

WOOL ASSOCIATION FORMED AT ALBUQUERQUE THIS WEEK

First Attempt of New Mexico Wool Growers Meeting Attended by Fifty Delegates From Different Parts of The State. Marketing Conditions Will be Watched.

Albuquerque, N. M., April 15.—Enthusiastically supported by an attendance of over 50, the new association which will superintend the marketing of wool in New Mexico was officially organized this morning at the Chamber of Commerce.

Professor C. A. McNabb, marketing agent of the bureau of markets of the department of agriculture, State College, opened the meeting which began at 10 o'clock by a brief outline of the fundamental purposes and principles of the new organization.

In his preliminary address he introduced many feasible plans which would contribute to the amelioration of the marketing conditions of wool. In concluding he appointed a committee of three to assist in the organizing of the association. The committee which includes W. A. Spence of Carrizozo; Dr. Ellett, Vaughn, and E. A. Troy, of Colfax county held a meeting this afternoon to establish a policy which will not only place the association on a sound basis but will also outline the by-laws and constitution to be adopted.

The principal speaker of the session this morning was John Holliday of the National Wool House and Storage company of Chicago.

J. H. Morley of Magdalena was selected president of the new association, and J. A. Baca of Las Vegas was appointed temporary secretary.

Boy Burned at Stake

Lancaster, Ohio, April 15.—Police today were searching for five older boys who last evening attacked Charles Kneller, a ten year old newsboy, bound him to a stake, piled kindling and papers about him and after starting a fire left him to his fate.

A small girl reported the incident to Mrs. A. F. Mowrey, living nearby and she rescued the boy, who was badly burned. Judge F. M. Acton of the juvenile court is making an investigation of the matter.

Roger Sullivan Dies

Chicago, April 15.—Roger Sullivan, former democratic national committeeman from Illinois and prominent in state politics for years, died here yesterday.

Mr. Sullivan returned to Chicago recently from Hot Springs, Ark., where he had gone for his health after spending part of the winter in Palm Beach, Fla., and in Washington, where he conferred with political leaders.

Women's Club Will Organize

Last Saturday at the home of Mrs. Geo. L. Ulrich, twelve Carrizozo ladies met with the idea of formulating plans for the organization of what will be known as the "Woman's Club" for Carrizozo and vicinity. That the movement will grow to a large organization is evidenced by the fact that a meeting is called for the afternoon of April 21, at 3 o'clock, at which permanent officers will be elected and complete organization effected.

The name of Mrs. M. L. Blaney has been suggested as president of the society and Mrs. W. L. Gumm has been spoken of as vice president. At the meeting on April 21, a large gathering is expected, as the aims and objects of the society will be more clearly set forth than is contained in this article. The Women's Club will, after arrangements are completed, have different branches of study and each will be taken up in its turn at the different meetings which will be held twice a month. The branches are: Literature, Art, Music, and Domestic Science. A special invitation is issued to the young ladies of Carrizozo, as it is the intention of the promoters to make the organization representative in every sense of the word. Visitors from other parts of our state have expressed wonder at seeing no society of this kind here and it may be truthfully said, that Carrizozo is the only town in the state without an organization of this kind. Representative ladies both young and old will please bear in mind the date of the coming meeting and lay plans to attend.

Help Buy Uniforms For the Ball Team

In order to purchase uniforms, the Carrizozo Base Ball Club has contracted with the Leemon & McCart Amusement Co. to furnish amusement for the people beginning next Tuesday night and continuing throughout the week. The Leemon & McCart Shows come well recommended by press and public in other places where they have performed. The cabaret, museum, Honolulu show, merry-go-round, besides the many different reptiles, any feature of which is worth the price of admission, will be greatly educational as well as interesting. More than that, you will be patronizing a good cause by helping the boys to buy new uniforms. We have a good team and one that is going to "skin up" any in this part of the country. Turn out and show the boys how heartily they can be supported.

Mayor-elect, Rolland and attorney C. E. Perkins are making a tour of the Texas oil fields.

Funeral for Mrs. F. C. Rolland Held at Family Residence Last Sunday

(Alamogordo News)

Funeral services for the late Mrs. F. C. Rolland were conducted at the Rolland residence on New York Avenue last Sunday at 1:00 o'clock by Rev. J. F. Williams, Episcopal Minister, from El Paso.

The concourse of friends that gathered to pay a last tribute of respect to one who was universally loved and respected, was a large one. The floral tributes were profuse and lovely. In fact the display of floral wreaths and banks of flowers were the largest ever noted here before. While flowers are but vain so far as the departed are concerned, yet these were certainly an indication of the high esteem the deceased had been held in by her neighbors and friends of the years of her residence here.

Mr. Rolland arrived on No. 4 Saturday from Los Angeles, with the body of Mrs. Rolland. She was unexpectedly stricken in Los Angeles, Cal., Tuesday of last week. She was to have undergone a minor operation at a Los Angeles hospital. She was believed by all friends and even her husband to be getting along nicely with great promise for early restoration to health when the dire news came on Tuesday at noon that she had been stricken by the grim reaper.

Mr. C. B. Scott, sister of Mr. F. C. Rolland, arrived to attend the funeral of Mrs. F. C. Rolland last Sunday. She is leaving today for her home. Mrs. H. B. Parker, sister of the late Mrs. Rolland arrived from Clark Summit, Pa., and will remain for an indefinite time. A. J. Rolland and two children were down from Carrizozo, and also the T. A. Spencers, old friends of the family. Mr. and Mrs. John Bowman were over from Las Cruces. The family have the sympathy of the entire community.

Twenty Times Married No Wonder He Wanted to Die

Los Angeles, Calif., April 14.—Richard Huirt, held for investigation of circumstances indicating that he has married more than twenty women without divorcing any of them, was reported seriously ill at the county hospital today. Huirt was taken to the hospital where he is held under guard, after he had gashed his throat and wrist in two attempts at suicide.

Cow Gives Birth

To Four Calves

Fort Sumner, April 15.—V. A. Lyle, a farmer living six miles northeast of this city has a cow which gave birth to four calves this week: three heifers and a bull. Mr. Lyle stated that all were doing well and that he expected to raise all of them, although he thinks the mother will have some job taking care of her offsprings.

WILL ADVANCE SALARIES OF SCHOOL TEACHERS

District Conference

The Annual District Conference of the Methodist Church closed its sessions here Sunday afternoon out of respect to, and in the interest of the revival meetings now being conducted at the Baptist Church. The conference lasted three days, April 9, 10, 11, with Rev. J. C. Jones presiding. Owing to sickness over the district, many preachers and laymen were unable to attend. The meetings were both business and devotional. Dr. J. J. Stowe of Nashville, Tenn. and Rev. B. L. Nance, field secretary for Sunday schools in the district, addressed the meetings. Reports from the district showed gains in church and Sunday school attendance, likewise a general increase in religious interest. Those in attendance were: W. E. Lyon, Lubbock, Texas; J. J. Stone, Nashville, Tenn.; J. H. McCullough, J. W. McDaniel and wife, San Jon; Mrs. Oscar Sandusky, Chas. McRae, Tucumcari; J. C. Jones, Mrs. Wilson, A. L. Bowman, Albuquerque; W. H. Vanderpool, T. W. Medley, Magdalena; W. C. Graham, Mrs. C. K. Givan, Melrose; R. A. Crawford, Grady; S. K. Hogan, Armistad; C. H. Hatfield, McAllister; S. C. Saunders, Taiban.

Trains Delayed By Burning Bridges

The recent wind storms disturbed the army of tumble weeds which filled the ravines and sparks from engines igniting them, caused the burning of two bridges this week, greatly delaying trains coming from both directions. The first fire originated near Robsart, north of here while the other was at mile post 120 south of Osceola. Train No. 3 on Tuesday came as far as Carrizozo but remained here from 11:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Passengers from the East strolled about town viewing the display windows of our business houses and during their stay, thank heaven, we were not visited with a sand storm. One of the visiting ladies was heard to remark, "What a quiet peaceful little town," for which we return thanks.

Suspend Laws To Harvest Beets

Washington, April 15.—An order was issued by Secretary Wilson suspending the immigration laws so as to admit laborers from Mexico and Canada, "for the exclusive purpose of cultivating and harvesting sugar beet crops in the states of Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and Nebraska."

Lowden Wins In Illinois

Chicago, April 14.—With 5,324 out of 5,690 precincts in Illinois including Cook county heard from, the preferential presidential vote stood as follows: Lowden, 226,646; Wood, 158,423; Johnson, 46,659.

Attorney General's Interpretation of Statute Makes It Possible to Give Teachers Living Wage Without Legislative Action. Glad News to Educators.

Santa Fe, N. M., April 15.—While many states are struggling to find ways and means to pay adequate salaries to their school teachers, and while the United States Commissioner of Education is calling a national conference of educators and taxpayers to find a way to meet a national crisis in school work, New Mexico has found a way to raise the pay of the public school teachers without waiting for the legislature to enact further laws to authorize the increase.

The new plan which makes possible the increase is a new interpretation of chapter 83, laws of 1919, and section 4838, code of 1915, which Superintendent Wagner and Assistant Attorney General Bowman both hold to be the only reasonable interpretation. The law refers to a scholastic "year" but for some reason that now appears to have been without proper foundation, this has always been construed to mean a scholastic "term."

Under the old interpretation, a school district employing a first grade teacher and having a term of seven months, might contrive to pay the teacher $700 for the year's work. The maximum allowance was $110 a month which left only $10 a month for janitor service, heat, water and light. To make "both ends meet" on this slender allowance often required expert management. But under the new interpretation, it will be possible for such a school to make its budget for twelve months which will make a fund available of $1,320, adequate to pay the teacher the living salary of $1,200 a year, and to have left $120 a year to take care of other necessary expenses.

Leap From Blazing Airplane Is Fatal

Camden, N. J., April 15.—Lieutenant Richard W. Wright, of Cleveland, died here today of injuries received in his leap on Saturday from a blazing postal airplane 200 feet in the air. His wife reached his bedside three hours before his death. Lieutenant Mark C. Hogue, of Portland, Oregon, pilot of the plane, who did not jump, left the hospital today.

Had $100,000 Hunch

An Iowa farmer got tired of driving by an old gunny sack he saw by the roadside every time he drove to town. He got out to remove it. It contained Liberty bonds, bank stock and promissory notes totaling $100,000 lost by bandits after they had looted an Iowa bank. Now he will believe in hunches.

ANDREA IS FAST BECOMING RECONCILED TO HER FATE.

Andrea Pellor, handsome daughter of Lord Pellor, impetuous aristocrat, is doomed to marry an illiterate but wealthy middle-aged diamond mine owner. She disconsolately wanders from her hotel in South Africa, and discovers an aviator about to fly from the beach. Impulsively, of course, imagining that the trip will be merely a pleasant excursion, she begs to be taken for a flight, although she does not know him. He somewhat unwillingly agrees, and they start. When she realizes her unknown aviator is not going back, Andrea in desperation tries to choke him with one of her stockings. He throws her and they sail on into the very heart of Africa. Landing in an immense cañon, Andrea finds the natives all bow in worship to her mysterious companion. She is given a slave boy, "Bathub," and the White Man sets about building a hut for her. White Man continues deaf to Andrea's pleadings to be restored to her friends. She goes on a day's hunting trip with White Man and thoroughly enjoys the exciting experience.

CHAPTER V—Continued.

He was dressed as she was, tit for tat, except for the big black bow and the very short skirt; and, like her, his hands were thrust, boy fashion, in the side pockets of his open khaki jacket. As she came close their eyes met and smiled. "I didn't put on the leggings," she said shyly. It was as though in changing back to ways and clothes like those of childhood she had suddenly rid herself of the hardening years between.

"You were right," said the man. "They're for the brush and when mosquitoes are bad."

Her face lit with pleasure. "You'll let me go into the brush?"

"Never alone," he answered quickly. "But you may go with me whenever and wherever you like."

"And may I still call you just White Man? Somehow it seems impertinent now."

"Don't tease me," said the man lightly and then his face fell. "Don't make me feel old."

"Old!" cried Andrea. "Who could be old tonight? Why, White Man, we're—we're kids."

He laughed in his sudden relief. "So we are. So we shall be."

"Excuse me," said Andrea solemnly. "Did I hear you laugh?"

At that he laughed again, not uproariously, but as though his slow smile had become vocal for the occasion. Andrea nodded in a pleased way as if she were congratulating herself on guessing aright; it was a laugh. When the liqueurs and the coffee came she started chasing a pellet of bread around an empty plate with a straight, small finger. "You fix one," she said, "and we'll have a race."

The man watched her indulgently, but absent-mindedly. Presently he filled two glasses. "My dear Andrea Pellor," he said gravely, "let us drink to all the hearts in the world tonight that are happy and unafraid."

She stood up to the toast, and after it they sat in a long silence. It was Andrea that broke it. "You know, White Man, I'm a woman."

"Of course you are," he said quickly, a wary look coming into his eyes.

"Yes," said Andrea. "So of course, too, I'm curious."

He gave the deep sigh of relief of one who finds that the ice is quite thick, after all. "Specify, please."

"Well," said Andrea. "It's that trunk. I've puzzled and puzzled, but I can't make out quite how that trunk happened."

"And no wonder," said M'sungu. "It's simple enough, however, to the male mind. Let me help you. When I came out eight months ago my sister was with me—just about your size, just about your age. That trunk was meant for her and had been sent ahead with my kit. She never needed it. He guessed and added, "I lost her at Cape Town."

"Oh!" cried Andrea, too-ready tears springing to her eyes.

"Yes," he continued calmly. "It was pretty bad. She married a cub of a naval officer and is tramping around the world on the chance of hitting the right port and lurching with him once."

Andrea's hand went to her breast and stayed there as though to imprison her fluttering heart. "White Man," she said, "please don't do that to me again—error. You see, I've always been silly about things that get hurt."

"Forgive me," he said. "I was thoughtful."

"Careless, perhaps; thoughtless, never," said Andrea, smiling once more. "Well," she went on, clasping her hands and throwing her head back, "I'm for your sister. The woman that could make up that trunk is a genius."

"She would be," remarked the man significantly.

Andrea paused in her thoughts; then came wide awake and looked at him narrowly.

"White Man, didn't a woman make up that trunk?"

"No, there are few women living that could. Think it out. That trunk was all time, muscle and sweat—with an after-dinner cigarette at the bottom. Why, the last time I saw Maile she had two small moving vans and a wicker house she thought she was going to bring with her. I'd fixed it with a quartermaster to drop the lot overboard in the night and at the last moment. She never even heard of this trunk."

During his long speech the color had been rising in Andrea's cheeks. "I don't think I like you as much as I did," she said slowly. "Somehow you were getting too good to be true. You bought and packed all those things yourself."

He met her gaze steadily. "Don't," he whispered, "don't let's be old."

"All right," said Andrea with a quick shrug of one shoulder. "But you've known lots of women, haven't you?"

"You exaggerate," he answered, smiling. "I've met lots of women."

"Fahaw!" said Andrea. "That's another old crock of a shibboleth. Some men know lots about women—a jolly sight too much."

"That's different from knowing women," said M'sungu quietly. "It's a shibboleth, that old belief. Woman, to man, is an eternal voyage of discovery—a land of valleys and peaks, of lights and shadows, of storm and aching peace. Continents and oceans are lost in her untraveled heart, and when she throws wide her arms, the way is open to Heaven and Hell."

