53 DELEGATES NAMED BY GOVERNOR LARRAZOLO

Largest Group of Men Appointed by Executive Since Assuming his Office—Los Angeles Meeting of Business Men to Be a Big One.

Santa Fe, N. M., March 11.—One of the biggest delegations named since he has been in office to attend a convention outside the state was appointed by Governor Larrazo late yesterday afternoon to represent New Mexico industries at the League of the Southwest's meeting in Los Angeles. The meeting will be held on April 1, 2 and 3.

The delegation includes 53 men, representing the cattle and sheep raisers, farmers, metal and coal mining industries, banks, wholesale houses, newspapers, educational institutions and, in short, practically every one of the larger industries to be found in the state. A number of state and county officials also were named, not as officials, but as representatives of industries.

Governor Larrazo himself will attend the meeting, believing he can strike home some effective blows for the reversion of unreserved and unappropriated federal lands to the states at the meeting. He intends to offer a resolution for adoption, by the meeting, asking congress to relinquish these lands. He was informed that eight or more other governors would attend.

Fast Passenger Train Without Engineer

Greencastle, Ind., March 11.—Westbound passenger train No. 10, on the Cincinnati-Indianapolis railroad, ran a distance of more than eight miles the other day without an engineer. When the train whizzed past Russellville without making the customary stop, the fireman, who had not discovered that engineer John Wegborn was missing, brought the runaway to a halt, backed the train the eight mile distance and found Wegborn, badly cut and suffering from cold, on the embankment at the spot where he had fallen from his cab. The injured man was taken to Reesdale and later removed to his home in Indianapolis.

Woodland Singers

Last Monday night the Woodland Singers delighted a full house at the Crystal Theatre. The Woodland Singers are well organized and from start to finish they gave their appreciative audience a program of songs that far exceeded their expectations. The next and last of the Redpath Lyceum songs will be on March 30 at the Crystal Theatre and a larger crowd than the one above mentioned is assured. This number will be the "Man of Mystery" and his company, who will amuse the public with many facts of legend and are said to be the best on the Lyceum circuit.

Sales, Transfers And Building Activities

Contractor Frank English closed a contract Monday with A. W. Adams and wife for the erection of a two-story building, the work of which was started immediately after the contract was let. The lower floor will be used by Mrs. Adams for a millinery store while the upper floor will be used for living apartments for the Adams family. The building which will be erected between Ziegler Bros. store and Miller's Rooming House, will be finished in oak and as far as possible will have modern conveniences and the cost will be close to $3,000. This sounds like business; it also sounds like spring. It is also an evidence that the building boom in Carrizozo has begun.

W. C. Leland has sold his residence to the Misses Marie E. and Margaret Humphrey. The deal was closed the last of this week and included furniture, fixtures and all household belongings. The Humphrey sisters with their brother Mr. E. M. Humphrey, will make the Leland place their future home.

C. H. Haines, proprietor of the Pure Food Bakery, has purchased the residence formerly known as the "Pine Home" of B. L. Skimmel. The deal was made the early part of this week and the Haines family is now in full possession.

The Carrizozo Live Stock Commission Co. sold 131 head of stock cattle to the Warden Brothers this week. The cattle formerly belonged to Mr. Hal Young of Nogal. The delivery will be made March 17, and the herd will be taken to Warden Bros. ranch in the Jicarilla mountains.

Home Again

H. S. Hanner came in from St. Louis Monday to not only make White Oaks his future home, but will at once open up his coal lands which he says, will prove to be the most extensive of anything attempted in these regions for years. After a short stay with his Carrizozo friends, Mr. Hanner left for White Oaks to get his place into operation. Mrs. Hanner, who could not accompany him at this time on account of illness, will be here in the course of several weeks. Mr. Hanner is not a stranger in these parts; he traveled through this section before railroads molested the peace and quiet of plains and mountains; three years ago, he went east and became a benedict. Now he returns determined to remain in the west for the future.

Today's Arrivals

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Albert Snow, a girl; to Mr. and Mrs. Austin Wooten, a boy. Mothers, son and daughter are doing nicely and the "Daddies" are "tickled to death."

Miss Uta Edmiston left for El Paso Sunday and after spending two days on the border, returned Wednesday.

Plain Statement

The people of Ocuero, Carrizozo, Pelly, and Ancho have been talking oil for several years and especially so for the past eighteen months.

The gentlemen who are actively behind the local oil venture have stated in the following paragraphs just what it is going to take in order to secure a contract for a test for oil to a depth of four thousand feet:

First, The people must lease their land as the lease is the only asset the land owner has as far as the interesting of capital is concerned.

Second, Everybody to a man must get behind the move and do their part to put the proposition over.

The land owner and the public as a whole must get this point, that the company now have under lease almost the entire acreage of those who live here. That there are a few who own land in this district but reside elsewhere, we know that it is hard for those who are not here on the ground to understand what it takes to get possession to drill on purely local acreage such as we have here.

The company says: "We want an endorsement from the newspapers throughout the state as well as the El Paso papers and others for being real boosters. They have talked all such people who do not live here usually think that we are conducting wells and as many as eighty rigs now in the county of Lincoln alone."

If the local company is unable to get a drilling contract with the acreage it now has, how can the few land owners who have not leased their holdings and are also scattered, expect to get development?

Will you Mr. Land Owner stop to consider that if men like Messrs. J. M. French, W. W. Stadman and F. B. Shields who are actively behind this undertaking, giving the best there is in them to this work, as well as some of our other most influential men also our local papers are unsuccessful in putting this proposition over just what would happen to you who have leased and those who held back?

You are dead as far as getting a test for oil in this community is concerned. And you will stay dead. Do you know of any one who would have the nerve to try the game again by spending their money and time after the above interest has fallen down. No not until a new generation comes along.

There is but two weeks of time left in which to come across with your leases. Remember, that the leading men of this locality have turned in theirs and everything is guaranteed to you. Therefore, you have nothing to lose, but on the contrary, you have everything to gain. Don't let a good proposition like this, in which our only hope of development lies, fall down when we are so near the goal of our ambitions.

Mrs. Albert Ziegler returned yesterday from an extended trip over the country, during which she divided her time principally between Seattle and Chicago with her two daughters, Mrs. Coplin of Seattle and Mrs. Gutnecht of Chicago. Mrs. Ziegler says, the east is cold and dreary and she is glad to welcome the climate of the "Sunshine State."

PITCHED BATTLE WAGED BETWEEN BANDITS AND POSSE

11 Accepted as Jurors In Scanland Trial

Las Cruces, N. M., March 10.—Maj. F. M. Scanland, El Paso army officer, went to trial here today charged with murder in connection with the death of John Hutchings, who was shot and killed last November while driving an automobile in the El Paso-Phoenix road race.

To-night eleven men had been tentatively accepted as jurors. It was necessary to summon another venire in order to complete the jury.

Scanland, it was charged, was one of an automobile party along the road on which the racers passed and a shot from his revolver killed Hutchings. Scanland after his arrest said he had been shooting at a target, but did not know a bullet had struck the racing driver.

Chas. Aultman of El Paso also is accused of murder in connection with the shooting but will be tried separately from Scanland, it was announced.

Rigdon McLaughlin

At the home the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Perry at Lockney, Texas, March 7, occurred the wedding of their daughter, Mrs. Ruby McLaughlin and Mr. Benjamin Rigdon. The bride is a cousin to Mrs. J. P. Lowhrey and spent many years of her childhood here when her father, Mr. Perry had charge of the interests of the Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber company. The family left Carrizozo several years ago. Mrs. McLaughlin returning about one year ago and entered the Ziegler Brothers General Store, where she served as bookkeeper until shortly before her marriage. The groom is a prominent business man of Lockney where both he and his accomplished wife have many friends, who wish the couple the best of everything for the future. After the wedding, they left for Fort Worth, Texas, where they will spend a week or so with friends after which they will return to Lockney, to reside for the future. The Outlook extends its congratulations.

New Mexico to Honor Gov. Larrazo's Son

Santa Fe, N. M., March 11.—Acting Governor Pankay has requested that all state offices close at noon Friday on account of the death of Governor Larrazo's son, Juan B. Larrazo, in El Paso.

The Conroy Brothers have contracted with Byron & Channell to drill the well on their ranch land across the malpais, to a depth of twenty feet deeper than it now is. The work will begin the first of next week.

Murders of Alexander Fraser and Brother Three Weeks Ago, About to Be Run Down, in Relief. Battle in Progress.

