GOOD ROADS BILL BECOMES LAW; BENEFITS MANY

Postoffice Bill Gives Many Millions For Roads In New Mexico, Arizona and Texas.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 13.—The postoffice appropriation bill, as it passed the senate this week, carries $200,000,000 additional funds for post roads and $9,000,000 for national forest roads, all available for expenditure up to June 30, 1921; also providing for the transfer by the secretary of war and the secretary of agriculture of such war material, equipment and supplies as are no longer necessary for war purposes but are useful in the improvement of roads, for distribution among the states on the same basis of apportionment of valuation as is now provided in the Federal Road act. Ten per cent, however, may be retained by the secretary for use on national forest roads, and roads built under his supervision.

The bill goes to conference, and those having it in charge are confident the house will agree. Should the bill become law Texas, New Mexico and Arizona will see the light of a new day. The figures for these states are as follows:

Under the present appropriation the share of Arizona now available for post roads, unless expended on recent construction, is $411,081; of New Mexico, $474,847; of Texas, $1,752,770. To this will be added, Arizona, $685,043; New Mexico, $798,785; Texas, $2,928,219, all available until June 30, 1919.

Adding these amounts one can easily see that there are immense sums ready to expend this spring just as soon as work can be started.

Followed The Mother

Only a few short days after the papers announced the passing away of Mrs. Sam. Howell, her daughter, Mrs. James Nooncaster was taken with the same ailment, the influenza, which it is thought resulted in pneumonia and after several days she followed her mother across the great divide.

The funeral services were held at the Baptist Church with the Rev. Lawelling of the Methodist Church performing the last rites. The following named ladies sang several beautiful religious selections: Mesdames Boone, Leman, Forrest and Miss Marion Place. The remains were interred in the local cemetery. The surviving husband and family have the sympathy of the entire community.

No Tag For Him

The following account of the death of Lieut. Berry of Carrizozo, which has appeared in many of the leading dailies of the country, will be of interest to those who have heretofore failed to have the true facts of his case presented to them. We take the Pocatello Tribune's statement as the best authority. It follows:

Annals of the American army in France provide many cases of "deserters" who left rest billets or "quiet sectors" to get to go to the front and into action. A recent citation for the posthumous award of a Distinguished Service Cross brings to light another remarkable breach of discipline.

When a soldier is injured and it is found necessary to send him to the field hospital an evacuation tag is tied on his uniform. This means that he is out of the fight; no more responsibility rests on him and for him the war is over temporarily.

Lieutenant L. Berry of the 5th Machine Gun Battalion was in action near Montblanc, France, the first week in last October. When he learned that his company commander had been killed and that the second in command had been wounded, Lieut. Berry went to the front line and "carried on."

Within a few hours he was seriously wounded in the head and the surgeon seeing that quick action was necessary to save his life ordered him to be taken to the hospital and placed an evacuation tag on his uniform. As soon as the surgeon had gone Lieut. Berry tore off the evacuation tag, destroyed it and returned to his company in the front line. For 24 hours he commanded their defense, then guided them back out of the trenches after relief had come — and died.

Lieutenant Berry of Carrizozo, New Mexico, finished his job. He saw it through. He scorned an evacuation tag.

Lieut. Berry was at one time a resident of Carrizozo and a brother of his still lives here and is in the employ of Mr. J. B. French at his ranch about twenty north of town.

Valentine Tea Party

Everybody invited to attend Valentine Tea Party at the office rooms of Mrs. Scott Friday evening. A musical program will be rendered in connection with the affair.

Notice

There will be a meeting of the Lincoln County Board of Commissioners on Tuesday, Feb. 18, for the purpose of discussing road matters and the transactions of other business that may come before the Board.

Signed,
E. L. Meekton,
Chairman.

WHITE OAKS

Miss Velma Dudley spent Saturday and Saturday night in Carrizozo.

Miss Jesse Pearl Rustin has been quite sick, but she is very much improved at present.

Mrs. Ward and daughters are expecting to leave for Miami, Arizona, where Le Roy Ward is quite sick.

The Juan Davalos family are quite sick with the "flu."

Mrs. D. L. Jackson is in El Paso this week.

The high winds of this week unroofed several houses and barns of White Oaks.

Gregorio Sedillo and Manuel Guevara have been moving this week. Senor Sedillo having bought the place formerly occupied by D. L. Jackson, and Senor Guevara having bought the Sedillo place.

We are glad to note that Mr. Fleming and family of Carrizozo are going to occupy the Julian Taylor residence.

The pit boss at the coal mine, Mr. Andres Lopez, had his eyes badly burned from a red hot piece of iron the other day. It is feared he will lose his sight altogether. It seems that Mr. Lopez was fixing a roller for the tramway when the accident occurred.

Novel Birthday Surprise

As the finger of time points each year to the birthday of every individual, so that day of the year occurred last week for Mrs. R. J. Forrest. Her lady friends having a knowledge of this, assembled in a body, took possession of the Forrest home, taking the lady of the house by complete surprise, carried out a program that was both novel and interesting.

Each lady present had some particular part in the evening's entertainment; some sang solos, others gave readings, while others performed "stunts" of different kinds which were thoughtful and amusing. Were there men present? Never! The affair was conducted in its entirety free and unhampered by the dictations of "mere man" and this is why the affair was so perfectly arranged and terminated so successfully. Refreshments were served, after which at the close of the doings, several of the male sex were allowed to send in their cards which entitled them to escort their wives home.

G. T. McQuillen Buys

Mrs. Ida McCarty has sold her residence to G. T. McQuillen. The McQuillens will take possession as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made. This is the third deal of this kind we are making mention of this week, and now that the war is over, more improved real estate transactions may be looked for in the near future.

Aged Pioneer Succumbs

On Feb. 9th, 1919, occurred the death of Jose Vega, one of the oldest pioneers in this portion of the country, after a long illness in which he endured his sufferings with remarkable courage. He was born in Morelia, Mexico and came to this section when he was one of the few white men in these regions.

At first he with Mr. Lalone, the father of Fred Lalone, put in a vast amount of time prospecting in the mountains. He then located in the town of Nogal, where he engaged in the stock business, in which he remained until the time of his death.

The funeral services were held at the family residence, with the Rev. Father Girma of Lincoln officiating; the remains being interred in the local cemetery. The pall bearers were: Messrs. P. M. Johnson, A. J. Rolland, Harry Humphrey, D. Perea and P. Jauriqui. Deceased is survived by a wife and ten children, all of whom are residents of Carrizozo and vicinity.

Mr. Vega was held in high esteem by the many who knew him. He was honest and square dealing with his fellow man; a good neighbor; reliable and trustworthy. His death adds another link to the passing chain of pioneers that lessens with each year as they are taken on to their reward.

Ladies' Bowling Club

Last Friday the Ladies' Bowling Club met, chose sides, which was followed by a spirited contest for mastery. The agreement was that the losing side should serve refreshments to the winners; this agreement seemed to intensify the interest, each side striving, all the more to be victorious.

The line up was as follows: Winners, Mrs. Shulda, Captain; Mesdames Forrest, Hoffman, Leland, Day and the Misses Becot and Johnson. Losers, Mrs. Jones, Captain; Mesdames Pitts Norman, Becot Loughrey, Whittingham, McLean, Miller and Decker.

