STATE EDUCATIONAL COUNCIL MEETS AT DUKE CITY

Albuquerque Captured by Teachers From All Parts of The State—Recommended Many Changes.

The vanguard of the New Mexico Educational Council arrived at Albuquerque last Friday and was followed by the arrival of educators from every nook and corner of the "Sunshine State." Superintendent J. L. G. Swinney of Gallup as president called the meeting to order. After the usual line of committees were appointed, a splendid paper was read by Prof. Hall of the State Normal at Silver City on "What Should Be Our Next Step In Providing a Better Teacher For New Mexico." The paper was a coherent, thoughtful and masterly presentation of the subject and evoked a goodly amount of enthusiasm.

Resolutions were adopted, the substance of which was, that the minimum salary limit now placed on teachers be removed and that salaries be paid for twelve calendar months; that the state constitution be amended so that the State Superintendent may be chosen as often as the people desire; that the county board be empowered by law to choose a county superintendent for as many years as it may desire; that a change in the certification of teachers be made so as to demand academic and professional preparation for teachers on the following plan: That in 1921 teachers should have an eighth grade certificate and at least four units in a standard high school and certain professional work; in 1923 no certificate should be issued to teachers unless they hold an eighth grade certificate and have secured at least eight units in a standard high school and certain professional work. These requirements apply to new teachers, who have not heretofore taught in our schools. In 1925, no teacher will be granted a certificate who has not secured twelve units and in 1927 they must furnish a high school diploma. These resolutions were signed by Roscoe R. Hill, chairman, James W. Brickley and Walter B. McFarland, committee.

The teachers were elaborately entertained by the Chamber of Commerce and people of Albuquerque in general; between the sessions, entertainments of various kinds were furnished, principal among which was the rare musical treat rendered by Miss Alma Beck and her accompanist, at which the teachers were the honor guests. The sessions have been wonderfully profitable and the teachers express their high appreciation of the manner in which the Duke City people have entertained them. Carrizozo was well represented, as was Lincoln county in general. Inasmuch as our delegates have not as yet returned, many things of interest must be laid over until next week.

General Angeles Faces Firing Squad; Dies

Gen. Felipe Angeles, Mexican revolutionary leader and famed throughout the world as a military genius, was executed at Chihuahua City, Mexico, November 25, following his conviction with two companions on charges of rebellion against the Mexican government. He was sentenced to death by four Mexican generals of the Carranza army, after which Gen. Angeles himself chose the place of his execution.

Opposite the revolutionary leader stood five soldiers with rifles ready; they fired one volley into the breast of Gen. Angeles; he fell forward on the floor of the barracks and an officer coming to the already dead body, delivered the "coup de grace," which was a shot from a pistol which entered behind the right ear.

Gen. Angeles was known throughout the world as a friend of Americans; during his trial he lauded this country and its citizens. He was a man of brilliant military understanding; a gentleman of high repute. He was the man who brought the French 75 millimeter gun to perfection and gave it world-wide fame. The death of Gen. Angeles has been a sad drawback to peace in war-ridden Mexico. His death will prove that the real enemies of a lasting peace in that land, are the people who were his executioners.

U. S. Court Will Convene At Roswell December 1

Roswell, N. M., Nov. 25.—United States court, with federal judge Colin Neblett presiding, will convene in Roswell on Monday, December 1, for a three-weeks' session. Judge Neblett, United States attorney Summers Burkhardt, United States marshal A. H. Hudspeth and clerk Wyly Parsons will arrive in this city the latter part of the week to spend several days before the opening of court here.

At the coming session a number of important cases involving alleged violations of the Reed amendment will come up for trial.

Federal court for the district of New Mexico has just adjourned in Albuquerque after a six weeks' session during which time 88 criminal indictments were disposed of.

Hold Up Gamblers

Denver, Colo., November 26.—Two masked men early this morning entered a gambling house here, lined up 30 players at the point of a gun, obtained $5,000.

The men were lined up with their faces to the wall while the bandits searched their pockets. One of the players slipped diamond rings worth $1,000 in a coat pocket and they were over-looked by the bandits.

"Jack The Bonehead" Makes Second Steal

Last Friday night Rolland's Drug Store was entered evidently by the same party that performed the bungling, window breaking stunt at Kelley's Hardware Store about two weeks ago. Entrance was gained through one of the back windows which is ten feet from the ground. To reach the window, the thief chisled out mortar from between the bricks to enable him to perform the "Human Fly" act in reaching the casing of the window after which he forced the window open with the break shoe of an automobile.

Although the light was burning in front of the store, the curtains were drawn which gave the thief a good chance to work. The articles taken were a case of knives, a case of watches, about one dozen razors, an assortment of candy and $8.00 in money all of which was in pennies, nickles and dimes. The thief, after satisfying his greed for loot, left the store by the side entrance leaving the door wide open, in which condition it was found early the next morning. We are in sympathy with the opinion that this petty thievery is being done by some one who lacks the understanding of the valuation of merchandise, for otherwise, he would have taken articles of more value. Again, the party, or parties would not have been well acquainted with the owner of the store, for anyone who could enjoy the acquaintance of A. J. Rolland (which would mean his friendship) and then steal from him, that party would be the most ungrateful of all human beings and would "Bite The Hand That Feeds Him."

Masonic Special

Carrizozo Lodge No. 41 held a special meeting Wednesday evening at which the lodge was honored by a visit from Worshipful Grand Master, A. D. Goldenberg, of Tucumcari. The Grand Master is making a tour of the state and in order to meet every appointment promptly, he could stay but a short time. He reminded the Carrizozo brethren of the fact that as a co-incident to his visit, that just ten years ago, on the night of Nov. 26th, he, acting at that time in the capacity of District-Deputy, organized Carrizozo lodge No. 41 and was glad to say that it is in a prosperous condition on equality with any lodge in the state. The Grand Master left for his home in Tucumcari on No. 2 Thursday to spend Thanksgiving with his family after which he will resume his work of touring the state.

New Orleans 'Wet' on Court Decision

New Orleans, Nov. 26.—Whiskey, beer and wines were sold openly over the counter in New Orleans today after Federal Judge Foster had declared war time prohibition unconstitutional.

Less than an hour after Judge Foster had enjoined federal authorities from interfering with the sale of bonded whiskies in compliance with the petition of the Herman Laiser Liquor company, bar rooms were serving liquor in steadily varied assortments.

"Little Grey Home In The West."

Mrs. F. F. Mudge left for National City, Cal. Monday, where Mr. Mudge lately made the purchase of a cosy and convenient bungalow home in that part of the "Golden State. The deal was brought about through an old friend of the Mudge family, who while out driving one evening, noticed the place for sale and thinking her friends might entertain a proposition of making the purchase, secured an option until she could hear from them, which terminated in the purchase.

The place is situated on Highland avenue, in a suburb of National City. A Modern four room bungalow nestles amid rich bearing fruit trees of every description: olives, figs, peaches, pears, all of which brings forth a yield of different varieties, besides many species of smaller fruit such as blackberries, raspberries, currants etc. Mrs. Mudge will close the deal on her arrival at National City and in the future they will have a "Little Grey Home in the West" to welcome them on their visits to the coast.

First Lady of our Commonwealth Entertained

Mrs. W. C. McDonald was a guest of honor last Friday evening at a tea and card party given at the Parrot Shop in Santa Fe. Mrs. McDonald has been in the Capital city for the past two weeks and has been warmly welcomed by her host of admirers, who recall with much pleasure the pleasant days at the Executive Mansion during the five years in which she was the first lady of the commonwealth.

Mrs. Larazo entertained at a luncheon for the distinguished guest at the Executive Mansion on Tuesday and was also honor guest at the Museum night dinner, on the evening of the same day. Mrs. McDonald returned the first of the week.

Daniels Honors Suicide Club

New York, Nov. 25.—The United States navy's "suicide club"—3,600 officers and men of 89 mine sweepers just returned from the perilous task of clearing the North Sea of mines—was honored today by the navy.

Secretary Daniels and Rear Admiral Joseph Strauss, commander of the fleet, reviewed the craft in the Hudson. Sweepers, submarine chasers and trawlers removed 50,000 mines planted in an area of 200 square miles in the North Sea.

The guests were hailed by the secretary as "victorious men of war—victors over difficulty and danger, over the hidden menace of the deep which ever threatens the mine ship."

18 PERSONS LOSE LIVES AS VESSEL SINKS IN A GALE

Steamer Mayron Founders in Terrific Storm Near Sault Ste Marie and Entire Crew Evidently Perished.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 24.—Eighteen persons comprising the crew of the steamer Myron are believed tonight to have been added to the victims of Lake Superior's fury of the past two weeks. Caught in a terrific northwester, the Myron foundered a mile and a half off Whitefish Point last night and early today sank in four fathoms of water.

Futile efforts were made by two steamers to throw lines to the men clinging to the cabin. So wild was the sea, however, that the men could not hold the lines and for their own safety, the two steamers were compelled to leave the scene. Tonight coast guards are patrolling the shores of Whitefish bay for forty-five miles, hoping the Myron's lifeboats will be blown ashore.

The United States sub-chaser 438 also was scouring the bay tonight for possible survivors. The beach is covered with lumber, the Myron's cargo, but not a body had come ashore up to late today.

Geologist Visits Tucumcari in Airplane

(Tucumcari News)
Last Friday Tucumcari and Quay county were visited by an airplane carrying J. G. L. Howard, member of the firm Hackbush, Howard & Doucet, consulting engineers and geologists of the Texas Oil Exchange at Wichita Falls, Texas. Mr. Howard has been over this country before but was anxious to see how things were progressing and make a few observations. He says he can do as much work in airplane in three days as he could in three weeks by any other method. He suggests that Tucumcari stake out a field on which airplanes may light in safety without spending so much time looking for a place. It costs one dollar per minute to ride in one and a marker would save several minutes, therefore several dollars.

Tie-up of Traffic Lines Now Threatened

Chicago, Nov. 26.—National Leaders of the four great brotherhoods held a secret session today, at which the insistence of many local unions that a general strike of all railway workers in the United States be called by December 1 to enforce demands for a general increase in pay, was seriously considered, according to information obtained here tonight from union railway men.

It was said by one union official that many of the delegates who are now in Cleveland went there with the specific purpose of forcing the general committee to call a nation-wide strike.

ENTER EDITH DUNCAN.