Nogales, Ariz., March 11.—A pitched battle is believed to be in progress in the rugged mountain country near Canon's ranch, 18 miles west of here, between deputy sheriffs and the bandits, who nearly three weeks ago murdered Alexander Fraser and his brother, John A. Fraser, prior to robbing their store at Montana camp on the border, 30 miles from Nogales.

100 Vermont Towns Return to Wet Column

Montpelier, Vt., March 10.—Advocates of license added nearly 100 towns dry a year ago, to the wet column in the town meetings held recently. Reports to the secretary of state from 232 out of the 247 cities and towns received up today showed that 125 towns voted yes, 101 voted no, two were tied on the question and four took no vote. Last year thirty towns voted license.

The aggregate vote of the towns reporting to date shows a falling off of more than 8,000 votes on the dry side. The vote cast this year was, yes, 15,538; no, 18,467. Last year the same cities and towns gave: Yes, 15,751; no, 19,274.

Juan Jaurigui Dies

Monday morning at 8 o'clock Juan Jaurigui, first hostler at the E. P. & S. W. shops, died at a local hospital of pneumonia, after a short illness. Mr. Jaurigui had been in the employ of the company for the past ten years during which he had to all appearances, enjoyed the best of health. His complaint was at first pronounced influenza, which developed into pneumonia and caused his death. He leaves father, mother, wife and two small children, all of whom have the sympathy of the community. The remains were interred in the Carrizozo cemetery Monday afternoon.

Operations Resumed

Duran, N. M., March 12.—The new boiler has arrived and work which was temporarily suspended on this account has been resumed with renewed vigor. We are now to a depth of about 500 feet with drilling fairly good. Indications given out by the geologist are being verified as we drill.

The company has a big order in for casings which are now on the road and as soon as they reach here, working of a double shift will begin. As spring approaches, weather conditions will be more favorable to the work and from now on, no drawbacks are anticipated.

E. L. Moulton of Corona was a Carrizozo visitor this morning.

"Your country needs you more," she whispered. "It is better that way. And what a man you are in uniform! I think I see you smashing heads instead of bottles. Six out of six, Dave! It's awful, but you must do it. Already we know what has happened in Belgium. You will forget your own wrongs in the greater wrongs of others. And I shall join the service as a nurse. My father was a doctor, and I can soon pick it up."

She chatted on, but he had become suddenly grave. "I don't think that is your course, Irene," he said. "This is going to be a bigger job than it looked. The government will get soldiers and nurses; the popular imagination turns to such things. But it will be neither soldiers nor nurses that will win the war. I feel sure of that now. Millions of men will be taken from production and turned to purposes of destruction. They will be taken from offices, where they need little food, and put in the trenches, where they need much food. Countries will be devastated; armies will retreat, destroying all food as they go. Ships will go down with cargoes of wheat; incendiary fires will swallow warehouses of food. I believe my place is in the trenches; but those less fit for the fight than I must, in some form or other, produce food. That includes the women; it includes you."

"No? But what can I do?"

"Since I left home I've thought a good deal of the old ranch. I despised it in those prosperous days—those days we thought were prosperous—but the prosperity is gone and the ranch remains. It still lies out there, just as it did when you and your father motored down that afternoon a dozen years ago. I think you'll have to go back there, Reenie. I think you'll have to take the boy Charlie, and what other help you can get, and go back to the old ranch and raise something for the soldiers to eat. You can do it. There are good men to be had; men who can't very well carry a rifle, but can drive a plow. And believe me, Reenie, it's the plow that's going to win. Go back and put them at it. Think of every furrow as another trench in the defenses which shall save your home from the fate of Belgium's homes. It's not as easy as going to the front; it hasn't got the heroic ring to it, and I suppose there are many who will commercialize it. Let them. We shall need their profits after the war to pay our debts. But it's the thing that must be done. And you'll do it, won't you?"

"I'll do whatever needs to be done, Dave. I'd rather be by your side, or as near as may be, but if you say that my duty lies back on the old ranch I shall go back to the old ranch and raise food for my soldier. And when it's all over we shall ride those old hillsides again. . . . Up the canyon, you remember, Dave? The little niche in the wall of the canyon, and all the silence and the sunlight? . . . For ever. . . ."

CHAPTER XV.

Any philosophy which accepts the principle that the great, overwhelming events of life are subject to an intelligent controlling influence must of necessity grant that the same principle applies to the most commonplace and every-day experiences. The course of the greatest stream of events may well be deflected by incidents so commonplace as to quite escape the notice of the casual observer.

Some such thought as this comforted me—or, at least, would have comforted me, had I thought it—when a leaking gasoline tank, left me, literally as well as figuratively, high and dry in the foothills. The sun of an August afternoon blazed its glory from a cloudless sky; low in a valley to the left a ribbon of silver-green mountain water threaded its way through fringes of spruce and cottonwood, while on the uplands beyond sleek steers drowled in the sunshine, and far to the westward the Rockies slept unconcerned in their draperies of afternoon purple. All these scenes the eye took in without enthusiasm, almost without approval, and then fell on the white-washed ranch buildings almost in the shadow underneath. And in these days a ranch—almost any ranch—meant gasoline.

I soon stood at the door. My knock attracted a little chap of two and a half or three years; his stout hands showed the screen back, and I found myself ushered into his company. There evidently was no one else about, so I rided, and we talked on those things which are of importance in the world of three-year-olds.

confided. "She—turn back pretty soon?"

"And father?" I asked. "Where is he?"

Into the dark eyes came a deeper look; they suddenly awoke with the spirituality of a life only three years removed from the infinite. By what instruction, I afterward wondered, by what almost divine charm had she been able to instill into his young mind the honor and the glory and the pride of it? For there was pride, and something more than pride—adoration, perhaps—in his words as he straightened up and said in perfect English: "My father was a soldier. He was killed at Courcellette."

I looked in his little sunburnt face, in his dark, proud eyes, and presently a strange mist enveloped the room. How many little faces, how many pairs of eyes! It was just fading away when a step-sounded on the walk, and I arose as she reached the door.

"The Man of the House has made me at home," I managed to say. "I am shipwrecked on the hill for a little gasoline."

"There is plenty out in the field, where the tractor is," she replied. "You will find it without difficulty. Or if you care to wait here, Charlie may be along presently."

Her voice had sweet, modulated tones, with just that touch of pathos which only the Angel of Suffering knows how to add. And her face was fair, and gentle, and a little sad, and very sweet.

"He has told me," I said. There seemed no reason why I should not say it. She had entered into the atmosphere—that universal sisterhood of suffering which the world has known in these long, lonely years.

"My Father Was a Soldier—He Was Killed at Courcellette."

And it was between us, for we were all in the family. There was no occasion to scrape acquaintance by slow, conventional thrust and parry.

"Yes," she said, sitting down and motioning me to a chair. "I was bitter at first. I was dreadfully bitter at first. But gradually I got a different view of it. Gradually I came to feel and know that all we can feel and know here is on the surface—on the outside, as you might say, and we can't know the purpose until we are inside. It is as though life were a riddle, and the key is hidden, and the door behind which the key is hidden is called Death. And I don't believe it's all for nothing; I won't believe it's all for nothing."

"Then there is the suffering," she continued, after a pause. "I don't know why there should be suffering, but I know if there were no suffering there would be no kindness. It is not until you are hit—hard hit—that you begin to think of other people. Until then all is selfishness. But we women—women of the war—we have nothing left to be selfish for. But we have the whole world to be generous for. It's all different, and it can never go back. We won't let it go back. We've paid too much to let it go back."

It was hard to find a reply. "I think I knew your husband a little," I ventured. "He was a—"

"He was all that," she said. She arose and stood for a moment in an attitude of hesitation; her fingers went to her lips as though enjoining caution. Then with quick decision she went into an inner room, from which she returned in a moment with a letter.

"If you know him you may care to read this," she said. "It's very personal, and yet, some way, everything is impersonal now, in a sense. There has been such a common suffering, that it seems to flood out over the individual and embrace us all. . . . So this is really, in a sense, your letter as well as mine."

I took it and read:

I have had many letters to write since my service began as a nurse in the war, but never have I approached the task with such mixed emotions. The pain I must give you I would gladly bear myself if I could; but it is not all pain; underneath it, running through it in some way I cannot explain, is a ache so much deeper than pain that it must be joy.

You have already been advised that David Eldon was among those who fell at Courcellette; it is to say that you have the sympathy of a grateful nation. How grateful the nation really is we shall know by its treatment of the heroes who survive the war and of the dependents of those who have crossed over. But nothing can rob you of the knowledge that he played a man's part. Nothing can deprive you from that universal fellowship of sympathy which is springing up wherever manhood is valued at its worth.