In order to fulfill the above agreement, the entire party repaired to the residence of Mrs. R. C. Pitts, where bountiful refreshments were served at the hands of the losing side, who are now cherishing the thought of sweet revenge. The next affair will be looked forward to with interest, as some changes may be recorded in the coming contest. The losers declare that although they may not be the best bowlers, they must be the best of cooks, judging from the manner in which the winners partook of the refreshments.

As You Read, Reflect

As you read the different articles in the paper, don't miss the bargains offered by our business houses. They contain matter of vast importance to the community. Don't overlook them. Read them all.

NEW MEXICO BUDGET GOES TO LEGISLATURE

22 Bills, Including Cattle Growers' Measures, Are Introduced Today.

Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 13.—The budget of New Mexico's appropriations for the next two years was completed today and will be submitted to the legislature. In this connection, both houses were expected to meet in joint session today to hear an address by Gov. O. A. Larrazolo on taxation and revenue. There were 22 bills on the house calendar today, including the cattle growers' association bills.

The following bills were introduced in the house yesterday:

By Mascarenas, of Taos, and Baca, of Santa Fe, providing that the journals and laws of the state must be printed by some New Mexico concern.

By Otero of San Miguel, requiring dealers to give weight tickets with all sales of coal.

By Ortega of Rio Arriba, allowing farmers additional exemptions from taxation.

By Medina of Mora, regulating the milling of grain.

By Barnes appropriating 50 percent of the road tax levies collected in cities, towns and villages to the use of municipalities exclusively.

By Clancy, changing the name of the New Mexico state deaf and dumb asylum.

By Epstein of Chaves, relating to powers of administrators of estates.

By Sedillo of Bernalillo, making a $15,000 permanent annual appropriation for student teachers.

By Baca, regulating employment of convicts.

There were 27 bills on the house calendar for the afternoon.

Gems of the Crystal

Saturday night the distinguished Screen Actress, Lina Cavalieri, will appear in "Love's Conquest." This of course will attract a good attendance, as the picture has been pronounced one of the best and most true to life productions she has starred in. For the Sunday Matinee, Milton Lewis will appear in "Code of The Yukon," and from start to finish, the screen will be full of love and adventure in the wild regions of weird and romantic Alaska. The show starts at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and therefore does not interfere with the church-going hour. Come early and secure a good seat.

Judge Meekton Here

Judge Edwin Meekton came in today to attend to minor court matters, that required his official attention.

CHAPTER XIII—Continued.

Coming back along the same road we halted to let another convey of mules go past, and an officer of the Royal naval division came up and began talking to our officers. He was telling them how he and his men had landed at "X" beach, and how they had to wade ashore through barbed wire. "And, you know," he said in a surprised way, as if he himself could hardly believe it, "the beggars were actually firing on us!" That is just like the Limeys, though. Their idea is not to appear excited about anything at any time, but to act as though they were playing cricket—standing around on a lawn with paddles in their hands, half asleep. The Limeys are certainly cool under fire, though, and I think that because the Anzacs did so well at Gallipoli people have not given enough credit to the British regulars and R. N. D.'s, who were there too, and did their share of the work, and did it as well as any men could.

After a while this officer started on his way again, and as he cut across the road a French officer came up. The Limey wore a monocle, which caused the French officer to stare at him a minute before he saluted. After the Englishman had passed him the Frenchman took a large French penny out of his pocket, screwed it into his eye and turned toward us so that we could see it, but the Limey could not.

That was not the right thing to do, especially before enlisted men, so our officers did not laugh, but the men did, and so loud that Limey turned around and caught sight of the Frenchman. He started back toward him and I thought sure there would be a fight, or that, more likely, the Limey would report him. Our officers should have placed the Frenchman under arrest, at that.

The Frenchman expected trouble, too, for he pulled up very straight and stiff, but he left the penny in his eye. The Limey came up to him, halted a few paces off and, without saying a word, took the monocle out of his eye, twiddled it three or four feet in the air and caught it in his other eye when it came down.

"Do that, you blighter," he said and faced about and was on his way down the road. They had it on the Frenchman after that.

This Philippe Pierre, of whom I have spoken, told me a story about two Limey officers that I hardly believed, yet Philippe swore it was the truth. He had been in America before the war, and he said he had seen one of the officers that the story is about many times in New York.

He said there were two Limey officers going along the road arguing about the German shells which the Turks were using. One of the officers said they were so good because they did not burst. Just about that time a shell came along and they picked themselves up quite a distance from where they had been standing. Another shell whizzed by and landed flat on the side of the road. The officer walked over, dug it out of the ground, and took away the detonator and tried to prove that they did not explode!

The only thing that would make me believe that story is that Philippe Pierre said they were Limey officers. He said but a Limey would remember such an argument after being knocked galley west by a shell explosion. I do not doubt that a Limey would do it if it could be done, though.

CHAPTER XIV.

The Croix de Guerre. When we had been on the shore for about three weeks we found ourselves one morning somewhere near Kedd-el-Nahr under the heaviest fire I ever experienced. Our guns and the Turks were at it full blast, and the noise was worse than deafening.

A section of my company was lying flat in a shell hole near the communication trench with nothing to do but wait for a shell to find them. We were still and thirsty and uncomfortable, and had not slept for two nights. In that time we had been under constant fire and had stood all several loading parties and small attacks from enemy trenches.

We had no sooner got used to the shell hole and were making ourselves as comfortable as possible in it when along came a shell of what must have been the Jack Johnson size, and we were swamped. We had to dig three of the men out, and though one of them was badly wounded we could not send him back to the hospital. In fact the shelling was so heavy that none of us ever expected to come out of it alive.

So, it was like keeping your own death watch, with the shells tuning up for the dirge. It was impossible to listen to the shells. If you kept your mind on the noise for any length of time it would split your eardrums. I am sure. So all we could do was to lay low in the shell hole and wait for something to happen.

Then they began using shrapnel on us, and one of our machine gunners, who got up from his knees to change position, had his head taken clean off his shoulders, and the rest of him landed near my feet and squirmed a little, like a chicken that had just been killed. It was awful to see the body without any head move around that way, and we could hardly make ourselves touch it for some time. Then we rolled it to the other side of the hole.

Then, to one side of us, there was a more violent explosion than any yet. The earth spouted up and fell on us, and big clouds of black smoke, sliding along the ground, covered our shell hole and hung there for some time. One of our sergeants, from the regular French infantry, said it was a shell from a Turkish 155-mm. howitzer. That was only the first one. The worst thing about them was the smoke—people who think Pittsburgh is smoky ought to see about fifty of these big howitzer shells bursting, one after another.

We could not tell what the rest of our line was doing or how we were standing the awful fire, but we felt sure they were not having any worse time than we were. In a few minutes we heard the good old "75s" start pounding, and it was like hearing an old friend's voice over the telephone, and everybody in our shell hole cheered, though no one could hear us and we could barely hear each other. Still we knew that if the "75s" got going in their usual style they would do for an enemy battery or two, and that looked good to us. The "75s" made the noise worse, but it was already about as bad as it could be, and a thousand guns more or less would not have made it any harder to stand.

One of our men shouted in the sergeant's ear that the men in line ahead of us and to the right were trying to give us a message of some kind. The sergeant stuck his head above the parapet and had a look. But I stayed where I was—the sergeant could see for himself and me, too, as far as I was concerned.

