CARRIZOZO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, MARCH 22, 1918

PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

SAYS SHEEPMEN OF THIS SECTION STAND LOSSES

They are Not Getting Rich, Says Otero at Meeting in New Mexico.

Albuquerque, N. M., March 18.—The annual convention of the New Mexico Wool Growers' Association opened here this morning for a session of two days.

The feature of the opening session was the annual address of the President, Edward M. Otero, of Los Luna.

"It is generally believed that the sheep men are piling up big fortunes," he said, "but, gentlemen, I want to tell you that when you go into your books carefully and figure out the enormous expenses that we are under, figuring out the enormous interest that we have to pay on the purchase or lease of State lands, high wages to our men, the high prices we pay for provisions, and what it costs us to replace a ewe that may be lost, many of us, to our sorrow, even at the present high prices, will be surprised that our ledgers are top-heavy on the wrong side."

Elliott—Morris

At the Methodist parsonage Wednesday, March 20th, occurred the wedding of Wm. E. Elliott and Mary Morris, with Rev. Lewelling officiating.

Mrs. Elliott is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hall and being raised in this vicinity, has many friends here and in White Oaks, where the family resided before coming to Carrizozo.

Mr. Elliott is a contracting painter and decorator and has been in Carrizozo for several years. The couple will make this place their future home.

Red Cross Dance at Corona

The Red Cross branch at Corona will give a benefit dance on Friday night, March 29th at Bond's hall. An admission of $1.00 will be charged for men, and ladies will be admitted free. Refreshments will be served throughout the evening. Come and bring your friends.

Patriotic Services at Methodist Church

Next Sunday a large National Flag, the present of the banks to the Church, will be displayed for the first time. Along with Old Glory will be a service flag, made by the ladies, with a star for every man that has gone to the front from Carrizozo. At eleven Rev. Lewelling will preach on patriotism from, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's." Matt. 22:21. The evening service will be in charge of the bankers. The flags will be formally presented and addresses delivered on patriotic subjects. All music of the day will be adapted to the occasion.

Nogal Notes

Judging from the amount of poles that are going through here, the power plant from White Oaks to the Vera Cruz mine will soon be in operation.

H. Putsch has moved from the Bender mine to the Brown Hotel in Nogal.

R. H. Henley has moved from the head of Nogal canyon, to fo Nogal.

Uncle Henry Emerson is threatened with pneumonia fever.

Mrs. Short is recovering from a recent attack of illness.

Road Supervisor Billy Ferguson has about finished a stone culvert near the Nogal cemetery, where a washout occurred some time ago. Billy knows his business and the people here think he would make a good Sheriff.

The new order to weigh all mail passing through Nogal, consumes considerable time.

Trapper Bags Huge Lion

Large crowds were attracted at Mountainair Thursday by the street exhibition of a huge mountain lion, by L. Watkins, a trapper who lives at Scholle. He bagged the puma on the J. J. White ranch, five miles west of Mountainair by inducing him to walk into a trap, which held him until he could be shot. It was a monster and measured about ten feet from head to tip of tail.

Working in Shirt Sleeves

The criminal docket is so heavy in Grant county that it is believed the term will last eight weeks. The Grand jury has been in session for six days and reported eighty five indictments. Pass the belt to Grant county, she has won with hands down.

In New Home

J. P. Foster has moved into his new home on Gold avenue, but he has had so many offers for his neatly furnished home that he may not hold it long.

Rise in Oil Price

Wichita, Kan., Mar. 21.—The price of mid-continent crude oil was advanced today by the Sinclair Oil & Gas Company at Tulsa, Okla., from $2 to $2.25 a barrel.

Light Bill is Signed

Washington, D. C., March 19.—The Daylight Saving bill was signed today by President Wilson. It puts all clocks forward an hour on the last Sunday in March and turns them back again the last Sunday in October.

Attend The Sunday Matinee

If you are blue and down hearted next Sunday, remember that Valeska Surrat appears on the screen at the Carrizozo Theatre in "She," and Faye-White Myers will sing.

Parents are land marks and little ones copy them.

Red Cross Benefit Dance at White Oaks Successful

The benefit dance given at White Oaks last Saturday night was both a social and financial success.

White Oaks people are enthusiastic in anything they undertake and especially when it comes to a movement for the good and welfare of the Red Cross work, they put forth every effort to excel if possible anything they have previously attempted.

And so it proved to be with the dance, for after all expenses were paid, the workers found that they had realized over $105.

What do you think of that? Music was furnished by Mays' orchestra, which was a guarantee of good time to begin with, and the dancing lasted until the clock threw up its hands and surrendered. Everybody had a good time as usual, and will await the time when the White Oaks hosts will entertain again.

Mother Government

This is a great country. Our government has among the many other commendable things, taken precautionary measures to protect women whose husbands are at the front. Women all over our land are receiving checks from Uncle Sam, which contain a big percentage of their hubby's salaries while in the service.

It is not to be supposed that any of our boys would avoid or neglect the common duty of sending this same amount of money home, perhaps they would send more. But to make assurance doubly sure, the government mothers the dependents by mailing the checks direct to them, so that there will be no confusion, and are absolutely sure they will hit the right spot.

By such methods of protection, the argument advanced by enemies of the government that a man's family would be left unprotected after he entered the service is totally destroyed, and our good government establishes the proof that it fathers its boys on the battle field, while it mothers their loved ones at home.

Lincoln County Roads

W. C. Davidson, County Highway Superintendent, reports the surfacing with gravel and cinders of four blocks of streets and the construction of three culverts in Carrizozo; also the grading of three miles of road beginning at Lincoln and extending east; also the construction of four culverts on the road between Hondo and Tinnie.—Santa Fe New Mexican.

Nearing Recovery

The many friends of Horace French will be glad to know that he has improved to such an extent that he will soon leave the John Hopkins Hospital at Baltimore for his home in Knoxville, Tenn. His sister, Miss Eva French, who has been with him during his stay in Baltimore, will accompany him.

Oscuro Correspondence

Mr. Dunn of Richport, Ill. is in Oscuro. He is looking over the oil proposition here. He is a son of Miles R. Dunn who used to live in Oscuro.

Mr. Crews has returned from Las Cruces, New Mexico.

Mrs. E. F. Jones returned from a very pleasant visit with relatives in El Paso. She reports a most enjoyable time.

The Oscuro club will meet with Mrs. Richardson, this week Saturday.

The many friends of Mrs. Dr. Ranniger are very glad to learn that she is recovering from a severe case of pneumonia.