Synopsis.—Dave Elden, son of a drunken, shiftless ranchman, almost a maverick of the foothills, is breaking bottles with his pistol from his running car when the first automobile he has ever seen arrives and tips over, breaking the leg of Doctor Hardy but not injuring his beautiful daughter Irene. Dave rescues the injured man and brings a doctor from 30 miles away. Irene takes charge of the housekeeping. Dave and Irene get well acquainted during her enforced stay. They part with a kiss and an implied promise. Dave's father dies and Dave goes to town to seek his fortune. A man named Conward teaches him his first lesson in city ways. Dave has a narrow escape, is disgusted and turns over a new leaf.

CHAPTER IV—Continued.

Fortunate fate, or whatever good angel it is that sometimes drops unexpected favors, designed that young Elden should the following day deliver coal at the home of Mr. Melvin Duncan. Mr. Duncan, tall, quiet and forty-five, was at work in his garden as Dave turned the team in the lane and backed them up the long, narrow drive connecting with the family coal chute. As the heavy wagon moved straight to its objective Mr. Duncan looked on with approval that heightened into admiration. Dave shoveled his load without remark, but as he stood for a moment at the finish, wiping the sweat from his coal-grimed face, Mr. Duncan engaged him in conversation. "You handle a team like you were born to it," he said. "Where did you get the knack?"

"Well, I came up on a ranch," said Dave. "I've lived with horses ever since I could remember."

"You're a rancher, eh?" queried the older man. "Well, there's nothing like the range and the open country. If I could handle horses like you there isn't anything would hold me in town."

"Oh, I don't know," Dave answered. "You might get sick of it."

"Did you get sick of it?" Elden shot a keen glance at him. The conversation was becoming personal. Yet there was in Mr. Duncan's manner a certain kindness, a certain appeal of sincere personality, that disarmed suspicion.

"Yes, I got sick of it," he said. "I lived on that ranch eighteen years and never was inside school or church. Wouldn't that make you sick? . . . So I beat it for town."

"And I suppose you are attending church regularly now, and night school, too?"

Dave's quick temper fired up in resentment, but again the kindness of the man's manner disarmed him. He was silent for a moment, and then he said:

"No, I ain't. That's what makes me sick now. I came in here intendin' to get an education, an' I've never got even a start at it, except for some things perhaps wasn't worth the money. There always seems to be somethin' else in the way."

"There always will be," said Mr. Duncan. "Will you start?"

"But how's it to be done?" Dave questioned with returning interest. "Schools an' books cost money, an' I never have a dollar."

"And never will," said Mr. Duncan. "But I think I see a plan that might help, and if it appeals to you it will also be a great convenience to me. My wife likes to go driving Sundays, and sometimes on a weekday evening, but I have so many things on hand I find it hard to get out with her. My daughter used to drive, but these new-fangled automobiles are taking the world upside down—and away a-buck with 'em. Well—do I see you driving in here I said to myself, 'There's the man for that job of mine. If I can get him; but I'm not rich and I couldn't pay you regular wages. But if I could square the account by helping with your studies a couple of nights a week—I need to learn school and haven't altogether forgotten why. That would be just what I want. What do you say?'"

"I never saw anything on four feet I couldn't drive," said Dave, "an' if you're willing to take a chance I am. What do we start?"

started on a road that might lead somewhere. After supper he surprised his fellow laborers by changing to his Sunday clothes and starting down a street leading into the residential part of the town. There were speculations that he had "seen a skirt."

Mr. Duncan met him at the door and showed him into the living room. Mrs. Duncan, plump, motherly, lovable in the mature womanliness of forty, greeted him cordially. She was sorry Edith was out; Edith had a tennis engagement. She was apparently deeply interested in the young man who was to be her coachman. Dave had never been in a home like this, and his eyes, unaccustomed to comfortable furnishings, appraised them as luxury. He soon found himself talking with Mrs. Duncan about horses, and then about his old life on the ranch, and then about coming to town. Almost before he knew it he had told her about Reenie Hardy, but he had checked himself in time. And Mrs. Duncan had noticed it, without comment, and realized that her guest was not a hoy but a man.

Then Mr. Duncan talked about gardening, and from that to Dave's skill in backing his team to the coal chute, and from that to coal itself. Dave had shoveled coal all winter, but he had not thought about coal except as something to be shoveled and shoveled. And as Mr. Duncan explained to him the wonderful provisions of nature—how she had stored away in the undiscovered lands billions of tons of coal, holding them in reserve until the world's supply of flamber for fuel should be nearing exhaustion, and as he told of the immeasurable wealth of this great new land in coal resources, and of how the wheels of the world, traffic and industry and science, even, were dependent upon coal and the man who handled the coal, Dave felt his breast rising with a sense of the dignity of his calling. He had had to do with this wonderful substance all winter, and not until tonight had it become almost nightly occurrences, either at the Duncan home or when he drove the family—for the master of the house often accompanied them—or when they met downtown, as frequently happened. And the boy was not slow to realize the broad nature of the task to which Mr. Duncan had set himself. His education was to be built of every knowledge and experience that could go into the rounding of a well-developed life.

The climax seemed to be reached when Mr. Duncan invited Dave to accompany him to a dinner at which a noted thinker, just crossing the continent, had consented to speak.

"It will be evening dress," said Mr. Duncan. "I suppose you are hardly fitted out that way?"

"I guess not," said Dave, smiling broadly. He recalled the half-humorous sarcasm with which the Metford gang referred to any who might be seen abroad in their "Hereford fronts." He had a sudden vision of himself running the gauntlet of their ridicule.

But Mr. Duncan was continuing. "I think I can fix you up," he said. "We must be pretty nearly of a size, and I have a spare suit." And almost before he knew it it was arranged that Dave should attend the dinner.

It was an eventful night for him. His shyness soon wore off, for during these months he had been learning to accept any new experience gladly.

And as he sat among this company of the best minds of the town he felt that a new world was opening before him. His good clothes seemed to work up in some way through his subconsciousness and give him a sense of capability. He was in the mental atmosphere of men who did things, and by conforming to their customs he had brought his mind into harmony with theirs, so that it could receive suggestions, and—who knows?—return suggestions. And he was made to think, think, think.

CHAPTER V.

The summer was not far gone when Dave, through an introduction furnished by Mr. Duncan, got a new job. It was in the warehouse of a wholesale grocery, trundling cases and sacks of merchandise. It was cleaner than handling coal, and the surroundings were more congenial and the wages were better—fifty dollars a month to begin.

"The first thing is to get out of the deadlines," said Mr. Duncan. "I am not hoping that you will have found destiny in a wholesale warehouse, but you must get out of the deadlines. As long as you shovel coal you will shovel coal. And you are not capable of anything better until you think you are."

"But I've liked it pretty well," said

Dave. "As long as I was just working for my wages it was dull going, but it was different after I got to see that—even shoveling coal was worth while. I suppose it is the same with groceries, or whatever one does. As soon as you begin to study what you handle, the work loses its drudgery. It isn't a man's job that makes him sick of his job; it's what he thinks of his job."

A light of satisfaction was in his teacher's eyes as Dave made this answer. Mr. Duncan had realized that he was starting late with this pupil, and if there were any short cuts to education he must find them. So he had set out deliberately to instill the idea that education is not a matter of schools and colleges, or courses of reading, or formulae of any kind, but a matter of the five senses applied to every experience of life. And he knew that nothing was coarse or common that passed through Dave's hands.

LEFT FALSE TEETH IN GUTTER

Kansas City Man Proud Than Railroad Engineer Who Was Victim of Same Accident.

A man left the office of a Kansas City dentist the other day with a full complement of new false teeth. Hardly had he reached the street when he was seized with a fit of sneezing, and when the storm had passed over, the upper plate was gone. It had rolled into the gutter, much to the amusement of the crowd.

The man, being greatly humiliated, turned away and went directly back to the dentist. "I couldn't stoop down and pick up those teeth in front of all those people, you know," he told the dentist, and proceeded to order a new plate.

This man was considerably more sensitive than a certain engineer on a Santa Fe branch road in Kansas a few years ago. The engineer, while leaning out of his cab window, sneezed and lost his teeth. He stopped the train, walked back half a mile until he found them.

On his return the passengers naturally wanted to know what he had been doing, and so pleased was he with his success that he told them. And the passengers in turn were so pleased with the explanation that one complained of the delay except the conductor. The man had left his spectacles at home that morning, but nobody offered to hold the train for him while he went back after them.

Housekeeping.

We went housekeeping immediately upon our marriage, for mother said she despised these boarding people; she went to housekeeping when she was married, and she meant all her children should do the same; and if their husbands weren't able to go to housekeeping then they weren't able to be husbands, and there was an end of it; and so two people, she said, brought up in different fashions, could unite their lives into one without some jarring, and a third party was sure to turn that jar into an earthquake; and if there were fewer third parties half the troubles would be done away with; for she believed half the divorces and separations and quarrels in the state were brought about by boarding house intimacies with third parties.—Harriet Prescott Spofford.

First Wheat Grown in Canada.

The first wheat that ripened in Canadian sunshine was grown in 1807 at Port Royal, now Annapolis Basin, Nova Scotia. Here Champlain and de Monts founded a post and built a fort. They were joined by Marc Lescarbot, a lawyer of Paris, a poet, and the earliest writer of Canadian history. Love of adventure drew him to Port Royal. Outside the palisades of the fort he cultivated a plot of land in part of which he sowed wheat, brought, of course, from France. His sowing was fall or winter wheat. It grew well, ripened perfectly, and with sickles Lescarbot and his associates cut the crop. That was the first wheat crop harvested on land now within the Dominion of Canada.

Soldiers' Hat Colors.

The colors of the caps of the hats of soldiers stand for distinctive branches of the army. Blue is for infantry; yellow, for cavalry; red, for artillery; red and white, for engineer corps; salmon and white, signal corps; purple, medical corps; black and red, ordnance corps; buff, quartermaster corps; gold and black, commissioned officer.

Geological Employment.

"I understand you have hired a discharged soldier as a farmhand?" "Yes," replied Mr. Cobden. "He was in the tank corps." "What sort of service is he giving?" "The best ever. I told him just to consider my little old tractor a tank, and the way he gets over a field is a caution."

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmor & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

A Curious Case.

"Here's a curious case." "What's the matter?" "Young woman of twenty-seven marrying an old man, past seventy." "Nothing peculiar about that—the old man is very rich, I presume." "That's the curious thing about it—he isn't; he's as poor as a church mouse."