He shouted at us that the men in the other trench were trying to signal something, but he could not make it out because the clouds of smoke would roll between them and break up the words. So he laid down again in the bottom of the hole. But after a while he looked over the parapet and saw a man just leaving their trench, evidently with a message for us, and he had not gone five steps before he was blown in pieces, and the lad who followed him got his, too, so they stopped trying then.

And all the time the "75s" were sending theirs to the Turks not far over our heads to 300 yards behind us, and the howitzers were dropping their 340-pound bits of iron in every vacant space and some that were not vacant. It was just one big roar and crack and growl all at once, like turning the whole dog pound loose on a pile of meat.

The communication tent like one long string of beads on the ear, and our throats were so dry that it hurt to swallow, which always makes your own feet better after a strong consolation. One after another of our boys was slipping to the ground and digging his face into his own, and the rest of them set on the parapet fire step with their heads between their knees and their arms wrapped around their heads.

Our sergeant came to me after a while and began acting just like people do at a show, only he shouted instead of whispered in my ear. When people are looking at one show they always want to tell you how good some other show is, and that was the way with the sergeant.

"You should see what they did to us at St. Etienne," he said. "They just baptized us with the big fellows. They did not know when to stop. When you see shelling that is shelling, you will know it, my son."

"Well, if this is not shelling, what the devil is it? Are they trying to kid us or are you, mon vieux?" which is a French expression that means something like "old timer."

"My son, when you see dugouts caved in, roads pushed all over the map, guns wrecked, bodies twisted up in knots and forty men killed by one shell—then you will know you are seeing shelling."

Then one of our men sat up straight against the parapet and stared at me and began to shake all over, but we could not get him to say anything or move. So we knew he had shell shock. And another man watched him for a while, and then he began to shake, too. The sergeant said that if we stayed there much longer we would not be fit to repel an attack, so he ordered us into the two dugouts we had made in the hole, and only himself and another man stayed outside on watch.

The men in the dugout kept asking each other when the bombardment would end, and why we were not reinforced, and what was happening, and whether the Turks would attack us. It was easy to see why we were not reinforced—no body of men could have got to us from the reserve trenches. The communication trenches were quite a distance from us and were battered up at that. Some of the men said we had been forgotten, and that the rest of our troops had either retired or advanced and that we and the men in the trench who had tried to signal us were the only detachments left there.

Pretty soon another man and I relieved the two men who were outside on watch, and as he went down into the dugout the sergeant shouted to us that he thought the Turks were afraid to attack. He also ordered one of us to keep a live eye toward our rear in case any of our troops should try to signal us. When I looked through a little gully at the top of the hole, toward the other trench, all I could see was barbed wire and smoke and two or three corpses. I began to shiver a little, and I was afraid I would get shell shock, too. So I began to think about Murray and how he looked when they took him off the wall. But that did not stop the shivering, so I thought about my grandmother and how she looked the last time I saw her. I was thinking about her, I guess, and not keeping a very good lookout, when a man rolled over the edge and almost fell on me. He was from the other trench. I carried him into the dugout and then went out again and stood my watch until the relief came. We were doing half-hour shifts.

When I got into the dugout again the man was coming to. He was just about as near shell shock as I had been—by this time I was shivering only once in a while, when I did not watch myself. He said four men had been sliced up trying to get to us before he came; that they had lost 11 men out of their 32, including the sergeant-major in command and two corporals; that they were almost out of ammunition; that the trenches on both sides of them had been blown in and that they were likely to go to pieces at any moment. He said they all thought the Turks would attack behind their barrage, for he said the curtain of fire did not extend more than a hundred yards in front of their trench. What they wanted us to do was to relay a man back with the news and either get the word to advance or retire, or await reinforcements, they did not care which—only to be ordered to do something. There was not a commissioned officer left with either of the detachments, you see, and you might say we were up in the air—only we were really as far as the ground as we could get.

The man thought there were other of our lines not far behind us, but we knew better; so then he said he did not see how any one could get back from there to our nearest line. I did not see either. Then we all figured we were forgotten and would not come out of there alive, and you can believe me or not, but I did not much care. Anything would be better than just staying there in that awful hole with nothing to do, and no water.

Our sergeant said he would not get any men to attempt to carry the message, because he said it was not only certain death, but absolutely useless. And he began to show that he was near shell shock himself.

Then I began to shiver again, and I thought to myself that nothing would be better than sitting in this hole waiting to go "under," so I decided to volunteer. I did not think there was any chance to get through, but it seemed as if I just had to do something, so matter what I had never felt that way before, and had never been anxious to "go west" with a shell for company, but I have felt that way since then several times; I can tell you.

The man was telling us that some time before they had seen the Turks bringing up ammunition from some storehouses, but they did not come anywhere near. He said their sergeant wanted our messenger to tell them that, too. He would say a few words very fast, then he would shiver again, and his jaws would clasp together and he would try to raise his hand, but could not.

Then our sergeant asked the name of the other sergeant, and when the man told him he said the man was senior to himself and therefore in command and would have to be obeyed.

He seemed to cheer up a lot after he said this and did not shiver any more, so I thought I would volunteer then, so I said to him, "Well, mon vieux, do you think we are seeing real shelling now?" And then I was going to say I would go, but he looked at me in a funny way for a second and then said, "Well, my son, suppose you go and find out."

I thought he was kidding me at first, but then I saw he meant it. I thought two things about it—one was that anything was better than staying there, and the other was that the old dugout was a pretty fair place after all. But I did not say anything to the sergeant or the other men—just went out of the dugout. The sergeant and another man went with me and boosted me over the back wall of the hole. I lay flat on the ground for a minute to get my bearings, and then started off.

I set my course for where I thought the communication trenches were, to the right, and I just stood up and ran, for I figured that as the shells were falling so thick and it was open ground I would not have any better chance if I crawled.

I tripped several times and went down, and each time thought I was hit, because when I got it in the thigh at Dixmude it felt a good deal as though I had tripped over a rope. And one time when I felt a shell exploded near me and I began to shiver again, and I could not go on for a long time. All this time I did not think I would get through, but finally, when I reached what had been the communication trench I felt I had done the worst part of it, and I began to wish very hard that I would get through—I was not at all crazy about going west.

The mouth of the communication trench had been battered in and the trenches it joined with were all filled up. There were rifles sticking out of them in several places, and I thought probably the men had been buried alive in them. But it was too late then, if they had been caught, so I climbed over the blocked entrance to the communication trench and started back along it. It led up through a sort of gully, and I thought it was a bad place to dig a communication trench in, because it gave the Turks something like the side of a hill to shoot at.

Every once in a while I would have to climb in and out of a shell hole, and parts of them were blocked where a shell had caved in the walls. In one place I saw corpses all torn to pieces, so I knew the Turks had found the range and had got to this trench in great shape. At another place I found lots of blood and equipment but no bodies, and I figured that reinforcements had been caught at this spot and that they had retired, taking their casualties with them.

The Turks still had the range, and they were sending a shell into the trench every once in a while, and I was knocked down again, though the shell was so far away that it knocked me down with force of habit more than anything else. I felt dizzy and shivered a lot, and kept trying to think of Murray or anything else but myself.