"I'm going to bed," murmured Andrea, and stole away.

It was just as well for Andrea that she had gone early to bed, for at five o'clock of the next morning a rock was hurled at her door that almost burst it in.

"Didn't that get her?" yelled M'sungu's voice from half across the kraal.

"No, Master," answered Bathub. "Missis sleep plenty hard, same like pickanin."

She slipped on her bathrobe, opened the door and put out her head. "Were you calling me?" she asked with early morning dignity.

"Not exactly," answered the white man in the same tone. "Breakfast in twenty minutes; bath when you come home." He turned to give orders to a group of his captains.

Andrea was instantly thrilled to the new adventure. She called to Bathub to bring her washstand and water and rubbed one bare foot against the other in impatience until he was out of the way; then she dressed feverishly and ran out.

In ten minutes they had breakfasted; in five more they were off. A long line of blacks preceded them, behind came M'sungu's gunbearer, water boys, Bathub, a carrier or two, and an ancient donkey half hidden under an enormous cowboy saddle.

"What a funny looking old donkey!" remarked Andrea. "What's he for?"

"For you, when you get tired," answered M'sungu.

"Really! For me?" said Andrea.

"What's his name?"

M'sungu threw back his head and laughed softly. "Why," he said, "I never thought I'd have to tell any one when I named him. We call him Marguerite. I named him after a friend of mine."

"Was she as ugly as all that?"

"Oh, no. She's about the prettiest woman I ever knew, but she was just like him inside. Try to head him off some time."

"The best way to head off a woman," mused Andrea, "is to marry her."

"That's so," agreed M'sungu promptly. "But friendship has limits."

They were necessarily walking in single file on the narrow path and Andrea was behind him. She looked quickly at his back and wished she could see his face instead. But her attention was soon drawn to other things. They had come to the fringe of the forest. Spaced from two to three hundred yards apart and set well out from the shadow of the trees were mysterious piles of something or other that shone straw-gold under the morning sun.

At the first of the heaps M'sungu stopped. "This," he said, kicking at the silky coils, "is the greatest substitute for hemp and steel that the world has yet produced. The war has made it worth—well, not quite its weight in gold, unless you measure it by sheer profits on the cost of production. It is nothing but the bark of the temba trees which make up the bulk of all the forests in this region, prepared by hand on a process of my own."

Andrea looked at the endless piles of fiber, tons and tons of it, stretching away like the posts in a prairie fence. "And you say this is a secret?" she asked incredulously.

He smiled. "It is so far," he answered. "But if you knew all the facts you wouldn't find it so wonderful. In the first place this spot is cut off on nearly all sides by waterless wilderness. In the only direction that isn't true, which is straight down the river, there is a wild zone that in four hundred years has never been pacified by the European dominance of the province. Those unsubdued tribes have been my friends in times past and are my allies today. No white man but myself has ever crossed their boundaries and lived; consequently they can tell no tales to my harm. Do you begin to see?"

Andrea nodded. "Then at the coast," he continued, "just within the mouth of the river, I have a blind in the way of a steel plantation. That gives the excuse for a steamer with machinery, say, to come in without arousing suspicion."

"So you are a profiteer on the way to making a war fortune," commented Andrea.

He flushed more deeply than she had yet seen him. "If you stay here long enough," he said stoutly, "you may understand."

He turned from her and plunged at right angles into the forest. She followed him into the chill air under the great trees. All too soon Andrea came out with him into a wide clearing which, simultaneously with their arrival, began to ring to the blows of many axes. Through all its length it swarmed with blacks at work; some felling trees, some stripping them of bark, others gathering it and still others stacking the bared wood and cleaning up the general litter according to the most approved rules of modern forestry.

They walked up the wide swath of the clearing slowly, with many steps on the part of M'sungu to encourage, direct or criticize. They passed beyond the ringing of the axes into a region pungent with the smell of burning greenwood. Along one side, the side away from the fringe of the forest, was a long line of smoke spirals.

He waved at them. "Do you see what they're doing? Our axes ran out so here we're felling in the old native way with a ring of fire at the feet of each doomed tree."

By eight o'clock the sun was at its full strength and Andrea was thankful indeed for her pith helmet; by ten she was thinking that "no-time would never come. M'sungu was too engrossed with his work to notice her. She kept on, riding her nerve, until she felt that in another moment she must topple over; then she laid a quivering hand on his arm. He turned quickly, looked at her face gone white in spite of the heat and cursed himself aloud. He led her through the fringe of the forest to the deep shade at its open edge, made her lie down and showed her that a helmet, right side up on the ground, makes an excellent pillow.

"I'm off. Promise you won't be lonely, for it will be hours before I get back."

Andrea's lower lip trembled. "Aren't you coming for lunch?"

He looked down at her and shook his head. "There may come days of picnics, youngster, but they're a long way off."

"Please come back," she insisted.

He met her eyes with a hardened gaze. "There's not a woman living," he said slowly, "that will let a man work when she's around—if she can help it."

"You're thinking of people in love," said Andrea to start an argument and gain time.

"Of course I was," said the man on the instant. "Can't you let me work?"

"Beast," said Andrea and rolled over on her side, one moist hand for a pillow in place of the hard helmet. She did not watch him go, she did not see Bathub and another boy arrive with table, chair and lunch basket, all in a single small load, for before it happened she was far away in the land of Nod. When she awoke she was sorry, for awake the hot hours passed on laggard feet. At midday she ate; then she tried to read, but by four in the afternoon she was desperate for something to do. She determined to sleep again, and just as she was dosing off a whisper came to her—one of those carefully measured whispers that reach the intended ear and go no farther.

"Missis!"

She turned. "What is it?" she asked.

"Gashly! Missis," breathed Bathub, and the agony in his appeal to her to go slow was so eloquent that she caught the spirit, if not the meaning of the word.

She raised her head ever so carefully and looked out over the plain. "Oh!" she murmured.

A quarter of a mile away a band of sable were grazing, and in a moment she could tell that they were feeding directly toward her. "Oh!" she breathed again, "oh, you beauties!"

Closer and closer grazed the herd, stopping daintily from tuft to tuft of fodder. Their black and white faces, the sweep of their arching horns, their brown bodies that glistened in the sun as though they had been groomed, their nervous flicking bobbed tails, their incredibly slim legs, combined all the attributes of fascination—beauty, vigor, strength, motion—and filled the eyes of the watchers to overflowing.

In the van of the herd stepped a mighty bull, his tiny hoofs lifting high as though he boasted that his weight was really nothing. Straight toward the forest and Andrea he led his little army until presently she could smell the stable odor of their bodies. Her heart was beating like a trip hammer. She tried to hold her breath. Her bosom rose and fell in a fluttering undulation. The bull looked up and saw her. His horns went back and he squatted, hesitating on the brink of the mighty spring of fright. In his eyes was a gleam unbelievably wicked.

Then the crack of a rifle, the thud of a bullet in flesh, a body hurled into the air by the death-throe and falling in a heap, legs doubled up, neck outstretched, blood gurgling from nostrils and mouth!

Andrea buried her face in her lap, trying to blot out the sight from her eyes, and sobbed as though her heart were breaking. She did not hear the wild cry of Bathub, nor see his crazy gyrations about the prostrate brute, but when the white man spoke her mind leaped to meet the justification in his words, without which she felt she could never have looked upon his face again.

"Stop your crying," he said sharply. "When a sable bull gets as close as that, there's no telling which way he's going to go."

CHAPTER VI.

M'sungu led the march home; the donkey came next, with his nose glued to M'sungu's back and with Andrea in the saddle. Clinging to his tail with both hands, more as a drag-anchor than as a deterrent, came Bathub, and behind him the long rank and file. Andrea was still smiling a little, but her tear-stained face, like a child's, was already cloudless.

"I think Marguerite is too funny," she said. "He's got his eyes tight shut and he's steering himself by his nose in your shirt. Will you please tell Bathub to let go his tail?"

"Bathub knows his business," replied M'sungu, but, as it happened, even as he spoke, Bathub cast off one hand to receive a lighted white cheroot, a communal bit of property that had come up the line of personal attendants, six puffs to a "boy." He never got a puff, for on feeling less weight behind, Marguerite opened his eyes, looked straight back on both sides of his lean body at once, flattened his ears and broke from the path at a dead run.

The high cantle of the stock saddle saved Andrea from staying just where she started from. She was a horse-woman, born and bred, consequently even while her amazement was at its height, she wrapped the reins on her arms, drove her toes into the bucket stirrups and straightened her young back into the long, strong and sawing pull of calm desperation, for Marguerite was headed straight for the leafy, low-hanging branches of a vast mafuta tree.

Yells of delight resounded from every black man in sight with exception of poor Bathub, who had regained his double hand-hold only after having been jerked from his feet, and now dangled along like the proverbial village tin can on the trail of a terrified dog.

Above the din came to Andrea's very busy brain a shout that stood out like a sudden scream in a long nightmare, "Marry him or jump off!" Before she could grasp the deadly import of those words she was hanging like a half-closed jackknife over a limb of the tree watching Marguerite browse as though nothing had happened, his tail still tightly grasped by a now grinning Bathub.

Ten minutes later the procession was under way again in the order aforementioned with the variation that the reins of the bridle were knotted to the back of M'sungu's belt. Andrea, too dazed to protest, pondered over this indignity, but when she finally found her voice she decided to use it for another purpose.

"I think it was horrid of the blacks to yell the way they did," she remarked with suspicious mockness. "Don't you?"

M'sungu seemed relieved. "I certainly do," he answered promptly. "But you'll have to accustom yourself to the fact that obolo is the basic consideration between the black man and all women in the world."

"What do you mean?" asked Andrea, mystified. "What's obolo?"

"In this country," explained M'sungu, "obolo is the market price for women. The best native authorities, however, contend that obolo is not a purchase price but the remuneration to the father for the board, training and general keep of his daughter up to the time of her marriage, and they base their argument on the fact that while women are property they are not chattel, title being nontransferable."

"Can damaged goods be exchanged?" inquired Andrea icily.

Andrea has a thrilling adventure in the next installment.

Lumber Cut of 1918.

The lumber cut of the United States in 1918 was 29,262,020,000 feet, as reported to the forest service up to June 15 by 14,753 mills. The complete total cut is 31,800,454,000 feet, based on the assumed operations of 22,546 mills. The computed cut in 1918 is 11 per cent smaller than the computed production in 1917.

A comparison of the computed cut of several of the larger general producing regions in 1918 with the figures for the preceding year shows a smaller output by approximately 20 per cent in the yellow-pine group of states, a decrease of 19 per cent in the North Carolina pine group and of 9 per cent in the Lake states. An increased cut of 2 per cent is noted for Oregon and Washington.

Earliest Mention of Coal.

The earliest mention of coal in the territory now comprised in the United States is recorded in the Journal of Father Hennepin, who in 1679 refers to the site of a "coal" mine on Illinois river, near the present city of Ottawa.

"The Salvation Army Is Marching Along"

In response to a call from F. J. Sager, of the Advisory Board of the Salvation Army Drive to begin early in May, the following named ladies and gentlemen met at the office of County School Superintendent, Wednesday afternoon and completed arrangements whereby chairmen were appointed in the different precincts and a complete organization over the county effected. F. J. Sager, chairman; Mrs. W. L. Gumm, Mrs. J. B. French, Mrs. S. L. Squier, Messrs. J. B. French, A. C. Douglas, J. A. Haley and A. L. Burke. Mrs. S. L. Squier was chosen as permanent secretary for the drive and R. E. Lemon, treasurer. Four members absent.

Under the leadership of this Advisory Board, auxiliaries will be organized over the county composed of representative citizens everywhere whose duty it will be to study social and moral conditions and report the same to the Advisory Board and all such information will be held strictly confidential for the use of the Salvation Army whose work in relieving the distressed in other parts is an open book to the public. The Salvation Army has always waged its battles where the smoke was the thickest; in the larger cities where vice and poverty have gone hand in hand, this organization has never hesitated to enter where good could be done. Thousands of grateful souls are glad to testify to the grand and noble deeds of human kindness these people have performed. Their object is to prevent instead of cure, but in finding sorrowful conditions, they claim and have in numberless instances proven, that "A Man May Be Down, But He Is Never Out." The work will consist of investigating cases of poverty, the unemployed, juvenile delinquency, missing persons, promoting Americanization, children's homes, soldiers' and sailors' rights and ministering to those who sit in the valley and the shadow of death. After the drive, business and professional men will no longer be bothered with the professional grafters, a great amount of whom are even now working their way ahead of this movement to escape detection. Their names and records will be in the hands of this organization and only those who are worthy and in need of help will be recognized.

Wm. Ferguson's Half- way House at Nogal

Wm. Ferguson, proprietor of the store formerly owned by O. C. Davis, at Nogal, was in town Tuesday and reports business picking up nicely with the incoming of spring. In connection with his stock of groceries, Mr. Ferguson is installing a gasoline station for the convenience of the automobile travel between here and Capitan. The travel will be greatly increased this summer between here and Alto, on account of the new club grounds of the Southwest Fish & Game Association opening up. The lodge will be finished shortly and by the time fishing is good crowds of pleasure seekers will swarm to this haven of rest and recuperation. By this time "Billy" Ferguson will have his "Half Way House" in readiness to accommodate those who may need anything in the line of soft drinks, cigars, candies, to say nothing of the convenience of having their gasoline tanks replenished when they are running low.

Important to all Women
Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr.
Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr.
Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you will receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

DISTURBANCES AT FRANKFORT STOPPED BY FRENCH TROOPS FIRING ON MOB.

SIX GERMANS KILLED

ORDERS FROM BERLIN START
FERMENT OF POPULATION—
THIRTY-FIVE INJURED.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Magence, April 8.—Disturbances broke out in Frankfort, but energetic intervention by the French troops restored order. From German sources it is learned that six Germans were killed and thirty-five wounded. It is reported that the manifestations which gave rise to these incidents were due to an order originating in Berlin. "The first day of the occupation of Frankfort passed without incident. The reception by the population was almost cordial," said General Degoutte, the French commander, on his return from a tour of inspection.

"Then, suddenly, on orders from Berlin, a certain ferment seized the population. This ferment degenerated into aggression and our soldiers, in self-defense, were obliged to use their arms. So far as I know we had no losses.

"The incident shows how we must watch proceedings in Berlin, and that is why the events in the Ruhr demand my whole attention. You cannot consider what is going on in Ruhr and here apart; there is a close relation between the events we are witnessing.

"The aggression at Frankfort and events in the Ruhr are attributable to the same military reaction. Of that we have absolute proof.

"The Berlin government allowed the reichswehr to invade the Ruhr district unnecessarily, because it was the desire of Kapp, Von Luetwitz and their like.

"The coup d'etat having failed only through the general strike, the military party sought revenge on the working classes and invented the Bolshevik peril in the Ruhr. It ought to be known in France and elsewhere that there never was any Bolshevik peril in the Ruhr.

"It was simply a case of a population of workers which hates Prussian militarism asking only to be allowed to work in peace. That population was still at work in Essen yesterday.
What is happening now is the result of the reichswehr occupation."

Berlin, April 7.—A proclamation addressed by the German government to the inhabitants of the towns occupied by the French was issued today. It says:

"Less than 14,000 troops have been collected in the Ruhr district, or almost the exact number permitted by the agreement with the entente.
France has regarded it as reconcilable with the state of peace to occupy flourishing German towns as a reprisal.
The world's peace has never been more monstrously played with than it has been just now by France."

