WRITES AND SINGS TO HOME FOLKS

Interesting Letter From Home Boy Containing Poem That Gives Vivid Description of Experience.

Rouvroy, France, Dec. 10, 1918. My Dearest Mother and All:

I just received the family letter today that had the treasured satisfaction of "news" from the loved ones at "home." I am always so glad to hear from my only mother—that means the world to me. The one that now, has the satisfaction of knowing that I have loved better than my own life. I think that I was very fortunate to be given the opportunity of proving my honest and loyal affections to the greatest and most sacred achievement on earth of man, "A Mother's Love."

Lena wrote of Cecil's death; I was so sorry to hear it for I know that he was a good boy, although I wanted to know him better. We will all have to pay the debt that he has paid, some day, but it seems that some are called too soon.

Lena, you asked me why I couldn't tell you that I was piloting a bunch of men as Willie G. told you. Well, I tho't you knew that the duties of a corporal in as much as he is to be obeyed by all privates. Now to give you an idea—there are about 20 non-commissioned officers (Sergeants and Corporals) in a battery of about 270 men. You see, I have 250 men in our battery that are under me and that I am to instruct in every way to make them better fit to meet—well, what we have already met and proven ourselves the winners, ha ha!

Yes, I think we will be back in time to eat some of the apples that Kate went after.

I must close for now as it is 10 p. m.

Your mighty loving son and bro.,
ROY.

My Darling Mother
Now that this old war is over
I have ceased to be a rover
In the dark and dreary shadows
Of the front.
And I sit here quite contented
In this billet I have rented
From some simple country cousin
Of the front.
Just today I got your letter,
I never you nothing better
Could have pleased me in this world
Of wondrous things.
For no person could believe it
Who is not here to receive it
What great joy a looked-for letter
Really brings.

We regret that we were unable to publish the poem in its entirety, but one verse will show its sterling worth.

A Few Days in El Paso
Mrs. E. L. Northlake is spending the week end in El Paso, on a shopping tour.

At Life's Noontide

During the past two weeks many cases of the so called "Flu" have been reported, but up to last Thursday, no deaths had been recorded. Since that time, however, several have occurred in town and vicinity.

The last, and permit us to say, the most touching of all was the passing of Mrs. G. W. Jeffries, who had been ill but a short time before her death, and as time went on her condition became more serious, and last Monday she died.

Our reason for saying that her passing was the most touching of all, is that she leaves two small children who must pass through the world without being able to cherish the fond recollections of a mother's love; for all the human kindness bestowed upon them can never be more than the faint touch of one fond heart throb of a mother's love.

The deceased was a member of the Baptist Church, but owing to the pulpit at the Church of her faith not being filled at the present time, the Rev. Lewelling of the Methodist Church conducted the services, assisted by a choir of ladies who rendered beautiful and inspiring religious selections, after which services the remains were interred in the local cemetery, attended by a large gathering of sympathetic friends. Deceased leaves a husband and as we have already said, two small children, to whom the entire community offers its sympathy and assistance.

From the Hondo

Clem. Hightower of Hondo, passed through here Thursday, having just returned from a trip to Socorro County.

Juvenile Line Party

A novel and interesting event is planned for Saturday evening in which the juvenile element of the Carrizozo school are to be the participants.

The young folks will attend the Crystal in a body after which they will repair to the Sweet Shop where they have engaged the proprietors for the purpose of making up the evening's entertainment. As the affair will be conducted in the rear of the Sweet Shop, it will in no wise interfere with the regular routine of business of the resort. The management will have everything arranged for the comfort of the children, Mrs. Fatten herself acting as chaperon.

The evening will be devoted to the playing of games, dancing and general childish merry-making, intermingled with delicate refreshments. The children are looking forward to the event with joyful anticipation.

John Cochran Returns

Mr. John Cochran and family, who have been at Hurley, N. M., for the past six months returned last Saturday to again take up their residence in Carrizozo.

Womens' Missionary Society

A meeting of the above named society was held last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. B. Barber, with a large attendance. Scripture reading was conducted by Mrs. Ray Lemon which was followed by comment in which all present took active part.

After the Bible reading, an interesting letter was read from Mrs. I. J. Ayers of El Paso, who is the Conference President. The usual business session followed, after which refreshments were served. The newly elected officers of this important organization for the ensuing year are as follows: Mrs. Geo. B. Barber, President; Mrs. W. W. McLean, 1st Vice President; Mrs. W. J. Petter, Rec. Sec; Mrs. R. H. Lewelling, Cor. Sec; Mrs. C. A. Hooper, Treas; Mrs. Ray Lemon, Supt. of Publication and Study; Mrs. S. Squier, Chairman of Church and Parsonage Committee. The next regular meeting will be held at the church Parsonage, with Mrs. Lewelling, Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 29th.

Over From Capitan

Mr. Geo. Tittsworth of the Tittsworth Co. of Capitan, was a visitor in town Thursday.

Joyful Birthday Affair

Mrs. R. E. Lemon was pleasantly surprised last Saturday evening by a host of her lady friends who took complete possession of the Lemon home. The affair was secretly arranged by Mrs. Lemon's friends on her birthday, and was purely a feminine affair throughout. Several gentlemen intruders were promptly dismissed, but allowed to return when refreshments were served.

The evening was spent in music and song; everyone present taking an active part. During the evening several good readings and solos, both vocal and instrumental were rendered.

The following named ladies were present: Mesdames Bell, Cribb, McQuillen, Tennis, Lewelling, Pitts, Day, Kelley, Squier, Forrest, Lemon, Gilbert of Caldwell, Idaho and Tompkins of El Paso, Texas.

R. E. Stidham Ill

R. E. Stidham of the E. P. & S. W. is on the sick list but is reported as improving nicely.

Big Bill and Little Billie

Big Bill Hart and little Billie Burke greeted the "fans" at the Crystal Theatre this week. These attractions together with others, are continually being exhibited. Don't miss the special feature Saturday night. Show starts at 7:30.

W. C. Wack Is Pleased

W. C. Wack visited Santa Fe last week and took the Scottish Rites Degree in Masonry, and like all who have been favored with this additional opportunity, is pleased beyond what we can describe.

Laid To Rest

The remains of the late Harry Chant, who died recently at Hotel Dieu in El Paso, were interred in the Masonic burial grounds in that city, and conducted by El Paso Lodge No. 130. The family with the exception of Thomas Chant was present and two members of the Carrizozo Lodge acted with the El Paso brethren as pall bearers.

As to the character and life of the deceased, we can do no better than to quote the words of a brother Mason who ministered to his wants during his last hours on earth. To one of our local lodge he said in part: "Brother Chant's trowel has fallen, and the hand that wielded it is pulseless in death; his earthly labor is over; his pilgrimage ended; and the Great Reaper has claimed his own."

"It is now left for us that survive him to mourn the loss of him and of whom it can be truthfully said, "The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in him." Like a shock of corn in its season, he has gone to his grave in his full age, and venerated.