So finally I got to the top of the little hill over which the gully ran, and on the other side I felt almost safe. Just down from the crest of the hill was one of our artillery positions, with the good old "75s" giving it to the Turks as fast as they could. I told the artillery officers what had happened, had a drink of water and thought I would take a nap. But when they telephoned the message back to division headquarters the man at the receiver said something to the officer and he told me to stay there and be ready. I thought sure he would send me back to where I came from and I knew I never could make it again, but I did not say anything.

"No Lick, No Candy."

"I'm going to buy some candy with my penny," Noped a little two-year-old girl.

"I'm not," said her brother, who is not quite six years old. "I'm going to save mine and buy another Thrift stamp."

"Well, I want some candy," argued the girl.

"Aw, go ahead and buy your candy," replied her brother, "but I'm going to save mine and buy a Thrift stamp because daddy said that will help kick the lumber, and he says if he ain't kicked there won't be any candy."

DANDRUFF MAKES HAIR FALL OUT

A small bottle of "Danderine" keeps hair thick, strong, beautiful.

Girls! Try this! Doubles beauty of your hair in a few moments.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really now hair—growing all over the scalp. A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and, carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance! an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine for a few cents at any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Adv.

GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER

Has been used for all ailments that are caused by a disordered stomach and inactive liver, such as sick headache, constipation, sour stomach, nervous indigestion, fermentation of food, palpitation of the heart caused by gases in the stomach. August Flower is a gentle laxative, regulate digestion both in stomach and intestines, cleans and sweetens the stomach and alimentary canal, stimulates the liver to secrete the bile and impurities from the blood. Sold in all civilized countries. Give it a trial.—Adv.

His satanic majesty will trust any man who is good at making excuses.

An Attack of Influenza Often Leaves Kidneys in Weakened Condition

Doctors in all parts of the country have been kept busy with the epidemic of influenza which has visited so many homes. The symptoms of this disease are very distressing and leave the system in a run-down condition. Almost every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to dangerous kidney troubles. Druggists report a large sale on Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root which so many people say soon heals and strengthens the kidneys after an attack of grip. Swamp-Root, being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed in most cases by those who try it. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., offer to send a sample size bottle of Swamp-Root, on receipt of ten cents, to every sufferer who requests it. A trial will convince any one who may be in need of it. Regular medium and large size bottles, for sale at all druggists. Be sure to mention this paper.—Adv.

Of His Ranch Interests
 Mr. John Baird this week closed a deal whereby he disposed of his entire ranch interests to Mr.

C. W. Rustin. The deal involves ranch, cattle, ranch implements two automobiles and household furniture. Mr. Rustin, it is understood, will convert a part of the Baird ranch into an up-to-date dairy in the early spring.

Mr. Baird will leave for Menard, Texas, as soon as he can adjust his business matters, and make the proper provisions for the trip for himself and the children. We regret that Mr. Baird has decided to leave this locality, as he was one of our energetic, enterprising stockmen of this section, being at one time Cattle Inspector for the Stockmen's Association and also Captain of the Motor Minute Men. The Rustins take possession the first of next week.

Porto Rico is consuming 50 per cent more coffee today than she did before the island "went dry," according to a San Juan coffee dealer.

The discipline taught the American youth in the American army and the hard knocks he received "over there," are destined to produce a "race of super-business men" in the United States, in the view of Lieut. Col. Charles W. Berry, adjutant general of New York state.

The strike of the textile operatives at Lawrence, Mass., to obtain fifty-four hours' pay for forty-eight hours' work is growing. It is estimated that in the city's twelve mills not more than 5,000 of the 30,000 workers were at their places. The other 25,000 were divided between strikers, persons forced out of work by closing of mills or departments, and those who stayed away to avoid trouble. All the mills except the Everett opened their gates.

RUSH GUNS TO TACOMA

45,000 OUT ON STRIKE IN SEATTLE AND OTHER COAST CITIES.

INDUSTRIES PARALYZED

MAYOR DECLARES HE IS PREPARED TO HANDLE THE TROUBLE.

Western Newspaper Union News Service

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 7.—United States troops from Camp Lewis are quartered in Seattle and Tacoma to stand ready for any emergency resulting from the general strike of 45,000 union men in sympathy with 25,000 shipyard workers, who walked out Jan. 21 to enforce demands for increase of pay. Maj. John L. Hayden commands the contingent of 800 soldiers in Seattle and Brig. Gen. Frank B. Watson has under him in Tacoma, thirty-six miles from here, two battalions and a machine gun company. Equipment of the soldiers included 200 hand grenades, Maj. John McD. Thompson of the Camp Lewis intelligence department said.

Authority for the use of troops was granted by Secretary of War Baker upon advices from Governor Ernest Lister of the situation in Tacoma and Seattle.

Thirty-five thousand union men in the vicinity of Seattle quit work, labor leaders said, but in Tacoma response was not so general and the principal unions involved there were the carmen, timber workers, barbers and retail clerks.

Street cars stopped running in Seattle, schools closed, restaurants and theaters closed their doors, newspapers suspended and other industries ceased operating. Twelve coup kitchens were established by culinary unions to feed strikers and others who depend upon restaurants for meals. Patrons of the kitchens were lined up and served in military "mess" fashion. Barber shops closed and elevators stopped running.

Only emergency telegraph business from Seattle was handled by the telegraph companies. The telephone system continued in service.

No disorder has resulted from the strike, Mayor Ole Hanson of Seattle said. The city government is prepared for any emergency, he added, and 10,000 extra police will be deputized if necessary.

Trouble in Saxony.

Paris.—Serious disorders have occurred in Magdeburg, capital of the province of Saxony, according to Berlin advices. Soldiers and sailors, armed with grenades and machine guns, broke down the doors of the court house, liberated 160 prisoners, smashed shop windows, pillaged shops and trained machine guns on the inhabitants. The government troops are vigorously attacking the revolutionists. Magdeburg lies on the Elbe, seventy-six miles southwest of Berlin.

Big War Revenue Bill.

Washington.—Conference report on America's $5,000,000,000 war revenue bill—greatest in nation's history—was presented to the House by Chairman Kitchin of the ways and means committee. In addition to raising about $5,000,000,000 in taxes, the bill gives every soldier, sailor and marine and all women nurses in the American forces a bonus of $50 upon discharge. This means an appropriation of more than $400,000,000.

Anarchist Would Settle.

London, Feb. 6.—The Russian soviet government, in a wireless message announcing that it is willing to begin conversations with the entente with the object of bringing about a cessation of military activities, declares it is willing to acknowledge financial obligations regarding the creditors of Russia of entente nationality.

Turks Want U. S. Help.

Paris.—The American delegation to the peace conference has received numerous petitions from committees, municipalities and representatives of territories under Ottoman rule, asking to be put under the protection of the United States, or at least that America should be the mandatory country entrusted with their government.

Vote on Women Suffrage.

Washington.—Arrangements for a vote by the senate on the House resolution proposing submission of the federal woman suffrage amendment were made informally between managers and opponents of the resolution. A vote before adjournment of Congress now is regarded as assured.

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION

Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—NELLIE E. BARTONHAM, 609 Calverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.

It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

German Army Gardens.