"It is that hard-hearted opponent which alone is responsible for making you the victim of this shyness policy.
The imperial government will do everything it can to shorten your period of suffering. It will not let Germany be shattered in this cunningly devised fashion."

Danish Radicals Cheer Soviets.

Copenhagen.—The police have been out in full force again and special measures have been taken to keep the crowds away from the neighborhood of the royal palace. Syndicalists and Socialist agitators held meetings before the town hall, at which there was much talk of a soviet republic and other revolutionary measures. The calling off of the general strike seems to have been obeyed virtually all along the line and life is almost normal again.

Shipping Board Seeks Advice.

Washington.—Business leaders who supervise the sale of from $15,000,000 to $18,000,000,000 in war material annually, have been requested by Chairman Benson of the shipping board to lend their advice as to the best methods of disposing of the property owned by the board. An invitation was sent to the heads of seventeen leading businesses to attend a two-day conference here, April 15 and 16.

NOT MUCH STUDY INVOLVED

Grandma Evidently Didn't Think Highly of the Doings at Women's Debating Club.

Tiny Timothy had to be very quiet on certain days in the week. Sunday mornings were bad because then father had to study his lesson for the afternoon Sunday school. Tuesday evenings he had to tiptoe around while brother John studied his lodge ritual. Friday evenings sister Nellie went to a debating club and it was often preceded by the last look at her part in the debates.

Then one day mother announced that she had been invited to join a bridge club. Every one was anxious for her to join but little Timothy, who sighed: "Oh, mother, now will you have to study, too, before you go there? What do they recite at your club?"

Everybody smiled but dear old grandmother, who did not approve of bridge clubs. "Oh, she won't have to study much," she retorted tartly.
"She can just listen at the first few meetings until she learns how to gosip like the rest of them."

Young Man Perfectly Willing to Prac-

Would Supply Materials.

There is a well-known banker whose only son does not, his father contends, appreciate the value of a dollar by about 99 cents. A short time ago the youth approached the old gentleman with a request for a considerable sum in addition to his regular allowance.

"Look here, my boy," the father said severely. "You do not seem to realize that you spend a great deal of money—throw it away, in fact. Don't you think it about time that you began to economize a bit?"

"Yes, I do, father," the young man responded earnestly. "Been thinking just that—fine thing, economy; provide against rainy day, and all that sort of rot. I'd love to start right in economizing, but I can't, because I haven't a cent to economize. If you'll just pass over that thousand, however, I will begin, right away!"

Making a Start.
I heard an amusing story the other day concerning Sir John Lavery, the famous society artist.

It seems that one day he was engaged in painting the portrait of a beautiful but very shy little girl, when he chanced to find a threepenny bit in his color box.

"Do you collect threepenny bits?"
he inquired of the child, showing her the coin.

"Yeth," she lisped.
"Here's one for your collection.
Now how many have you?"

"One," replied the little sitter.—Lon-

A submarine attack was on. The looking soldier.

FILIPINAS GET BALLOT BEFORE AMER. SISTERS

Senora de Veyra Describes
Status of Women in the Philippines.

The Filipino woman is destined to be in the world's spotlight more than ever before as a result of the news just received by cable from Manila to the effect that the Philippine senate has passed the equal suffrage bill giving women full political rights with men. This would indicate that the Filipina may beat her American sisters to the ballot box.

The Filipina has many admirers who predict she will make good if she gets the vote, just as she has made good in the very important role she has occupied in the family and business life of the Philippines ever since the introduction of Christianity in the islands three centuries ago.

"America's advent in the Philippines discovered a wonderfully interesting, responsive little being, the Filipino woman," writes one American concerning

MRS. JAIME C. DE VEYRA.

A Filipina who is doing important work for her people in the United States.

the Filipina. "Mothering the only Christian people in the far east, she holds a place of authority, love and respect in family and social life that is not accorded to women in countries neighboring the islands, or in India, China or Japan."

A Filipina who is doing an important work for her people in the United States is Mrs. Jaime C. de Veyra, wife of the resident commissioner from the Philippines. Not only has she frequently addressed the wives of members of Congress in Washington as to conditions in the new Philippines, but she has visited various cities, speaking before women's clubs. The senora wears, in giving her talks, one of the beautiful gowns of her home land, a delicate pineapple fabric, hand-woven and hand-embroidered, shaped like a gauzy-winged butterfly.

Illness Costs U. S. Wage Earners Billion Dollars Every 12 Months

The annual sick bill of $1,000,000,000 American wage earners is $1,000,000,000.

The time clock of the nation shows that each worker, through sickness, loses an average of nine days. This means that the working time of the nation is decreased by more than 800,000 years.

Half of the billion-dollar sick bill represents wages lost—subtracted from the total of earnings expected to finance the budgets of millions of families. The other half represents the bill for doctors, nurses and medicines. And the total is twice the amount given annually in the United States for all philanthropic purposes, in normal times.

This is the problem of illness, as it is presented by the survey now being made by the Inter-church World Movement.

The survey has formulated a program as a proposal for the co-operative effort of the evangelical churches. An increase in the efficiency and capacity of existing denominational hospitals is the first provision of this program.

Construction of 31 new hospitals is the second. These hospitals include 12 general hospitals for white people; twelve for negroes; one tuberculosis sanitarium for Arizona; four hospitals for incurables and two children's hospitals.

Your wife can save you money if you give her a Bank account

The wisest thing a man can do is to take his wife into his complete business confidence and make her his BUSINESS partner as well as his life partner.

Open a bank account for YOUR wife in our bank. Many a man has been saved from business disaster by the money his wife has quietly tucked away to her credit in the bank and which she was able to "produce" at the critical moment.

Try it.

We invite YOUR Banking Business.

SCHOOL NOTES

(By Supt. E. E. Cole)

The Senior Class Play, May 10-11, at Crystal Theatre. Keep that date open. Longfellow's Evangeline was recently played five nights in El Paso. It is classic, full of beauty and pathos. The price will be reasonable and within the reach of all. The proceeds are to be used for the good of the school.

Evangelist Linn and his singer, Mr. Cheek, visited the high school Monday. Mr. Cheek, affectionately called "Little Liza Jane" by the soldier boys, led the singing. Under his leadership the high school "rolled up" "Little Liza Jane" in good style.

Evangelist Linn then talked to the school about as follows: "Education is to train to think. Get an education and, in the getting, stick to it. Do not neglect the religious side of life. Wilson and Marshall, the two leading executives of our government, are not ashamed to pray, to be religious. The Christian life is a life which adds to our valuable accomplishments. It is a case of addition, not of subtraction, and Christ meets us half way. He seeks as we seek."

The eighth grade is to take its second set of examinations Thursday and Friday of this week. A month ago this grade took six of the ten examinations and every student passed. This leaves four for Thursday and Friday of this week. This examination is given by the State Board of Education.

How about the seventh grade? It's all right. What is all right? The seventh grade. They are not pikers. They are not afraid of storms. Last Saturday, April 10, accompanied by Mrs. Vaughn and Miss Sullivan, they went on a ten-mile hike among the malpais. Before coming back to town they sat around a camp fire in a cave and toasted marshmallows. Mrs. Vaughn told their fortunes. Of course they are all to be rich and beautiful. They reached Carrizozo at five in the afternoon, tired but happy.

On last Monday afternoon, after school, the Teachers' reading circle met in the superintendent's office for the last session of the year. Mrs. Gumm reported on the first chapter of the subject, Class-Room Management, discussing the topics: Measures of Good Management, The Spirit of the Class Room, The Personal Factor in Class-Room Management, Class-Room Routine, and Physical Conditions in the Class-Room. The report showed that Mrs. Gumm had a very clear and definite understanding of the subject.

Miss Hughes reported on the subject Class-Room Management and Moral Conduct, discussing Misdeemeanors, Punishment of Misdeemeanors, Incentives, The Management of Examinations. Miss Hughes' report showed that she had studied the subject, a subject of great importance in the school room.

At the close of the period, one hour and a half, the teachers expressed themselves as having greatly profited by the course. Betts' Class-Room Management is a fine book and the best informed teacher may profit by reading it. The superintendent is proud to state that the two teachers of the longest service in the Carrizozo schools, Mrs. Gumm and Mrs. Massie, took the reading circle course and greatly assisted the rest of us with their ripe experience and mature judgment. Those who completed the course are: Mrs. Gumm, Mrs. Massie, Miss Sullivan, Miss Jarrett, Miss Neff, Miss Hughes, Mr. Cole. These teachers were not compelled in the least to take this course. That they did so, shows fine professional spirit.

A WORLD REBUILT

*By the Golden Rule
not by the rule of Gold*

THIRTY denominations of the Church are uniting in a simultaneous campaign in the week of April 25th-May 2nd.

They are uniting because the task before the Church is too great for any one denomination; because there must be no duplication of effort; no waste.

These churches know that the world needs many things; but it needs Faith most of all.

They know that there can be no final solution of our economic problems that is not a spiritual solution; based on the teachings of Jesus Christ and His Golden Rule.

They have had the courage to survey the whole task, and to ask for a budget large enough to sustain (1) the work abroad, (2) the work at home including the church's part in the huge task of Americanization, (3) the colleges, and (4) hospitals supported by the Churches, (5) the religious training of the young, and to provide (6) a living wage for the Church's ministers.

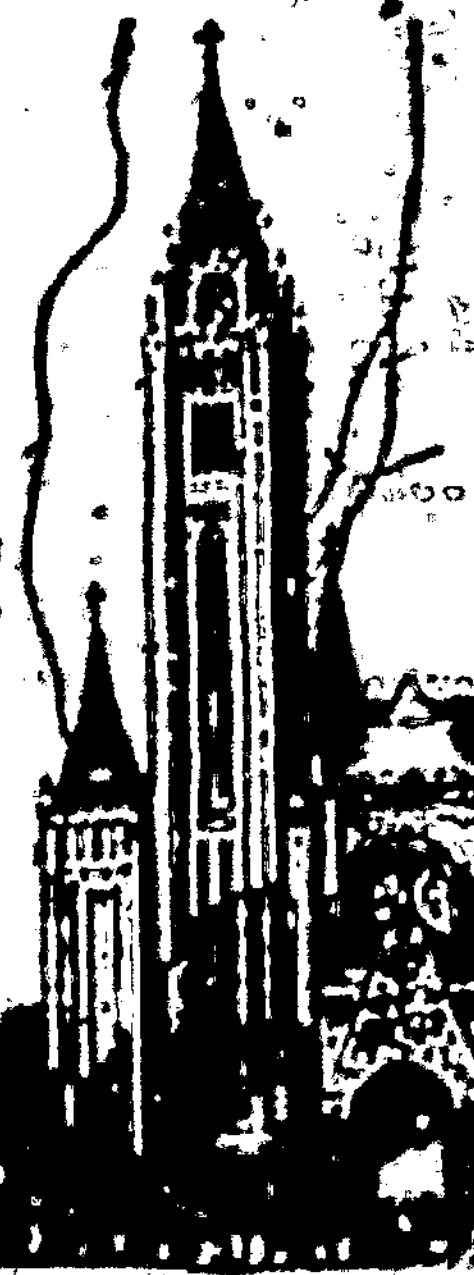

The budget is large in the aggregate; yet if each person who loves America would increase his contribution by only a few dollars the whole amount would be easily subscribed.

We face the task of rebuilding the world. Let the cornerstone be a strong and vital church in every American community; and the measuring rod by which the builders build must be the Golden Rule.

Lost Opportunity

Through lack of encouragement in the form of leases on patented acreage the New State Oil & Gas Co. failed to secure for development of the district surrounding Carrizozo, the desired State acreage in this vicinity. This acreage was sold in large tracts on April 14th, and can have no other effect than that of delaying development.

Now that the State leases are tied up development must come from the blocking of the patented lands. If you have not leased your land, reconsider the matter and for the purpose of getting development which means as much or more to you than any one else in the community, lease. We have lost one opportunity. Let us be ready to grasp the next one.—NEW STATE OIL & GAS CO.

As sure as you are a foot high—

Land Lease Sale

The sale of land leases was conducted Tuesday, Mr. Fred Miller, assistant Land Commissioner conducting the same at the County Court House. The total amount of acreage was 156,770 acres which was bidden in and accepted by the National Development Company at 5 cents per acre. At Alamo, he conducted a sale of 58,000 acres and after making the sale here, he left for Roswell, where he made a sale of 365,000 acres. He next visited Carlsbad, where he sold 108,000 acres. All these tracts have been advertised to be sold at the request of men who are already at work making extensive oil and gas explorations in the different counties.

What Makes a Bank?

Well, our answer to that question is that it is the men behind the bank, the men interested in its management, the men who stand for business integrity and square dealing.

The officers of our bank are accommodating and willing to extend you every courtesy. Our directors are not figure-heads, they actually direct the affairs of the bank and know how its business is conducted. Our stockholders are among the solid men of the community. These are what it takes to make a good bank, in our judgement, a safe place for you to do business. We invite you to join us.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by W. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. ## CHURCHES

Baptist Church Revival
Closes Next Sunday

The revival services that have been going on for the past two weeks will close next Sunday night with the pastor, Rev. Smith in the pulpit. On account of the dates fixed for other meetings, the Evangelist, Rev. Linn and singer, Frank Cheek will leave for El Paso Saturday. These gentlemen have made a favorable impression on the people of this community. Many people have attended these services who were not in the habit of church going before. They are a pair of "good scouts" which is the result of their many and varied experiences with their fellow men in all walks of life. The meetings which close Sunday night will reveal the good work that has been done.

Episcopal Guild "Tea"

The ladies' Guild of the Episcopal church will give a "Tea" at the K. of P. Hall on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, April 28. Cake, coffee, sandwiches and other good things to eat will be provided. The "Tea" will last from 8, in the afternoon to 8, in the evening. After that hour, dancing will be the order for the remainder of the time and the affair will close when the two hands of the clock meet. Be sure to attend. The proceeds go to the church building fund.

For the first time in history all of the school districts in Otero county, New Mexico, are out of debt, having no outstanding warrants or interest overdue and unpaid.

An addition to the capitol building at Phoenix, completed at a cost of $150,000, has been occupied and the entire capitol is again overcrowded, according to reports.

Interest is being shown in the new Chloride-Merwin oil and gas field situated on the Colorado river about thirty miles west of Chloride, Ariz. Surface indications are believed to be of a promising character, oil and gas seepages having been encountered at various places.

A. E. Eldredge, naturalization examiner for the southern district of California, Arizona and Nevada under Fred Jones, examiner in charge, has resigned from government service to become assistant industrial superintendent of one of the largest mines in Arizona.

The Calumet-New Mexico Mining Company at Pinos Altos is adding a flotation unit to its mill and will have the work completed so that the test run can be made shortly. The mill has been running for some weeks on the Pinos Altos ores and has succeeded in the work of separation to a degree never reached before.

Sixteen horses belonging to the First cavalry were burned to death in a fire of unknown origin which broke out in the row of stables used by Troop M, and the Medical Detachment and which destroyed the entire row at Douglas, Ariz. The loss is estimated to be in the neighborhood of $8,000.

Antonio Carpio, convicted of the murder of Efrén Rios, must hang. He was brought before Judge Mechem at Silver City, N. M., and sentenced to be hanged on Friday, April 16th. When asked if he had anything to say he shook his head. After sentence had been pronounced he made an effort to speak but was unable to do so. The case will likely be appealed.

