

CARRIZOZO OUTLOOK

Published Weekly in the Interest of Carrizozo, and Lincoln County

VOL. XI—NO. 48

CARRIZOZO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1917

PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

Carrizozo's New Business Block

THE new business block shown in the above illustration, soon to be occupied by the Carrizozo Trading Company, is the best equipped business building between Hutchinson, Kansas, and El Paso. The structure is being fitted out with the latest and most serviceable steam heating plant, private sprinkler, and water system, and will also be provided with a thorough cooling system and refrigerating plant.

The fixtures for this building are being supplied under a special contract by the Grand Rapids Show Case Co., of Grand Rapids, Mich., and all merchandise will be kept in fancy display cases designed for each individual purpose.

The first floor is 75 by 100 feet, and this enormous floor space and the basement will be occupied by the Carrizozo Trading Company January 15th.

On the second floor will be five suites of rooms of two and three each, which have been rented, and also a large hall 64 by 50 feet which will be used for affairs of a public nature, the first of which is the intention of the management, to open the New Year with an elaborate social affair in which the new home of the Carrizozo Trading Company will be dedicated to the service of the public. After this important event the arrangement of the new fixtures will be made, goods arranged in the different departments and a business enterprise second to none in quality, convenience and perfection will be open to the public.

They may build larger buildings but they do not build them better. They may carry a heavier stock but none can excel the Carrizozo Trading Company in quality and price, to which the management invites the attention and inspection of the people of Carrizozo and vicinity.

UNITY IS ESSENTIAL

The spirit of unity was never more essential in this nation than at this time. Unity of action, unity of thought, unity of purpose. Americans, individually, do not take the war as seriously as they should. We are so far removed from the red fields of France, Belgium and Italy that we are too apt to feel that the war cannot touch us. Of course, there are those who have sent husbands, brothers and sons to the front, and they must be expected, for to them the war is real.

But every red-blooded American should look the issue squarely in the face and realize, if they do not already, that we are one of the actors—if not the principal one—in the huge tragedy being enacted upon the European battlefields, and that the 1,000,000 soldiers that have been called to the colors may be quadrupled before the war is over—even before another winter approaches. All can realize what that means to every community. For instance, Lincoln county instead of having 100 men in the service, as at present, would have 400. Wouldn't that make an inroad on the young manhood of Lincoln county? Wouldn't that bring the war nearer home to still more of our people? And is it not entirely possible that many would be filled with vain regrets of not having done all they could have done, even though they had not been called upon to go to the front?

There are so many ways of aiding the cause of humanity and democracy—for which our country is battling—that it seems unnecessary to repeat them because they have been stated so often; and yet, while much has been accomplished, so much of it has been done in a perfunctory manner, so much indifference has been displayed, that it seems a calamity of some kind is necessary to bring about unity of thought, action and purpose.

An immense sum, it is true, has been realized from the two Liberty Loan sales, but it must be admitted that it required individual effort and team work to drag dollars from many subscribers. A magnificent and successful drive was made for the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A., but it required a sacrifice on the part of a few in every community in order to secure subscriptions from the many. Food conservation, not only for ourselves but for the allies, who are fighting our battles, every one admits is essential, but most of us are willing for the other fellow to practice the art of conservation.

That we shall be called upon to do more and more is just as certain as night follows day. The question is not what we are going to make, to accumulate, to hold, but what are we going to give? If we do not give liberally, both in time and money, it is quite certain the government will find means to take what it needs, in the form of taxation, one way or another. How much better it would be, how much more in harmony with the spirit of our free institutions would it be for every American—man and woman—to give, and give freely, when the needs of the nation and its people demand it. The boys have gone to the front—they are risking all, and some of them, sad as it must be, will give all.

It may be that you had no money with which to purchase Liberty Bonds, but that should not keep you from giving the Red Cross your services. You may not be so situated that you can financially aid the Y. M. C. A., but you can practice conservation in your home and talk it to your neighbors and rest assured that such self-denial will have its reward in the lives that will be saved thereby.

It is time we were facing the big thing—the biggest thing recorded in history—the attempt of the Prussian autocracy to dominate the world. That is the big thing, and everything else pales into insignificance compared with it. A community or an individual that cannot put aside any friction or personal feeling in the face of this big thing is either lacking in patriotism or is too shortsighted to appreciate the big thing.

It is the people of Lincoln county we are trying to reach—not those of Maine or California. We are one of the units that go to make up the magnificent whole, and we hope unity of action, thought and purpose will be the guide of their every move wherein the progress of the war is the incentive and that all bickerings will be laid aside and a united front will be the result.

Just now the Red Cross is the most pressing duty confronting us, and the people of Lincoln county can't pass this on to some other unit. Our boys need to be clothed, and it is up to our people to do their part. And if there exists in any part of the county, or among the organization of the Red Cross Society, a spirit of antagonism, purely because of personal spite or difference it is time to curb that spirit and devote all our energies and talents to the suppression of the big thing—a thing despised by every American worthy of the name. The object of this is plain, but if there be some who will not understand, then it has been written in vain.

Friendly Bible Class

The Friendly Bible Class at the Baptist church is growing and its president, Austin Patty, extends a hearty invitation to all who do not belong to some other adult Bible class to come and get acquainted with them and you will want to come again. The class has 28 members at present and we want to double that number inside of the next three months. Will you be one of the next twenty-eight?

Bill Burch, was down from his ranch Tuesday mixing up with his old friends in Carrizozo.

Mr. J. B. Greer from the San-Anderer Goat Ranch was a business visitor this week.

Made Motions

Wednesday morning Roman Vidauri noticed Eliseo Perea making motions at his best girl and made an effort to punish him for the offense. Perea however was more fleetfooted than his adversary, and retreated in disorder, until he gained the court house, where he filed information against Roman, charging him with assaulting him with a knife.

The trial was held Wednesday afternoon and after the evidence was all taken Justice Harvey exercised his usual wisdom and fined Roman five dollars and costs.

Mrs. Ben West arrived home Thursday from El Paso.

Bride and Promotion

The following wedding notice from the Kansas City Star will be read with interest by the friends of W. W. Stadtman of this city as Lieut. Stadtman, whose marriage occurred recently is a brother of our W. W., and as will be noticed, received the notice of his promotion in a novel manner and to a fitting position to give encouragement to his new undertaking in life.

It all happened just like it does in books—only more beautifully—for to Lieut. Elmer E. Stadtman of the United States Infantry success in love and in the affairs of life came simultaneously Tuesday.

Lee I. McElroy, Fifth Street and Highland Avenue, had led his daughter, Miss Margaret Branson McElroy, down the stairway to the altar. The wedding party had assembled, and before them the young lieutenant and Miss McElroy had given their vows. The Reverend Robert Nelson Spencer, pastor of Grace Episcopal church, was about to pronounce them man and wife. Then—

Lieut. Stadtman was then handed a telegram. It was from his associates at Fort Sill, Okla., where for the last month he has been doing special work looking toward a captaincy and took an examination for that rank. And it announced that he had attained the new rank.

Captain and Mrs. Stadtman will remain with Mr. and Mrs. McElroy several days, after which Captain Stadtman will leave for Camp Oglethorpe, Ga., where he was stationed before going to Ft. Sill. His home is at Nowata, Oklahoma.

Carrizozo Methodist Church

The Methodist people are doing their best to serve the city of Carrizozo. They had a great day last Sunday. Will have another next Sunday.

Carrizozo Gets Conference

Sunday night at the Methodist Church Rev. J. B. Cochran who is a member of the N.M. Annual Conference Entertainment Committee, announced that a majority of the committee had considered Carrizozo's invitation favorably, and that in his judgement Carrizozo would be selected as the meeting place for the 1918 Conference.

This Conference, will bring about 100 leaders of the church to our city, besides the different representative members of the church auxiliaries that will attend the Conference in a body.

Mrs. Sager Entertains

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Charles F. Sager entertained the Auction Bridge Club at her home.

A delicious salad luncheon was served and as usual, with affairs of the club, a pleasant afternoon was experienced. Mrs. H. S. Fairbank was the winner of the first prize and Mrs. L. C. Crawford secured second prize.

Those present, including the hostess, were Mesdames Fairbank, Crawford, Dingwall, Wetmore, Spencer, Spencer, Gumm, Bamberger, Allen and Leon.

Mrs. Kimball and Mrs. Whittingham were present as guests of the club.

Mrs. W. H. Osborn will entertain the club at her home on December 30th.

HEART OF THE SUNSET

By Rex Beach

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

CHAPTER XX—Continued.

"No, no!" He made a gesture of denial. "How ridiculous! I merely keep you from certain destruction. You cannot go by train, because the railroad has suspended public service, nor can you ride or drive. I tell you, senora, the people are aroused. For the moment you must accept my protection, whether you wish to or not. Tomorrow—Longorio smiled warmly, meaningly—"perhaps you will not be in such haste to refuse it, or to leave La Feria. Wait until you understand me better. Then— But enough of this. You are unstrung, you wish to be alone with your thoughts, and what I have to say can wait for a few hours. In the meantime, may I beg the hospitality of your ranch for myself and my men?"

Alaire acquiesced mechanically. Longorio saluted her fingers in his customary manner, and then, with a look eloquent of things unsaid, he went out to see to the comfort of his command.

Alaire sank into the nearest chair, her nerves quivering, her mind in a turmoil. This Mexican was detestable, and he was far from being the mere maker of audaciously gallant speeches, the poetically fervent wooer of every pretty woman, she had blindly supposed him. His was no sham ardor; the man was hotly, horribly in earnest. There had been a glint of madness in his eyes. And he actually seemed to think that she shared his infatuation. It was intolerable. Yet Longorio, she was sure, had an abundance of discretion; he would not dare to offer her violence. He had pride, too; and in his way he was something of a gentleman. So far, she had avoided giving him offense. But if once she made plain to him how utterly loathsome to her was his pursuit, she was sure that he would cease to annoy her. Alaire was self-confident, strong-willed; she took courage.

Her thoughts turned from her fears to the amazing reality of her widowhood. Even yet she could not wholly credit the fact that Ed's wasted life had come to an end and that she was free to make the most of her own. Alaire remembered her husband now with more tenderness, more charity, than she would have believed possible, and it seemed to her pitiful that one so blessed with opportunity should have worked such havoc with himself and with those near to him.

Doubtless it was all a part of some providential scheme, too blind for her to solve. Perhaps, indeed, his own trials had been designed to the end that her greater, truer love, when it did come, would find her ripe, responsive, ready. As for this Mexican general, she would put him in his place.

Alaire was still walking the floor of her chamber when Dolores entered, at dusk, to say that supper was ready and that General Longorio was waiting.

"Ask him to excuse me," she told her servant.

But Longorio himself spoke from the next room, saying: "Senora, I beg of you to honor me. I have much of importance to say, and time presses. Control your grief and give me the pleasure of your company."

After an instant's consideration, Alaire yielded. It was best to have the matter over with, once for all.

CHAPTER XXI.

The Doors of Paradise.

Alaire began the mockery of playing hostess with extreme distaste, and as the meal progressed she experienced a growing uneasiness. Longorio's bearing had changed since his arrival. He was still extravagantly courteous, beautifully attentive; he maintained a flow of conversation that relieved her of any effort, and yet he displayed a repressed excitement that was disturbing. In his eyes there was a glowing look of possession hard to endure. Despite her icy formality, he appeared to be holding himself within the bounds of propriety only by an effort of the will, and she was not surprised when, at the conclusion of the meal, he cast restraint aside.

She did not let him go far with his wailing before warning him: "I won't listen to you. You are a man of taste; you must realize how offensive this is."

"Let us not deceive each other," he insisted. "We are alone. Let us be honest. Do not ask me to put faith in your grief. I find my excuse in the extraordinary nature of this situation."

"Nothing can excuse indelicacy," she answered, evenly. "You transgress the commonest rules of decency."