"I visited him often; I had the precious privilege to behold the smile upon his venerable face, and clasp his hand in fraternal embrace, as his palsied tongue answered me the best it could. He has gone to his rest, where light perpetual shines upon him, and may we who remain for a little while, to love, trust and serve the craft, in the infinite beneficence of the Supreme Architect, be gathered in his own good time, in our father's house."

Yours Fraternally,
C. E. Redfield.

First Natl. Bank Directors

At the Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the First National Bank, Carrizozo, New Mexico, the old board of directors consisting of H. B. Jones, Paul Mayer, David T. Beals, O. Z. Finley and E. M. Cashier, at the meeting of the Directors that followed the Stockholders' Meeting. Mr. Ed Dickey, who has handled the affairs of the bank in a very competent manner during the time the former Cashier E. M. Brickley was in the Military Service, will continue with the bank or with some other bank under the same management.

Signed,
E. M. Brickley,
Cashier.

Card of Thanks

I wish to express my heartfelt thanks to all kind friends who ministered to the wants of my dear wife during her illness and who brought sweet flowers as a last token of love and esteem, to all of which I return my sincere gratitude.
G. W. Jeffries.

SHALL WE HAVE

A HOME BAND IN CARRIZOZO?

A Goodly Number of Our Young Men are Very Much Interested in a Base Ball Team and a Band.

Now that the war is over and as we drift back into the every day routine of business and pleasure we begin to see our needs, not in the business line, for we have enterprises here in Carrizozo such as towns of many times its size would be proud of, but when we turn to the amusement question, we find that we lack a great deal of what we should have to furnish entertainment for the people in general and the young in particular.

We have one of the best Moving Picture Theatres in this part of the country; the management procures and exhibits the best films on the market; and if we had forms of amusement to compare with it, we would then have what we are justly entitled to. We need a good base ball team, and we are going to have one but it is rather early to talk of that form of amusement just now, so we approach the question which suggested the writing of this article—Shall we have a band?

A goodly number of our young men interested in the successful outcome of this proposition, have asked the local papers to begin the campaign for the organization of a band in Carrizozo. In conversation with a number of business men, we find that we have had in the past both bands and ball clubs, but for some reason or another they have all failed, but we must remember that Carrizozo is growing and as we grow so will our wants increase in the amusement line.

The business men will without an exception, welcome the band proposition, for this is the leading essential to life and prosperity of a growing town like Carrizozo. By all means let us have a band! We have the talent here among our young men and they are all anxious to enlist their services.

Shall we have a band?

Special Meeting Of Commissioners

The New Board of County Commissioners met in special session last Monday and transacted a goodly amount of business. On account of postponing some matters of importance, which necessitated the above special meeting, only the proceedings of the Retiring Board appear this week. In our next issue we will publish the proceedings of the New Board of both regular and special meetings.

GUNNER DEPEW

EX-GUNNER AND CHIEF PETTY OFFICER, U. S. NAVY
MEMBER OF THE FOREIGN LEGION OF FRANCE
CAPTAIN GUN TURRET, FRENCH BATTLESHIP CASSARD
WINNER OF THE CROIX DE GUERRE

Copyright, 1914, by Kelly and Brown Co., Through Special Arrangement With the George Mowbray Adams Service

GUNNER DEPEW SEES WONDERFUL WORK OF BRITISH AND FRENCH NAVIES IN GALLIPOLI CAMPAIGN.

Synopsis.—Albert N. Depew, author of the story, tells of his service in the United States navy, during which he attained the rank of chief petty officer, first-class gunner. The world war starts soon after he receives his honorable discharge from the navy, and he leaves for France with a determination to enlist. He joins the Foreign Legion and is assigned to the dreadnaught Cassard, where his marksmanship wins him high honors. Later he is transferred to the land forces and sent to the Flanders front. He gets his first experience in a front line trench at Dixmude. He goes "over the top" and gets his first German in a bayonet fight. While on runner service, Depew is caught in a Zeppelin raid and has an exciting experience. In a fierce fight with the Germans, he is wounded and is sent to a hospital. After recovering he is ordered back to sea duty and sails on the Cassard for the Dardanelles.

CHAPTER XI.

Action at the Dardanelles.

I made twelve trips to the Dardanelles in all, the Cassard acting generally as a convoy to troop ships, but one trip was much like another, and I cannot remember all the details, so I will give only certain incidents of the voyages that you might find interesting. We never put into the Dardanelles without being under fire—but besides saying so, what is there to write about in that? It was interesting enough at the time, though, you can take it from me!

Coming up to "V" beach on our third trip to the Dardanelles, the weather was as nasty as any I have ever seen. The rain was sweeping along in sheets—great big drops, and driven by the wind in regular volleys. You could see the wind coming by the line of white against a swell where the drops hit.

As we rounded the point, the seas got choppy, and there were cross currents bucking the ship from every angle. It seemed. You could not see two hundred yards away, the rain was so thick, and the combers were breaking over our bows three a minute. The coast here is pretty dangerous, so we went in very slowly and had the sounding line going until its whir-r-r sounded louder than a machine gun in action.

I was on the starboard bow at the time and had turned to watch some garbles poking at the scuppers to drain the water off the deck. But the scuppers had been plugged and they were having a hard time of it. The officer on the bridge, in oilskins, was walking up and down, wiping off the business end of his telescope and trying to dodge the rain. All of the garbles but one left the scuppers on the starboard side and started across decks to port. The other chap kept on fooling around the scuppers. Then I saw a big wave coming for us, just off the starboard bow and I grabbed hold of a stanchion and took a deep breath and held on. When my head showed above water again the other end of the wave was just passing over the place where the garbles had been, and the officer was shouting, "Un homme à la mer!" He shouted before the man really was overboard, because he saw that the wave would get him. I rushed back to the port bow and looked back, for the wave had carried him clear across the decks, and saw the poor lad in the water, trying to fend himself off from the ship's side. But it was no go, and the port propeller blades just carved him into bits.

On our homeward voyage we received word again by wireless that there were Zeppelins at sea. We did not believe this and it proved to be untrue. But there were other stories and taller ones, told us by one of the wireless operators, that some of the garbles believed. This chap was the real original Baron Munchausen when it came to yarning, and for a while he had me going too. He would whisper some startling tale to us and make us promise not to tell, as he had picked it from some other ship's messager, and the Old Man would spread eagle him if he found it out. They probably would have logged him, at that, if they had known he was filling me full of wind the way he did.

He told me one time that Henry Ford had invented something or other for locating submarine mines away, and also another device that would draw the sub right up to it and swallow it whole. He had a lot of other yarns that I cannot remember, but I did not believe him because I saw he was picking out certain men to tell certain yarns to—that is, spinning them where they would be more sure of being believed and not just spinning them anywhere.

So I got pretty tired of this stuff after a while and when we put out from Brest on the fourth voyage I got this fellow on deck in rough weather and began talking to him about the chap who had gone overboard the time before and had been cut up by the propeller. I pretended that, of course, he knew all about it—that the Old Man had had this garby pushed overboard because he was too free with his mouth. But this did not seem to do any good, so I had to think up another way.