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP.

In these days of unsettled weather look out for colds. Take every precaution against the dreaded influenza and at the first access remember that Boschee's Syrup has been used for fifty-three years in all parts of the United States for coughs, bronchitis and colds, throat irritation and especially for lung troubles, giving the patient a good night's rest, free from coughing, with easy expectoration in the morning. Made in America and kept as a household remedy in the homes of thousands of families all over the civilized world. Try one bottle and accept no substitutes.—Adv.

The "Yes" Artist.

"When a man says 'yes' to everything you suggest, stop suddenly some time and you'll probably find that he isn't paying much real attention to your remarks."—Exchange.

Cuticura for Sore Hands.

Soak hands on retiring in the hot suds of Cuticura Soap; dry and rub in Cuticura Ointment. Remove surplus Ointment with tissue paper. This is only one of the things Cuticura will do if Soap, Ointment and Talcum are used for all toilet purposes.—Adv.

Of Course.

"What a flowing style that author has!" "Naturally; he writes a running hand."

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for any case of CATARRHAL DEAFNESS that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE. All Druggists & Co., Circulars free. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

The Usual Result.

"She married one of those handsome honey boys." "Well, she got stung."

ASPIRIN FOR HEADACHE

Name "Bayer" is in Genuine Aspirin—say Bayer

Look for "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in a "Bayer package" containing proper directions for Headache, Cold, Pain, Neuritis, Lumbago, and Rheumatism. Name "Bayer" means genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for millions of years. Many in boxes of 25 tablets cost few cents. Aspirin is trade mark of Bayer Manufacturers of Monacopolitana of Solingen.—Adv.

If time is money, there is no use in a loan spending so much time trying to borrow a little cash.

Oscura News Items

Dr. W. D. Gaylord, mine owner of the Consumers' Coal Company, was here for a short time Tuesday and Wednesday. The mine is being opened up rapidly and is confidently expected that coal will be taken out in marketable quantities inside of two weeks.

Thanksgiving day will be observed in this place by a community dinner given by the ladies of the village. The gastronomical features of the dinner are sure to be exceptional for Oscura has been long noted for its fine cooks.

There has been considerable trading in oil leases here lately which leads us to believe that our hopes and anticipations will be realized shortly. Oscura is taking on that greasy appearance so common to the southwestern towns now.

Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Burns, returned to Oscura from Chicago and Plano, Illinois, Monday Nov. 24. We are glad to have them with us again.

Mrs. Chas. F. Grey has a fine new Pathe' phonograph. The Pathe' has a beautiful tone and gives to the music played a delightful quality.

Mr. Chas. F. Grey has been called to Kansas City on a business trip.

*Estimated.
As stated above, the foregoing includes all taxes except those on special classes of property. The increase in the state rate is about 10 per cent. The highest county rate is found in San Juan county, where the taxpayer will pay $2.43 per $100 of assessed valuation for general county purposes, roads and schools. The lowest county rate is found in Sierra county, where the rate for the same purposes is $1.09 per $100 of assessed valuation.

SEEK OIL LAND UNDER RED RIVER

Wichita Indians Now Set Up Ancient Title to River Channel.

HISTORY INVOLVED IN SUIT

Question Engrosses Attention of Lawyers, Oil Men, Land Owners and Federal and State Officials—Gives History of Wichita Claim.

Austin, Tex.—Seldom has a case been filed in American courts in which history has been involved to the extent that it is in the question of the ownership of the channel of the Red river, beneath the bed of which are valuable oil deposits.

This question has been engrossing the attention of lawyers, oil men, land owners and federal and state officials. The state of Texas claims ownership in the bed of the river to the center of the channel, while the federal government and the state of Oklahoma oppose the claim of Texas under the terms of the treaty of Spain in 1819, by which the northern boundary of the Spanish dominions in Texas was designated as the south bank of the Red river.

The federal authorities hold that the ownership of the Red river bed areas in dispute belong to the Indian tribes which owned the adjacent reservations, and the state of Oklahoma maintains that, as a meandering stream, the bed of the Red river is state property and should be leased for the benefit of the state school fund.

Joseph B. Thoburn, secretary of the Oklahoma Historical society, has advanced the suggestion that there is still another claimant to the ownership of the oil bearing area of the channel of the Red river, namely, the Wichita Indians. Mr. Thoburn in the course of an extended statement says: "Older than any of the claims of ownership which are now being pressed for the possession of the oil bearing areas of the channel of the Red river—older than any claim of the State of Texas by rights derived from Mexico or Spain, and older than any claim of the State of Oklahoma or of the United States which may have been derived from France through the purchase of Louisiana—is the right of the aboriginal owners of the land on both sides of the river, and these are the people of the Wichita tribe of Indians.

"The ancestors of the Wichita Indians have lived in Oklahoma and adjacent states for a thousand years, and for approximately five hundred years past they have occupied the country on both sides of the Red river in that part of its course where it traverses the Parkburnett oil fields. In using the word 'occupied' in this connection, I do so advisedly, for these people have always been sedentary in their habits, living in fixed villages and depending largely upon the cultivation of the soil for their subsistence.

"The rights of the Wichita Indians to the ownership of these lands has never been extinguished by purchase, exchange or otherwise, though state and federal governments have seemingly proceeded on the theory that no such right ever existed.

"In 1818 certain chiefs and warriors of the Quapaw tribe of Indians, in council at St. Louis with William Clark and Auguste Chouteau, as commissioners representing the government of the United States, entered into a treaty by the terms of which they ceded all of the lands in Oklahoma and Texas between the Arkansas and Canadian rivers on the north and the Red river on the south to the government. The fact that the Quapaw Indians lived in eastern Arkansas, that they seldom went as far west as the eastern boundary of Oklahoma and that they never by occupancy or otherwise exercised any form of ownership or jurisdiction over any of the lands within 200 miles of the region where the Wichitans were living, do not seem to have entered into the consideration at all. If, indeed, the government commissioners had any knowledge of the existence of the Wichitans at that time, yet, with this Quapaw transaction as a basis, the government of the United States executed a grant of these lands to the people later. More than thirty years later the Wichita people first learned that their country had been sold by the Quapaw and then granted to the Choctaws.

"If the government of the United States ever means to do the square and honorable thing by the Wichita Indians it will never have a better chance than it has at the present time. Their lands are gone—sold to strangers without recompense to them and without their consent—but they still have an equitable claim to the ownership of the Red River channel oil properties, and simple justice demands that they be given a chance to establish it."

SINGER SUFFERS TRIALS IN ITALY

Miss McVane Was Victim of Many Persecutions During the War.

SCOFFED AT IN STREET

American Ambassador Puts Wheels in Motion and Her Blackmailer Is Sent to Prison—Puccini Planned an Opera for Her.

New York.—"If there was lack of artistic temperament in the original composition of Miss Dorothea Alastair McVane, her experiences as a professional singer in Italy would have made good the defect, for she so impressed the great Puccini that, at his instance, she made her operatic debut as Mimì, in his "La Bohème," carrying through the part with success when she was in the first stages of typhoid fever; she fell under official suspicion as a spy in Taranto, where there is an Italian naval station; she underwent a siege of blackmail that resulted in sending two oppressors to prison, and she became the betrothed of a young noble, who was killed in the war.

In addition, her progress toward a career was hampered by the stern opposition of her father, Silas Marcus McVane, formerly professor of history and international law in Harvard, retiring as emeritus professor. Afterward the family became so proud of the young singer that they established a home in Rome, where Professor McVane died at about the beginning of the war.

In connection with the spy and blackmail episodes it seems that Miss McVane unwittingly snapped her camera when the lens was pointed in the direction of masked batteries. Soon she became the object of scoffing in the street, she was hissed at the opera, she found herself unable to get letters to her friends or to hear from them. She became so nervous and dispirited that she wished to go away, regardless of her operatic contract, and was threatened with arrest if she tried to go. When, at last, men annoyed her with threats of publishing the spy story and thus ruining her career unless she paid money to them, she contrived to get word to the American ambassador in Rome, who put the wheels in motion for a blackmail trial, whereby Miss McVane was cleared and the men were punished.

She was led to adopt singing as a profession on the advice of artists and others who heard her voice in Paris, where she had gone merely to perfect her French. When her French instructors sent her to Milan, with letters to the composer Puccini, who knew the leading roles in 50 operas, it was reported that Puccini intended to write an opera for her, but the war absorbed him in other affairs.

Miss Edith McVane, writer and novelist, and the Baroness Bodeman de Flacy are sisters of Miss McVane.

The Care of Clothes

Government Home Economics Specialists Give Advice.

Summer Garments Should Be Carefully Packed and Record Made for Ready Reference.

The organdies, palm beach suits, the straw hats and the low shoes have now disappeared from the day-to-day wardrobe. The wise housewife does not let them stay in the overcrowded closet to take up valuable space and brush against the velvets, serges and broadcloths. Neither does she lay them away in any condition they happen to be in after their last appearance. Instead, she puts them away carefully cleaned and treated so the least change possible will come to them, keeping record of what supplies there are and where she puts them in order that she may find them when the occasion arises by simply looking at her desk records. If packed in boxes, a label on each box telling the contents makes the finding of each article an easy matter. Her outline of treatment would be very nearly like the following, according to home economics specialists in the United States department of agriculture:

Washable White Clothing.—Washed carefully, no starch added, blued more than usual to avoid a yellow appearance when spring unpacking comes. Hung in a closet reserved for this particular use or folded so that the creases will correspond as far as possible with the folds into which the garment falls in use and laid in a trunk or box.

Washable Colored Clothes.—Washed, unstarched, turned wrong side out and hung in the closet or packed away as were the white garments.

Palm Beach Suits.—Cleaned and put in separate box, carefully folded.

Hats.—How to treat the summer hat depends much upon the material. If of straw, brushing off all dust and packing in a hat box is good treatment. The georgette and lace hats, if soiled, should be dry cleaned and allowed to air thoroughly before wrapping in tissue paper and storing away in a hat box. Avoid weight which will crush the trimming.

Shoes.—The pumps and oxfords should be cleaned and put away with shoe trees in each one.

Inventory should be simple, of course, but definite, giving a list and storage place of the clothes for each member of the family. This will prove of definite service when next spring's clothing budget requires thought and time.

CORDUROY MAY BE CLEANED

Fabric May Be Washed With Soap Providing It Is Not Rubbed, Squeezed or Ironed.