But he was impatient. "What senseless! You did not love your husband. You were for years his prisoner. Through the bars of your prison I saw and loved you. Dios! The first sight of your face altered the current of my life. I saw heaven in your eyes, and I have dreamed of nothing else ever since. Well, Providence opened the doors and set you free; God gave heed to my prayers and delivered you to me. Now you pretend to grieve at your deliverance; you ask me to respect the memory of your jailer! Decency? Delicacy? What are they except artificialities, which vanish in times of stress? Alexander the Great, Caesar, Napoleon, Porfirio Diaz—they were strong, purposeful men; they lived as I live. Senora, you dally with love."

Alaire's face was white with anger as she replied: "You cause me to forget that you are my guest. Are you the man I considered you or the man you are reported to be?"

"Eh?"

"Are you the gentleman, the friend, you pretended to be, or—the vandal whom no woman can trust? You treat me as if you were my jailer. What do you mean? What kind of man are you to take advantage of my bereavement?"

After a moment's consideration, Longorio began haltingly: "I don't know what kind of a man I am, for you have changed me so. There was a time—I—I have done things—I have scorned all restraint, all laws except those of my desires, and so, perhaps, I am a vandal. Make sure of this, however—I shall not injure you. Mexico is no more sacred to me than you, my heart's treasure. You accuse me of indelicacy because I lack the strength to smother my admiration. I adore you; my being dissolves, my veins are afire with longing for you; I am mad with the knowledge that you are mine. Mad? Caramba! I am insane; my mind totters; I grope my way like a man blinded by a dazzling light; I suffer agonies. But see! I refuse to touch you. I am a giant in my restraint. The strength of heroes is mine, and I struggle my impulses as they are born, although the effort kills me. Senora, I await the moment of your voluntary surrender. I wait for you." He extended his arms, and Alaire saw that his olive features were distorted with emotion; that his hands, his whole thin, high-strung body were shaking uncontrollably.

She could summon no coherent words.

"You believed I was a hawk and would seize you, eh?" he queried. "Is that why you continue to shrink? Well, let me tell you something, if my tongue will frame the thoughts in my mind. My passion is so deep and so sacred that I would not be content with less than all of you. I must have you all, and so I wait, trembling. I say this so badly that I doubt if you understand. Listen, then: to possess you by force would be—well, as if I sacked a cathedral of its golden images and expected to gain heaven by clutching the cross in my arms. Senora, in you I see the priceless jewel of my love, which I shall wear to dazzle the world, and without which I shall destroy myself. Now let me tell you what I can offer you, what setting I can build for this treasure. Marriage with Luis Longorio."

Alaire could not control a start. As if quickened by his intensity, the man read her thought. "You did not imagine that I offered you anything less?"

"What was I to think? Your reputation—"

"Blood of my heart!" breathed the general. "So! That is what you meant a moment ago. That is why you refuse my embraces. No, no! Other women have feared me, and I have laughed in their hair as they tore at my arms, but you—you will be my wife, and all Mexico shall bow at your feet." He checked her denial with a gesture. "Wait until I tell you the vision I have seen during these days of despair. I see Mexico made whole by my hands; a land of peace and plenty; a people with one name upon their lips—the name of Longorio the Deliverer; and you as the first lady of them all. You know me for a man of tremendous ability in every line. Well, I know myself, too. I have measured myself carefully, and I have no weakness. There is no other like me. Pancho Gomez? Bah! He is a red-handed bandit of no culture. Casseferia, his chief? The idol of the ignorant and a dreamer of no force. Potosi? He is president today, but what of tomorrow? Those who surround him are weaklings, and he stumbles toward oblivion. Who will succeed him? Who will issue from the coming struggle as the dominant figure of Mexico? Who but that military genius who checks the Yankee hordes and saves the fatherland? I am he. Fate points the path of glory and I am her man of destiny. You see, then, what I bring you—power, position, riches. Riches? Caramba! Wait until my hands are in the treasury. I will load you with gold and jewels, and I will make you the richest woman in the world. Senora, I offer you dominion. I offer you the president's palace and Chapultepec. And with all that, I offer you such passionate love as no woman of history ever possessed."

He paused, spent by the force of his own intensity; it was plain that he expected an immediate surrender.

Alaire's lips parted in the faintest of mocking smiles. "You have great confidence in yourself," she said.

"Yes. I know myself as no one knows me."

"Why do you think I care for you?" Longorio's eyes opened. His expression plainly showed that he could not imagine any woman in her senses falling to adore him.

"Don't you take much for granted?" Alaire insisted.

The Mexican shook his head. Then his face lightened. "Ah! Now I see. Your modesty forbids you to acknowledge your love—is that it? Well, I know that you admire me, for I can see it. All women admire me, and they all end by loving me." His chest arched imperceptibly; with a slender finger he delicately smoothed his black eyebrows. Alaire felt a wild impulse to laugh, but was glad she had subdued it when he continued. "I am impetuous, but impetuosity has made me what I am. I act, and then mold fate to suit my own ends. Opportunity has delivered to me my heart's desire, and I will not be cheated out of it. Among the men I brought with me to La Feria is a priest. He is dirty, for I caught him as he was fleeing toward the border; but he is a priest, and he will marry us tonight."

Alaire managed to gasp, "Surely you are not in earnest."

"Indeed I am! That is why I insisted that you dine with me this evening. I cannot waste more time here, for necessity calls me away. You shall go as my wife."

"Do you think I would remarry on the very day I find myself a widow?"

"The world will never know."

"You dare to say that?" Her tone was one of disgust, of finality. "I wonder how I have listened to so much. It is horrible."

"You are still a little hysterical, and you exaggerate. If I had more time, I could afford to wait." He ogled her with his luminous gaze. "I would let you play with me to your heart's content and exercise your power until you tired and were ready to surrender."

Alaire raised her head proudly, her nostrils dilated, her eyes ablaze with hostility. "This is very humiliating, but you force me to tell you that I hate you."

Longorio was incredulous rather than offended. He drew himself up to his full height and smiled, saying: "That is impossible." Then, ignoring her impatience: "Come! You cannot deceive me. The priest is waiting."

When Alaire spoke next, it was with an expression and with a tone of such loathing that his yellow face paled. "Your conceit is insufferable," she breathed.

After a brief struggle with himself, the Mexican cried, hoarsely: "I will not be refused. You wish me to tame you, eh? Good! You have found your master. Make your choice, then, which shall it be, surrender or—compulsion?"

"So! You have been lying, as I thought. Compulsion! Now the real Longorio speaks."

He flung up his hands as if to ward off her fury. "No! Have I not made myself clear? I shall embrace you only with the arms of a husband, for this is not the passion of a moment, but of a lifetime, and I have myself to consider. The wife of Mexico's next president must be above reproach; there must be no scandal, no secrets hidden away for enemies to unearth. She must stand before the people as a perfect woman; she must lend prestige to his name. When I speak of compulsion, then, I mean the right of a husband."

Alaire uttered an exclamation of disgust and turned away, but he intercepted her, saying: "You cannot hold me at bay. It is God's will. You shall be mine tonight. Think a moment! We are alone in the heart of a country lacking in every law but mine. Your friends do not know where you are, and, even if they knew, they could not help you. Your nation's protest would avail nothing. Outside of these walls are enemies who will not let you leave this house except under the protection of my name."

"Then I shall never leave it," she told him.

For the first time Longorio spoke roughly: "I lose patience. In God's name have I not waited long enough? My strength is gone." Impulsively he half encircled her with his thin arms, but she seemed armored with ice, and he dropped them. She could hear him grind his teeth. "I dare not lay hands upon you," he chattered. "Angel of my dreams, I am faint with longing. To love you and yet to be denied; to feel myself aflame and yet to see you cold; to be halted at the very doors of Paradise! What torture!"

The fellow's self-control in the midst of his frenzy frightened Alaire more than did his wildest avowals; it was in something of a panic that she said:

"One moment you tell me I am safe, the next you threaten me. You say I am free, and yet you coerce me. Prove your love. Let me go—"

"No! No! I shall call the priest."

Longorio turned toward the door, but half-way across the floor he was halted by a woman's shriek which issued from somewhere inside the house. It was repeated. There was an outburst in a masculine voice, then the patter of footsteps approaching down the tiled hallway. Dolores burst into her mistress's presence, her face blanched, her hair disordered. She flung herself into Alaire's arms, crying:

"Senora! Save me! God's curse on the ruffian. Oh—"

"Dolores!" Alaire exclaimed. "What has happened?"

Longorio demanded, irritably: "Yes. Why are you yelling like this?"

"A man—/See! One of those dirty peladors. Look where he tore my dress! I warned him, but he was like a tiger. Benito will kill him when he learns—"

"Calm yourself. Speak sensibly. Tell me what happened."

"One of those miserable soldiers who came today—pig!" Dolores was shaking, her voice was shrill. "He followed me about like a cat, purring and grinning and saying the most horrible things. Just now, when I went to your room, he was waiting in the darkness, and he seized me. My money!"

"A soldier? One of my men?" Longorio was incredulous.

Alaire turned upon him with a blazing anger in her face. "Is this more of your protection?" she stormed. "I give you and your men the freedom of my ranch, and you insult me while they rob my women."

He ignored her accusation, inquiring of the elder woman, "Who was the fellow?"

"How do I know," Dolores sobbed. "He is a—/a thick, black fellow with a scar on his lip, like a snarl."

"Felipe!"

"Yes, Felipe! I believe they called him that."

Longorio strode to the end of the living room, flung open the wooden shutters of a window, and, leaning far out, whistled sharply on his fingers.

"Olga! Teniente! Ho, you fellows!" he shouted.

From the darkness a voice answered; a man, evidently on guard, came running.

"Call old Pancho," the general directed. "Tell him to bring me black Felipe, the fellow with the torn lip. Quick!"

"Yes, general," came the voice; then the metallic rattle of spurs and accoutrements as the sentry trotted away.

Dolores had completely broken down now, and Alaire was trying to comfort her. Their guest remained by the window, frowning. After a time there sounded a murmur of voices, then a shuffling of feet in the hall; Alaire's friend, the old lieutenant, appeared in the doorway, saluting. Behind him were several others.

"Here is Felipe," he announced.

"Bring him in."

A sullen, frowning man in soiled uniform was pushed forward, and Dolores hid her face against her mistress's shoulder.

"Is this the fellow?" Longorio inquired.

Dolores nodded.

"Well, what have you to say for yourself?" The general transfixed his trooper with a stare; then, as the latter seemed bereft of his voice, "Why did you enter this house?"

Felipe moistened his scarred lips. "That woman has rings of gold. She's not so old, either, when you come to look at her." He grinned at his comrades, who had crowded in behind old Pancho.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Not Strict Veracity.

"Is an untruth pardonable?" "Occasionally. You often write 'Dear Sir' and 'Yours Respectfully' when you don't mean a word of it!"

The only time two women are in perfect accord is when they hate the same people.

EAT SKINNER'S THE BEST MACARONI

Enquire for the J. H. WILSON SADDLERY CO. DENVER

BLACK LEG

WOMEN SUFFERERS MAY NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased. Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble. Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions. Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

WOMEN SUFFERERS MAY NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased. Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble. Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions. Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

WOMEN SUFFERERS MAY NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased. Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble. Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions. Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

WOMEN SUFFERERS MAY NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased. Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble. Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions. Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

WOMEN SUFFERERS MAY NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased. Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble. Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions. Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

WOMEN SUFFERERS MAY NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased. Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble. Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions. Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP

Why use ordinary cough remedies, when Boschée's German Syrup has been used so successfully for fifty-one years in all parts of the United States for coughs, bronchitis, colds settled in the throat, especially lung troubles. It gives the patient a good night's rest, free from coughing, with easy expectoration in the morning, gives nature a chance to soothe the inflamed parts, throw off the disease, helping the patient to regain his health. Sold in all civilized countries 30 and 90 cent bottles.—Adv.

FIERY RED PIMPLES

That Itch and Burn Are Usually Eczematous—Cuticura Quickly Heals.

