

Return U.S. To People Says Harding

Nominee Pledges Himself To Government For All the People; Wants Peace in Mexico and a Hundred Percent Dollar. Industrial Understanding Between Employer and Employees.

Marion, Ohio, July 22.—A pledge of constitutional government, administered by party and not an individual and based on national rather than world ideals, was given by Warren G. Harding today in accepting formally the Republican nomination for the presidency.

He welcomed a popular referendum on the league of nations, advocated increased production to cut the high cost of living and declared for industrial peace "not forced but inspired by the common weal."

Declaring railway employees ought to be the best paid in the world, the candidate emphasized the responsibility of such service and added: "The government might well stamp railway employment with the sanctity of public service and guarantee to railroad employees that justice, which voices the American conception of righteousness on the one hand and assures continuity of service on the other."

"Our relations ought to be both friendly and sympathetic; we would like to acclaim a stable government there, and offer a neighborly hand in pointing the way to greater progress. It will be simple to have a plain and neighborly understanding, merely an understanding about respecting our borders, about protecting the lives and possessions of American citizens lawfully within the Mexican dominions.

"No man is big enough to run this great republic. There never has been one. Such domination was never intended. Tranquillity, stability, dependability—all are assured in party sponsorship, and we mean to renew the assurances which were rendered in the late war.

Boy Kidnapped Nearly Year Ago Is Found

Hammonton, N. J., July 21.—"Billy" Dansey, who was kidnapped October 5, 1919, and believed to have been later murdered, has been found in Cleveland, according to a long distance telephone message received today by Charles White, who is under $7,500 bail, charged with slaying the child. The message was from Walter Griffin who, according to White, went to Ohio to search for the Dansey boy. On November 26, the bones of a small child found near the spot where the Dansey boy disappeared, were buried as being "Billy's."

A Notable Summer

(Silver City Normalite)

As the Summer Session of the New Mexico Normal School for 1920 draws to a close certain features which differentiate it from other summer sessions stand out noticeably.

In the first place, the number of students attending has been larger than ever before. Also there are fifty per cent more people at the school from counties outside of the local county of Grant than there have been in any other year. The college classes show a remarkable increase in numbers. There are forty-eight graduates this summer from the High School and College departments. The faculty, also, is larger than it has been in any previous year.

A very pleasant picnic at the foot of Gomez Peak was had Saturday evening, June 26th. The picnickers, after supper sat around the fire, telling stories, jokes and singing songs. Mr. Hall was not left behind telling jokes, while Miss McIntosh and Mr. Saatoff joined in. Mr. Conway was wood carrier and Mr. Morris assistant cook. The rest of the party hiked while supper was cooking.

Through the courtesy of the Silver City Commercial Club numerous auto owners of Silver City, and the management of the Chino Copper Company of Santa Rita, practically the entire membership of the Summer Session were enabled to enjoy a memorable excursion to Santa Rita and through the "mines" of the Chino Copper company.

Amundsen First to Circle The Globe in Arctic Waters

Seattle, Wash., July 21.—First circumnavigation of the globe through the narrow waters between the Arctic ice pack and the northern edges of Europe and America can be claimed, it has been pointed out, by Roald Amundsen, Norwegian explorer, when he arrives at Nome, Alaska, this summer.

In 1918 he again left Norway, but sailed east, around Europe and Asia. He is expected to arrive in Nome soon on this trip.

Amundsen is going to Nome to outfit for a dash to the North Pole. He is the discoverer of the South Pole. He hopes to reach the North Pole to refute or confirm the claims of the late Rear-Admiral Robert E. Perry to the discovery of the northern tip of the world.

Babe Ruth Gets 32nd Home Run

New York, July 22.—"Babe" Ruth, crack batsman of the New York American league club, added another home run to his major league record today when he knocked out his thirty-second home run of the season.

The hit, obtained off pitcher Fater, in the first game with Chicago, landed over the right field stand. There was no one on bases.

Ernest Prehm of the Ziegler Brothers' General Store returned from the East this morning on No. 8 where he has been visiting relatives.

Benefit Concert Highly Successful

The Benefit Concert given by the Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal Church Monday evening was well attended considering the fact that a storm descended upon us just at the time when people are preparing for a treat like the one above mentioned. Mrs. Ralph S. Brown, soloist, ably assisted by Mrs. D. A. Saunders at the piano rendered a program of song that brought much deserved applause and many favorable comments from the audience.

The program was arranged in groups. The first being "The Birth of Morn," "The Spirit Flower," with the encore, "The Cuckoo," second, "Thy Beaming Eyes," "Garden of Memories," with the encore, "Try Smiling," the third, "By the Waters of Minnetonka," "Love's Old Sweet Song" and fourth, the singer finished with a group of Negro melodies, namely: "I Want to be Ready," "Old Ark is Moving Along." Mrs. Brown also gave a recitation, the title of which was "Chicken" describing an aged darkey deacon, who prayed for chicken, and assisted his prayer by helping himself to a neighboring hen roost. Both the soloist and accompanist is deserving of much praise for the able manner in which the program was carried out. A social dance followed the concert at which an additional number attended, the music being furnished by Ferguson's orchestra. The ladies cleared about $50 from the joint event which will be added to the church building fund.

Raise Granted

Chicago, July 20.—Six hundred million dollars was added to the pay envelopes of the nation's 2,000,000 railroad workers today in the first award handed down by the United States railway labor board. Rejecting the demands of the organized rail unions for increases totalling approximately one billion dollars, the board decided approximately 60 per cent of that sum would be just increase to meet present living conditions.

The awards add approximately 21 per cent to the present pay schedules. Railroad officials have declared that any pay increase must be followed by a corresponding increase in rates and their plan, it is said, to file new tariffs with the interstate commerce commission as soon as they can be prepared.

Whether the award will stave off the threat of a general railroad strike remains to be seen.

Delegates Named to Tax Conference

Santa Fe, N. M., July 20.—Delegates to the thirteenth annual conference on taxation have been appointed by Governor Larrazolo. The conference will be held in Salt Lake City, September 6 to 11. The 12 delegates are from seven different towns and cities. Albert G. Simms and Carl C. Magee are the delegates from Albuquerque.

The card of last week's issue concerning the serial story, "The City of Purple Dreams," appears again this week on page 3 through error. Installment No. 5 runs in this issue which sets the story right for our readers.

Will T. Coe

Under the proper head, this week, appears the political announcement of Mr. Will T. Coe for the nomination of County Clerk, subject to the decision of the coming County Convention. Mr. Coe was raised in Lincoln County, is a successful ranchman of his locality, near Glencoe, N. M., 50 miles from Carrizozo. The old saying, but nevertheless a true one, that "to find out what a man is, ask his neighbors," is the way in which Mr. Coe's best qualities may be revealed and those who are the nearest to him as neighbors and home folks are the ones who were the first to ask him to seek the nomination.

Mr. Coe is thoroughly qualified to fill the office. His sunny disposition and courteous manner which is not mechanical, but purely natural, would make him an ideal public servant in every sense of the word. Ability to fill the requirements of a public office is one thing and in fact the most essential; a disposition to properly handle the people who are seeking reliable information is quite a different thing. Mr. Coe possesses all these necessary qualifications and should he be successful in obtaining the nomination, his success at the polls would be assured.

Garment Workers to Start Factories to Fight Profiteering

New York, July 20.—Definite steps toward formation of a great alliance of all the garment workers' unions in America have been taken by the International Ladies' Garment Workers union.

Benjamin Schlesinger, president of the union, announced today that a call had been sent out for a conference to be held the later part of October for the purpose of organizing a federation of the 500,000 clothing workers in the seven international unions in the clothing and garment industry.

May Have Wild Sheep In Manzanos

Mr. Goldman of the Biological Survey Talks at Smoker About Introduction of Wild Mountain Sheep in The Manzanos. Rough Country Best For Little Animals, Expert Says.