When we were out two days I got hold of our prize liar again. I figured that he would be superstitious and I was right. I said that of course he knew that a ship could not draw near Cape Helles and get away again unless at least one man was lost, or that, if it did get away, there would be many casualties aboard. I said it had always been that way and claimed that the Old Man had pushed this garby overboard because someone had to go. I said on our other trips no one had been sacrificed and that was the reason we had suffered so much, and that the Old Man had been called down by the French minister of the navy. I told him the Old Man would pick on whatever garby he thought he could best spare.

That was all I had to tell him. Either he thought the Old Man knew of his yarning or else he did not think himself of much account, for he disappeared that very watch and we did not see him again until we were on the homeward voyage and a steward happened to dig into a provision hold. There was our lying friend, with a life belt on, another under his head, and the tight of a rope around his waist, fast asleep. Why he had the rope I do not know, but he was scared to death and thought we were going to chuck him overboard at once. I think he must have told the officers everything, because I noticed them looking pretty hard at me—or at least I thought I did; maybe it was my conscience, if I may brag about having one—and I thought one of the lieutenants was just about to grin at me several times, but we never heard any more about it, or any more yarns from our wireless friend.

The fourth voyage was pretty rough, too. The old girl would sick her nose into the seas and many times I thought she would forget to come out. We had a lot of sand piled up against the wheelhouse and after we dived pretty deep one time and bucked out slowly, there was not a grain of sand left. It looked like the sea was just kidding us, for we were almost into quiet water, and here it had just taken one sea aboard to clean up the sand we carried all the way from Brest.

During the whole voyage you could not get near the galley, which was where our wireless friend hung out when he could. The pans and dishes hanging on the wall stood straight out when the ship pitched, and several heavy ones came down on a cook's head while he was sitting under them during a heavy sea. That made him superstitious, too, and he disappeared and was not found for two days. But he was a handcock and not used to heavy weather.

When we got to the Gallipoli peninsula the fifth time our battle fleet and transports lay off the straits. We could not reach the little harbor on the Turkish coast, but the whole fleet felt happy and fairly confident of victory. We lay off Cape Helles, and it was there we received the news that there were submarines lying around Gibraltar. Then they were reported off Malta. We got the news from British trawlers and transports. Our officers said the subs could not reach the Dardanelles without putting in somewhere for a fresh supply of fuel, and that the allied fleets were on the lookout at every place where the subs might try to put in. But they got there just the same.

Then the British superdreadnaught Queen Elizabeth, "the terror of the Turks," came in. She left England with a whole fleet of cruisers and destroyers, and all the Limeys said, "She'll get through. Nothing will stop her."

One of the boys aboard of her told me he had no idea the Dardanelles would be as hot a place as he found it was. "Gaw blimey," he said, "what with dodging shells and submarines, you can't 'elp but run onto a bloomin' mine. Hi don't mind tellin' you," he said, "that Hi was scared cold at first. And then Hi thinks of that 'Oly Joe' (the chaplain) told us one service. 'His times of dynger, look hupwards,' he says. So Hi looks hupwards, and blimey hif there wasn't a bally plane a-droppin' bombs hon us. 'What price hupward looks, Oly Joe? I sings out, but he weren't nowhere near. Blast me, there weren't nowhere you could look without doin' yer bloody heye a dirty trick."

When the Queen Elizabeth entered the Dardanelles, the Turkish batteries on both shores opened right on her. They had ideal positions, and they were banging away in great style. And the water was simply thick with mines, and for all anybody knew, with subs.

Yet the old Lizzie sailed right along, with her hand up on the main deck playing, "Everybody's Doing It." It made you feel shivery along the spine, and believe me, they got a great hand from the whole fleet.

They say her Old Man told the boys he was going to drive right ahead and that if the ship was sunk he would know that the enemy was somewhere in the vicinity. Well, they were headed right, but they never got past the Narrows. They stuck until the last minute though, and those who went up, went up with the right spirit. "Are we downhearted?" they would yell. "No!" And they were not, either. They did not brag when they put it over on the Turks, and they did not grouch when they saw that their Red Cape had made mistakes. Their motto was, "Try again," and they tried day after day. I do not know much about the histories of armies, but I do not believe there was ever an army like that of the allies in the Gallipoli campaign, and I do not think any other army could have done what they did. I take off my hat to the British army and navy after that.

It was hotter than I have ever known it to be elsewhere, and there was no water for the boys ashore but what the navy brought to them—sometimes a pint a day, and often none at all. The Turks had positions that you could not expect any army to take, were well supplied with ammunition and were used to the country and the climate. Most of the British army were green troops. It was the Anzac's first campaign.

They were wonderful boys, these Australians and New Zealanders. Great big men, all of them, and finely built, and they fought like devils. It was hand-to-hand work half the time; hardly any shells, no water, sometimes no food. They made a mark there at Gallipoli that the world will have to be wiser to beat.

Our boys were on the job, too. We held our part of the works until the time came for everybody to quit, and it was no picnic. The French should be very proud of the work their navy did there in the Dardanelles.

On our sixth trip I saw H. M. S.

Goliath get it. She was struck three times by torpedoes and then shelled. The men were floundering around in the water, with shrapnel cutting the waves all around them. Only a hundred odd of her crew were saved.

One day, off Cape Helles, during our seventh trip at the Dardanelles, we sighted a sub periscope just about dinner time. The Prince George and a destroyer sighted the sub at the same time, and the Prince George let go two rounds before the periscope disappeared, but did not hit the mark. Transports, battleships and cruisers were thick around there, all at anchor, and it was a great place for a sub to be.

In no time at all the destroyers breezed out with their tails in the air, throwing a smoke screen around the larger ships. They hunted high and low, all over the spot where she had been sighted and all around it, thinking to ram it or bring it to the surface, so we could take a crack at it. All the rest of the fleet—battleships and transports—weighed anchor at once and steamed ahead at full speed.

It was a great sight. Any new ship coming up would have thought the British and French navies had gone crazy. We did not have any fixed course, but were steaming as fast as we could in circles and half circles, and dashing madly from port to starboard. We were not going to allow that sub to get a straight shot at us, but we almost rammed ourselves doing it. It was a case of chase-tail for every ship in the fleet.

But the sub did not show itself again that day, and we anchored again. That night, while the destroyers were around the ships, we slipped our cables and patrolled the coast along the Australian position at Gaba Tepe, but we did not anchor.

The following day the Albion went ashore in the fog, south of Gaba Tepe, and as soon as the fog lifted the Turks let loose and gave it to her hot. A Turkish ship came up and, with any kind of gunnery, could have raked her fore and aft, but the Turks must have been pretty shy of gun sense, for they only got in one hit before they were driven off by H. M. S. Canopus, which has made such a fine record in this war.

Then the Canopus pulled in close to the Albion, got a wire hawser aboard, and attempted to tow her out under a heavy fire, but as soon as she started pulling, the cable snapped. The crew of the Albion were ordered aft and jumped up on the quarter deck to try and shift the bow off the bank. At the same time the fore turret and the fore six-inch guns opened up a hot fire on the Turkish positions to lighten the ship and shift her by the concussion of the guns. For a long time they could not budge her. Then the Canopus got another hawser aboard and, with guns going and the crew jumping and the Canopus pulling, the old Albion finally slid off and both ships backed into deep water with little harm done to either. Then they returned to their old anchorages.

