HERO OF SECOND BATTLE OF "MARNE" IS NOW AT HOME

Lieut. Henry Lutz who has Seen Hell on Battlefield of France Shakes Hands with Home Folks and Friends.

Last Sunday, Lieut. Henry Lutz arrived from New York after having been released from the hospital at that place on the recommendation of the Medical Corps that he was in a fit condition to stand the trip across the country to meet his relatives and friends.

He returned without announcement, for this is his usual custom of action, however, as he is very much opposed to the "Fuss and Feathers," or "Here Comes the King" practice, so without even a word of announcement, he took his family and friends completely by surprise. Like-wise does he avoid making mention of his previous experiences, except it be in answer to the many questions that naturally would be put to an officer who has undergone the suffering and privation that only those who have had the experience can relate, and it was with the utmost difficulty that the Outlook man received from him a few of the many incidents connected with what developed during his career overseas.

Lieut. Lutz embarked with the 6th Cavalry, Troop D, but shortly after arriving was assigned to the 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National Guards, with which he remained until the war ended, and out of 50 officers in the regiment 10 were selected to go to the front, Lieut. Lutz being one of the 10 chosen as an act of honor. At Cierges, France, north of Chateau Thierry, the second battle of the Marne was fought, and it was in this engagement that he was wounded. This battle lasted three days and at no time was there any trench fighting, but all of the contest was in the open. This will furnish food for reflection on the part of us who have remained at home as to how we would have felt and acted, should we have been placed in his position.

His first wounds were in the legs and though severe as they were he continued to advance with his command until his right hand was shattered by a bursting shell. The loss of so much blood and the suffering attending it, so weakened his condition that he fell, and with great difficulty crawled to a "shell hole" near by, where he lay for five hours before the stretcher bearers found him in an unconscious condition. He was removed to the hospital where he remained for three months, most of which time, he was in a helpless con-

In Memoriam

Concerning the late Napoleon Taylor, much remains to be said, as he was possessed of remarkable talent notwithstanding the fact that he was for the greater part of his life deprived of the blessing of perfect eyesight. He was born in the town of White Oaks, at which place he lived with the family until about two years ago, when they moved to Carrizozo.

Not being able to progress as he should in the graded schools which was entirely due to his inability to see properly, his father our present County Commissioner, Mr. Robert Taylor, placed him in an institute for the blind at Alamogordo, but it was not long before he was advised by the faculty that the close confinement and the studies attending it was too much of a strain on his weakened eyes, and recommended that he be out of doors as much as possible, with the hope that the air and sunshine would ultimately strengthen his sight.

This plan being adopted, Napoleon spent much of his time in the open air, which was helpful to him, as it removed the monotony of tiresome routine of the school room, and gave him the liberty he so much deserved, while at the same time giving his eyes needed rest. He was although not a member of the church, a regular attendant at the Sabbath services. His vocal ability as well as his ability to memorize the different religious selections was remarkable, for where he lacked in not being able to discern the lines, he was supplied with the blessing of a perfect memory, joining heartily in all the singing and in the services in general.

The members of the Taylor family afflicted during the recent visitation of the influenza, and of which Napoleon was the victim, have all recovered sufficient to be about their daily duties.

Everybody Dance!

There will be a dance at Lutz Hall Saturday night. Music will be furnished by the Ft. Stanton Jazz Band. Come and have a good time.

For The Week End

District Attorney H. B. Hamilton and wife are in El Paso for the week end.

dition, having to be turned in his bed.

After being pronounced in a fit condition to travel he bid foreign shores goodbye, and on landing, was ordered to Camp Merritt, N. J., where he remained for twenty days after which he received orders directing him to proceed to Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and the Medical Corps at that place being satisfied of his fit condition to return home, he did so and is here on a leave of absence, as the Lieut. is commissioned officer in the service and will remain in said service awaiting advancement which he so justly deserves, and which will shortly come.

WHITE OAKS

We are pleased to again see our old reliable mail carrier of last winter on the mail hack. It looks like business.

The coal mine has a new Supt., a Mr. Roberson. Mr. Lopez having been assigned to another position at the mine.

We are glad to see that Mr. Albert Snow is again on the job of reading meters for the Light Co. The Navy could not improve him, as a square cannot be made more square than it really is.

Miss Alvena McDonald has been on the sick list for the past few days, but is improving nicely at the present writing.

Lloyd Harmon is again at his school work, following a short illness.

Miss Keller, our local teacher, has arrived and the Lacey School opened last Tuesday with a good attendance.

U. S. Marshall A. H. Hudspeth was a visitor in our town last week.

White Oaks enjoyed a nice little snow last Sunday.

Ellis Leslie was a sufferer from tonsillitis the early part of this week.

Mrs. Allen Lane has returned from El Paso, where she has been undergoing medical treatment.

We have had but one family afflicted with the "flu" lately, but we are glad to say not dangerously.

Mrs. D. L. Jackson has returned from El Paso, where she has been shopping and visiting.

The exodus from White Oaks seems to be at a standstill just now; we have plenty of room to grow in and any one wishing to locate here, will please bear this in mind.

Dual Passing at Shaefer Home

Last Tuesday marked the passing of two members of the W. C. Shaefer family in the east side of town. Mrs. Shaefer, who had been ill but a few days with influenza, suffered a contraction of pneumonia, and at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning died.

The eldest son, Edward, was ill at the same time, and following his mother's death he was taken the same night at 1 o'clock. The funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Shaefer were held at the Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon, and on the following day Wednesday, like services were held at the cemetery over the remains of the son.

Rev. Lewelling conducted services at both funerals, and many sympathizing friends attended. Mrs. Shaefer was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Robinson, who are among our oldest residents, and reside at the present time on the Bonito. A husband and four children survive Mrs. Shaefer all of whom have the sympathy of the entire community.

Gone to Mining School

Robert Thompson left last week to attend the Colorado Mining school for the coming term.

Mrs. Sam Howell Dies

Mrs. Sam Howell, whose condition for the past week has caused alarm to the family, died at 6:45 p. m. on Wednesday. As we have said, fears were entertained for the past week that she could not survive the attack of influenza, but the treatment of the attending Physician had the ailment under fair control and no doubt she would have recovered but for a sudden development into pneumonia proved too much for the weakened condition and she passed away. The funeral services were held at the Methodist Church with the Rev. Lewelling conducting the services.

The Howell family have resided in Carrizozo for several years. Mr. Sam Howell is janitor of the Carrizozo school, and he with five children survive the deceased.

The Howell's have the sympathy of Carrizozo and vicinity.

"Hello Bill"

Will Cole, or "Bill," as he is known among his many friends, arrived last Wednesday, feeling fine and like the balance of the boys, having the best of word for his Uncle Sammy.