It needs but a single hot bath with Cuticura Soap followed by a gentle application of Cuticura Ointment to the most distressing, disfiguring eczemas, itchings and burnings to prove their wonderful properties. They are also ideal for every-day toilet use. Free sample each by mail with Book. Address Postcard, Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

When Your Eyes Need Care Try Moring Eye Remedy

To listen to people who tell you things for your own good is harmless—and it affords them a lot of pleasure.

Acceptable Christmas Presents

CHRISTMAS APRONS.

It would not seem like Christmas if no dainty and ornamental aprons appeared among the gifts displayed for women. They belong to the festival, like Christmas trees and candles, and Christmas time usually provides a supply for the coming year.

Two new and attractive Christmas aprons pictured here show them to be as gay and frivolously inclined as ever. They are of fine batiste with inserts and edgings of lace. Either ribbon or batiste may be used for the ties but in this instance they are of batiste.

KIT FOR THE NAVY LADS.

Here is a compact and comprehensive kit, designed to carry all the things needed by our boys in the navy, to keep them and their belongings fit and nifty. It is made of blue denim and a little red cotton-flannel, stitched with red thread and bound with a strong braid. Short lengths of braid sewed in it serve to hold comb, brushes, pencils, etc.

This kit carries an unbelievable number of things—among them, these: Soap in a soap box, talcum powder, scrub brush, pencil with eraser, paper, post cards, black and white thread, needles, pins, safety pins, tooth brush, tooth paste, bone buttons, bachelor buttons, safety pins, cornucop pipe, bag of tobacco and has room to spare for other things. It rolls up and is tied with the strong braid or tape used for binding it. One of these kits, fitted out, is a fine gift along with a gay little bag of sweets, or something equally foolish, for Christmas.

INVITING TELEPHONE GIRLS.

Pretty ladies, made of painted wood, conceal our telephones and invite us to tell secrets that will never be betrayed. These are the "pingcraft" girls and they make fascinating gifts to either men or women friends. Each one stands at the front of a small board on which the telephone is to be placed. The mouthpiece is unscrewed and when replaced forms the crown of a hat or springs from a high corsage bouquet or disappears altogether or is frankly in evidence, just as you will.

The pingcraft novelties are made of wood cut out from thin boards, painted white. The figures are outlined on them ready for painting and each is painted to suit the individual taste. The little figure at the left is holding her hat and, when she is placed, the mouthpiece of the 'phone becomes the crown of it.

DAINTY CAMISOLES.

Camisoles—that is corset covers, by a less matter-of-fact name—are never neglected when the Christmas list of salable finery is made up by buyers for the big shops. This year they have presented shoppers with many lovely camisoles of ribbon, or net and ribbon combined, or crepe georgette and ribbon. Those shown in the picture are in pale pink, which is the favored color for fine underwear.

Very wide satin ribbon, decorated with small tucks, lace insertions and French knots in pink and blue silk, serves to produce the camisole at the top of the picture. It is edged with a frill of pink crepe and supported by shoulder straps of satin ribbon.

The camisole below it is made of fine, white net, banded with satin ribbon. The same ribbon is used for shoulder straps and for drawing up the fullness over the bust. It is finished with a small bow at the front. A flat elastic run in a narrow hem in the net, adjusts the camisole to the waist, shabby with use.

CAP AND SLIPPERS TO MATCH.

Just the newest things in breakfast caps are of Chinese inspiration and among them appears the cap with malines crown and wired lace frill for a brim that is shown in the picture. Narrow bands of ribbon, joined in a rosette on the top of the head, support the lace frill and a narrow gold braid at the head of the frill adds a rich touch to this bit of finery.

The bedroom slipper in the hand of the fair wearer of the cap is made of satin ribbon sewed to a soft sole and gathered about the top. It is held on by a narrow band of flat elastic, covered with shirred ribbon.

COZY CHRISTMAS NECKWEAR.

Among the prettiest gifts for Christmas appears this set made of chenille braid and fur. The chenille is woven in alternating, diagonal stripes of red and black and the neckband and cuffs are lined with soft, black satin. Soft, glossy bands of black fur are sewed on the edges of the collar and cuffs and the ends of each fasten together with snap fasteners.

On the collar there is a rosette of puffs of black malines, centered with a cluster of tiny, dark, red roses and their foliage.

To measure the air pressure in automobile tires a gauge has been invented that is the same size as a lead-pencil and can be as easily carried.

Greatest Sugar Exporter.
Figures compiled by competent authority a few months ago, showed that since the beginning of the European war the United States, already known as the greatest sugar consuming country, had also become the world's greatest exporter of refined sugar. From 100,000,000 pounds in 1913, our sales of sugar to other countries increased from 500,000,000 pounds during the first year of the war to 1,500,000,000 during the year 1916. Formerly Germany, Austria-Hungary, Russia and France were large exporters of refined sugars.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County—ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE.
FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1916.
(Seal) A. W. Gleason, Notary Public.
HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System.
Druggists, 75c. Testimonials free.
F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Boosting Business.
The Traveling Salesman—You boosted for the school committee to bring a pretty schoolma'am from Chicago. Why, you haven't any children! The Bookstore-Storekeeper—No—but I have an eye for business. As soon as the pretty schoolteacher showed up all the big boys began sneaking down to my store to buy hair oil, clean collars and scented soap by the wholesale.—Chicago Herald.

Red Cross Bag Blue, much better, goes farther than liquid blue. Get from any grocer. Adv.

Prosaic Environment.
"Fate plays queer tricks on a man," remarked Mr. Twobble.

"No doubt."
"I always thought I would propose to the woman I would marry where there was a sheen of silver and cut glass, and shaded lights were softly glowing and behind a screen of palms an orchestra was playing a Hungarian waltz."

"Yes."
"As a matter of fact, I proposed to Mrs. Twobble in a jitney bus."

Important to Mothers.
Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of W. D. Feltcher In Use for Over 30 Years.
Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

No man can serve two masters, when he is on an election board.

Domestic quarrels are the coupons torn from the bonds of matrimony.

Tree Three Centuries Old.
Luscious pears from a tree three centuries old are to be sent to the king, says a correspondent. The tree is the ancient Endicott pear tree in Danvers, Mass. It was planted by Gov. John Endicott 300 years ago in what was then the settlement of New Salem, and has never ceased to bear fruit for three centuries. Before the American Revolution a basket of pears from the Endicott tree was sent to the royal palace in London. The tree stands in the Endicott plantation, which is now owned by Mr. William C. Endicott. The pears are being sent in a basket 300 years old, an Endicott heirloom.

Don't feed yourself any of that stuff called self-pity. It is deadly poison.

THE NEW METHOD

(By L. W. Bower, M. D.)

Backache of any kind is often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properly. Poisonous matter and uric acid accumulate within the body in great abundance, overworking the sick kidneys; hence the congestion of blood causes backache in the same manner as a similar congestion in the head causes headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish, irritable, have spots appearing before the eyes, bags under the lids, and lack ambition to do things.

The latest and most effective means of overcoming this trouble, is to eat sparingly of meat, drink plenty of water between meals and take a single Anuric tablet before each meal for a while. Simply ask your favorite druggist for Anuric, double strength. If you have lumbago, rheumatism, gout, dropsy, begin immediately with this newest discovery of Dr. Pierce, who is Chief Medical Director of Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y. Send 30 cents for trial pkg. Large package 60 cents.

Costs Less and Kills That Cold

HILL'S CASCARA QUININE

The standard cold cure for 20 years—in tablet form—safe, sure, no opiate—cures cold in 24 hours—grasp in 3 days—Money back if it fails. Get the genuine box with Red top and Mr. Hill's picture on it. Costs less, gives more, saves money. 24 Tablets for 25c. At Any Drug Store.

A WOMAN'S BURDEN

are lightened when she turns to the right medicine. If her existence is made gloomy by the chronic weaknesses, delicate derangements, and painful disorders that afflict her sex, she will find relief and emancipation from her troubles in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. If she's overworked, nervous, or "run-down," she finds new life and strength. It's a powerful, invigorating tonic and nerve which was discovered and used by an eminent physician for many years, in cases of female complaints and weaknesses. For young girls just entering womanhood, for women at the critical "change of life," in bearing-down sensations, periodical pains, ulceration, inflammation, and every kindred ailment, the "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine put up without alcohol. Liquid or tablets.

STRANGLES

Or Distemper in stallions, brood mares, colts and all others is most destructive. The germ causing the disease must be removed from the body of the animal. To prevent the trouble the same must be done.

SPOHN'S COMPOUND

Will do both—cure the sick and prevent those "exposed" from having the disease. 50 cents and $1 a bottle; $5 and $10 the dozen. All druggists, harness houses, or manufacturers. SPOHN MEDICAL CO., Manufacturers, Goschen, Ind., U.S.A.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

WHAT YOU SURELY NEED

is a healthy, active, industrious liver. Small doses of these pills taken regularly insure that. You may also need a purgative sometimes. Then take one larger dose. Keep that in mind; it will pay you rich dividends in Health and Happiness.

Wm. Wood

ROSY CHEEKS or HEALTHY COLOR indicates Iron in the Blood. Pale or faces usually show its absence. A condition which will be much helped by CARTER'S IRON PILLS

Young Women

Are Told How to Find Relief from Pain.

Nashua, N. H.—"I am nineteen years old and every month for two years I had such pains that I would often faint and have to leave school. I had such pain I did not know what to do with myself and tried so many remedies that were of no use. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and decided to try it, and that is how I found relief from pain and feel so much better than I used to. When I hear of any girl suffering as I did I tell them how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me."—DELINA MARTIN, 29 Bowers Street, Nashua, N. H.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and is, therefore,

THE PERFECTLY SAFE REMEDY

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. LYNN, MASS.

More is Required.
Business talent that is confined to looking pleasant in an easy office chair seldom gets a man anywhere.

To keep clean and healthy take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They regulate liver, bowels and stomach.—Adv.

Opportunities that have passed seldom come back to the man who waits.

The less a man cares the more love a woman wastes on him.

The Gopher's Handicap.
"I wouldn't say McTavish can't learn the game," remarked Sandy, as they trudged home from the links; "but it will be difficult for him."

"Aye," agreed Donald. "At times he will be like to burst, what will be his sacred legs and tongue-tied."—Everybody's Magazine.

At the Dance.
She—My French heels hurt me this evening.
He—Yes, they hurt me, too.

PARKER'S HAIR BALM

A toilet preparation of merit. For itching, dandruff, itching scalp, itching eyes, itching nose, itching throat, itching skin, itching hair, itching and itching of the scalp.

CHILDREN'S COUGHS

may be checked, and more serious conditions of the throat will be averted by promptly giving the child a dose of

PISO'S

Makes Such Light, Tasty Biscuits

Just let mother call, "Biscuits for Breakfast!" We're sure there's a treat that can't be beat in store for us — light, tender biscuits — toasty brown and all puffed up with goodness! For mother is sure of her baking powder — Calumet. She never disappoints us because

CALUMET BAKING POWDER never disappoints her. It's dependable. Results always the same—the best. Try it. Calumet contains only such ingredients as have been approved officially by the U.S. Food Authorities. You Save When You Buy It. You Save When You Use It. HIGHEST QUALITY AWARDS and all these songs and poems which come vividly to the mind when skies lower, breakers roar, and friends desert us.

These are indeed times that try men's souls and the day is at hand when courage and strong hearts are needed, but let us pause long enough to crown mother love with a garland of sweet flowers as a tribute to its loving kindness, patience, endurance and sacrifice.

American Red Cross

We are in receipt of a copy of the complete report of the war council of the American Red Cross covering the work done in the past six months together with a short summary thereof.

The report sets forth the use that is being made of the $100,000,000 fund which was contributed by the people of the United States to the Red Cross, and gives in a complete report the work the women are doing in response to the call of the nation.

The report, which covers 144 pages of printed matter, gives us an understanding of what the relief work consists of in other countries than our own, and should be read carefully by every liberty loving citizen of the United States.