The rain came as a very welcome visitor this afternoon: only trouble there was not enough of it.

King Tightwad Hits Town

Last Sunday night a tall, healthy-looking stranger alighted from train No. 2. He had not more than hit the cinders before a porter from one of our hotels accosted him, thinking, of course, that he would secure a patron.

The usual "Hotel Mister" was passed, and the stranger asked what the hotel terms were. On being told, he said: "You people are entirely too high in this town. I can beat that a mile," whereupon he surrendered his baggage check, took a roll from one of the trucks, which contained a couple of blankets and other bedding, and carrying it to the depot platform, spread it out, and was soon in peaceful dreams. The night was cold, but "Tightwaddo" stuck to his job. The night force at the depot could hear the platform boards creak and groan occasionally as the Tightwad, in his dreams, would wander into many and varied experiences of passing over the road in defiance of the high war prices.

In the early morning light he was seen to pack up his bed, shake his fist at the Carrizozo Eating House, and with his bed in one hand and a lettuce sandwich in the other, disappeared down the street.

Dr. Karr Locates Here

Dr. G. M. Karr has finally concluded to locate in Carrizozo, and has entered into partnership with Dr. R. T. Lucas. The Doctor has for the last several years been connected with large mining companies in Old Mexico, such as the Guanajua Mining & Milling Co. and Cuba Mining & Milling Co.

The Doctor has letters from these companies, which are valuable and contain matter which furnish him the best of recommendations to the people in whose midst he is a stranger, and gives Dr. Lucas a co-partner in the profession who comes well recommended and is trustworthy and professionally qualified to share in his ever-increasing practice.

GOOD RAINFALL IN CARRIZOZO BREAKS LONG DRY SPELL

Stockmen Heretofore Discouraged, Have Hopes Revived By Rain and Heavy Snow in Mountains.

Wednesday night Carrizozo was visited by a real rain—not a downpour, but a good rain for this section. It started in about 5 o'clock in the afternoon and lasted until 10 o'clock at night.

Stockmen have been complaining sorely of late on account of the continued dryness of the season. Captain J. B. Baird, Inspector at Carrizozo, recently turned in the report that range was dry, weather warm, clear and windy, but cattle were faring well considering these conditions.

The mountains show a heavy snowfall during the night, which, coupled with the rain in the lower lands, gives a hopeful outlook to range conditions for the future. We need more, but are thankful for this, and now that the long drouth is broken, it will give vegetation enough of a start that with a little more assistance of the same kind, will guarantee the stockmen enough grass so they will be saved the trouble of having to move stock from one place to another for food and water.

Attention Red Cross Workers

All who have unfinished hospital garments are asked to complete and turn them in as soon as possible, as preparations are being made to make another shipment in the near future.

The invitation to work at the home of Mrs. J. B. French is still open to the Red Cross workers. A fair attendance has been had but there is still plenty of room, so accept the invitation and join the workers at the French home.

BAPTIST CHURCH (Rev. J. M. Gardner, Pastor.)

Rev. J. F. Measells is preaching some fine and helpful sermons. He may continue preaching till Wednesday night, but no longer than Wednesday, as he has to be at Clovis to speak at the laymen's convention.

He will preach every night and Sunday at 11 a. m., 3 p. m. and 7-45 p. m. Sunday School 10 a. m. Junior B. Y. P. U. 4-30 p. m. Senior B. Y. P. U. 6-45 p. m.

New Quarters

The Western Union Telegraph Co. has lately received the assurance that they may have quarters in the old Trading Co's building and preparations are now being made to remodel a portion of it for the telegraph company's use, after which they will move into their new quarters.

Donald turned and began skirting the crinoid bed. The sea devil had disappeared. The water was like a thin, unstable jelly. As they made their way along the bottom of the sea, the fleshy, lily arms reached out toward them like children's plucking fingers. At last the bed of crinoids ended. They trod on firmer ground. Their pace became accelerated.

He had lost all sense of time. He did not know whether he had journeyed one hour or three. He halted because there seemed nothing to do. Then he began to lead the way back between the two crinoid beds, with the intention of reaching the clear ground near the entrance to the cave.

There, there might be a chance of picking up Davies and Clouts; or, at least, it might be possible from there to return to the submarine with Ida to replenish their oxygen reservoirs. These still seemed ample, but it was impossible to determine how much oxygen remained.

They threaded the mazes of the winding path between the beds, while from either side the fleshy arms stretched out to grapple them. The touch of them was like fiery velvet. The suction of the branches made them cling, and Donald had to exercise all his might to break away. Sometimes their ankles became entangled and they would stumble. Always the arms had formed a network above their heads before they could regain their feet, and these had to be broken.

Under their feet the ooze was white with the skeletons of small fish which the lilies had rejected after devouring the substance that covered them.

At length the crinoid beds ended abruptly. They rested on the bottom, seating themselves side by side. Donald felt confident that he could find the submarine. But the delay was sweet, because the disappointment in store for them might prove unbearable. Death or a little life would be the alternative, and the difference was hardly perceptible.

Donald raised Ida's hand to his glass mask and pressed the fingers against it.

She let her hand fall caressingly upon his shoulders. She rose to her feet, and he followed her. They looked into each other's eyes, and, though they could read nothing there, some message of hope seemed to pass.

They plunged together into the sea of jelly again. It clung to them, as if it, too, sought to suck them down. The light of the electric lamps was growing obscure. They wandered blindly, struggling in a medium that was almost impermeable.

Donald began to realize that the action of the caustic alkali within the metallic chamber was becoming exhausted. He was beginning to choke. His breath came in deep sighs, and he gulped in the thickening atmosphere.

Their steps grew slower. Ida could hardly raise her feet. Once she stumbled and fell, picked herself up, and started beside Donald again; then she sank down exhausted. She could not go farther.

Death, horrible in form, awaited them. It was becoming imminent. Donald was growing delirious, and in fancy he was strolling with Ida through meadows, plucking flowers. They were to be married on the morrow, and he was going to get leave of absence to take her away. Where should they spend their honeymoon? Off the coast of the Shetlands. Why, he had been there once, long before.

All the while he was aware that he was lying on the bed of the sea, but his personality seemed divided, and while one part of him walked in those Elysian fields beside his sweetheart, the other suffered and choked and pleaded impotently with a blind fate for aid—not for his life's sake, but for Ida's.

took off the mask of glass. He flung it from him. A moment he held his breath as he felt the cool water-jelly upon his face. Then, very resolutely, he drew in his breath.