A new Order has been born into the world; the Order of Suffering. Not that it is new, since it has been with us since the first mother writ into the shadow for her first child; but always suffering has been incidental, a matter of the individual, a thing to be escaped if possible. But now it is universal, a thing not to be escaped, but to be accepted, readily, bravely, even gladly. And all who accept it enter into the new Order, and wear its insignia, which is unselfishness and sympathy and service. And in that Order you shall not be least, measured by either your sacrifice or the spirit in which you accept it.

But you are yearning for his last word; for some voice which will seem to you now almost a voice out of the grave, and you are happy to be able to bring you that word. It was something more than chance that guided me that night—as it is every night.

We were well behind the line of actual fighting, but I had become detached from my party in moving to another station; lost, if you like, yet not lost; never have I gone so directly to so great a destination. While trying to get my location, I became aware of a presence; it will sound strange to you, but I became intensely aware of your presence. As my light fell on his lips, not in the flesh, but you it seemed to be; it was as though I moved as though led by an invisible hand, and presently I found a bit of shattered wall. In the gloom I could just discern the form of a man lying in the shelter of the wall—if you could call it shelter—it rose scarce a foot above the ground.

I knelt beside him and turned my torch on his face. It was pale even through the brown skin; the eyes were closed; the hair was wet and plastered on the forehead; there were smears of blood on it and on his cheeks. As my light fell on his lips, I saw the smile. "Reenie," he said, "it was good of you to come. I knew you would come."

"I am here, Dave," I answered, and I think you will forgive the impersonation. "Now let me find out where you are hurt and we'll fix you up, and get you moved presently."

He opened his eyes and looked at me with the strange look of a man whose thread of consciousness is half unraveled. "Oh, it's you, Edith," he said, when he had taken me in. "You've been dreaming." I questioned him again about his wound and he began feeling his hair. "It's not there," he said. "Guess I got it all over my hands. They got me this time. Don't waste time on me. Some other fellow may have a chance."

I found, with a little examination, that the case was as bad as he supposed. Fortunately, the wound had induced a local paralysis and he was not suffering to any great degree. I placed my hand in his and felt his grip tighten on it. "I'm going to stay till it's over, Dave. We'll see it out together."

"That doesn't," he answered, and then was still for quite a time. "It's often wondered what was on the other side," he said, at length. "I shall know presently."

"You are not afraid?" I whispered. "No. Only sort of—curious. And—reverent. I guess it's reverent. . . . You know I haven't been much on religion. Never seemed to get the formula. What is the formula? I mean the key—the thing that gives it all in one word?"

"In one word—suffering. . . . He that smeth his life shall save it," I quoted. He did not answer, but I could see his lips smiling again. His head was more labored; there were drips of rain felt, and these drips splattered on his face. Presently he chuckled. It was an easy sensation, out on that broad plain of death, alone by the side of the man who was already far into the shadow—hear him chuckle.

"That splash of water—you remember—it made me think of the time we pulled the old car into the stream, and the harness broke or something, and I had to carry you. You remember that, Reenie? I could only say, 'Yes,' and press his hand. His mind was back on the old, old trails."

His voice was weaker, and I had to lean close to catch his words. "The going-out," he said. "Kiss me, Reenie."

And then I kissed him—for you. Suddenly he sat up. "The mountains!" he exclaimed, and his voice was shrill with the pride of his old hills. "See the moonlight—on the mountains!"

Then his strength, which seemed to have gathered itself for this one last vision of the place of his boyhood, gave way, and he fell back, and he did not speak any more.

And what can I add? Dear, it is not defeat. It is promise. It is hope. Some day we shall know. But until then we shall go on. It is woman's bit to carry on. But not in despondency, not in bitterness, not in anger or despair. He didn't go out that way. He was reverent—and a little curious, and he went out with a smile. And we shall go on, and carry his smile and his confidence through the valley of our sacrifice. What am I doing, speaking of our sacrifice?"

I salute you, sister in the Order of Suffering—and of hope.

I handed the letter back to her, and for a time I had no words. "Won't you let me tell the story?" I said, at length. "The world is full of sorrow, and it needs voices to give that sorrow words, and perhaps turn it into hope—as this letter does."

She hesitated, and I realized then how much I had asked. "It is the story of my life—my soul," she said. "Yet, if it would help—"

"Without names," I hastened to explain. "Without real names of places or people."

And so, in that little whitewashed home, where the brown hills rise around and the placid mountains look down from the distance, and a tongue of spruce trees beyond the stream stands sentinel against the open prairie, she is carrying on, not in despondency and bitterness, but in service and in hope. And so her sisters, all this world over, must carry on, until their sweetness and their sacrifice shall fill up and flood over all the valleys of hate.

And if you should chance that way, and if you should win the confidence of young Three-year-old, he may stand for you and say, with his voice filled with the honor and the glory and the pride of it: "My father was a soldier. He was killed at Courcellette."

THE END.

Raising Glasses. "Well, here goes"—and every glass was swung upward and held for a fraction of a second before it "went." How started a custom, a mannerism now so general that no one drinking in company would think of omitting it even in these days of ginger ale and sarsaparilla? American sportsmanship demands that boxers shake hands before the bout. Autre temps autres mœurs. The time and temperament that sanctioned duels decreed that before the mortal combat the antagonists drink a glass of wine. To avoid the suspicion of attempting to poison each other's liquor both raised their glasses aloft and poured a little from each into the other. In these unromantic days poison has passed out of fashion, but the custom of raising glasses with its significance and implication of sincerity has remained.—Exchange.

What Men Do Not Confess. Some things men really confess, and other things they do not. No one will confess that he is a fool or without understanding; but quite the contrary, you will hear all men saying, I wish I had the fortune equal to my understanding; that he is intemperate; and that he is unjust he will not confess at all. He will by no means confess that he is envious or a busybody. Most men will admit that they are compassionate. What, then, is the reason? The chief thing is inconsistency and confusion in the things that relate good and evil. They do not at all confess the things that are offenses against society.—Epictetus.

Believed to Be Mosquitoes. Many plants are popularly believed to keep away mosquitoes, among them being several species of eucalyptus, the cotton-wood plant, the chinaberry tree, etc. Scientific observations have not confirmed the popular idea on this subject.

Stomachian Salt. Gustavein's salt factory, which began soon after the Spanish conquest, now produces nearly 2,000,000 pounds a year.

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Mothers, Drink Lots of Water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv.

One Is Enough. There are 3,424 spoken languages and dialects in use in the world. America has the greatest number of them, 1,624.

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP.

A cold is probably the most common of all disorders and when neglected is apt to be most dangerous. Statistics show that more than three times as many people died from influenza last year, as were killed in the greatest war the world has ever known. For the last fifty-three years Boschee's Syrup has been used for coughs, bronchitis, colds, throat irritation and especially lung troubles. It gives the patient a good night's rest, frees from coughing, with easy expectation in the morning. Made in America and used in the homes of thousands of families all over the civilized world. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

Unseasonable. Bells—Isn't it cold? Nell—Yes; I'm so sorry I had to put away my summer furs.

NEW DRESS FOR OLD WITH DIAMOND DYES

Women Can Put Bright, Rich Color in Shabby, Faded Garments.

Don't worry about perfect results. Use "Diamond Dyes," guaranteed to give a new, rich, fadeless color to any fabric, whether it be wool, silk, linen, cotton, or mixed goods—dresses, blouses, stockings, skirts, children's coats, feathers—everything! Direction Book in package tells how to diamond dye over any color. To match any material, have dealer show you "Diamond Dye" Color Card.—Adv.

Hydraulic Brake. A hydraulic brake for motor vehicles which acts upon all four wheels at once is an English invention.

STOP CATARRH OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! How good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, sneezing, blowing; no more headaches, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what suffers from head-colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.—Adv.

The Answer. "Pa, what is sympathy?" "Sympathy, my boy, is what you usually give to another when you don't want to lend him any money."

On the Highway. "Why do you speak of the flyers as vagrants of the air?" "They have no other means of support."

WHALE BLAMED FOR DISEASE

Melody That Attacks the Lungs is Thus Diagnosed by Prominent Danish Scientist.

The echinococcus disease (caused by a small tapeworm in the liver or lungs), which first made its appearance in Holland, is believed by Dr. Van Deinsen to be due originally to whales. The Medical Record quotes from a Danish scientific paper some of the facts upon which Van Deinsen bases this theory.