Albuquerque, July 22.—Several members of the New Mexico Game Protective association held a smoker this week in the rooms of the chamber of commerce at which time E. A. Goldman of the Biological Survey was present. Mr. Goldman was liberal in his praise of the work done by the local association and during the meeting gave a short talk on his experiences in the game fields of different parts of the world. The plan for the introduction of mountain sheep in the Manzano mountains was brought out at the meeting and Mr. Goldman agreed to go over the ground and see if the plan was advisable or not. The Manzanos are said to be the roughest mountains in the state and it is thought would make an ideal ground for mountain sheep.

Eastern Star Entertains Distinguished Visitor

Comet Chapter No. 29 met in extraordinary session Wednesday evening, the object being to entertain Mrs. Maxwell, Grand Matron of the Order in New Mexico. The laws of the order provide that on special occasions of this nature, initiatory ceremonies may be performed and in keeping with the rule, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Saunders were duly initiated into the mysteries of the order.

The Grand Matron pays regular yearly visits to the different lodges throughout the state and pronounced Comet Lodge in a prosperous condition second to none in the state. The Masonic Hall was crowded to its capacity and the reception given the Grand Matron was a telling tribute to their devotion to their superior officer. Refreshments were served. The chapter meets in regular session the first Thursday of each month, to which visiting Stars are cordially invited.

F. E. Richard Injured

F. E. Richard of the Carrizozo Transfer & Storage Co., was the victim of a painful accident last Saturday. He was assisting some of his men at the storage plant in the task of storing away a car load of ice, when he, in some manner, injured his back which he attributes to heavy lifting. At this writing, Mr. Richard is still confined to his home but is improving.

"YOU LOVE HIM!"

Synopsis—Typical tramp in appearance, Daniel Randolph Fitzhugh, while crossing a Chicago street, causes the wreck of an auto, whose chauffeur disabes it trying to avoid running him down. In pity the occupant of the auto, a young girl, saves him from arrest and gives him a dollar, telling him to buy soap, and wash. His sense of shame is touched, and he improves his appearance. That night, in a crowd of unemployed and anarchists, he meets Esther Strom and in a spirit of bravado makes a speech. Esther induces Fitzhugh to address the radical meeting. He electrifies the crowd, and on parting the two agree to meet again. Fitzhugh visits Symington, Olla, prominent financier, and displaying a package which he says contains dynamite, demands $10,000. Olla gives him a check. At the house he meets the girl who had given him the dollar, and learns she is Kathleen Olla. She recognizes him. Astonished, he tears up the check and escapes, but is arrested. Esther visits Fitzhugh in jail and makes arrangements for procuring legal advice. His trial is speedily completed and he is found insane and committed to an asylum, from which he easily makes his escape. Fitzhugh takes refuge in Chicago with Esther who has become infatuated with him, but with the thought of Kathleen in his mind he gives her no encouragement. His one idea is to become rich and powerful, and win Kathleen. While hiding in Esther's house he grows a beard, which effectually changes his appearance.

CHAPTER IV—Continued.

And, heedless of his protestations, she told him. She was a widow. Her husband had been a Russian nihilist and was killed in Petrograd. After his death she had fled to America.

"Now, of course, you want to hear my story," he decided, when she finished. "Don't you?"

She noted the unwillingness in his voice. "Some other time," she answered.

"I'd better get you something to eat," she reminded herself presently, and rose and started toward the door. "You must be hungry." She paused with her hand on the knob. "Isn't there something else I can get you?" she asked.

"Yes; I wish you'd get me some evening newspapers." He ran his hand first in one trousers pocket, then in the other, before remembering their emptiness. "Never mind," he told her. "I'll do without."

"I'll get them all," she promised thoughtfully. "It's only a few cents," she added as she went out.

When she returned, bearing a tray of food and a bundle of newspapers, Fitzhugh had made his toilet and looked a little more presentable—or, rather, a little less unkempt.

He threw aside the more conservative journals, which announced his escape in staid paragraphs, and read first those saffron-colored ones, which told the news with huge black type against pink and green backgrounds. The first one shrieked at him:

MANIAC ESCAPES! OVERPOWERS GUARD AND FLEES IN STORM!

He smiled and turned to the next one. Then he started and sat up very straight. Lavishly smeared over the damp front page, smelling of printer's ink, this is what he saw:

MADMAN MISSING! $1,000 FOR CAPTURE! SYMINGTON OTIS OFFERS REWARD!

He read it again and again, enjoying the notoriety to the full. He had come into the limelight.

When Esther knocked at his room next morning about eight, Fitzhugh had been up an hour.

"Come to my room as soon as you're dressed; I've a surprise for you."

He listened until he could no longer hear her footsteps on the uncarpeted stairs, then opened the door and found, just without, a parcel. Opening it, he discovered a complement of underwear, necktie, shirt, collar and tie. There was also a cap. Again he experienced an uncomfortable feeling of gratitude and shame for accepting, perhaps, so much from a woman. In a closet at the end of the hall he had unearthed an old wooden clothes-trunk. He filled it at the hydrant, carried it to his room, and stripped and enjoyed a cold bath. Then, arrayed in his new haberdashery, he went to his benefactress.

"You have three guesses," she cried gayly, holding her hands behind her face radiant. She fumbled with what she held behind her, shifting it to one hand, reached up, playfully tweaked his unshaven cheek and rubbed her palm against its stubby grain. "Now can you guess?"

He nodded, smiling. "You've bought me a shaving outfit," he said soberly. "I'm sorry. I'm not going to shave. I'm going to grow a beard—a Vandyke."

She fell strangely silent; and when she spoke he thought her voice sounded hard, unnatural. "I see. A disguise. How stupid of me not to think of it. That means, of course"—she picked up the shaving mug and appeared to be interested in its contour—"that means you will be leaving here."

He was in a quandary. He knew not how to answer. Deep down in his heart he knew he was going to leave her, was going to shut her out of his life. He had decided that again last night when drawing up his plans. But he could not tell her so now—not while she stood there questioning him, with such accusation, such bitter reproach.

"You will, won't you?" she demanded, her face reddening.

He chose the path of least resistance. He took the shaving mug from her hands, replaced it on the table, and put his arms around her and kissed her on the lips. It was probably the most prudent answer he could have made; and when, upon her repeating her question, less insistently, he said, "Don't think about unpleasant things," she promised to try, and lighted the oil stove and bustled herself with breakfast preparations; and as she went about her work she hummed to herself almost happily.

During breakfast, however, she returned to the troublesome topic.

"Daniel," she began, refilling his coffee cup. "I want you to tell me what you intend doing. I don't like you to have secrets from me."

"Really, I am surprised and saddened. I never suspected I was so transparent."

"I'll tell you what I'd like, Daniel." Her voice was low and serious. "I'd like to have you go back to Russia with me. There's work to be done in Russia—Oh, such quantities of work!

"Symington Otis Offers Reward!" He read it Again and Again, Enjoying the Notoriety to the Full.

—and you and I could do so much. Oh, Daniel, you don't know what it's like in Russia—the poverty, the misery, the millions cowed by tyranny. They are groping in the darkness. They need light. They must be taught that all workmen are their comrades, all the rich their foes. They must be taught to strike back when they are struck."

"See here, Esther!" Fitzhugh's clenched fist struck the table a ringing blow. His quiet, demeanor had radically changed. "I've something I want to tell you. Henceforth my brain, my energy, every particle of me, will work toward but one end—Material Success. Money means Power, and Power is my goal. I've known all along I could reach it. I shall have to be cold, heartless, selfish. There's no other way. The poor—poor! What are the poor but beasts of burden to pack and carry for their masters, who are the rich and intelligent?"

As he talked Esther crouched back in her chair, cringing from him as though each word he spoke was a whip-lash across her face.