If you have a corduroy garment on hand you will be interested to know that it is quite possible to have it renovated without having to send it to the dry cleaner or even having to dip it in gasoline yourself. For, according to one of the thrift leaflets issued by the department of agriculture jointly with the treasury department, "corduroy is a kind of cotton velvet, which may be washed providing it is not rubbed, squeezed or ironed."

Further instruction is given to use a solution of mild soap, for colors that may streak or fade, a solution of soap bark, which is somewhat milder than any soap. When the garment has been thoroughly washed and rinsed, it should be hung up wet and, if possible, in a way that it will dry in the shape you wish it to remain. For instance, a skirt should be dried on a skirt hanger. The brisker the wind in which the garment is dried the better. When thoroughly dry take a clean clothes brush and brush vigorously to raise the nap.

Once you realize that corduroy may be washed you will not be so reticent to make use of a corduroy skirt for your household tasks at which you would usually choose only a tub frock. And in planning your winter wardrobe arrange to have some washable smocks or long peplum blouses of colored cotton to wear with your restored corduroy skirt.

CHIC BLUE TINSELTONE SUIT

The flare peplum on this blue tinsel-tone suit is edged with a wide band of opossum. The high collar is of the same fur. It is an extremely smart suit for the young school girl.

SHOULD WEAR OWN COLORS

Proper Shades Are Selected by Women Who Study Themselves; Cultivate Artistic Taste.

Finding the colors best suited to you and then adhering to them is an artistic as well as an economic measure. It is economic in that the hues that become you are usually different shades of one color or blended colors. For instance, if blue is your color a blue hat may sometimes be worn with dresses of different shades of the same color.

Time spent in studying color cultivates an artistic sense, and the woman who has found her colors is the one who, when shopping, passes by the most alluring bargain if it is not in the colors that she employs in her clothes. In this way she saves much time and money.

Some very well dressed women have very limited incomes. These women are well dressed because they have studied themselves and have planned their clothes carefully. They know exactly what lines and colors are suitable for them and have been able to employ these essentials in the most effective manner.

BOYS REGISTER FOR MILITARY TRAINING

Thousands of school boys of New York are registering for participation in the compulsory training required under the State law. Most of the registering is being done at the armories.

KILLS CAT; TROUBLE RESULTS

Policeman Shot Woman at Same Time and Court Gives Her $1,150 Verdict.

Minneapolis.—A cat which more than a year ago perched on the back fence of Mrs. Carrie Miller's home, caused litigation which has been in the courts ever since and which resulted in a verdict of $1,150 in favor of Mrs. Miller.

The cat was alleged to be an inmate of its peculiar actions had caused neighbors to summon the police and Sergeant William F. Mealey was dispatched from the North Side precinct station to shoot the animal.

He took a shotgun and fired while the cat was perched on the Miller fence. He killed the cat, but many shots hit Mrs. Miller, whom Mealey could not see on account of the fence, inflicting painful though not serious wounds. Suit was brought against Mealey and the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co., his bondsmen.

NOW TREAT SOLDIERS

Revel in Baths Once for Millionaire Huns.

Red Cross Rents Salsburg Watering Place for Rheumatic Rumanians.

Bucharest.—The famous salt baths of Salsburg, where the millionaires of Austria, Hungary and the Balkan states used to spend their summers, now are curing rheumatic Rumanian soldiers.

Stripped of all their luxurious furnishings during the war, the Salsburg baths have just been refitted with the aid of the American Red Cross for use as a military hospital for chronic rheumatism resulting from trench warfare. Five hundred soldiers are there, recovering from rheumatism and similar diseases contracted while undergoing the hardships of war.

In times of peace thousands of tourists visited Salsburg, high up in the Transylvanian Alps, southwest of Kronstadt. Many came for the dazzling social life. With its magnificent hotels and gay casinos, it was perhaps the chief showplace of eastern Europe. When the Germans pushed the Rumanians out of this district early in the war General Mackensen and his staff took possession of the town and staged luxurious revelry there. When the Germans left they looted the place, stripped the hotels of tapestries, furniture and brass fittings. Even the equipment for the medicinal baths was wrecked.

Under the direction of Maj. George C. Treadwell of Albany, N. Y., and several American physicians, the baths were refitted sufficiently to care for the soldiers.

The Hotel Patergnon in Paris, which recently closed its doors, is being remodelled preparatory to being reopened as an American women's club.

Kerchiefs in Pretty Box

Half-a-dozen daintily-embroidered, lace-trimmed handkerchiefs, in a pretty box, make a very acceptable present for almost any occasion.

The handkerchief shown in our sketch is trimmed at the edges with narrow lace, and in one corner initials are worked with pale pink silk, enclosed in a hosiery composed of tiny pale green leaves.

For the handkerchief box any well-made cardboard box of a suitable size and shape can be utilized. The surface of the lid is slightly padded with a thin layer of cotton-wool, and then covered with this white silk, upon which a similar initial to that worked upon the handkerchiefs has been embroidered. The silk should be turned over at the edges and fastened on just inside the lid with a strong adhesive. The inner side of the lid is afterwards lined with silk, and the edges finished off with a pale pink silk cord, which is arranged in three little loops at each of the front corners.

The sides of the box are also covered with white silk, and the interior loosely lined with the same material. Pale pink ribbon strings are sewn in on either side at the bottom of the box to lie over the handkerchiefs.

—a Liberal Education!

The object of Hearst's is to entertain and enlighten. Through all its departments, however, and a certain serious purpose—a definite mission. And that mission is to discuss, elucidate and solve—so far as may be possible—the vital questions of family and public life that people everywhere are themselves wondering.

ALREADY—at the very moment you read this—a thousand particularly intelligent men and women are asking newsdealers for Hearst's for November. Means by minute and hour by hour—through the United States—this will continue until 250,000 of the most progressive magazine readers have secured their copies.

The others, disappointed, will have to wait—or be satisfied with a lesser magazine.

YOU, perhaps, already have your November number. You have looked at the Table of Contents—Hullin, Maitland, Coan Dashi, G. K. Chesterton, Dr. Seward, Judge E. H. Gary, head of U. S. Steel, on "Something More" than the "Key" Editor. Or E. C. Forbes, K. G. B. Walk Mason, Dr. Frank Crane. Or you have, maybe, turned first to the Art—Play—Book—Science—of the Month. One thing is certain, you have noticed the real substance of Hearst's—its splendid serious side.

BUT—you say—you buy a magazine for its fiction. Good! Here in Hearst's for November are stories by Robert W. Chambers, Richard Washburn Child, Arthur Somers Roche, and Bruce Leving, Arthur Stringer, Edwin Palmer, and George W. Morris. Besides these are three English writers, F. E. Bailey, Derek Vane, E. Phillips Oppenheim—as well as Maurice Level, the best of the modern French writers. All these and several others in selected stories—stories that will make you think!

IF you don't particularly care for a magazine that will make you think—if you are not interested in a magazine that goes beyond the ordinary—you won't want Hearst's this month or any other. BUT if you want the works of the world's great writers if you want the words of the world's real leaders if you want the thoughts of the world's great thinkers; don't fail to make sure each month, starting today with November, of getting your regular copy of Hearst's.

A Magazine with a Mission

Commissioners Proceeding

Special meeting of the Honorable Board of County Commissioners.

Held at the court house on November the 24th 1919 at 3:30 p. m.

Present Hon. E. L. Moulton, chairman, Wm. Seveir, member, G. C. Clements, by Floyd L. Rowland, clerk.

In the matter of the Tax levies for the year 1919, it is hereby ordered by the Board that the following levies be, and the same are hereby made, in addition to the tentative levies made at the regular meeting October 6th, 1919:

General county school	.0077
County high school	.0007
The following state levies:
General purposes	.0850
War Certificate interest	.0025
State school	.0035
State board	.0015
State special levies:
Cattle horses, etc.	.001
Sheep and Goats	.005

Frank R. Miller, assessor of Lincoln county, comes now with the Tax Rolls of Lincoln county, for the year of 1919, for the approval of this Court.

And the board having examined the same, and finding that the same being made according to suggestion of the Tax Commission as to valuations, and that the levies heretofore made, have been extended to the said assessor, does hereby approve the said Tax Rolls for the year 1919.

Whereof, the tax rolls for the county of Lincoln have been late in being turned over to the treasurer of Lincoln county, and as the laws place a penalty on delinquent, taxes and Whereas, it will be some time before the tax notices will be mailed to payers and the taxes remitted.

It is ordered by the Board that the time for taxes becoming delinquent be extended from December the 1st to January 1st 1920.

This will allow the tax payers of Lincoln county, to pay taxes without being penalized for the delay and receiving the tax rolls by the treasurer.

The Hon. E. L. Moulton, as county commissioner, from the second district of this county, and the clerk is requested to notify the Governor to appoint a successor for the unexpired term.

There being no further business the Board adjourns Sine Die.

Cliff Dwelling to be Preserved

Albuquerque, N. M., Nov. 24.—Through an agreement between the Archaeological Institute of America and the Forest Service, steps are being taken to make the ancient ruins of the Bandolier National Monument on the Rito de Los Frijoles more accessible, as well as to preserve them from injury. The Forest Service has allotted $5,000 and Sandoval Co. $500 for improving the road to the Monument from Buckman. The survey will be made this winter and construction begun in the spring. The Archaeological Institute is planning to do further excavating of ruins, and the Forest Service is arranging to furnish funds for preserving and restoring some of the ruins under the supervision of the Institute.

The Forest Service is now constructing a caretaker's house at Bandolier Monument, designed Carlos Vierra, the well-known authority on New Mexico architecture.

The Forest Service is planning an extensive campaign to make the Bandolier Monument well known throughout America. A large number of motion pictures have been taken and will soon be released.

State farm loans to the number of sixty-eight, aggregating $103,000, were closed during October, according to the report of Sidney Miller, register of the Montana State land office. During the month sixty-nine loans were accepted by applicants and the mortgages, amounting to $191,200, were recorded.

Robert, the four-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Schwedler died at Douglas, Ariz., while his parents were asleep, from the effect of burns from an electric warming pad placed on his chest during the night by his mother to keep him warm. The child's death was not discovered for several hours. Examination showed his chest to have been cooked to a crisp.