It is said that this affection is endemic in Iceland and that it eventually reached Friesland from that locality. Not only Friesland was attacked in the eighteenth century, but many other seaports along the North sea and English channel. The connecting link appeared to be the whale fisheries, originally a Dutch industry, with headquarters at Nordwijk. In the seventeenth century the channel ports engaged in the whale-catching industry, Friesland, possibly infected from Iceland, also engaged in whaling, reputed to be a distributing point of the infection.

Not only whales, but also seals and other Arctic fauna, were later infected with echinococcus disease.

which was conveyed directly to mankind when in starving seasons they ate this flesh and to dogs and cats in the same manner, the animals they bearing as hosts for the parasite along with mankind. In times of maritime industry went out of use. Recollections of old whalers, however, testify to the custom of taking dogs along on whale ships, so that dogs could become infected aboard ship and mousethe bones drilled."

Believed to Be Mosquitoes. Many plants are popularly believed to keep away mosquitoes, among them being several species of eucalyptus, the cotton-wood plant, the chinaberry tree, etc. Scientific observations have not confirmed the popular idea on this subject.

(M. L. Blaney)

The National Consolidated Conference of Schools called by Mr. McBrien of the Department of Interior met in Cedar Falls, Iowa for the purpose of discussing problems especially pertaining to Rural Schools.

While consolidation was the keynote of the meeting the one room Rural School was not forgotten. The necessity of securing for the one room school, the best qualified teachers available, was emphasized. The recommendation that school laws be amended so to make it possible to keep capable teachers in the rural schools by making salaries and living conditions so attractive that those who have proven themselves valuable would remain in the community.

Reports of delegates from numerous states of the Union showed a shortage of teachers in the majority of states on account of advantages and salaries offered in other walks of life and that about 50% of teachers employed at the present time, are below the standard.

Dr. Crabbe of Colorado said: "No greater menace ever faced America than the present shortage of teachers" and suggested as a remedy that first, the choicest young men and women be attracted to the profession; second, a proper education program; third, the social respect of teachers in the community; fourth, a living salary; fifth, an investment bonus.

Consolidation was recommended wherever practical. Some states having consolidated into one district as many as thirty townships, with ten auto transportation trucks. This centralized school became the life of the community. Club meetings, church services, Sunday schools, and various other activities using the school house, thus making a little city in the rural district and keeping on the farm, the best material.

Next in importance after consolidation came the questions of good road and transportation. Transportation is not a cheap proposition considered in dollars, but in the gain to the child proves an investment rather than an expense. The motor trucks are often driven by the teacher which adds to her meager salary and insures proper conduct of children to and from school. Sometimes these trucks are driven by responsible boys who are glad to earn money to further their education. The majority of these consolidated schools maintain a two to four years high school course.

The providing of hot lunches for the children obliged to carry their lunch was given considerable attention.

Some schools serve lunches consisting of several hot dishes making a charge of from ten to fifteen cents for the lunch, the proceeds used to cover the expense of same. In other communities the plan of one hot dish supplementary to the cold lunch brought from home, was successful. The foods were furnished by ladies' clubs of the community or by the school district, or by the children bringing certain articles from home, and given free to all the children of the school, which seemed by far the better plan since often the child in the greatest need of a warm lunch would be unable to pay for it. Statistics show, that children having the advantage of the warm lunch, maintained the physical and mental standard throughout the entire day, whereas, without this they became weary by the last recess period thus sustaining a loss of twenty-five per cent of efficiency.

Mrs. Mary C. C. Bradford, State Superintendent of Colorado, in her address to members of the conference said: "Education is the interpretation of our lives in terms of beauty, truth and service." "Give every child a square deal then there is no danger to America."

Many valuable resolutions were passed among which was the following: Whereas, It is the conviction of this conference that the future of American Democracy will be limited in its greatness only by the degree to which we succeed in organizing and keeping on the land a permanent rural population of high ideals, imbued with a love and understanding of this land; therefore be it.

Resolved, That this conference go on record as favoring and urging upon State and National governments the necessity for establishing within reach of all rural people, young and old alike; schools to provide in a liberal degree the type of educated leadership so essential to the future prosperity in life in every democracy.

The rural school whether of one or more rooms needs especially trained teachers. Every farmer or ranchman should be educated as well as his family.

"Education is bigger than schooling?" School life is just a part of all life, but it calls forever for these four: Patience, Courage, Hope, and Faith!

A report of the convention, Department of Superintendence, National Education Association, will appear in another issue.

The annual meeting of the Lincoln County Teachers' association will be held in Carrizozo, N. M., March 28 and 27, 1920. An excellent program has been prepared. Teachers, directors and friends interested in education are cordially invited to attend. The preparations are being made for the entertainment of visiting teachers.

Acid-Stomach

If people only realized the health-destroying power of an acid stomach—the main cause of sickness and misery in the lives of the living—it would guard against it as carefully as they do against a deadly plague. You know in an instant the first symptoms of acid-stomach—pain of indigestion; distressing, painful flatulence; sour, gassy stomach; belching; food poisoning; heartburn, etc. Whenever your stomach feels this way you should look no time in putting it to rights. If you don't, serious consequences are almost sure to follow, such as intestinal fermentation, auto-intoxication, impairment of the entire nervous system, headache, biliousness, cirrhosis of the liver; sometimes even catarrh of the stomach and intestinal ulcers and cancer.

If you are not feeling right, see if it isn't acid-stomach. It is the cause of your ill health. Take EATONIC, the wonderful medicine for acid-stomach. EATONIC Tablets quickly and surely relieve the pain, bloating, belching, and heartburn that indicate acid-stomach. They soothe the stomach, clean and sweet. By keeping the stomach in healthy condition so that you can get full strength from your food, your general health will improve. Results are marvellously quick. Just try EATONIC and you will be as enthusiastic as the thousands who have used it and who say they never dreamed anything could bring such marvellous relief. So get the best for your acid-stomach. EATONIC from your druggist today. If not satisfactory return it and he will refund your money.

Because there are not sufficient school facilities in their own community to accommodate them, several score children daily cross the international boundary line from Calexico, Calif., to attend school in Mexicali, Mex., said a report to the state superintendent of public instruction made public at Sacramento, Calif.

A jury in the District Court at Beatrice, Neb., found Orlando W. Langley guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of Justice of the Peace Christian H. Pfeiffer at the town of Corland last August. The killing of Pfeiffer was one of the first tragedies growing out of attempts to enforce the Nebraska prohibition laws.

Mayor Lomen of Nome, Alaska, addressing the annual conference of the American Protective Association, advocated repeal of state laws prohibiting the sale of venison, asserting that the supply of venison thrown on the market would go far to relieve the food situation. Reindeer, of which there are about 100,000 in Alaska, with prospects of their increasing to millions in twenty years, would furnish enough meat resembling beef "for everybody" if a third of the animals were slaughtered annually, he said.

Twenty-one prohibition states, represented by Charles E. Hughes, announced to the Supreme Court their intention of fighting the efforts of Rhode Island to have the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law enforcement declared invalid.

Urging naval construction which would give the United States "the largest navy in the world," Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger recommended to the House naval committee that the next annual naval appropriation bill carry a new building program, authorizing the building of two dreadnoughts, one battle cruiser, ten scout cruisers, four destroyers, six submarines and other small craft.

In a four to three decision, the Supreme Court refused to dissolve the United States Steel Corporation and its subsidiaries, comprising the so-called "steel trust." The government's long fought suit for dissolution of the iron and steel trade combination for alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law was dismissed, with absolute for the corporation from all charges.

Senator Reed, Democrat of Missouri, has introduced a resolution calling upon the Senate manufactures committee to investigate the alleged "dealings" operations and "speculation" of the United States Grain Corporation and the alleged wheat pool.

Net operating income of the railroads under government control in January fell to $11,000,000, due to the unusually severe weather and the coal strike. This was a deficit of $64,000,000 compared with the average monthly rental paid by the government for the properties, but an unexpected $68,000,000 accruing from back mail pay, under a decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission, reduced the actual loss to $11,000,000.

Chances of successful pay check forgery in the navy were reduced to a minimum when the department ordered that the endorser of every such check must place the impression of the four fingers of his right hand on the back thereof before it will be cashed. As a record of the finger print of every man in the service is kept, it will be practically impossible under the order for a forger to escape identification, officials said.

Admiral Horthy's salary as regent of Hungary has been fixed at 3,000,000 kronen per year. After his election the national assembly sent a deputation to escort him to the chamber, where he took the oath and was presented with a draft of the law creating his office.