No News Means Good News

Although the failure to receive letters from men in the service is not pleasant to relatives and friends at home the adage "no news is good news" was never more true than at present. The report of every casualty at home or abroad is immediately wired or cabled to officials at Washington, being relayed from there without loss of time to the emergency address of the soldier or sailor affected. It is also at once released for publication in the newspapers. No news of casualties has or will be held up.

No man in the service has received orders not to write home; he has been urged, on the contrary, to keep in touch with relatives and friends. The forces in France have at their disposal post cards giving general information in regard to health and the receipt of letters and parcels, which may be used without payment of postage.

Care is also taken to see that mail intended for soldiers and sailors reaches them promptly. Where the regimental and company designation of a soldier is not known it may be secured by application to The Adjutant General's Office, Washington, D. C. In one week 1,674 letters with insufficient addresses were received at this office. On 1,232 the addresses were completed and they were forwarded, 123 were returned to senders, 58 went to the dead letter office because sender's addresses were not given, and the balance were held with the view that the addresses might be supplied later.

Gas in the stomach comes from food which has fermented. Get rid of this badly digested food as quickly as possible if you would avoid a bilious attack; HERBINE is the remedy you need. It cleanses and strengthens the stomach, liver and bowels, and restores energy and cheerfulness. Price 50c. Sold by all dealers.—adv.

Our Christmas Stock will soon be ready. Watch for our ad. Ziegler Bros. ad.

A Man Is Looked Up To

when a man has a bank account. Keep a checking account in the Exchange Bank, pay all bills by check and you will find you are held in much higher regard not only by your friends but tradespeople as well. Besides it is so much easier to keep track of your expense that way.

The Exchange Bank of Carrizozo.

Willys - Overland Automobiles

Preparedness is our watchword—therefore we are constantly prepared to serve the public with the best cars obtainable—the name is a guarantee.

Samuel Fambrough
Agent for Lincoln County

L. B. Crawford
Sub-Agent

Chamois the New Material For Sports Costumes

Erte, the famous French fashion creator, has designed for the December number of Harper's Bazar two winter sports costumes that are entirely different from anything we have ever seen. One made from squares of chamois—pale gray and old rose joined with taupe embroidery—has moleskin for collar, cuffs and girdle. The other costume is a one-piece affair made by joining together irregular pieces of white chamois.

In addition to this sports costume, Erte shows some rather unusual evening gowns. Particularly striking is one having a train of crystal and jet embroidery and a novel black fox decoration. Spirally draped tulle makes the skirt, and a bodice of jet is added. An interesting tailored suit is of blue velours lavishly trimmed with Russian sable. The coat shows the fashionable surplice front and two huge tassels decorate the skirt.

Erte makes his ladies' faces a bit grotesque from our American point of view, but his fashion designs are extraordinarily original. Any woman who is on the lookout for new ideas would do well to follow Erte's creations, not so much for his models in their entirety, but for the novel little details with which his work abounds.

Will Pardon Fifty Convicts

Santa Fe, Dec. 1.—To relieve the congestion at the penitentiary and to enable warden Tom Hughes to make ends meet Governor Lindsey will pardon fifty convicts whose terms will end shortly anyway and whose conduct has been good. The present inmates of the penitentiary number 502, an unprecedented number in history of the state.

Sickly children need WHITE'S CREAM VERMIFUGE. It not only destroys worms, if there be any, but it acts as a strengthening tonic in the stomach and bowels. Price 25c per bottle. Sold by all dealers.—adv.

FOR SALE

Kansas Blackleg Serum

The Titworth Co.,
Agents
Capitan, New Mexico

THE OUTLOOK

Published Weekly in the Interest of Carrizozo and Lincoln County, New Mexico.

A. L. BURKE, Editor and Publisher

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN THE COUNTY

Entered as second-class matter January 6, 1911, at the post office at Carrizozo, New Mexico, under the Act of March 3, 1879

Advertising terms close Wednesday at noon. News columns closed Thursday night. If you do not receive your paper regularly, please notify the Publisher. Advertising rates on application.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
ONE YEAR, in Advance . . . $2.00
SIX MONTHS in Advance . . . $1.00

OFFICE PHONE NUMBER 24

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1917

Never Known Defeat.

MOTHER LOVE

In reading the current war articles our attention is frequently called to incidents where the wounded and dying on the battle field breathe the name of "mother" in moments of their direst needs.

One writer says, "A young man in the ranks fell fatally wounded and had but a few short hours to live. The attendant who ministered to his wants bent over him to catch, if possible, some request he might make.

"At first he seemed speechless, but finally his lips parted and he spoke one word, 'mother,' and passed away."

Another writer in speaking of accompanying a physician on his rounds among the wounded said, "everyone seemed to say something about 'mother' either in their wakeful hours of suffering or in their feverish delirium. The nearest and dearest to them was mother."

Attendants and convalescents in these hospitals tell us that in the dead of night the cry goes up from those who sit in the shadow of death for their thoughts go back to their childhood and mother when all other help is useless and unavailable, they become as a child and lip the name of mother as they did in their fretful childishness.

Napoleon was once asked, "What does France need most of all?" He answered "mothers."

It is said that Washington, before entering into any important undertaking, would kneel at his mother's knee and then with a set determination to do or to die, he would move forward.

Mother love—we stand in awe before it.

Can we wonder then that the sweetest songs ever composed was prompted by mother love, and the heart turns back to that love when burdened with the strife and contentions of the world.

"Mother Kissed Me in My Dreams," "Rock Me to Sleep, Mother, Rock Me to Sleep," "My Angel Mother's Grave,"

NOGAL NOTES

John W. Henley, Uncle Tom's youngest son, and family have moved back to Nogal and will cultivate the Rosedale Garden and Farm next year.

Henry Emerson let his car run into a barbed wire fence so we learn which resulted in Mr. Emerson and his wife being badly skinned up.

Mrs. O. C. Davis has gone on a visit to El Paso and will be gone for sometime.

Mrs. George Dillard and family are visiting Uncle O. C. Davis in Nogal.

The Rev. Cox began a meeting last Friday night at the Methodist church here. Rev. Cox is a fine orator, come and hear him.

Forest fires broke out last Saturday at the head of Tortolita Canyon and burned over a large scope of territory before it was stopped.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By Miss Pearl Hyde

The school building has a neat and efficient appearance since the many improvements have been made.

Mrs. J. M. Gardner is teaching in the place of Miss Blanche Garvin, who is ill.

The High School Glee Club is practicing regularly and will soon be a well trained body of singers.

Choice beef, veal, pork and mutton at Groom's. -adv.

Mrs. R. E. Hoffman and her daughter, Miss Maxine, went to El Paso last week to visit at the home of Mrs. Karl Jones. Mrs. Hoffman was the honored guest at a big Thanksgiving dinner on Thursday.

Miss Emma Sultemeier and brother, John, paid us a visit from Corona Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Sterling of Oscura were visiting friends here this week.

Mrs. E. T. Jones was a visitor Wednesday from Oscura.

L. C. Boswell, who represents the Wilson meat supply house, was here Tuesday.

If its fresh vegetables you like, we have them. Groom's. -adv.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Sawyer of Coleman, Texas, are expected here soon, and will make Carrizozo their future home. Mrs. Sawyer is a daughter of William Kahler, Sr., of this city.

Mrs. Bernie Fite of Cloudcroft came in Wednesday to visit her sister, Miss Media West.

Bert Holland, who has been in Hotel Diew at El Paso with a broken arm, returned Wednesday.

A. H. Hudspeth spent Saturday and Sunday here, going to Alamo Monday.

General Superintendent L. U. Morris of El Paso, who spent Thanksgiving in Tucumcari, returned Sunday and stopped to shake hands with the management of the Carrizozo Eating House.

J. A. Carey, ranchman, came in from the Malpais Wednesday.

C. A. Crown of the Van Camp Packing Company was in town Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Benedict of Willow Springs coal mine stopped at the Eating House on Wednesday.

All Former Exemptions Cancelled by New Rule

Under the new regulations every person registered for selective draft is restored to his original status, section 4 stating that all exemptions and discharges made prior to Dec. 15, are revoked. The office of the Provost Marshal General declares it to be imperative that every registrant know his "order number". Every person who registered or should have registered June 5, is charged with a knowledge of the selective service law and additional regulations, and failure to perform any duty so prescribed is a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for one year and may result in the loss of valuable rights and privileges and in immediate induction into military service.

Road Tax Notice

To delinquents: Notices have been mailed or notice given in person to all persons subject to the payment of road tax in Precinct No. 14 for the year 1917.

Additional notice is hereby given to all who are delinquent that, if not paid on or before December 15, 1917, the account will be placed in the hands of the justice of the peace for collection, as required by law.

G. T. McQUILLEN, Collector. Dec. 7t2

Red Cross Membership Drive

Mrs. H. S. Campbell, who is chairman of the committee on the new Red Cross membership drive, issues the request that all who are already members of the society renew their membership dues between now and Christmas, thus donating to the society the unexpired amount of their membership dues.

The members of this extension committee, to whom the subscriptions may be paid and from whom information can be obtained, are Mrs. Len Branum, Mrs. Laly Scott, Mrs. Iva Privett, Mrs. George Dingwall and Mrs. H. S. Campbell.

We handle auto tops and covers. Crawford & Biles. -adv.

Old Fort Coffee, 2 pounds for 75c; 3 pounds Sebastian, 80c; 3 pounds Shillings' Best, $1.20. At Groom's. -adv.

S. A. Lewis, representing the Culumet Oil company, was here Wednesday.

Wayne Van Scoyck of White Oaks was in town this week.

We make old clothes look new. Crawford & Biles. -adv.

Mrs. A. T. Stewart and daughter and Mrs. Julia E. Gurney with Fred Brown of the Ifeld Grocery Co., took a trip over to Lincoln and Capitan the first of the week.

M. C. Porter of Corona was a visitor here this week.

Rev. J. M. Gardner preached at Ancho Tuesday night to a splendid audience. Ancho has a fine Sunday school and also Wednesday night prayer meeting that is largely attended.

Wheezing in the lungs indicates that phlegm is obstructing the air passages. BALLARD'S HOREHOUND SYRUP loosens the phlegm so that it can be coughed up and ejected. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by all dealers. -adv.

Remember we give a special discount on all your cash purchases. Carrizozo Trading Company. adv.

BAPTIST CHURCH

(Rev. J. M. Gardner, Pastor.)

The Pastor will preach Sunday, December 9, at 11 a. m., on "Jesus Longing for Jerusalem." At 7:30 p. m. on "A Great Promise."

Sunday School at 10 a. m. Junior B. Y. U. and Sunbeam Band at 3 p. m.

Senior B. Y. P. U., 6:30 p. m. Mrs. A. Patty will lead.

Prayer Meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

W. M. U. Thursday at 3 p. m. Teacher Training and Bible Class Friday at 7:30 p. m.

Personal, But Not Social

Vincent St John received a visitor last Monday in the form of United States Marshal A. H. Hudspeth, who took him on a pleasure trip to Albuquerque. What disposition will be made of the Saint after they are through with him at the Duke City is a matter of conjecture, but one thing we are certain of, and it gives us much satisfaction—he is out of Carrizozo.

Red Cross Will Entertain

At the club house on Monday night the Red Cross Society will entertain the Lincoln county boys who have been promoted to the rank of lieutenant in the military service. The gentlemen in whose honor this affair will be conducted are, Henry Lutz, Jr. of Carrizozo, Jesse M. Roberts of Capitan, and James M. Nabours of Three Rivers.

Grand Jury Will Act

The hearing in the case of Jesse Inghram on the charge of murder, was had on Friday, Nov. 30th, and resulted in defendant being bound over without bail to await the action of the grand jury, which meets in the early part of January.

NOTICE

All those who have purchased coupon bonds of the Second Liberty Loan through this bank and have paid in full may receive their bonds by calling at this bank. -adv.

Exchange Bank.

Fred Gonzales and family were in from San Patricio Sunday, and after finishing his tax roll, returned home Monday.

Don't fail to see our Christmas supply of apples, oranges, nuts and fresh vegetables at Groom's. adv.

James Mocho went to Albuquerque this week to visit to his home and friends, after which the Mocho Brothers will look around for another ranch deal.

