Thousands Will See Glorious Possibilities in Settlement of Available Farm Land In This Country and in Canada.

The war is over, peace will soon be signed, the fighting nations have sheathed their swords, and the day of reconstruction has come. What of it?

Hundreds of thousands of men. taken from the fields of husbandry. from the ranks of labor, from the four walls of the counting house, and the confines of the workshop, taken from them to do their part, their large part. in the prevention of the spollation of the world, and in the meantime removed from the gear of common everyday life, will be returning, only to find in many cases old positions filled, the machinery with which they were formerly attached dislocated.

If they do it is because their ability to assist in laying new foundations, in building up much-required structures, is underestimated. Men who fought as they fought, who risked and faced dangers as they did, are not of the caliber likely to flinch when it comes to the restoration of what the enemy partially destroyed, when it comes to the reconstruction of the world, the ideals of which they had in view when they took part in the great struggle whose divine purpose was to bring about this reconstruction.

Inured to toll, thoughtless of fatigue. frained in initiative and hardened by their outdoor existence, they will return better and stronger men, boys will have matured and young men will have developed.

They will decide for themselves lines of action and thought, and what their foture should and will be. On the field of battle they developed alertness and wisdom, and they will return with both shedding from every pore.

Action was their watchword, and it will stand them in good stend now that the dip of the battle no longer rings in their ears, or the zero hour signals them to the fray, and it will continue during their entire existence.

Capadian statesmen are today buelly engaged planaing for the future of the returned soldier with a view to making him independent of state help after the unimentate mecessary assistance has form granted, the main idea being to show in the fallout degree the country's appreciation of the services be has rendered.

But now that the war is enjed, and the fact apparent that of all avolutions the most profitable and independout is that of the farmer, there will be a strong desire to secure farm lands for cultivation. Canada offers the opportunity to those seeking, not as speculation but as production. The deepcal interest is taken by Federal and Provincial authorities to further the welfare of the farmer and secure a maximum return for his efforts. Large sums of money are spent in educational and experimental work. Engaged on experimental and demonstration forms, and in the agricultural colleges, are men of the highest technical knowledge and practical experience, some being professors of international reputation. The results of experiments and tests are free and available to all. Educational opportunities for farmers are the concern of the government and appreciation is shown by the number of farmers who attend the free courses.

Agriculture in Canada has reached a high standard, notwithstanding which lands are low in price.

Thus upon the United States and Canada for many years will rest the great burden of feeding the world. With free interchange of travel, difficulties of crossing and recrossing removed, Canada may look for a speedy prevailed previous to the war. During the war period there was a dread of something, no one seemed to know what. If the American went to Canada he might be conscripted, put in prison, or in his attempt to cross the border be would meet with innumerable difficulties, most of which, of course, was untrue. These untruths were circulated for a purpose by an element, which, it was discovered, had an interest in fomenting and creating trouble and distrust between two peoples whose language and aims in life should be anything but of an unfriendly character. The draft law of the United States, adopted for the carrying out of the high purposes had in view by the United States, kept many from going to Canada during the period of the war. Peace Comes to World After More Than Four Years of Bloody Fighting.

END OF WAR COMES QUICKLY

President Wilson Joins Allied Statesmen in Congress That Will Remake the Map of the World.

Great events crowded fast upon each other during the year 1918. In the early days of the year the German hordes threatened to overcome all the armies of the nations that were fighting to save world civilization. Then the tide turned and within a few brief weeks the kaiser's great armies had been crushed and were almost in rout. Finally, with a swiftnose that startled the world, Germany and ber ailies surrendered to the victorious armies of the allies. The great war which for more than four years had drenched the soil of Europe with blood was at an end. The year ended sumed but the turning point was with the world virtually at peace.

The leading statesmen of all the great nations were cassembling at Puris during the closing days of the and which, it is hoped, will prevent for all time another conflict such as that which has just ended. New nations aiready had begun to arise out of the ruins of the central empires. and it was regarded as certain that others would grow out of the peace conference. Despite the chaotic condictions existing in Germany and Austri .. as well as in Russia, where civil wor raged, the world looked forward to hetter times as the new year. dawned.