The Italian government has ordered greater restrictions in the feeding of the people than during the war. This is because of the diminished food importations. In addition, rationing by card for all necessities has been established. Two meatless days have been ordered, as well as the closure of all restaurants, hotels, at 11 o'clock at night.

Great Britain, which within a year or so hopes to get off the red ink side of the national ledger, faces an outlook until April 1 of a daily deficit of $92,000. From England's standpoint that is quite an improvement over 1919, when the national expenditure was $6,252,000 daily more than income. These figures presume the pound to be worth $4.00.

SECRET MOBILIZATION OF ALL MEN BETWEEN AGES OF 18 TO 26 UNDER WAY.

EMPEROR'S SON AS KING

ATTEMPT MADE TO ASSASSINATE FORMER MINISTER OF WAR.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

London, March 4.—Alexander Vaida-Voevod, premier of Rumania, in an interview printed in the Fall Mail Gazette regarding the appointment of Admiral Horthy as regent of Hungary, is quoted as follows:

"The new Hungarian regent will try in every possible way to effect a restoration of the dynasty with Charles as king. Under Horthy's direction the allied Supreme Council will, at a ripe moment, be flouted and a kingdom established.

"The Hungarians believe the allies are too weary to take serious action. There has been a secret mobilization in Hungary of all men between the ages of 18 and 26. Arms have been obtained from Austria and efforts made to obtain munitions in Warsaw."

M. Vaida-Voevod predicts that the former emperor's son will be named as king if the plan to restore the emperor falls.

The question was raised in the House of Commons whether the government's attention had been drawn to the murder of Bela Somozyl, editor of the newspaper Nepszava at Budapest, and whether Great Britain would protest against such a regime as had continued since the overthrow of the Hungarian soviet government.

Sir Hamer Greenwood, undersecretary of home affairs, replied that the British commissioner at Budapest had constantly urged on the Hungarian government the necessity of discovering and punishing the guilty parties in this and similar cases. Great Britain, however, would hardly feel justified, he added, in protesting against the Hungarian people's right to choose any such regime as they prefer, provided there was no restoration of the Hapsburg dynasty and no hostilities were undertaken against neighboring states.

Budapest.—An attempt was made this morning to assassinate Stephan Friedrich, former premier and minister of war in the present Hungarian cabinet. Several shots were fired at his motor car as he was crossing the Elizabeth bridge. Herr Friedrich was not injured, however.

The war minister's assailant escaped in an automobile. Immediately after Admiral Horthy had assumed his duties as regent of Hungary announcement was made by Premier Huszar that the cabinet had resigned. Admiral Horthy, however, asked that the ministry retain office pending the formation of a new government.

A scene unparalleled in Hungarian history occurred when Admiral Horthy took the oath as regent. Hardly had his affirmation been pronounced than the diet and galleries rose and sang the national anthem amid wild enthusiasm.

West Virginia Rejects Suffrage.
 Charleston, W. Va.—The West Virginia Senate rejected the resolution to reconsider its action when it defeated the woman's suffrage ratification amendment by a vote of 15 to 15. The action was considered final, and it was said no further attempt would be made to ratify the amendment at the special session of the Legislature.

Millionaires who take in Roomers!

PLAIN, simple country folk down in Texas went to bed one night as poor as the proverbial church mice and awoke to find themselves millionaires! But they cannot accustom themselves to their new prosperity, and they do the most extraordinary things imaginable with their newly acquired wealth. Old Jake Wells went right out and bought himself $4.80 worth of bananas, ate them, and then just naturally died.

Mrs. Snodgrass, wife of the village doctor (who doesn't know how rich she is), built a large wing on the old homestead so she could take in more roomers!

Another old lady—whose profits quickly passed the million mark—bought "paw" a new ax so he could cut the kindling more easily. And the surprising thing about it all is that it's true.

Don't fail to read "Millionaires Made While You Wait" by Frazier Hunt, in the new Cosmopolitan

"Nearly everybody worth while reads 'Cosmopolitan'"

When a financier's wife pawned her jewels

You won't know until the end of the story why she did it.

But when the pretty young wife of a feeble old millionaire is seen to frequent a pawnbroker's, and then enter a cheap lodging-house, being watched by a good-looking detective—well, there's enough mystery, love, action and high finance in this unusual story to satisfy anybody.

"Her Secret"—by Will Payne—is the first of a series of adventures by Ben Boyer, business detective, who's a prophecy—is going to take rank as one of the most interesting sleuths of fiction.

Is parent-love a meritorious?

Great men almost invariably have had unusual mothers or fathers who played a conspicuous part in shaping their lives. And yet, eminent psychologists tell us that the pampering love of parent for child—unless wisely directed—can do tremendous harm.

Harvey O'Higgins has interviewed one of the greatest nerve-specialists in America on this vital problem.

Nothing more amusing and dramatic has been written about human relations than "The Love-Image," in the new Cosmopolitan.

SCHOOL NOTES
(By Supt. E. E. Cole)

Last Monday, the semi-monthly meeting of the Teachers' Reading Circle met in the superintendent's office for the study of Betts' School Management. The teaching of geography was well handled by Miss Jarrett. Miss Sullivant considered the teaching of history, giving Betts' fine discourse on the subject. Mrs. Massie gave a synopsis of the chapter on civics, in her usual graphic way. As the course nears its close, the teachers realize that Betts' School Management is a very helpful book. Any teacher who will carefully study this book will get a large part of what she could get at a two-months' summer school. Those present were: Miss Jarrett, Miss Sullivant, Miss Neff, Miss Hughes, Mrs. Massie, Mrs. Gumm, Mrs. Vaughn, Mr. Cole.

Carrizozo defeats Capitan. Last Saturday the Carrizozo basket ball team, accompanied by most of the faculty and by about fifty of the students and citizens of the town, went to Capitan and defeated the team of the mountain town in a very interesting and well-played game. The two teams were well matched as to size, experience, and playing ability. Capitan gained the first two goals, and then Carrizozo began to tighten up and play ball, so that at the end of the first half, the game was a tie, nine to nine. Capitan also scored the first goal of the second half, but Carrizozo again came to the front and at the end, the game stood, Carrizozo 20, Capitan 15. Both teams tied on the number of field goals, each team making seven. Each team had seven fouls called. Capitan succeeded in throwing one out of seven, while Carrizozo threw six out of seven, thus winning the game.

The following is the line-up:
CAPITAN CARRIZO
Ruby Bryan...R. F. J. Johnson
Katy Hurt...L. F. S. Johnson
Neva Coffee...J. C. Merle Corn
Maria Serna...R. C. Lois Jones
Ethel Bryan...R. G. G. Taylor
Lena Warner...L. G. Ada Corn
Referee, Mrs. Frances Spencer;
Umpire, James Howard.

The Carrizozo team, school board and faculty were served with a delightful two-course luncheon prepared by the domestic department. Everyone was treated royally by the citizens of Capitan.

Miss Ivy Lindsay, a member of our faculty, has written the following little poem:
The Carrizozo High School
For sports is very strong;
They organized a ball team
And practiced hard and long.
Casler, the coach, was fine
And worked with might and main
To get a team to please his taste,
And bring the High School fame.
The line-up was as follows:
Ada, Merle and Sallie,
With Barbara, Grace and Lois,
And Jeanette, who'll not dilly-dally.
The first match game was played
With the faculty of the town,
And the way they laid it over them
Sure made the teachers frown.
And next they tried L. C. H. S.
And My! it was a shame
The way they made those twenty points
That really won the game.
At first they suffered stage-fright,
But that was soon forgotten,
And L. C. H. S. seemed to think
Themselves quite rotten! ROTTEN!
Now if you want to witness
A game that's full of pep,
Come out and watch us Saturday
Work up another pep.
The price of our admission
Will be about two bits.
We know you'll think it worth it
To see us make our hits.

CO-OPERATION AND SERVICE

With the busy activities of the spring at hand, you will find many ways in which this bank can render helpful assistance and co-operation in your business affairs.

Do not feel that our service to you ends with receiving and paying out your funds. It ends only when we have given you the most liberal and accommodating service consistent with sound banking.

You will be pleased with the strength and scope of our service. Our officers give personal attention to the details of each depositor's business needs. Let us help you with your business and financial problems.

CAME NEAR DYING

Finally Used Doan's and Was Restored to Health. Has Been Strong and Well Since.

