLEEVES

Chicago.—Because Frederick W. Elchorn has been selling statues of Uncle Sam with his sleeves rolled up, Henry Borzone has sued him for $50,000. Borzone claims that he designed a statue of Uncle Sam showing him peacefully carrying a flag, and that Elchorn copied it, rolling up Uncle Sam's sleeves as the only change.

Law of Compensation.

Ruth's father gave her some pennies for Sunday school and she departed with a neighbor's little son, Harry, who was likewise prepared. Upon her return she said, "Father, just think; Harry didn't put his pennies in Sunday school. He put them in the slot machine, but the gum never came out, so you see, father, he just couldn't fool God, could he?"

TO DRIVE OWN HOSPITAL CAR ON FRENCH FRONT

Tulsa, Okla.—Arthur Gamman, a young oil operator, will sail for France in a few days to drive a field ambulance contributed by himself. Gamman and his business partner, Raymond W. McIntosh, were among the first in Tulsa to volunteer as officers in the new United States army and were ordered to Leon Springs, Texas, for training.

On their way there McIntosh was stricken with appendicitis and died. Gamman accompanied the body to New York for burial and there decided to enlist in the ambulance corps for immediate foreign service.

Waste Worth $10,000.

Bloomington, Pa.—For years a pile of waste from irridium, a material used in making diamond pointed fountain pens, was thought worthless by manufacturers here. Recently a stranger dropped in and offered $75 a pound, or more than $10,000 for it. It is used in the munitions industry.

BAPTIST CHURCH

(Rev. J. M. Gardner, Pastor.)

Pastor will preach Sunday morning at 11 a. m. on "Your Awful Temptation." At 8 p. m. he will preach at the Methodist church on "The Rich Man and Lazarus and the Future Hell and Heaven."

The Sunday school still holds up in interest and attendance and we want to extend a hearty invitation to all strangers to attend both Sunday school and church.

B. Y. P. U's. will meet as usual at 7 p. m.

Beware of the Peddler.

Other news story comes from Kansas City and is to the effect that three men are under arrest there with officers on the trail of others who were found selling court plaster thruout the city and country. Suspicion was aroused when the peddlers failing to make a sale would give away their wares. Samples were sent to expert chemists who reported them inoculated with germs of tetanus or lock jaw. Several persons are reported to have died of lock jaw in parts of Kansas where peddlers have worked.

The Outlook must refrain from comment, since language is too feeble an instrument when dealing with such human depravity, but wishes to remind readers there is no need to buy court plaster or any other article of merchandise from strolling peddlers carrying goods of unknown origin and doubtful quality when dependable goods may be bought from reliable merchants here at home.

Boy Scouts.

The Hawk Patrol of the Boy Scouts met in regular session last Friday at 5 p. m. Only a few members were present. It was decided not to go on a hike Saturday but to go some time this week. It is the present plan to go to the Mal Pais Friday afternoon taking supper there and hike back in the cool of the evening. —D. S. Elliot Jr., reporter.

We visited the Crystal theatre last night and were pleased to find such a remarkable enterprise in a town the size of Carrizozo. Mr. Dingwall features only first-class pictures which ordinarily are seen only in the larger cities. Following are some of the treats in the near future for Crystal goers: Pauline Frederick in the Soul Market, Frederick Warde in the Vicar of Wakefield, Life of Our Savior in hand-colored pictures; others equally as good will follow. Mr. Dingwall is to be congratulated upon his progressive and enterprising qualities.

Trading Company Building to be Best Equipped in Country

Most Elaborate Between El Paso and Hutchinson, Kansas.

The new business block of the Carrizozo Trading Co. now under course of construction on Fourth street and Alamogordo avenue will be, when completed, the finest and best equipped business block between Hutchinson, Ks., and El Paso, Texas. The building will be fully equipped with the latest and most serviceable steam heating plant, private sprinkler and water system, and will also be provided with a thorough up-to-date cooling system and refrigerating plant for perishable merchandise which will be kept in special rooms designed for this particular purpose. The boiler rooms, like everything else connected with the building, will be strictly modern. All floors will be of hard wood and of the best material obtainable.

The first floor containing 7,500 square feet of space will be occupied by the Trading company and the contract for fixtures has been let to the Grand Rapids Show Case Co., of Grand Rapids, Mich. All merchandise will be under glass display cases. Mens furnishings, ladies ready-to-wear and all merchandise of this character will occupy wardrobe display cases. On the second floor will be five suites of three rooms each and four suites of two rooms each, designed for offices which have already been rented. There will also be a large hall, 42x56 feet which will furnish an ideal center for public gatherings. Here the public has an outline of a strictly modern and up-to-date business block and one of which this section of the state in general, and Carrizozo in particular, may well be proud of.