In a roundup of two railroad construction camps near Wells Wells, Wash., conducted by county officers and ex-service men, four workmen were arrested under the criminal syndication law. They had J. W. W. cards in their possession, it was charged. The posse lined up the arrested workmen and required them to take the oath of allegiance to the United States.

WASHINGTON

Child labor in the United States has decreased more than 40 per cent since the child labor tax provision of the revenue act went into effect April 23 last.

While arguments on the validity of the wartime prohibition act will be heard by the Supreme Court this week a decision is not expected before Dec. 5th, when the court reconvenes after a recess.

Mary Pickford's income last year was so great that she could not make an income tax report by mail. She went to Washington to straighten it all out personally with the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Schools, churches and synagogues throughout the United States have been asked by Surgeon General Hiss to co-operate with the public health service in the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals on Dec. 5, 6 and 7.

Legislation authorizing creation of an equipment trust to reimburse the government for $400,000,000 spent for locomotives and cars during federal control of the railroads has been passed by the House and sent to the President for approval.

Convicted of the massacre at William O. Jenkins, American consular agent at Puebla, Mex., of the charge that he conspired with Frederick Cordova, the rebel who captured him, the state department has made strong representations to the Mexican government against Jenkins' arrest. It was said officially that information already at hand justified the presumption that Jenkins was innocent.

FOREIGN

A military pilot named Mart has broken the speed record for altitude, reaching a height of 5,000 meters in eleven minutes in Italy.

President Ebert's salary has been fixed at 100,000 marks by the budget commission in Berlin, which also placed a similar sum at his disposal for incidentals for which he is to give a strict accounting.

A crisis appears imminent in Austria. The Vienna government, it is reported, is unable to maintain its power and the republic is likely to fall to pieces, several groups declaring for a union with Germany.

The Bolshevik claim the capture of ten generals and more than 100 other officers at Omsk, according to an official statement issued by the soviet government at Moscow. Kolchak's army is being pursued in an easterly direction, the statement adds.

Complete returns from the French elections show that the conservative, moderate and nationalist elements hold 404 seats in the chamber of deputies, while the extremists will have fifty-four members of the new chamber. Of this number, 221 were former deputies, while 327 are men who have not hitherto been members of the chamber.

Gabriele d'Annunzio's recent descent upon Zara has augmented his land and sea forces. They are estimated to number 50,000. The Italian forces of occupation in Dalmatia comprise an army corps, with one division at Zara and another at Sebenico. All of these troops are registered under D'Annunzio's banners and are said to have ample supplies.

So acute has the shortage of household coal in France become that wealthy Parisians who can afford it have ordered such fuel shipped to them from America as they would table delicacies. In the cargo of the Siamose Prince, which sailed for Haarc, was twelve barrels of coal consigned to an individual in Paris. The lumps of anthracite were as carefully barreled as sugar.

Six billion francs is the sum representing the loss suffered by Switzerland as a result of the war, according to an estimate of M. Sarasin, president of the Swiss Bankers' Union of Berne. Of this 2,400,000,000 francs are accounted for by depreciation of German securities and 1,500,000,000 francs by depreciation of Austro-Hungarian securities held by Swiss citizens. The losses suffered by the hotel world are put down as amounting to 400,000,000 francs. The majority of Swiss private fortunes are invested in foreign government and foreign industrial undertakings, the value of which has declined from 40 to 50 per cent.

GENERAL

Appointment of Secretary Glass to the United States Senate to succeed the late Thomas S. Martin, and the acceptance of Mr. Glass, have been announced by Henry Hodges, aide to Governor Davis.

As a result of eating butter believed to have been poisoned by weeds eaten by the cows from whose milk the butter was churned, Mrs. Sarah Haverstock is dead at West Salem, Ohio, and four others are seriously ill.

Approximately 4,000 bales of cotton burned in a fire which swept part of the St. Louis Cotton Compress Company's plant at Eldorado, Ark., according to a dispatch received at Little Rock. The loss is about $1,000,000.

Automobile accidents in the state of New York were responsible for the deaths of 104 persons, according to a report of the National Highway Protective Society issued recently. During the corresponding month last year ninety-five persons were killed in the state by auto accidents. The report shows that of these deaths, fifty-nine occurred in New York city, while during the same month last year fifty-six persons were killed in motor car accidents in the city.

Forty thousand persons have died in Petrograd in the last six months. The number of births registered during the same period amount to only 3,900.

Twenty foreigners, all striking coal miners, were refused naturalization papers at Hillsboro, Ill., by Circuit Judge W. T. Jett, when he was informed that they had not returned to work following withdrawal of the strike order.

As a result of damage done to their plant by rioters in the railway strike of 1904, Swift & Company of Chicago, was awarded a $13,500 verdict against the city. Claims for nearly $1,000,000 damages growing out of the race riots last summer are pending.

The eighth international egg-laying contest at the State Agricultural College at Storrs, Conn., ended with a victory for the ten Barred Plymouth Rocks entered by Jules F. Francats of Westhampton Beach, L. I. Their total yield for the fifty-two weeks is 2,622 eggs, this being the only pen in the entire competition to average more than 200 eggs for each of the ten hens. Laurel, Quebec, Poultry Farm Barred Rocks stood second with a total of 1,918.

COMING EVENTS.
Twenty-second annual convention of the American Mining Congress to be held in St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 17-21. The Red Cross Christmas Seal sale will take place all over the United States from December 1 to 15, 1918.

Ten thousand gallons of "mescaline" was the net result of the second day of the department of justice campaign against alleged violators of the wartime prohibition act at Globe, Arizona.

The miners' hospital in Raton, is now undergoing extensive repairs which are nearing completion. The buildings have been entirely repaired and renovated, and new bedding has been supplied in nearly all the rooms.

An effort is being made by the Pima Beneficial Play Grounds society to raise in the neighborhood fifty thousand dollars to start the ball rolling on the construction of the proposed city park and play grounds in Pima, Arizona.

The 10,000 acres of winter wheat produced an average of only 45 bushels per acre, or 450,000 bushels for the state. The crop is of poor quality. There were 120,000 acres of corn planted in New Mexico. Only 75 per cent of this will be harvested for grain.

Sixty different towns and post-offices in Arizona are represented at the university this year. Out of the 634 students enrolled, 615 are from Arizona towns. The students coming from smaller places have, of course, received their preparatory work in the high schools of the state, some in the normal schools and others in the preparatory schools of other states.

Probably the record for a long distance entry in the Arizona state fair was attained this year by Dutaig, a French fox terrier, brought from Coconino, Calif., by her owner, George McMansters, a South American impresario. The dog has traveled approximately 23,000 miles to enter the Arizona state fair. Dutaig comes from a famous South American family of fox terriers.

Donovan Richardson, son of Mrs. Granville A. Richardson of Roswell, N. Mex., has won the Rhode scholarship at Oxford, England, and will sail for that place some time in January. Mr. Richardson is a senior of the University of New Mexico, and is considered unusually fortunate as only 32 candidates can be selected in this country. The examinations are said to be very rigid and Roswell is proud to have this honor won by one of its boys.

The new oil well of the Hot Springs Development Association, which is being drilled just south of the Hot Springs, N. Mex., is now down about 300 feet and progressing nicely. A light rig is being used at the present time, but this will soon be changed for a standard outfit which will drill to any desired depth. The company has been fortunate in securing outside capital to such an extent that it is now in a position to continue drilling until oil is found.

A conditional pardon has been granted by Governor Larrazolo to Esquivel Cano, who was sentenced from Santa Fe county, N. Mex., on March 9, 1900, to serve a life term for murder. If all of the conditions of the pardon have been complied with up to November 30, 1921, then the conditional pardon will automatically become absolute, carrying restoration to citizenship. Cano is now past 50 years of age, and has made an exemplary record during his stay of more than 19 years in the state penitentiary.

Announcement has been made of the organization of a million dollar mining company in the Kofa district in Arizona. Yuma men and New York capital are backing the new company and it is hoped that soon the company may begin actual work on their mine.

The farmers of the Johnson Mesa, near Raton, N. Mex., recently disposed of their entire wheat crop to the Pueblo Milling Company of Pueblo, Colo., through collective bargaining. All the farmers pooled their crop and offered it to the highest bidder, and the Pueblo concern proved to be the highest bidder, offering slightly over $2 per bushel for the crop.

Twenty-one thousand dollars additional for the completion of the Oracle to Apache Camp road was voted on at Tucson, Arizona, at the meeting of the board of supervisors on official advice from the members of the highway commission that the amount will be set aside by the commission for the purpose. The government does not recognize any other body but the board of supervisors, and it asked that the board pay half the additional cost of constructing the road, which will cost $112,000 on revised estimates.

METHOD IN THEIR MOVEMENT IDENTIFIED HER ALL RIGHT
Veteran of the Plains Explained Why Buffaloes Invariably Traveled on a Zigzag Course.
No person ever saw a herd of buffalo move in a straight line. They always took a zigzag course. The late "Buffalo" Jones explained this as follows: "A buffalo is a very cautious animal. His starchy forehead prevents him seeing objects on either side. To prevent a surprise from an enemy he walks obliquely to the right and then to the left, and thus gets an unobstructed view of the surrounding country."
The buffalo had many small traits that are lacking in cattle. The buffalo never mired in swamps or pools as cattle do. When they found they were becoming stuck they threw themselves on their sides and swam or paddled through the mud as a hog does. They always had guards out day and night, to warn the herd of approaching danger. They always faced a storm and never "drifted" as do cattle. They lay down with their heads to the westward, tossing their heads around on their sides and sleeping contentedly, while the great mass of fur on their humps protected them from the winds.
Guaranteeing the Job.
Two men stepped up to the door after a ton of glittering anthracite had cascaded to the sidewalk.
"Do you want your coal put in?" one of them asked.
"How much'll you charge?" inquired the woman at the door.
"We'll have to have $2 apiece."
"It won't require two of you to do that little bit of work."
"No. But coal is a terrible temptation these days. One or the other of us will have to stand guard as a watchman."
A soft answer may turn back your way.
Never look a toy pistol in the muzzle.
Transportation in Palestine.
Crossing the Dead sea proved no easy task in a land where commerce is at a standstill, and transportation facilities are virtually nil. A Red Cross engineer who recently returned from Palestine tells how it was done.
"It was necessary to carry a boat from Jaffa, on the seacoast, to Jerusalem in order to cross the Dead sea to Jericho to get grain to take back to Jaffa. This journey of something more than 120 miles was over an almost impassable terrain, some of it lowlands, hundreds of feet below sea level, and much of it rugged, mountainous country. The Dead sea itself is 2,000 feet below sea level.
"This is typical of transport difficulties all over Palestine."