As an evidence of the oft-repeated saying, that a dog never forgets a kind master, Bill's dog, "Happy" seemed to outdo himself in showing his joy at the return of his best friend. It is no uncommon sight now-a-days to see circles of admiring friends gathered around our boys, listening to reviews of experiences and exchanging greetings with the boys the Government has returned to us. After a short time, "Bill" will undoubtedly be re-installed in his old position with the E. P. & S. W.

Stars in Crystal Realm

Friday night, the spectacular, thrilling melodrama, "The Whip," see it in eight parts. Admission 35 cents, children 25c, including war tax.

Saturday night, "Huck and Tom" The scenes of which were staged at the boyhood home of Mark Twain. Following this remarkable production, "The Athletic Girls" will be shown and as this is the essence of Spice comedies, the front seats should be well filled with the male sex in the advanced ages.

Sunday Matinee, "Cecilia of The Pink Roses" featuring the beautiful Marion Davies in this wonderful Melodrama. A treat awaits you at every performance.

Ladies of the Baptist Church

The ladies of the Baptist Church will give a Valentine Tea Party and Musical Social at the office rooms of Mrs. Scott, and there will be "something doing" all the time during the afternoon and evening.

Let us forget the date; this event is arranged for Feb. 14th, and should attract a good attendance, as aside from the serving of tea, coffee, chocolate and sandwiches which will be served in abundance, a musical program will be rendered which no one in the town should miss. Paste the date in your hats and bonnets and when the time comes, don't fail to attend—make yourselves at home.

HARK! FROM THE TOMB VOICES LONG SILENT HEARD AGAIN

Old Officials of New Mexico
Iron & Steel Co., Arrive;
Make Report; And a New Organization Effected.

The long silence connected with the movements of the old New Mexico Iron & Steel Corporation, has been so well known to the community here, that a review of it is hardly necessary. It has been generally known that the conditions growing out of the war and other conditions over which our stock holders in Carrizozo had no control, caused an inactivity on the part of the officials which terminated Jan. 23rd, when Messrs. Roberson, Stallings and Gillenwater arrived here and called a meeting of the stockholders, to whom they made a report which on being accepted, was followed by electing a new set of officials composed chiefly of business men.

Under the new order of things, the company has enlisted the services of Mr. C. W. Stoltz, of Denver, Colo., who will devote his entire time to selling stock for the company, and nothing will be paid out of the stockholders' money except the actual percentage paid to Mr. Stoltz for services. The transactions of the company will be entirely in the hands of our local business men, which will attract a large amount of confidence to men of money ready to invest in a good and sound proposition. The Tecolote mines are without a question very valuable, and this fact coupled with a sound organization of our leading men of Carrizozo, is all that is needed to bring to reality not only a paying proposition for stockholders, but will make our town grow and flourish.

Carrizozo can now take courage and boost the enterprise for it is now under a management that counts for the very best, and the papers will keep the public informed as the new company makes progress. The new directors are: Lin Branum, Henry Lutz, Ira Wetmore, J. A. Haley, F. A. Gurney, Carrizozo; C. H. Jenkins, Austin, Tex.; Fent Stallings and C. A. Roberson, Mexico, N. M.

DEPEW FINDS HIS PAL, MURRAY, HAS BEEN MADE A VICTIM OF HUN FRIGHTFULNESS.

Synopsis.—Albert N. Depew, author of the story, tells of his service in the United States navy, during which he attained the rank of chief petty officer, first-class gunner. The world war starts soon after he receives his honorable discharge from the navy, and he leaves for France with a determination to enlist. He joins the Foreign Legion and is assigned to the dreadnaught Cassard, where his marksmanship wins him high honors. Later he is transferred to the land forces and sent to the Flanders front. He gets his first experience in a front line trench at Dixmude. He goes "over the top" and gets his first German in a bayonet fight. While on runner service, Depew is caught in a Zeppelin raid and has an exciting experience. In a fierce fight with the Germans he is wounded and sent to a hospital. After recovering he is ordered back to sea duty and sails on the Cassard for the Dardanelles. There he sees the wonderful work of the British and French in the Gallipoli campaign.

CHAPTER XI—Continued.

During our eighth trick off Cape Helles I was amidstships in the galley when I heard our two 14-pounders go off almost at the same time. Everybody ran for his station. Going up the main deck to my turret a man told me it was a sub on the port bow, but I only caught a glimpse of the little whirlpool where her periscope submerged. I do not know why she did not let loose a torpedo at us. The officers said she was trying to make the entrance to the Dardanelles and came up blind among our ships and was scared off by our guns, but I thought we had just escaped by the skin of our teeth. Later on our destroyers claimed to have sighted her off Gaba Tepe.

At noon we were at mess when one of the boys yelled, "She's hit," and we all rushed on deck. There was the British ship, Triumph, torpedoed and drifting away over to starboard. She was ready to turn over in a few minutes. One battleship is not supposed to go to the assistance of another one that has been torpedoed, because the chances are the sub is still in the neighborhood laying for the second ship with another torpedo. But one of the British trawlers went to the assistance of the Triumph to pick up the crew.

We could see the crew jumping into the water. Then we breasted out toward the horizon, full speed ahead. All about the Triumph was a cloud of black smoke, but when we looked through the glass we could see she was going down. Then our guns began to bombard the Turkish positions and I had to get busy. When I saw the Triumph again she was bottom up. She must have floated upside down for almost half an hour, then she went down as though there was somebody on the bottom pulling her.

When she went our Old Man banged his telephone on the bridge rail and swore at the Huns and Turks and broke his telescope lens to bits. About fifty from the Triumph were lost.

It was decided that the place was too hot for us with that sub running loose, and when they reported that afternoon that she was making her way south from Gaba Tepe to Cape Helles all of the fleet but the Majestic got under way, and the Majestic was the only ship left off the cape.

They said the Majestic was then the oldest of the ships in that campaign, but she was the pride of the British fleet just the same. She was torpedoed off Cape Helles later on, when there were a number of men-of-war off the cape. The sea was crowded with men swimming and drowning. I saw a lifeboat crowded with men and other men in the water hanging onto her, and there were so many hanging on that they started to pull her under. Of their own accord the men in the water let go to save those in the boat. Most of them were drowned.

The Majestic listed so that the men could not stand on deck, and the sides were covered with men hanging on to ropes and not knowing whether to jump into the sea or not. We lowered all our lifeboats and steam launches, and so did the other ships. We picked up a number of the crew and were pretty close to the Majestic when she went down like a rock. As she went down she turned over and a party ran along her side to the run at her bow and got on it without even being wet. A boat picked him up off the run, which stuck out of the water after the ship had ceased to settle.