In the German army, as in the American, garden patches supplemented the food rations. German military gardens in the reclaimed salient, however, were so numerous and of such size that the impression the American got was that the German soldiers in this sector depended largely for food upon what they themselves produced and upon what was grown by the French natives forced to work in the fields for three souls an hour. Our papers included several thousand acres of gardens.—Stars and Stripes.

A Lady of Distinction.

Is recognized by the delicate fascinating influence of the perfume she uses. A bath with Cuticura Soap and hot water to thoroughly cleanse the pores, followed by a dusting with Cuticura Talcum Powder usually means a clear, sweet, healthy skin.—Adv.

Or a Walrus.

"Why did you shave off your big mustache?" "Couldn't go bathing with it." "Why not?" "It made me look too much like a sea lion. Several people took pot shots at me and one fellow nearly landed me with a harpoon."

Japan's Population.

Japan has 54,000,000 people living in territory considerably smaller than the state of Montana.

Don't Go From Bad to Worse!

Are you always weak, miserable and half-sick? Then it's time you found out what is wrong. Kidney weakness causes much suffering from backache, lameness, stiffness and rheumatic pains, and if neglected, brings danger of serious troubles—dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease. Don't delay. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have helped thousands and should help you.

A New Mexico Case

Mrs. Alice Burch, 515 E. Third St., Roswell, New Mexico, says: "I had an awful attack of kidney trouble. My back ached and for four or five months I couldn't get out of bed or move my limbs and my back felt as if it were broken. My kidneys were very weak and I was often dizzy. I used different kidney remedies, but I wasn't helped until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. I soon felt like a different woman and trouble."

You Are Liable to Prosecution If You

Operate a car after January 1, 1919, without a 1919 license; Change a license tag from one car to another;

Operate car on a dealer's license, or duplicate, unless for demonstration purposes. This means that you can't operate a car on such a license, or duplicate, for hire or private use;

Operate a car with a pasteboard tag inscribed "License Applied For" or "Tag Lost;"

Place license tag at the front instead of the rear of the car;

Allow any person under 14 years of age to operate a car;

Fail immediately to secure a duplicate of a tag lost or stolen.

Notice to Non-Residents

The law allows non-residents the privilege of operating cars on license issued in other states for a period of 60 days, provided that within that time they do not fix their residence within this state. This privilege has been abused in the past, and further abuse will not be tolerated. Only regular metal license tags from other states will be recognized, and no cars will be allowed to operate on pasteboard or metal tags purporting to represent the official metal tags issued. After January 1, 1919, no 1918 tags from other states will be accepted and any person operating a car on a 1918 license will be arrested and fined.

How 'Bout Wool?

The Department of Commerce has just issued a bulletin on "Protection of Fur Bearing Animals in Alaska."

Good, as far as it goes.

The American sheep owner is paying fabulous prices for feed and the department of Agriculture has just announced higher fees for grazing privileges on forest reserves.

Congress has repealed the import duty on wool. What is it going to do for the protection of wool bearing animals in the United States? Must the butcher get them?

Rumor Unfounded

A rumor has reached the Treasury that a mistake has been made by the authorities, that from $15,000,000,000 to $17,000,000,000 has been returned to the Treasury as a result of the armistice and that therefore another Liberty Loan is unnecessary. The rumor is absolutely unfounded. I suppose it has the origin in the failure to understand the discussion of the proposed repeal by Congress of $15,000,000,000 of appropriation and authorizations. This does not mean a return of money to the Treasury but a cancellation of authority heretofore given by Congress to expend money in the future.

As a matter of fact, the whole proceeds of the 4th Liberty Loan and all previous loans had, at the time the armistice was signed, been expended or anticipated by Treasury certificates of indebtedness issued during the summer and early fall to finance the current requirements of the Government and at that time outstanding and unpaid.

Here Comes The Band!

All persons having Band Instruments will please turn in the same to Mr. Wright at the office of the Lincoln Light & Power Co. We would like to hear from persons wishing to play in the Band. All desiring to take part, those who can now perform on any band instrument, and those who can read music, are especially desired to make themselves known.

As soon as the instruments are located, we will call a meeting at which time all interested will be invited and their co-operation solicited. The organization is now under headway and prospects are bright for a good Band in Carrizozo for the coming summer. Bear in mind the above and get into communication with the director as soon as possible.

Signed,

Director.

Mountain States Banker

We are in receipt of the initial number of the Mountain States Banker which will devote its efforts to those things having a tendency to advance all legitimate banking, securities and investment enterprises in the Mountain states from Montana on the north to New Mexico on the south. The magazine will be immediately enlarged and contains much of interest to the general public.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one remedial disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Mulla's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Mulla's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for facts of testimonials.

Merritt, Oil Corporation has completed two more wells in Big Muddy field.

Cheyenne will be the scene of the next meeting of the Colorado-Wyoming Laundry Owners' Association.

The Wind River refinery is to be enlarged. The company has contracted sixteen new wells to be drilled in 1919.

The state of Wyoming is now making more than $500,000 annually as its share in royalties from oil taken from state land.

Cheyenne's record for sending young men in the service during the present war has caused the opening of a navy recruiting station there.

The U. S. Fuel Administration for Wyoming announces that from and after Feb. 1, next, it will cease to regulate the retail margins and selling prices of retail dealers.

A monster lion measuring 6 feet 10 inches and weighing approximately 300 pounds was killed in the hills near Sheridan by J. W. Howell. The body of a full-grown elk, killed by the lion, was found nearby.

Neowah, a little brown bear, was captured in the Big Horn mountains, kept for awhile at the Aber ranch, near Sheridan, and sold for $20, the proceeds going to care for a French orphan.

Liquor dealers of Cheyenne are making feverish efforts to dispose of heavy overstocks of liquor, which was purchased many months ago. Stocks ranging in value from $25,000 to $40,000 are on hand in Cheyenne.

The first well to be spudded in in the Round Butte oil field in Weld county, eighteen miles south of Cheyenne, will be in the northeast corner of section 13, township 11 north, range 69 west, by the Cactus Company.

Lighting a twisted piece of paper for the amusement of his year-old sister, placed in his charge while his parents went for a load of hay, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Buzzard, dry farmers of Table mountain, set the little home on fire. The baby sister was burned to death.

Yale Wright, 18, former employe of the Casper postoffice, confessed in the Federal Court at Cheyenne to robbing United States mails of between $5,000 and $6,000 worth of jewelry and valuables and embezzling $2,000 in cash and War Savings Stamps from the accounts of fellow employes.

That Wyoming's trout fishing is a valuable asset, attracting many tourists to the state, and that the propagation of fish should be encouraged, was the consensus of opinion in the House of the Legislature when two so-called "fish" bills came before the committee of the whole for consideration.