STRONG LINE-UP FOR SALE OF XMAS SEALS

200,000 IS GOAL OF CAMPAIGN FROM DECEMBER 1 TO 15

Ninety-one Per Cent of Money to Stay in State for Public Health Work —Pankey is State Chairman.

With the coming of December 1, one of the most complete sets of machinery ever erected in the state of New Mexico will be set into motion to raise $200,000 for public health work within this state. Headed by Lieut. Gov. B. F. Pankey, state chairman of the drive, there is a force of twenty-nine county chairmen, 1,400 precinct chairmen and several thousand workers ready to make a thorough canvass to secure the money necessary to carry out a broad program of health protection during the year of 1920.

The chief medium for raising the money will be the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals. These tiny emblems of holiday cheer have been sold in New Mexico for the past eight years. This year, the New Mexico Public Health Association, state agent for the seals, hopes to achieve a sale which is greater than all the other years combined. Seven million seals are being prepared at state headquarters in Albuquerque for distribution over New Mexico. These are to be sold at a cent apiece, "a penny's worth of prevention and cure."

Money Stays in State.

In addition to being the greatest sale in the history of the state, the 1919 campaign is notable in that 91 per cent of the money raised will remain within the state, the remainder going to defray administrative purposes and to assist the National Tuberculosis Association in its vigorous warfare against tuberculosis in all parts of the country.

The health program which the association has outlined consists first of the employment of six public health nurses who would be available for demonstrations of home care of the sick and would be able to direct all nursing work during an epidemic, such as the influenza outbreak of last winter. They would also direct surveys to find the health assets of the state. They could be mobilized at any point to meet a localized epidemic. One would be a specialist in school work and would be in charge of the Modern Health Crusade which is financed entirely by the association. Another would be detailed to follow up New Mexico soldiers, sailors and marines who were discharged or rejected from the service for physical defects.

Lecturers on Broad Program.

The employment of two full-time lecturers is included in the broad program. One would work principally in Spanish-speaking communities and would give lectures in Spanish with illustrations to show methods of safeguarding health. The other would lecture only in English. Provision is made for educational work, for the distribution of suitable literature in all necessary languages and for financing the Modern Health Crusade. The portion of money which will be spent for administrative salaries is eight per cent of the total, much below the usual figure in work of this kind.

The drive is to open December 1 and continue ten days. Special services in a number of churches on Sunday, November 30, will signalize the launching of the campaign. Slides in motion picture theaters throughout the state will show the progress of the Christmas seal sale over New Mexico.

THE STAND FOR HEALTH

The faculty fighting against tuberculosis and other preventable diseases must give way to concentrated effort. The story of the ants who carried away a mountain is too familiar to need repetition. We know the wisdom of a united stand.

War records show that out of every 1,000 men of draft age examined, 24 were rejected because of tuberculosis. New Mexico had its share of rejections from this cause. Nearly three hundred boys from this state were sent home from camp because of a tubercular condition. Not a county in the state escaped. Those rejected were not mainly descendants of men or women who came to the state already infected. Many were born and raised here. Their names were Juan and Arnold and Sam and Larsen. Tuberculosis is no respecter of ancestry.

There is little sentiment in the call of the New Mexico Public Health Association for $200,000 with which to fight preventable disease, teach health in the schools, and lay a basis for a stronger, more vigorous citizenship. Good business sense demands better health.

Money has been given for bankrupt Europe, for bleeding Belgium, for starving Serbia. Is it not time to realize that charity best begins at home? Ninety-one per cent of the money raised between December 1 and 10 remains within New Mexico for this task: to prevent tuberculosis. It does double duty. It builds for generations to come. It does triple duty: Each Red Cross Christmas seal carries a message of hope, of cheer, of "peace on earth, good will toward men" to any part of any country. Each seal is a penny's worth of prevention and cure. Buy seals liberally: join the fight for better health in New Mexico.

Notice to Property Owners

It is required by law that each owner of real estate must list his or her property not later than the last business day of February, and failure to do so requires this office to list same to an unknown owner. It is not the desire of this office to either list this property to an unknown owner or to have to add a 25% penalty, but failure to list all property after January 1, 1920 makes it compulsory for us to do both. Please make it convenient to list your property as early as possible after January 1 or have your authorized agent to do so for you.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK R. MILLER,

Assessor Lincoln County, N. M.

AVISO A LOS DUEÑOS DE TERRENOS

Se requiere que todo dueño de terreno envíe una lista de toda su propiedad a no tardar para el último día de negocio de Febrero, al no hacer esto, tendremos que alistar tal propiedad a un dueño no conocido.

No es el deseo de esta oficina alistar esta propiedad a un dueño no conocido o tener que imponerle una penalidad de 25%, pero si no envían una lista de toda su propiedad, después del 1ro de Enero 1920 es compulsorio que agamos ambas cosas. Favor de hacernos conviniente de alistar su propiedad tan pronto como sea posible después del día 1ro de Enero, o que lo aga su agente autorizado por usted. FRANK R. MILLER, Asesor del Condado de Lincoln, New Mexico.

The Cold Snap

The nice weather we have been having was suddenly broken on Wednesday when the weather man, tired of his inattention, gave us a real touch of winter weather. Those who had satisfied themselves of the fact that we were to have a mild winter season changed their minds when Jack Frost touched us under the chin and said, "disperter." Those of us who have formed the habit of passing the coal man with a haughty stare, changed our expressions and experienced a change of heart. It is cold indeed. The wind wailed and howled like the wail of a lost soul. Then it snowed—Oh! George dear! how it did snow! The coal man now has the laugh on us and "This is the Winter of Our Discontent." No reports have as yet been received from the big ranches where live stock is without shelter, but if the present cold snap continues cattle and sheep will suffer, as the snow will become so deep that grazing will be impossible and the stock must be rounded up and fed to prevent severe loss.

HAD CHRONIC BRONCHITIS FOR TWENTY-SIX YEARS NOW WELL AND HAPPY

THIS IS WORTH READING.
The experience of Mr. E. J. Toussaint, 1438 Ross street, La Crosse, Wisconsin, is chiefly remarkable on account of the length of time he was afflicted.

He writes: "I have been suffering with chronic bronchitis for twenty-six years and every winter I would catch cold and become so hoarse I could not speak for six or eight weeks. I could get only temporary relief.

"This winter I was taken with Grip and was in awful shape. A fellow workman advised me to take PE-RU-NA. By the time I had used three-fourths of a bottle, the hoarseness was gone, also that tired feeling. I am on my second bottle. Hereafter PE-RU-NA will be constantly in my house. It is the best medicine ever put up for the purpose."

For any disease due to catarrh or catarrhal conditions, PE-RU-NA is equally dependable. Coughs, colds, catarrh of the head, stomach trouble, constipation, rheumatism, pains in the back, side and joints, bloating, belching gas, indigestion, catarrh of the large and small intestines, are some of the troubles for which PE-RU-NA is especially recommended.

PE-RU-NA can be purchased anywhere in either tablet or liquid form.

PLAN TREATY COMPROMISE

POWERS THAT HAVE RATIFIED WILL NOT WAIT ON THE UNITED STATES.

BOTH SIDES STUBBORN

TREATY MAY BE DRAWN INTO THE 1920 POLITICAL CAMPAIGN.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Avenues of speculation leading many ways were opened up when officials and diplomats turned over in their minds the possible results at home and abroad that are to follow termination of the special session of Congress without Senate ratification of the peace treaty. The thoughts of the treaty's friends in the Senate centered on accomplishing some compromise for a ratification in the session beginning Dec. 1, and to that end steps are understood to have been taken to ask that President Wilson ascertain from the other powers what reservations they would accept.

At the White House silence was maintained and callers got the impression that for the present the administration was willing to await quietly the outcome of compromise efforts among senators. It was not revealed whether the President would permit that policy to stand in the way of undertaking the diplomatic exchanges suggested.

Everywhere the Senate's action was accepted as meaning at least a long delay in ratification, and officials thought the formal establishment of a state of peace between Germany and the powers that have ratified would proceed now without waiting further for the decision of the United States. The chief result, it was agreed, would be commercial and financial.

Chief among the matters of domestic concern affected by the Senate's delay is war-time prohibition, which took a new lease of life with the postponement of a legal status of peace. In the same class is various other war legislation, and altho the Republican leaders in Congress will seek to end the war formally by a resolution, constitutional objections to that method are likely. In the opinion of some officials, to tie up the effort for some time in the courts.

Another line on which speculation turned was the possible effect of the Senate showdown on domestic politics. Although both parties have disclaimed any desire to put the treaty into politics, the chances of keeping it out of 1920 calculations were admitted on all sides to have been reduced by the bitter clashes in debate when Republican and Democrat senators hurled across the Senate chamber their challenges to go to the country on the issue.

Appoint New Labor Board.

Washington.—Another effort to bring industrial peace to the country is to be made by a conference of former federal and state officials, business men and economists, the personnel of which has been announced at the White House. Unlike the national industrial conference, which came to grief over the question of collective bargaining, the new body will represent no distinctive groups, but will undertake to act in the interest of all the people. It will meet in Washington on Dec. 1.

Get Big Contract.

New York.—Larry Semon, famous screen comedian, has signed a contract with Albert E. Smith, president of Vitagraph, by the terms of which that company will pay $3,000,000 during the ensuing three years for the comedies of this star. One-third of this sum will be paid each year of the three-year contract, the annual payment thus averaging over $1,000,000 a year.

May Produce Blue Guinea Pigs.
Dr. H. L. Ibsen, professor of genetics and color heritage at a Western agricultural college, is conducting an experiment to produce blue guinea pigs for a Chicago dealer in guinea pigs, rabbits and cats.

Blue rats, rabbits and various other small animals have been produced, but the breeding of blue guinea pigs has never yet been accomplished. Doctor Ibsen has done work in this field that ranks high among the breeding geneticists of the country.

Worse and Worse.

Miss Greene had been invited to be a bridesmaid at quite a smart wedding, and spent much time in planning her new frock.

At last it was ready, and when she tried it on, she asked Mrs. Jones, from next door, to come and see it.

"It's sweet, my dear!" said the good lady admiringly. "And certainly you look a lady, whatever you are."