CHAPTER X.

The Cave of the Idol.

A cry of amazement burst from his lips. He was breathing air—air at the bottom of the sea!

It was surcharged with oxygen. It invigorated him. He felt the thrill of renewed life in his body, he felt his shrunken arteries tingle as his heart pumped the new, richened blood through them.

It seemed unbelievable. At first he thought that he had died, and that this was the soul's awakening.

Then, with quick fingers, he unfastened Ida's body-piece and tore the mask from its fastenings. He heard her sigh.

She sighed and stirred and sat up on the ocean bed.

"Donald!" she murmured. "I thought—I thought you were dead. Where are we?"

"I don't know," he answered, in absolute bewilderment.

At that moment he heard the mellow, gonglike sound that they had heard aboard the E55.

And slowly, as if in answer to the call, the jellylike medium that surrounded them began to drift away, to be hung up, as if it were a curtain, and before their astonished gaze there evolved the strangest stage setting that could ever have been conceived.

First there came into view the submarine, occupying, as it were, the center of this stage, her bow sunk in the ooze, her stern still lower. They had been lying within a hundred paces of her.

Next appeared the sloping edges of the crater, seen, not through water but through clear air, with a border of yellow crinoids, ceaselessly stirring, as though a breeze ruffled them. Then there began to be visible, in the flanks of the mountain, structures, apparently of hardened mud, taking the shape of fantastic temples, with pillars and doorways with low lintels, a submerged city of cliff dwellers, and yet each identical with its neighbors, so that they seemed to have been fashioned with the same unchanging precision as the cells of the bee.

And the whole crater swarmed with the sea-monsters, no longer invisible, but outlined in phosphorescent fire.

And, standing in front of Donald and Ida, his features clearly visible through the glass of his own diving mask, surveying them with a cool, dispassionate gaze, was Ira MacBeard!

As they stared at him, he raised his hand and struck something suspended from his neck, giving out the mellow sound which they had heard before. Immediately he disappeared from view in the midst of a swarm of the monsters, which, surrounding Donald and the girl, began to push them toward the cavern in the mountain side.

The push was gradual, and apparently the result of some natural quality not known on land. There was no sense of muscular movement. It seemed to be momentum devoid of the accompanying factor of speed. Irresistibly, and yet quietly, the two were pushed toward the entrance in the flank of the island.

In vain Donald resisted. In vain he tried to force a path toward the submarine, dashing his fists against the bodies of the monsters. He made not the least impression upon those half-spherical forms.

A sea-man under water and one in the air had very different powers of resistance. He might as well have fought an army of animated featherbeds.

Slowly, without strain or attack, he felt himself being forced forward. He was held tightly on every side, except for the narrow gap that opened in front of him. He was forced to devote himself to supporting Ida.

On every side the globular, translucent, phosphorescent forms seemed to crowd in on him, leaving only a tiny way in the direction of one of the mud-pillared extractions. Yet, even thus, Donald had the impression of some unconscious force that animated these monsters; it seemed like the scouting expedition of a colony of red ants, returning with its booty. He could sense no conscious impulse in the sea monsters.

His pace became accelerated, and suddenly, swept off their feet, Donald and Ida found themselves within a huge cavern, faintly illumined by phosphorescence, and roofed with the same cloudy substance that they had seen upon the ocean bed without.

The monsters left them. The two stood there together, still in bewilderment. But they were not alone, for, with a shout, Davies emerged from the dim recess, and ran toward them, followed by Clouts. Their cylinders and headgear had been removed. The four stared at one another in incredulous joy.

"They nabbed us the moment we left the air-lock," cried Davies, grabbing the lieutenant by the hand and forgetting his discipline for the first time. "And Clouts, too. They sort of edged us in here. We were afraid you were dead."

"They gave us a little longer respite," answered Donald. "Davies, am I mad or dreaming, or are we breathing under water?"

"If you're dreaming, then Clouts and I are too," said the little middy. "Hello! There Clouts goes again! I've tried to keep him resigned, but he gets frantic occasionally."

With a sudden howl that seemed to rise from the depths of an outraged nature, Clouts, lowering his head, rushed like a battering ram into the doorway. The watchers saw him recoil as if he had butted a feather bed. He looked up, rubbed his head in perplexity, and then, retreating a few paces, repeated his experiment more furiously than before.

Again he was hurled back, as a ball rebounds from the cushion of a billiard table. The monsters' bodies blocked the entrance as effectively as if they were of rubber.

Slowly Sam Clouts withdrew, looking back with a puzzled expression. Meanwhile the three glanced about.

They were in a huge natural cave, in which the sea monsters had evidently been at work, for the interior was coated with mud, hardened in some peculiar manner to resist the water. And yet Donald had the same impression of a beehive. There was something of sameness everywhere, the same sense of automatism.

It was quite bare, except at one end, where arose a mud mound, decorated with seashells, and upon this was what looked like the upright skeleton of a small mammal.

"Look!" exclaimed Donald. "It came from—behind the curtain!" said Davies in awe. "Donald, the air was thicker . . . something keeps rolling back."

They looked at each other, still unconvinced that they were awake and alive. Then they went toward the object at the end.

Sam Clouts, who had preceded them, fell back with an exclamation of horror.

"Yes, Clouts?" said Donald. "I beg your pardon, sir, but don't you see that it's meant to be a person, sir?"

He spoke the truth. The figure was a rough pile of bones, but high above them a grinning human face, made of the same plastered mud, looked down. It was the first sign of conscious process among the monsters, and some devil craftsman had contrived to catch, not so much the form as the humanness of it.

It was upon a larger scale, precisely such a figure as a child or a savage might have made in its first efforts to reproduce the human figure. There were even the dawkings of art in the shape of whales' ear-bones, strung, braceletwise, across the breast.

The mound beneath the figure consisted of innumerable bones, a sort of kitchen midden such as Neolithic man left behind him as a testimony to his oyster feasts.

Davies picked up one of the bones and looked at it intently. "Donald!" he said softly, not to attract the attention of Ida, who, seated on the floor against the mound, seemed on the point of falling asleep from weariness. He held out the bone.

Both looked at it. It was the bone of a flipper heel. The monsters were cannibal, beyond any doubt.

"Davies!" cried Donald, a moment later. "Don't you see what that figure is? It's an idol. And the bones are those of creatures of their own species, and others, sacrificed to it by the monsters in their abominable feasts. It's the first dawkings of self-consciousness, the awakening of the religious perceptions!"