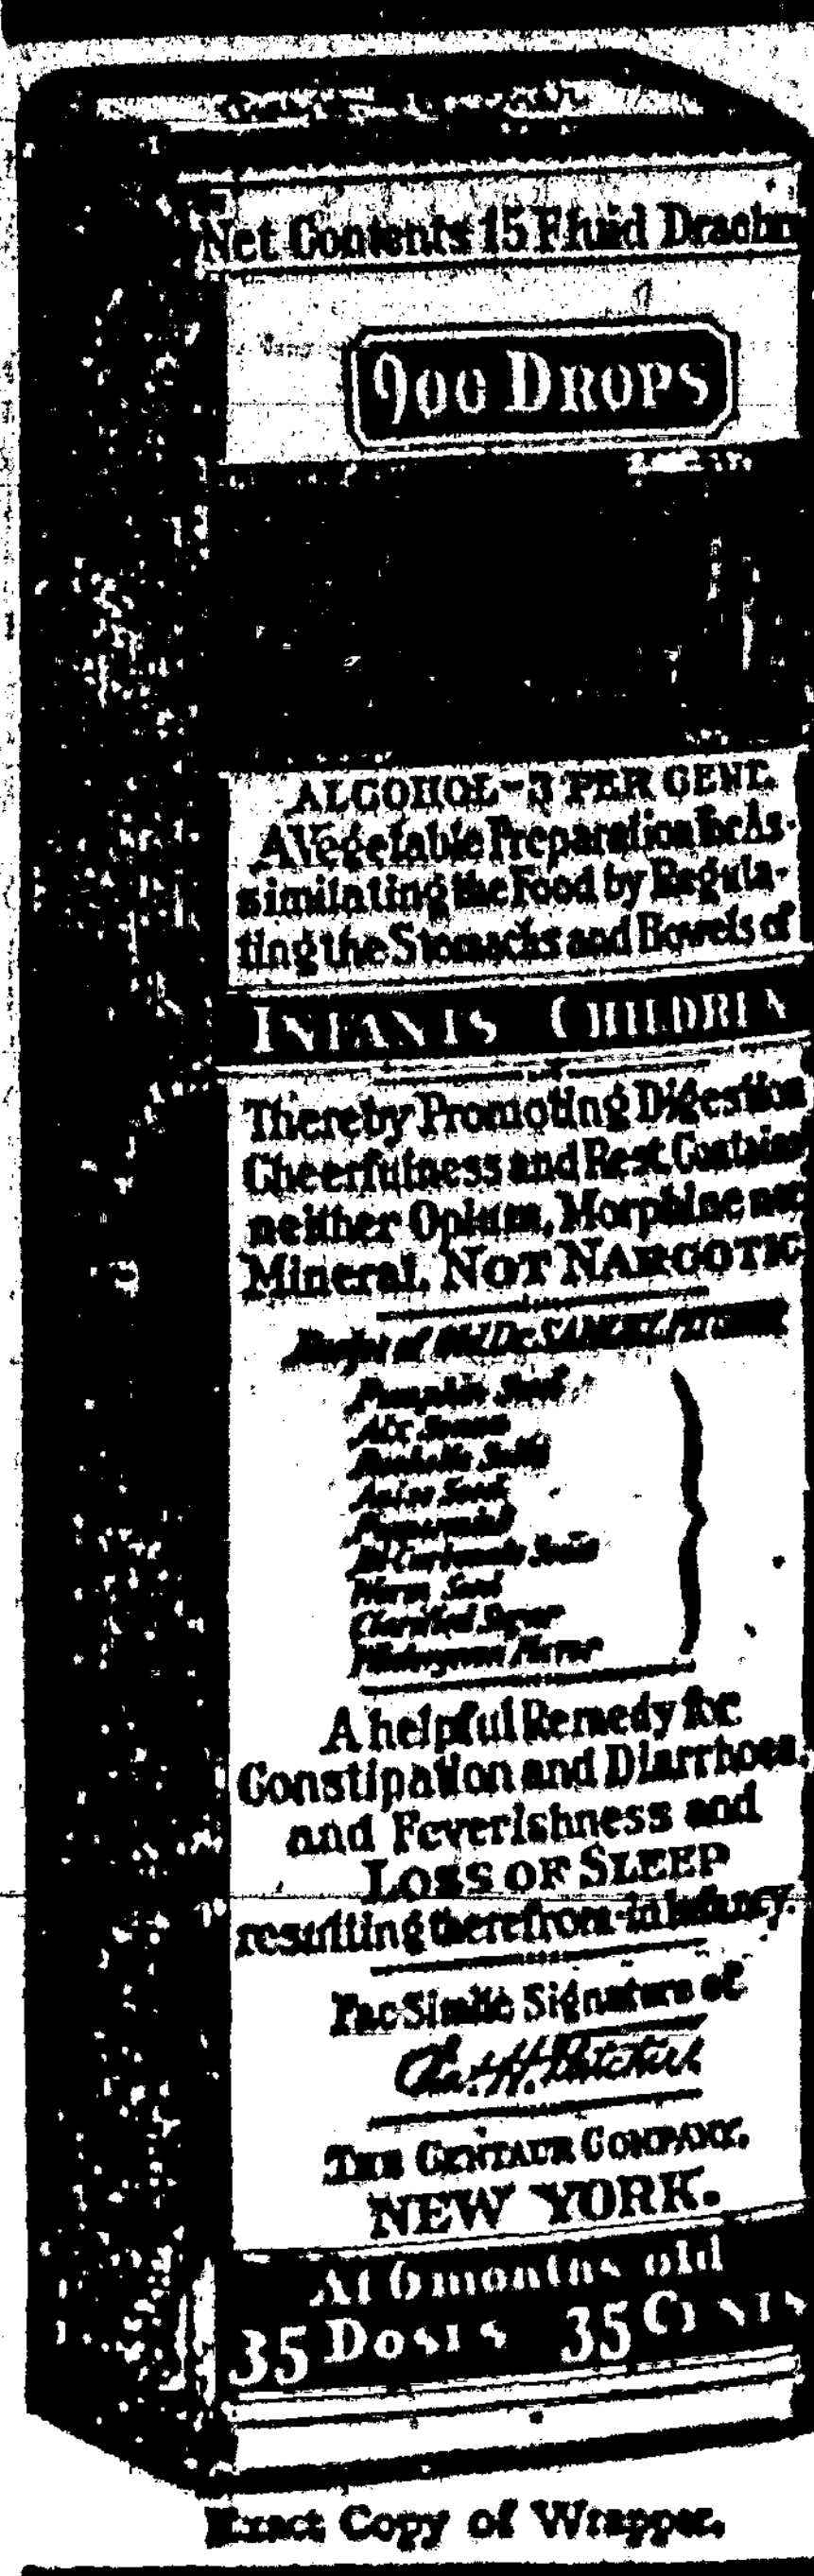

Because the War Department failed to release him from army service after it had been recommended by the chairman of the district exemption board, Lieut. Lloyd Snyder, whose home is at Valley, near Cody, Wyo., committed suicide by drowning in the Tongue river near Fort Keough.

A $10,000 community potato storage warehouse will be constructed by the farmers of Powell for storing the coming summer's crop. E. E. Elliott has charge of the subscription, which will be confined to growers. The warehouse will be located at Powell and will have a capacity of 140 cars.

A vendetta, having its origin in a still-to-be-thrust made in far-off Austria before the latest victims were born, and relentlessly pursued for nearly 100 years, resulted in the dynamiting of the home of John Bergtognoli at Rock Springs.

With a record of having shipped more than 1,000,000 bushels of wheat from this section last season, local farmers have sold stock in a mutual elevator which will be erected in time for the 1919 wheat crop at Gillette. The greater portion of the wheat yield of last year was from dry lands.