She had torpedo hits on her sides, and many of the crew were unable to get clear of the side and went down with her. Quite a lot were caught below decks and had no possible chance to escape. There was a big explosion as she went under—probably the boilers bursting. Thousands of troops on shore and thousands of sailors on the ships saw the final plunge, and it was a sight to remember. When the ship started to go, the Old Man rushed back to his cabin, got the signal book and destroyed it. Also, he saved the lives of two of his men.

We gave dry clothes and brandy and coffee to the Limesys we rescued, and though they had just come through something pretty tough, they were calm and cool and started talking right away about what ship they would probably be assigned to next.

CHAPTER XII.

A Pal Crucified.

When we got to "V" Beach on my next trip the weather was really fine, but it did not please us much, for as soon as we got in range the enemy batteries opened up on us and the shell fire was heavier than any we had been in before, though not more effective. We drew in on a bright morning, about half past five or six, with our convoy, the troopship Champagne, ahead of us and going slowly, sounding all the way.

At this part of the shore there is a dock about a mile and a half long, running back into the country and terminating in a road. The Champagne was making for this dock, sounding as she went. Suddenly, when she was within 500 yards of the shore, I saw her swing around and steer in a crazy fashion. We began asking each other what was the matter with her, but we learned afterwards that her rudder had been torn off, though we never found out how, nor do I think anyone ever knew.

Then she went aground, with her stern toward the shore and listed over to port. You could see different articles rolling out and down the side. Then her back broke. The quarter-deck was crowded with men half dressed, with life belts on, jumping over the side or climbing down. There was an explosion and a cloud of black smoke broke over us, and for a while I thought I was blinded.

All the time the shells were raining in on us and on the Champagne. When I could see again I saw the men on the Champagne climbing down the starboard or shore side. One chap was going down hand over hand along a stanchion, when another fellow above him let go and slid right down on him. The first man fell about thirty feet, landing in the water with his neck doubled under him. Our lifeboats and launches were out picking up survivors.

Those who got safely over the side started to swim ashore, but when they had gone only a little way they found they could wade in. When the water was only up to their waists they came upon barbed wire entanglements and set a man got ashore that way but was scratched and clawed and mangled horribly. Some of them that I saw afterwards were just shredded along the sides of their bodies like cocoon. A great many of them, though, were killed by shrapnel while they were in the water.

On board the Cassard our guns had been busy all the time, and it was not long before we put one enemy battery out of commission. We had suffered a lot, too, but not enough to worry us. There were about 2,000 men on the Champagne, I think, and at least a third were killed or drowned, and the casualties must have been almost two-thirds. The ship was just a mass of wreckage.

They called for a landing party from the Cassard, and officers asked for volunteers for trench duty. I was not very keen about going, because I had been in trenches at Dixmude, and I knew how pleasant they were—but I volunteered, and so did Murray. We went ashore in our boats under a heavy fire. There were 12 men killed in the lifeboat in which I was. I escaped without a scratch.

We were mustered up on shore and volunteers were called for, for sentry duty. Murray volunteered. If he had only gone on with the rest of us he might have come through. After a short wait we were given the order to advance. The firing became heavier about this time, so we went at the double. We had not got very far before we had a fine little surprise party handed us.

The front line was running over what appeared to be good, solid ground, when they broke through and fell into trenches 30 to 40 feet deep. These trenches had been dug, covered over with 14-inch boards and then with dirt, and were regular man-traps. Sharp stakes were sticking out of the parapet and parapets, and at the bottom were more stakes and rocks and barbed wire.

We were advancing with bayonets fixed and arms at the carry, so when the first line fell, and some of the second, the boys of the third line came tripping up, and in the scramble that followed many of the chaps in the first few lines were bayoneted by their comrades. I was in the third line, but I was lucky enough to pull up in time and did not fall in. You could not look down into that trench after you had seen it once, it was too sickening. Our casualties were sent back to the ship. One boat was sunk by a shell and all the men lost.

We remained where we were, scratching out shallow trenches for ourselves, adding what natural cover there was and otherwise getting ready for the night, which was near. It began to rain and we could hardly keep any fires going, because we had to shelter them from the shore side, so the enemy could not spot us, and the wind was from the sea. It was certainly miserable that night.

Every once in a while we would stand by to repel an attack, whether it was a real one or not, and we were

2. Where the MAJESTIC was wrecked.
3. Where the CASSARD engaged the enemy.

under fire all the time. It seemed as if morning would never come. The sand was full of bones—great big boys—and they were as bad as any corpses I had ever had at Dixmude.

The morning came at last, and I was detailed with a fatigue party to the beach where we had landed stores. When we got down to the docks I missed Murray and asked where he was. They said he had been missing from his post not more than an hour from the time we left.

I left my fatigue party, without orders, and joined in the hunt for Murray. There were men searching all along the docks and on the shore to each side. Finally I saw a bunch of men collect around a storehouse at the farther end of the docks on the shore side. I ran up to them.

There was poor old Murray. They were just taking him down. He had been wrecked against the wall of the storehouse. There was a bayonet through each arm, one through each foot and one through his stomach. One of the parties noticed when he had to pull one of the bayonets out. They had hacked off his right hand at the wrist and taken his identification disc. I lay flat to the German shells more than the Turks.

I do not know just what I did after this. But it changed me all around and I was not like my usual self during the rest of the time. It was still raining when we started on our way to the front line. Along the road were numbers of troops scolding and among them Indian troops on sentry duty. They looked like a bunch of frozen turnips, cool and uncomfortable. We were close enough to make the roar of the cannonading seem intolerably loud and could see the burning shells, particularly those from the British ships.

Then we came across some Turkish prisoners who were sheltering in an old barn. I guess it was, and we stopped for shelter and rest. They told us that their troops were very tired from long fighting, but that they had plenty of men. They said a couple of shells had dropped about a hundred yards from the barn just before we came, so we knew the batteries were trying to get our range and we did not stay any longer, but went away from there and on our road.

About 500 yards farther on we came to ruins, and when we went inside we found 50 or 60 of our boys cooking and sleeping and not giving a thought to the shells or shrapnel. The mules outside were banging away at the hay, as though there never had been a war in the world. There was no shell made that could budge them away from that hay unless it hit them.

Then along came a cart making a lot of racket. One of the fellows in it had half of his face shot away and was all bandaged up, but he was trying to sing and laugh just the same as the rest were doing. They were Anzacs, and were pretty badly shot up.

The word "Anzac" as you probably know, is made from the initials of the Australian and New Zealand army corps. They had a regular town, called Anzac, on the peninsula. At Suva Bay and around Gaba Tepe the Anzacs got further into the Turkish lines than any other unit in the allied armies. They were wonderful fighters.