There could be no other interpretation. They looked at each other in horror and something of awe.

The thing had been fashioned, perhaps, after an ideal never seen, or perhaps some forgotten ancestor, cast up on an inhabited shore, had seen man and returned, to embody him in his remembered guise.

So these half-blind and voiceless devils of the sea were grasping slowly upward, as our ancestors had done many a hundred thousand years ago, toward hope and endeavor. The Spirit of God stirred in the dull souls of these cannibal monsters, as everywhere.

Donald felt somehow immensely elated at the thought. Even here they were not cut off from the sheltering hand of Providence.

"Look, sir!" Clouts exclaimed suddenly.

GROW POTATOES FROM SEED

Experts of University of Washington Use White Fruiting Berry Which Has Almost Disappeared.

In an effort to restore the old-fashioned potato seed, an experiment is being made in the garden of the University of Washington. The white fruiting berry of the potato, which was found everywhere a generation ago and has now almost disappeared, was used to plant a patch, and the fruiting potato plants are being raised.

With them have been planted a number of potato tubers in the usual way, and the latter have grown much more rapidly than the plants which have developed from the seeds. The object in seeking to produce potato seed again is that crossing of strains can be secured in this way, leading to a more wholesome condition of the plant. When propagation is only by the roots there is no chance for cross-fertilization, and the same strain of potato will in time give out.

The experiment is being conducted under the direction of Assistant Prof. John W. Hotson of the department of botany.

Proved He Was a Driver.

"I left England a political slave; I shall return to it a free woman," remarked Mrs. Pankhurst recently at a meeting of Russian Suffragists.

"But," she continued, gravely, "it is not the possession of the vote that counts, it is the knowing how to use it." And in order to illustrate her contention she proceeded to tell the story of the pedestrian who had nearly been run over by a taxi.

"You don't know how to drive!" cried the angry man, as he brushed the mud from his clothes.

"Don't I?" cried the no less infuriated driver. "Here's my driver's certificate."

"I don't believe it's yours," was the retort.

"Not mine!" gasped the indignant driver. "Why, I bought it from a pal who's gone into the army, and paid him for it."

Self-Confidence Wins.

Have you ever felt the chagrin of knowing that you have failed in an enterprise, whether this may have been a mere incident of business or an entire career, purely through lack of self-confidence?

Thousands of men have failed in just that way, writes Hugo Masters in Physical Culture.

Self-confidence is a factor in success of such importance that the man with moderate ability, but plenty of confidence, will succeed where the man of far greater ability, coupled with a lack of confidence, will fail. This has been proven probably a few billion times in the history of human affairs.

He Picked Up a Living.

Sir John Kirk, who recently celebrated his fiftieth anniversary of work in connection with the Ragged School union, tells an amusing anecdote of how he once questioned a London walf whom he had befriended as to his method of earning a living.

The young fellow's reply was typical of the London street arab.

"Well, guv'nor," he said, "it's like this. I picks strawberries in the summer, I picks 'ops in the autumn. In the winter I picks pockets, and, as a rule, I'm pickin' oakum for the rest of the year."

Argentina Gum in Demand.

Among the Argentine industries which have benefited because of the suspended importation resulting from the European war, that of pitch gum is found to be of importance. The pitch gum of Argentina is sold under the name of Arabic gum and is used in the manufacture of candies. This product is now being used extensively instead of the imported article and efforts are being made to exploit its cultivation and production.

Manifold Uses for Cotton.

In calling attention to the manifold uses for cotton, cotton seed and cottonseed oil, the Boston Herald mentions the following products: Photographic films, automobile windows, buttons, "Ivory," artificial silk, combs, knife handles, trunks, book bindings, shoes, furniture, headwear, handbags, lard, soap, butterine, paints, rubber, gun-cotton and smokeless powder used in explosives.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is at your service.

Lost 65 Pounds in Weight and Had to Give Up Work. Has Been Well Since Using Doan's.

"Being exposed to extreme heat when working as an engineer, and then going outdoors to cool off, caused my kidney trouble," says Karl Goering, 8518 N. Ordway St., Philadelphia, Pa. "In cold weather and when it was damp, my joints and muscles would swell and ache and often my limbs were so badly affected it was only with great misery I was able to get around. For a week I was laid up in bed, hardly able to move hand or foot."

"Another trouble was from irregular and scanty passages of the kidney secretions. I became dull and weak and had to give up my work. Headaches and dizzy spells nearly blinded me and I went from 265 to 200 in weight. Nothing helped me and I felt I was doomed to suffer."

"At last I had the good fortune to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills and began taking them. I soon got back my strength and weight and all the rheumatic pains and other kidney troubles left. I have remained cured." Soora to before me, WM. H. MUMFORD, Notary Public.

The Conquerors

FAIR TREATMENT

ALL The Conquerors of The Road Hail the tires that triumphed in the bitterest struggle ever staged between roads and tires, a conflict of 4,178,744 tire miles. Hail Goodrich Tested Tires.

Hear the story of a good fight well won. One year ago Goodrich, challenging the roads of America to a test of strength, sent forth six Test Car Fleets to battle America's roads in every region of the country.

GOODRICH TESTED TIRES

The roads did their worst. East, west, north and south, as the Test Car Fleets whirled from state to state, the teeth of the road gnawed at Goodrich Tires.

But the tires conquered with phenomenal mileage that doubled Goodrich's pride. From that test covering millions of miles, the Test Car Fleets came back with a new tire standard, the TESTED of Goodrich Tested Tires.

SILVERTOWN CORDS, and BLACK SAFETY TREADS, proved themselves masters of the road. The spiral-wrapped, cable-cord tire body, and the tough, close-clutch, cross-barred black safety tread defied the rough going.

Under light and heavy cars they proved themselves not for one car or one driver, or one road, but all cars, all drivers, all roads.

Reap the benefits of this nation-wide victory of Goodrich Tires, the sure mileage and dependability of a proven tire service, by demanding tires that won the title, "America's Tested Tires."

marked, and cut until it resembled a red ink issue of a Chinese newspaper. His companion was a small man, who showed signs of milder treatment, although it took Sheriff Hyde's force about 30 minutes in a combined effort to count the knots and bumps on the top of his head. He also bore a large red scar on his forehead. This completes the description of the men and outside of this they were all right.

After the fines were imposed by Judge Harvey, a sympathizer who had followed the warriors from Corona, was sent to raise funds with which to liberate his friends and pay the fines imposed by the court. As the excitement died down a meek eyed newspaper man tried to ascertain the names of the two men, but they were so difficult to decipher, that he was told to call them "Mutt and Jeff" and let it go at that, as they had solemnly promised not to disturb a crowd of good natured merrymakers again.