HOW THE WAR WAS WON

The year opened with the opinion generally provailing that the world war could not be brought to a conclusion in less than eighteen months. It was an open secret that the German high command was planning to make a supreme effort on the western front.

There was little activity on any front during the month, but on January, 80 it was approunced officially that American troops were holding front-line trenches in France, occupying a sector northwest of Tould

The Americans holding this sector received their baptism of fire when they repulsed a vigorous German raid. The Americans lost two killed, four wounded and one missing. On February 6 the etcamer Tuscania, carrying the Aisne, reaching the outskirts of 2,170 American solders, was torpedoed and sunk, with a loss of 159 lives. The Americans 'continued to amuch the Germans in vicious attacks west of the Meuse.

The month of November opened with the German armies facing utter rout, the armies of her allies completely shattered and the end in eight. Turkey surrendered unconditionally to the British and the Austrians begged for an armistice, while their armies were to full flight. The allied war council at Versailles began to prepare the terms to be submitted to the Germans.

The American First army smashed the German lines at Grand Pro and advanced seven inles west of the Meuse as the enemy line cracked.

Bliss, United States military representative on the accompanied by the other peace delegates and a large party of assistants, sailed for France December 4.

President Wilson arrived at Brest December 13 and proceeded to Paris. where he was given an enthusiastic reception.

British, French, American and Belgian armies of occupation advanced in accordance with the armistice, the allied armies reaching the Rhine during the early days of December.

DOMESTIC AFFAIRS

Practically every phase of American life felt the dominating influence of war throughout the year 1918. In the field of national legislation woman's suffrage and nation-wide prohibition were urged as war measures. The woman's suffrage amendmen was defeated in the senate October 1. after having passed the house. A nation-wide prohibition measure, to become effective June 30, 1919, was enacted by congress and approved by the president November 22. On September 6 President Wilson had ordered the manufacture of maft liquor stopped on December 1, as a foodconservation measure.

Government control of the railroads was followed during this year by government control of all telegraph and telephone lines. Congress on July 13 authorized the president to take control of the wires and the government assumed control on July 31. On November 17, the government also took control of all Atlantic cable lines.

The first general election since the United States entered the war was held on November 5. The Republicans won both houses of congress, the senate by a majority of two and the house by a margin of more than forty. During September, October and No- 18. vember the entire country was swept by a serious epidemic of Spanish influenza. Thousands of soldiers in the arthy comps and other thousands of civilians succumbed thereto and to ppeumonia.

The country was surprised on November 22 by the resignation of William G. McAdoo as secretary of the trensury and director general of the railroads. Representative Carter Glass of Virginia was named to succeed Mr. McAdoo as secretary of the treasury December 5.

On November 28 Governor Stephens of California commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence of Thomas J. Mooney, convicted in connection with the death of ten persons from a bomb explosion in San Francisco during a preparedness parade July 22

FOREIGN

The map of Europe was being remade as the year 1918 came to a close. The Czecho-Slovak republic was al ready in existence before the close of the war, having been recognized as an independent beligerent government by the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy, but the coming of peace saw the formal establishment of this new government at Progue. The end of the war also practically assured the rising of a great new Poland, made up of most, if not all, of the territory divided up years ago among Germany. Austria and Russia. Finland threw off the shackles placed upon her by Russia and out of the turmoll of civil war emerged as a free and independent nation. The peoples of other smaller subject states asserted their independence.

Civil war continued to threaten the new republic of China throughout the year. Hau Shih Chang was elected president of the republic on September 8 and during the next few months reports indicated a possibility of an agreement being reached between the northern and southern sections of the country.

Peru and Chile were reported on the brink of war during the closing weeks of the year. The trouble between these countries was an outgrowth of the olirate war of years ago in which Chile won Taoun and Arica,

Dr. Sidonia Pacs, president of Porfugal, was shot and killed at Lisbon. December 15. The assassin was killed by the crowd that witnessed the crime. Two days later Admiral Canto Y. Castro was elected president of Portogal.