Mr. Eubanks was in from the Pattie Ranch on Wednesday to buy supplies.

William Norman, was over from Capitan on Tuesday.

John Gallacher was in this first of the week from the Gallacher ranch, greeting his old friends.

J. C. West and Rolland Box, passed through here this week on their home trip to Alto, from Paloma Hot Springs.

Heartburn is a symptom of indigestion. Take a dose of HERBINE in such cases. The pain disappears instantly. The bowels operate speedily, and you feel fine, vigorous and cheerful. Price 50c. Sold by all dealers. -adv.

Order your winter suit and overcoat from Crawford & Biles. adv.

FOR SALE

A good 4-room frame house, easy to move into town. Call 108-F-4. Price $200. -adv.

FOR RENT

Furnished Rooms. Apply to Mrs. R. T. Lucas. -adv.

Watch your Shoes. Don't let the price of good shoes cause you to neglect your appearance. Ziegler Bros. ad

Subscribe for the Outlook. Have your suit and overcoat cleaned and pressed at Crawford & Biles. -adv.

Auto Robes—mighty nice for gifts. Ziegler Bros. ad.

W. E. Davis of Denver, representing White House Coffee Co., was here Wednesday.

Fred Dawson was down from Parsons getting supplies for the boarding house. His brother, Jess, is in charge of the boarding house of the Parsons Mining company.

Mr. Jean Schaefer, who has been searching Lincoln and Socorro counties for a ranch location, has returned home. His well drilling, has not been encouraging but he has hopes of better results with his next effort.

Florence Lacey returned from El Paso Sunday where she has been visiting friends for several weeks.

O. Z. Finley has returned from a trip to Kansas City, where he shipped several carload of cattle.

Fred and Mrs. Neighbors, were in from their ranch the first part of the week buying supplies.

Classified Ads

MONEY TO LOAN

$500 to $50,000, first mortgage real estate, 9 per cent. See C. A. Perkins, Carrizozo, N. M.

Tanlac at Rolland Bros. Try it and be benefitted. Oct. 26 tf

Service Car—Call Phone 70 for quick service to all points. Rates reasonable. Remember the number. C. D. Sandoval. ad

Subject to market changes, we can quote prices as follows: Corn No. 2, $ per cwt.; Mill Run Bran, $2.50 per cwt.; Cotton Seed cake or meal $3.50 per cwt. In straight or mixed lots of 1000 pounds, ten cents per cwt. less. Oct 19 tf Humphrey Bros.

Sweet and toothsome are King's Candies at Rolland Bros. Oct. 26 tf.

Have your lunch at The Oasis Luncheonette. tf

FOR SALE.—'Wind Kissed Ranch' Implements and Horses Mrs. E. Potts. 9-14tf

For Sale:—Yearling and two-year-old Hereford Bulls.—The Titsworth Company. Capitan.

For Sale—Parke Davis Company's Blacklegoids.—The Titsworth Co.

WANTED:—One team of burros, light wagon and harness. Apply at OUTLOOK office. tf

Highest patent hard wheat flour $6.50 per cwt at Humphrey Bros. oct 19 t f.

For Sale—Small Range. Mrs. Geo. T. McQuillen. Tel. No. 1.

For Sale--Bargain!

Twelve Volumes Cyclopedia of Law. Apply at Outlook Office for particulars.—adv.

Subscribe for the Outlook.

A BANK BOOK FOR CHRISTMAS

—makes a lasting gift, growing in benefits throughout the years to come.
—fine for son, or daughter or for wife—an eminently sensible remembrance.
—certain to be acceptable—no danger of a "misfit."
—lessens pocket leaks—thus helps the head of the family.
—can be obtained at the "eleventh hour"—the stock never varies in excellent selection.
—suits the giver's means—make the first deposit what you wish and can afford.

The LINCOLN STATE BANK

BANK WITH US—GROW WITH US

TO THE PUBLIC

We respectfully suggest that you read carefully our ads in the various county papers with regard to our Christmas Banking Club. Also read the literature sent you.

Our idea in this matter is to teach thrift and systematic saving to young and old. It has cost us considerable money to put this into our banking system and it will merit your careful consideration.

The First National Bank

Carrizozo, New Mexico

Stoves and Ranges

Builders' Hardware

N. B. Taylor & Sons

Blacksmithing and Hardware

CARRIZOZO and WHITE OAKS

Tinware, Paints, Glass, Oils of all Kinds, Guns, Ammunition, Harness, Etc.

OASIS CONFECTIONERY AND LUNCHEONETTE

Ice Cream                      Sandwiches
Soft Drinks                     Hot Chili
Fresh Home                    Soups
Made Candies                 Chocolate

Phone No. 82

For Refreshments for Parties and Entertainments

What is more delightfully inspiring than the laughter of care-free children? No financial worries are on their minds. Inculcate in the child the desire to save. If you have children open an account for them with us. Come in and meet us. We want your patronage and can help you save.

STOCKMENS STATE BANK

CORONA, NEW MEXICO

You Must Buy Groceries; Why Not Try BELL'S

If not already a customer you should be. We are located IN THE NEW WETMORE BUILDING and invite the public to inspect our new quarters. Fresh Goods, Reasonable Prices, A Sanitary Store.

Grand View Hotel

Best of Accomodations
Home Table Supplies

Mrs. Geo. Hall, Propr.                      Carrizozo, N. M.

Best Accommodations For All The People
All The Time

CARRIZOZO EATING HOUSE

Table Supplied With Best The Market Affords

Crystal Theatre

"The Home of Good Pictures"

EXCHANGE BANK BUILDING

Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays
and Saturdays of Each Week

Complete Change Program Each Night.      Show Starts Promptly at 8 O'clock

Boost For Carrizozo

The Town that is on The Boom

We have arranged for a series of six interesting articles, "War Talks, by Uncle Dan," written by Mr. Howard H. Gross, president of the Universal Military Training League, of which this is the first. They tell in a graphic way why military training is of value, both to the nation and to the individual, and our readers will find them of unusual interest.

WAR TALKS

By UNCLE DAN

Number One

America Must Fight Hard or Germany May Win—Necessity for Military Training.

"Now, Billie," said his mother, "your Uncle Dan is coming tomorrow to spend a week with us on the farm, and if you want to know about the war, here's your opportunity. Uncle Dan is probably one of the best-informed men in the country." Billie clapped his hands and gave such a whoop that he awakened the baby, but what could you expect of a fifteen-year-old boy who is a living interrogation point and wants to know about war?

Uncle Dan arrived in due time and Billie watched for an opportunity. It came that evening after dinner when Uncle Dan had lighted a cigar and taken a seat on the porch.

"I'm mighty glad you came, Uncle Dan. I want to talk to you about the war. We have just put military training in our township high school, but we had a hard time to do it. The Joneses and the Greggs objected. They said the war wouldn't come over here. Grandma Jones said: 'They ain't no use to worrit, it will soon blow over.' Well, we put the training in just the same. You orter heard Judge Brownell, the president of the school board, do the slackers up. He said unless we take off our coats and go to it, Germany may yet win, and if she does, she will take over the great British fleet as a war trophy and compel us to do what ever she wants to; that she could make us pay all the cost of the war; the kaiser could tax us as he pleased and that we couldn't help ourselves. He could make every one pay over a part of what he earns; that he could make the farmers pay rent for their own farms, etc. Now, Uncle, what do you think of that?"

"Well, my boy," said Uncle Dan, "all that Judge Brownell says might easily come true and may unless we go quickly to the aid of the allies with large numbers of men and help them break the German line. Unless we can beat the submarines, they may prevent us from getting enough food to the allies to keep them going. In that case Germany would win. As matters stand today, our greatest need is trained men. If we had had several millions of men with military training in our industries and on our farms when the war came, who could have been called at once for service, I do not believe the kaiser would have forced the war upon us. As it was, he had no respect for us, and now we are in it and must go through with it. But never again must we be caught so wholly unprepared.

"There is only one safe way," said Uncle Dan, "and that is to adopt permanently universal military training, apply it to every young man who is physically fit, say in his nineteenth or twentieth year. The training can be carried forward in the United States training camps that are now being established for training men called by the selective draft. As soon as these men vacate these stations, they should be filled by younger men, and this should be made the permanent policy of the country."

Billie's mother, Mrs. Graham, had overheard the conversation. She came out and said: "Really, Brother Dan, are you serious as to the dangers of our country? If it is as bad as that, it is high time for us to wake up and do something about it."

"Exactly," replied Uncle Dan. "It is better to wake up now than to be rudely awakened later. We may as well understand, sister, that this is our war and we must win it or God help America. Everything that we have or hope to have—our liberties, our blessings, our opportunities are all involved in the great issue before us. Nothing must stand between us and winning this war. It is a question whether the peoples' right or the kaiser's might shall dominate the world. If there ever was a holy war, this is it. We are fighting for world liberty. We are fighting for the freedom of

Barnett FEED Store

Wholesale and Retail

Hay, Grain and Feed
Stock Salt, Oil Cake
Wood and Coal

Prices Lowest and Service Best

Carrizozo

New Mexico

Building Material

With a large stock of building material we are able to give you good service and solicit the trade of the people of Lincoln county, Carrizozo and adjacent towns.

Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Co.
D. R. Stewart, Manager

...A. W. ADAMS...

Fresh Line of

Staple and Fancy Groceries

Mayer Building    ::    Telephone 6

Saturday Specials

Coffee Cake    Layer Cake    Macaroons
Cakes and Pies    Whole Wheat Bread

Pure Food Bakery

E. HANNON, Proprietor

Located in New Doering Building

Carrizozo, New Mexico

humanity. We are fighting for the right of men to govern themselves instead of being governed against their will by a war-mad overlord. Perilous times are ahead of us. We must be prepared to make any sacrifice, to perform any service that may be required of us."

"Oh, Uncle Dan," exclaimed Billie, "may I bring my chum, Jimmie Collins, when we have our next talk? He is a bug on this war business and just crazy to see you."

"Certainly," said Uncle Dan, with a hearty laugh. "If we are to have more talks, I shall be glad to have Jimmie join us."

Billie clapped his hands and ran to the phone and told Jimmie to be over at seven o'clock the next evening.

Attention

All those having outstanding accounts with Dr. R. T. Lucas, will please call and make settlement. —adv.

□□□□□□

THE VALUE of well-printed
neat-appearing stationery as a means of getting and holding desirable business has been amply demonstrated. Consult us before going elsewhere.

□□□□□□

LODGES

CARRIZOZO LODGE No. 30 I. O. O. F.
Carrizozo, New Mexico.
S. F. Miller, N. G.
E. A. O. Johnson
Secretary
Regular meetings - 1917 - First and third Friday each month.

CARRIZOZO LODGE No. 11. K of P
Carrizozo, New Mexico.
Meeting every Monday evening in the Masonic Hall. All members are urged to be present, and visiting Knights welcomed.
G. T. McQuillen, C. C.
E. A. O. Johnson, K. of R. and S.

-CARRIZOZO LODGE No. 41-
Carrizozo, New Mexico.
A. F. & A. M.

Regular communications for 1917.
Jan. 3, Feb. 3, Mar. 3, Apr. 7, May 5, June 2 and 30, July 28, Sep. 1 and 29, Oct. 27, Nov. 24, and Dec. 22 and 27.
L. F. Schaeffer, W. M.
S. F. Miller, Secretary.