FOR THE POULTRY GROWER

That the importance of the brooder in rearing large numbers of incubator chicks cannot be overestimated, is the opinion of N. L. Harris, superintendent of the Kansas State Agricultural college poultry farm.

"Some artificial means of brooding chicks must be provided when incubator chicks hatch in cool or cold weather," said Mr. Harris. "Where a small flock of birds is to be raised it is not profitable to use either the incubator brooder, but where large numbers of chickens are handled the brooder becomes a matter of convenience.

"Keeping chicks in large flocks minimizes the labor and reduces the cost of houses and yards. Where hens are used for brooders in cold weather only a few chicks can be given to each hen. This requires a large number of coops and the attendant is compelled to give each group nearly as much attention as would be required for one large flock cared for by the brooder."

A large percentage of the hen brooded chicks suffer from the effects of head lice, Mr. Harris pointed out. These not only are bothersome to the newly hatched chick, but continue to be a source of trouble through the entire season.

Where hens are not available and only a few chicks are to be raised it is possible to construct a homemade brooder. These usually require considerably more attention than those on the market but will give fairly good results.

The most common method of heating these homemade brooders is by means of a jug of hot water. A box which contains sufficient room for from 50 to 100 chicks and which is tight on all sides excepting the front, is the first requirement. Some method of ventilation should be provided on the top of the box. A two gallon jug of hot water furnishes the heating plant. The jug should be wrapped in burlap to protect the chicks and aid in retaining the heat. This brooder will keep a limited number of chicks perfectly comfortable.

this plunger struck a solid substance. On the morning of January 10 British lookouts upon the ships saw numerous kegs floating down the Delaware river. One of these collided with an ice cake. Instantly there was an explosion and a shower of ice splinters. The lookouts rubbed their eyes, then called the men to quarters, and intense interest centered upon the oncoming kegs. The warship commanders sensed the situation and turned gunfire upon the kegs, exploding them one by one. Thus Captain Bushnell's scheme came to an unsuccessful end, but the idea behind the kegs certainly would seem to have been the true genesis of the torpedo.

Robert Fulton, inventor of the steamboat, also worked upon the torpedo. Being unable to interest the American government, he went to England, where his torpedo was rejected. Then Fulton traveled to France and tried to induce Napoleon to adopt this new weapon. Napoleon refused it as an instrument of war unworthy of use by a great nation. It would be interesting to know what the emperor might have thought of the U-boat and its ethics.

MOTHERS OF MEN

Mothers of men—the words are good, indeed, in the saying; Pride in the very sound of them, strength in the sense of them, then Why is it their faces haunt me, wistful faces as praying Ever some dear thing vanished and ever a hope delaying Mothers of men?

Mothers of men, most patient, tenderly slow to discover The loss of the old allegiance that may not return again; You give a man to the world, you give a woman a lover— Where is your solace then when the time of giving is over, Mothers of men?

Mothers of men, but surely, the title is worth the earning; You who are brave in feigning must I ever behold you then By the door of an empty heart with the lamp of faith still burning, Watching the ways of life for the sight of a child returning, Mothers of men? —Theodosia Garrison.

Millions of Heaven's Stars Invisible to the Naked Eye

There has been no census or enumeration of stars, and astronomy teaches that there may be millions of them invisible to the naked eye. The "milky way" is composed of them. "Let us," says an authority, "point a telescope toward any point of this vaporous arch which we call the milky way. Suddenly hundreds of stars show themselves in the telescope field like needle points on the celestial vault. Let us wait for some moments, that our eye may become accustomed to the darkness of the background, and the little sparks shine out by thousands. Let us have the instrument pointed motionless toward the same region, and there slowly passes before our dazzled vision the distant army of stars. In a quarter of an hour we see them appear by thousands and thousands."

Start Early Potatoes in Trenches on Straw; Cover As Roots Begin to Start

Often potatoes planted in April will not come up any earlier than those planted a month or six weeks later. Meanwhile the first seed does not retain the virile strength of the later planted ones, because of the long wait before germination. The result is discouraging to truck farmers who want to get their spuds started early, to get them ready for fancy prices, writes F. E. Brunner, in Farm and Fireside.

I have found potatoes are quickly started by the following means: A trench about 10 inches deep is dug in well-drained soil, the bottom being loosened so that the soil is mellow. In the trench straw is laid so that when packed down it has a depth of an inch or two. Next drop the seed at the desired distances apart and leave it lying in the trench uncovered. The larger seed is better for use in getting a quick, early crop. The sun has free opportunity to shine on the seed, when it soon begins to start sprouts. As the roots begin to form, a little dirt is drawn in, around the seed. The plant will finally reach the top of the ground level, and the trench can then be filled in—but not before. Potatoes planted in this way will not easily freeze, because they are protected by being lower than the surface of the ground, and should there be danger of freezing it is not much trouble to cover the furrows lightly with straw until the cold wave passes.

Mother's Cook Book.

This was a good dinner enough, to be sure, but it was not a dinner to ask a man to.—Johnson.

Economical Dishes.

One ounce of meat for each person will be found sufficient when combined with other foods so that the flavor of the meat has seasoned the whole dish. Out of the chief recommendations for the casserole is that it is a dish which will use leftovers.

Meat With Rice.

Line a casserole with boiled rice. In a saucepan mix a tablespoonful each of butter and flour, when well blended add salt and pepper, a cupful of rich milk and a half cupful or more of finely chopped meat. Cover with rice and cook after adding one tablespoonful each of chopped onion, and parsley. Cook for an hour and serve with tomato sauce.

Stuffed Peppers.

Take two cupfuls of cooked meat and mix with a cupful of sausage, add salt and pepper and a half cupful of boiled rice, one beaten egg and when well mixed fill the peppers with the mixture and bake.

Crooks Halibut.

Take a one pound halibut steak, one clove of garlic finely chopped, two cupfuls of well seasoned tomatoes, butter, pepper and salt to taste and a cupful of bread crumbs. Remove the bone from the fish, place in a buttered dish, sprinkle with garlic, cover with a layer of tomatoes, then a layer of buttered crumbs, salt and pepper and bake 20 minutes. Serve hot from the baking dish.

Chesse Puff.

Grease a pudding dish and lay into it slices of well buttered bread. Sprinkle each with a layer of rich chesse finely cut or grated and pour over a pint of milk with two beaten eggs, salt and pepper. Bake until the custard is set.