"Will you co-operate or will you obstruct?" the president asked. The workmen responded to the president's appeal and the strike wan declared off. At the same time Secretary of Labor Wilson announced the personnel of a national hoard of labor, to be cominto Germany as the Germans retired | posed of representatives of both labor and capital. On February 24 this board opened a conference for the purpose of establishing a basis for the settlement of disputes during the war. Former President William H. Taft, chosen b. the employers, and Frank P. Walsh selected by the labor organizations, alternuted as chairman. This conference, on March 29, reached an agreement providing that all labor disputes arising during the war should be submitted to a board of mediation. This agreement was adhered to by both employers and employees and comparatively few strikes occurred during the remainder of the year.

DISASTERS

Fires, railroad accidents and explosions took a heavy toll of human life on land during the year 1918 while the elements combined with the torpedoes of the German U-boats to send thousands of innocent persons, including women and children; to their death at

Fifty-two children met death in a fire which destroyed a convent at Mon treal, Canada, February 14. February 24 the liner Florizel, bound from St. Johns. N. F., to New York, was wrecked by a blizzard near Cape Race and 92 lives were lost,

Seventy inmates of an insane asylum at Norman, Okla, were killed in a fire which destroyed that institution April'

On May 1 the Savannah liner City of Athens was sunk in a collision with a French cruiser off the Delaware coast and 60 lives were lost. On May 18 nearly a hundred persons were killed by explosions in the Aetna Chemical plant near Pittsburgh, Pa.

Sixty-three persons, including wellknown circus performers, perished when a circus train was wrecked at Gary, Ind., June 22. Fifty persons were killed by the collapse of a building at Sioux City, Ia., Jane 29,

A small factory explosion in England killed 50 persons July 1 and on the following day an explosion in a munitions plant near Syracuse, N. Y., killed 16. Eighty-five merrymakers perished when an excursion boat sank in the Illinois river July 5. A hundred persons were killed in a collision between two trains near Nashville, Tenn.,

July 9. During the months of September and October hundreds of persons lost their lives at sea either by accident or by the torpedoing of passenger boats by German submarines. On September 12 the British steamer Galway Castle was terpelled and 180 persons, including 90 women and children, were lost. The American cargo boat Ticonderoga was torpedaed September 30 and 213 persons were lost. A torpedo boat sank a Japanese liner on October 4 and 200 persons were drowned.

A tornado swept a part of Minnesoto August 21, killing 60 persons at Tyler and Connors.

On October 8 the United States transport Otranto was sunk in collision of the Irish coast and 450 persons jost their lives. Four hundred were lost. when the British mall boat Leinster was torpedoed and sunk October 10.

A series of terrific explosions in a shell-loading plant at Morgan, N. J.J. on October & killed 94 persons and dea stroyed a vast amount of property. A severe earthquake which caused the death of 150 persons was reported in Porto Alico October 11. Great forest fires raged in northeastern Minnesota during October. Many towns were destroyed and about 1,000 lives were lost; On October 25 the steamship Princess. Sophia was wrecked on the Alaskan. coast and 343 were lost.

Ninety-eight persons were killed November I in a wreck on the Brooklyn. Rapid Transit lines. On November 21, about 1,500 persons were reported killed by the explosion of German munition trains en route from Belgium to Germany.

One of the most unusual cases in maritime history was that of the United States navy collier Cyclores which disappeared at sea while boundfrom the West Indies to an American Atlantic port. Announcement was yo made April 14 that the boat, with 203. persons on board, was a month overdue. Not a single trace of the beat or its passengers and crew was everfound, and the fate of the vessel is a complete mystery.

Cattle Buying for Swift & Company

Swift & Company buys more than 9000 head of cattle, on an average, every market day.

Each one of them is "sized up" by experts.

Both the packer's puyer and the commission salesman must judge what amount of meat each animal will yield, and how fine it will be, the grading of the hide, and the quantity and quality of the fat.

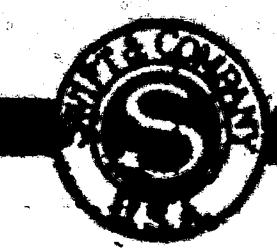

Both must know market conditions for live stock and meat throughout the country. The buyer must know where the different qualities, weights, and kinds of cattle can be best marketed as becf.