Claiming that the freight tariffs from Phoenix and other points in the Salt River valley located on the Arizona Eastern railroad to stations in Arizona are unjust and unreasonable, the Traffic Bureau of the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce has filed a complaint with the Arizona Corporation Commission against the Arizona Eastern, Southern Pacific, El Paso & Southwestern railroads.

It is rumored that the Santa Fe will, during the coming year, erect an $80,000 office building in Clovis, N. M., to be built somewhere on the railroad property. This improvement has been contemplated for several years and was postponed when the railroads were turned over to the government. No official announcement has been made in regard to this improvement, but there are many who believe that 1920 will see this new building started.

State Adjutant Dudley W. Windes of the American Legion has been notified that a new post of the Legion has been organized at Holbrook, Ariz., which is named Navajo Post A. L. This is the thirty-seventh organization of the American Legion organized in the state of Arizona, and will be designated as Navajo Post 37 of the American Legion. Other posts are in process of organization. It was announced yesterday at the new headquarters of the Legion in the state capitol. There are now about 3,000 members in the Legion throughout the state.

The class of '20 of the Clovis, N. M., High school, which will graduate in May, is the largest in the history of the school, twenty-two young ladies and ten young men, and is one of the liveliest student bodies in the state. Many social and class functions are being planned for the closing days of the school.

To prospect for further ore bodies below the 1,500-foot level of the Briggs mine in Arizona, the Calumet & Arizona Mining Company is about to put down a number of diamond drill holes from that level. It is estimated that there is more than 1,000 feet of the limestone formation below the 1,500-foot level that may yet be prospected. The holes will be driven vertically down.

Henry Simmons, a Van Houten negro who is charged with the murder of his wife at Van Houten, N. M., on March 14, was taken before Judge T. D. Leib of the District Court at Raton to cause the prisoner to be held for preliminary hearing. Several witnesses were heard, and the evidence adduced was sufficient in the mind of the court to cause the prisoner to be held for the action of the grand jury.

HAD TERRIBLE COUGH AND NIGHT SWEATS

Cough about gone, eats and sleeps well, and gained 12 pounds.

"In December, 1911, I had a fearful cough, and my physician ordered me to change climate immediately. I went to San Antonio, Texas, and entered a sanatorium. Left there and came to Oklahoma City in October, 1912. Had no appetite, could not sleep, had night sweats and was losing from one to three pounds a week. I also had catarrh of the bowels, which the doctors had been unable to relieve.

"Relatives urged me to try Milk's Emulsion. I did so and began to improve, slowly at first, but steadily. My weight has increased 12 pounds, I have no temperature, and my cough is about gone. I can eat heartily, sleep well, and am working at my trade again."—V. W. Nell, 610 No. Dewey St., Oklahoma City, Okla.

Nature does wonders in fighting off disease, if given the chance. Milk's Emulsion is a powerful help in providing strength and flesh. It costs nothing to try.

Milk's Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physic. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milk's Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions, and if not satisfied with the results your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milk's Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.—Adv.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

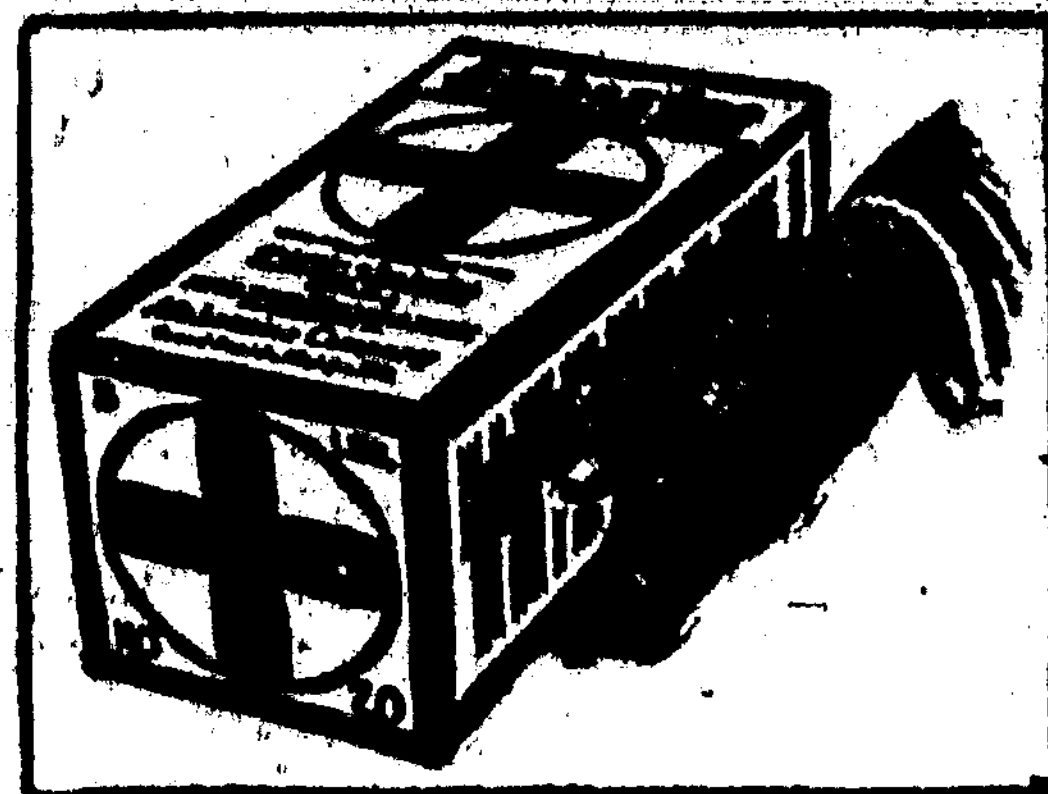

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it—night and morning. And you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

Problems We Want You To Help Us Decide

The New Mexico Game Protective Association has issued a letter to all organizations of a kindred nature, also to all game wardens and sportsmen in the state to attend a convention to be held at Santa Fe on April 23 and 24, for the purpose of discussing ways and means of better preserving the game which is fast disappearing from our once "Happy Hunting Grounds."

This convention is going to be the most important in the history of New Mexico sportsmanship. We are confronted by half a dozen big problems which can only be solved by the united brains, enthusiasm, and effort of all progressive citizens interested in sport with rod and gun. We therefore earnestly hope that every G. P. A., shooting club, or livestock association, and every state or federal department concerned with game matters, will be officially represented by as many delegates as possible, and that every interested citizen whether or no affiliated with any sportsman's organization, attend if at all possible. Deputy game wardens and all officers of the State Game Department are especially and cordially invited.

Here are the main questions calling for discussion, decision, and action: Duck shooting and drainage; Reorganizing and strengthening the Game Department; Preserving free hunting and fishing grounds; Systematic fish stocking; Duck feeds and Methods of increasing the quail crop. In anticipation of the coming event, the Southwest Fish & Game Association of Carrizozo and vicinity has issued a call for a meeting to be held at the office of Kelley & Son on the night of April 19, and all sportsmen are urged to attend. The call follows:

SPECIAL MEETING

All members of the Southwest Fish & Game Association are requested to attend a special meeting Monday night, April 19, at 7:30, at Kelley's Store. Purpose—Selection of delegates to State Convention of New Mexico State Game Protection Association.

S. L. SQUIER, Secretary.

Banks and Industry

More and more do we see the progressive bank of today making the question of industrial development a personal matter.

The wide-awake bank management knows that bank prosperity

depends on two kinds of accounts; individual and industrial. Individual accounts will be lacking if there is a lack of industrial activity. Therefore, it is directly to the interest of every bank to push community development and thus by indirect action develop its own business.

All over the country we see this thought reflected in bank advertising. Illustrating this point take following paragraph from a recent advertisement of the Northwestern National Bank, Portland, Oregon, in which it points out advantages of increased waterpower development:

"Increased soil production as well as greater industrial production, will be the fruits derived from the development of our 'white coal.' Cheap power will enable irrigation projects to pump water to our arid lands and reclaim them to fertility. Power will be used to do a great share of the drudgery on farms and will offer every farmhouse the electrical conveniences found in a city home."

This bank is developing the "industrial idea" which means prosperity for all.

Ease and Comfort On All Kinds of Roads

To shield a car from violent road shocks and thus prolong its life are the principal things that have been occupying the thought of automobile owners. They want a car that can prove to them by test, that it can stand the strain of rough roads under every extreme of climate, altitude and road condition. The Overland 4 fills all these wants. Its extraordinary advantages have been proven, by 250,000 miles of test under all conditions above mentioned with ease and comfort to passengers and economy in fuel and tires to the owners.

Dr. S. M. Johnson, official lecturer for the Lincoln Highway Commission after a long trip over difficult roads says, "I found the Overland 4 so suited to my needs, that I rode in it all the way. It is a marvel of ease and comfort." What Dr. Johnson's experience taught him, can be demonstrated to any who are doubtful concerning the merits of the Overland 4. The diagonal construction of the three point suspension Triplex Springs gives the Overland 4 180-inch spring-base, although its wheelbase is only 100 inches—Think of that! In design, finish and body details, Overland 4 surely excels. Upholstered over cushioned springs, all steel streamline body, hood and crown with slanting windshield and equipment to stand the strongest tests, the Overland 4 will fill the wants of your fondest dreams. The N. B. Taylor & Sons Garage is the place to go to have these facts demonstrated to you, as they are the agents for this "Marvel of Beauty, Endurance and Comfort." Decide right now that you will not buy until you have seen the wonderful New Light Overland 4.—N. B. Taylor & Sons' Garage.

Shoulder and sleeve all in one piece

IN the shoulders—right where the worst strain comes in a work coat—is where Blue Buckle coats have sure protection. They are the only coats on the market with free-swing raglan sleeves.

That means the shoulder and sleeve are the same piece in Blue Buckle coats—no seams on the shoulders to rip and give—no binding under the arm pits.

You can always be sure of long wear and comfort when you get Blue Buckle coats and overalls.

The toughest, longest-wearing denim—and lots of it—with big, broad, double-stitched seams goes into every pair of Blue Buckles. They don't rip. The brass buttons and buckles don't come off. Every pair is roomy and comfortable, with a solid back-band, reinforced, convenient pockets, extra wide suspenders—and first-class workmanship.

That's why more Blue Buckles are sold than any other brand of overalls.

Ask for Blue Buckles when you buy overalls.

"I've tried a lot of overalls, but of all I've worn, give me Blue Buckles every time. They always give long wear."

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL MENTION

Miss Marie Brandiger, former agent for the Western Union at this station, left Wednesday for her home in Telluride, Colorado, where she has been called to accept the agency for the company at that point. Miss Brandiger has made many lasting friends during her one-year's stay in Carrizozo who regret her departure and wish her success in every future venture. Miss Josephine Morello, of Gallup, N. M., is Miss Brandiger's successor, and like her predecessor, is of a sunny, courteous disposition which will gain friends for herself and the company she represents. The Outlook wishes the incoming and outgoing lady agents the best of everything.

WOOL ASSOCIATION FORMED AT ALBUQUERQUE THIS WEEK

First Attempt of New Mexico Wool Growers Meeting Attended by Fifty Delegates From Different Parts of The State. Marketing Conditions Will be Watched.

Albuquerque, N. M., April 15.—Enthusiastically supported by an attendance of over 50, the new association which will superintend the marketing of wool in New Mexico was officially organized this morning at the Chamber of Commerce.

Professor C. A. McNabb, marketing agent of the bureau of markets of the department of agriculture, State College, opened the meeting which began at 10 o'clock by a brief outline of the fundamental purposes and principles of the new organization.

In his preliminary address he introduced many feasible plans which would contribute to the amelioration of the marketing conditions of wool. In concluding he appointed a committee of three to assist in the organizing of the association. The committee which includes W. A. Spence of Carrizozo; Dr. Ellett, Vaughn, and E. A. Troy, of Colfax county held a meeting this afternoon to establish a policy which will not only place the association on a sound basis but will also outline the by-laws and constitution to be adopted.

The principal speaker of the session this morning was John Holliday of the National Wool House and Storage company of Chicago.

J. H. Morley of Magdalena was selected president of the new association, and J. A. Baca of Las Vegas was appointed temporary secretary.

Boy Burned at Stake

Lancaster, Ohio, April 15.—Police today were searching for five older boys who last evening attacked Charles Kneller, a ten year-old newsboy, bound him to a stake, piled kindling and papers about him and after starting a fire left him to his fate.

A small girl reported the incident to Mrs. A. F. Mowrey, living nearby and she rescued the boy, who was badly burned. Judge F. M. Acton of the juvenile court is making an investigation of the matter.

Roger Sullivan Dies

Chicago, April 15.—Roger Sullivan, former democratic national committeeman from Illinois and prominent in state politics for years, died here yesterday.

Mr. Sullivan returned to Chicago recently from Hot Springs, Ark., where he had gone for his health after spending part of the winter in Palm Beach, Fla., and in Washington, where he conferred with political leaders.

Women's Club Will Organize

Last Saturday at the home of Mrs. Geo. L. Ulrick, twelve Carrizozo ladies met with the idea of formulating plans for the organization of what will be known as the "Women's Club" for Carrizozo and vicinity. That the movement will grow to a large organization is evidenced by the fact that a meeting is called for the afternoon of April 21, at 3 o'clock, at which permanent officers will be elected and complete organization effected.

The name of Mrs. M. L. Blaney has been suggested as president of the society and Mrs. W. L. Gumm has been spoken of as vice president. At the meeting on April 21, a large gathering is expected, as the aims and objects of the society will be more clearly set forth than is contained in this article. The Women's Club will, after arrangements are completed, have different branches of study and each will be taken up in its turn at the different meetings which will be held twice a month. The branches are: Literature, Art Music, and Domestic Science. A special invitation is issued to the Carrizozo ladies, as it is the intention of the promoters to make the organization representative in every sense of the word. Visitors from other parts of our state have expressed wonder at seeing no society of this kind here and it may be truthfully said, that Carrizozo is the only town in the state without an organization of this kind. Representative ladies both young and old will please bear in mind the date of the coming meeting and lay plans to attend.

Help Buy Uniforms For the Ball Team

In order to purchase uniforms, the Carrizozo Base Ball Club has contracted with the Leemon & McCart Amusement Co. to furnish amusement for the people beginning next Tuesday night and continuing throughout the week. The Leemon & McCart Shows come well recommended by press and public in other places where they have performed. The cabaret, museum, Honolulu show, merry-go-round, besides the many different rattles, any feature of which is worth the price of admission, will be greatly educational as well as interesting. More than that, you will be patronizing a good cause by helping the boys to buy new uniforms. We have a good team and one that is going to "skin up" any in this part of the country. Turn out and show the boys how heartily they can be supported.

Mayor-elect Rolland and attorney C. E. Perkins are making a tour of the Texas oil fields.

Funeral for Mrs. F. C. Rolland Held at Family Residence Last Sunday

(Alamogordo News)

Funeral services for the late Mrs. F. C. Rolland were conducted at the Rolland residence on New York Avenue last Sunday at 1:00 o'clock by Rev. J. F. Williams, Episcopal Minister, from El Paso.