Luncheon Chesse.

Take richly seasoned cottage chesse form into cones with a small ice cream form and drop on lettuce leaves, garnish with sprigs of celery.

Orange Cream.

A thin custard poured over sections of oranges, arranging them in sherbet cups, topping with a little cream or the white of an egg, makes a most dainty dessert.

Nellie Maxwell

Things Worth Knowing.

Heat is one of the greatest food wasters. Milk is the richest of all foods in lime. Fruits are good stimulants to the digestion. Whole ground cornmeal is most nourishing. When you are out of tooth paste use salt instead. Dry cold will keep food better than damp cold. A vinegar compress will quickly cure ringworm. Nutmegs grate best if started from the blossom end.

Win the War by Preparing the Land Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

Stews 3, Policemen 0.

A running fight occurred one morning last week in Albuquerque, according to the Evening Herald, which says, "There was a running fight during the early morning, on West Central avenue, which extended over the area in front of the court house and in the vicinity of the Golden Star saloon.

Three men, who had spent the night in the Old Town's open saloons, had arrived at a state of inebriety which dified reason and courted trouble. One was short, one medium size and wore glasses, and one was tall and red headed. They were all young men. They were named Shorty, Glasseye and Red. No policemen were around."

Should Prevent Waste

Keeping quality is of vital importance in these days of high cost and low supply of food products.

No matter how high the quality of an article purchased, if it lacks keeping quality it represents so much certain waste.

This is noticeably true of Baking Powders. A Baking Powder that is affected by time or climatic conditions is bound to cause a bake day loss.

Calumet Baking Powder is a quality Baking Powder with the greatest of keeping quality. It retain its wonderful leavening power—regardless of how long it may stand on your pantry shelf. You use but a level teaspoonful when the can is first opened and you continue to use the same amount to the last spoonful.

This means economy in Baking Powder, its economy, purity and unapproached keeping quality keep millions of women buying Calumet in preference to any and all other brands.

VARIETY OF WRAPS

Short Garments Are Made Like Attenuated Dolmans.

Use Chiffon of New Egyptian Tissue, Satin Lined or Trimmed With Fur and Embroidered Tulle.

Every letter from Paris lays stress upon the short wraps. They are made like attenuated dolmans. They are of chiffon, of the new glistening Egyptian tissue, of satin-lined or trimmed with fur and of embroidered tulle. They resemble elaborated scarfs. Some of them tuck in at the waistline in the back and drop long in the front; others go over the front of the figure in surplice fashion, wrap around the waist and tie with a huge bustle bow at the back.

They are worn in the afternoon over thick frocks; they are worn in the evening over half decollete frocks; they have taken the place of many short, separate jackets for street wear, and they are seen at all the performances in the theaters and at the opera, as well as in the restaurants. They are not removed. They are intended as a half-concealing, half-revealing and altogether subtle and attractive garment.

A woman will come into a restaurant with a dull lavender gown of satin, beaded and cut out half low at the neck; with the arms bare from six inches below the shoulders, and the whole top of the figure and gown will be covered by a short, draped, shirred wrap with sleeves of cornflower blue tulle, the ends of which may be weighted with Chinese tassels in black, gold and yellow.

There are dolmans of black satin lined with fur, and others that have bands of kolinsky or ermine which form a collar and outline the long, pear-shaped armholes that often serve without sleeves. And again and again, the fur or the Egyptian beaded embroidery or metallic tissue is used to hold in these short wraps at the waistline and to form a bow or ends at the side or the back.

CAPES NEWEST FASHION NOTE

Wraps Are Made for Actual and Unremitting Service, as Far as the Outer Coverings Are Concerned.

The ultra smart clothes that are worn at the playgrounds of the South are the straws that tell which way the wind is blowing in the world of fashion.

The cape is, really, the newest note of the season as far as outer coverings are concerned. It is making its appearance more and more frequently, observes a Palm Beach fashion correspondent. The most recent of traveling capes has two or three distinctive features which are worthy of detailed notice.

The new capes are made for actual and unremitting service, and, therefore, have points of interest all their own. They are, as a rule, cut circular—many yards, even as many as five around the hem, and a top that is cut exactly to meet the closely fitting collar at the neckline. The collar then is cut so that it rolls and folds about as one's mood wishes it to do, falling carelessly, gracefully, and broadly over the shoulders when the cape is unfastened.

Others of these traveling capes, while they are still cut on circular lines, have gathered at the neck, so that they float away in more graduated fold. But more often not, they are void of the yokes which were a striking feature of all the best winter capes.

One of these service capes was made of the most interesting variety of velours cloth, woven in a plum-colored

CHECKED GINGHAM SKIRT

This pretty little skirt with its red and white checks on gingham makes the neat three-piece suit the hit of spring. The blouse is of the same kind of gingham, covered with red velvet, set off with a white flare collar. The blouse is straight in line and sleeveless, crossing in front and fastening under the arm.

plaid, with citron-colored stripes making the blocks. The cape had places cut in the sides for the hands to come through, provided with extra straight places set on to simulate cuffs. Then, just underneath, on the cape, other straight pieces were set on to form pockets. This slight divergence was the only departure from undiluted straight lines. With this cape its owner wore a purple velvet hat, soft and crushable in shape, touching one shoulder, and flaring from the face with a soft flange over the opposite eye.

HIGH COLLARS AT THE BACK

Indications Are That Paris Has Given Up Effort to Inflict Either High or Round-Neck-Line.

From the lovely lingerie blouses—and those of georgette crepe and chiffon as well—shown in the smart shops and worn in smart places, we may judge that Paris has almost given up her effort to inflict on the American woman either the high collar or the rather unbecoming round neck-line, according to a fashion correspondent. To be sure some of the very smartest new blouses have what is sometimes called the "line of decapitation," but many of the new blouses show a rather deep V-square, oval or round line in front with a little turnover collar at the back deftly harmonized with the front, a turnover that fits well up against the neck, almost touching the lower line of the hair. This line of collar, high at the back and low at the front, is, we all know, distinctly becoming to the American woman.

ful type, and can be tied in position in a moment. It is carried out in dark brown corded silk, and bound at the edges with narrow ribbon of the same color. It is lined with sateen, and tapes are sewn on at the corners where indicated.

The space enclosed in the dotted line should correspond in size with the surface of the seat of the chair, and the flaps should be large enough to entirely cover the sides. It is a good plan prior to cutting out the material to cut out a rough paper pattern from newspaper and fit it over the chair.