By this time the Turks were making an attack, and all you could see to the front was one long line of smoke and spouting earth. Then our guns started and the noise was deafening. It was worse than in the turrets aboard ship during an engagement. My head rang for days after we left the Dardanelles.

The Turks were getting a better idea of our range now and the shells were falling pretty close to us, but finally we tore in with the 14-inch navals and ripped up three of their batteries. In the lull that followed we made good time and reached our front line positions at Sedd-el-Bahr during the afternoon.

The next morning we made our first attack. I had a bad night of it, thinking about Murray, and when the time came there never was a chap more glad to charge and get a chance at the enemy with the bayonet than I was.

We attacked according to a program. Time cards were issued to the officer of each section, so that we would work exactly with the barrage. To be ahead of, or behind the time card, would mean walking into our own barrage. The time of attack is called zero—that is, the minute when you leave the trench. Some of the Anzacs said it meant when your feet got the coldest, but I do not think they suffered very much with trouble in the feet—not when they were advancing, anyway.

The time card might read something like this: First wave, zero, advance, rapid walk, barrage 25 in 10 seconds, take first trench, 0:20; second wave, same as the first, pass first trench, 0:25; take second trench, 0:35. The third wave is ordered to take the third trench, and so on, for as many lines as the enemy is entrenched. The other waves might be instructed to occupy Hill 7, 12:05, or dig in behind rock, 12:45. Here, now, is understood, the first figure standing for minutes and the others for seconds. It might take several hours to carry out the program, but everything is laid out to an exact schedule.

I was in the sixth line of the third wave of attack and zero was 4:30 a. m. Whistles were to be the signal for zero and we were to walk to the first line Turkish trench. As we came out our barrage fire would be bursting 50 yards ahead of us and would hit 25 yards every 10 seconds. Our stunt was to take advantage of it without walking into it.

Depew goes over the top in an attack on the Turkish trenches and has come off safe before he gets back to his own lines. Don't miss reading about it in the next installment.

TROTZKY IS CAPTURED

SHELLING AMERICANS

CLAIM MADE THAT RED ARMY IS ROUTED IN NORTH RUSSIA.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Basle, Switzerland, Jan. 24.—Leon Trotzky, the Bolshevik minister of war and marine, did not escape from Narva after the defeat of the Bolsheviks by the Estonians, but was taken prisoner, according to dispatches received here from Libau. Advices from the same source state that, owing to the intervention of Finnish troops in Northern Estonia and Livonia, the country has been completely cleared of Bolshevik forces.

Archangel, Jan. 24.—The Bolsheviks are continuing their shelling of the American positions at Ust Padenega, thirty miles south of Shenkursk, and the American artillery is replying to the enemy fire. Peasants say that the Bolsheviks suffered 500 casualties in the infantry attack on January 19, leaving many wounded, who froze to death in the forest. The American casualties in the fight were less than fifty all told.

Copenhagen.—The Bolshevik forces are evacuating Petrograd and removing all stores, according to a dispatch to the Berlinke Tidende from Helsingfors. The dispatch adds that Leon Trotzky, the Bolshevik minister of war, is transferring his headquarters to Nizni-Novgorod and that the anti-Bolshevik movement is growing daily.

Large Red Cross Sale

Denver.—The auction of the Red Cross herd of 1,030 heifers in the stockyards attracted great attention. On the platform with Colonel Gross were George Oxley, secretary of the Rocky Mountain division of the Red Cross; several women in Red Cross costume, and two members of the women's motor corps. The sale brought $43,843 for the cause of mercy for which the Red Cross stands sponsor. At the auction of the Red Cross herd of heifers, John A. Cook of Sterling, Colo., paid $110 a head for a carload of feeder heifers. The heifers were donated by the stockmen of Colorado and Wyoming. El Paso county led the contribution with 121 animals, while Logan county donated fewer but choicer steers, thereby making the Red Cross richer by $2,100. There were, in addition to the herd, fifteen single heifers, which were sold for record prices. Michief B., donated by C. L. Martin of Lovets, was sold to Carl Miller of Bellview, Kan., for $550.

Exports Dropping

Washington.—America's exports during the year 1918 amounted to $6,150,000,000 or $33,900,000 below the total for the preceding year and more than double the value of imports. The imports' total was $3,031,000,000 compared with $2,952,000,000 in 1917. During December, the first full month after the signing of the armistice, exports reached a total of $566,000,000, an increase over the $522,000,000 recorded for November, although not up to the high mark of $600,000,000 for December, 1917. Imports for December were low, being $211,000,000, against $251,000,000 for November.

Tacoma, Wash.—Floods and slides had practically isolated Tacoma by railroad after twenty-four hours of the heaviest rain in the history of the city. In twenty-four hours 3.08 inches of rain fell. High water and jamming logs at Tacoma's water supply have threatened the city with a water famine. All rail service between Portland and Tacoma was cut off by twelve slides. Passengers on an interurban train were reported stalled by one of the slides. Rescuing parties sent by automobile to bring in the marooned passengers were themselves turned back upon discovering that the Pacific highway and other roads were barred under slides and water.

PROPHETS WHO "MADE GOOD"

Not All Who Foretold Events of the Great War Lost Their Reputation by the Act.

The late war and its end were subjects of much prophecy, and incidentally wrecked the reputation of many prophets. Glancing back over the last troubled year, we find, however, some forecasts that were too striking to be appreciated by the world intent upon the intense business of warfare.

In Detroit, Mich., March 15, eight days before the big German drive began, Sir John Eraser of London, said a drive on the western front would be disastrous to the side that took the offensive. It was June 20 Julius R. Wood, Detroit News correspondent with the American forces, called that German prisoners were being encouraged by the statement of officers that the war would end July 15, and that this date had made such an impression on many units that, in case the war did not then end, they would refuse to fight any longer. July 13 Generalissimo Foch launched his historical counter-offensive that won the war for the allies.

Successful Session

Santa Fe, N. M., Jan. 29.—At the close of the first week's session of the legislature has made it clear that every department of the state administration under republican auspices is to work harmoniously. The first striking proof came when the contest for Speaker was amicably settled by the selection of A. A. Sedillo of Bernalillo county, one of the leading lawyers of the state, by acclamation, his chief opponent, former Speaker W. H. Lewellyn seconding Mr. Sedillo's choice. In the work he has presided over the house, Mr. Sedillo has impressed the members with his fairness and capability.

The house during the week ratified the national prohibition resolution, which was drawn by R. L. Baca of Santa Fe, republican, and started on its passage by Judge Barnes, the republican floor leader. Every republican voted for it. The one vote which was cast against it was by Frank Vesely of Silver City, who is the Democrat floor leader of the house and spokesman for all other democrats of the house by their own choice.