PROFESSIONS

Geo. Spence W. C. Merchant
SPENCE & MERCHANT
ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW
In Bank Building Phone No. 48
Carrizozo, New Mexico

H. B. HAMILTON
Attorney-at-Law
District Attorney Third Judicial District
Civil Practice in all Courts
Phone 51 Court House
Carrizozo New Mexico

SETH F. CREWS
Attorney-at-Law
Practice in all the Courts
Oacuro New Mexico

EDWIN MECHEM
Attorney-at-Law
General Practice
Office Over Rolland's Drug Store
Mamogorodo New Mexico

WILLIAM S. BRADY
Notary Public, Interpreter and Attorney
Before Justice and Probate Court
Carrizozo New Mexico

FRANK J. SAGER
Insurance, Notary Public
Agency Established 1892
Offices in Exchange Bank
Carrizozo New Mexico

DR. R. E. BLANEY, DENTIST
Exchange Bank Building
Carrizozo New Mexico

T. E. KELLEY
Federal Director and License Embalmer
Phone 96
Carrizozo New Mexico

W. B. EDWARDS, M. D.
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Specialist will visit Carrizozo regularly
Albuquerque, New Mexico

W. W. Stadtman
NOTARY PUBLIC
Agent for Royal Typewriters
FIRE INSURANCE

Lame back may come from overwork, cold settled in the muscles of the back or from disease. In the two former cases the right remedy is BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. It should be rubbed in thoroughly over the affected part, the relief will be prompt and satisfactory. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by all dealers.—adv.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Enjoyed Their Visit

Miss Fay Bush and her mother, Mrs. Mabel Bush, who have been visiting friends in Carrizozo for the past week, are residents of El Paso but prefer the quietude of the smaller towns in paying visits to their friends rather than to indulge in a vacation in the noise and confusion of the larger cities.

Miss Bush is an expert at the wheel of a motor car, and since their coming to Carrizozo she has in company with her mother and Harry Comery, who knows the country so well, visited all of the surrounding points of interest near Carrizozo.

They have visited the ranch of Ed Comery near White Oaks and motored over to White Oaks Springs ranch, owned by Mrs. Wells, and enjoyed the mountain scenery in that neighborhood.

On Friday last Miss Fay and a party of friends visited the Comery-Channel well rig and while in that vicinity spent a day in hunting. She says the mountain scenery has a fascination for her, and it is safe to say that she will boost Carrizozo and vicinity on her return to El Paso, and we have the promise of both mother and daughter to visit our town again, and we may expect them in their car on their next visit as Miss Fay has now become enough acquainted with the lay of the land and this knowledge coupled with her dauntless courage at the wheel and her understanding of the machine will make the trip one of pleasure, excitement and benefit.

WHITE OAKS

Prof. May and his good wife filled the club room last Saturday night with a regular camouflage of music and movies. The audience, however, was smaller and more select than the performance would seem to justify, but the town will undoubtedly do better the next time, which will occur the latter part of the month.

The sweetest music one hears here is that made by the old stamp mill which is again running on schedule time.

Twenty-five autos were parked at one time along the street in front of the hall the night of the Thanksgiving dance.

The fad for dancing has become so prevalent here that the preachers have been notified that they will be expected to remain and pronounce the benediction after the dance which will be called immediately after the close of the service.

L. H. Ruidelle has sold his homestead and an additional tract of land lying just north of town to Dock Freeman of Coyote canyon. Mr. Freeman has also bought the Ed Queen residence, one of the very finest in White Oaks, and will soon live "right in town" and be one of our substantial citizens.

E. T. Collier, an old reliable amalgamator at the stamp mill, has acquired the Schronts property near his work and will move in as soon as it can be put in comfortable condition.

Mrs. Ed. C. Eaker left about ten days ago to join the future brigadier general up at the training camp in Kansas and together they will go far a furlough visit among his relatives in old Missouri. This time, instead of "being shown" it is suspected that he is now taking quite a little pride in showing the good people of that state that new wife of his who is certainly one of the most exquisitely seductive products of the southwest. "The universe, attention! while I shoulder arms."

It is a little dusty now as the

Studebaker Wagons
Goodyear Casings and Inner Tubes
Portland Cement
Dynamite, Fuse and Caps
Kansas Blackleg Serum
Lubricating Oils

Steel Roofing      Rubberoid Roofing
Building Paper   Sash and Doors
Drill Steel
Dry Batteries, Etc., Etc.

The Titsworth Company,
Capitan, New Mexico

Toilet Sets! Manicure Sets!
Thermos Bottles!
Christmas Stationery!

Rolland Brothers

DEALERS IN

Drugs, Toilet Articles, Etc.

Carrizozo,

New Mexico

We Do First Class Printing
JOB

THE CITY GARAGE

Agent For Studebaker Automobile

Goodyear Cord Fabric Tires

Studebaker DeLux Six $1585.00

Studebaker DeLux Four $1225.00

Maxwell New Models $810.00

All Cars F O B Carrizozo, N. M.

Overland and Studebaker Service Station—Large stock of Ford Supplies on hand.

Phone No. 36

Vincent Reil, Prop.

Phone No. 36

Food Which Will Provide the Most Protein at Smallest Cost

(From the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Because protein is so important to the health of the body, it is not considered desirable in diets consisting of the ordinary combinations of food materials to cut down the quantity in the daily food below 3 1/2 ounces per adult man and proportionate amounts for women and children.

How then can the housekeeper reduce the cost of food and still provide enough of this necessary but expensive material? The best way is to learn how much protein is provided by different kinds of food and then choose the kinds which will furnish what the family needs for the lowest cost and with the least waste. This task will be easier if the housewife will group in her mind the foods which are rich in protein and then consider ways of substituting less expensive for more expensive ones.

The lists given below include some of the more common foods in which protein is abundant and show in a general way the amounts and proportion of protein in the different kinds as they are purchased; that is, including refuse, such as bones and gristle, egg shells, etc.

Approximate amounts of protein in common food materials:

Fresh meats:
Beef contains from 2 to 3 ounces of protein per pound.

Veal contains from 2 to 3 ounces of protein per pound.

Mutton contains from 2 to 2 1/2 ounces of protein per pound.

Lamb contains about 2 1/2 ounces of protein per pound.

Pork contains about 2 ounces of protein per pound.

Poultry—chicken, duck, goose, turkey, etc., contain from 2 to 2 1/2 ounces of protein per pound.

Game—squirrel, rabbit, wild birds, etc., contain from 2 to 2 1/2 ounces of protein per pound.

Prepared meats:
Corned beef contains 2 1/2 ounces of protein per pound.

Dried beef contains 4 ounces of protein per pound.

Pork sausage contains 2 ounces of protein per pound.

Canned chicken contains 4 ounces of protein per pound.

Fresh fish—cod, haddock, halibut, mackerel, perch, salmon, shad, etc., contain from 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 ounces of protein per pound.

Dried fish contains from 2 1/2 to 3 ounces of protein per pound.

Eggs contain 2 ounces of protein per pound.

Dairy products:
Whole milk contains about 1 ounce of protein per quart.

Skim milk contains about 1 ounce of protein per quart.

Buttermilk contains about 1 ounce of protein per quart.

Condensed milk contains about 1 ounce of protein per 12-ounce can.

Whole-milk cheese contains about 4 ounces of protein per pound.

Cottage cheese contains about 3 ounces of protein per pound.

Dried legumes:
Beans contain 3 ounces of protein per pound.

Cowpeas contain 3 ounces of protein per pound.

Peas contain 4 ounces of protein per pound.

Peanuts contain 3 ounces of protein per pound.

Nuts:
Almonds contain nearly 2 ounces of protein per pound.

Walnuts contain a little over 1 ounce of protein per pound.

Cereal foods:
Wheat flour contains 2 ounces of protein per pound.

Cornmeal contains 1 1/2 ounces of protein per pound.

Oatmeal contains 2-3 ounces of protein per pound.

Bread contains 1 1/2 ounces of protein per pound.

In considering the amount of protein supplied by certain foods, one must make a distinction between the cooked and the uncooked state. Dried legumes and cereals, for example, usually take up considerable water during cooking, and thus become more bulky and dilute. A pound of baked beans supplies the body with about one-third as much protein as a pound of raw beans. Oatmeal takes up so much water in cooking that a pound of boiled oatmeal has only about one-eighth the food value of a pound of raw. A pound of raw beans or oatmeal would have practically the same total food value after cooking as before, but their weight would be greater. In the same way, a cupful of raw beans or oatmeal would make several cupfuls when cooked.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

When eggs are beaten, as in making omelets and meringues, air is forced into them and they become more bulky. In this way a given number of eggs can often be made to serve more persons than if they are prepared without beating; but each person gets less eggs. If meat is made into stew, it goes further, because the water adds to the bulk of the dish; but the finished dish has much lower protein and fuel value than the original meat. When meat is cooked without water, as in roasting, broiling or frying, there is not much change in its composition.

A housekeeper in choosing foods at market rightly compares them in their raw state; but when she is considering them as they are actually served at meals, she must remember these differences in cooking. They should also be considered in choosing dishes at restaurants. Changes in cooking cereals are discussed in another bulletin of this series.

2 feet by 2 feet by 1 foot, and are bought at a store for 15 cents apiece. One of these cases, which are light but strong, will carry two cockerels.

Big, good-looking cockerels are the kind sent away. This man has a good laying strain, but he does not claim the cockerels have extraordinary records back of them. Cockerels which do not come up to his standard he sells as roasters.

AN EXPERT ON POTATOES

Lou D. Sweet.

Farmer in the Crystal River Irrigated district on the western slope of the Rocky mountains near Glenwood Springs, Colo., who is now potato expert of the United States food administration. Mr. Sweet is president of the Potato Association of America and the Colorado State Potato Growers' association.

Window Boxes, Which May Be Started at Small Cost, Make Home More Cheerful

Window boxes made up of flowering plants, give an added touch of brightness and pleasure to the home life and may be started at a small outlay, according to M. F. Ahearn, professor of landscape gardening in the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"Both indoor and outdoor boxes may be used to good advantage," said Professor Ahearn, "and the most satisfactory outdoor window box may be had by using evergreens such as red cedar, arbor vitae, and white and blue spruce.

"These plants should be from 6 to 18 inches in height and may be arranged effectively by keeping the taller ones in the center and back, and the smaller ones in the foreground. Such a box, after being well started, will require little attention and need not be protected from wintry weather.

"For the indoor window boxes, Boston fern, German ivy, variegated periwinkle, red geraniums, nasturtiums, snapdragon, and vinca alba may be used with good effect. All the flowers should be removed from the plants as soon as they begin to fade. In order to obtain the best results the box plants should be given an application of fertilizer once or twice a month. An east or south exposure will be found best for most window plants."

PROFIT IN WOODLOTS

Big Increase in Income Can Be Made With Good Handling.

War Conditions Make It Important That Every Cord of Wood Be Utilized—Coal Is Scarce and Prices Are High.

(By F. G. MILLER, Dean, Idaho School of Forestry.)

The United States census schedules of 1910 called for the value in detail of woodlot products sold from or used on farms in 1909. This schedule included firewood, fencing materials, logs, railroad ties, telegraph and telephone poles, materials, for barrels, bark, stove wood, or other forest products.

With proper handling the income from the farm woodlots can be tremendously increased, and no other class of forest land lends itself quite so readily to forest management as the farm woodlot, since the necessary labor can for the most part be performed in the winter, or at other times when the farm work is slack.

War conditions make it especially important that the farm woodlot be utilized to the fullest at this time in particular as a source of fuel. Coal is high and scarce and even government intervention cannot insure an adequate supply throughout the winter on account of labor and transportation difficulties. Every cord of fuel wood that is used will relieve the tension by just that much, and every farmer who can do so will doubtless find it to be to his advantage to put in a good supply of cordwood for himself, and to sell to others wherever possible. Many farmers owning woodlots within hauling distance of towns and cities are now finding a profitable sale for cordwood in large quantities.

Well-Cared for Woodlot.

EFFICIENT SCALY LEG CURE

Insects Which Cause Trouble Can Be Killed by Application of Sulphur and Lard.

Poultry kept in dirty houses often is troubled with coarse scales on the legs. These are due to the presence of mites, which have burrowed beneath the scales. They are air breathing insects, and the treatment consists in depriving them of air. This is done by applying a mixture of equal parts of sulphur and lard, two or three times. It is a simple remedy, but an efficient one. A free application of an ointment made by mixing a teaspoonful of coal oil with a teaspoonful of lard, will bring relief, and should in a short time work a cure.

WHY RAISE LIVE STOCK?