The design which appears upon the cover consists of blossoms worked in various shades of pale pink, separated with leaves worked in various shades of green.

Rag Bonnets for Motoring. Rag bonnets are the latest thing for motoring. They are made of silk rags sewed and braided or milled into all-enveloping hoods for the motorist. Of course very attractive color schemes may be obtained in this way either by using silk scraps of different colors or by dyeing them after they are braided,

Girls! Use Lemons! Make a Bleaching, Beautifying Cream

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It naturally should help to soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is simply marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands. Adv.

Certain-teed Roofing

From every standpoint of service and cost—Certain-teed has proved its claim—"The best type of roof for most buildings, and the best quality roofing of its type."

Certain-teed has made good all over the world under all conditions—as proved by its enormous sale. It has become the standard roof for buildings of all types and sizes—for factories, round houses, elevators, garages, warehouses, hotels, farm buildings, stores, out-buildings, etc.

Its economy is three-fold—first cost moderate, laying cost low, up-keep practically nothing. Its efficiency embraces every important roofing quality—weather proof, spark proof, clean and sanitary, and very durable. Certain-teed is not affected by acids, fumes or smoke, and does not melt under the hottest sun.

Guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness.

It pays to get Certain-teed because it costs no more to lay than ordinary roll roofing, and lasts much longer.

GARDENERS!—A CALL FOR MORE FOOD IN 1918.

Boys, Plus Enthusiasm and Labor, Turned This Rubbish-Covered Lot Into a Profitable Vegetable Garden.

PRODUCE GARDEN STUFF AT HOME

Department of Agriculture Issues Appeal to Farmers for More Food.

SECRETARY HOUSTON'S VIEWS

Gardeners and Truck Growers Should Meet Local Demands—Increase Commercial Production Wherever Possible.

Gardeners, fall in! A call for more food from America's gardens, both the commercial and the home plots, is contained in the department of agriculture's agricultural production program for 1918, recently announced. This is what the program says to the gardeners: Market gardens near large consuming centers should be increased so as to meet as nearly as possible the needs of the community and in order to obviate the necessity of transporting such products from distant points. It is important to do all that is possible to relieve the strain upon transportation facilities. The planting of home gardens, especially for family needs and for preserving foods for future use, again should be emphasized. The commercial production of perishables generally should be increased above normal wherever it is reasonably clear that transportation and marketing facilities will be favorable. Last year the production of perishables is estimated to have been 50 per cent greater than normal. Notwithstanding the large output, the market-

KEEP UP BIG POTATO CROP ADVISE U. S. SPECIALISTS

The normal acreage of Irish and sweet potatoes should be maintained in 1918 notwithstanding the large crops in 1917, the department of agriculture believes. This is especially true in view of the necessity of releasing more wheat for export. Potatoes, both Irish and sweet, are the most popular and most generally used of the perishable staple crops. The department, through its extension and publication activities, is encouraging their greater use, especially the use of the Irish potato, as a partial substitute for wheat in bread-making. The yield per acre can be made more certain by greater attention to the selection of disease-free potatoes of good varieties, by treatment of seed potatoes immediately before planting, and by the use of sprays to prevent loss from blight.

ing difficulties were relatively less than in former years because of the effective efforts of the people throughout the country, assisted by federal and state agencies, to conserve these products for future use by canning, preserving, pickling and drying. The department again will actively assist in the conservation of perishables, as it did last summer, and will be able to render more effective assistance

NEW BULLETINS ON GARDENING.

Three new publications of the department of agriculture are intended to help the war gardeners. They are: "The Farm Garden in the North," Farmers' Bulletin 937; "Home Gardening in the South," Farmers' Bulletin 934; and "The City and Suburban Vegetable Garden," Farmers' Bulletin 936. Other publications of the department, each describing the culture of an important garden crop, are of special interest to truck growers. Write the department of agriculture for the publication you need.

with its largely increased staff. It will co-operate with all state agencies, especially the state agricultural colleges, to bring about the planting of more war gardens, to see that they are maintained throughout the season, and to insure the prompt consumption or preservation for future use of all perishables produced in these gardens or otherwise. More effective assistance also will be rendered in the marketing of perishable products through the greatly extended daily market news service of the bureau of markets and the weekly reports of truck crop production prepared by the bureau of crop estimates.

FARMERS BOUND TO WIN.

The record of farmers last year, made in the face of obstacles, is ground for confidence on their part that with equal application and organization they can overcome the difficulties this year, according to Secretary Houston. Unquestionably there will be difficulties to surmount—difficulties in respect to labor and in respect to fertilizers, both as to price and quantity. Prices of farm machinery, also, with other things, have risen. In some respects the farm-labor situation may not be quite so difficult as last year, although it will continue to be especially acute in certain sections of the country. The cantonments have been built and there will not be a renewal of urgent demands in many sections for labor for such work. The draft regulations provide for the deferred classification of skilled farm labor. The population of the country has increased somewhat within the past year. The secretary of war has asked congress for power to furlough soldiers of the National army for agricultural service if necessary.

ASKS $5,000,000 TO BUY SEED.

The secretary of agriculture has asked congress for an appropriation of $5,000,000 to enable the department of agriculture to buy and sell seed to farmers at cost at a reasonable price. It is the purpose of the department; if the sum suggested is made available, to take immediate steps to secure, test, and store at least a portion of the supply of these seeds that will be needed for this season. The seed will be sold to farmers only for cash at a reasonable price and it is provided that the fund may be used as a revolving fund until the secretary of agriculture determines that the emergency contemplated by the appropriation no longer exists. Under the circumstances it is believed that it will be possible to return to the treasury the entire amount appropriated or at least the greater portion of it.

INCREASE IN WESTERN CANADA ACREAGE

Will Prove a Big Factor in Winning the War.