The concourse of friends that gathered to pay a last tribute of respect to one who was universally loved and respected, was a large one. The floral tributes were profuse and lovely. In fact the display of floral wreaths and banks of flowers were the largest ever noted here before. While flowers are but vain so far as the departed are concerned, yet these were certainly an indication of the high esteem the deceased had been held in by her neighbors and friends of the years of her residence here.

Mr. Rolland arrived on No. 4 Saturday from Los Angeles, with the body of Mrs. Rolland. She was unexpectedly stricken in Los Angeles, Cal., Tuesday of last week. She was to have undergone a minor operation at a Los Angeles hospital. She was believed by all friends and even her husband to be getting along nicely with great promise for early restoration to health when the dire news came on Tuesday afternoon that she had been stricken by the grim reaper.

Mr. C. B. Scott, sister of Mr. F. C. Rolland, arrived to attend the funeral of Mrs. F. C. Rolland last Sunday. She is leaving today for her home. Mrs. H. B. Parker, sister of the late Mrs. Rolland arrived from Clark Summit, Pa., and will remain for an indefinite time. A. J. Rolland and two children were down from Carrizozo, and also the T. A. Spencers, old friends of the family. Mr. and Mrs. John Bowman were over from Las Cruces. The family have the sympathy of the entire community.

Twenty Times Married No Wonder He Wanted to Die

Los Angeles, Calif., April 14.—Richard Huirt, held for investigation of circumstances indicating that he has married more than twenty women without divorcing any of them, was reported seriously ill at the county hospital today. Huirt was taken to the hospital where he is held under guard, after he had gashed his throat and wrist in two attempts at suicide.

Cow Gives Birth To Four Calves

Fort Sumner, April 15.—V. A. Lyle, a farmer living six miles northeast of this city has a cow which gave birth to four calves this week; three heifers and a bull. Mr. Lyle stated that all were doing well and that he expected to raise all of them, although he thinks the mother will have some job taking care of her offsprings.

District Conference

The Annual District Conference of the Methodist Church closed its sessions here Sunday afternoon out of respect to, and in the interest of the revival meetings now being conducted at the Baptist Church. The conference lasted three days, April 9, 10, 11, with Rev. J. C. Jones presiding. Owing to sickness over the district, many preachers and laymen were unable to attend. The meetings were both business and devotional. Dr. J. J. Stowe of Nashville, Tenn. and Rev. B. L. Nance, field secretary for Sunday schools in the district, addressed the meetings. Reports from the district showed gains in church and Sunday school attendance, likewise a general increase in religious interest. Those in attendance were: W. E. Lyon, Lubbock, Texas; J. J. Stone, Nashville, Tenn.; J. H. McCullough, J. W. McDaniel and wife, San Jon; Mrs. Oscar Sandusky, Chas. McRae, Tucumcari; J. C. Jones, Mrs. Wilson, A. L. Bowman, Albuquerque; W. H. Vanderpool, T. W. ## Trains Delayed By Burning Bridges

The recent wind storms disturbed the army of tumble weeds which filled the ravines and sparks from engines igniting them, caused the burning of two bridges this week, greatly delaying trains coming from both directions. The first fire originated near Robsart, north of here while the other was at mile post 120 south of Oscurro. Train No. 3 on Tuesday came as far as Carrizozo but remained here from 11:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Passengers from the East strolled about town viewing the display windows of our business houses and during their stay, thank heaven, we were not visited with a sand storm. One of the visiting ladies was heard to remark, "What a quiet peaceful little town," for which we return thanks.

Suspend Laws To Harvest Beets

Washington, April 15.—An order was issued by Secretary Wilson suspending the immigration laws so as to admit laborers from Mexico and Canada, "for the exclusive purpose of cultivating and harvesting sugar beet crops in the states of Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and Nebraska."

Lowden Wins In Illinois

Chicago, April 14.—With 5,324 out of 5,600 precincts in Illinois including Cook county heard from, the preferential presidential vote stood as follows: Lowden, 226,646; Wood, 158,423; Johnson, 46,659.

Attorney General's Interpretation of Statute Makes It Possible to Give Teachers Living Wage Without Legislative Action. Glad News to Educators.

Santa Fe, N. M., April 15.—While many states are struggling to find ways and means to pay adequate salaries to their school teachers, and while the United States Commissioner of Education is calling a national conference of educators and taxpayers to find a way to meet a national crisis in school work, New Mexico has found a way to raise the pay of the public school teachers without waiting for the legislature to enact further laws to authorize the increase.

The new plan which makes possible the increase is a new interpretation of chapter 83, laws of 1919, and section 4838, code of 1915, which Superintendent Wagner and Assistant Attorney General Bowman both hold to be the only reasonable interpretation. The law refers to a scholastic "year" but for some reason that now appears to have been without proper foundation, this has always been construed to mean a scholastic "term."

Under the old interpretation, a school district employing a first grade teacher and having a term of seven months, might contrive to pay the teacher $700 for the year's work. The maximum allowance was $110 a month which left only $10 a month for janitor service, heat, water and light. To make "both ends meet" on this slender allowance often required expert management. But under the new interpretation, it will be possible for such a school to make its budget for twelve months which will make a fund available of $1,320, adequate to pay the teacher the living salary of $1,200 a year, and to have left $120 a year to take care of other necessary expenses.

Leap From Blazing Airplane Is Fatal

Camden, N. J., April 15.—Lieutenant Richard W. Wright, of Cleveland, died here today of injuries received in his leap on Saturday from a blazing postal airplane 200 feet in the air. His wife reached his bedside three hours before his death. Lieutenant Mark C. Hogue, of Portland, Oregon, pilot of the plane, who did not jump, left the hospital today.

Had $100,000 Hunch

An Iowa farmer got tired of driving by an old gunny sack he saw by the roadside every time he drove to town. He got out to remove it. It contained Liberty bonds, bank stock and promissory notes totaling $100,000 lost by bandits after they had looted an Iowa bank. Now he will believe in hunches.

ANDREA IS FAST BECOMING RECONCILED TO HER FATE.

Andrea Pellor, handsome daughter of Lord Pellor, impetuous aristocrat, is doomed to marry an illiterate but wealthy middle-aged diamond mine owner. She disconsolately wanders from her hotel in South Africa, and discovers an aviator about to fly from the beach. Impulsively, of course imagining that the trip will be merely a pleasant excursion, she begs to be taken for a night, although she does not know him. He somewhat unwillingly agrees, and they start. When she realizes her unknown aviator is not going back, Andrea in desperation tries to choke him with one of her stockings. He throws her and they sail on into the very heart of Africa. Landing in an immense desert, Andrea finds the natives all bow in worship to her mysterious companion. She is given a slave boy, "Bathub," and the White Man sets about building a hut for her. White Man continues deaf to Andrea's pleadings to be restored to her friends. She goes on a day's hunting trip with White Man and thoroughly enjoys the exciting experience.

CHAPTER V.—Continued.

He was dressed as she was, fit for fat, except for the big black bow and the very short skirt; and, like her, his hands were thrust, boy fashion, in the side pockets of his open khaki jacket. As she came close their eyes met and smiled. "I didn't put on the leggings," she said shyly. It was as though in changing back to ways and clothes like those of childhood she had suddenly rid herself of the hardening years between.

"You were right," said the man. "They're for the brush and when mosquitoes are bad."

Her face lit with pleasure. "You'll let me go into the brush?"

"Never alone," he answered quickly. "But you may go with me whenever and wherever you like."

"And may I still call you just White Man? Somehow it seems impertinent now."

"Don't tease me," said the man lightly and then his face fell. "Don't make me feel old."

"Old!" cried Andrea. "Who could be old tonight? Why, White Man, we're—we're kids."

At that he laughed again, not uproariously, but as though his slow smile had become vocal for the occasion. Andrea nodded in a pleased way as if she were congratulating herself on guessing aright; it was a laugh. When the liqueurs and the coffee came she started chasing a pellet of bread around an empty plate with a straight, small finger. "You fix one," she said, "and we'll have a race."

The man watched her indulgently, but absent-mindedly. Presently he filled two glasses. "My dear Andrea Pellor," he said gravely, "let us drink to all the hearts in the world tonight that are happy and unafraid."

She stood up to the toast, and after it they sat in a long silence. It was Andrea that broke it. "You know, White Man, I'm a woman."

"Of course you are," he said quickly, a wary look coming into his eyes.

"Yes," said Andrea. "So of course, too, I'm curious."

"Well," said Andrea. "It's that trunk. I've puzzled and puzzled, but I can't make out quite how that trunk happened."

"And no wonder," said M'sungu. "It's simple enough, however, to the male mind. Let me help you. When I came out eight months ago my sister was with me—just about your age, just about your age. That trunk was meant for her and had been sent ahead with my kit. She never needed it." He paused and added, "I lost her at Cape Town."

"Oh!" cried Andrea, too-ready tears springing to her eyes.

"Yes," he continued calmly. "It was pretty bad. She married a cub of a naval officer and he traipsing around the world on the chance of hitting the right port and landing with him once."

Andrea's hand went to her breast and stayed there as though to imprison her fluttering heart. "White Man," she said, "please don't do that to me again—over. You see, I've always been silly about things that got hurt."

"Forgive me," he said. "I was thoughtless."

"Careless, perhaps; thoughtless, never," said Andrea, smiling once more. "Well," she went on, clasping her hands and throwing her head back, "I'm for your sister. The woman that could make up that trunk is a genius."

"She would be," remarked the man solemnly.

Andrea paused in her thoughts; then came wide awake and looked at him narrowly.

"White Man, didn't a woman make up that trunk?"

"No, there are few women living that could. Think it out. That trunk was all bone, muscle and sinew—with an after-dinner cigarette at the be-

tom. Why, the last time I saw Maisie she had two small moving vans and a wicker house she thought she was going to bring with her. I'd fixed it with a quartermaster to drop the lot overboard in the night and at the last moment. She never even heard of this trunk."

During his long speech the color had been rising in Andrea's cheeks. "I don't think I like you as much as I did," she said slowly. "Somehow you were getting too good to be true. You bought and packed all those things yourself."

He met her gaze steadily. "Don't," he whispered, "don't let's be old."

"All right," said Andrea with a quick shrug of one shoulder. "But you've known lots of women, haven't you?"

"You exaggerate," he answered, smiling. "I've met lots of women."

"Pshaw!" said Andrea. "That's another old crock of a shibboleth. Some men know lots about women—a jolly sight too much."

"That's different from knowing women," said M'sungu quietly. "It's no shibboleth, that old belief. Woman, to man, is an eternal voyage of discovery—a land of valleys and peaks, of lights and shadows, of storms and aching peace. Continents and oceans are lost in her untraveled heart, and when she throws wide her arms, the way is open to Heaven and Hell."

"I'm going to bed," murmured Andrea, and stole away.

It was just as well for Andrea that she had gone early to bed, for at five o'clock of the next morning a rock was buried at her door that almost burst it in.

"Didn't that get her?" yelled M'sungu's voice from half across the kraal.

"No, Master," answered Bathub. "Maisie sleep plenty hard, same like pikantini."

She slipped on her bathrobe, opened the door and put out her head. "Were you calling me?" she asked with early morning dignity.

"Not exactly," answered the white man in the same tone. "Breakfast in twenty minutes; bath when you come home." He turned to give orders to a group of his captains.

Andrea was instantly thrilled to the new adventure. She called to Bathub to bring her washstand and water and rubbed one bare foot against the other in impatience until he was out of the way; then she dressed feverishly and ran out.

In ten minutes they had breakfasted; in five more they were off. A long line of blacks preceded them, behind came M'sungu's gunbearer, water boys, Bathub, a carrier or two, and an ancient donkey half hidden under an enormous cowboy saddle.

"What a funny looking old donkey!" remarked Andrea. "What's he for?"

"For you, when you get tired," answered M'sungu.

"Really! For me?" said Andrea. "What's his name?"

M'sungu threw back his head and laughed softly. "Why," he said, "I never thought I'd have to tell any one when I named him. We call him Marguerite. I named him after a friend of mine."

"Was she as ugly as all that?"

"Oh, no. She's about the prettiest woman I ever knew, but she was just like him inside. Try to head him off some time."

"The best way to head off a woman," mused Andrea, "is to marry her."

"That's so," agreed M'sungu promptly, "but friendship has limits."

They were necessarily walking in single file on the narrow path and Andrea was behind him. She looked quizzically at his back and wished she could see his face instead. But her attention was soon drawn to other things. They had come to the fringe of the forest. Spaced from two to three hundred yards apart and set well out from the shadow of the trees were mysterious piles of something or other that shone straw-gold under the morning sun.

At the first of the heaps M'sungu stopped. "This," he said, kicking at the silky coils, "is the greatest substitute for hemp and sisal that the world has yet produced. The war has made it worth—well, not quite its weight in gold, unless you measure it by sheer profits on the cost of production. It is nothing but the bark of the temba trees which make up the bulk of all the forests in this region, prepared by hand on a process of my own."

Andrea looked at the endless piles of fiber, tons and tons of it, stretching away like the posts in a prairie fence. "And you say this is a secret?" she asked incredulously.

He smiled. "It is so far," he answered. "But if you knew all the facts you wouldn't find it so wonderful. In the first place this spot is cut off on nearly all sides by waterless wilderness. In the only direction that isn't true, which is straight down the river, there is a wild zone that in four hundred years has never been pacified by the European dominance of the province. Those unsubdued tribes have been my friends in times past and are my allies today. No white man but myself has ever crossed their boundaries and lived; consequently they can tell no tales to my harm. Do you begin to see?"

Andrea nodded.

"Then at the coast," he continued, "just within the mouth of the river, I have a blind in the way of a sisal plantation. That gives the excuse for a steamer with machinery, say, to come in without arousing suspicion."

"So you are a profiteer on the way to making a war fortune," commented Andrea.

He flushed more deeply than she had yet seen him. "If you stay here long enough," he said stoutly, "you may understand."

He turned from her and plunged at right angles into the forest. She followed him into the chill air under the great trees. All too soon Andrea came out with him into a wide clearing which, simultaneously with their arrival, began to ring to the blows of many axes. Through all its length it swarmed with blacks at work; some felling trees, some stripping them of bark, others gathering it, and still others stacking the barked wood and cleaning up the general litter according to the most approved rules of modern forestry.

They walked up the wide swath of the clearing slowly, with many steps on the part of M'sungu to encourage, direct or criticize. They passed beyond the ringing of the axes into a region pungent with the smell of burning greenwood. Along one side, the side away from the fringe of the forest, was a long line of smoke spirals.

He waved at them. "Do you see what they're doing? Our axes ran out, so here we're felling in the old native way with a ring of fire at the feet of each doomed tree."

By eight o'clock the sun was at its full strength and Andrea was thankful indeed for her pith helmet; by ten she was thinking that sometime there would never come. M'sungu was too engrossed with his work to notice her. She kept on, riding her nerve, until she felt that in another moment she must topple over; then she laid a quivering hand on his arm. He turned quickly, looked at her face gone white in spite of the heat and cursed himself aloud. He led her through the fringe of the forest to the deep shade at its open edge, made her lie down and showed her that a helmet, right side up on the ground, makes an excellent pillow.

"I'm off. Promise you won't be lonely, for it will be hours before I get back."

Andrea's lower lip trembled. "Aren't you coming for lunch?"

He looked down at her and shook his head. "There may come days of picnics, youngster, but they're a long way off."

"Please come back," she insisted. He met her eyes with a hardened gaze. "There's not a woman living," he said slowly, "that will let a man work when she's around—if she can help it."