"Naturally, you hadn't thought of me," she murmured, when he paused. "On the contrary," he said, and there was a hidden meaning in his words, which, keen as she was, escaped her, "you are the person of whom I'm thinking most just now."

A glad light sprang into her eyes. "Then you are going to take me up with you! With your money—you see,

I take it for granted you will become wealthy—how much we could do for the underclasses!"

He tossed away his cigarette, took a swallow of coffee, put down his cup abruptly. "I'll do the square thing by you—remember that. Perhaps money cannot compensate you for all you have done for me—I doubt very much if it can—but if it can, Esther, I shall repay you a hundredfold."

She sprang up. Her brief gladness had fled. Her face was very white.

"Then you are going to throw me over!" she blazed at him. "I thought so!"

"Have I ever shown any wild desire for your company?" he asked icily. He also was standing. His face was white, too. "In our short friendship has it not always been you who took the initiative?"

"But the first time we met you had no money, no place to sleep."

His brow darkened. "I thought I was going to have trouble with you. But never mind, I'll settle in full my account with you, and we'll quit even."

A furious torrent of words rushed to her tongue, but before she could loose it something occurred which, even in that tempestuous moment, dammed its flow. A shadow obliterated the sunlight, and she turned in time to see what cast it. A second later a peremptory knocking rattled the street door.

"Go to your room and lock yourself in!" she ordered, and pushed him before her toward the hall door. "It's Nikolay—the big Russian you met at Smulski's. He mustn't find you here. He's ready to kill you, almost. Do hurry! Run all the way to your room and lock the door."

He tarried no longer. Yet the excitement of the moment did not banish his diplomacy, for he pressed her hand and kissed her before going. After his departure she composed herself at the breakfast table. The battering at the door swelled louder with every second.

Fitzhugh gone, Esther unbarred the door and admitted her visitor.

"Come in Nikolay," she invited.

He entered, glowering, and sat in the chair Fitzhugh had vacated.

"Why did you keep me waiting?" he asked sullenly.

"Because," she replied evenly, "I was trying to decide whether or not I wanted to see you."

"And did you decide?"

She lifted one shoulder, with eloquent indifference, and stirred her coffee. "I had to let you in. Another minute, and you would have torn the house down."

He turned his massive head this way and that, sniffing the air very audibly. "I take it you care more for your friend who rolls his own cigarettes." He opened a box of Russians and lighted one.

She did not speak, and he went on: "You've taken quite a fancy to this young spellbinder, haven't you?"

"If you mean the boy who left just as you came—his my brother."

Nikolay threw back his head, and gave a loud, mirthless laugh. "Brother! What a liar!"

She caught her breath sharply and sat very erect, a crimson spot burning vividly in either dark cheek. Her bosom rose and fell stormily.

"Be careful what you say to me," she warned him; but the anger in her low voice seemed only to fan his jealousy to a fiercer flame.

He ground his teeth as he frowned at her, and the great hairy hand lying on his knee opened and closed. "You will equivocate, won't you? As if you could hoodwink me for one instant! Don't try it, you Esther. You know well enough why I loath this—this—"

"Randolph Fitz," she supplied swiftly. So he did not know Fitzhugh's real name. That was good.

"You know well enough, I say. It's because you love him."

He jumped up, kicked his chair out of the way, and began pacing the floor savagely.

"You can't be serious, Nikolay!" She made a brave effort at gayety. "I care for him? Surely you are jesting." She tilted back her chair, as he stopped and towered over her, and smiled up at him coquetishly.

"Why will you torture me so?" he cried, holding out his great arms to her. "Can't you see how I love you? Don't you know I've loved you for years? And this Fitz!"—he spat the word out—"this vagabond of a Fitz! You've known him but a few weeks, yet you're—Surely you cannot love him! Tell me that you don't. Tell me—tell me, Esther, that you love only me!"

The woman knew how to act. She hesitated, called up at him dourly; then, breathing to herself the name of the man she loved, she rose, and with her eyes closed tightly, held up her lips to the man she despised.

Some while later Nikolay took his departure.

Nikolay, the big Russian.

GOT HIS SEATS, ALL RIGHT

Under the Circumstances, Many Will Think Bell-Ringer Was Moderate in His Demands.

One of the annoyances of the manager of a show is the "free list" in small towns, and it is his duty to look over the list when he arrives and do the necessary cutting. Edward Arnold of "The Storm" company tells of a manager of his company in the middle West, who found two seats allotted to the "bell-ringer," asked the house manager why, and was introduced to the man. "Why two seats?" he said.

"There's a curfew in this town," he said. "I am the bell-ringer. If I get the seats the bell gets a couple of light taps. If I don't it rings an hour."

"Where is the bell?"

"Next door." He got the seats.—New York Post.

Foolish Question. "How did you get the money to pay your advertising bills?" "By advertising, of course."

Has a Kind Nature. "She says she refused no fewer than six offers of marriage." "How thoughtful and considerate of her."

How Many Women Are Like This?

Can anything be more wearing for women than the ceaseless round of household duties? Oh! the monotony of it all—work and drudge; no time to be sick; tired, ailing, yet cannot stop. There comes a time when something "snaps" and they find themselves "simply worn out," and to make matters worse, have contracted serious feminine disorder which almost always follows the constant overtaxing of a woman's strength.

Then they should remember that there is no remedy like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—the experience of these two women establishes that fact:

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—"After the birth of my baby I had such painful spells that would unfit me entirely for my household work. I suffered for months and the doctor said that my trouble was organic in nature and I would have to have an operation. That was an awful thing to me, with a young baby and four other children, so one day I thought of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and how it had helped me years before and I decided to try it again. I took five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I feel like a new woman. I have been a well woman, able to take care of my home and family without any trouble or a day's pain. I am ready and thankful to give my experience to any woman who is suffering from any of the ailments mentioned above. I am forty-four years old and have not had a day's illness of any kind for three years."—Mrs. E. Keenan, 627 Elm St., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Grandy, Ohio.—"After the birth of my baby I had organic troubles. My doctor said it was caused by too heavy lifting and I would have to have an operation. I would not consent to an operation and let it go for over a year, having my mother do my work for me as I was not able to walk. One day my aunt came to see me and told me about your medicine—and it cured her of the same thing. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I feel like a new woman. I have been a well woman, able to take care of my home and family without any trouble or a day's pain. I am ready and thankful to give my experience to any woman who is suffering from any of the ailments mentioned above. I am forty-four years old and have not had a day's illness of any kind for three years."—Mrs. E. Keenan, 627 Elm St., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

His Lack of Judgment. "Bud Buckover hasn't got no sense worth mentioning," said a citizen of Sandy Mush. "Tuther evening he got into a fuss with his wife, and 'cuz suthin' or nuther didn't suit him, he began to yell and slash around with his revolver. Then he booted out of the door and fired his gun in the air. Probly he figgered his wife would think he'd shot himself, and be sorry. But, about that time, I'mp Sockery came in at the gate and, nacherly s'posin' Bud was shooting at him, pulled his gun and let drive, and shot Bud through the shoulder. Bogle News

Heavy rains fell in the Coyote-Jicarilla regions early this week and everything looks fine.

Considerable mining activity is apparent in the Jicarilla mountains of late. Some notable oil men have also visited in these parts.

The Kelt brothers are drilling a well on their ranch east of Bogle.

Those who have plenty of time and patience, and a good taste for nuts, will be glad to know that there will be plenty of pinion nuts in the Jicarillas this fall.

The Coyote Summer School is well attended and the interest shown by the little folks who have never before attended school, is remarkable. It is a sad thing to relate, but it still is true, that these citizens and taxpayers living in a community traversed by a railroad, have never until this season, had the advantage of a school.

Mrs. Ted Reasoner of Bowie, Texas, is visiting Mrs. C. F. Haskins of Jicarilla this week.