Interest centers chiefly the coming week in the list of committees to be given out by Speaker Sedillo and in the preliminary steps toward carrying out the educational, road building and social service programme of legislation recommended by Governor Larraxolo in his inaugural address. There was no attack on the message even by the democrats. Bills are to be introduced as soon as possible to provide for the draining of the Rio Grande Valley, the employment of returning soldiers, higher salaries for teachers, the establishment of a bureau of immigration to bring homesteaders to the state, the relief of cattlemen in the drouth stricken districts and the enlargement of the work of building good roads all over New Mexico.

Many of the party leaders are here conferring with the house and senate and the progressive platform of the governor will go through with the unanimous support of the party.

Breaks up a Cold. Good for Bronchial Inflammations.

Mr. Robert McDougall, R. No. 6, Liberty, Indiana, writes: "I wish to state that I always keep Peruna in the house. I think it is a good medicine to have on hand. If I commence taking a cold, I take Peruna and it breaks it up for me. It is also good for the Bronchial Tubes." Peruna has served the American people for more than forty years. Very unsatisfactory was the product of a young lawyer's first brief. When the verdict had been given in his favor his client asked his eloquent advocate how much he owed him.

"Oh, say $25," was the answer.
"Twenty-five dollars," exclaimed the ingrate, "that's very high. Won't you let me off with five?"

"No; $25 or nothing," was the counsel's ultimatum.

"Well, then," said his client, "I would rather pay nothing," and, with a deep bow he left the lawyer to his reflections.

A public library is to be provided for the citizens of Taos.

Building prospects in Columbus are good in view of the confidence which moneyed men have in town.

New Year's night, January 1, 1919, was the coldest in the history of Raton as far back as the records have been kept.

A proposition was laid before the city council of Mountainair the past week proposing to install a water and electric lighting system for the town.

The village board of trustees of Columbus has granted a franchise to the water and light company and rejected the proposition of W. H. Miller to take them over.

Coal mining has been New Mexico's most important war industry. In this activity the state has made a creditable record without more than touching her vast deposits.

Nestor Montoya, president, and D. A. MacPherson, secretary, of the New Mexico Press Association, have called a meeting of the newspaper men of the state to be held at Santa Fe this week.

Three reclamation projects, affecting approximately 800,000 acres of land in New Mexico, are being planned by the state and federal governments for rapid development during the coming year.

An innovation was introduced into the public schools when the domestic science class began the serving of hot lunches to pupils living at a distance in the country districts contiguous to the Carlsbad High School.

The extension of the railroad from Bayard station to Fort Bayard, a distance of four miles, has been authorized. Fort Bayard is the largest hospital conducted by the United States government for the benefit of tuberculosis patients.

Colonel G. Arthur Hasdel has become the commander of Camp Furlong at Columbus, being senior in rank to Colonel George Biegler, who is in command of the Twelfth Cavalry, and who has also been post commander since his arrival.

New Mexico is to get the sum of $810,514.31 from the federal government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, according to announcement received from Washington. This is the sum Uncle Sam is putting up for road work in this state under the act of July 11, 1918.

According to plans of the War Department, the Mexican army in 1920 will contain 100,000 men. Recruiting has been stopped. Only native Mexicans will be admitted into the military service. Soldiers of immature years are being discharged and other reforms calculated to increase the efficiency of the troops are being adopted.

Word comes from Washington that New Mexico has been created a separate internal revenue district and that the internal revenue office will be established at Santa Fe, from where it was removed to Phoenix, Ariz., at the beginning of the Wilson administration. Adolph P. Hill, until a few days ago Assistant Secretary of State, has been appointed collector of internal revenue of New Mexico.

The Food Administration grain corporation announced in New York that in the near future it will formulate a policy of disposing of a portion of its reserve stocks of wheat to the mills, in order that the prices being asked for flour and mill feeds may not be increased unduly because of the excessive premiums being paid by the mills for wheat in certain portions of the United States, especially in the Southwest and Middle states.

The annual meeting of the Mimbres Valley Farmers' Association was held at Deming and a new board of directors was elected for the first time in two years. It was impossible to secure a quorum at the meetings last year, and the old board held over for another year. That this was not in the least detrimental to the association was shown by the balance sheet that was read by the secretary, Fred Moffett, which showed that the net profits for the year amounted to $5,122.43. The profits from January till April, when a trial balance was made by Clyde Crotchett, the secretary who resigned then, were $1,665.89, and from the end of April till the end of December they were $4,256.54, or a profit of 34.8 per cent since April. The shares of the association are now worth $18.46 per share. Figures supplied by Mr. Moffett showed that the gross volume of business for the year was $159,196.15. This includes the sales of oil, stock feed, groceries and sundries. At the close of 1917, after declaring a stock dividend of two shares for one, the association carried over undivided profits of $189.16.

SEE CANADA LANDS

Inspection of Choice Farm Acres Will Be Profitable.

Cost Only a Trifle Compared to Possible Benefit to Be Derived.—"Ye Happy Fields, Unknown to Noise and Strife, The Kind Rewarders of Industrial Life"—John Gay.

There are thousands today looking for farms to buy, and with the hundreds of thousands of acres offered for sale, there is no lack of opportunities. But there are all classes of lands, good, bad, and indifferent, much of each. The government of the Dominion of Canada has no land for sale, but within the boundaries of the Dominion there are unlimited acres of choice land owned by railway and land companies and private individuals. It holds no brief for any, nor are any of them clients. But it is to the interest of the Dominion to have the hundreds of thousands of acres placed under cultivation, for every acre thus cultivated adds to the revenue which helps pay the government of the country. It is with the purpose of setting forth the agricultural advantages that Canada, especially Western Canada, possesses, that attention is drawn to the fact. The purpose is to place before the reader truthful statements, and advise the prospective settler as to the necessity to investigate and inspect, leaving to his own deduction the matter of his selection. Once he decides, the government will render him any further information necessary as to location, prices and value of land, and assist him in every way possible to become settled.