Because the by-products of live stock are from year to year advancing in price and promise to continue to in advance. Among them are wool and hides.

Because no permanent system of agriculture is likely to be adopted if the farmer does not base that on the growing of live stock, in part. It is the lack of a permanent system that has led to the exhaustion of our soil, both as to its plant food and as to its humus.

Because the raising of live stock enables the farmer to utilize his pastures, which, rightly handled, are among the most profitable acres on his farm.

Man Who Never Pays.
The fellow who says that poultry does not pay is the same fellow who never made anything pay that was worth while.

LEGUMES ARE MUCH FAVORED

Come Nearer to Giving Something for Nothing Than Any Other Plants—Add Nitrogen.

Alfalfa, clover, beans, peas and the rest of this family produce the most nutritious food and at the same time add more nitrogen to the soil than they remove.

Legumes come nearer to giving something for nothing than any other plants. Yet there is nothing mysterious about these plants. They have bacteria that live on their roots. These bacteria in return for being given a home (nodules) on the plant roots and for food from the plant take nitrogen from the air and leave it in the soil for the plant's use.

Turning Under Clover Crop.

There are millions of dollars' worth of this nitrogen over each acre; so the bacteria have an almost endless supply to draw on.

The way to tap this great wealth is to grow these plants that have these wonderful bacteria on their roots. These plants do not do well without the bacteria. When alfalfa, clover, peas, beans or any of the other of these legume plants are sown on a piece of land for the first time it is usually necessary to sow the bacteria as well as the plant seed.

In these days when plant food is so important the greatest possible use should be made of the legumes, the greatest food producers for man and beast.

GOOD MIXTURE FOR POULTRY

Blue Ointment and Vaseline or Lard Rubbed on Fowls Will Keep Away External Parasites.

Don't forget to dose the hens and chicks, after feathering, with an ointment made of equal parts of blue ointment and vaseline or lard carefully mixed together. Rub this thoroughly onto the skin under each wing and also a little below the vent of each bird, using a portion of the ointment the size of a small grain of wheat for each of the three places, and half as much for a half-grown chick. Repeat once in two or three months. This is a sure remedy for all kinds of external poultry parasites, except mites.

OATS IN FATTENING RATION

Good Feed for Brood Sows and Growing Pigs, But Not So Useful in Finishing Hogs.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

STUPID ANIMALS.

"The ostrich in his yard in the zoo was grinning," said Daddy, "and of course as every one knows he looks even more foolish that way than any other. The ostrich is far from being a bright bird.

The Ostrich Grinned.

"He was not grinning at anything special. In fact, if you had asked him, and if he had been able to tell you, he would have said that he was grinning at absolutely nothing at all. He was just grinning!

"The camel was sitting down in his zoo home, and he was chewing as hard as he could!

"Don't you ever wish you had a short neck?" asked a sparrow who had hopped just outside the giraffe's cage.

"No, I don't bother to wish about anything," said the giraffe.

"What's the trouble?" asked the sparrow. "Are you too discouraged with life?"

"No," answered the giraffe. "I am not discouraged. I simply cannot be bothered with such things."

"That seems funny to me," said the sparrow. "It wouldn't be natural to live without fights and wishes and trying to get things. I can't understand you at all."

"Don't bother," said the giraffe. "I am sure it is too much trouble."

"It wouldn't be any trouble if I could only understand you," said the sparrow. "I've thought about it and thought about it, but it never did any good. You have always been a puzzle to me."

"I don't see why you ever bothered to think about it," said the giraffe.

"You really don't see why any creature takes the trouble to find out about anything, do you? Are you so terribly lazy?"

"Oh, I'm not energetic," said the giraffe, "but the chief trouble with me is my mind."

"Your mind?" repeated the sparrow as he hopped on a nearer bar, so he wouldn't miss a word of what the giraffe was saying.

"My mind," said the giraffe again. "I haven't much, you know. In fact, I don't believe I have any at all. Perhaps a wee scrap, but it certainly doesn't amount to anything. So as I haven't any sense, and very little mind, I never think about anything. You see, I couldn't if I tried!"

"I see," said the sparrow. "But doesn't it make you very unhappy to think that you are so stupid?"

"I don't think about it," said the giraffe. "I just am stupid, and that's all there is to it."

"Isn't there anything you bother to think about?" asked the sparrow. "Or is it impossible for you to think about anything?"

"I think about my food," said the giraffe. "I am very fond of hay and all sorts of vegetables. I also like mulberry leaves, and I absolutely love milk. I would rather have it than water any day."

"Well," said the sparrow, "I am glad you have some things to be interested in, and that is quite a list of different kinds of things to eat."

"Listen to me," said the ostrich from his yard. "I am the most stupid animal in the zoo. You mustn't believe the giraffe."

"I am far more stupid than you are," said the camel, as he went on chewing.

"The ostrich grinned even when he scolded the giraffe for boasting. 'You always take all the praise you can get,' he said, 'and you praise yourself too much.'"

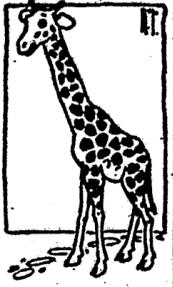

"I shouldn't think it was praising himself to say he was so stupid," said the sparrow.

"We think it's fine to be stupid," said the camel.

"There is certainly no accounting for tastes," said the sparrow.

"And as he left the zoo and flew back to his luncheon of bread crumbs, he heard the keeper say: 'The camel and ostrich are very stupid, but the giraffe is quite the most stupid animal of all.'"

"So the sparrow knew that the giraffe must be feeling quite satisfied, and that the camel and ostrich were something themselves that at least they were very stupid."

Giraffe is the Most Stupid of All.

HE MET THE NEW GENERAL.

Canadian Officer Omitted Some of His Decorations, and Was Not Recognized by Lieutenant.

Col. R— of the Canadian forces had just been promoted general and assigned to the command of a brigade at the front. His native modesty was not impaired by his new rank. He put on his cap an almost invisible little bronze ornament and pinned on his shoulders two crossed sabers, likewise bronze and almost invisible. In the press of business, relates a correspondent, he neglected to add the red band of the staff, the blue brassard, or the scarlet and gold fancies that properly adorn the collar of a general officer of his Britannic majesty's army. A couple of weeks had passed and he hadn't yet found time to go to town and buy all the things that make one look like a person of really high rank. And all the time he was living with Spartan simplicity in his dugout.

One day into the dugout blew a very young lieutenant—a lieutenant of infantry, in spite of a cavalier style of conversation.

"Howdo," said the lieutenant. "Dirty hole, what? Rotten sort of sewer you've got to live in. Staff's taken all the decent places, I suppose. I say, tell a fellow a bit of news."

(A lot of questions about the service, Russia, difficulty of getting leave, the acceptance of the polite offer of a cigarette.)

"Well," said the lieutenant at last. "I'm told you chaps have got a new general. What sort is he?"

"Oh," replied General R—, "a pretty fair sort."

"You've got to show me," said the lieutenant, whose language showed traces of both American and insular British influence.

"In that case," said General R—, smiling, "just look him over."

The young lieutenant looked. He took stock of a tunic that didn't show a patch of red anywhere. Then he caught sight of the crossed sabers, and leaped to his feet, redder than the reddest of the proper ornaments of a British staff officer.

General R— continued to smile sweetly.

Britain's Colonial Traditions.

Great Britain has the colonial tradition and her able men will live anywhere—in the African jungle, the Egyptian desert, the Burmese bush on whatsoever heaven forsaken place the colonial office may choose to send them. Her best young men are brought up with the idea of administering these isolated and insalubrious spots on the atlas, and such of them as do not die of fever or get killed by the natives are content to come home and retire with a decoration at fifty. This system simplifies the British colonial problem immensely. Less fortunate nations deal with it in different ways. Germany administered her colonies with second-class men, because there were neither traditions nor inducements to draw the first-class men to the job. France is solving the problem in a characteristically French fashion. She is making the colonies attractive to the first-class man.

Great Deeds of Serbians.

The deeds of the Serbians and of Kara George, their leader, are so remarkable, according to a recent historian, that even legend can hardly exaggerate them. A handful of rayahs arises suddenly, routs great Turkish armies, besieges citadels, alternately defends and defeats pashas, and finally wins its independence by its own bravery. There is no case in which a single small power in the Balkans has done so much without more aid from the great powers. What Greece owed to Cannino, Roumania to Louis Napoleon, and Bulgaria to Tsar Alexander, the tiny states of Serbia and Montenegro owed to themselves. The latter maintained, the former achieved, her liberty in the face of the whole Turkish empire.

Jap Works "Film-Flam" Game.

The captain of the coasting steamer Falun-Maru, lying in dock at Moji, was visited by a man in police uniform, who said he was sent to examine all bank notes on board, says a Japanese correspondent. He gave as a reason that a new counterfeit of excellent execution had been put in circulation. The captain produced notes for 500 yen ($250), which the alleged officer scrutinized and finally said he would have to call an expert. Meanwhile he apparently placed the money in a jar and sealed it. It was the ancient "film-flam game." The bogus officer did not return, and there was no money in the jar.

The Leap of the Black Bass.

The leap of the black bass is always directly upward when hooked, and he generally falls tail first into the water. At times, however, this fish, like the trout, will rise vigorously to the sky and, missing it, will make a graceful curve in the air ere he goes quietly head down back to his element. But as a rule the bass rises directly to the sky with an accurate aim, and goes instantly to his lair.—All Outdoors.

How the Gypsies of Europe Escaped the War

Sterling Heilig in Kansas City

These mysterious people seemed to have foreknowledge of the coming of conflict for they made themselves scarce in the vast danger zone of Europe

PARIS.—"Where are the gypsies?" "They have disappeared since the war."

"How could they disappear from France, all frontiers being guarded?"

"They did," replied the French official, smiling.

Such was the result of my first inquiry, and such is the final word of a curious story. Editors in America asked me to discover "what has become of the gypsies." The French foreign office sent me to the prefecture of police, where I met M. Alfred Harduin, chief of the second bureau of the first division.

"Are the gypsies in concentration camps?" I asked.

"Those belonging to enemy countries, yes," he answered, "but almost none of them have any nationality; that is to say, their nationality could never be established. Such was the cause of the law of 1912."

But M. Harduin knows, officially, only Paris and environs, so he sent me to the ministry of the interior, department of the surete general, where I met the great Sebillie, controleur-general of the judicial investigations services, whose eyes see over all France.

"The facts are the more curious," he admitted, "because France was literally overrun with gypsies immediately before the war. Of forty thousand 'nomades' on the lists of the interior twenty-six thousand were Romanichels (Romans or gypsies), and things had reached a point, in 1912, that Franco was obliged to make a special law to regulate them."

Two rich and populous tribes, in particular, the Gorgans and the Yankos, seem to have made a considerable stir in the countryside with their fine horses, gorgeous house wagons, women, girls, bears, apes and a raft of children, dressing loud and living like princes.

"At Roisel, in the Somme," ran a report, "a tribe of so-called Russian gypsies (South Russia and Bohemia) molested the populations."

They were rich and haughty. They wore brilliant clothing and ornaments and had fine horses. Yet when a French peasant would buy one of those horses his tail would come out, his glossy coat go ringwormed, his plumpness sink in, and even "some teeth came out (says Farmer Cardon), being made of hardened bread crumb."

As for gold (strange detail), they found a massive gold chain of ancient workmanship around the waist of the prince of the Gorgans, under his embroidered clothes, locked with a gold padlock of which nobody had the key! On it were engraved, "T. I. S. P. P. 1512," and no explanation could be obtained. The prince said simply, "It's a family heirloom." He carried a rich, cruel whip of rawhide, supple oiled leather and small lead thongs, more like a weapon than a whip, jeweled in its handle to the tune of some $6,000, estimated. Finally, among his personal belongings were sixty-seven American gold dollars of 1853!

"How could the gypsies get away when the war broke out?" I insisted, "when all frontier authorities were on the lookout for enemy subjects and spies?"

Instead of making a discourse the controleur-general told me a case of some time before the mobilization.