"Malaria fever weakened my kidneys when I was a young man," says L. W. Garrison, 23 F St., Anderson, S. C. "Finally, ten years ago, I was in such bad shape that I expected to die. Medicine wouldn't help me any more. My back pained as if it were pierced with a knife. Many times I have fallen in the street and didn't have any strength to move until the awful misery was eased up. I couldn't sleep in bed for two years. The kidney secretions passed every few minutes and scalding hot water couldn't have burned any worse. I thought I was doomed to die, but a friend pleaded with me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I owe my life to his visit. Doan's helped me from the start and eleven boxes made a permanent cure which has lasted eight years. I have not had one sick minute since, nor missed a day from work." Sworn to before me.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

By Mary Graham Doan

SPINNING YARNS.

Daddy had a New Year's story he had not yet told the children and though it was some time past New Year's they wanted to hear it. This is the story.

So Eager.

"In the first place of all," said old Mr. Giant, "I want to wish all of you the compliments of the season."

"Thank you, thank you kindly," said old Witty Witch.

"We all thank you, every one of us," said Peter Gnome.

"And I hope you will have many happy New Years, every one of you," added old Mr. Giant.

And for a few moments all the Fairies and Brownies and Elves and Gnomes and the Bogey family did nothing else but bow to each other and say "Happy New Year everyone; compliments of the season," and "May you have many more."

"I asked you to come to my New Year's party," old Mr. Giant said, after a few moments, "as I have the famous story-tellers here for the afternoon."

"The famous story-tellers?" everyone asked. "Who are they?"

"In just a moment you will see," Mr. Giant answered, with a smile. "Come, my fine guests, will you do me the honor to take your places? There is a seat for everyone. And the Fairy Queen has helped me with the seats."

"Story-tellers, special seats and the Fairy Queen has helped," they all said to each other. "It sounds pretty nice, eh?"

"Ah, pray, take your places. You will see your names on the backs of the seats. Master Chilly was good enough to paint them for me," old Mr. Giant grinned.

All about the cave were seats made of ice and hard snow. And over each seat was written in a great and flourishing hand the name of the guest who was to sit there.

"And I told you," said old Mr. Giant, as the guests were about to take their places, "that the Fairy Queen had helped me. You were going to have rather cold chairs, you thought!"

"But the Fairy Queen brought her magic wand along just after the seats had all been made and waved it over them, saying:

"Be warm, be warm for Mr. Giant's party. And do not chill any guest. Remember they are hale and hearty. And wish not to freeze when they take a rest!"

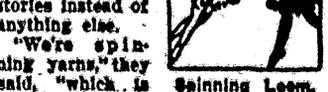

"Well," said Peter Gnome, "the Fairy Queen's magic wand is the only thing which could keep chairs of ice and snow from feeling that way. But, Mr. Giant, we want to know about our next treat! We were to hear the famous, wonderful, fine story-tellers."

"At once, at once," said Old Mr. Giant, and from a little distance off in the cave they heard low singing and talking, and then louder and louder it came.

Soon there came before them through one of the side passages until it reached the very center of the cave, a spinning loom drawn by six fairies. One of them sat down at the loom as soon as it was in the very center, and they took turns spinning and turning out story after story. As they spun they wove stories instead of anything else.

"We're spinning yarns," they said, "which is another name for stories, and whenever you hear folks spinning yarns or telling good stories and having fine old talks you will know that in the background the Yarn Spinning Fairies, or the Six Story Tellers are helping them."

And all through the afternoon, as they spun in turns, the stories became more wonderful and beautiful all the time, and as they spun them they said them aloud. Sometimes they turned out little songs and fables, but mostly just stories, stories of great people and little people, of princes and princesses and of ordinary folks, and everyone said old Mr. Giant had given them a splendid time at the beginning of the New Year!

AUSTRIAN DESPOT IN ITALY

Excellent Reasons Why Commandant in Town of Buje Was Feared and Detested.

During the war, Austria, fearing and hating the Italians of Istria, placed every town under drastic military control.

It was the chief task of Colonel Vogellueber, commander of Buje, to make the Italians feel his presence. They had felt it one day. Incensed by his latest decrees, they had come in crowds below his windows, discussing, gesticulating, angrily demanding an audience, until his troops had rammed them in the stomach with the butts of rifles and driven them off to their homes where they would find that during their absence a few more objects had mysteriously disappeared, woolen clothing, perhaps, or some pieces of furniture or a cherished picture. Not stolen, of course, but "requisitioned." It was neat.

He had had a good day but he would have a better evening. They had wanted an audience. Very well. That evening he would grant an audience to their leading citizens. More than that—he would dine them!

The leading citizens of Buje will not soon forget that dinner. The meal itself was excellent—indefinitely better than any that they had had for months. It consisted of meats "requisitioned" from their own herds and flocks, grains from their own fields, wine from their own cellars. The host, Colonel Vogellueber, sat at the head of the table, all smiles and benignity. He was solicitous that every one should have plenty. When the repast was finished, he rose.

He called the attention of the Italians of Buje to the fact that he had sent very few of them to Austrian internment camps. He emphasized his tolerance and liberality in this matter. His action, however, had been guided by a definite purpose. It might please them to be informed as to the purpose which he had had in mind.

"I do not care to intern you," he said, in a smiling climax, "because I prefer to execute you!"

"The troops of Italy are at present making some advance. I wish simply to announce to you now that before they ever reach Buje I shall have the pleasure of seeing every man of you shot. Good night, gentlemen. The pleasure has been mine."

Then, showing the yellow streak always present in such natures, he hastily summoned his soldiers, and every guest was escorted to the street at the point of a bayonet.

A gay, dashing wag was Vogellueber. Dashing he was certainly, a few weeks later, when the Italian Bersagliere swept into Buje so suddenly that he did not have time to make good his promise, but found it prudent to run to save his own skin, even leaving a precious carload of stolen treasures behind him.—Willard Price, in World Outlook.

The Helicopter.

A new flying machine, called a helicopter, has been invented, quite different from anything that mankind has yet stared up at, in that its propellers have a diameter of 51 feet, revolve so much more slowly than the more-and-more familiar airplane propeller that they are practically noiseless, are located above the car, and also take the place of the wings of the customary airplane. The propellers, in fact, are practically moving wings; and the machine, as described by Robert G. Skerrett in the New York Sun, presents quite a list of advantages over anything that has preceded it for air navigation. It can, it is declared, descend slowly, rise and come down without difficulty anywhere, carry a considerable load and is inherently stable. Aviation, after all, is still quite young, and it may possibly turn out that the helicopter is the next forward step.—Christian Science Monitor.

Set Him Thinking.

"Women must consider it a dreadful fate to be an old maid," mused Mr. Thoughtless.

"They do, Tobias," said Mrs. Thoughtless. "Look what terrible hoodles they sometimes marry to escape it!"

And Tobias rubbed his chin and said nothing.

Leaving His Capital.

THREE YEARS WITHOUT HOPE

A Story of Sickness and Suffering with Final Return to Health. It will do you good to read it.

No matter how long nor how much you have suffered, do not give up hope. Do not decide there is no help for you. There is. Make up your mind to get well. You can. There is a remedy in which you may place full reliance as did Mrs. Rozalia Karis of 33 Silver Street, New Britain, Conn. This is what she says: "I had cramps for three years and thought I would never be any better. I could not eat without distress. Slept with my mouth open and could hardly breathe. No medicine helped me. I had catarrh of the stomach. Now I have no cramps and am feeling well and healthy. I wish every suffering person would take PE-RU-NA."

Catarrh affects the mucous membrane in any organ or part. PE-RU-NA, by regulating the digestion and aiding elimination, sends a rich, pure supply of blood and nourishment to the sick and inflamed membrane and health returns.

For coughs, colds, catarrh and catarrhal conditions generally, PE-RU-NA is recommended. If you are sick, do not wait and suffer. The sooner you begin using Dr. Hartman's well-known PE-RU-NA, the sooner you may expect to be well and strong and in full possession of your health. A bottle of PE-RU-NA is the finest emergency, ready-to-take remedy to have in the house. It is fourteen ounces of preparation and protection.

ALTOGETHER TOO MUCH LIGHT REALLY TOO MUCH TO ASK

Daddy Endured Conditions as Long as He Could, and Then Entered Protest.

They stood together by the open door. What mattered the cold to these pulsating lovers? What mattered the icy wind that entered from the street outside and threatened, to extinguish the flickering hall lamp? What, in fact, mattered anything?

"Heart of my heart," he whispered, "how I love you!"

"And how I love you," she answered back, "light of my days, light of my thoughts, light of my very existence, light—"

"Lucy," shouted her father's angry voice from above, "just put out that light at once and get to bed!"

Genial Environment.

Tea time in the nursery. Little Tommy sat at the table while nurse watched that he behaved properly.

Presently the little chap took the top off his egg, and then sniffed disdainfully.