The cost of a trip to Western Canada, to any portion of the three provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—specially indicated in this work, is but a trifle compared with the benefits that a personal inspection may give. Therefore the advice is to do so. Low rates on railways will be arranged and every opportunity afforded for giving the country a thorough and careful examination. It may be that you wish an improved farm, all ready for occupation and cultivation; you may want raw prairie, which only requires plowing and the other preparation necessary for a seed bed, leaving it to yourself to erect your buildings, sink your well, prepare your garden, and ascertain how close you are to school, church, town and market. You may wish to go into mixed farming, combining the raising of stock with the growing of grain. In this case you will look out for some shelter from sun, wind and storm, and want a farm a portion of which may be cultivated for grain, and pasture fields connected with it. You may make this out of the open level prairie, but you will do better to secure a partially wooded lot, where water and pasture are already at hand. You may wish to go into the raising of cattle, or sheep alone; then you will care less for the open prairie, but select something that may cost you less in the more northerly districts. No matter what you may want, unless it be land upon which to grow cotton, bananas or other tropical or semi-tropical products, your inspection trip will reveal to you that Western Canada possesses possibilities beyond which any literature you may read advises you.—Advertisement.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"For many months I was not able to do my work owing to a weakness which caused backache and headaches. # Swift & Company's 1918 Earnings

How They Affected You

During the twelve months ended Nov. 2, 1918 (its fiscal year), Swift & Company transacted the largest volume of business on the smallest margin of profit in its history.

Profits of the meat business—under regulations of the United States Food Administration—were limited to a maximum of 9 per cent on capital employed but not to exceed 2½ cents per dollar of sales.

Swift & Company in the regulated departments earned 7.57 per cent on capital employed and 2.04 cents per dollar of sales, out of which had to be paid interest on borrowed money and taxes. Here is how these earnings affect you.

Live-Stock Raiser—

Swift & Company killed 14,948,000 head of livestock, which weighed alive, 4,971,500,000 pounds.

Swift & Company made a profit of only a fraction of a cent per pound liveweight.

Consumer—

The sales of our meat departments were 4,012,579,000 pounds on which our earnings were less than ¼ cent per pound.

The per capita consumption of meat in the United States is given as 170 pounds. If a consumer purchased only Swift & Company's products he would contribute only about 78 cents a year, or 1¼ cents a week as profit to the company.

Grazing Permit Plans
In order to make plans for the granting of five year grazing permits on the National Forests of New Mexico and Arizona, Assistant District Foresters Chapman and Kerr have returned to Albuquerque after consulting all the Forest Supervisors of the two States. The meetings were held at Phoenix, Williams and Holbrook, Arizona; Santa Fe and Socorro, New Mexico; and El Paso, Texas.

The authority for granting five year permits on the National Forests is based upon a recent amendment made in the grazing regulations by the Secretary of Agriculture. It is planned to issue this class of permits on all the New Mexico and Arizona Forests. The only exception to this rule being parts of Forests where the range is overgrazed, or where it is necessary to make reductions in the number of stock now occupying the range as a means of stopping damage to reproduction.

In working out the five year permit plan, the plan was also adopted for granting annual permits on parts of Forests on which it was not deemed advisable to issue five year permits and which permittees are not in a position to qualify for such permits. It is to be left optional with stockmen who can qualify for five year permits as to whether they desire a five year permit or wish to continue grazing under annual permit.

As a means of increasing meat production during the period of the war, the Forest Service allowed considerable increases in the number of stock on some of the Forests in New Mexico and Arizona, which, according to grazing specialists, has resulted in overstocking of some of the ranges. It is planned as rapidly as possible to return the Forest ranges to the excellent condition they were in prior to the recent drought and at the time the war began. It may be necessary to make some reductions in the stock in order to do this, according to Forest Service officials, and the amount of reductions that must be made will depend largely upon the manner in which the stockmen handle the ranges.

Resolved

That peace will find us backing Uncle Sam as strongly as we backed him in war.

That between now and April we will lay every possible stone of the groundwork for the Fifth Liberty Loan and leave no act undone which will tend to keep alive and, if possible quicken the consciousness of the nation that Saving and Thrift are Peace essentials as well as War essentials.

That we will exert our every effort to stop trafficking in bonds of the first four loans and will keep our War Savings Stamps.

That we will carry out our War Savings Pledge if that is unfulfilled, and make and keep new Savings Pledges this year.

That we will work tooth and nail from now till the last day of the April drive to oversubscribe that Fifth Liberty Loan.

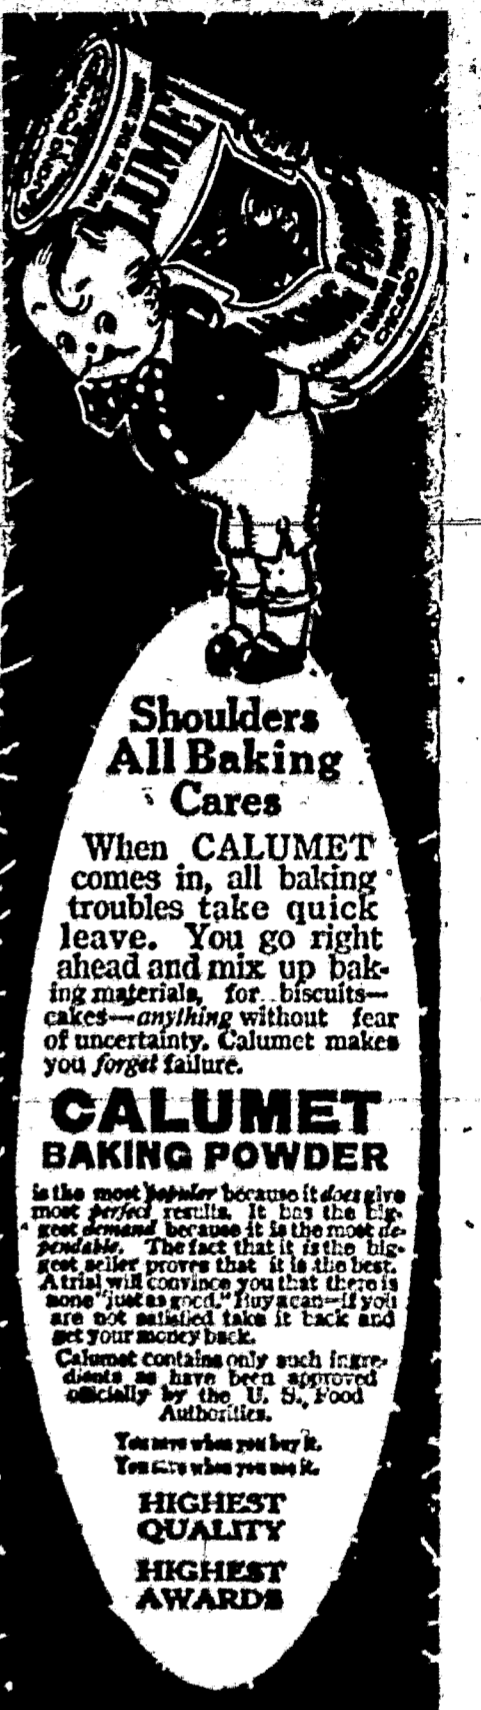

That we will finish our job.