Ancho is proud of her new school house which has just been completed. The building is modern in arrangement and one of the finest school buildings in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Johnson of Bogle are visiting in Missouri and other states of the East and will return about the 1st of August.

The Warden Brothers are branding out one of the largest and finest herds of calves ever branded in this neighborhood.

Geo. Weishar of Jicarilla, prominent merchant and postmaster, smiles and says, "It is hard to smile when one reflects, that even a camel requires a drink occasionally."

A damaging hail storm visited the country surrounding Ancho, recently, completely destroying a fine growing crop for Mr. John Dale. The Jicarilla neighborhood east of there, escaped. The crops in that section are exceedingly fine.

White Oaks News Items

A large crowd attended the dance at Mountainside Hall Saturday evening.

White Oaks is waking up to a timely boom in its oil and coal interests. A number of eastern capitalists have been here during the past week, looking over the situation, which they candidly say is encouraging in the extreme.

Visitors in Carrizozo for the first part of the week were: Meadames Rhodes, Barber, and Miss McCauley; Messrs. Bennett, Rhodes, Jackson, Lane, Paul Mayer and A. L. Wilner of Green Bay, Wisconsin.

Mrs. M. Dame has been quite ill for the past week, but her condition shows a marked improvement at this writing.

Mrs. Rhodes entertained with a six o'clock dinner Sunday, in honor of her son, George, who left Tuesday on No. 4 for Peekopie, New York to accept a position with the Moline Harvesting Company.

is used wherever the best grades of milk are used. It is delicious to drink because of its freshness and purity. It is ideal for babies and children because of the very small percentage of bacteria, which cannot multiply in the dry form.

Most housewives in using milk for cooking purposes pour off the top of the bottle and set it aside, and that is just what we have done with the Klim Brand Skimmed Milk, poured off the top of the bottle and dried the remainder.

Teachers' Examination

I desire to call attention to all teachers of Lincoln County and those who expect to teach in this county, who are not properly certificated under the law of the State of New Mexico, that the next and last teachers' examination will be held on July 23rd and 24, 1920. This is the time to take examination in Reading Circle Books and secure your certificate.

All persons granted first grade certificates last year that are to be extended upon recommendation of one year of successful teaching will please send certificate and remittance of $1.00 to the County Superintendent for extension.

It is necessary that you attend to this matter, for no salary warrant can legally be drawn unless the teacher has a proper certificate allowing her to teach. Teachers having permits to teach can only draw a salary equal to the holder of a third grade certificate.

CHRISTENSEN IS 3RD PARTY CHOICE

SALT LAKE LAWYER NOMINATED FOR PRESIDENT; HAYES FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

RADICALS IN CONTROL

CHRISTENSEN WON OVER DUDLEY FIELD MALONE BY VOTE OF 199 TO 174.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Chicago, July 10.—Parley P. Christensen, Salt Lake City lawyer, was nominated as the presidential candidate for the new Farmer-Labor party by its convention. Christensen, a member of the committee of forty-eight, was chosen on the second ballot. Christensen was elected over Dudley Field Malone of New York by a vote of 195.5 to 174.6. Max S. Hayes of Cleveland was nominated for vice president.

Chicago, July 16.—The labor group was dominating when the new fusion party adopted a platform in preparation for nomination of candidates. After the convention had adopted the name of the Farmer-Labor party the rest of the time was spent in nomination speeches.

There was no nomination on the first ballot. The result of the first ballot: Total vote, 383.0. Malone 166.8, Debs 68, Christensen 121.1, Ford 12.3, Frazier 9, Bigelow 7, Post 1.7.

The convention then voted to drop all candidates except Malone and Christensen, and proceeded with the voting on the second ballot.

It was announced that Jane Addams had informed the convention by telephone that she would not accept and her name was withdrawn.

J. A. H. Hopkins, who was watching the Farmer-Labor party's progress, declared as balloting started that the new party had "had a wonderful opportunity and missed it."

The labor party got the two conventions together, he said, "and then kicked everybody in the face." A steam roller, Hopkins added, "cranky probably in spots, but very efficient" had been used and the labor group "was dominant and in control."

Defections from the ranks of the new party began when it was shown that the minority report would be overwhelmingly defeated. James Ferguson, former governor of Texas, was the first to openly pull out of the meeting. He was followed by delegates from several states, none of whom was identified with the labor party.

A near stampede developed when an attempt was made to forestall introduction of the majority platform by the submission to the convention of a report that was reputed to be acceptable to Senator Robert M. LaFollette. The senator's friends declare the convention was "boos-riden and clique-controlled" and that the senator's own platform ideas had been buried in secret committee meeting.

The storm broke with all the fury of a riot, and LaFollette delegates were quick to seize the psychological moment to spring their presidential boom. A big photograph of the senator, flag-draped, and a huge red banner inscribed with his name were swung before the convention and the demonstration was on. It lasted about three-quarters of an hour.

Then a move was made to read the senator's platform, but it was blocked by the decision of the chairman that the majority report of the committee on resolutions was before the convention and must be dealt with first. The LaFollette platform was never brought up again.

Without Confirmation. Pete Johnson, carpenter on the farm, was on the meadows of Hoboken looking for game. He walked around a half day and, finding nothing, he started for home, meeting a cow which he shot at and missed. It was his last shot, so Pete was out of luck when he met a bear, which chased him a half mile to a friendly oak tree. The bear and Pete circled the tree until both were becoming exhausted. Then Pete grabbed the bear's paws and held them around the tree until the bear died of starvation. They had bear meat at the farm and the skin of Bruno adorns the farm gates. Just a Few "Dijas"

"Dija" ever stop to consider what a very small percent of complaints are heard about telephone service, when you take into reckoning the thousands and thousands of calls that are passing over the wires every hour, every day. All right, then. Knowing this you will be able to better ask a few questions on "Dijas Ever," when an occasion complaint drifts along your way. "Did you ever stand in line more than six minutes waiting to get a ticket to see a prize fight?" "Did you ever get in a jam in a church and have to wait until the doorway cleared?" "Did you ever wait at a bank tellers' window to make your deposit, or explain why you couldn't make one?" "Did you ever stand on a street corner, waiting for a street car (loaded down with packages), and have it pass by?"

When the train came in back in 1910

TEN years ago you might have seen one or two automobiles waiting outside the station, when the weather was pleasant.

Today the square is crowded with them. And most of the cars you generally see there are moderate-price cars.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy--The U. S. Nobby.

For ordinary country roads--The U. S. Chain or Usco.

For front wheels--The U. S. Plain.

For best results--everywhere--U. S. Royal Cord.

ROYAL CORD--NOBBY--CHAIN--USCO--PLAIN

Anybody who tells you that owners of moderate-price cars are not interested in the quality of their tires has never met very many of them.

We come in contact with the small car owner every day and we have found that he is just as much interested as the big car owner.

There is one tire, at least, that makes no distinction between small cars and large cars so far as quality is concerned--the U. S. Tire.

Every U. S. Tire is just like every other in quality--the best its builders know how to build.

Whatever the size of your car, the service you get out of U. S. Tires is the same. It isn't the car, but the man who owns the car, that sets the standard to which U. S. tires are made.

We feel the same way about it. That's why we represent U. S. Tires in this community.

Nailing Another Lie

(Republican Publicity Association)

A story appears to be going the rounds of some of the Democratic labor papers that Senator Harding once said that 'a dollar a day was enough for any workingman.' To the intelligent reader the very absurdity of the statement stamps it as a vicious slander. But to those who are apt to accept a story at its face value, no matter how opposed to reason it may be, it is well to state right now that the dollar-a-day story is a deliberate, unqualified, and cruel lie. Its circulation at this time is one of the detestable schemes indulged in by Senator Harding's political enemies on the theory that it is far easier to give a man a bad name than it is to correct the false impression once it is made.