Mrs. Greene's face told her she had made a mistake, so she corrected herself hurriedly.

"No. I mean you are a lady, whatever you look!"—London Answers.

Backache only a Symptom

"It Seems as Though my Back Would Break."

This is a common expression among women, yet they toil on day after day heedless of the significance of this distressing symptom.

Backache is often a warning of some inward trouble that requires attention, and which unless relieved will sooner or later declare itself in more serious ailments.

If it is caused by female derangement Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is what you need. It quickly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women.

For more than thirty years this good old fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring American women to health.

The Splendid Recovery of Mrs. Coventry

Newark, N. J.—"The doctor said I had organic trouble and treated me for several weeks. At times I could not walk at all and I suffered with my back and legs so I often had to stay in bed. I suffered off and on for eight years. Finally I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was a good medicine, and I tried it with splendid effect. I can now do my housework and my washing. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound and Blood Medicine and three of my friends are taking it to their advantage. You may use my name for a testimonial."—Mrs. THERESA COVENTRY, 75 Burnett St., Newark, N. J.

Mrs. Hunt tells how it helped her
Detroit, Mich.—"I was in a general run-down condition, was very nervous and tired, had backache and other troubles. I suffered for several years, was not able to work at times and tried doctor's medicine with no results. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised, and after taking it a short time I was much better. I am still taking it myself and giving it to my daughter, and am glad to recommend Vegetable Compound at any time."—Mrs. M. E. Hunt, 1711 Davis Ave.

Planets Moving Into Huge Danger Zone

The following forecast of unusual weather conditions for December is reproduced by the Nashville American: Owing to a strange grouping of six planets, mighty, in proportions, conditions such as has not been experienced in centuries will be realized. This will, according to the report, be caused by the highest sun spot on record and will be visible to the naked eye. This sun spot which will be a vast wound in the side of the sun, will appear December 17, 1919, accompanied by a terrific explosion. It will leave a crater large enough to engulf our entire earth. This will be followed by violent hurricanes and colossal rains on the face of the earth which will take weeks for it to recover from. Earthquakes will occur in different parts of the earth followed by floods and fearful cold.

This report is not made with the intention of causing alarm, or to create a sensation; it is the result of mathematical study of the planets which establish a certainty. The planets in their orbits swing in great circles around the sun; they are linked to the sun and to each other, by chains of electro-magnetic energy whose compelling forces counteract each other, holding each in its regular path. When two planets wheel into such positions, they pull together on the sun—either in conjunction on the same side of the sun, or in opposition, with the sun between them. These aerial antics cause gases to explode and leap out into space causing a whirling volcano which we call a "sun spot," which brings on storms and other disturbances on the earth and other worlds than ours. On December 17, no less than seven planets will pull jointly on the sun; these will include the most mighty and powerful of all, Mercury, Mars, Saturn and Neptune will work in conjunction, grouped together in the greatest league of planets ever known in the annals of astronomy; they will be massed in the narrow limit of 35 degrees on the same side of the sun. Directly opposite and coming into opposition to this gigantic league will be the mighty planet Uranus; the magnetic currents between this and the six others mentioned will pierce the sun like a mighty spear. Our earth being outside the league at an angle of 30 degrees, will be a position to receive a great force of the monster disturbance as it leaps into activity on what to us is the eastern horizon of the sun's disk. This means that we will get the full strength of the storms when the spot is at its worst, before the exploding gases have had time to die down. Such a close grouping of planets have never before been recorded and this will throw the entire solar system for the time being, strangely out of balance. What the outcome will be, astronomers do not predict other than to affirm that storms, earthquakes and general disturbances tremendous in strength and scope are to follow.

Silver—The White Hope

In every western mining state silver is the chief hope for a revival in precious metal mining after four years of very scant development, with little or nothing accomplished of the scarcity of labor and the marked inefficiency of the labor available.

Silver had fallen in the London market in 1914 as low as 22 pence per ounce, and last month was quoted 66½ pence, or $1.44 per ounce in gold.

The fact that a big Colorado company has organized $5,000,000 capital to open a silver mine in Mexico ought to interest American mining law makers.

New York financial journals advocate investments in the western silver industry as an opportunity to profit by a worldwide demand for a commodity of which we are the greatest producers.

Every dollar of silver produced is a dollar of new wealth created. Every dollar of silver exported to meet the demands of other countries is a dollar of new wealth added to our country.

The bright outlook for silver makes it again fashionable—and permissible—to speak hopefully of mining, the ladder by which western states climbed from the "great American desert" to promising fields for profitable investment.

The number of mining enterprises at present under way in western states—backed exclusively by outside capital—means much for the years to come, when our spasms of economic experiments shall have run their course and affairs get back to normal.

Personal Integrity Vs. Political Irresponsibility

American banking methods are the most progressive and accommodating in the world consistent with good business principles.

One of the first points of safe banking is to distribute loans rather than concentrating them in a few hands.

Honesty, integrity and pride in conducting a safe banking house free from political and factional domination by outside influences are the guiding factors of private banking in America.

Facts and figures must govern banking, for the protection of every depositor. Political banking as advocated by some organizations, does away with the personal element of integrity in banking, its most essential feature, and substitutes political irresponsibility which seeks more to please the favored few, than to protect the interests of the many.

FOR POULTRY GROWERS

The farmers of the United States lose each year large sums because of improper methods of producing and handling eggs. One-third of this loss is easily preventable. It is due to the partial hatching of fertile eggs, according to the United States department of agriculture.

The eggs laid by a hen may be either fertile or infertile, depending on whether or not the male bird has been allowed to run with the female. A fertile egg is one in which the germ has been fertilized by the male bird. Except for this process of fertilization the male bird has no influence upon the eggs which the hen lays. Egg production is equally great in flocks from which roosters are excluded.

A fertile egg does not keep as well as an infertile one because the fertilized germ responds more readily to high temperatures than the unfertilized one. It is impossible to hatch an infertile egg or to cause a blood ring to form in one. Such eggs are much more likely to reach the table in good condition and there is less spoilage in shipments composed entirely of them than in mixed shipments of fertile and infertile eggs.

Heat is the great enemy of eggs, both fertile and infertile. Poultry growers are urged to follow these simple rules, which cost nothing but time and thought, and will add dollars to the poultry-yard returns:

1. Keep the nests clean; provide one nest for every four hens.
2. Gather the eggs twice daily.
3. Keep the eggs in a cool, dry room or cellar.
4. Market the eggs at least twice a week.
5. Sell, kill or confine all male birds as soon as the hatching season is over.

Broken Rules

By DWIGHT TINGLE SCOTT

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

In the year of our Lord nineteen eight, one who could wear a white vest and mix cold or hot exhilarating things and keep the customers smiling into the big mirror earned forty or fifty dollars a week; for some fifteen minutes of strenuous exercise within a roped arena, twenty by twenty, a certain husky athlete is reputed to have received fifty thousand dollars; men who could handle iron while it was hot were earning twenty dollars a day. During this prosperous era the efforts of Rev. Horace Chitwood, whose "let not your heart be troubled" struck soothingly the decent notes of mortal woe, and whose "what God has joined" set vibrating the most sublime chords of human joy, were appraised by society at six hundred dollars a year, and he got that much—some years.

So when Reverend Chitwood died he left a mortgage on the little home in a Jersey town, twenty-eight dollars in back salary, a determined widow and Little Chit.

"It is the only thing I can do well—and I had rather it would be here than elsewhere."

"Indeed Mrs. Chitwood, I have never forgotten those pies and that cake you made for the church supper and I remember my promise perfectly." It was the steward who spoke. He had once been a member of Reverend Chitwood's congregation. So Mary Chitwood became pastry cook at a big bench front hotel, and because school was out and because Mary Chitwood wanted him near, Little Chit became bellboy extraordinary out in front.

"What's all the excitement, sonny?" old Colonel Job, the hotel's most consistent grouch, paused, slipped a handful of "coppers" into the lad's snug coat pocket and patted Little Chit on the head.

"Oh, haven't you heard, colonel? The Money Princess is coming today."

"Huh—that child in Chicago that there has been so much in the papers about?"

"Yes, sir, the real Money Princess and she is coming to our hotel today."

"Tell us about it, dear," cried old Miss Harvey, who spent the year round in the hotel and who had seriously wanted to adopt "her pink-faced cherub," drew Little Chit near to her chair.

"You see she is the richest little girl in the whole world. But she hasn't any mother or father, or even aunts or cousins," explained Little Chit quite seriously. "But she is coming on a private train with a lot of people who look after her and they have fixed up almost a whole third floor for them."

The honking of automobile horns, the clatter of bags upon the marble floor, the forward rush of bellboys and porters; they arrived. The Money Princess herself was almost lost in the hubbub. Came her governess, came her nurse, came her music teacher, came her maid, came her housekeeper, came her eminent Dr. Louise Craig-Lackland, the child hygienist, came others and the servants of others.

Little Chit picked up a small black bag, trimmed in gold. He touched his cap and smiled. The Money Princess smiled back.

When they reached their floor there came the hubbub of inspecting rooms. Dr. Louise Craig-Lackland knew that the scientific principles of ventilation had been violated. She got out an instrument with a fan wheel and a dial. And of all things! The music teacher's room was done in salmon and lavender, the housekeeper had ordered roses—there were sweet peas in all the vases, the rooms faced the east, the morning sun would annoy—to be sure the ocean was inconveniently in that direction, too—could they make their apartments do?

Again Little Chit touched his cap and smiled at the small girl standing in the midst of all this commotion and looking very sweet and very lonely and very much like any other little girl of twelve might look who had long yellow curls and red lips and pink cheeks and blue eyes.

Again the Money Princess smiled back and opened a little gold mesh purse that hung from her graceful young arm.

"Not from you, princess."

The Money Princess closed the bag. "You know," said she, "I like you, little boy, very much."

"And I like you, too, princess."

It was a week later and Little Chit had just delivered ice water. Quite suddenly but softly the door opened and the Money Princess slipped into the hall. She put her fingers over her lips.

"Listen, Little Chit," she whispered. "I am running away from them."

"Did you ever," she continued, "have to eat food that had been all weighed out for you, and have to learn French verbs for an hour each day and practice old finger exercises every afternoon, and have that old Dr. Louise Craig-Lackland snooping around with a watch in her hand every time you went in bathing, and some one always warning you against playing with other children on the beach?"