Reports to hand indicate that Western Canada has a vastly increased acreage ready for crop this year over last year. The splendid open fall of 1917, gave a better opportunity for fall plowing than for some years. Work in the fields was almost continuous until the end of November. In fact, in the neighborhood of Pincher Creek, Alberta, there was sufficient mild weather in January of this year to permit farmers to plow, and many took advantage of it. A great many Americans owning land in Canada moved up last year, and this has also helped to increase the acreage. They came into possession of the land at prices varying from $15.00 to $30.00 an acre, and with the proven yields of wheat running from twenty and as high as fifty bushels per acre, with a set price of $2.21 a bushel, they could join production and patriotism together with a big margin of profit. The Post-Intelligencer of Seattle, Wash., gives a very conservative statement of the agricultural development and opportunities in Western Canada. In its issue of December 14, 1917, it says:—

"Since the beginning of the year American emigration into Canada has been greatly stimulated according to the reports of the Dominion authorities, and has been almost entirely made up of farmers attracted by the fertile and comparatively cheap wheat lands. 'Whatever may be said of wheat culture as a profitable avocation in ordinary years, since the beginning of the war it has offered advantages quite beyond the usual opportunities. War has boomed the price of wheat until the farmer now receives around $2 for his product at his granary. Average crops, according to the adaptation of soil and climate are from 12 to 25 bushels to the acre. Even the minimum crop, at $2 per bushel, brings in these war times a reasonable profit. Before the war wheat culture was fast being abandoned by farmers who worked intelligently for results on the right side of the ledger. It has been the popular crop for new countries, but when the pioneers settled down to business it was generally corn, hogs, cattle and diversified farming that brought the profits. Iowa and the Dakotas in turn, as their prairies became settled, mortgaged the land on wheat culture and afterwards paid off the mortgages with corn and hogs. 'War is thus bringing a temporary encouragement to wheat farming. Many of the ranchers of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta laid away $20,000 to $30,000 in the banks last fall. It may be pointed out, however, that the growing of wheat is not the only inducement which is leading settlement to Canadian lands. Low taxation, favorable agricultural climate, and profitable prices not only for grain but for hogs, cattle and all forms of farm produce all contribute their share toward the rapid settlement of the fertile lands of Western Canada.'—Advertisement.

Anxious Bantam.

The bantams were taking over a line of trenches from one of the guards' battalions during a very long spell of wet weather. As the guards were coming out one of the bantams asked a big guardsman: "How are the trenches—comfortable?"

"Yes," replied the six-footer. "Very cushy, but full of water."

"How deep?" inquired the four-footer, anxiously.

"Oh, about up to here!" said the guardsman, pointing to some clay on the breast of his tunic.

The bantam put his hand up to his head and exclaimed, wearily: "Then, heaven help my cap badge!"—London Tit-Bits.

Up in the World.

"I overheard Mr. and Mrs. Grabco in having a warm argument as to whether or not they should dress for dinner. Mr. Grabco contended that it would be all right not to put on evening clothes, as no guests were expected. Mr. Grabco said the effect on the servants would be demoralizing." "Well, well! They are coming on. I can remember the time when Mr. Grabco shed his coat, collar and shoes before sitting down to the evening meal and nothing was said about it."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Retired Farmers.

There are said to be in this country 700,000 retired farmers who are not now engaged in gainful occupations.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE SPRING FEELING.

"Many of the animals in the zoo were talking," said Daddy, "shrinking at each other from their yards. It was the first warm day since the cold winter had come, and though winter was not over yet, still the animals almost felt as though spring had really come. 'It feels like spring, doesn't it?' asked the white polar bear as she waved her head.

"Mr. Polar Bear was asleep, half-scratching his face with paws as he slept. Suddenly he got up, did a little dance and then took a bath. 'I asked you a question,' said Mrs. Polar Bear.

"I was sleeping my dear. What was the question?"

"I said that it felt like spring, and I asked you if you didn't think so, too."

"I think so, indeed," said Mr. Polar Bear. "My bath-water is quite mild. I envy now our cousins up north going in the icy water. How they all do love it. Even the cubs when they are only ten days old are allowed to have an icy bath."

"To be sure they are," said Mrs. Polar Bear. "The mothers always see to that."

"Feels like spring," hissed the snakes to each other.

"How about your new suit, Mrs. Snake?" asked her neighbor.

"I'm getting rid of my old one in a very short time. I can't see very well now. How is your eyesight?"

"Wretched," said Mrs. Snake.

"What about a smart spring suit for you, Mr. Snake?" asked Mr. Garter Snake.

"I'm being fitted for it now," said Mr. Snake, who always puts on many airs.

"As a matter of fact he was getting his new suit just as the others were, and for that matter they were all getting suits to fit them—or rather new skins, which were growing under the old ones.

"Soon it would be time to pull off the old ones with their noses, and then the scales would fall off their eyes. Snakes are almost blind when they are getting their new suits. To be sure they shed their skins at other times, but they think more of their spring suits than any others.

"They like to call them spring suits, though to be really correct they should say their spring skins.

"Almost time for clipping," called one pony to the other, and the other neighed and said: "Almost."

"I'm just about ready to come off in spots," said the zebra. "I feel as though I would shed my coat in a very short time."

"Just the way I feel," said the other zebra. For all the animals shed a good deal in the spring. The snakes, of course, are the ones who get completely new skins, but all the rest like to do quite a bit of shedding.

"The ponies are always clipped and the goats and sheep are sheared. They all felt it was just about time for it.

"But the keeper knew that colder days were coming and that it was not quite time yet.

"Pretty soon he would begin the spring treatment. He would mix oil in their meals to soften their skins, and he would make them feel all fine and new for the warm spring and summer days.

"The animals kept on talking all through the day, gossiping about how fine their new suits would be, how spic and span they would look, how new and fresh and rich.

"For even though they don't go to tailors, dressmakers or to the shops, they too get new coats—or almost new—every spring.

"And as for the snakes—they care more about their new skins than any other creatures, for they don't mind not seeing for awhile in order to be decked out anew every so often.

"So they talked and talked and planned and planned, and when the next few days followed which were very cold they all said:

"No matter, we shall look forward to new clothes, for it won't be long now before we have them."

ON GUARD

At this time of the year people feel weak, tired, listless, their blood is thin, they have lived indoors and perhaps expended all their mental and bodily energy and they want to know how to renew their energy and stamina, overcome headaches and backaches, have clear eyes, a smooth, ruddy skin, and feel the exhilaration of real good health tingling thru their body. Good, pure, rich, red blood is the best insurance against all kinds of ailments. Almost all diseases come from impure and impoverished blood. It is to be noticed in the pale or pimply face, the tired, haggard appearance or the listless manner. Drink hot water a half hour before meals, and for a vegetable tonic there's nothing better than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the old-fashioned herbal remedy, which has had such a fine reputation for fifty years. It contains no alcohol or narcotics. It is made from Golden Seal root, Blood-root, Oregon grape root, Queen's root, Black Cherry bark, extracted with glycerine and made into tablets and liquid. Tablets sixty cents, at most drug stores. In order to insure pure blood and to build up the system try this tonic known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Get it now!