That herding sheep is conducive to insanity is apparently confirmed in the report of the superintendent of the state insane asylum at Evanston, where nine sheep herders are detained. This is estimated at 5.5 per cent of the total number of men engaged in this business. The report shows that only 1.4 per cent of the farmers were apprehended for insanity, 1.6 per cent of the housewives, while mining prospectors have only one man in the asylum. There is also one editor in the state asylum.

Acid-Stomach Ruins Health of Millions

Besides those painful attacks of indigestion; that awful bloated, lumpy feeling after eating and, downright stomach misery that you who have experienced it know so well; besides disgusting belching, food-repeating, sour stomach and distressing heartburn—besides all this, ACID-STOMACH undermines the health and saps the strength of millions.

If you don't get rid of those stomach miseries there is no telling where your stomach troubles will end, for it is a well known scientific fact that many serious ailments have their start in an acid-stomach.

Start now—this very day—to get rid of your stomach miseries. Take EATONIC—the wonderful remedy that absorbs the excess acid from the stomach and brings INSTANT relief. You simply have no idea how much better, stronger and brighter you feel at once. It drives out all the gas and flat, puts an immediate stop to belching and heartburn, ends stomach suffering and makes it cool, sweet, comfortable and strong.

There can be no further excuse for you to allow acid-stomach to wreck your health—pile up misery upon misery until you get to the point where you feel down and out and that life has lost all its joys. Remember, just as acid-mouth ruins teeth, so acid-stomach ruins health. Take EATONIC. It's good, just like a bit of candy and makes the stomach feel fine. You can then eat the things you like and, what is more, every mouthful you eat will count in creating power and energy. You'll feel so much better—have punch and pep—the power and will to do things and get results, and your stomach misery will be gone. Take our advice. Get a big box of EATONIC from your druggist today. It costs so little. If it fails to remove your stomach distress, he will refund your money. That is guaranteed; you are to be satisfied or money refunded.

H. L. McDaniel Home

H. L. McDaniel of Nogal, who enlisted here and waded the pond last May, arrived this week from overseas. Mr. McDaniel says he was for the entire time stationed along the English Channel, and in the course of a conversation told of witnessing a thrilling sight one night during the month of last September.

He said that the American forces were warned of the approach of the German Zeppelins and that night they sighted three of the monsters making their way across the Channel abreast and making rapid progress. The American airships immediately took to the air and gave battle. After a fierce fight one of the intruders were demolished, and the remaining two put to flight.

He says the sight will never be erased from the memories of those who witnessed it; the sky was lurid from the flames of the burning monster; ever and anon great masses of burning material would become detached from the balance of the Zeppelin and fall through the inky darkness into the Channel below. At last as if from a violent explosion, the entire structure separated and descended into the Channel, leaving only the search lights of Uncle Sam's airships above the watchers.

Mr. McDaniel will go to eastern Oklahoma, where his family are awaiting his return, after which he will bring them back to this locality to reside in the future.

FRANK M. SMITH
Federal Director War Loans and Savings

Suppose you were attacked by a gang of ruffians who nearly killed you, and you were saved by some plucky doctor who himself was injured in the struggle, but who stayed by you night and day until you recovered.

Would you refuse to pay the doctor's bill, on the ground that the danger was now past and that paying for past services was an unpleasant task, anyhow?

You would not. You would regard it as a sacred duty to liquidate that debt.

I see no difference between the situation described and the position of every man, woman and child in this country today. At the cost of life and magnificent effort we have been saved by our fighting men and our intelligent, hard-working statesmen from something quite as bad as death.

A Most Solemn Obligation rests upon us to pay the bill. There is so much owing that we can never repay that there should not be heard one murmur about settling the financial part of the obligation.

I do not believe that there will be any difficulty. The American people are just people who pay their debts, they are grateful and generous people.

The Government paid out the stupendous sum of Two Billion and Sixty Million Dollars in war expenses during the month of December alone and the expense will go on for many months to come. Of course the Government was borrowing all this money from the banks, and must soon pay it back—and, of course, we must find that money.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH

HURRY, MOTHER! REMOVE POISONS FROM LITTLE STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS. GIVE CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS AT ONCE IF BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, stool of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

When the Director Gets Through. "Holy smoke; are you going to sit through that picture again?" "Yes; I've got a notion I wrote the scenario."—Film Fun.

Every department of housekeeping needs Red Cross Bag Blue. Equally good for kitchen towels, table linen sheets and pillowcases, etc. The Proper Place. "Where do wives keep rods in place for their husbands?" "Naturally, in their family jars."

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR. To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1/2 oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not clog the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off. Adv.

Cruel Advice. "I must brush the cobwebs from my brain." "Then you had better do it with a vacuum cleaner." TOO WEAK TO FIGHT. The "Come-back" man was really never down-and-out. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules, the National Remedy of Holland, will do the work. They are wonderful. Three of these capsules each day will put a man on his feet before he knows it; whether his trouble comes from uric acid poisoning, the kidneys, gravel or stone in the bladder, stomach derangement or other ailments that befell the overzealous American. The best known, most reliable remedy for these troubles is GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. This remedy has stood the test for more than 200 years since its discovery in the ancient laboratories in Holland. It acts directly and gives relief at once. Don't wait until you are entirely down-and-out, but take them today. Your druggist will gladly refund your money if they do not help you. Accept no substitutes. Look for the name GOLD MEDAL on every box, three sizes. They are the pure, original, imported Haarlem Oil Capsules.—Adv.

Some Various Valentines

Frederick Moxon

I have had them in silks and in laces, in velvet, and silver, and gold; Some brodered with Cupids and Graces All over the marginal spaces, Wherever their winglets would hold.

I have had them with hearts pierced by arrows, Some singly, some skewered in pairs; With cavaliers down on their marrow; With love-birds, and home-building sparrows, And suchlike pictorial snares.

I have had them with verses delicious As ever were sugared with rhyme; And others whose wit, suppositious, Has left me for ever suspicious Of "conies," at three for a dime.

But the best I find pasted on memory's page Is this one you sent me at six years of age: "The vilts red The roses blew The pinky sweet An' sore yew."

MY VALENTINE.

If on the February wind you hear A vibrant note of well-tuned merriment, Remember, sweetheart, it was I who sent The merry message, bidding it be clear And sweet with love when it should reach your ear. And if within the sunlight, just one beam Is somewhat fairer than the others seem, This is again my whisper to you; dear, For each shall say: "I love you, Sweetheart, mine, As suns love light and zephyrs love the trees. (Two couriers of passion, pure, divine, And none can be more ardent, Love, than these!) The breeze shall sing to you, the rays shall shine, And each shall be your lover's valentine."

EFFECTIVE WORK

"Hey! You ain't got no address on that valentine." "I know it. I don't want her to know who sent it an' she knows my handwritin'."

Had One Coming. It was Valentine's day at school, and after all the valentines had been taken from the box and distributed a youngster raised his hand and said: "I didn't get all my valentines." "How do you know you haven't?" the teacher asked. "Well," said the youngster, "I sent myself three, and only got two back."

YOUR CHANGE HERE

Unbounded Prosperity Ahead of Western Canada.

Opportunity Beckons Settlers of All Kinds—With the Golden Wake That Marked the Way the Happy Reapers Went!—James Whitcomb Riley.

The war having been brought to a favorable conclusion more attention can now be given to the agricultural and industrial development of Western Canada, which were checked by the troublous times of the past four years. Now that these are over, the proper development of the country will be continued.