Senator Harding himself denies most emphatically that he ever made the statement accredited to him, or that the sentiment it expresses was ever entertained by him for a moment. In all the years he has been conducting a printing establishment in his home city of Marion, Ohio, he has never had a controversy with his employees. They are all union men, they all hold their employer in the highest esteem, and since his return home from Washington have taken occasion to express their delight at the honor that has come to him.

"In my private pursuits as a newspaper publisher," states Senator Harding, referring to his attitude toward the workingman, "I am an employer of organized labor, having never known a controversy, and I believe most cordially in rational unionism. Organization and collective bargaining, under wise leadership, have done more to advance the cause of labor than all other agencies combined, and any one who thinks to destroy sane unionism, by legislation or otherwise, is blind to conditions firmly established."

Those are the actual words spoken by the Republican candidate during debate in the United States. Compare them and the principles which impelled their utterance to the sordid language which Democrats seek to put in to Senator Harding's mouth. It is impossible that the libel found its origin in the minds of the leaders of intelligent unionism. Those men are familiar with the Senator's record in his own industrial establishment, and with his public declaration on labor matters. The malicious attack can only have been conceived by political enemies who, insidiously working through some of the labor journals, have sought to alienate the labor vote from the Republican candidate.

Hand Writing on Wall

(The Manufacturer)

"American Woolen Company closes July 10 for an indefinite period after operating on 3 day a week schedule for some time. Action caused by cancellation and curtailment of orders for next season's goods.—Boston.

"Mill buyers placing few orders for wool. The feeling seems to be that it is best for all that a new level of prices—one in accord with spirit of times and existing and prospective stocks of wool—be established as soon as possible.—Boston.

"Fur salesmen in San Francisco advised by New York office to get rid of high priced furs at reasonable prices for cash, as money is tight for carrying that class of goods.

These are facts not fiction. Organized labor radicalism with strikes, and resulting curtail production; tax burdens and legislative regulation and hampering of business have placed our industrial system with its back to the wall.

Will we profit by events which cast their shadow before them and by increased individual production and state and national co-operation strengthen our industrial system or will we pursue the blind course of arbitrary demands and self indulgence at any price and bring the wall of inflexible economic conditions toppling down on our industrial structure—Let us think.

The Substantial Citizen

The American home is the corner stone of the nation. It promotes the stability of the family, stimulates the love of our country, and is the best safeguard of law and order in society.

Few people really like to live in hotels and apartment houses or eat in a restaurant in preference to the enjoyments of a home, but many do so because of barriers of one kind or another which stand in the way of the home.

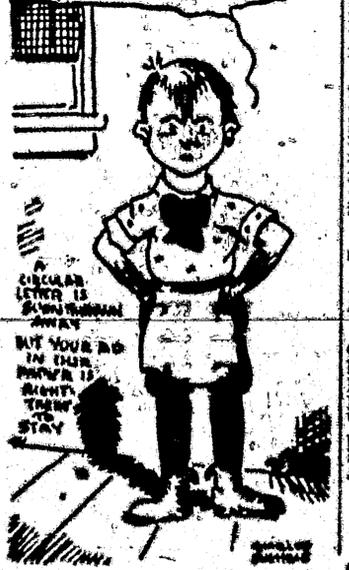

Building costs are more than offset by high rents being charged. Home building today is a business the same as banking and any energetic man can finance a home through a long time loan if he so chooses.

The ownership of a piece of real estate is a fine thing from every point of view. It gives the holder a standing and a self respect he would not otherwise have. It promotes business confidence in him and makes him one of the substantial upstanding pillars of the community.

Begin it today. Own your own home. Get in line to be the solid citizen of tomorrow.

Horse Badly Cut by Fall

Specialist's Prescription Prevents Complications.

In telling of the accident to his horse, Mr. Luther Carmen of Valley Park, Mo., stated: "My horse fell down and cut his knees all up. I dressed them with Dr. LeGear's Antiseptic Healing Powder and they are healing fine. It is a wonderful remedy for healing sores on horses."

Mr. Carmen is simply voicing the sentiments of hundreds of others who feel that having Dr. LeGear's personal prescriptions on hand at all times is nearly as good as having Dr. LeGear where they could reach him in a few minutes.

Wounds and sores must be taken care of immediately. Get a can of Dr. LeGear's Antiseptic Healing Powder from your dealer. Dust on enough of it to cover the wound or sore. It forms a protection against insects and infection and promotes healthy healing.—Dr. L. D. LeGear Med. Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Cox Backs up

Columbus, O., July 19. — Conferences on democratic campaign engaged Governor Cox, the party standard bearer, immediately upon his return today from Washington.
 Homer S. Cummings, chairman, and many members of the national committee, arrived today for the meeting of the full committee tomorrow and kept Governor Cox busy with discussions of selecting a campaign manager, speaking tours, finances and other affairs.

Governor Cox declined today to reply to the statement of Senator Harding, his republican opponent, calling for a bill of particulars of the governor's conference with President Wilson. Stating that he was "very much pleased," with the results of his talk with the president, Governor reiterated with respect to Mr. Harding's statement, that he would not engage in a wire debate with the opposition.
 "In my speech of acceptance," said the governor, "I will answer all that I deem requires an answer."
 Chairman Cummings had an afternoon engagement with the governor, who, with other members of the national committee here, said no agreement on the management of the campaign had been reached.

Erwin Bergdoll Gives Up At Governor's Island

New York, July 21.—Erwin R. Bergdoll, younger half-brother of Grover C. Bergdoll, who disappeared from his Philadelphia home about two years ago and since then has been sought on charges of draft evasion, today surrendered at Governor's Island.

With Bergdoll when he surrendered was Judge James Romig, of Philadelphia, a personal friend of the Bergdoll family, who himself is under indictment in connection with Grover's escape. Beside Judge Romig, Bergdoll was accompanied by his half-brother, Charles Braun. When the trio entered the judge advocate's office, Judge Romig said:

"We have Erwin Bergdoll, desirous to surrender."

Bergdoll was immediately taken to prison.

The Strength of Organization

IN THE BRIEF span of forty years scientific advancement has brought the telephone from a crude experiment to one of the most nearly perfect of all mechanical devices. Engineering has mastered countless problems involved in the distribution of service. Construction has carried the telephone into the most remote corners of the country. Operative skill has combined the efforts of executives, scientists, engineers and commercial management. Together with vision and foresight these are the powers which, united, have made possible the accomplishments of the Bell System.

Nothing less than the finest loyalty, the most untiring devotion, the recognition of the great importance of their task, a fixed determination to serve faithfully; nothing less than this unified strength which has been so wonderfully displayed by the men and women engaged in the business of rendering telephone service could have carried the system through the great strain which began with the war and which has not yet passed.

Seldom, if ever, has public service required so long and so severe a test of a business organization. And never has an employe body responded with more hearty, united and loyal support. And they are still carrying on.

Record Harvest Predicted for Canada.

After having made a careful survey of the wheat producing area of the United States, experts whose business it is to keep the people informed on the acreage sown to foodstuffs state that this year there will be a falling off in the wheat production in the States, due to a considerably less area cultivated. The opinion of these experts is that the decrease will be several hundred million bushels of wheat less than in previous years, which according to past experience will be scarcely sufficient to meet the requirements of the demands of the people of this country.

In Canada, however, the situation is different. Reliable reports on the crop situation throughout Western Canada are such as to create the most substantial optimism. Never before were the prospects so encouraging for a bumper harvest. It is predicted that the yield this year will be even greater than in 1915, the year of the record harvest in Canada, when the total production was 293,542,000 bushels. Not only is the wheat looking excellent, but the same is true of oats, barley and flax, of which a greatly increased acreage has been sown in the great grain producing provinces of Canada.