"Please, Martha, this egg is bad," he said.

"Never knew such a boy!" said nurse. "Always grumbling at your food, and there's many a child who hasn't got anything to eat this night. Just you get on with that egg, and stop complaining."

"Must I eat it all?" asked Tommy, tearfully.

"Yes, every bit!" Martha was firm. "The legs and the beak, too!" wailed Tommy.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Harbo Compound, and 1/4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.—Adv.

LAND HAS SUFFERED MUCH

Bessarabia, Always in the Pathway of Savage Invasion, Repeatedly Overrun and Pillaged.

Bessarabia, sloping southward from the westward foothills of the Carpathians, between the Danube and Pruth, down to the Black sea and Danube delta, lay in the normal geographical pathway of tribes pushing westward from Asia and southward from the warmer seacoast lands.

Among the most harrowing of the invasions was that of the Mongols in the fourteenth century, when that region suffered atrocities during which women and children were used as targets in bow-and-arrow contests, and silvers of wood were driven under the nails of the men, all this going on until "no eye remained open to weep for the dead."

Prior to the outbreak of the world war, pastoral Bessarabia offered a pleasing contrast. The Moldavian homes offered delight to the tourists. The interior of the Moldavian home was immaculate and vivid, brightly colored curtains and hangings being used. The people are deeply religious, and each orthodox home has its altar. The Bessarabian women are sprightly, bright-eyed and pretty.

Tenacity of purpose is characteristic of all men who have accomplished great things.

President Melkeljohn of Amherst was talking about the changed financial conditions that now prevail.

"I heard the other day," he said, "of a harassed college professor who, in order to make ends meet, decided to take up manual labor."

"So he visited a large building operation and said, nervously, to a red-faced man with a diamond horseshoe in his necktie:

"I am—ahem—an ex-college professor, and I would like to know if you could take me on here as a bricklayer?"

"Who Is My Neighbor?"

Much has been said and much money has been given to the needy in the far East where the ravages of a cruel, merciless war has left the defenseless people without food, shelter and clothing. This prompt answer to the cry of distress is commendable, but has not a great measure of it been done to receive applause from the world, and have we not forgotten that we have poverty and suffering at home that has been neglected? It would seem so, if reports sent out by the workers of the Salvation Army since the recent cold wave swept over the east and a better portion of the west are true. Listen:

Denver Colo., March 11.—Battling through snow drifts in the outskirts of inter-mountain cities where poverty is common, Salvation Army officers have been checking the needs of stricken families since the biggest blizzard in years struck the territory Thursday night. Hundreds of pounds of coal and wood with many baskets of groceries have been distributed, according to reports in the office of Lieutenant Colonel John W. Cousins commander of the province.

Innumerable cases have been brought to light in smaller corps towns as well in as large cities. Many men who have been out of work because of weather conditions find their families in desperate conditions for food, clothing and fuel. Salvation Army stores in all sections of the province have been rummaged for over coats, bedding and childrens warm under-garments.

"Under-garments for children are needed badly," Lieutenant Colonel Cousins said this morning, "we have a fair supply of clothing for men and women but the influenza epidemic coupled with the blizzard has greatly increased the demand for clothing for children.

"It is heart breaking to find the need that exists in communities where prosperous citizens are ignorant of conditions.

Drive after drive has been made; Drives for the Red Cross, Liberty Loan Drives, Church Extension Drives, all of which are just and the public is to be commended on the liberal contributions in answer to appeals from those who originated these movements, but why have we neglected to uncover the growing situation that confronts us with the suffering poor, and why, should not a drive and a big one, be at once started to relieve the conditions? As the Salvation Army was first to visit the boys in the trenches, and last to leave them; as these people waded into the jaws of death to assist the soldiers where others waited for a more convenient time, so have they faced the blizzards over the mountains in search of the worthy, distressed poor, while others highly indented in charity work, have languished on beds of ease or sat beside cheerful firesides reviewing reports of successful drives for this, that and the other.

Long prayers made for the suffering East are hollow mockeries, if we neglect our own poor; Drives to build costly church buildings, while worthy as they may be, will never atone for our neglect to those whom the master blessed. Let a drive be instituted for the needy of our own land; a "Who Is My Neighbor?" drive. The spring is near at hand, but through the coming summer a good and sufficient fund should be created in each state and made available with which to relieve such conditions as exist at the present day. "Who Is My Neighbor?" and where are the good Samaritans, who will answer the question thus: "You were hungry and we gave you meat; you were a stranger and we took you in; thirsty and we gave you drink; naked and we clothed you; sick and in prison and we visited you."

Notice of Election

Official call of the regular biennial village election in and for the Village of Carrizozo, State of New Mexico and notice of the appointment of a Board of Registrars and Judges and Clerks of said election.

Official notice is hereby given that the regular biennial election of the Village of Carrizozo, for the purpose of electing a mayor, four other trustees and one clerk of the Village of Carrizozo, to serve for the term of two years, is called and will be held on Tuesday the 6th day of April, 1920 as required by law.

The following board of registration has been appointed to register the qualified electors of said Village, at said election: M. B. Paden, Claude Pitts and R. T. Cribb, which said board of registration will sit at the Lincoln State Bank in Carrizozo. The registration books shall be opened for the registration of voters, beginning on the 16th day of March, 1920, at 9 o'clock A. M. at said Lincoln State Bank and shall remain open each day thereafter until the 26th day of March, 1920; said books shall remain open until 6 P. M. of each day above specified.

A certified list of all the registered voters will be posted and remain posted for six days following March 26th, 1920, at the Court House, Post Office and the Carrizozo Eating House, and any person seeing that his name had not been registered and who is a qualified elector, may apply to said board of registration and have his name added to the list of qualified electors; or he may have the name of any person who he may know to be a qualified voter added to said list. The name of any person who may have illegally registered with said board, may be stricken from said list by said registrars.

Notice is hereby given that the following persons have been named as judges and clerks at said election: Judges A. C. Wingfield, B. F. Golf and A. L. Burke; Clerks: S. G. Anderson and C. A. Perkins.

By order of the Board of Trustees of the Village of Carrizozo, State of New Mexico this 2nd day of March, 1920.

A GRANDFATHER'S STORY

From $143 to a Competence in Three Years.

F. J. Chamberlain tells a story of his efforts before moving to Canada in 1918 to make a living. It was hard work. He had so many "ups and downs" that he became dispirited before he learned of the success of former neighbors of his who were doing well up in Canada.

There are more stories of success in Western Canada. There's that of Allan Nicholson of Hazelbridge, Manitoba. In speaking of it he says: "I shall never regret coming to Manitoba. I came here seventeen years ago. I think it was in the spring of 1903. My old home was at Lo Mar, Plymouth county, Washington township, Iowa, where I had been farming for a good many years. I had a farm of 248 acres, of which I owned 80 acres and rented 160. When I left in 1906 I sold my equity in the farm for $75.00 per acre. The nearest station to my place was Dalton, and my old neighbors there will remember me very well.

"If I went back to the United States today I could take back $5.00 or $6.00 to every $1.00 that I brought into the country. My land today is worth from $75.00 to $85.00 an acre, and in addition to my grain growing I have made a specialty of high-grade Percheron horses, purebred Shorthorn cattle and purebred Berkshire hogs. I have had uniform good luck in connection with my stock, and today I would not sell my farm for a cent less than $30,000.

"The climate agrees with us all. Before I came here my doctor's bills were something awful. I had no sooner got one paid than I was due for another one. Since we have been in Manitoba $50.00 would pay all our doctor's bills for the last seventeen years.

"I think I am doing my old friends a kindness in letting them know how well I have done since I came here. This is certainly a country of opportunities. I have had no more good luck than falls to the fortune of any ordinary person, and I am satisfied I could never have done as well had I remained in the old home. I shall be pleased at any time to give information to old friends who care to write me about my experiences in this country."

SUFFERED TEN YEARS FROM INDIGESTION

Trouble Gave, Appetite Strong, and Eats Anything Without Distress.

"I had a case of catarrh and indigestion, of ten years' standing. I had been treated by the best medical men in Michigan. When I commenced taking Milk Emulsion, I was in bed. I improved so fast that I kept the neighbors wondering. I am now up and working every day. My cough is gone. My appetite is great, and I can eat anything without hurting me."

Milk Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physic. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milk Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers—No pain!

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Frezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.—Adv.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

DIFFERENT COLORED BAGS. "There was a little girl named Melly," commenced Daddy, "who loved bags of all sizes and kinds and shapes and colors. She didn't want great and beautiful bags bought for her, but when she could have a bag which didn't cost anything and which didn't take anything that someone else needed she was very happy."