"You're thinking of people in love," said Andrea to start an argument and gain time.

"Of course I was," said the man on the instant. "Can't you let me work?"

"Beast," said Andrea and rolled over on her side, one moist hand for a pillow in place of the hard helmet. She did not watch him go, she did not see Bathub and another boy arrive with table, chair and lunch basket, all in a single small load, for before it happened she was far away in the land of Nod. When she awoke she was sorry, for awake the hot hours passed on laggard feet. At midday she ate; then she tried to read, but by four in the afternoon she was desperate for something to do. She determined to sleep again, and just as she was dozing off a whisper came to her—one of those carefully measured whispers that reach the intended ear and go no farther.

"Maisie!"

She turned. "What is it?" she asked.

"Gashly! Maisie," breathed Bathub, and the groan in his appeal to her to go slow was so eloquent that she caught the spirit, if not the meaning of the word.

She raised her head over so carefully and looked out over the plain. "Oh!" she murmured.

A quarter of a mile away a band of sable were grazing, and in a moment she could tell that they were feeding directly toward her. "Oh!" she breathed again, "oh, you beauties!"

Closer and closer grazed the herd, stepping daintily from tuft to tuft of fodder. Their black and white faces, the sweep of their arching horns, their brown bodies that glistened in the sun as though they had been groomed, their nervous flicking bobbed tails, their incredibly slim legs, combined all the attributes of fascination—beauty, vigor, strength, motion—and filled the eyes of the watchers to overflowing.

In the van of the herd stepped a mighty bull, his tiny hoofs lifting high as though he boasted that his weight was really nothing. Straight toward the forest and Andrea he led his little army until presently she could smell the stable odor of their bodies. Her heart was beating like a trip hammer. She tried to hold her breath. Her bosom rose and fell in a fluttering undulation. The bull looked up and saw her. His horns went back and he squatted, hesitating on the brink of the mighty spring of fright. In his eyes was a gleam unbelievably wicked.

Then the crack of a rifle, the thud of a bullet in flesh, a body hurled into the air by the death-throe and falling in a heap, legs doubled up, neck outstretched, blood gurgling from nostrils and mouth!

Andrea buried her face in her lap, trying to blot out the sight from her eyes, and sobbed as though her heart were breaking. She did not hear the wild cry of Bathub, nor see his crazy gyrations about the prostrate brute, but when the white man spoke her mind leaped to meet the justification in his words, without which she felt she could never have looked upon his face again.

"Stop your crying," he said sharply. "When a sable bull gets as close as that, there's no telling which way he's going to go."

CHAPTER VI.

M'sungu led the march home; the donkey came next, with his nose glued to M'sungu's back and with Andrea in the middle. Clinging to his tail with both hands, more as a drag-anchor than as deterrent came Bathub, and behind him the long rank and file. Andrea was still smiling a little, but her tear-stained face, like a child's, was already cloudless.

"I think Marguerite is too funny," she said. "He's got his eyes tight shut and he's steering himself by his nose in your shirt. Will you please tell Bathub to let go his tail?"

"Bathub knows his business," replied M'sungu, but, as it happened, even as he spoke, Bathub cast off one hand to receive a lighted white charcoal, a communal bit of property that had come up the line of personal attendants, six puffs to a "boy." He never got a puff, for on feeling less weight behind, Marguerite opened his eyes, looked straight back on both sides of his lean body at once, flattened his ears and broke from the path at a dead run.

The high cantle of the stock saddle saved Andrea from staying just where she started from. She was a horse-woman, born and bred, consequently even while her amazement was at its height, she wrapped the reins on her arms, drove her toes into the bucket stirrups and straightened her young back into the long, strong and saving pull of calm desperation, for Marguerite was headed straight for the leafy, low-hanging branches of a vast mafuta tree.

Yells of delight resounded from every black man in sight with exception of poor Bathub, who had regained his double hand-hold only after having been jerked from his feet, and now dangled along like the proverbial village tin can on the trail of a terrified dog.

Above the din came to Andrea's very busy brain a shout that stood out like a sudden scream in a long nightmare. "Marry him or jump off!" Before she could grasp the deadly import of those words she was hanging like a half-closed jackknife over a limb of the tree watching Marguerite browse as though nothing had happened, his tail still tightly grasped by a now grinning Bathub.

Ten minutes later the procession was under way again in the order aforementioned with the variation that the reins of the bride were knotted to the back of M'sungu's belt. Andrea, too dazed to protest, pondered over this indignity, but when she finally found her voice she decided to use it for another purpose.

"I think it was horrid of the blacks to yell the way they did," she remarked with suspicious meekness. "Don't you?"

M'sungu seemed relieved. "I certainly do," he answered promptly. "But you'll have to accustom yourself to the fact that obolo is the basic consideration between the black man and all women in the world."

"What do you mean?" asked Andrea, mystified. "What's obolo?"

"In this country," explained M'sungu, "obolo is the market price for women. The best native authorities, however, contend that obolo is not a purchase price but the remuneration to the father for the board, training and general keep of his daughter up to the time of her marriage, and they base their argument on the fact that while women are property they are not chattel, title being nontransferable."

"Can damaged goods be exchanged?" inquired Andrea icily.

Andrea has a thrilling adventure in the next installment.

Lumber Cut of 1918.

The lumber cut of the United States in 1918 was 29,862,020,000 feet, as reported to the forest service up to June 15 by 14,708 mills. The complete total cut is $1,880,454,000 feet, based on the assumed operations of 22,548 mills. The completed cut in 1918 is 11 per cent smaller than the completed production in 1917.

A comparison of the completed cut of several of the larger general producing regions in 1918 with the figures for the preceding year shows a smaller output by approximately 30 per cent in the yellow-pine group of states, a decrease of 19 per cent in the North Carolina pine group and of 9 per cent in the Lake states. An increased cut of 2 per cent is noted for Oregon and Washington.

Earliest Mention of Coal.

The earliest mention of coal in the territory now comprised in the United States is recorded in the journal of Father Hennepin, who in 1679 refers to the site of a "cole" mine on Illinois river, near the present city of Ottawa.

"The Salvation Army Is Marching Along"

In response to a call from F. J. Sager, of the Advisory Board of the Salvation Army Drive to begin early in May, the following named ladies and gentlemen met at the office of County School Superintendent, Wednesday afternoon and completed arrangements whereby chairmen were appointed in the different precincts and a complete organization over the county effected: F. J. Sager, chairman; Mrs. W. L. Gumm, Mrs. J. B. French, Mrs. S. L. Squier, Messrs. J. B. French, A. C. Douglas, J. A. Haley and A. L. Burke. Mrs. S. L. Squier was chosen as permanent secretary for the drive and R. E. Lemon, treasurer. Four members absent.

Under the leadership of this Advisory Board, auxiliaries will be organized over the county composed of representative citizens everywhere whose duty it will be to study social and moral conditions and report the same to the Advisory Board and all such information will be held strictly confidential for the use of the Salvation Army whose work in relieving the distressed in other parts is an open book to the public. The Salvation Army has always waged its battles where the smoke was the thickest; in the larger cities where vice and poverty have gone hand in hand, this organization has never hesitated to enter where good could be done. Thousands of grateful souls are glad to testify to the grand and noble deeds of human kindness these people have performed. Their object is to prevent instead of cure, but in finding sorrowful conditions, they claim and have in numberless instances proven, that "A Man May Be Down, But He Is Never Out." The work will consist of investigating cases of poverty, the unemployed, juvenile delinquency, missing persons, promoting Americanization, children's homes, soldiers' and sailors' rights and ministering to those who sit in the valley and the shadow of death. After the drive, business and professional men will no longer be bothered with the professional grafters, a great amount of whom are even now working their way ahead of this movement to escape detection. Their names and records will be in the hands of this organization and only those who are worthy and in need of help will be recognized.

Wm. Ferguson's Half- way House at Nogal

Wm. Ferguson, proprietor of the store formerly owned by O. C. Davis, at Nogal, was in town Tuesday and reports business picking up nicely with the incoming of spring. In connection with his stock of groceries, Mr. Ferguson is installing a gasoline station for the convenience of the automobile travel between here and Capitán. The travel will be greatly increased this summer between here and Alto, on account of the new club grounds of the Southwest Fish & Game Association opening up. The lodge will be finished shortly and by the time fishing is good crowds of pleasure seekers will swarm to this haven of rest and recuperation. By this time "Billy" Ferguson will have his "Half Way House" in readiness to accommodate those who may need anything in the line of soft drinks, cigars, candles, to say nothing of the convenience of having their gasoline tanks replenished when they are running low.

HEADACHE
Often Caused by
Acid-Stomach

You, indeed, more often than you think, because ACID-STOMACH, starting with indigestion, heartburn, belching, food-repelling, bloated and flatulent, will eventually affect every vital organ of the body. Nerves, blood, and even the brain, therefore, of frequent occurrence as a result of this most common condition.

Take EATONIC. It quickly banishes acid-stomach with its sour, flat, and gas. It aids digestion—helps the stomach get full strength from every morsel of food you eat. Millions of people are miserable, weak, sick and ailing because of ACID-STOMACH. Poisons, created by partly digested food charged with acid, are absorbed into the blood and distributed throughout the entire system. This often causes rheumatism, biliousness, cirrhosis of the liver, heart trouble, ulcers and even cancer of the stomach. It robs its victims of their health, undermines the strength of the most vigorous.

If you want to get back your physical and mental strength—be full of vim and vigor—enjoy life and be happy, you must get rid of your acid-stomach.

In EATONIC you will find the very help you need and it's guaranteed. So get a big tin box from your druggist today. It fails to please you, return it and he will refund your money.

Important to all Women
Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, head, ache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

ORDERS FROM BERLIN START
FERMENT OF POPULATION—
THIRTY-FIVE INJURED.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Mayence, April 8.—Disturbances broke out in Frankfort, but energetic intervention by the French troops restored order. From German sources it is learned that six Germans were killed and thirty-five wounded. It is reported that the manifestations which gave rise to these incidents were due to an order originating in Berlin. "The first day of the occupation of Frankfort passed without incident. The reception by the population was almost cordial," said General Degoutte, the French commander, on his return from a tour of inspection.

"Then, suddenly, on orders from Berlin, a certain ferment seized the population. This ferment degenerated into aggression and our soldiers, in self-defense, were obliged to use their arms. So far as I know we had no losses."

"The incident shows how we must watch proceedings in Berlin, and that is why the events in the Ruhr demand my whole attention. You cannot consider what is going on in Ruhr and here apart; there is a close relation between the events we are witnessing."

"The aggression at Frankfort and events in the Ruhr are attributable to the same military reaction. Of that we have absolute proof."

"The Berlin government allowed the reichswehr to invade the Ruhr district unnecessarily, because it was the desire of Kapp, Von Luettwitz and their like."

"The coup d'etat having failed only through the general strike, the military party sought revenge on the working classes and invented the Bolshevik peril in the Ruhr. It ought to be known in France and elsewhere that there never was any Bolshevik peril in the Ruhr."

"It was simply a case of a population of workers which hates Prussian militarism asking only to be allowed to work in peace. That population was still at work in Essen yesterday. What is happening now is the result of the reichswehr occupation."

Berlin, April 7.—A proclamation addressed by the German government to the inhabitants of the towns occupied by the French was issued today. It says:

"Less than 14,000 troops have been collected in the Ruhr district, or almost the exact number permitted by the agreement with the entente. France has regarded it as reconcilable with the state of peace to occupy flourishing German towns as a reprisal. The world's peace has never been more monstrously played with than it has been just now by France."

"It is that hard-hearted opponent which alone is responsible for making you the victim of this skylock policy. The imperial government will do everything it can to shorten your period of suffering. It will not let Germany be shattered in this cunningly devised fashion."

Copenhagen.—The police have been out in full force again and special measures have been taken to keep the crowds away from the neighborhood of the royal palace. The calling off of the general strike seems to have been obeyed virtually all along the line and life is almost normal again.

NOT MUCH STUDY INVOLVED
Grandma Evidently Didn't Think Highly of the Delings at Women's Debating Club.

Tiny Timothy had to be very quiet on certain days in the week. Sunday mornings were bad because then father had to study his lesson for the afternoon Sunday school. Tuesday evenings he had to tiptoe around while brother John studied his lodge ritual. Friday evenings sister Nellie went to a debating club and it was often preceded by the last look at her part in the debates.

Then one day mother announced that she had been invited to join a bridge club. Every one was anxious for her to join but little Timothy, who sighed: "Oh, mother, now will you have to study, too, before you go there? What do they recite at your club?"

Everybody smiled but dear old grandmother, who did not approve of bridge clubs. "Oh, she won't have to study much," she retorted tartly. "She can just listen at the first few meetings until she learns how to gossip like the rest of them."

Young Man Perfectly Willing to Practice Economy if Old Gentleman Would Supply Materials.

There is a well-known banker whose only son does not, his father contends, appreciate the value of a dollar by about 99 cents. A short time ago the youth approached the old gentleman with a request for a considerable sum in addition to his regular allowance.

"Look here, my boy," the father said severely. "You do not seem to realize that you spend a great deal of money—throw it away, in fact. Don't you think it about time that you began to economize a bit?"

"Yes, I do, father," the young man responded earnestly. "Been thinking just that—fine thing, economy; provide against rainy day, and all that sort of rot. I'd love to start right in economizing, but I can't, because I haven't a cent to economize. If you'll just pass over that thousand, however, I will begin, right away!"

Making a Start.
I heard an amusing story the other day concerning Sir John Lavery, the famous society artist.

It seems that one day he was engaged in painting the portrait of a beautiful but very shy little girl, when he chanced to find a threepenny bit in his color box.

"Do you collect threepenny bits?" he inquired of the child, showing her the coin.

"Yeth," she lisped.
"Here's one for your collection. Now how many have you?"

"One," replied the little sister.—London Tit-Bits.

FILIPINAS GET BALLOT BEFORE AMER. SISTERS

Senora de Veyra Describes
Status of Women in the Philippines.

The Filipino woman is destined to be in the world's spotlight more than ever before as a result of the news just received by cable from Manila to the effect that the Philippine senate has passed the equal suffrage bill giving women full political rights with men. This would indicate that the Filipina may beat her American sisters to the ballot box.

The Filipina has many admirers who predict she will make good if she gets the vote, just as she has made good in the very important role she has occupied in the family and business life of the Philippines ever since the introduction of Christianity in the islands three centuries ago.

"America's advent in the Philippines discovered a wonderfully interesting, responsive little being, the Filipino woman," writes one American concerning

MRS. JAIME C. DE VEYRA,
A Filipina who is doing important work for her people in the United States.

the Filipina. "Mothering the only Christian people in the far east, she holds a place of authority, love and respect in family and social life that is not accorded to women in countries neighboring the islands, or in India, China or Japan."

A Filipina who is doing an important work for her people in the United States is Mrs. Jaime C. de Veyra, wife of the resident commissioner from the Philippines. Not only has she frequently addressed the wives of members of Congress in Washington as to conditions in the new Philippines, but she has visited various cities, speaking before women's clubs. The senora wears, in giving her talks, one of the beautiful gowns of her home land, a delicate pineapple fabric, hand-woven and hand-embroidered, shaped like a gauzy-winged butterfly.

Illness Costs U. S. Wage Earners Billion Dollars Every 12 Months

The annual sick bill of 30,000,000 American wage earners is $1,000,000,000.