The rains that have fallen recently have come at the right time to stimulate growth and there is now considerable moisture in the ground. With the world generally facing a shortage of wheat and a continued heavy demand for it, the price is likely to be maintained at the present high figure. In many districts corn has been more extensively planted than in previous years and it is looking remarkably well. Many settlers from the United States who came to Western Canada and bought improved farms in the early spring have every prospect of a crop yield that will give them a return sufficiently large, after paying all current expenses, to pay off a large part of their capital investment. Livestock is in excellent condition everywhere, the rains having induced a good growth of grass.—Advertisement.

EATONIC Users —Do This—Get the Greatest Benefits

Chicago, Ill.—Thousands of reports from people all over the U. S. who have tested Eatonic, show the greatest benefits are obtained by using it for a few weeks, taking one or two tablets after each meal.

Eatonic users know that it stops itching, bloating, heartburn, and stomach distresses quickly, but the early lasting benefits are obtained by using Eatonic long enough to take the harmful excess acids and gases entirely out of the system. This requires a little time, for Eatonic takes up the excess acidity and poisons and carries them out of the body and of course, when it is all removed, the sufferer gets well, feels fine—full of life and pep.

If you have been taking an Eatonic now and then, be sure and take it regularly for a time and obtain all of these wonderful benefits. Please speak to your druggist about this, so that he can tell others that need this help. Adv.

Bathing Suits Ape All Modes

Review of Various Styles of the Season.

BLACK ENJOYS FIRST PLACE

Color's Absence Last Summer From Front Line Ranks Was Only Temporary; Marked Vogue for Brown.

The bathing costumes appearing on the beaches this year, writes a seashore-fashion-correspondent, depict a fashion review of all the styles that we have had in dresses this season. The evening dress, the afternoon frock, the sports suit, all find their prototype in the bathing suit of today. Just like the young girl's evening dresses are the taffeta suits, with their billowing skirts composed of tier after tier of ruffles, picot edged or bound with silk, and their huge ribbon sashes with streaming ends.

It is the simple, youthful type of evening dress, elaborate for the beach. It is true, but plain in contrast to the extreme things of last season, in which no effort was spared to make them all that was costly and perishable. Velvets were dyed, then crushed and printed into gorgeous designs. Cashmeres were treated to give them the appearance of costly antique stuffs. Handwork of all sorts was featured in great quantities.

Last year the seaside resorts were very gay for the first time in several years, and bathing suits were almost lurid. Each woman, in her desire to express joy at the end of the dreary war years, selected the gayest things she could find—and there were plenty of gay bathing suits to be found. Bright reds, brilliant purples and vivid greens bobbed over the surface of the waters and basked in the sunshine on the sands. Everybody apparently seized the opportunity to reveal in the most brilliant clothes ever seen on the beaches, and the seashore was one spot where bright apparel did not appear out of place.

Reaction Toward Simpler Things.

This year, however, sees a change in bathing suits. The pinnacle of extravagance in fashion appears to have been reached, for the time being, at least, and there is a tendency to turn toward simpler things. The beach clothes faithfully mirror the demand for something simpler in our dress. Many of them are exact copies of simple little French frocks.

A turning to the darker colors is noted. Black, which was almost crowded out of the list of bathing things last year, now enjoys first place. Its absence from the front line ranks was only temporary. This may be due in a measure to the fact that people found bright colors unsatisfactory when dipped in the salt water every day or exposed to the bright sun, and are quite ready to come back to the practical black satin and taffeta suit. The vogue for brown is quite as marked in bathing suits as in other clothes. We never have thought of brown as an attractive color for bathing suits; in fact, it was unusual to see it on the beach. Probably because the color has been so much in the limelight, designers have worked out some of their prettiest models in it. Certainly there is much to be said in its favor in comparison with the gold colored and bright blue satins covered with batik work of last year. We may have quite as much latitude in the lines of our bathing suits as in those of our frocks. We still have the straight chemise model, which is always good. New this year and following the low waistline dresses is the bathing suit with long waist portion and full skirt.

Petaled Skirt Appears on Beach.

The petaled skirt, too, appears in bathing dresses. More elaborate ones show rows of scalloped ruffles from the waistline to the hem of the skirt, while those of simpler construction merely have the bottom of the skirt cut in petal form. The loop drapery also has found its way into these clothes, and, of course, the sash is one of the most prominent features.

Among the more elaborate suits not intended for actual swimming—just who wears them nobody seems to know, but the fact remains that they are to be found in the shops—are black velvet bodices attached to skirts of taffeta having plaited ruffles finished at the edge with old-fashioned pinking. Satin suits with long basques attached to accordion plaited skirts belong to this type. A beach costume of brown satin made after this manner is trimmed with little flowers of wool and satin.

There is a bathing suit strongly resembling a dress brought out by Worth earlier in the season. The similarity lies in the skirt, which has panels formed by loops of wide ribbon. Black taffeta is chosen for it. The underdress consists of Turkish bloomers attached to a waist, while the skirt is simply loop panels of taffeta fastened to a sash.

A bit of color is introduced by facing the panels to a depth of about two inches with bright green silk. It is a frivolous sort of a skirt, but has the spice of novelty as well as being very pretty. The little cap accompanying it is made by stitching two squares of silk together. There are tabs at either side which tie in a bow on the top, thus shaping the cap.

Turkish Trousers Much Exaggerated.

Bloomers are receiving quite as much of the designer's attention this year as the suits themselves. Variations of the Turkish trousers, much exaggerated in many cases appear beneath short bathing dresses. Indications are that the skirt may be abandoned altogether. The suit described is an instance of the bloomers being allowed to show. The skirt is merely a series of loose hanging loops of silk. In other suits the skirt consists only of a back and front panel.

Towelings and rubberized ginghams are modest and suitable as well as fashionable for trimmings. The imported Turkish toweling that looks like a soft cotton plush is used in beautiful colorings. The rubberized ginghams are in small checks and plaids. An interesting use of white toweling appears on a brown taffeta dress of chemise style, with kimono sleeves. The toweling is folded in points to form rows down the entire length of the suit, both back and front. Full Turkish bloomers are trimmed at the sides in the same way. A round white cap like a chef's headdress completes the costume.

The woman who loves to swim just for the pure joy of exercise will not fail to include in her summer wardrobe one or two of the one-piece jersey swimming suits. These have grown in popularity each year. They have become almost a standard fashion in bathing suits, so that there is little change in them except in the ways of combining colors. Contradictory to the suits of silk and satin which, as already noted, are in the darker shades this year, are the jersey suits, which are rather vivid in color and decorated with gay stripes of a contrasting hue.

Bathing Hats An Important Feature

All the bathing hats are exceedingly interesting. For several years we have had nothing but variations of the rubber hat and the bandanna frock which to choose. Now there is a decided change and hats are featured as part of the bathing costume. The Egyptian headdress is accountable for many of these new hats. A black taffeta suit embroidered with white worried has a little round cap of the taffeta, which is Egyptian in every detail, even to the plaited tabs hanging over either ear.

Every sort of headgear appears to have been copied into bathing caps. The academic hat of the college professor will bob on the surface of the ocean beside copies of the sultan of turkey's turban, the headgear of the cook, the cap associated with the highlands of Scotland, made of rubberized plaid silk, and caps of blue rubber dotted all over with yellow centered white daisies.

Some of the prettiest caps are of toweling, both domestic and imported. Ratine is also used extensively. The loveliest bit of color ever seen on any beach appears in a coral colored fleecelined ratine cap. A white toweling cap is made with a deep yoke topped by a wide crushed collar of navy blue silk. A very frivolous touch is given by the addition of a little boutonniere of bright red flowers made of duvety.

Hats Show Upward Tilt to Brim.

A hat to be in vogue this season requires the lines to swing away from the face. The general tendency is toward three-cornered hats or turans. Smaller turned-back turbans are also shown and the larger hats show brims that roll backward all the way around. Hats are shown in various brilliant shades, such as jade, henna, the new tones of red, and vivid orange.