"My Best Party Dress." "Of course, she had other things besides her bags," Daddy said, "toys and all sorts of things. But she was very fond of the bags, for her Auntie made them for her, and she was very fond of the Auntie who made the bags."

"One day Melly's aunt was looking over a great box she had with pieces in it when Melly saw all the odd pieces of silk."

"Where did they all come from?" she asked her Auntie.

"For years and years we've kept this box," her Auntie said. "Some of these pieces of silk were made from things of little bonnets of mine when I used to go to school. And some of them are left from beautiful party dresses your grannie had and some are even pieces which came from your dresses. Do you see this piece?"

"Melly nodded her head. "That was from my best party dress about four years ago."

"And your mother put it in this box, for we've always kept the pieces of silk. They can be used for many things, quilts, patches—they may come in usefully many a time."

"I wonder," said Melly's Auntie, "if you would like to have me make you little bags, so you can carry your purse and your handkerchief in one when you go shopping, and your handkerchief and other odds and ends you carry around at other times in other bags? I could make you so many bags of so many different colors. Some, some pink, some gray, some orange, some purple, some tan, some rose, some green, some white."

"So that was the way Melly's bags came about, and her Auntie on her birthday and Christmas always gave her a few new bags made from the old silk."

"Now one evening Melly had gone to sleep. Her mouth was tight shut, as her Auntie had told it to be, though when her Auntie had told her she had found her with it open at times she had said, 'Oh, but, Auntie, I can't help it when I'm asleep.'"

"Ah, said the bag of pale blue, 'I'm but a baby. I am only a few years old.'"

"And I'm very old," said a little plaid bag. "I belonged to her grandmother!"

"Well," said a purple bag, "it does seem funny to see the world again. It's nice to be young once more. Why, I was getting so used to the darkness of the piece box that I blinked, actually blinked—at least as much as a bag can blink—when I first got out again."

"And isn't it fun," said the green bag, "to see so many things? I went on a picnic yesterday, and a piece of bacon got into me in some way or other, a nice little crumbly piece! Well, I did feel funny. I felt like a person having breakfast. I must say I didn't eat it up—I'm not fond of eating—mostly because I'm without a mouth and a stomach, but it is fun to go to so many different places and to see what is going on in different places."

"I'm so glad I was made," said the rose bag. "I'm going to a dancing party this afternoon. They'll have ice-cream there and I'll hear all the children play and laugh and I'll hear them say, 'Oh, Melly, which bag have you got with you today?' And then I will be shown."

"We're the lucky little pieces of silk who are seeing the world for a second time," said the yellow bag.

"Which Bag?"

"I'm so glad I was made," said the rose bag. "I'm going to a dancing party this afternoon. They'll have ice-cream there and I'll hear all the children play and laugh and I'll hear them say, 'Oh, Melly, which bag have you got with you today?' And then I will be shown."

"We're the lucky little pieces of silk who are seeing the world for a second time," said the yellow bag.

Well Known Kansas Woman

Nortonville, Kans.—"During middle life I became all run-down, weak and nervous. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it brought me through this critical period in splendid health. I have also taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as a blood tonic and for the liver and found it equally as good. I am always glad to recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines."—MRS. WM. OCKER.

A Nervous Breakdown

Kansas City, Kans.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription brought me through a very critical period for which I shall always be very grateful and I am glad to tell of it that other suffering women may take my advice and try the Prescription. I had a severe nervous breakdown caused by woman's trouble. Doctors called it inflammation. I doctored for about five years with very little help. I saw Dr. Pierce's medicine advertised and was so discouraged that I was ready to do anything for relief. I at once got both the 'Favorite Prescription' and the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I think I took about a dozen bottles but it was surely worth it as it restored me to good health, curing me of all my ailments."—MRS. LUCY FOREMAN, 314 S. Packard St.

Remarkable Case of a Kansas Woman

Athol, Kans.—"About twenty years ago I first commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for displacement and other feminine weakness. The first half dozen doses gave me great relief, and by the time I finished the first bottle I felt stronger than for a long while. Since then I have taken this medicine whenever I have felt run-down, weak or nervous and it has always given me the desired relief. I am very glad to recommend 'Favorite Prescription' as a woman's real friend."—MRS. IDA TICKNER, 1118 N. 10th St.

Reforming.

John Taylor, playground director at Camp Sullivan (Military park), last fall gave some of the boys horseshoes to play on the horseshoe court. On returning the shoes, one of the boys said to Taylor: "Thank you."

"Hully gee," remarked the boy's companion, "You must have reformed. I never heard you say 'thank you' to your mother."—Indianapolis News.

CALOMEL!

It's Mercury! Quick-silver! Shocks the Liver—Danger!

You're bilious, but take "Cascarets"! You have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched, your bowels are constipated. No wonder you feel foggy, mean and ill-tempered. You need Cascarets tonight. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are ended by morning with gentle, harmless Cascarets—they work while you sleep, never gripe, shock, sicken or inconvenience you. They're grand! Adv.

WATCH THAT COLD!

Colds and chills leave thousands with weak kidneys and aching backs. The kidneys have to do most of the work of fighting off a cold and they weaken—slow up. You feel dull and irritable and have headaches, dizziness, back-ache, and irregular kidney action. Give the kidneys quick help with Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's are used and recommended the world over for weak kidneys and bad backs.—Ask your neighbor!

A Colorado Case

Mrs. Anna M. Adams, 205 Ninth St., Alameda, Colo., says: "For a long time my kidneys made me miserable. Nights I was restless because of an ache through the small of my back and my sides. When I got up morning after morning I didn't feel rested and it was hours before the jaundice dragged-out feeling wore away. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they helped me the first day. I kept on using them until I was cured."

Mrs. Hobbs Entertains Sunbeam Band

The following account of the entertainment of the Sunbeam Band of the Baptist Church was unfortunately delayed in reaching this office on account of the sickness of the contributor. However, it is of much importance and will be read with much interest. On the 27th of February, the "Sunbeam Band" of the Baptist Church was entertained at a Washington's Birthday party at the home of Mrs. O. C. Hobbs. The little folks were amused in many different ways; one contest being the cutting of a paper cherry tree with red and blue hatchets. The girls proved to be the best choppers. Another was drawing numbers on red, white and blue paper, 22 being the lucky number with the prizes being red, white and blue candy hatchets with the name of the Sunbeam Band and date of the event inscribed on each. The prizes were awarded to Evelyn Hamilton and Christine Hobbs.

After refreshments, the children were treated to fishing in the Delaware, each being provided with pole and line. This novel arrangement was made in the back yard from which the children landed candy animals of various kinds and even birds and fish were drawn from the wonderful river. Those present were: Lorena Dinwiddie, Reta Montgomery, Nellie Shaver, Frank Richard, Josephine Clements, Erma Poage, Mardie, Elynn and Lola Hamilton, Morris Benson, Ruth and Thompson Kelley, Jesse, Jack and Louise McIlhaney, Lois and Floyd Stettman, Clifford Arnold, Catherine Patty, Christine Hobbs, Broadus and Wilbur Smith.

A joint birthday affair was observed on February 27, the honor guests being the little Misses Carol Wilson and Lorine Stimmel, both of whom were 10 years of age on the date mentioned. The entertainment was staged at the Wilson home where the many friends of the children enjoyed themselves in games of various kinds during which time refreshments of cake, sandwiches and hot chocolate were served by Mesdames Wilson, Stimmel and the Misses Sullivan and Lauren Wilson. Those present were: Mildred Jones, Vera Richard, Lorena Dinwiddie, Helen and Marjorie Ralston, Jane Spencer, Dollie and Hada Corn, Glenneth English, Lena Harris, Ethel Johnson, Ruth Kelley, Irene Miller, Mary Ellen Caldwell, Erma Poage, Otto Prahm, Carol Wilson, Lorena and Lee Stimmel.

The Ladies' Missionary Union of the Baptist Church will give a Luncheon and Banquet in the front part of Kelley & Son's Hardware Store on Friday, March 22. The luncheon will begin at 11:30 a. m. and as the Teachers' Association will meet on the above date, the visiting teachers and friends together with the Carrizozo public may avail themselves of the opportunity of the luncheon from 11:30 a. m. to 2 p. m. Hot coffee, hot chili, hot rolls, sandwiches, pickles, pie and cake may be had at all times through the day. Aside from this, the ladies will conduct a bazaar and will sell aprons, pillow cases and many other useful articles for home use—Keep the date in mind and attend.