The time clock of the nation shows that each worker, through sickness, loses an average of nine days. This means that the working time of the nation is decreased by more than 850,000 years.

Half of the billion-dollar sick bill represents wages lost—subtracted from the total of earnings expected to finance the budgets of millions of families. The other half represents the bill for doctors, nurses and medicines. And the total is twice the amount given annually in the United States for all philanthropic purposes, in normal times.

This is the problem of illness as it is presented by the survey now being made by the Inter-church World Movement.

The survey has formulated a program as a proposal for the co-operative effort of the evangelical churches. An increase in the efficiency and capacity of existing denominational hospitals is the first provision of this program.

Construction of 31 new hospitals is the second. These hospitals include 12 general hospitals for white people; twelve for negroes; one tuberculosis sanatorium for Arizona; four hospitals for incurables and two children's hospitals.

SCHOOL NOTES

(By Supt. E. E. Cole)

The Senior Class Play, May 10-11, at Crystal Theatre. Keep that date open. Longfellow's Evangeline was recently played five nights in El Paso. It is classic, full of beauty and pathos. The price will be reasonable and within the reach of all. The proceeds are to be used for the good of the school.

Evangelist Linn and his singer, Mr. Cheek, visited the high school Monday. Mr. Cheek, affectionately called "Little Liza Jane" by the soldier boys, led the singing. Under his leadership the high school "rolled up" "Little Liza Jane" in good style.

Evangelist Linn then talked to the school about as follows: "Education is to train to think. Get an education and, in the getting, stick to it. Do not neglect the religious side of life. Wilson and Marshall, the two leading executives of our government, are not ashamed to pray, to be religious. The Christian life is a life which adds to our valuable accomplishments. It is a case of addition, not of subtraction, and Christ meets us half way. He seeks as we seek."

The eighth grade is to take its second set of examinations Thursday and Friday of this week. A month ago this grade took six of the ten examinations and every student passed. This leaves four for Thursday and Friday of this week. This examination is given by the State Board of Education.

How about the seventh grade? It's all right. What is all right? The seventh grade. They are not pickers. They are not afraid of storms. Last Saturday, April 10, accompanied by Mrs. Vaughn and Miss Sullivan, they went on a ten-mile hike among the malpais. Before coming back to town they sat around a campfire in a cave and toasted marshmallows. Mrs. Vaughn told their fortunes. Of course they are all to be rich and beautiful. They reached Carrizozo at five in the afternoon, tired but happy.

On last Monday afternoon, after school, the Teachers' reading circle met in the superintendent's office for the last session of the year. Mrs. Gumm reported on the first chapter of the subject, Class-Room Management, discussing the topics: Measures of Good Management, The Spirit of the Class Room, The Personal Factor in Class-Room Management, Class-Room Routine, and Physical Conditions in the Class-Room. The report showed that Mrs. Gumm had a very clear and definite understanding of the subject.

Miss Hughes reported on the subject Class-Room Management and Moral Conduct, discussing Misdemeanors, Punishment of Misdemeanors, Incentives, The Management of Examinations. Miss Hughes' report showed that she had studied the subject, a subject of great importance in the school room.

At the close of the period, one hour and a half, the teachers expressed themselves as having greatly profited by the course. Betts' Class-Room Management is a fine book and the best informed teacher may profit by reading it. The superintendent is proud to state that the two teachers of the longest service in the Carrizozo schools, Mrs. Gumm and Mrs. Massie, took the reading circle course and greatly assisted the rest of us with their ripe experience and mature judgment. Those who completed the course are: Mrs. Gumm, Mrs. Massie, Miss Sullivan, Miss Jarrett, Miss Neff, Miss Hughes, Mr. Cole. These teachers were not compelled in the least to take this course. That they did so, shows fine professional spirit.

A WORLD REBUILT

*By the Golden Rule
not by the rule of Gold*

THIRTY denominations of the Church are uniting in a simultaneous campaign in the week of April 25th-May 2nd.

They are uniting because the task before the Church is too great for any one denomination; because there must be no duplication of effort; no waste.

These churches know that the world needs many things; but it needs Faith most of all.

They know that there can be no final solution of our economic problems that is not a spiritual solution, based on the teachings of Jesus Christ and His Golden Rule.

They have had the courage to survey the whole task, and to ask for a budget large enough to sustain (1) the work abroad, (2) the work at home including the church's part in the huge task of Americanization, (3) the colleges and (4) hospitals supported by the Churches, (5) the religious training of the young, and to provide (6) a living wage for the Church's ministers.

The budget is large in the aggregate; yet if each person who loves America would increase his contribution by only a few dollars the whole amount would be easily subscribed.

We face the task of rebuilding the world. Let the cornerstone be a strong and vital church in every American community; and the measuring rod by which the builders build must be the Golden Rule.

Lost Opportunity

Through lack of encouragement in the form of leases on patented acreage the New State Oil & Gas Co. failed to secure for development of the district surrounding Carrizozo, the desired State acreage in this vicinity. This acreage was sold in large tracts on April 14th, and can have no other effect than that of delaying development.

Now that the State leases are tied up development must come from the blocking of the patented lands. If you have not leased your land, reconsider the matter and for the purpose of getting development which means as much or more to you than anyone else in the community, lease. We have lost one opportunity. Let us be ready to grasp the next one. — NEW STATE OIL & GAS CO.

Land Lease Sale

The sale of land leases was conducted Tuesday, Mr. Fred Miller, assistant Land Commissioner conducting the same at the County Court House. The total amount of acreage was 156,770 acres which was bidden in and accepted by the National Development Company at 5 cents per acre. At Alamo, he conducted a sale of 58,000 acres and after making the sale here, he left Roswell, where he made a sale of 365,000 acres. He next visited Carlsbad, where he sold 108,000 acres. All these tracts have been advertised to be sold at the request of men who are already at work making extensive oil and gas explorations in the different counties.

What Makes a Bank?

Well, our answer to that question is that it is the men behind the bank, the men interested in its management, the men who stand for business integrity and square dealing.

The officers of our bank are accommodating and willing to extend you every courtesy. Our directors are not figure-heads, they actually direct the affairs of the bank and know how its business is conducted. Our stockholders are among the solid men of the community. These are what it takes to make a good bank, in our judgment, a safe place for you to do business. We invite you to join us.

There is more Cataract in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Cataract to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Cataract Cure, manufactured by Dr. J. C. Hall & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

CHURCHES

Baptist Church Revival
Closes Next Sunday

The revival services that have been going on for the past two weeks will close next Sunday night with the pastor, Rev. Smith in the pulpit. On account of the dates fixed for other meetings, the Evangelist, Rev. Linn and singer, Frank Cheek will leave for El Paso Saturday. These gentlemen have made a favorable impression on the people of this community. Many people have attended these services who were not in the habit of church going before. They are a pair of "good scouts" which is the result of their many and varied experiences with their fellow men in all walks of life. The meetings which close Sunday night will reveal the good work that has been done.

Episcopal Guild "Tea"

The ladies' Guild of the Episcopal church will give a "Tea" at the K. of P. Hall on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, April 28. Cake, coffee, sandwiches and other good things to eat will be provided. The "Tea" will last from 3, in the afternoon to 8, in the evening. After that hour, dancing will be the order for the remainder of the time and the affair will close when the two hands of the clock meet. Be sure to attend. The proceeds go to the church building fund.

Southwest News

From All Over
New Mexico
and Arizona

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

For the first time in history all of the school districts in Otero county, New Mexico, are out of debt, having no outstanding warrants or interest overdue and unpaid.

An addition to the capitol building at Phoenix, completed at a cost of $150,000, has been occupied and the entire capitol is again overcrowded, according to reports.

Interest is being shown in the new Chloride-Kerwin oil and gas field situated on the Colorado river about thirty miles west of Chloride, Ariz. Surface indications are believed to be of a promising character, oil and gas seepages having been encountered at various places.

A. E. Eldredge, naturalization examiner for the southern district of California, Arizona and Nevada under Fred Jones, examiner in charge, has resigned from government service to become assistant industrial superintendent of one of the largest mines in Arizona.

The Calumet-New Mexico Mining Company at Pinos Altos is adding a flotation unit to its mill and will have the work completed so that the test run can be made shortly. The mill has been running for some weeks on the Pinos Altos ores and has succeeded in the work of separation to a degree never reached before.

Sixteen horses belonging to the First cavalry were burned to death in a fire of unknown origin which broke out in the row of stables used by Troop M. and the Medical Detachment and which destroyed the entire row at Douglas, Ariz. The loss is estimated to be in the neighborhood of $8,000.

Antonio Carpio, convicted of the murder of Efrén Rios, must hang. He was brought before Judge Mochem at Silver City, N. M., and sentenced to be hanged on Friday, April 18th. When asked if he had anything to say he shook his head. After sentence had been pronounced he made an effort to speak but was unable to do so. The case will likely be appealed.

Claiming that the freight tariffs from Phoenix and other points in the Salt River valley located on the Arizona Eastern railroad to stations in Arizona are unjust and unreasonable, the Traffic Bureau of the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce has filed a complaint with the Arizona Corporation Commission against the Arizona Eastern, Southern Pacific, El Paso & Southwestern railroads.

It is rumored that the Santa Fe will, during the coming year, erect an $80,000 office building in Clovis, N. M., to be built somewhere on the railroad property. This improvement has been contemplated for several years and was postponed when the railroads were turned over to the government. No official announcement has been made in regard to this improvement, but there are many who believe that 1920 will see this new building started.

State Adjutant Dudley W. Windes of the American Legion has been notified that a new post of the Legion has been organized at Holbrook, Ariz., which is named Navajo Post A. L. This is the thirty-seventh organization of the American Legion organized in the state of Arizona, and will be designated as Navajo Post 57 of the American Legion. Other posts are in process of organization. It was announced yesterday at the new headquarters of the Legion in the state capitol. There are now about 3,000 members in the Legion throughout the state.

The class of '20 of the Clovis, N. M., High school, which will graduate in May, is the largest in the history of the school, twenty-two young ladies and ten young men, and is one of the liveliest student bodies in the state. Many social and class functions are being planned for the closing days of the school.

To prospect for further ore bodies below the 1,500-foot level of the Briggs mine in Arizona, the Calumet & Arizona Mining Company is about to put down a number of diamond drill holes from that level. It is estimated that there is more than 1,000 feet of the limestone formation below the 1,500-foot level that may yet be prospected. The holes will be driven vertically down.

Henry Simmons, a Van Houten negro who is charged with the murder of his wife at Van Houten, N. M., on March 14, was taken before Judge T. D. Leib of the District Court at Flagston to cause the prisoner to be held for preliminary hearing. Several witnesses were heard, and the evidence adduced was sufficient in the mind of the court to cause the prisoner to be held for the action of the grand jury.

HAD TERRIBLE COUGH AND NIGHT SWEATS

Cough about gone, eats and sleeps well, and gained 12 pounds.

"In December, 1918, I had a fearful cough, and my physician ordered me to change climate immediately. I went to San Antonio, Texas, and entered a sanatorium. Left there and came to Oklahoma City in October, 1919. Had no appetite, could not sleep, had night sweats and was losing from one to three pounds a week. I also had catarrh of the bowels, which the doctors had been unable to relieve.

"Relatives urged me to try Milk's Emulsion. I did so and began to improve, slowly at first, but steadily. My weight has increased 12 pounds. I have no temperature, and my cough is about gone. I can eat heartily, sleep well, and am working at my trade again."—V. W. Neff, 616 No. Dewey St., Oklahoma City, Okla.

Nature does wonders in fighting off disease, if given the chance. Milk's Emulsion is a powerful help in providing strength and flesh. It costs nothing to try.

Milk's Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physica.

It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milk's Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions, and if not satisfied with the results your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milk's Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.—Adv.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

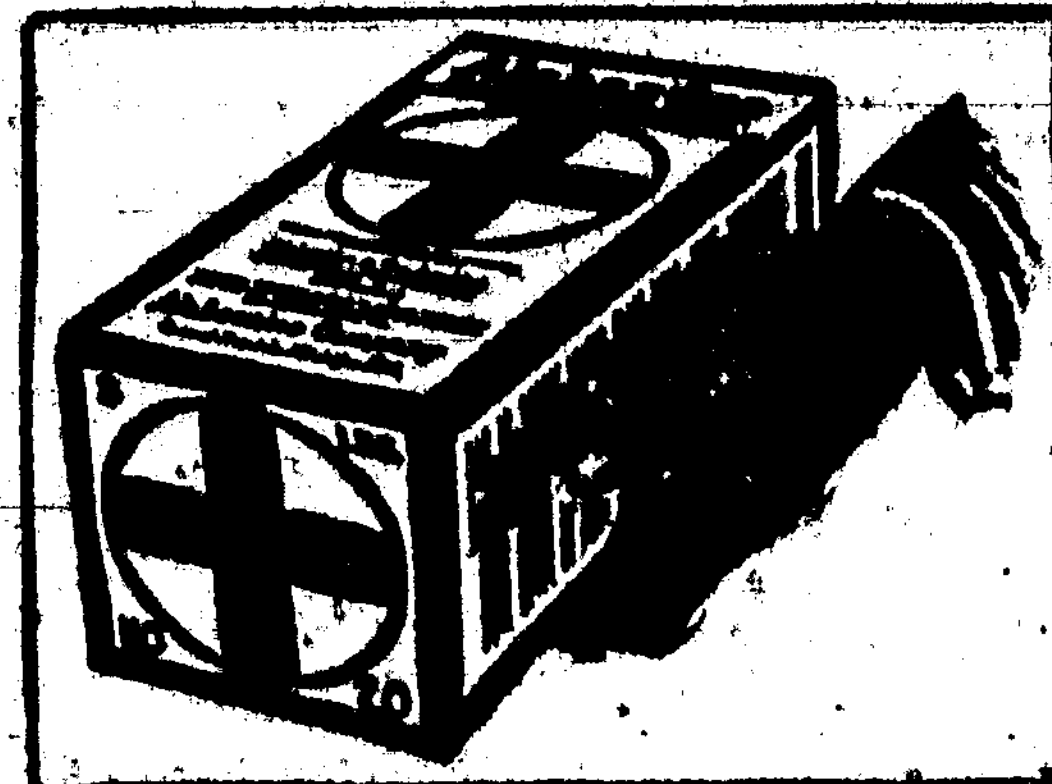

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it at night and morning, and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

Problems We Want You To Help Us Decide

The New Mexico Game Protective Association has issued a letter to all organizations of a kindred nature, also to all game wardens and sportsmen in the state to attend a convention to be held at Santa Fe on April 23 and 24, for the purpose of discussing ways and means of better preserving the game which is fast disappearing from our once "Happy Hunting Grounds."

This convention is going to be the most important in the history of New Mexico sportsmanship. We are confronted by half a dozen big problems which can only be solved by the united brains, enthusiasm, and effort of all progressive citizens interested in sport with rod and gun. We therefore earnestly hope that every G. P. A., shooting club, or livestock association, and every state or federal department concerned with game matters, will be officially represented by as many delegates as possible, and that every interested citizen whether or no affiliated with any sportsman's organization, attend if at all possible. Deputy game wardens and all officers of the State Game Department are especially and cordially invited.