Stop the "Run."

If a "run" is discovered in a silk stocking at a time impossible to catch it with a needle and thread, a little soap slightly wet applied to the lower part will keep it from spreading until such a time as it is possible to mend.

Catarrh is a Real Enemy and Requires Vigorous Treatment

Do Not Neglect It. When you use sprays, atomizers and douches for your Catarrh, you may succeed in unstopping the choked-up air passages for the time being, but this annoying condition returns, and you have to do the same thing over and over again. Catarrh has never yet been cured by these local applications. Have you ever experienced any real benefit from such treatment?

Throw these makeshift remedies to the winds, and get on the right treatment: Get a bottle of S. S. S., and begin a treatment that has been praised by sufferers for half a century. S. S. S. gets right at the source of Catarrh, and forces from the blood the germs which cause the disease. Special medical advice regarding your own case free. AND HE NEVER CAME BACK! THAT BROUGHT HIM TO TIME

Pursuing Swimmer Had No Idea of Letting a Chance Like That Get Away From Him.

There were mutinous murmurs aboard a certain merchantman when word spread among the crew that the ship would not, after all, put in at Tahiti, but merely drop the mail over and go on. Tahiti, being French soil, is a little island of liquor in mid-Pacific, and the thirsty men aboard had been lying awake nights thinking of the drinks that lay ahead. The disappointment was too much for one seaman, who, uttering a plaintive cry, leaped into the sea and started to swim for the visible shore. The captain, much vexed and a little envious, ordered the best swimmer in the crew to go after him and bring him back before he reached land. An excited lookout kept all on deck posted on the progress of the race. "Ho! gaining! He's gaining! Two hundred yards—a hundred yards—fifty yards. In a dozen strokes he'll have him. Five more strokes! A yard to go. Great guns!" "What is it? What is it?" "Great guns, sir, he's passed him!" —American Legion Weekly.

Really Little He Could Do After Such a Declaration From His Adored One.

In the hush of the twilight they lingered by the gate. He was full of hope, but fearful to try his luck, while she—well, her fair face was lined and drawn with determination. Presently, after a silence long and deep, she began: "I will never—" Her eyes met his pleading orbs with an intensity of purpose which made his heart quail. "Wed any man?" His bronzed face paled and he felt as if he stood on the brink of a chasm of despair. Then, with a peltely cold smile on her curved lips, she continued: "Present company—" Again she paused and he waited in feverish anxiety for her next words. "Always accepted!" And soon the wedding bells will be ringing for him and his girl. Household Bills on His Mind. Wife—I wish you would put up the hammock, John. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J.
 Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system.

"An Appeal to Your Reason"

Carrizozo has about two thousand inhabitants, and less than three hundred of them attend any of the Churches. What is the trouble? Christ-ianity has not lost its beauty, nor the Gospel its power, but the people have lost interest. All of the non-attendance is traceable to the fascinations of the world. The people are pleasure-mad, spending life to no profit, neither to themselves or anyone else. Your soul will pay the expense bill some day.
 (Recall the Second Chapter of Second Peter). Do not fail to read this chapter. It will give you the exact condition of things. I appeal to your better nature. I plead with you to use your better judgment. There is little, if any, more serious subject for sober thinking.
 COME TO CHURCH. "Toto" fair. You are appreciated at the Baptist Church.
 Yours truly,
 Rev. L. S. SMITH.

Plea For Wooden Bridges

The timbered states of the west have every reason to encourage building more wooden bridges.

It is a well known fact that in many parts of the country wooden bridges have stood 50 to 100.

There are places where steel and concrete are proper materials, but nine-tenths of all bridges needed in any country can be built of wood.

Douglas fir and yellow pine will carry more than steel.

One western county has a bridge crew, buys all its lumber in carloads, and builds only wooden bridges.

The bridges are roofed and painted and outlast steel bridges, are built of home products and with home labor.

The time has come when western states that issue bonds for bridge construction should insist on using a western material and keep money at home.

Lost 65 Pounds in Weight and Had to Give Up Work. Has Been Well Since Using Doan's

"Being exposed to extreme heat when working as an engineer, and then going outdoors to cool off, caused my kidney trouble," says Karl Goering, 2613 N. Orkney St., Philadelphia, Pa. "In cold weather and when it was damp, my joints and muscles would swell and ache, and often my limbs were so badly affected it was only with great misery I was able to get around. For a week I was laid up in bed, hardly able to move hand or foot."

"Another trouble was from irregular and scanty passages of the kidney secretions. I became dull and weak and had to give up my work. Headaches and dizzy spells nearly blinded me and I went from 200 to 100 in weight. Nothing helped me and I felt I was doomed to suffer."

"At last I had the good fortune to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills and began taking them. I soon got back my strength and weight and all the rheumatic pains and other kidney troubles left. I have remained cured."

Air Mail Men Make Record

Planes Fly Total of 54,693 Miles in Month of May, Says Official Report.

EFFICIENCY IN OPERATION

New York-Washington Route Shows 88 Per Cent and Chicago-Omaha Route the Same—Newark Field Delays Two Routes.

Washington.—United States mail planes flew a total of 54,693 miles in May, according to the report made public by Second Assistant Postmaster General Praeger. The average of efficiency on the New York-Washington route was 88 per cent; Cleveland-Chicago, 78 per cent and Chicago-Omaha, 88 per cent.

Only two forced landings were made because of mechanical trouble in either planes or motors. Fifteen others were made because of shortage of gas or oil through combating head winds, four because of weather and seven because new pilots got off their courses.

How Efficiency is Based.

Efficiency in operation of postal airplanes is based on leaving the fields within 15 minutes of scheduled time, on maintaining a speed for 75 miles an hour for Curtiss R-4s and 90 miles for DH-4s and Martin bombers, on the absence or number of forced landings and on making flights without damage of any character to engine or plane in taking-off, landing, taxiing or flying. The rating by fields in May was as follows:

Field	Started on time	Completed on time	Without forced land.	Without damage to planes	Without delays to passengers
N. Y.-Wash.....75%	85%	82%	100%	100%	100%
N. Y.-Cleve.....81	80	88	88	88	88
Clev.-Chi.....77	83	71	88	88	88
Chi.-Omaha.....78	81	81	100	100	100

Reasons for the abandonment of the field at Newark by the department are indicated in a statement by Mr. Praeger addressed to "All Superintendents of the Air Mail Service," in which he says:

"The records indicate that if the field manager had performed the full share of their duties in getting the mail planes off within 15 minutes of the scheduled time of departure the efficiency rating for May for all divisions would have made a wonderful showing."

Fail to Start on Time.

"The general efficiency performance on the New York-Washington and New York-Cleveland routes was marred by this failure of the Newark field management. This field failed ten times to start its plane on time to Washington and ten times to start on time to Bellefonte."

Art Shows Part of United States in War

Pictures by American Painters Tell Story of Expeditionary Force's Activities.

GRIM REMINDER OF TRAGEDY

Among Scenes Depicted Are Ruined French Villages Made Sacred Forever to Americans Because of Lives Given to Save Them.