PAY YOUR PLEDGE; GET THE THRIFT HABIT

All pledges made to invest in United States Government War Savings Stamps during 1918 have been automatically extended to 1919 by the Government, which has made official announcement that persons who, for any reason, did not complete their pledges by December 31, 1918, may and are expected to liquidate these pledges by investing in War Savings Stamps of the new 1919 issue.

The 1919 United States Government War Savings Stamps are blue in color and a trifle smaller than the War Savings Stamps issued by the Government last year. They bear a likeness of Benjamin Franklin, the American apostle of thrift and economy. The 1919 War Savings Stamps, which yield their owners four per cent interest, compounded quarterly, may be obtained from any postoffice, bank, or other authorized agent. The price of each 1919 War Savings Stamp is $4.12 during January. The cost price increases regularly one cent each month, so that in February the cost is $4.13, in March $4.14 and so on.

COLD WATER PARTY FIFTY YEARS OLD

Was Organized for National Political Action in 1869.

FIRST POLLED 5,607 VOTES

John P. St. John's Stirling Campaign of 1884—Great Work of Miss Willard and the W. C. T. U. in Suppressing Intemperance.

Final triumph for its cause came to the national Prohibition party almost at the time of its golden jubilee. It came into existence fifty years ago next September in Farwell hall, Chicago, by the act of a convention of about 500 delegates representing 10 states.

For several years the formation of such a party had been discussed because the leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties had virtually ignored the advocates of prohibition. The Good Templars, organized in 1851 as a society of total abstainers, urged such action, and other leaders believed it necessary. At a state temperance convention held in Pennsylvania in 1867 the plan was first publicly broached, and two years later on May 29, 1869, the call for the Chicago convention was put out by the grand lodge of the Good Templars in session at Oswego, N. Y. A committee to formulate the plans was named, comprising John Russell, Detroit; J. A. Spencer, Cleveland, O.; James Black, Lancaster, Pa.; John N. Stearns, New York, and Daniel Wilkins, Bloomington, Ill. The convention called by this committee organized the party on September 1, adopted a platform and appointed a national committee of which John Russell was chairman.

First National Ticket.

Nearly three years later, on Washington's birthday, 1872, the new party met in convention in Columbus, O., to place a national ticket in the field. James Black was nominated for president and John Russell for vice president. Mr. Black was a prominent Good Templar and also was one of the founders of the National Temperance Society and Publication house and of the Camp Meeting association at Ocean Grove, N. J. Mr. Russell, also a leader of the Good Templars and a Methodist minister, was known as the father of the Prohibition party, for he published a newspaper, the Peninsular Herald, which led the way in advocating the organization of the party for political action.

With all their devotion to the cause, the Prohibition leaders had no hope of success in the election of 1872, and they were not disappointed. Their ticket received only 5,607 votes. This did not discourage them, and four years later they put Green Clay Smith of Kentucky and Gideon T. Stewart on the ticket. These gentlemen received 9,737 votes. General Neal Dow of Maine, who had gained fame as the author of the Maine Prohibition law, was the next presidential candidate, in 1880, with H. A. Thompson in second place on the ticket. They polled only 10,536 votes.

St. John's Hot Campaign.

When the plans were being laid for the campaign of 1884, Frances E. Willard and her fellow workers of the W. C. T. U. entered the field. They sent to the Republican convention a great petition asking that consideration be given the pleas of the temperance advocates, but it was ignored and even thrown into the dirt on the floor, and Miss Willard promptly turned to the Prohibition party. Her help was welcomed and John P. St. John, of Kansas was put at the head of the cold water ticket. Already he was a notable figure, for he had fought in the Civil war as lieutenant colonel of the 143d regiment of Illinois volunteers and later served two terms as governor of Kansas. He was a Republican, but his party thought him too warm a friend of the prohibitionists and he was defeated for re-election in 1882. Accepting the Prohibition nomination, he went into the campaign with all his vigor and delivered stirring speeches all over the country, especially paying attention to New York state, where the fight between James G. Blaine and Grover Cleveland had made things very warm. St. John was out to beat the Republicans, and he succeeded, for the Prohibition vote was large enough to let Cleveland win New York state and, in consequence, the nation. The prohibitionists polled the surprisingly large vote of 150,626. That the Republicans credited them with giving victory to the Democrats was proved by the fact that in more than a hundred cities St. John was burned in effigy.

The Prohibition convention of 1896 split the party over woman suffrage and money. The "free silver" minority formed a Liberal party, with Bentley of Nebraska and Southgate of Illinois as its standard-bearers. They polled about 13,000 votes.

The feature of the Prohibition campaign of 1900 was a tour of the country by the candidates and a corps of speakers by special train. In 1912 the Prohibition convention renominated the candidates of 1908.

Results in Later Years.

The candidates since 1884 and their vote are as follows:

1888, Clinton B. Fisk, New Jersey, and J. A. Brooks, Missouri, 249,045 votes.

1892, John Bidwell, California, and J. B. Cranfill, Texas, 270,710 votes.

1896, Joshua Levering, Maryland, and Hale Johnson, Illinois, 130,753 votes.

1900, John G. Woolley, Illinois, and H. B. Metcalf, Rhode Island, 200,469 votes.

1904, S. C. Swallow, Pennsylvania, and George B. Carroll, Texas, 253,205 votes.

1908, Eugene W. Chaffin, Illinois, and Aaron S. Watkins, Ohio, 253,231 votes.

1912, Eugene W. Chaffin, Arizona, and Aaron S. Watkins, Ohio, 208,923 votes.

1916, J. Frank Hanley, Indiana, and Dr. Ira Landrith, Tennessee, 214,340 votes.

Women Prominent in the Fight.

For many years the women have been prominent in the prohibition movement, for the evils of intemperance bore heavily on their sex. To them must be given a very large share in the credit for the success of the fight. They started it publicly on a large scale in 1873 in Ohio with a crusade to pray the saloons out of existence.

This movement, inaugurated by a little band of women who held prayer meetings in saloons when permitted and on the pavements outside when not allowed to enter, spread like wildfire throughout the nation and was denominated by the press a "whirlwind from the Lord." Many saloons were swept out of existence, but it soon became evident that prayer must be accompanied by action if they would prevent the return or the re-opening of the saloons once closed.

The call for organization was issued from Chautauque, N. Y., in August, 1874. The convention was held in Cleveland, O., November 1920, 1874, and at that meeting there was organized the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Delegates were present from 17 states.

The plan of work was presented by Frances E. Willard and most of the thoughts embodied in the plan were later worked out in the W. C. T. U. At this convention Miss Willard offered also the famous resolution: "Resolved, That recognizing the fact that our cause is, and will be, combated by mighty, determined and relentless forces, we will, trusting in Him who is the Prince of Peace, meet argument with argument, misjudgment with patience, denunciation with kindness, and all our difficulties and dangers with prayer."