At Cape Helles every one was wide-awake. We were all on the lookout for subs and you could not find one man napping. Anything at all passed for a periscope—tins, barrels, spars. Dead horses generally float in the water with one foot sticking up, and we gave the alarm many a time when it was only some old nag on his way to Davy's locker.

On the Cassard the old Man posted a reward of 50 francs for the first man who sighted a periscope. This was a good idea, but believe me he would have had trouble making the award, for every man on the ship would be sure to see it at the same time. Each man felt sure he would be the man to get the reward. The 14-pounders were loaded and ready for action on a second's notice. But the reward was never claimed.

Depew gets into a hot place when he volunteers for service in the trenches at Gallipoli. After a battle he finds his pal a victim of Hun frightfulness. The next installment tells the story.

Martial Law. Martial law is not a law at all in the usual sense of that term; it is really the abrogation of law. It is an order that supersedes civil law, and is employed in time of extreme peril to the state or municipality from without or within, when the general safety cannot be trusted to the ordinary administration of government, or the public welfare demands the adoption and execution of extraordinary measures.

Many Mothers Ignore Science. The doctors say we must not, but what harm does it do to suck a baby? It brings sleep and it brings milk, for no mother ever reared her child without an infancy accompaniment. It's all good, however, because steady science has said that it must go. The only baby that has a chance today is the one who is born at sea on the first day of a long voyage.—Exchange.

A Coated Tongue? What it Means

A bad breath, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, languor and debility, are usually signs that the liver is out of order.

PROF. HEMMETER says: "The liver is an organ of secondary importance only to the heart." We can manufacture poisons within our own bodies which are as deadly as a snake's venom. The liver acts as a guard over our well-being, sifting out the cinders and ashes from the general circulation. A blockade in the intestines piles a heavy burden upon the liver. If the intestines are choked or clogged up, the circulation of the blood becomes poisoned and the system becomes loaded with toxic waste, and we suffer from headaches, yellow-coated tongue, bad taste in mouth, nausea, or gas, acid dyspepsia, languor, debility, yellow skin or eyes. At such times one should take a pleasant laxative. Such a one is made of May-apple, leaves of aloe, jalap, put into ready-to-use form by Doctor Pierce, nearly fifty years ago, and sold for 25 cents by all druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

STOCKTON, CALIF.—"For constipation, sick headache, an inactive liver, indigestion and biliousness there is nothing to equal Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. I have tried other things but like the 'Pellets' best of any."—MRS. F. CAMPBELL, 429 S. Grant Street.

Occupation for an Idle Moment. "Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "have you a minute to spare?" "Yes." "Well, I wish you would tell me exactly what is meant by 'league of nations' and 'freedom of the seas.'"

Lumps of undigested food causing pain. When your stomach is acid, gassy, sour, or you have flatulence, heartburn, here is instant relief—No waiting!

Just as soon as you eat a tablet or two of Pape's Diapepsin all that dyspepsia, indigestion and stomach distress ends. These pleasant, harmless tablets of Pape's Diapepsin never fail to make sick, upset stomachs feel fine at once, and they cost very little at drug stores. AD.

Suffered For Years Back and Kidneys Were in Bad Shape, But Doan's Removed all the Trouble

"My kidneys were so weak that the least cold I caught would affect them and start my back aching until I could hardly endure the misery," says Mrs. D. C. Ross, 315 Fulton St., Brooklyn, N. Y. "In the morning when I first got up, my back was so lame, I could hardly bend over and any move sent darts of pain through my kidneys. It was hard for me to walk up stairs or stoop, and to move while lying down sent darts of pain through me. The kidney secretions were scanty and distressing and the water remained in my system, making my feet and hands swell. There were dark circles under my eyes and I became so dizzy I could hardly see. It was all I could do to get around. For years I was in that state and I wore plasters and used all kinds of medicine to no avail until I tried Doan's Kidney Pills. They rid me of the trouble and strengthened my back and kidneys. When I have taken Doan's pills, they have always benefited me."

Why Meat Prices Vary in Different Stores

Prime steers.....	$13.00@13.50
Good to choice steers.....	12.00@12.50
Common to medium steers.....	10.75@11.75
Yearlings, fair to fancy.....	14.00@15.00
Fat cows and heifers.....	8.00@11.00
Canner cows and heifers.....	7.25@ 8.25
Hulls, plain to best.....	6.50@12.50
Fair to fancy calves.....	8.75@12.75
Western range steers.....	10.00@12.00

These newspaper quotations represent live cattle prices in Chicago on December 30th, 1918.

The list shows price ranges on nine general classified groups with a spread of $13.85 per cwt.
 —the lowest at $6.50 and the highest at $20.35.

Why this variation in price?

Because the meat from different animals varies greatly in quality and weight.

Although the quotations
 shown are in nine divisions,
Swift & Company grades cattle into 34 general classes, and each class into a variety of weights and qualities.

As a result of these differences in cattle prices, (due to differences in weights and meat qualities), there is a range of 15 cents in Swift & Company's selling prices of beef carcasses.

These facts explain:

- 1—Why retail prices vary in different stores.
- 2—Why it would be difficult to regulate prices of cattle or beef.
- 3—Why it requires experts to judge cattle and to sell meat, so as to yield the profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound—a profit too small to affect prices.

Bolshevik agitation in the United States shows no promise of reaching a stage of open disorder, according to Department of Justice officials, who have been observing the movement. WAR AGAINST SERBS

MONTENEGRO REVOLT AGAINST OCCUPATION BY SERBIAN TROOPS.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Basel.—Dr. Karl Liebknecht has been shot and killed while trying to escape as he was being taken to prison. It is also reported that Rosa Luxembourg, Mr. Liebknecht's chief lieutenant, was also shot dead after being beaten into unconsciousness by a crowd at Berlin.

Washington.—Occupation of Montenegro by Serbian troops has resulted in a revolt by the Montenegrins, according to an official statement issued here at the Montenegrin legation. Insurgents numbering 20,000 have succeeded in occupying several towns, from which the Serbian forces were driven. The insurgents, the announcement said, have sent a delegation to King Nicholas at Paris asking that American troops be sent to Montenegro to preserve order.

Archangel.—"It will probably take half a million allied soldiers six months to crush the present Moscow government and set up a stable authority in Russia," President Tchakovsky of the provisional government said in an interview here.

"Only by the allies' strong force can Russia be saved from almost complete destruction. Left to our own weakened resources it would take us years to restore peace and in the meantime the Bolsheviki would have destroyed the personal and state property and, more tragic, the finest brains and men in Russia."

Will Be Restricted News.