True, much agricultural progress has been made during this time. Crop production has been greatly increased, the number of live stock has steadily grown, and with each succeeding year the dairying and wool industries have become more important. But despite this forward march, many phases of development have been held in check. The activities of farmers, too, have been greatly hampered by shortage of labor, and, under the circumstances, what they have achieved can only be described as marvelous.

Excepting those industries closely allied to agriculture, such as butter and cheese manufacture, industrial activity in the Prairie Provinces has been almost at a standstill. And even in these branches extensions have been strictly limited to those of urgent necessity. Building has been considerably curtailed, especially in the towns and cities, though many commodious and up-to-date dwellings, barns and other buildings have been erected by farmers in the country. Indeed, the amount of building farmers have done is one of the outward signs of their prosperity; but considerably more of it would have been done had not the more important work of food production received priority in the labor available. Railway construction work has been almost entirely suspended.

With more help available, and the use of the labor-saving devices that have been adopted during the last few years great advances in the agricultural development of Western Canada might be looked for even if no new settlers were expected; but the coming of thousands of prospective settlers who have hitherto been deterred only by the unsettled conditions from making their homes in this last great West will give a considerable impetus to every phase of agriculture in these Prairie Provinces.

Hand in hand with the development of agriculture, there will be a renewal of industrial activity. For the establishment of such industries as sugar refineries, canneries, and many other industries for the utilization of the products of the land, as well as for the extension of the already important industries of butter and cheese manufacture, are splendid opportunities. Mining, lumbering, quarrying, the manufacture of clay products are also a few industries capable of considerable growth, and to which greater attention can now be devoted.

To provide accommodation for present business requirements alone would keep the building trade busy for a long time, but with further development in the cities it is impossible to foresee any slackness in any branch of this trade. And the number of farmers whose needs have outgrown their present accommodation and who have been awaiting an opportunity to replace their buildings by larger and more modern ones, is considerable and constantly increasing. Municipal work will be gradually resumed, and the railways have much work in contemplation.

All this points to a period of great prosperity for Western Canada—agricultural and industrial prosperity. The former is the more important, for on it the latter depends. Being primarily an agricultural country, Western Canada will probably pass through the readjustment period with little difficulty.

There is no reason to believe that farming will be less remunerative than it has been in the past; there are, on the other hand, many good and sound reasons for believing that the returns will be as large as ever. One thing is certain: Intelligent farming on the fertile prairies of Western Canada, requiring as it does the smallest possible capital outlay compared with that required to get a start in older settled countries, will continue to be one of the quickest and surest ways to independence that can be followed by the average man.—Advertisement.

Charity consists of gifts. Probably that is why a girl thinks it charitable to give her rival's age away. There's nothing a red-blooded man hates more than being made a hero and pet of.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE BY MARY GRAY BOWEN

THREE CHEERS.

"It was very cheerful in Cheer Land, as you may imagine," said Duddy. "Tell us about it," said Nancy. "Yes, do," begged Nick. "In Cheer Land," continued Duddy, "all the cheers are started. They can go any distance, and they will come whenever any one asks for them. They can even be in several places at a time. Sometimes they are in a great many places at one time."

"Well, it was very cheerful in Cheer Land, as I have said. All through the Country of Cheers the echoes came of cheers and shouts of joy. "No sorrow, and no troubles, and no crying was ever heard in Cheer Land. Only cheers and shrieks of delight."

"Well, the Cheer Leader was talking. He is the one who puts it into the heart of the person to start some cheering. He is the great starter of cheers, and he is the jolliest, most smiling creature ever you heard of in all your life."

"Listen, Cheers," said the Cheer Leader. "I must tell you this." "The Cheers listened and said, 'We want to hear what you have to tell us.'" "But all the Cheers weren't near the Cheer Leader just then. Soon they came running in. You never saw such wonderful looking creatures in all your life."

"It seemed as if they were smiling and crying out wonderful things all the time. Their arms and their hands and their feet seemed to be smiling just as much as their happy faces."

"There were three of them and they called as they came running into Cheer Land: 'Here we are, Cheer Leader; here are your helpers and workers, your happy, happy workers. Here we are, the Three Cheers.'"

"And then, in Cheer Land, Cheer Leader led a glorious 'Three Cheers,' which was given by the Three Cheers in turn. "First the Cheer Leader said: 'Let's give Three Cheers.' At the first cheer the first of the Three Cheers gave a wonderful cheer, followed by all the creatures of Cheer Land. "At the second cheer the second of the Three Cheers did its part, and the third did its part when the time came, too."

"And then all the creatures of Cheer Land who had helped the Three Cheers clapped their hands for the last 'Hip, Hip, Huray' was given."

"Ah," said the Cheer Leader. "You're all in fine form. You're ready to be used any of the time and all of the time."

"And just think, Cheers of Cheer Land, how lucky you are! You never hear anything that is sad—you're always called in for the gloriously cheerful parties. Aren't you lucky? And I'm lucky, too. I have such fine chances given to me. I'm always on the lookout for such chances, too," the Cheer Leader chuckled.

"And just because they were so happy and lucky all the Cheers of Cheer Land, led by Cheer Leader and the famous, well-known Three Cheers, gave a cheer that went so far that it reached the hearts of many, many people, who smiled and said to themselves: 'Isn't life perfectly wonderful and isn't the world a fine old place after all, with its beautiful seasons of summer and winter, spring and fall, its flowers, its trees, its snow and its icebergs? and how many people after all know how to smile!'"

"Eye each person felt like smiling as the other person was seen smiling too. And everyone seemed to feel happy because so many happy faces were seen."

"Well, we're pretty happy," said Nancy, and Nick said: "You bet we are!"

"Well, let's give a cheer, for the Cheer Leader is whispering to me that now would be a nice time." So Duddy was the Cheer Leader and Nick and Nancy and Duddy all acted as the Three Cheers and the echo was heard in cheery old Cheer Land!

The Many Mysteries of Nature

BY L. W. BOWER, M. D.

You can take an onion seed and a pansy seed, and plant them side by side in the same spot of ground. In one case, you get an onion, with its peculiarly strong odor, and in the other you get a flower of rare beauty. You can plant a puppy seed and get opium (a dangerous, habit-forming drug), or you can plant a rubber seed and get something that helps constipation. No scientist, living or dead, can explain these mysteries of Nature. Behind the invisible life germ in each seed is hidden the deep secret that nobody understands. Everything growing out of the ground seems intended for some use in establishing natural conditions. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., long since found out what is naturally best for women's diseases. He learned it all through treating thousands of cases. The result of his studies was a medicine called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is made of vegetable growths that nature surely intended for headache, backache, weakening drains, bearing-down pains, periodical irregularities, pelvic inflammation, and for the many disorders common to women in all ages of life. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is made of lady's slipper root, black cohosh root, unicorn root, the cactus root and Oregon grape root. Women who take this standard remedy know that in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they are getting a safe woman's tonic so good that druggists everywhere sell it. Favorite Prescription should have the full confidence of every woman in America because it contains no alcohol and no narcotics. Dr. Pierce knew, what he first made this standard medicine, that whisky and morphine are injurious, and so he has always kept them out of his remedies. Send free to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial box of tablets.