Pursued Many Roads to Its Goal.

From its very earliest years the W. C. T. U. sought out a variety of avenues through which the children of the nation might be educated in the principles of total abstinence and the adult won for the absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic. Out of the juvenile work grew the Loyal Temperance Legion for the children, and the Young Peoples' branch for the young men and women. Later the children were enrolled as "Young Campaigners for Prohibition."

Over forty departments were organized, and carried on to some degree in every state and territory, and in from ten to twenty thousand local unions. Among these were: Temperance work in Sunday schools, which, with scientific temperance instruction in public schools, brought practically all the children in the nation in touch with temperance truth; medical temperance; mothers' meetings; flower mission and relief; equal suffrage; moral education and race betterment; oratorical and declamatory medal contests; Christian citizenship, and child welfare.

For World Prohibition.

The World's Woman's Christian Temperance union was founded in 1883 by Miss Willard. It is organized in 40 nations, with a total membership of over half a million.

In 1884 Miss Willard sent out from her home office in Evanston, Ill., addressed to each government of the world, an appeal for total abstinence, purity of life, and against the manufacture and sale of opium, with this call for world prohibition: "We come to you with the united voices of representative women of every land, beseeching you to raise the standard of the law to that of Christian morals, to strip away the safeguards and sanctions of the state from the drink traffic, and to protect our homes by the total prohibition of this curse of civilization throughout all the territory over which your government extends."

This "polyglot" petition, as it has been termed, is historically significant, for it was the first world-wide proclamation against the legalized liquor traffic.

MANY GAIN FAME IN SALOON FIGHT

Activities of Various Kinds Win Wide Attention.

FRANCES E. WILLARD LEADER

Known All Over World as Head of W. C. T. U.—Picturesque Career of Carrie Nation Is Recalled.

The final adoption of nation-wide prohibition calls to memory a number of men and women who have achieved not only national but world-wide fame through their connection with the prohibition, or, as it once was known, the temperance movement.

Neal Dow was born in Portland, Me., of Quaker parentage. He was twice mayor of Portland and a member of the state legislature. He entered the Civil war as colonel of the Thirtieth Maine volunteers. He was wounded and was a prisoner in Libby prison and was made a brigadier general for gallant service. Yet the country knows Neal Dow simply as "Father of the Maine Law" and as a temperance reformer. Maine passed the law of which he was the author in 1851 and was the first state to establish prohibition. General Dow traveled widely in foreign countries working for temperance, and on his nineteenth birthday memorial meetings were held in many parts of the world. He died in 1897.

John B. Gough, who was the first temperance advocate to attract more than local fame, was a native of England, where he was born in 1817, but he came to the United States when he was twelve years old. He learned the bookbinding trade, but early became addicted to liquor and could not hold a position. He made such a living as he could by singing in saloons. Later he made a new start and married, but when he lost his wife and child he again took to drink and sank to new depths.

The turning-point in his life came when he was induced by a Massachusetts Quaker to sign a total abstinence pledge. He became a temperance lecturer, and after making many tours in the United States he visited England, where he conducted two campaigns. His fame spread throughout the English-speaking nations and his books have been translated into many other languages.

Frances Willard's Fame World-Wide.

Frances E. Willard's fame is world-wide. She was born in Churchville, N. Y., in 1839.

In 1874 the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union was formed at Cleveland, O., and Frances Willard found her life work. She served for five years as corresponding secretary and then became president. In 1883 she founded the World's W. C. T. U., which grew to have branches in 60 countries, and in 1888 she became its president. She wrote many temperance pamphlets and was the author of four books. In the minds of women—and of most men—the world over Frances Willard and W. C. T. U. are synonymous.

Carrie Nation broke into the limelight in the fall of 1900 and made her name a household word in newspaper offices and most American homes. She was Mrs. David Nation of Medicine Lodge, Kan., and a member in good and regular standing of the W. C. T. U. It is said that her first husband died of delirium tremens. Anyway, Carrie Nation had another and more apparent incentive to use her hatchet on saloon furniture. And woe that hatchet she did; its fame temporarily eclipsed that of the Father of His Country.

Carrie Nation's Little Hatchet.

Kansas was legally a prohibition state. As a matter of fact prohibition was but a name and the saloons of the state were wide open. The general plan was to fine a saloon $25 a month for breaking the law; that solved the license difficulty. In short, prohibition in Kansas had broken down completely in the ten years it had been nominally in force and the state authorities had not the courage either to modify the law or enforce it. Carrie Nation took the situation into her own hands.

Carrie Nation first visited Kiowa and broke up two saloons with her little hatchet. Then she went to Wichita and broke up two more. She was put in jail, kept there for several days and then released. She broke up another saloon and was not even arrested. She went to Topeka and made an appeal to Governor Stanley. He told her he did not approve of her methods. She also addressed both houses of the state legislature. She visited Chicago and other cities, between times continuing the work of smashing saloon fixtures.

What Doctor Pierce Has Done for Humanity

BY DOCTOR PIERCE.

It has always seemed to me that Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., should be placed near the top when a list of America's great benefactors is written. He studied and conquered human diseases to a degree that few realize. Whenever he found a remedy that overcame disease, he at once announced it in the newspapers and told where it could be bought at a small price. He did not follow the usual custom of keeping the ingredients secret, so that the rich only could afford to buy the medicine, but openly printed the name of each root and herb he used. And so today the names of Dr. Pierce and his medicines are widely known, and they stand for better health and better citizenship.

One of the great physician's most successful remedies is known as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These are little, sugar-coated pills, composed of Mayapple, leaves of aloë, root of jalap—things that Nature grows in the ground. These Pellets are safe because they move the bowels gently, leaving no bad after-effects, as so many pills do. Very often they make a person who takes them feel like a new man or woman, for they cleanse the intestines of hard, decayed and poisonous matter that accumulates when one is inactive. If you are constipated, by all means go to your druggist and get some of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They may prove to be the very thing your system requires to make you well and happy.

Gen. Lindsay and Lady

Brigadier General James R. Lindsay, who is an uncle of Miss Ivy Lindsay of the Carrizozo School, passed through here last Wednesday, accompanied by Mrs. Lindsay. It was the original intention of the Lindsays to stop over for a visit with their relatives in this section, but the General received orders beginning his journey to proceed at once to Washington, there to await orders from the government.

General Lindsay has one son, James R. Lindsay, Jr., at West Point and another, Gregg M. Lindsay at Washington, and it is now the intention of the parents to visit both on their eastern trip. Gen. Lindsay was a member of the 1890 class at West Point, and has served the government in Cuba, the Philippines and on the border.