If the buyer pays more than the animal is worth, the packer loses money on it. If he offers less, another packer, or a shipper or feeder gets it away from him.

If the seller accepts too little, the livestock raiser gets less than he is entitled to. If he holds out for more than it is worth, he fails to make a sale.

A variation of a few cents in the price per hundred pounds is a matter of vital importance to the packer, because it means the difference between profit and loss.

GUNNER DEPL

ALBERT N. DEPEW

Ex-Gunner and Chief Petty Officer, U.S. Navy Member of the Foreign Legion of France Captain Gun Turret, French Battleship Cassard Winner of the Croix de Guerre

Copyright, 1918, by Reilly and Britton Co., Through Special Arrangement With the George Matthew Adams Service

DEPEW IS WOUNDED IN FIERCE FIGHT WITH GERMANS AND GOES TO HOSPITAL

Synopsis.—Albert N. Depew, author of the story, tells of his service in the United States navy, during which he attained the rank of chief petty officer, first-class gunner. The world war starts soon after he receives his honorable discharge from the navy, and he leaves for France with a determination to enlist. He joins the Foreign Legion and is assigned to the dreadnaught Cassard, where his markmanship wins him high honors. Later he is transferred to the land forces and sent to the Flanders front. He gets his first experience in a front line trench at Dixmude. He goes "over the top" and gets his first German in a bayonet fight. While on runner service, Depew is caught in a Zeppelin raid and has an exciting experience.

The first thing they do in the hospital is to take off your old dirty bandages and alide your stretcher under a big electric magnet. A doctor comes in and places his hand over your wound, and they let down the magnet over his hand and turn on the juice. If the shell fragment or bullet in you Germans had advanced their lines into is more than seven centimeters deep, you cannot feel the pain. They say there were sabered, lots of French society ladies working as nurses, but you never heard much about society, or any talk about Lord, Helpus, or Count Whosis, or pink teas or anything like that from these nurses.

A few shells landed near our hospital, while I was there, but no patient was hit. They knocked a shrine of Our-Lady to splinters, though, and bowled over a big crucifix. The kitchen was near by, and it was just the chef's luck that he had walked over to our ward to see a pal of his, when a shell landed plumb in the center of the kitchen. and all you could see all over the barracks was stew.

That was a regular eatless day for us, until they rigged up bogies and got cornmeal for us. The chef made up for it the next day, though. The chef was a great little guy. He was a "blesse" himself, and I guess his stomach sympathized with ours.

There was a Frenchman in the bed next to me who had the whole side of his face torn off. He told me he had been next to a bomber, who had just Ht a fuse and did not think it was burning fast enough, so he blew on it, It burned fast enough after that, and there he was. There was a Belgian in one of the other wards, whom I got to know pretty well, and he would often come over and visit me. He asked many questions about Dixmude, for he had had relatives there, though he had lost track of them. He often tried to describe the house they had lived in, so that I might tell him whether it was still standing or not, but I could not remember the place he spoke of. During our talks, he told me about many atrocities. Some of the things he told me I had beard before, and some of them I heard of afterward. Here are some things that he either saw or beard of from victims:

He said that when the Germans entered the town of St. Quentin, they started firing into the windows as they passed along. First, after they had occupied the town, they hayoneted every workingman they could find. Then they took about half of the children that they could find, and killed them with their musket butts. After this, they marched the remainder of the children and the women to the square, where they had lined up a row of male citizens against a wall. The women and children were told that if they moved, they would all be shot. Another file of men was brought up, and men against the wall.

The women and children began to have seen this happen to four men, but maybe rotten flesh, removing the old beg for the lives of the men, and many of them were knocked in the head with gun butts before they stopped.

> Then the Germans fired at the double rank of men. After three volleys, there were eighty-four dead and twenty wounded. Most of the wounded they three or four escaped by hiding under though the officers walked up and down firing their revolvers into the plies of bodies.

