MIL OF MYSTERY HOUSE OF MYSTERY!

An American story of love and patriotism, of plot and counterplot, that enthralls the reader and keeps him guessing.

CHAPTER I.

The First Wayfarer and the Second Wayfarer Meet and Part on the Highway.

A solitary figure crept along the narrow road that wound its serpentine way through the dense, forbidding depths of the forest—a man who, though weary and fastidious, seemed not to be in haste, and who, as he went, was casting an eye and ear at the various prospects of a scene.

He came to the "gate" and there was a signpost. A large, rustic post of wood pointed to the left, and on what was intended to be the apex of a very old and unshapely oak tree were placed in order of precedence three signs: "Home," "The Green," and "The House of Mystery."

On the opposite side of the "gate" to the right, a signpost of a different kind, made of a slender sapling, pointed to the right. It was covered with the names of all the houses of the country. According to the rustic signpost, the first house was the "Green," the second the "House of Mystery," and the third the "House of Mystery."

A woman appeared, as if from nowhere, about the side. She drew back to let her pass. She stopped before the rustic signpost, and together they made out the first direction.

To the right and up the mountain road Fragg's Carriage for four miles and a half away. Fragg was six miles back over the road which the man had crossed.

The man who had crossed the road was a stranger. He was a man of middle age, with a high forehead, a keen eye, and a thin nose. He was dressed in a simple, practical manner, and he carried a long staff in his hand.

He knew that there were many strange things in the world, and he was not at all surprised to find a woman who had been so long in the forest.

What of this lone woman who traversed the highway? His first glimpse of her had been certainly unusual. Indeed, he had paid no attention to her at all, so eager was he to reach the direction and go on his way.

She was standing quite still in front of the signpost, peering up the road toward Fragg's Carriage—convinced by a long look that he had been and that she had been above the narrow strip of pasture bordering the sign.

The man who had passed her did not look at her. He was looking at the signpost, and he was looking at the woman who had been so long in the forest.

"What I be of any business to you?" she asked quickly. He saw that the veil was drawn tightly over her face.

"No, thank you," she replied. Her voice, despite a certain nervousness, was soft and clear and gentle—the voice and speech of a well-bred person who was young and sensitive.

"Fragg's Carriage, but have you much to do?" she asked. "The carriage will come to you in half an hour, and you will not miss the opportunity—I don't like to see of your being caught out."

"What is to be done about it?" she asked, reluctantly. "I must go on, I can't wait here, you know, to be caught back in the place I started from."

He smiled. He had seen as well as he could. "If I can be of the least assistance to you, you may feel free to command me. I am a sort of tramp, you might say, and I would do well by night as I do by day—no doubt that that you are."

"Never mind about me," he said in a low voice. "I am not here to do anything. I am only here to see the world."

"You are very good, but I am not here to see the world. I am only here to see the world."

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to wonder why it is that so many patients that are apparently cured, all at once drop out of sight and are seen no more? The reason is plain—the medicine did not reach the proper part of the system. The medicine was particularly to a medicine. A medicine that reaches the proper part of the system is the only medicine that is of any use. It is the only medicine that is of any use. It is the only medicine that is of any use.

Acres of state-owned lands in New Mexico now available for the tools of the oil well driller are in excess of 3,500,000.

Oil stock promoters doing business within the city of Albuquerque will be forced to pay a license fee of $100 per quarter per company under the terms of a special ordinance passed by the city commissioners of that city.

County Highway Superintendent D. W. Jones, accompanied by the sheriff, tore down several fences which were standing across the newly created Abo highway. The destruction was accomplished on the proposed road west of Ricardo.

Organization of a Home Builders company with a capital stock of $100,000 has been effected at Santa Fe. The concern will specialize in the construction of four to six-room houses, probably using the Santa Fe style of architecture.

Deming is experiencing a serious attack of oil fever. Two exchanges are now open for the sale and transfer of oil stock. Three companies have been organized by local capital and Deming men have become interested in a number of other concerns.

Incident to the modification of the irrigation district law, by the recent Legislature, it is now disclosed that its provisions permit women land owners to vote on all irrigation district matters. Under the old law it was restricted to qualified voters but now the franchise properly is extended to all persons who have investments.

The State Highway Commission of New Mexico is advertising for bids on four federal aid road projects covering the construction of about forty-five miles of road work in the counties of Chaves, Colfax and Santa Fe. It is estimated that between three and four hundred thousand dollars will be expended in this proposed work.

A publicity and membership campaign extending throughout New Mexico has been determined upon by the executive committee of the Albuquerque Federal Employees Union No. 40. There are 700 government employees in the State of New Mexico, according to a recent survey. This is exclusive of postal employees, who have a union of their own.

Members of the new sheep sanitary board elected Manuel Padilla, representative from Bernalillo county, to be secretary of the board for the next two years to succeed James C. Logan. Mr. Padilla was not a candidate for the position but was proposed for the place by friends among the wool growers of central New Mexico with whom he has been associated for years.

Fred Luna is in a serious condition as the result of a pistol wound inflicted by Patrolman Chaves at Albuquerque. Luna was under arrest on a charge of having sold whisky to a young man who was in an intoxicated condition at a dance. When within a block of the city hall, he started to run, and when the policeman called on him to halt refused. The shooting followed.

The campaign to rid Colfax county of violators of the prohibition laws which has already been marked by scores of arrests, received considerable boost at Baton when Judge Thomas D. Leib in District Court made it plain that he is determined to be rigorous in the matter by fining A. H. Cogg $300 and costs and adding thereto a four months jail sentence. The latter was suspended on good behavior.

Applications for oil leases on 400,000 acres in southern Tatum and in Quay counties were received by the state land office in one day. Bernalillo county is to purchase $10,000 worth of Victory bonds out of its sinking fund, it was decided at a meeting of the county commissioners at the last meeting.

Oscar Balmum of Bellview, N. M., twice wounded in his service with the American forces abroad and crippled for life by his wounds, was taken to a local hospital at Globe for treatment after a fall on the sidewalk in which his old bruises were reopened. Balmum was a member of the force of American marines who checked the Hunns at Chateau Thierry and was also at Soissons and Belleau wood. He was wounded in both knees at Soissons by machine gun fire and spent two days in the battlefield before he was found. After treatment in Pelham Park hospital in New York City, he started for his home in New Mexico.

HOW CAN YOU TELL YOUR FAVORITE TOBACCO?

As Plain as the Nose on Your Face—Just Smell It

Smokers do not have to put tobacco in their pipes to find out if they like it. They can just rub the tobacco between the palms of their hands and smell it. The nose is an infallible guide to smoking enjoyment.

All smoking tobacco employ some favoring "to improve the flavor and burning qualities of the leaves", to quote the Encyclopaedia Britannica. Naturally, there is considerable difference in the kind of favorings used, and the nose quickly detects the difference. TUXEDO Tobacco uses the purest, most wholesome, and delicious of all favorings—chocolate. And the almost universal liking for chocolate in a great measure explains the widespread popularity of TUXEDO Tobacco.

Carefully aged, old Burley tobacco, plus a dash of pure chocolate, gives TUXEDO Tobacco a pure fragrance your nose can quickly distinguish from any other tobacco. Try it and see.