Here are the main questions calling for discussion, decision, and action: Duck shooting and drainage; Reorganizing and strengthening the Game Department; Preserving free hunting and fishing grounds; Systematic fish stocking; Duck feeds and Methods of increasing the quail crop. In anticipation of the coming event, the Southwest Fish & Game Association of Carrizozo and vicinity has issued a call for a meeting to be held at the office of Kelley & Son on the night of April 19, and all sportsmen are urged to attend. The call follows:

SPECIAL MEETING

All members of the Southwest Fish & Game Association are requested to attend a special meeting Monday night, April 19, at 7:30, at Kelley's Store. Purpose—Selection of delegates to State Convention of New Mexico State Game Protection Association.

S. L. Squier, Secretary.

Banks and Industry

More and more do we see the progressive bank of today making the question of industrial development a personal matter.

The wide-awake bank management knows that bank prosperity

depends on two kinds of accounts; individual and industrial. Individual accounts will be lacking if there is a lack of industrial activity. Therefore, it is directly to the interest of every bank to push community development and thus by indirection develop its own business.

All over the country we see this thought reflected in bank advertising. Illustrating this point take following paragraph from a recent advertisement of the Northwestern National Bank, Portland, Oregon, in which it points out advantages of increased waterpower development:

"Increased soil production as well as greater industrial production, will be the fruits derived from the development of our 'white coal.' Cheap power will enable irrigation projects to pump water to our arid lands and reclaim them to fertility. Power will be used to do a great share of the drudgery on farms and will offer every farmhouse the electrical conveniences found in a city home."

This bank is developing the "industrial idea" which means prosperity for all.

Easy and Comfort On All Kinds of Roads

To shield a car from violent road shocks and thus prolong its life are the principal things that have been occupying the thought of automobile owners. They want a car that can prove to them by test, that it can stand the strain of rough roads under every extreme of climate, altitude and road condition. The Overland 4 fills all these wants. Its extraordinary advantages have been proven by 250,000 miles of test under all conditions above mentioned with ease and comfort to passengers and economy in fuel and tires to the owners.

Dr. S. M. Johnson, official lecturer for the Lincoln Highway Commission after a long trip over difficult roads says, "I found the Overland 4 so suited to my needs, that I rode in it all the way. It is a marvel of ease and comfort." What Dr. Johnson's experience taught him, can be demonstrated to any who are doubtful concerning the merits of the Overland 4. The diagonal construction of the three point suspension Triplex Springs gives the Overland 4 130-inch spring-base, although its wheelbase is only 100 inches—Think of that! In design, finish and body details, Overland 4 surely excels. Upholstered over cushioned springs, all steel streamline body, hood and crown with slanting windshield and equipment to stand the strongest tests, the Overland 4 will fill the wants of your fondest dreams. The N. B. Taylor & Sons Garage is the place to go to have these facts demonstrated to you, as they are the agents for this "Marvel of Beauty, Endurance and Comfort." Decide right now that you will not buy until you have seen the wonderful New Light Overland 4.—N. B. Taylor & Sons' Garage.

Shoulder and sleeve all in one piece

IN the shoulders—right where the worst strain comes in a work coat—is where Blue Buckle coats have sure protection. They are the only coats on the market with free-swing raglan sleeves.

That means the shoulder and sleeve are the same piece in Blue Buckle coats—no seams on the shoulders to rip and give—no binding under the arm pits.

You can always be sure of long

wear and comfort when you get Blue Buckle coats and overalls.

The toughest, longest-wearing denim—and lots of it—with big, broad, double-stitched seams goes into every pair of Blue Buckles. They don't rip. The brass buttons and buckles don't come off. Every pair is roomy and comfortable, with a solid back-band, reinforced, convenient pockets, extra wide suspenders—and first-class workmanship.

That's why more Blue Buckles are sold than any other brand of overalls.

Ask for Blue Buckles when you buy overalls.

"I've tried a lot of overalls, but of all I've worn, give me Blue Buckles every time. They always give long wear."

—Fred H. Buckle

President of the Iowa Corn and Soil Grain Growers Association

Backache and Kidneys

Backache of any kind is often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properly. Poisonous matter and uric acid accumulate within the body in great abundance, overworking the sick kidneys, hence the congestion of blood causes backache in the same manner as similar congestion in the head causes headache.

You become nervous, dependent, sick, feverish, irritable, have spots appearing before the eyes, behind the lids, and lack ambition to do things.

The latest and most effective means of overcoming this trouble, is to eat sparingly of meat, drink plenty of water between meals and take a single Anurio tablet before each meal for a while.

Simply ask your druggist for Anurio (anti-uric acid) if you aren't feeling up to the standard. If you have lumbago, rheumatism, dropsy, begin immediately this treatment with Anurio.

The physicians and specialists at Dr. Pierce's Invalid Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., have thoroughly tested this prescription and have been with one accord successful in eradicating these troubles.

Patients having once used Anurio at the institution have repeatedly sent back for more. Such a demand has been created that Doctor Pierce decided to put Anurio in the drug stores of this country, in a ready-to-use form.

Omaha, Neb.: "I ached all over and felt so badly that I could not sleep at night, my bladder seemed weak, gave me considerable trouble, and caused stinging sensations. I read an advertisement of Dr. Pierce's Anurio (anti-uric acid) and purchased a bottle. It was only a few days before I felt wonderfully relieved, and all the aches left me. I am glad to endorse such a worthy medicine which always shall recommend it."—MRS. W. C. KESCHERMAN, 1832 N. 17th St.

Tough on the Patient.

Nurse—Oh, doctor, what shall I do? Your patient followed your directions perfectly.

Doctor—Well, there's nothing to worry over.

Nurse—Yes, there is; the directions blow out the window and he jumped out to follow them.

W. D. Askern, prosecuting attorney of Pierce County, Washington, was called to the door of his home at Tacoma and shot. His wounds are reported serious.

Swan Odgaard, his wife and an unidentified man were killed when a snowslide carried away the house in which they were living in Little Cottonwood cañon, north of Salt Lake City.

Approximately 200,000 individual income tax returns were made in the internal revenue district embracing northern California and Nevada, an increase of 40,000 over last year, the internal revenue collector announced at San Francisco.

Now comes Arizona as a cotton state. The last of the 1919-1920 Egyptian cotton crop has been picked recently. It will bring $20,000,000 at average market price. The cotton was raised for the most part in the Salt River valley, which surrounds Phoenix. Nearly 92,000 acres were planted to cotton in that district.

Even the air isn't free any more, at least as far as war tax is concerned, according to Justus Wardell, collector of internal revenue of San Francisco, who announced the receipt of a ruling from Washington that airplanes engaged in commercial passenger, freight and express traffic over established routes in competition with other methods of transportation must pay taxes on their traffic.

Prohibition agents have been asked by the Washington officials to keep sharp lookout for a mysterious airplane which flies over the Canadian border every night into Montana and drops a parachute. The information is that the parachute carries a quantity of whisky which is disposed of by bootleggers. After dropping the parachute, the airplane goes back into Canada without landing.

The report of the finding of two prehistoric skeletons in a prehistoric house in Valencia county, which aroused intense interest among scientists all over the country, was a gigantic April Fool day hoax. Amado Chavez of Santa Fe, former state school superintendent, wealthy capitalist and one of the best known men in the state, who gave out the story to the newspapers, today admitted that he had been victimized and innocently victimized the public.

WASHINGTON.

Seaplanes able to fly across the Pacific ocean will be developed within two to five years, Secretary of the Navy Daniels told the Senate Naval Affairs Committee.

Mrs. Edward Bell, wife of the secretary of the American embassy at Tokio, has been appointed counselor of the embassy. She is the first woman to be named for this position.

Nation-wide reports from federal reserve bank officials, made public at Washington disclose their opinion that the post-war era of "extravagance and reckless buying by the public is nearing its end."

House and Senate conferees on the bill providing increased pay for enlisted and commissioned personnel of the army and navy failed to reach an agreement and the House managers will ask the House for further instructions. The House conferees object to including increased pay for soldiers in the measure.

The government expenditures have exceeded the revenues "from all sources" by more than $200,000,000 during the first nine months of this fiscal year, and the reduction of $708,000,000 in the floating debt last month is but a "temporary" condition, Representative Mondell, Wyoming, Republican leader, declares in a prepared statement. Economy alone, he says, can avert a "calamitous crisis."

Governors of Federal Reserve banks were warned by the Treasury Department that the government would be a heavy borrower in April and May despite the March reduction of $708,000,000 in the public debt. The amount of treasury certificates of indebtedness which would be necessary to meet the nation's needs was not disclosed, but another issue of such obligations is expected soon.

FOREIGN.

General Wrangel, commander of the volunteer army of Russia, has been appointed to relieve General Denekine as commander of the anti-Bolshevik forces in the south of Russia.

Bolshevik forces on the Polish front are being regrouped and fresh forces brought up, the Polish war office advised Major General Brynk, military attaché of the Polish legation.

Polish successes are reported along the Stutz river, where a Bolshevik attack has been repulsed. General Litwinski's forces captured 300 Bolsheviks, four guns and much ammunition and other material.

Lient, Stanislaw Zebrowski of the Polish army, tried by court-martial and found guilty of a charge of having misappropriated 10,000 marks belonging to his regiment, has been sentenced to be shot at Warsaw.

Jews clashed with Moslems at Jerusalem on Easter Sunday and 186 casualties resulted, said a news agency dispatch from that city. Most of the casualties were slight. The military is controlling the situation.

Helen Keller, the deaf, dumb and blind prodigy, has had the announcement made in Berlin that she has assigned all her royalties and income from the sale of her books in Germany for all time to the Association of Homes for Blind German Soldiers.

The first aeroplane to rise from and alight again on the deck of a warship was one of those aboard the Furious while the British fleet was off Vigo recently. Aeroplanes ascended from the Furious during the war, but were unable to land on the vessel again.

Famine conditions prevail in Slovakia, according to reports received in Vienna. It is reported that people are collapsing in the streets due to hunger, and that there have been hunger riots in various districts. In Karschau the populace invaded the office of the Czech food controller and dragged him to the street and killed him.

Germany has delivered to France, in execution of the armistice terms, 2,683 locomotives, of which 697 have been ceded by France to the allied powers. Of the 1,986 locomotives retained by France, 151 are in need of extensive repairs, according to an official statement issued by Yves Létourquer, minister of public works.

Members of the Jockey Club of Paris, most exclusive of its kind in Europe, have resolved to boycott taxicabs owing to the extraordinary increase in taxi rates. Any member infringing on this "covenant" will be fined $20. But this is one of innumerable instances showing what France means to do to beat down the prices.

Joe Stecher and Ed (Strangler) Lewis, heavyweight wrestlers, have been matched for a bout in the Seventy-first Regiment Armory at New York on April 16.

"Fighting Bob" Evans' old battleship, the Iowa, now condemned and out of commission, is destined to play an important part in the experiments of the Navy Department in the control of ships by wireless.

Edward O'Toole, 59 years old, who witnessed more electrocutions in Sing Sing prison than any other employed there, having been for nineteen years a keeper in the death house, died at his home in Ossining, N. Y.

The national debt of Canada on February 28th, last, amounted to $1,915,905,924, according to a report made in the House of Commons. The Dominion's gross debt amounted to $3,142,068,590 and its assets to $1,226,152,666.

Two children are dead as the result of a mistake on the part of a shell-shocked ex-soldier employed by a manufacturing chemist at Edinburg, Ill. The veteran's mind wanders sometimes. He packed strychnine in a calomel bottle. A coroner's jury held him blameless.

The torpedo boat destroyer Peary, named in honor of the late Rear Admiral Peary, was launched at the Cramps shipyard on the eleventh anniversary of his discovery of the North Pole.

Patrick Tyrrell, 90 years old, who was one of the guards about President Lincoln when the chief executive was shot, is dead at Chicago. Mr. Tyrrell was connected with the secret service for many years.

A delegation representing six associations of war veterans of Canada presented a petition to Acting Premier Foster for a bonus of $2,000 for every man who served in France, $1,500 for service in England, and $1,000 for service in Canada. The petition had 100,000 names.

With their heads badly crushed and their throats cut, five small children of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cowart were found dead in a tent, in which they had been making a temporary home three miles south of Elk City, Okla. The wife and mother lay beside the children with her throat badly slashed. An ax, razor and butcher knife, all bloodstained, were found in the tent.

A Voice From Sioux City, Iowa, says

PE-RU-NA
Worth Its Weight In Gold

You cannot mistake the words of Mr. W. W. Northrup, of 948 Fourth Street, Sioux City, Iowa. He is enthusiastic about his present health and the merits of PE-RU-NA and wants everyone to know it. Here is a recent letter from him:—

"PE-RU-NA is worth its weight in gold and that some. I used to think it only a woman's remedy but have changed my mind. I had a cough, especially in the morning. After using half a bottle of PE-RU-NA was much better. I would cough up chunks of phlegm and mucus, my eyes itched and bothered me. Judging from the symptoms given in your Almanac it was catarrh. My stomach is in much better condition since using your medicine."

"Use this testimonial, if you wish. Don't hesitate to advertise the merits of PE-RU-NA."
(Signed) W. W. NORTHROP.

There are thousands just like Mr. Northrup, skeptical at first but convinced by a trial of PE-RU-NA.

Headgear for Which Young Wife Had Pined Adorned Head of One More Fortunate.

In His Primitive Abode, Eskimo Dwells in Comfort Through the Monotonous Arctic Winter.

"Every day for a week," the young wife said wistfully, "I've gone down to look at a hat in a show window—a wonderful hat, Tom; the kind of hat a woman dreams of but sees only once in years. Of course, I know that I could not hope to buy it, as it was far more expensive than we could afford. The price was—"

"Perhaps we could manage it, dear, if you wish it so much," Tom interrupted fondly. "Business has been a little better the last month. I have two new contracts for large apartment houses. How much is the hat?"

"That is dear of you, Tom," she responded with a grateful smile, though her eyes grew sad, "but it is too late. Our cook happened to pass the store. I saw her wearing it home."

Something Missed.

"Do you remember the first balloon you ever saw?"

"Quite well," replied the elderly gentleman. "Those were the happy days, but I've always felt that fate cheated me out of a thrill that was my due."

"How so?"

"I never saw a helper get tangled in the balloon ropes and go soaring toward the sky, suspended by one leg, while the blood of 5,000 spectators at the country fair froze in their veins with horror."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The best doctor for colds—and most other troubles—is Old Outdoors, M. D. His office is right around the corner.

There is but one safe thing to do with a practical joke, and that is to forget it before it happens.

The Eskimo of Greenland, no matter what his station in life may be, always has both a summer and winter home. The winter house is described by Roger Pocock in the Wide World Magazine as being a dugout with an upper structure built of turf and beams of driftwood. It has but one window, as winter in Greenland occurs during the four-month-long arctic night. Entrance to the one large room of which the house consists is gained through a long tunnel about five feet in height, in which the dogs live. In the rear of the living room is a raised dais on which the entire family sleep, and in the front part stands the stove. This stove consists of a hollow stone filled with seal oil in which burns a rag wick, which lights and heats the house and cooks the meals.

A Kindly Caddy.

"Oh, yes, sir, there's worse golf players in the world than you are, sir," the caddy said kindly. "Lots worse!"

"Well, that makes me feel better," the dub responded. "Then he swung his club, failed to touch the ball, but lifted a section of turf as large as a dinner plate."

"Yes, sir," the caddy continued, "there's certainly worse players, but they never let anybody catch 'em on the links!"—Everybody's Magazine.