Paris.—The supreme council of the Peace Congress has decided that hereafter all information concerning the proceedings will be restricted to an official communique prepared jointly by the secretaries of the delegations of the five great powers. The delegates will not comment on or give any information except that contained in the official statement. The inauguration of the Peace Congress was carried out with ceremonies befitting such an occasion. The plenipotentiaries will sit around a horseshoe table, the middle part of this table being reserved for officers. The delegations will be grouped by states in alphabetical order as they appear in the Almanach de Gotha. American delegates will be at one end, then those of the British empire, France, Italy and Japan in the order named. After them will come representatives of other states, also seated alphabetically.

War Time Expenditures.

Washington.—In response to a resolution, the Food Administration reported to the Senate that its actual wartime expenditures, according to incomplete estimates, totaled $6,785,253, of which $2,942,936 was taken from the President's special funds. In addition contract obligations of $1,432,542 are outstanding.

Arrests German Girls.

Coblentz.—Twenty German girls at Andernach, near here, have been arrested charged with a violation of General Pershing's order forbidding them to talk with American soldiers. These arrests have served to emphasize the determination of the American command not to permit fraternization in occupied regions. Approximately the same number have been proved guilty of violating the order and have been deported to points within the German lines. The provost guard or military police are certain to interfere should an officer or soldier attempt to talk to a woman on the street or in a cafe.

Industrial Workers Convicted.

Sacramento, Cal.—All the forty-six defendants in the Industrial Workers of the World conspiracy case were found guilty by a jury in the United States District Court at Sacramento. The verdict, "guilty as charged," was returned after 1 hour and 20 minutes. Sentence was imposed by United States Judge Frank H. Rodkin of Spokane.

Western Canada offers the greatest advantages to home owners. Large profits are secured. You can buy on easy payment terms.

Fertile Land at $15 to $30 per Acre—Land similar to that which through many years has averaged from 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Hundreds of acres are on record where in Western Canada a single crop has paid the cost of land and production. The Government of the Dominion and Province of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta want the farmer to prosper, and extend every possible encouragement and help to Grain Growing and Stock Raising.

Though Western Canada has long been a rich land, the high prices of grain, cattle, sheep and hogs will remain. Loans for the purchase of stock may be had at low interest rates and good grazing facilities for the raising of stock are available. It is often puzzling to understand the financial success of an acquaintance who has merely ordinary ability.

Usually these successes are the result of a person's making the very utmost of both what ability he has and what money he earns.

Money in a savings account at this bank earns good wages—4% interest compounded semi-annually. Besides this, a willing personal service—practical to the furtherance of one's interests—is extended to every depositor regardless of the size of the account.

YOUR FLAG AND MY FLAG

Characteristic of the Hun

With The American Army Of Occupation, Jan. 23, 1919.—Theodore Roosevelt's death made impossible the scheme of Lieut. W. W. Tanney, of Pittsburg, an aviator, to deliver to the one-time President a picture postcard which was circulated widely in war-time Germany, showing the body of his youngest son, Lieut. Quentin Roosevelt lying face upward beside his shattered biplane. The photograph evidently was staged for propaganda purposes by Boche photographers and spread broadcast through Germany by the Kaiser's military authorities to show the people convincing proof of the death of one of Mr. Roosevelt's warrior sons, a typical piece of Boche propaganda.

Y. M. C. A. workers found Lt. Tanney when they entered Strassburg with relief for American wounded and prisoners. He wore a bloodstained blouse he had on when he was shot down from the sky while on a daylight bombing raid on Cologne. At that time nine Boche aviators attacked him. Tanney was shot through the shoulders and lungs. While in the hospital he obtained possession of a picture postcard which he displayed to the Y. M. C. A. men who took comforts to him. He confided to the "Y" workers then that as soon as he returned to America he intended to give the postcard to Theodore Roosevelt.

To start life minus both hands, and in spite of this handicap to achieve a practical success, is the living illustration Lacy Simms presents to the maimed of America's armies, of how to succeed despite physical disabilities. Mr. Simms addressed the crippled inmates of the base hospital, orthopedic section, yesterday morning on the subject of reconstruction, and with his two stumps demonstrated to them that hands are not the necessary appendages most people think they are. Mr. Simms lost both his hands when he was 7 years old, playing in his father's cotton mill. Afterward he graduated from Oberlin college, Ohio, and won success. He can do anything with his two stumps of arms that any one else can do with their hands. NO ROOM FOR PESSIMISM

Canada as a Nation Builder.

With Canada's great task in the war before the public, the burdens that she so willingly took and so ably carried, and her recent victory in subscribing $175,000,000 to the 5th Victory Bond Loan more than she asked, he would be a skeptic who would associate the word pessimism with her present condition. Canada deprecates the heavy human loss which she has suffered, but even those akin to those lost in battle say with cheerfulness that while the sacrifice was great, the cause was wonderful, and accept their sufferings with grace. It may well be said there is no room in Canada today for the pessimist. The agricultural production of the country has doubled in four years. $140,000,000 are the railway earnings today or 3 1/2 times what they were ten years ago, while the bank deposits are now $1,733,000,000 as compared with $133,000,000 thirty years ago.

There is a wonderful promise for the future.

It is with buoyancy that Canada faces an era of peace. She has triumphed over the soul-testing crisis of war. Before the war Canada was a borrower, and expected to continue so for many years. For the past year and a half we have seen her finance herself. She has also been furnishing credits to other nations.

A recent article in the "Boston Transcript" says:

"The people at home have not been lagging behind the boys at the front in courage, resourcefulness and efficiency. The development of Canada's war industry is an industrial romance of front rank. American Government officials can testify to the efficiency of the manufacturing plant Canada has built up in four short years. In Department after Department where they found American industry failed them they were able to turn to Canada. The full story may be revealed some day."

The same paper says:

"It is a new Canada that emerges from the world war in 1918—a nation transformed from that which entered the conflict in 1914.

"The war has taken from Canada a cruel toll. More than 50,000 of her bravest sons lie in soldiers' graves in Europe. Three times that number have been more or less incapacitated by wounds. The cost of the war in money is estimated to be already $1,100,000,000. These are not light losses for a country of 8,000,000 people. Fortunately there is also a credit side. Canada has found herself in this war. She has discovered not merely the gallantry of her soldiers, but the brains and capacity and efficiency of her whole people. In every branch, in arms, in industry, in finance, she has had to measure her wits against the world, and in no case has Canada reason to be other than gratified."—Advertisement.

Treason.

Treason is a good deal like the itch—a fellow afflicted with it can hardly keep still.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and maybe dependent; it makes anyone so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

A good kidney medicine, possessing real healing and curative value, should be a blessing to thousands of nervous, over-worked women.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney liver and bladder medicine will do for them. Every reader of this paper, who has not already tried it, by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase the medium and large size bottles at all drug stores. Adv.

HIS DEATH GREAT LOSS TO NATION

Theodore Roosevelt's Life Work Is Warmly Praised by All His Countrymen.

BRAVE FIGHTER FOR RIGHT

Public Men and Private Citizens Unite in Paying Tribute to the Colonel's Patriotism and Tremendous Influence for Good.