Little Chit admitted that his life had not so far been complicated by any of these things.

"Well, I hate all of them, so I am running away, and you shall go with me, Little Chit."

"Lock that door, don't let another soul in here."

"But, sir, he says they from the Philadelphia detective agency and they have just come over on a special train."

"I don't give a whoop who they are; there is not room to breathe in here now and my private office wasn't built with the idea of accommodating all the policemen this side of New York."

The manager of the great hotel came about in his chair and addressed impatiently a round-faced, matronly woman whose arm was about a fair-haired little girl clinging to her as though for protection from the excited group which ranged itself behind Dr. Louise Craig-Lackland. "Go ahead, Mrs. Chitwood."

"That is about all, sir. I am sure no harm is done, that I can see. When Little Chit brought her home I should have come right over, especially when she admitted that she was out without her—her—" Mrs. Chitwood cast about dubiously for a word. She dare not refer to the indignant group as servants, and parents and relatives they were not, "without her keepers' permission," cheerfully resumed the widow, noting with placid satisfaction the gasp of Doctor Craig-Lackland. "They were out all the afternoon playing on the beach, and her shoes and stockings were all wet. So I made her take these off while I dried them and then the poor dear child was so hungry."

"Yes," spoke up the Money Princess, quite suddenly losing her shyness. "you shall not blame Little Chit's mother, nor Little Chit either. I had a perfectly glorious time, so I did—all afternoon, and I had soup for dinner, soup with big yellow dumplings and chocolate layer cake, and I am glad I didn't come home and have to eat four ounces of old farina and fruit and sterilized milk, and I wish I could stay right here with Little Chit and his mother and that all of you would let me be."

"Gosh! impertinence," gasped the governess.

"It comes of her association, no doubt," indignantly declared the housekeeper.

"Bolted dumplings and chocolate cake at bedtime! You naughty, ungrateful child." This from Doctor Craig-Lackland.

That very night the Money Princess and her retinue left the great hotel. But as the last taxicab pulled away from under the porte cochere, a bright golden head protruded from the cab window.

"Goodby, Little Chit, remember our promise."

"Good-by, princess, I shall never forget you."

Ten years elapsed.

Terrible as the strain of the last few days had been—days when there was neither sleep nor a moment's rest nor ease of mind, every member of University unit No. 2 thrilled with pride.

American engineers had filled the gap. Throwing away picks and shovels they had stemmed that gray flood that was pouring through a wide hole at the very base of the British wedge, a widening hole that for two days threatened to turn Byng's mighty victory into disaster immeasurable.

"I have just put your first American into 'G' pavilion." The orderly pushed the empty operating cart into the corridor and dropped a hospital record card onto the nurse's desk as he passed.

She was not a trained nurse, it's beautiful, fair-haired young woman. She had volunteered as a secretary to an American university unit, just as hundreds of other wealthy American girls had volunteered.

With cool professional air she now glanced down at the card before her. A quick intake of her breath. Leaving the desk she moved softly into the dimly lighted pavilion.

"Mother!"

How often had that cry rang out over the red-soaked fields of France! Always it was their first word when they came from under the anesthetic.

Quickly she moved toward the bed and knelt beside him. It was very unprofessional. Making allowances for her youth, for her after lack of training, the head nurse would have been bitterly indignant had she seen it. Besides there was rule 17 of Base Hospital 23, which plainly stated—be-shaw, wasn't he an American and wasn't she an American, and wasn't the name on the card, Lieut. Horace Chitwood? What did she care about rules.

GOING TO AID ALLIES BLINDED IN WAR

Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander Kessler, founders of the permanent blind relief war fund for soldiers and sailors of the allies, which was recently incorporated in New York, snapped on the deck of La Lorraine on the eve of their departure for France. While abroad they will visit all the countries of the allies with a view to establishing a series of headquarters for carrying on the work of the organization, of which Mr. Kessler is president.

The ex-kaiser's yacht Meteor, photographed at Buenos Aires, on her arrival from England carrying 170 passengers. The yacht was turned over to the British government after the armistice was signed and delivered to the Royal Mail line, which is using it for regular passenger service between England and Buenos Aires.

LADY SWAYTHLING

Lady Swaythling, who is making a tour of America with her husband, is one of the handsomest women in British society. This is her first visit to the United States. In Washington she was the guest of Mme. Slavko Grouitch, wife of the minister from Serbia.

Significance in Change.

There is an appropriateness about this disappearance of the Swan hotel in Frankfurt, where was signed, in 1871, the peace closing the war between France and Germany. The hotel is being pulled down to give place to a large cinema palace, the furniture of the room in which the treaty was signed being sent to the Frankfurt museum. Nothing more thoroughly obliterative of the past could be imagined than this advent of a cinema where history was once made. Nothing but a few chairs and a table stowed in a museum will remain to tell the story of what was once such very heavy actuality.

Not Popular.

"Why don't you go to the bank and borrow money?"
"I did once, but I don't like their methods. They expect you to pay it back when you promise to."

Camel Cigarettes

They Win You On Quality!

Your enjoyment of Camels will be very great because their refreshing flavor and fragrance and mellowness is so enticingly different. You never tasted such a cigarette! Bite is eliminated and there is a cheerful absence of any unpleasant cigarette after-taste or any unpleasant cigarette odor!

Camels are made of an expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos and are smooth and mild, but have that desirable full-body and certainly hand out satisfaction in generous measure. You will prefer this Camel blend to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

Give Camels the stiffest tryout, then compare them with any cigarette in the world at any price for quality, flavor, satisfaction. No matter how liberally you smoke Camels they will not tire your taste!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO.
 Winston-Salem, N. C.

Camels are sold everywhere in sealed packages of 20 cigarettes or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

ST. CHARLES WOMAN WAS FORTUNATE

It Was a Lucky Day for Mrs. Wietheolter When She Read About Doan's... "I had such awful cutting pains in the small of my back and hips. I often had to cry out," says Mrs. Ernest Wietheolter, 550 Madison St., St. Charles, Mo.

By chance I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and bought some. After I had used half a box there was a change and I continued to improve; the pains, aches and swellings left and my health returned.

RASCALS Biliousness, Headache, Colds, Constipation, driven out with "Cascarets"

Why take nasty cathartics, sickening salts, or stomach-turning oils to drive these rascals out? Let gentle, harmless Cascarets remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, your skin sallow, your breath offensive, and your stomach sour.

Those Women Who Dread Middle Life

Abigail, Kans.: "I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during expectancy and it was a great help to me. It was the means of keeping me in good condition and when I came to middle life I took it again and it brought me as through the period, and I am always glad to recommend it."

Conclusive Proof That the Koreans Were the First to Perceive Value of Movable Type.

Fifty pieces of movable type bearing the Chinese characters, being part of the first font of movable type ever made, were shown in the last week in the Museum of Natural History.

Although this font was the first to be made of movable metal type, various methods of printing had already been in vogue for centuries.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

QUEER FISH.

"What are you?" asked a little fairy riding in her boat of foam. "I'm a fish, I'm a fish," said the creature.

"I'm not sure that I know myself," said the fish. "What?" asked the fairy. "You mean to tell me you don't know your own name?"

"No," said the fish. "I haven't. Of course some day I might. Probably the great honor, however, would be too much for me. I couldn't stand the shock. I might fall headlong into the whale's mouth. So it is just as well, I suppose, that I don't meet Mr. Whale."

"What are you supposed to do?" asked the fairy. "I have no regular rule for anything," said the fish. "except I'm fond of this season of the year."

"Why?" asked the fairy. "Why does anyone like this season of the year?" asked the fish. "Well, some like it because it is clear and cool and some like it because it is such a beautiful time of the year with so many lovely colored leaves" said the fish.

"What Are You?" some who don't like it because it is the end of the year. For then they feel that time is passing.

"Of course," said the fairy. "Then why do they object?" asked the fish. "Oh, they hate to see their going on because they love everything so they think they might like it to stop and not go on for awhile."

Reasonable Proposition

The New State Oil & Gas company has been very successful during the past week in securing leases; people who were at first at variance with the aims and objects of the company are now turning their leases over, after a thorough explanation has been made. It takes more than well rigs and hot air promises to drill to the depth of four thousand feet and realizing this, the company will exact of the drillers a bonafide contract backed by a sufficient amount of money deposited in one of our home banks to be furnished as an act of good faith to assure the lessors of a deep test well. This will be done as soon as the proper amount of acreage is obtained. Then Carrizozo and vicinity will take its place on the oil map.

Mr. Squier Returns

Mr. Stanley Squier of the Western Garage returned this week from Denver, Colo., where he attended a meeting of the Ford dealers of the western division. There were 166 dealers present and the meeting was one of the most important ever held in the west. Mr. Squier wishes to announce that there will be no reduction in price of Ford cars at the present time and prospective buyers should not wait for such an opportunity—now is the time to buy and while the "getting is good."

Picacho Will Celebrate

The Picacho Oil Company are preparing to give a big barbecue next Sunday, Nov. 30. The big doings are for the entertainment of visitors and the company is desirous of having a large attendance, as they are preparing to give the crowds a good opportunity of seeing the exact location of the oil well which was spudded in Nov. 20th. Messrs. Sowder and Nye, who are members of the company, issue this invitation and are prepared to show visitors a good time—Come.

The three boys are all at home just now and will visit with the home folks for a short time, but "How are you going to keep them down on the farm" is hard to answer.

B. Y. P. U. Social

The Baptist Young Peoples' Union gave a delightful social Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. S. E. Corn. There were fifty young people present. The evening was spent in playing games of various kinds during which time many musical selections were rendered and refreshments of scones and cookies were served. At 11 o'clock the guests departed after thanking the social hostess for the enjoyable event.

Why Certainly!

"Proof of the Pudding"

The Domestic Science class at High School under the direction of Miss Mackin is bringing forth good results. Two young ladies of the class made Thanksgiving cakes this week that would certainly measure up to the quality "Mother use to make." The Misses Eva Wack and Herndon Reily are the young ladies referred to and the product of the latter, Miss Reily's was put to a critical test and proved to be "muy fino," and the Outlook's judgment is good.

Thanksgiving Dance

Wednesday night the Carrizozo Dancing Club gave a dance at Lutz Hall which was well attended. Ferguson, Pitts and Bamberger furnished the music and it goes without saying that everybody had a good time. Coffee and cake were served to the merry throng during the evening. The club is planning more entertainments for the winter season.