> The next day the Germans went through the wine cellars, and shot all the inhabitants they found hiding there. A lot of people, who had taken refuge in a factory over night, decided to come out with a white flag. They were allowed to think that the white flag would be respected, but no sooner were they all out than they were selzed and the women publicly violated in the square, after which the men were shot. A paralytic was abot as he sat in his arm-chair, and a boy of fourteen was taken by the legs and pulled apart.

> At one place, a man was tled by the arms to the celling of his room and set afire. His trunk was completely carbonized, but his head and arms were unburned. At the same place, the body of a fifteen-year-old boy was found, plerced by more than twenty. bayonet thrusta. Other dead were found with their hands still in the air, leading up against walls.

At another place the Germane shelled the town for a day, and then entered and sacked it. The women and children were turned loose, without being allowed to take anything me sick o' meself, that's what he done. with them, and forced to leave the deported to Germany, Three, who mur when the Germans began shelling it. The bombardment lasted the whole of August 21 and 22, 1914. They centered their fire on the prison, the hospital, and the railway station. They entered the town at four o'clock in the afternoon of August 23. During the first twenty-four hours, they behaved themselves, but on the 24th they began firing at anyone they pleased, and set fire to different houses on five of the principal squares.

Then they ordered every one to leave his house, and those who did not were shot. The others, about four hundred in all, were drawn up in front of the church, close to the river bank. The Belgian said he could never forget how they all looked.

"I can remember just how it was." he said. "There were eight men, whom I knew very well, standing in a row good friends of mine named Balban and Guillauff, with Balbau's seventeen-year-old son; then two men who had taken refuge in a barn and had been discovered and blinded; then two other men whom I had never seen be-

"The men were lined up on the edge of the hollow, which runs from the high road to the bottom of the village, One of them was leaning on the shoulders of an old priest, and he was crying, I am too young-I can't face death bravely.".

I turned my back to the road and core the time Mr. Peter was established in ered my eyes. I heard the volley and stately bachelor housekeeping no girl the bodies falling. Then some one was any longer expected to milk, and cried. Look, they're all down.' But a few knew how. But when engaging a week longer, and finally got to France. He took it very hard when we talked about Dixmude, and I told him that the old church was just shot to pieces. He asked about a painting called the "Adoration of the Magi," and one of the other prisoners told us it had been saved and transported to Germany. If, that is true, and they do not destroy it meanwhile, we will get it back, don't WOTTY!

My wound was just a clean gunshot wound and not very serious, so, although it was not completely healed, they let me go after three weeks. But before I went, I saw something that no man of us will over forget. Some ably: of them took vows just like the men of the legion I have told about.

While in the hospital Depew witnesses a scene that convinces him that it is not only the kalser and his system; but the German soldlers themselves, that are responsible for much of the frightfulness that has marked the war. Read about this econe in the next installment.

A Rusi Compliment.

Billy Sunday has had many compliments, but the one he prizes most dearly came to him, oddly enough, from a criminal's lips, '

It was in Philadelphia. Sunday had visited Moyamensinog prison. There he had talked with a housebreaker so convincingly that the man had promised to lead, on his discharge, a Christian life.

This housebreaker, discussing Sunday with a guardian afterward, said: ."He come in here, hunday did, and he fairly turned me inside out-made Ok. he's a winner. I think he's one of Gustav Noske, member of the Ebert cabinet, in charge of military affairs, is said to have ordered the Fifth German division to meet the Poles. Events in Posen are assuming grave character, according to advices from Berlin. Large parts of the province are in the hands of the Poles and Pollsh troops have crossed the frontier at Skalmieryce, a town southeast of Posen and sixty-two miles northeast of Breslau. German troops there must, it is stated, retreat in the face of a superior force of the Poles.

London.—Polish troops have cotered Frankfort on the Oder, fifty miles east of Berlin, says a Berne dispatch to the Express, which adds that the Poles have occupied Beuthen, in Prussian Silesia, and Bromberg, in the province of Posen, sixty-nine miles northeast of the Posen city.

It is reported that the Polish government has ordered the mobilization of all Poles.

marching toward Berlin has as its objective "a tearing raid into Germany," according to the Polish agency at Lausanne. The infantry is well armed and is supported by artillery and cavalry.