The death of Col. Theodore Roosevelt called forth a flood of eulogies from his countrymen who recognized his greatness of soul, his undiluted Americanism and the powerful influence for good of his deeds and words. Some of these tributes follow:

SECRETARY OF STATE LANSING—The death of Col. Roosevelt removes from our national life a great American. His vigor of mind and ceaseless energy made him a conspicuous figure in public affairs. Friends and enemies alike recognized the force of his personality and the great influence he had in molding public thought and purpose. His patriotism and devotion to his country will long be remembered by all his fellow citizens, while his sturdy Americanism will be an inspiration to future generations.

ACTING SECRETARY OF STATE FRANK L. POLK—He was one of the most striking figures in the history of his country, and, in fact, of his time. It is impossible to measure today what he did to arouse the political conscience of the American people.

NEWTON D. BAKER, Secretary of War—His relations to the navy and to the army are, of course, a part of the history of those two services, and during his terms as president he brought his powerful personality and energy to bear upon economic problems of the greatest moment. I do not know of any career which combines so many diversified and intensely pursued activities—frontierman, explorer, naturalist, seaman, soldier, executive and publicist. In each of these relations he was conspicuous and left his mark.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS, Secretary of the Navy—He has blazed new paths and refused to be fettered by conventions that other distinguished men recognized. Original, forceful, courageous, he was the mentor of millions of his fellow countrymen who will miss his inspiring leadership. Believing in himself and the cause he espoused, he threw himself into every conflict with every power of mind and body.

FRANKLIN K. LANE, Secretary of the Interior—Colonel Roosevelt was a great man, a very great man—great in his soul, great in his personality, great in his conception of America's place in the world. He will sit at one of the high tables.

CARTER GLASS, Secretary of the Treasury—Colonel Roosevelt was an extraordinary figure and leaves a legacy of patriotic endeavor and useful achievement of which those who most respected and honored him will always be proud.

DIRECTOR GENERAL MADOO—Colonel Roosevelt's prodigious activities made him one of the most conspicuous figures in public life. We are too near the event to place a just estimate on his life and career, but he will always be distinguished for one great achievement—the construction of the Panama canal.

FORMER PRESIDENT TAFT—The country can ill afford in this critical period of history to lose one who has done and could in the next decade have done so much for it and humanity. We have lost a great patriotic American, a great world figure, the most commanding personality in our public life since Lincoln. I mourn his going as a personal loss.

SENATOR LENROTH of Wisconsin—I regard Colonel Roosevelt's death as a very great calamity for the nation. His usefulness is familiar to all, but I believe that his greatest usefulness might have been in the future.

SENATOR LEWIS of Illinois—The death of Colonel Roosevelt is the loss of a great man, of a great force, and the loss of a great benefit to America. Whatever differences men may have with Colonel Roosevelt on party lines or political principles, all must certify that his fight for cleanliness and integrity in public life did much to rid the nation of corruption in public affairs. All must admit that his labors to force corporate monopoly to yield to private welfare and personal rights justified this country upon the course of justice.

SENATOR HARDING of Ohio—He was one of the foremost citizens of the world, in a most extraordinary era, and he was the most vigorous and courageous American of his time. There is no direct legate to his vast political estate.

SENATOR KENTON of Iowa—His virile American utterances were helping to bring order out of diplomatic chaos. In my judgment he was the greatest American since Abraham Lincoln.

SENATOR NEW of Indiana—Intellectually, he was in the first rank among those who have figured in our public life, and for versatility and application he was without an equal. He was a true patriot, a thorough American at all times and in all respects.

SENATOR MARTIN of Virginia—He met all the responsibilities of citizenship in the most courageous manner. A characteristic of his life was his unqualified courage. He never had a conviction in his life that he did not have the courage to follow it. He was a man of unlimited courage, of limitless resources, and of unbounded patriotism.

SENATOR LODGE of Massachusetts—He was a great patriot, a great American, a great man. He was devoted throughout his life to his country. He tried always to be a servant of humanity.

SENATOR KELLOGG of Minnesota—He was a great commender, who in his heart cherished the cause of the masses—a man of the most intense patriotism who placed the advancement of humanity and the cause of his country above all other considerations.

SENATOR JOHNSON of California—The greatest American of our generation has passed away. He had a truer vision, a higher courage, a wiser statesmanship than any man of our time. I cannot speak of him in ordinary terms. To me he had no parallel—none approached him in virility or force or profound knowledge of varied subjects.

SENATOR CHAMBERLAIN of Oregon—A truer, more loyal American never lived.

SENATOR KNOX of Pennsylvania—His life was so abundant, so open, and so familiar that observations at this time upon his career as a statesman would be superfluous if not misplaced. He was America's greatest living human asset.

REPRESENTATIVE MEDILL M'CORMICK—He was the greatest American of our time. We are his debtors for his tremendous labors in the regeneration of our public life, for the quickening of our national spirit, for the reanimation of our patriotism.

REPRESENTATIVE JAMES R. MANN—I think Roosevelt was the most wonderful individual character in the world. He was a student of mankind and so prodigiously active that his influence was tremendous and his loss will be deeply felt here and in other countries.

REPRESENTATIVE FESS, chairman of the Republican congressional committee—His death at this moment is a national calamity. Never were his talents so much needed as now.

FORMER SPEAKER CANNON—Colonel Roosevelt's place in history will be as one of the great presidents of the public. He kept in closer touch with the legislative department than any other president I have known.

REPRESENTATIVE GILLET of Massachusetts—Colonel Roosevelt was the most remarkable man America has produced since the Civil war. His general knowledge was unbounded, his personal magnetism extraordinary.

REPRESENTATIVE CHALLENGER of Nebraska—It is inexpressibly sorrowful that he should be taken away at this crisis in the affairs of government and mankind.

REPRESENTATIVE SHERLEY, chairman of the house appropriations committee—Mr. Roosevelt was one of the really great men of his age and above all else was wholly an American.

CHARLES STANS HUGHES—The death of Colonel Roosevelt is an irreparable loss to the nation. His virility and courage were a constant inspiration. He personified the Americanism of which he was the most doughty champion. He demanded the recognition and performance of our national obligation in the war. Back of all that was done in the war was the pressure of his relentless insistence. In response to his patriotic call lay the safety of civilization and in this hour of complete victory the whole world is his debtor.

SAMUEL GOMPERS, president of the American Federation of Labor—I regard the death of Colonel Roosevelt a very great loss. He rendered service of incalculable benefit to the world. I knew him for thirty-five years in all his public activities. I worked with him and every one, even those who differed with him, conceded his sincerity of purpose, his high motives and his anxiety to serve the people.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN—The rare qualities which won for Colonel Roosevelt a multitude of devoted followers naturally arrayed against him a host of opponents, but his death puts an end to controversy and he will be mourned by foe as well as by friend. He was a great American and made a profound impression in the thought of his generation. His picturesque career will form a fascinating chapter in our nation's history.

CHIEF JUSTICE WHITE—Mr. Roosevelt's death brings to me a sense of deep sorrow, of personal loss. While he was president his kindly consideration never failed and many opportunities were afforded me for observing the highness of his innate ideals and his courage, all of which combined to make him the distinguished, not to say phenomenal, man he was.

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE WILLIAM R. DAY—Every one appreciates that we have lost one of the greatest Americans, one of the first citizens of the world, at a time when we can ill afford to lose him.

MAJ. GEN. LEONARD WOOD—The death of my friend, Theodore Roosevelt, brings to me great personal loss and sorrow, but keen and deep as these are, they are but the sorrow and loss of an individual. The national loss is irreparable, for his death comes at a time when his services to this nation can ill be spared. Never was America more in need of his frankness and courage, his honest criticism, and far-seeing wisdom than at present. Unselfish loyalty, honest and fearless criticism always characterized the life and work of Theodore Roosevelt and he lived and worked always for his country's best interest. While we shall not have the living voice and presence, we shall always have the example of his life.

PRESIDENT POINCARRE of France—Friend of liberty, friend of France, Roosevelt has given, without counting sons and daughters, his energy that liberty may live. We are grateful to him. We wish to express to Mrs. Roosevelt our most sincere condolence.

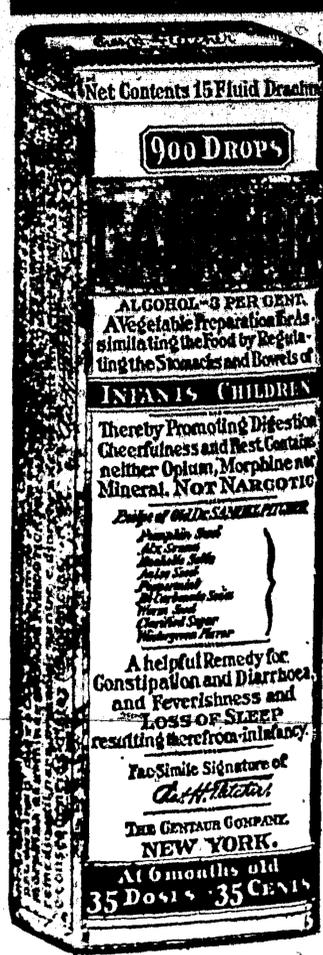

J. J. JUSSERAND, French ambassador to the United States—The unexpected death of one who has upheld all his life the principles of virile manhood, straightforward honesty and fearlessness will be mourned all over the world, nowhere more sincerely than in France, whose cause he upheld in her worst crisis in a way that shall never be forgotten.

HENRY WHITE, one of the American peace commissioners—I have heard of Mr. Roosevelt's death with deep sorrow because of the loss to the nation of a great public servant and to myself of a lifelong friend.

HERBERT C. HOOVER—America is poorer for the loss of a great citizen, the world for the loss of a great man. His virility and Americanism has been one of our national treasures.

COL. E. M. HOUSE—The entire world will share the grief which will be felt in the United States over the death of Theodore Roosevelt. He was the virile and courageous leader of his generation and will live in history as one of our greatest presidents.

GOVERNOR LOWDEN of Illinois—The nation has suffered a loss it cannot well afford at this time. Theodore Roosevelt has been a dominant force in American life for thirty years. During all his life he has sought and striven for a better, juster society. His robust and fearless Americanism was like a bugle call to his countrymen, whenever danger threatened from within or without. Whether in office or private life, he was a leader of thought and an inspirer of action.

WEAK KIDNEYS MEAN A WEAK BODY

When you're fifty, your body begins to creak a little at the hinges. Motion is more slow and deliberate. "Not so young as I used to be" is a frequent and unwelcome thought. Certain bodily functions upon which good health and good spirits so much depend, are impaired. The weak spot is generally the bladder. Unpleasant symptoms show themselves. Painful and annoying complications in other organs arise. This is particularly true with elderly people. If you only know how, this trouble can be obviated.

WOMEN KNOW JOY OF INDEPENDENCE

MRS. E. B. REPERT
 Federal Chairman Women's Liberty Loan Committee.

Thrift and economy, championed by the womanhood of America, have won the struggle against greed and rapacity. Cannons and guns and men did their part on the field of battle but it was the savings of the men and women at home that put them there.

Out of the four-years tragedy has come the lesson of thrift. Not the niggardly hoarding of the miser, but the knowledge of the value of economy that produced the cage advice of Burns:

"Save money, not for to hide it in a hedge,
 Nor for a train attendant;
 But for the glorious privilege
 Of being independent."

Women have always been the savers in the home, from necessity, but "the glorious privilege of being independent," gained from the fulfillment of a patriotic duty, has given them an incentive to economize and save for the sheer joy of saving.

A far-seeing government has provided us with a means of saving—Thrift Stamps, War Savings Certificates, Liberty Bonds—which, apart from their use in winning the war, have proved to be one of the greatest moral and material blessings ever devised.

There has been no letting down of effort by the women of the Eleventh Federal Reserve District because the Fourth Liberty Loan was put over successfully and war was declared ended soon after. It has ever been the part of women to do quietly, but effectively, those duties requiring persistent effort, with a thought only for the final result. Patiently and steadily the officers of the Women's

Wanted to Keep Warm

Last Monday morning Detective Ben West received a telegram from the officers at Tucumcari, notifying him that a soldier had stolen some blankets from a hotel at that place, and said soldier would be on No. 3 and asked that he be arrested here.

Officers West and Kelsey were on hand when the train pulled in, but the soldier with the blankets was not found in the coaches. Detective West, whose varied experience in hunting "crooks" led him to believe the man to be stealing his way, made for the baggage car platform where he found three men instead of one, two of whom were dressed in soldier's clothes.

They were arrested and taken to jail where they gave the names of Geo. Georgens, P. E. Null and George Connolly, the first named being in possession of the blankets, and the last named giving his age as 17, when his looks betrayed him as having enjoyed about 30 long yellow summers.

The one soldier, Null, proved himself innocent of being implicated in the stealing, but upon being questioned convicted himself of being a deserter from Ft. Bliss. Georgens and Connolly admitted to stealing the blankets which were returned to Tucumcari with the guilty pair. When Mr. West arrived at Tucumcari with his prisoners, the kind hearted landlady of the hotel from where the goods were stolen would not enter a complaint against the men, so they were released, and when the officer alighted from the train on his return trip he found that his former prisoners had arrived just the length of two cars ahead of him.

Liberty Loan Committees have been preparing the way for the next great demand, unchecked by the fact that bloodshed has ceased.

As chairman of the Women's Liberty Loan Committee of the Eleventh Federal Reserve District, I ask every woman in the district to be true to the traditions of our sex. Through necessity we learned to save. We can now put to use the knowledge gained of independence through saving. We owe this duty to our children, our families, ourselves, and our country.

(MRS.) E. B. REPERT.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

FAIRYLAND BALL

Listen all, listen all, Come to the ball, come to the ball. It will be great. For we're going to skate, And we're going to slide, And also to glide! Yes, come to the ball, Come to the ball!

So sang the Fairy Queen, and her voice sounded far out through Fairyland. All of the fairies were much excited for they hadn't had a ball in some time.

And the gnomes and the elves and the brownies and all the other little Fairyland creatures began to get ready for the great ball.

"Of course I'm coming, I'm coming," sounded the voice of old Mr. Giant as he sang out his answer through the snowy woods.

And old Witty Witch shouted through a great and mighty horn which she had: "I'm coming, I'm coming, I'm coming on time."

"This is the truth as well as a rhyme!" The Fairy Queen was much pleased that every one seemed to be so anxious to come, and she began to get ready for the great ball.

They all arrived in the afternoon before it became dark. The snow was falling very gently and it seemed to sparkle like diamonds as it fell. The great pine trees were heavy with it, and the other trees looked very lovely too with their blankets of snow.

"Will you help me, pine trees?" asked the Fairy Queen. And the pine trees bowed their great heads and said in their soft, woodland whispers: "Oh—oh—oh—we want to help, we want to help."

So the Fairy Queen gathered together some of her best helpers and they put icicles in such a way as to make a beautiful entrance hall of icicles, supported by the great pine trees and their snowy covering.

It indeed looked like Fairyland when the Fairy Queen had finished. Everything was covered with snow and with icicles and arranged in such a way that every one screamed with joy and surprise and admiration when they saw it. They arrived at the ball just on time.

Mr. Sun was peeping through the trees and making the scene a very dazzling one. Oh, how the snow and the icicles did look as Mr. Sun looked through at them and smiled. It just seemed as though everything were smiling, smiling smiles of the beautiful winter with its snow and its ice and its diamondlike sparkling.

They had a most perfect time for they danced on the beautiful carpet of snow, they sang songs and the echoes sounded through the deep woods. Oh, how clearly their voices did sound on that cold, clear afternoon, for the snow had stopped falling when the guests arrived.

They skated on a nearby pond, and they danced on the ice while some of the fairies sang to make music for the dancers. Some of the guests coasted on great sleds down a hill, just beyond the woods where they were having the ball, and the sun blinked, and the sun winked and the sun said: "Oh, such a ball! It's wonderful. Every one is happy and glad and gay. I hope every one will always be that way."

"You've made a rhyme, Mr. Sun," they said. "I didn't know I was going to," said Mr. Sun. "You didn't know you were a poet, eh?" they asked.

"I didn't," said Mr. Sun. "And I don't think I'm one now after those two little lines."

"We think you are, Mr. Sun, and we're glad you're our guest."

Mr. Sun smiled at the compliment of the fairies. "I must be going now," he said.

"We've all loved having you; you've greatly added to the party." And as Mr. Sun disappeared behind a hill, all the fairies and gnomes and brownies and elves, led by the Fairy Queen, Witty Witch and Mr. Giant sang:

We love Mr. Sun, He is such fun, he is such fun!

They danced on the ice.

They danced on the ice.

WIPED FROM EARTH

Only Dust Remains of Proud City of Babylon.

Belshazzar's Glorious Capital Now Visited Only by the Archeologist in Search of Mementoes of a Long-Past Age.

The city of Babylon of today is represented by nothing more than mounds of debris, in which archeologists dig for burnt-clay books and other treasures. There is no stone whatever in that region, where the land is a mere alluvial deposit, and all the great structures of Babylon, erected by the labor of myriads of slaves taken in war, were of sun-dried brick faced with burned brick.

Babylon, a long time ago was captured by the army of Cyrus. The town was "wet" and the population used to stage some high old times. It was provisioned for 20 years, and was by far the most formidably fortified city of antiquity, being surrounded by a wall 55 miles long, 350 feet high and 87 feet thick. Half a dozen four-horse chariots could be driven abreast along the top of the wall for the entire circuit of the metropolis, whose inhabitants numbered 2,000,000.

On a certain memorable night the whole city went on a spree. The guards deserted their posts and in the great palace of King Belshazzar a drunken orgy reigned.

The banks of the Euphrates where it ran directly through the city were defended by walls corresponding in height and thickness to that which encircled Babylon. They were pierced at suitable intervals (where streets ran parallel across the town) for ferry gates, which were massive affairs of bronze. The river bottom, within the city limits, was paved with brick. For if desired, as had happened when huge quays were built, the Euphrates could be turned out of its course, its waters being diverted into an artificial reservoir 160 miles in circumference outside the walls. This engineering expedient, in fact, had made it practicable to pave the bottom.

On the night of the most famous jamboree in history, Cyrus, being helped by spies within the walls, turned the Euphrates out of its course and marched his army over the dry river bed into the city, entering through one or more river gates which had been left open. The royal palace, a vast structure on the west bank, was captured; Belshazzar, sword in hand, was slain, and the city belonged to Cyrus.

He did not destroy it, but, ceasing to be a center of dominion, it shrank. A large part of the population migrated, deserting Babylon, whose huge walls and gigantic buildings (including the tower of Babel and the famous hanging gardens, built by Nebuchadnezzar for the enjoyment of his wife Amytis) soon fell to pieces.

The memory of Florence Nightingale, the world's first woman war nurse, is honored in the design of the insignia of the American Army Nurses' School, just established this year. Florence Nightingale, in the Crimean war, was known as "the Lady of the Lamp," and the new insignia has a lamp superimposed on the caduceus of the medical corps. This, the first military school for nurses ever established, has 1,000 students already enrolled, and 5,000 others have been accepted for the three-year course. Each student will wear the uniform and insignia of the school.

What difference, if any, the signing of the armistice and the end of the war may have upon the hospital training plans has not been announced. It is supposed that the work will continue.

About 65 appointees of retiring Governor Houz will be affected by the changed administration.

Judge W. R. McGill of Fort Sumner, who has had five nephews in active service with the expeditionary forces overseas, is of the opinion that fate has played it hard on him in the fact that four of the five were casualties in action one after the other just a few days before the signing of the armistice. Clarence McGill was shot through the head, Amos Childress and Grady Miller were killed and Frank Childress is reported as missing in action.

The discovery of the mineral asbestos adds another to the long list of minerals known to exist in Grant county and adds to the belief that much yet remains undiscovered in this stretch of highly mineralized country. A deposit of asbestos was brought to light recently in western Grant county and though not found in commercial quantities yet the find is sufficient to establish without doubt the presence of this peculiar mineral.

Washington.—Road building on an intensive scale is predicted by government officials this year. Estimates by the bureau of public roads and rural engineering indicate a minimum expenditure on highways of $300,000,000. Deferred construction and the improvement of existing roads so that greater use may be made of the parcel post system are expected to swell the total expenditures in the post-war period to $1,000,000,000. Cottage Cheese Made to Resemble What is Known as the Real Thing in Breakfast Dishes.

As a result of the follow-up work done by the Massachusetts state cottage cheese demonstrator, who is under the supervision of the Massachusetts State Agricultural college at Amherst, and the department of agriculture, a Berkshire county farmer is selling cottage cheese sausage.

The sausage, which resembles in flavor that made from pork, is made from cottage cheese, bread crumbs and nut meats and is seasoned with herbs. Its food value is nearly equal to pork sausage. Another farmer is planning to furnish a supply of the cottage-cheese sausage for the Pittsfield market. This appetizing substitute for meat was originated by the dairy division of the department of agriculture to further the use of cottage cheese.