Washington.—The story of the American expeditionary force is told in pictures on the walls of the National museum here in a permanent exhibit just opened to the public. Drawn from life in paint, pen and ink or pencil by American artists commissioned and sent to the front for that purpose, the collection of nearly 500 studies detailing almost every phase of life in the army overseas is spread over the walls of half a dozen

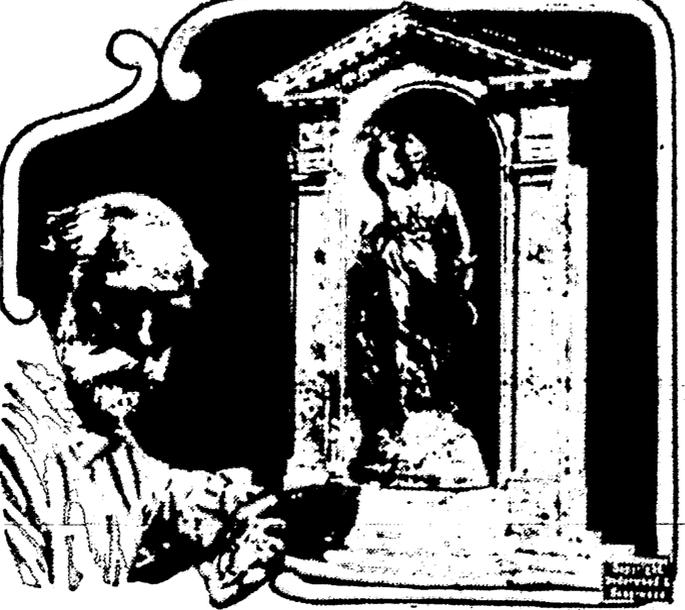

"This trouble exists to some degree on other fields. It can be eliminated or certainly greatly improved. If planes are promptly inspected, tested and served in the afternoon before the flight if the departure of the plane is scheduled early the following forenoon. Aside from this single serious delinquency, the pilots, mechanics and field supervisors have cause to feel proud of the record made during May."

Three-Months-Old Babies Matched to Play Tennis

Paris.—During a recent visit to Paris J. C. Parks, British representative in the Davis cup tournament, and A. H. Gobert, a great French tennis player, matched their three months' old infants to play lawn tennis 20 years from now.

A power-driven lawn mower has been made which weighs only 125 pounds.

"Liberty Brings Peace"

Mr. Henry K. Bush-Brown, a prominent District of Columbia sculptor of more than local reputation and former president of the Washington Arts club, beside his statue which he calls "Liberty Brings Peace."

great, well-lighted rooms. It is a tale of stirring action which they disclose.

Among the scenes depicted are ruined French villages made sacred forever to Americans because of American blood freely given to tear them from German hands. There are the homely, appealing scenes from behind the lines with happy-go-lucky youngsters of Pershing's division in billets mixing among the people of France, the very old and the very young people.

Here and there are grim reminders of the great tragedy in groups of huddled dead in wrecked enemy trenches over which the tide of victory had poured. Again, half glimpsed through a downpour of rain, a trudging, sodden infantry column is moving onward through a sea of mud as the artist saw it; or an endless line of weary gun teams drags forward the batteries to blast the road to triumph.

At one point the artist caught and held for his fellow countrymen the breathless tension of a forest outpost, peering through the leafy screen of his covert toward the enemy lines, his rifle hugged close, with fingers clinched over the trigger; at another a slash of light from a half-opened door has painted on the screen of night just a hint at a column, tramping on toward battle, just a young face or two in the line—wary, dirty, but with jaws grim set with purpose. Again it is a hospital that has gripped the artist's imagination, a twisted, writhing form under the tumbled blanket, with agony in every line and over it the steady-eyed surgeon or the merciful figure of an army nurse.

War Implements Displayed.

In rooms around the picture display are shown all the countless things with which the army and the navy dealt in the war; the guns, the bombs, the uniforms of ally and enemy alike, captured weapons and German war gear of many kinds. These form a striking setting for the epic tale the war artists have pictured, probably the only such record ever assembled, for it began with the army and runs on to the departure of the homeward transports at the close.

Artists who made the pictures, all of whom held the rank of captain in the American expeditionary force, include Wallace Morgan, Ernest Peixotto, Julius Andre Smith, Harry E. Townsend, Harvey Dunn, Walter J. Duncan, all of New York city; William J. Aylward, Fairport, N. Y., and George M. Harding, Wynnewood, Pa.

West More Chesty Than Eastern States

Washington.—In an effort to secure better fitting uniforms for American soldiers, more than 100,000 men in the army have had their measure taken, the war department announced. The measurements were said to form the most comprehensive survey ever made for tailoring purposes and will be made available to the clothing trade.

The survey has shown what proportion of sizes should be carried for troops, according to the war department, and will enable reduction in the stock of surplus clothing kept on hand to all requisitions.

Measurements showed that the biggest chested soldiers came from western states, while the smallest chested ones were from the eastern department.

An 8,000-Year-Old Beauty

Well Preserved Mummy of Egyptian Belle is Brought to Light by Archaeologists.

London.—A prehistoric girl 8,000 years old, whose hair and complexion are wonderfully preserved, and who was found in a sitting position with her chin resting in her hand, is one of the most recent discoveries research has brought to light in ancient Egypt, Prof. Flinders Petrie of University college, London, says.

Professor Petrie declared that efforts would be made to bring the mummy to England to add to the collection in the British museum.

"While we were trying to find a way into a queen's pyramid," he said, "we discovered on a rock face a door which was so beautiful and exactly fitted that it was difficult to see the joints. We immediately set to work on this, thinking that we had found at last an entrance to the inner chambers.

After a considerable amount of work we removed the door and found—solid rock! It was a carefully arranged blind to balk anyone who wanted to find the entrance into the royal tombs, and it had been made about 3,000 B. C. by someone with a sense of humor."

Must Wed to Get Wealth.

Valparaiso, Ind.—By the terms of the will of Edgar D. Crumpacker his son, Owen L. Crumpacker, a local attorney of this city, is to receive $500 additional, providing he marries. The younger Crumpacker also will receive a large law library which belonged to his father, who was for years representative in congress from the Tenth Indiana district. He left a large estate, of which a large part consists of land bordering along Lake Michigan, in close proximity to the steel mills of Gary. The local attorney is a bachelor.

Personal and Social Mention

T. E. Kelley and family accompanied by Mrs. Richardson, sister of Mrs. Kelley, of Clebourne, Texas, arrived Saturday from Alvarado, Texas, after a stay of four weeks among relatives. A portion of this time, Mr. Kelley spent in the East attending a convention of the Winchester Dealers after which he came to Alvarado to return with his family. Mr. Kelley is high in his praise of the manner in which the delegates were entertained at New Haven, where the convention was held. There were 2000 present and the Winchester people showed their guests every courtesy possible. Between sessions, the delegates were entertained with picnics, boat rides, motoring over the city and viewing the inner workings of the great Winchester plant. Mr. Kelley was honored by being elected on the Board of Governors, as representative to the National body for the State of New Mexico.

Mrs. Nora Massie and Mrs. George Benson and son Morris, returned the latter part of last week from the National Educational Convention at Salt Lake City, Utah. They spent about ten days in the "City of the Saints" where delegates from every city in the United States gathered in convention which was highly instructive from an educational point of view. They visited at Denver, Colorado Springs and other points along the route on their return trip and had a pleasant view of the Grand Canyon.

Masons Return

Local Masons, Messrs. Stimme, English, Campbell, Spence and Prude, have returned from Santa Fe, where they received the Scottish Rites degree in Masonry. Some returned earlier in the week on account of urgent business matters while others went on to Albuquerque to cross the "Hot Sands" in the Shrine. Many laughable features attended the Shriners' meet—Traffic cops, arrested and fined motorists who interfered with the parade; gaudily arrayed Indians in war paint danced on principal street corners making collections after each dance. One enthusiastic Shriner peddled as a jewelry peddler, selling tin jewelry with a sign on his back which read, "What We Say it is, is it?" All money collected in the different ways mentioned, was turned into the fund for the poor. Returning Masons feel doubly repaid for their recent experiences.

Herman Schwind, Floyd Norman and Glenn Nusbaum of El Paso motored up from their home town last week and spent the week-end with the Straley family near Ancho.

Mrs. H. W. Wilcox and sister Mrs. C. M. Woodenal of Goleconda, Ill., left Monday for Duran where they will spend several weeks with relatives.