A strong band of gypsies (Makarassas-Kralovitch families) had penetrated from France to Switzerland and, at Moelleusullaz, were thrust back by the Swiss frontier guards. They asked to try Germany. "We have papers from the German authorities at Berne to enter Germany," they said, "because we are Germans." And, in fact, they produced such papers. Twenty days they remained on the frontier. Germany refused to receive them; but (on account of those papers) France gave them permission to try again, via Belfort and certain roads of the Doubs.

"At Salins we photographed and measured them," said M. Sebillie, "and we tried to learn something of their families. They had as many names and nationalities as you please, and papers, too (at need), more than you would imagine. Their old gypsy queen, eighty-five years old, called the Boule, or Mother Kakarassa, seemed to preside over ten families of other names, the Reinhardtts, Helmts, Gorman, Laga, Schernots, Meyers, etc. Emile Schernots had a German workingman's book in the name of Kralovitch, a Bohemian!

At Petit-Croix, on the Alesian frontier, eight German gendarmes with pointed rifles said: "You cannot enter—go!" For three weeks they camped outside Belfort, supported by the French government—"being under arrest." Later they sojourned at Suarce (still at the expense of France), where they claimed to know by-roads to enter Germany, and "asked to be allowed to break up and get through," wagon by wagon. The French let them go. And, now, look—in spite of German frontier organization, they all actually got through into Germany!

Before mobilization there was so much complaint against them that a special law had to be made to regulate them. The law of 1912 had scarcely got to working when the war broke out—and all complaints against the gypsies ceased!

How? Why?

"The complaints stopped. That is all."

The law of 1912 gave to the head of each gypsy family a formidable booklet, full of blanks to be filled up by mayors of each town or commune where they stopped—and a number. This family number (printed on each blank) was repeated in white enamel on handsome black sheet-iron plates, as many as each band had wagons. Gift of the French government. They must be attached to the tailboard of each wagon, so that countryside gendarmes might jot them down, running, though the band be in flight! It was a beautiful system. It will make a good foundation, again, after the war.

Often (it is repeated) they were grand, in their way. They would sell fine horses to French peasants, cheap, horses which gave complete satisfaction. The Coesre, or prince, would order their copper utensils and kitchen wear to be repaired by his artisans for a trifling sum; and the work would be well done. They gave amusing shows, with trained bears and great apes and dancing girls. Their women, telling fortunes, bamboozled country wives. Yet the same band, in another commune, would obtain all they needed by threats of fires; and small municipalities would buy them off, in considerable sums, to take themselves elsewhere.

Then the war broke out—and it all ceased.

"None arrived at the Saintes-Maries, on May 25 last," volunteered a minor police official. "A striking indication."

It is, perhaps, the strangest detail of the story. Every five years (though you did not know it) the chief gypsies of America sailed back to Europe—before the war. Together with the gypsies of Syria, the Danube, Germany, Italy, Spain and all the world, they assembled outside a long fishing village in South France, on the Mediterranean.

There they chose the gypsy king. Why there? Because a servant woman of Judea, in the days of our Lord Jesus lived the last years of her life in this French fishing village—and became the patron saint of all the gypsies.

Alone, among the lagoons, with the antique village grown round it, rises the venerable edifice which has existed, in some form, since the dawn of Christianity. Good old King Rene of Provence gave it its present aspect in 1443.

History and legend tell how two of the Marys of the Gospels were cast on this shore by a tempest. The Gentiles of Antioch had put them in a boat without sail or oars. They were women who had wept at the foot of the cross and visited the tomb and found the Lord had risen. Mary Salome and Mary the mother of James lived on this spot with their Egyptian servant, who was wrecked with them and whose name was Sarah. Here they built the church, died and were buried in it. And because of Sarah (she who became the gypsies' patron), these sands, each year, and greatly every fifth year, were strangely peopled.

Over the roads came processions of bizarre vehicles, prehistoric stage coaches, prairie schooners, gypsy vans and rich house wagons mounted and surrounded by a dusky people. Some had dragged for months, and some few years!

"Three times May has slipped round since the war," said a minor official, "and no gypsies have appeared at the Sts. Maries. In May, 1914, there were three thousand in the German-Austrian-Danubian camp, while the Italian-Spanish-Greek Gitanos were less numerous but richer. Without quarreling they met in not very good friendship, the Germans being jealous of the Gitanos' newer, finer wagons."

"Was there any truth in the rumor," I asked, "that the Gitanos had made a 'find' of some great treasure about eight years ago, which all the gypsies had been seeking for three hundred years?"

The French official professed ignorance.

Did they really elect a king? "They elect a queen," said M. Sebillie. "Local opinion judges the election to be a kind of play, as on Holy Innocents' Day or Twelfth Night . . . but as no order was given to penetrate to the crypt, of which the Romanichels are very jealous, exactly what happens is not known. . . . There is no complaint. The pilgrimage amused the peasants and brings sightseers and money. The crypt is turned over to the gypsies on the night of May 24-25."

What can we know? When the chiefs go down the winding stairs to the subterranean arched hall, what signs from Memphis and Thebes do they mark on the wall? What sudden gleam of light (perhaps) joins the scattered descendants of the magnificent, accursed race which pretends to know the future of the world?

"Not so united as all that . . ." murmured an official.

I do not bring the controleur-general into this romantic part of it. But I have come across queer mentions of "The Song of Pharaoh," which they sing down in the crypt, the reading of the gypsy gospel, and the "oldest magician" who, each time, "foretells the future of the world for the next five years."

"Did he foretell it in May, 1914?" I suggested.

One of the French officials equivo-cated politely.

"They got away from the war," he said. "The gypsies disappeared." Most people will tell you they went to Spain.

People You Know

S. R. Moss and Dewey Adams motored over to Encinosa Sunday.

Joe Spence has entered the El Paso high school for the remainder of the term.

Thomas R. Powell and Lieut. Jack Besse spent the week end visiting friends in Carrizozo.

Buy 'Pratt's Foremost', Flour—your money back if you are not satisfied. Carrizozo Trading Co. adv.

The Methodist church and Sunday School are preparing an unusual feature for the Christmas tide.

The report at the quarterly meeting showed that the Methodist people were making advances along all lines.

J. E. Wright and R. R. Foster went to the Bonita Sunday to contract for poles to set the light and power line to the Vera Cruz mines.

Mr. Fairchild of Parsons passed through Carrizozo enroute to Denver, Colo., to take his second examination for entering the aviation service.

Army Last Work Shoes at $5.25 pair. Ziegler Bros. ad.

Corporal Johnny Hearne of Carrizozo, now located at Camp Bowie, writes home that he has suffered an illness lately but expected at that writing to be able to join his company in a few days.

Eat Club House canned goods. Cost a trifle more but are so much better. Carrizozo Trading Co. adv.

The Methodist services were well attended Sunday.

James Crockett and son were were down from the Bonita Sunday.

Samuel Frambraugh shipped four carloads of cattle to Canadian, Okla., Tuesday.

Mrs. I. O. Wetmore left for Mescalero Monday to pay a visit to her sister, Mrs. J. A. Prude.

Bring us your furs, pelts, skins and hides. Highest prices guaranteed always. Carrizozo Trading Co. adv.

George Friedenbloom, Mayor Lutz, Henry Lutz, Jr., and Len Branum were Roswell visitors the first of the week.

The piano solo and mixed quartet were enjoyed by the entire congregation at the Methodist church Sunday night.

Tom McDonald and son sold four car loads of cattle to Reilly & Stimmel and the shipment was made to Kansas City Tuesday.

Just received a carload of canned goods. Our prices are guaranteed to save you twenty per cent. Carrizozo Trading Co. adv.

Rev. J. B. Cochran, the Presiding Elder of the Albuquerque District, New Mexico Conference, preached two strong and helpful sermons at the Methodist church Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Edwards left Wednesday for Washington, Okla., where they will reside for the winter, but they are not to leave Carrizozo but temporarily, as they will return in the spring.

GIFTS FOR ALL

IS OUR CHRISTMAS SLOGAN

Just register in your mind that you will find gifts for all at

ZIEGLER'S

All through our store the Christmas displays offer inviting suggestions of what to give. The following brief catalogue tells in part what we offer:

BUYERS' GIFT LIST

Parisian Ivory Manicure Sets	Men's Ties
Pictures	Pullman Slippers
Picture Frames	Collar Bags
Jewelry Boxes	Suit Hangers
Cut Glass	Knives
Silverware	Scarfs
Books	Scarf Pins
Leather Traveling Bags	Jewelry
Dishes and Crockery	Gloves
	Shirts
	Sweaters

Ziegler Brothers

CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO

A Carload of Canned Goods Pickles and Preserves

At Prices That Will Save You Money, and the Quality Absolutely Guaranteed

Eat Club House and Telmo Vegetables

The prices listed below are just a few items from our large and well selected stock that arrived last week. Every item is of the 1917 pack.

THESE PRICES ARE GOOD FOR TEN DAYS ONLY

Standard pack large can Tomatoes	22c	Gold Dust, 30c size, at	25c
No. 2 can Tomatoes	16c	White House Coffee, 2 lb. can for	75c
Standard pack Hominy, large	16c	1917 pack Dill Pickles, large, dozen	25c
1917 pack Faney Corn, can	16c	Sweet Pickles, doz., 20c; Sour, doz	15c
New Sifted June Peas, can	17c	Fairbank's Tar Soap, 10c bar for	5c
String Beans, 1917, can	20c	Pummo Soap, 10c bar for	5c

Cream of Wheat Flour, per cwt, $6.50

Meadow Gold Butter, per pound, 50c

Kansas Eggs, guaranteed, 50c per dozen

Fresh pack 1917 Evaporated Fruits. New crop Pecans, Walnuts, Brazil Nuts, Almonds and Filberts.

Be sure and call before placing your order.
We can take care of you properly.

Carrizozo Trading Company

Quality First

Phone 21

Then Price

Special sale on Food Choppers. Come in and get our prices. Carrizozo Trading Co. adv.

Dr. R. T. Lucas returned from Elephant Butte Dam Sunday, Mrs. R. K. Such returned from the east last Monday.

Dr. W. B. Edwards came in Tuesday and will remain in Carrizozo for one week.

Miss Florence Eden has returned from a Thanksgiving visit to her father at Fabens, Texas.

Miss Virgie Hearne spent Thanksgiving with her brother, Washington Hearne, at Duran.

The Women's Missionary Society had an apron and pillow case sale at Mrs. Stevens' Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. Lewelling says that every citizen should lend his support to the local papers, for they are necessary institutions.

The new sidewalk in front of the Carrizozo Eating House is finished and it is a valuable convenience to this popular institution with its many accommodations and courteous management.

Notice of Publication

In the District Court, County of Lincoln, October Term, A. D. 1917.

Iva Reed, Plaintiff,
vs. J. No. 2654.

Emmet D. Reed, Defendant.

The said defendant, Emmet D. Reed, is hereby notified that a suit in divorce has been commenced against him in the District Court for the County of Lincoln, State of New Mexico, by said Iva Reed, wherein said plaintiff prays for an absolute divorce on the ground of non-support and that unless he enters or causes to be entered his appearance in said suit on or before the 29th day of December, A. D. 1917, decree pro confesso therein will be rendered against you.

(Seal) O. T. NYE, Clerk.
By A. H. Harvey, Deputy.
J. B. Newell, Esq., Las Cruces, New Mexico, Attorney for Plaintiff. Nov. 16th.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bondro left Wednesday for Purcell, Ok.

Many Useful Articles Appropriate for Gifts

The Cash Store has taken its usual care to select useful articles for the holiday season. We list the following articles which may be found on display at our store:

Jardineres, Pedestals, Bases, Flower Baskets, Hanging Ferns, Potted Ferns, Ash Trays, Candle Sticks, Smoking Sets, Crumb Trays, Tobacco Jars, Nut Sets.

Remember, also, that many staple articles in our line of furniture and hardware make acceptable gifts.

"OURS is the TRADE that SERVICE made." Kelley & Son

CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO