County Board Of Education

The County Board of Education met in regular session Monday with County School Superintendent Mrs. M. L. Blaney presiding and all members present. Transportation contracts were awarded to the following parties for transporting children to school in districts where this means of giving children the advantages of school attendance has been so badly needed: Fred Pfingsten, Los Choccos to Lincoln; L. C. Hulbert, Torres Ranch to Lincoln; Henry Fritz and Jose Trujillo, from former District No. 31, to Capitan.

The West End route will accommodate children from the Tucson school district, provided parents will see that children are ready at the main highway leading direct to Capitan school house. New furniture was ordered for the schools of Anebo, Escobedo, Lincoln and Tucson. Corona has purchased two large Buick trucks for the transportation of children in that district and with the one small truck purchased last year, they are well provided for seeing that the children are conveyed to school in the proper manner.

The following resolutions were passed by the board: Resolved: That inasmuch as the children in the schools of to-day will, within a short space of time, be called upon to be leaders in the community, county and state that we adopt the salary schedule submitted by the State Department of Education and secure the best instructors we can obtain for the schools of the county, thus giving the children the advantages of experienced and trained teachers. By paying teachers an adequate salary, we invite men and women of the best qualifications to enter the teaching profession and can insist on teachers preparing themselves for the work, thereby eliminating those who are unable to meet the high standard. The board was in session the major portion of the day, adjournment being taken at 4:30.

Raton N. M., Max Treasurer On Highway Association

Trinidad, Colo., Aug. 26.—A. Chase, of Clarendon, Texas, was elected president and Fort Worth, Texas, chosen for the next annual convention of the Colorado-Gulf Highway association at its convention here yesterday. Delegates from Colorado, New Mexico and Texas were present. Other new officers are: First vice president, G. H. Walker, Dalhart, Texas; second vice president, J. Burdette, Hillsboro, Texas; secretary, Ray R. McFarland, Clarendon, Texas; treasurer, A. R. Davis, Raton, N. M. The next convention will be in April 1921.

All Star Cast System Advocated

Marion, Ohio, Aug. 24.—A plea that the nation get away from "one-lead" activities so that each citizen can play his part in the development of American democracy, was made today by senator Harding in an address to a delegation of actors and actresses representing the Harding and Coolidge Theatrical league.

The senator also spoke for Americanism, and depreciated any tendency of Americans to regard themselves as "citizens of the world," adding that he personally was "not so universal."

Senator Harding declared the standards of the American stage should be the highest in the world. He also paid a tribute to the work of moving picture procedure, saying there was "no single avenue for the dissemination of information equal to that of the moving picture."

"I have been thinking lately," he continued, "that there is a great likeness between political life under popular government and many of our most successful productions on the stage."

"We have been drifting lately under one lead activities and I am sure the American people are going to welcome a change of the bill. For the supreme offering we need the all star cast, presenting America to all the world."

Unrecorded Mission of Spaniards Located

Nogales, Ariz., Aug. 25.—Records left by early Spanish padres recently led to the location by Frank Pinkley of the United States national park service of the ruins of an old Arizona mission which had never been officially recorded. The mission is at Calabasas, nine miles north of here, and it is thought, was founded in 1770.

Another mission, yet unrecorded, is in this district, Mr. Pinkley believes. The second mission, which bore the name San Luis Bacanos is located, it is believed, somewhere near the Mexican border. Pinkley is to make an extensive search for the ruins.

Governors Gather For Water Talk

Phoenix Ariz., Aug. 24.—Gov. Thomas E. Campbell, of Arizona, telegraphed from Denver today to the executive offices here that he was the first of the seven governors of western states embodied in the league of southwest governors to arrive for the conference opening tomorrow for discussion of reclamation projects, including irrigation and power proposed to be derived from the damming of the Colorado river. Following the conference, Gov. Campbell will go to Marion, Ohio, in response to an invitation from senator Harding to discuss matters of western interest.

Railroader Shot By 14-Year-Old Son At Instance Of Mother

Ogden, Utah, Aug. 25.—Jas. Clough, 47 years of age, Southern Pacific mechanic, was shot to death today by his son, Raymond Clough, 14 years of age, who stated at the instance of his mother, Ollie Clough, 40 years of age, according to the police who were informed that the woman apparently was demented.

After the son fired the first shot of the .38 calibre revolver into his father's breast, the mother stood back of the son and held his arm and told him to empty the gun, according to the police who issued a statement to the effect that both the assailant and the woman had confessed.

The boy, according to the police, said his mother had three times been committed to an insane asylum in Texas.

The Little Artist

Charlie Armstrong, artist, of whom we made mention last week, left on No. 3, Thursday after about five days of stay here, during which he fought bravely against the high altitude which he found greatly detrimental to his ailment caused by being overcome by gas in the late war. Mr. Armstrong was overcome by the deadly fumes and numbered among the dead, but on investigation they found him still alive. He was taken from the field to the hospital and after a long time he recovered to a certain degree, but his condition is so that high altitudes are anything but beneficial to him.

He has been confined to his room at the Carrizozo Eating House where the kind hearted Mrs. Gurney has ministered to his wants, making his pillow as easy as could be expected. On the advice of Dr. Shaver, Mr. Armstrong was conveyed to train No. 3 and taken to Alamo-gordo where the altitude is lower and it is to be hoped that his condition will rapidly improve. His paintings are on exhibition at the Lincoln State Bank and any who may see fit make a purchase will have the opportunity. His gameness in battling with the enemy of his peace and happiness has endeared him to the hearts of those whom he has met during his short stay with us; his gentlemanly demeanor, admirable characteristic blend perfectly with the touch of his brush. Our best wishes go with him.

Entertained At The Sager Home

Mrs. F. J. Sager and Mrs. Charles Spence entertained Thursday afternoon at the Sager home in honor of Mrs. John Gutnecht of Chicago, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ziegler.

Twenty guests responded to invitations and the afternoon hours from 3 to 6 were pleasantly spent in playing bridge. The first prize was awarded to Mrs. L. B. Crawford, Mrs. Gutnecht being the recipient of honor guest prize. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and punch were served.

Returned From Eastern Business Trips

Messrs. Albert Ziegler of the Ziegler Brothers' Store and O. W. Bamberger of the Carrizozo Trading Company have returned from Eastern purchasing trips where they bought goods for their fall and winter trade. These gentlemen have been looking over the Eastern markets for the past three weeks, taking their time to the task, watching for the best and latest designs and at the same time, buying at figures which will save their customers money. They prove by demonstration that these trips to Eastern markets are money saving ventures for the trade and the goods bought while the stock is full and complete brings better results in more ways than one; first, the stock is plentiful, selections are better, styles latest, which advantages coupled together, results in favor of the consumer, who reaps the benefit. The new styles will soon be on display in the windows.

'Unrest' Reason for Ordering Gunboat Out

Washington, Aug. 26.—Announcement today that the Gunboat Sacramento had been ordered to La Ceiba, Honduras, ready to protect American interests if necessary, revealed that officials here have been watching with growing concern revolutionary movements developing in several Central American countries.

While the situation in each republic is local, political unrest in Guatemala as well as Honduras is known to be viewed here as serious, interwoven as it seems to be in each country with the so-called unionist movement said to have had its origin in Mexico during the presidency of Carranza and which contemplated a federation of all Latin-American republics.

Mrs. Osborne Appointed Clerk in Duke City

Albuquerque, Aug. 26.—Mrs. Gail M. Osborne of Carrizozo took up her new duties at the court house today. Mrs. Osborne is to take the place of Miss Lucy Harris, deputy clerk of the district court, who will go to South America for six months.

Mrs. Osborne is well known in Carrizozo. Her many years of service as deputy county clerk of Lincoln County makes her a valuable successor to Miss Harris.

Careful, You Shooters

Some citizen perhaps shooting at mischievous sparrows and thinking of no harm, sent a misguided shot through a window in the furniture department of N. B. Taylor & Sons one day this week. The shot pierced the big window a few feet behind a pedestrian who happened to be coming that way. People should be careful in the use of fire arms inside the city limits, or serious results will be the end of it—People should be more careful.

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Hightower Wednesday August 25, a girl. Mother and daughter are doing nicely.

Carrizozo Ball Team Makes Good

We said last week that the boys would come back from Estancia with the "Bacon," but they also came back with the "chicken." What we mean by that is, the manner in which the Estancia people treated the boys and of which, too much can not be said. They received our base ball team with open arms, like wise did they extend their friendliness to the many Carrizozo fans who accompanied the team.

They treated the boys to a good old fashioned chicken dinner, the Estancia ladies adding their share of courtesy to the visitors by doing the serving. It was a fast game; Wilcox caught splendidly while Norman held the Estancia boys down to 4 hits. Both pitchers struck out 6 men. The fans enjoyed a good clean game and Carrizozo added one more victory to their record for this season. If we can entertain the Estancia people in a more royal manner than did us, we will have to "go some."

The Score—153456789 P. H. E.
Carrizozo - 100150000 515 1
Estancia - 000000000 0 4 2
Batteries: Carrizozo, Norman and Wilcox; Estancia, Milbourne and Paterson.
Umpires: Howell and Chapman.
Time of game: 1:45.

Thursday's Game

The Estancia boys arrived on time for Thursday's game which began at 2 o'clock, on account of some minor delays Nick Aldous did the twirling for the home team while Bennett Dingwall officiated behind the bat. Up to the 4th inning the score stood 1 to 0 in favor of the visitors but after that Carrizozo forged ahead winding up the game with the following result: 5 to 1.

Struck out: by Aldous 6, by Bratcher 6; Hits, off Aldous 6, off Bratcher, 8. Errors: Carrizozo 4, Estancia 4. Umpire, Gal-lacher.

INTO THE DEPTHS.

Synopsis.—Typical tramp in appearance, Daniel Randolph Fitzhugh, while crossing a Chicago street, causes the wreck of an auto, whose chauffeur disposes it trying to avoid running him down. In pity the occupant of the auto, a young girl, saves him from arrest and gives him a dollar, telling him to buy soap, and wash. His sense of shame is touched, and he improves his appearance. That night he meets Esther Strom, a Russian anarchist, who induces Fitzhugh to address a meeting. Fitzhugh visits Symington Ollis, prominent financier, and displaying a package which he says contains dynamite, demands $10,000. Ollis gives him a check. At the house he meets the girl who had given him the dollar, and learns she is Kathleen Ollis. She recognizes him. Ashamed, he tears up the check and escapes, but is arrested. Esther visits Fitzhugh in jail and makes arrangements for procuring legal advice. His trial is speedily completed and he is found insane and committed to an asylum, from which he easily makes his escape. Fitzhugh takes refuge in Chicago, with Esther, who has become infatuated with him. His one idea is to become rich and win Kathleen. In a fight with Nikolay, jealous admirer of Esther, Fitzhugh wounds him. Securing meagre employment he learns that Nikolay has been found dead in Esther's house, and in a letter to him she admits the killing, telling him she did it for his sake and that she has gone away. He sees Kathleen from a distance, and is strengthened in his determination to win her. Fitzhugh attracts the attention of Quinn, dealer in bogus stocks. Fitzhugh acts as a decoy for gullible investors. Staked by an employer in a poker game for high stakes he meets a wheat pit speculator, Harry Hunt, who believes him to be a New York man of wealth. With his secret winnings he joins Hunt in a wheat deal. Through Hunt's operations Fitzhugh nets nearly $50,000.

"So you see," he wound up, "there's nothing to it but a bull market. There'll be a big rebound just as sure as we're sitting here. Symington Ollis is my strongest point. As I said before, I'm nine-tenths certain he'll turn bull again, now he's walloped the man he went after, and you know what that means. He'll send what up like a balloon—his strong enough to do it. All we need do is to climb into the basket and participate in the grand ascension."

"As you have wisely pointed out, Hunt," began Fitzhugh, turning the fragile stem of his wine glass between his long fingers, "we had better step cautiously at first—sort of feel our way. There's never any telling what pitfalls may lurk below tranquil waters. Afterward, we'll wade in boldly. Merely as a starter, I'll give you my check tomorrow for twenty-five thousand. I'm not saying what I'll do after that."

As they were leaving the club, Fitzhugh turned to his companion and, as though suddenly reminded of some inconsequential thought that had occurred to him earlier in the day, said carelessly:

"Oh, by the way, Hunt, I'm thinking of opening a small banking account in Chicago. I wish you'd introduce me to your banker."

For once Hunt was mistaken. There was no boom in December wheat. True, there was a reaction, for when the bears removed the pressure the abnormally low market began gradually to assume a natural level. But winter wheat, which Hunt had expected to mount by leaps, dragged slowly, ascending, to be sure, yet rising little by little—an eighth or a quarter at a time. Once or twice, in some sudden flurry, it even went off half a point.

Hunt was very much puzzled. "There's a screw loose somewhere," he told Fitzhugh, after one of those unexplainable slumps; "but I can't figure out just where."

Of late, Fitzhugh had been studying indefatigably the hundred and more different conditions which, directly or indirectly, affect the Chicago wheat market. He devoted hours to this, when another man would have devoted minutes, and his brain, so keen, so quick to grasp every salient detail and appreciate its true value, enabled him to view the present situation with a far clearer vision than that of Hunt.

"I think I know where the wobbly place is," he replied, "and, unless I'm mistaken, it's going to shake the whole machine to pieces before long. Hunt won't have to draw out. If we don't, our little craft will be swamped, and she'll sink like a rock. For my part, I want to sell every bushel of wheat I own tomorrow morning."

They called a taxicab and repaired forthwith to Fitzhugh's wily leased apartment in a newly erected building in Lincoln parkway. It was for bachelors exclusively, this building, and if its smart elevators, smarter attendants and potted plants and costly appointments were any criterion, it was also exclusively for wealthy bachelors.

The Japanese servant served dinner, after which Fitzhugh and his guest sauntered to a front room, evidently intended for a library and study, and there ensconced themselves before a low bay window commanding a magnificent view of the lake. Hunt settled himself contentedly in a chair, whose soft cushions embraced him in a delicious manger, lazily emitted a stream of cigar smoke and allowed his gaze to wander about the beautiful room, replete with soft tones and colors.

Suddenly Fitzhugh stood up. "Let's get down to business, Hunt." He spoke very briskly and, crossing the room, took from the round safe embedded in the wall several packets of papers secured by thick elastic bands. These papers contained a mass of data covering the past seven weeks, consisting of crop reports, newspaper clippings and telegrams and cablegrams that had exhausted his ready money to the last cent. He walked to a heavy desk of solid mahogany, switched on the light that was a miniature of the gorgeous one on the table, and spread the papers on the flat top of the desk. And while Hunt sat opposite, following him with concentrated attention, he went over them point by point, dwelling fully on every detail, explaining clearly the reasons for his belief. So lucidly did he do this that a child might have followed him.

"My deductions are substantiated," he summed up, "by the fact that Ollis and his following are not buying the market as you supposed they would. What's more, they're not going to buy it. I've put myself in their place. Ollis and company will make their attack when the enemy is in its most vulnerable state, and that's just the condition the enemy's in now."

There was a conversational pause, while Hunt reperused some of the papers scattered about the desk.

"So you think we'd better unload?" he said finally, sitting back and motioning to Hunt to fill his champagne goblet.

"As though our lives depended on it."

Hunt watched the servant fill his glass, then lifted it and surveyed his host solemnly across the rim.

"So be it," he rumbled in a sepulchral voice. "The blame be upon your head if we lose."

Fitzhugh's prediction was bountifully fulfilled next day. December wheat went tumbling and crumbling.

Hunt, thanks to Fitzhugh, managed to squirm from under with a whole skin and a few thousand profit. Hurrying through the outer office of Burton & Burton, he spotted Fitzhugh and fell upon him with open arms, pressing into his hand a check for thirty thousand dollars.

"What had we better do now, Dan?"

"Sell December wheat. It's going to zero. This slump will keep up indefinitely."

"Right-o!" Hunt was fairly burning with excitement—the gambler's excitement, than which there is none more feverish.

"You may sell half a million for me. You'd better sell an equal amount yourself." Fitzhugh produced a slender check-book and started to fill out a check. Abruptly he paused, bit his lip, made as if to return his fountain-pen to his pocket. "I forgot something," he said slowly.

"What's wrong, Dan?" Hunt looked properly solicitous.

"My—draft. Should have been sent from New York day before yesterday. My brother has it, but he's suddenly fallen ill. Probably forgot all about it. That's all. I'm sorry, Hunt, but I can offer you nothing except my personal check, and that'll be only for a few thousands."

In a flash all of Hunt's reverence for wealth and his desire to tread to it were to the front. What an opportunity to be of service to this man of millions! He could have wished for nothing better. "Don't worry about that for a minute, Dan." He spoke with the utmost friendliness. "I'll attend to your margin for you. Five hundred thousand, I believe you said?"

"Yes," Fitzhugh readily filled out a check for twenty thousand dollars. "Take this, payee, Hunt." He tore the check from the book. "Just as an evidence of good faith," he laughed.

The courtier took the check in the same jocular spirit in which it was offered, scarcely glancing at its figure. After a little they parted, Hunt hastening to the private office of Burton, senior.

Fitzhugh went straight to his bank and deposited the thirty thousand dollars. Immediately afterwards he started back to the Board of Trade. When nearly there, however, he stopped, paused irresolute, then turned and walked slowly in another direction. For over an hour he roamed restlessly about the loop. He seemed infirm of purpose, aimless of destination.

Once, without exactly knowing why, he entered the post office and strolled absently about the dark corridors. He was leaving by the western entrance, when, happening to glance to his left, he saw on the glass over a doorway, "General Delivery."

He came to a dead halt. A hot blush of shame prickled him. He felt suddenly mean, contemptible. He entered the room and asked if there were any mail for Daniel Fitzhugh. The clerk handed him a half-dozen letters postmarked from a small town in Russia.

He opened and read them one by one, standing near the window. In all of them Esther breathed her love for him, yet there was a difference as the letters progressed. In the first two she wrote chiefly of him and secondly of the work she was doing for the Cause. The next one was solely about him and there was a more insistent note in her passionate declarations. In the third was a tone of despair, a hint of fond hopes fast slipping away; and the last two were filled with bitter reproaches, piteous pleadings—jealousy!

From a word she let drop in one of the earlier missives he divined she was in dire need of money. Even at that moment she might be suffering from lack of necessities.

He stuffed the letters in a coat-pocket, went to his bank and procured a bill of exchange to her order for a thousand dollars.

At one of the public desks he wrote on the back of a deposit-slip: "The goal is not yet in sight, but I'm running fast."

This he attached to the draft and sealed in an envelope, which he addressed and mailed to her while remorse was hot upon him.

From the post office he went to a hotel in Randolph street, asked for stationery and wrote the following:

Dear Hunt—
I have just received bad news. My brother is at the point of death. Must hurry to his bedside. May see you in a couple of weeks. Meanwhile, good luck!
Yours, F.

He directed this to Hunt's home address, took it to the district messenger office in the hotel and left orders for its delivery at nine o'clock.

Had anyone looked for Fitzhugh that night in his apartment, or in the theaters or hotel lobbies, or in any of the other places where he usually spent his evenings, it would have been in vain. He would not have been found.

But in a vile saloon in lower Clark street a tall, tramping-looking man with a pointed beard, attired in ragged habiliments and wearing low upon his brow an old slouch hat fully half a size too large, was carousing delightfully with the muddled dealers, leading them in maulish song, and inciting them to drunken risadry.

CHAPTER VIII.

Fitzhugh's debauch lasted two weeks. Then he sobered up and went home. Under cover of the somnolence that enveloped the apartment building at four o'clock in the morning he stole up the six flights of stairs to his rooms unobserved, and let himself in without awakening his valet. He removed his shabby apparel, his decrepit hat, sequestered them in a wardrobe and went to the bathroom. When he entered his bedroom, glowing from a brisk scrub and attired in silk pajamas, he looked a little tired. It was not, however, a physical tiredness. Fitzhugh felt, mentally, like a man who had taken a very arduous journey in search of gold only to find he had been chasing a rainbow. He climbed in between the snowy sheets of his bed and lay very still. His eyes were closed, but he was not asleep.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

By Mary Graham Bonner

THE HONORED CAT.

"I, me-ow, me-ow, me-ow," said Wopple the cat, "was interviewed after my trip. And would you like to know what that means?"

"I can see and feel that you would so I will tell you. When a person is interviewed it means that person is talked to and asked questions and that people write down what he or she has said because it is so important. And the opinions of famous people are so worth while."

"Well, now that is what is being done with Wopple, the cat, or rather I should say that was what was done. For now it is some time since I had my memorable trip and since folks wanted to hear about me."

"But I believe there are a number of boys and girls who haven't heard about me who would like to. And so I am telling my story to those who would like to hear it."

"I am not telling all that I told in my other interviews; in fact, this is more of a heart-to-heart talk."

"You know what that means? It means more of a talk where we tell secrets and that is the way I am willing to talk to the boys and girls."

"I will tell them what I said to the big people who came to interview me and I will tell you what really happened and then I will tell you a few of those little personal touches which mean so much."

"You know how I mean, boys and girls. People so like to hear the things about great people that are simple, things they might do themselves, such as use tooth brushes, or perhaps not quite so simple as that."

"Well, to get back to where I was, at the point of which I open my story."

"I was an honored cat. I still am an honored cat, for that honor can never be taken away from me."

"I was taken along in an airship as a mascot. Now that in itself is not so wonderful, as air ships are so numerous these days, but I was taken along in one which went right across the Atlantic ocean."

"Yes, Wopple, the cat, went along as mascot in one of the great big ships that made one of the great big wonderful flights across the great big Atlantic ocean."

"When I got back from my journey my picture was taken with my master"

Looked at Them.

and it was printed in many papers. They asked me what I thought of flying over the ocean in the air."

"I told them, but you can never be sure about these people getting things straight."

"I looked at them and blinked in a fine way so they would be able to say that Wopple's expression was calm and fine and noble."

"I thought that would sound well, and I thought that I would put a modest touch of humor into my account. That is, I wouldn't appear conceited, and if I made a joke they would see that I wasn't thinking of the glory that had come to me, but was merely the same, natural, sensible cat I had always been."

"So I looked at them and smiled, and I said,

"All, friends, an airship is different from garbage pails."

"I never knew why they forgot to say that about me when they wrote about me. They were too anxious to write about the trip I suppose."

"But I'll tell you, boys and girls, that while an airship is very different from a garbage pail it doesn't spoil one for the garbage pail in the future."

"There are some creatures who have a taste of luxury and cannot stand going back to their simple pleasures again."

"But not so with Wopple, the cat. Though I have called the great Atlantic, though I have seen many wonderful things, I'm still a regular cat, a cat who doesn't look down upon a garbage pail, no, no, indeed."

"That is where honor is due—where a creature can receive it and not become spoiled by it."

Puts I Will In You Easy to Get Strong

Everyone wants more pep and purity needs it this hot weather. Hot weather takes away the appetite and makes one feel listless, lifeless, miserable, even when you have a strong stomach, but for those who have weak stomachs, it is really a dangerous, trying time.

Be on the safe side, this kind of weather and help nature all you can, by taking an eatonic tablet about half an hour before you eat and one or two an hour after you eat; it will be of wonderful benefit. Eatonic simply takes up the excess acids, poisons and gases, and carries them right out of the body. With the cause of the trouble removed, of course you will feel fit and fine—full of pep all the time. Eatonic will cool feverish mouth and stomach and give you a good appetite, even in hot weather.

Get a big box at your druggist's for a trifling cost and let eatonic help you for a few days; then you will never be without it. Adr.

(By Surr. E. E. Cole)

Does an education pay? is a question sometimes asked by thoughtless people. Such a question is just as foolish as the following suggestive series: Does it pay an acorn to become an oak? Does it pay the chrysalis to become the butterfly? Does it pay to add power to the lens of the microscope or the telescope? Does it pay a rosebud to open its petals and fling out its beauty to the world?

The best advice that can be given to young people who are of school age is to stay in school and train for the future. Reports from all over the country indicate that an increasing number of boys and girls are leaving school for work; although the work usually offers no training and slight prospects of advancement and better pay. The young people are attracted by the unusually high wages. They fail to realize that the present wage standards are the result of an abnormal condition and that in a few years the untrained worker will have a minimum industrial value. Then, as never before in its history, the United States will need trained and intelligent men and women to grasp the opportunities of the future.

To those who say that an abundant supply of cheap juvenile labor is necessary to industry, we say: "Hands off the children; they are the nation's future." Many children have dropped out of school on the pretense that their labor is needed for the support of the family. The earnings of a child who goes to work will, in the long run, be a loss rather than a gain. Premature work means a sacrifice of education, of health, and, as a result, of future earning capacity.

The following is the list of teachers for the Carrizozo schools during the next year:

E. E. Cole, Ph. D., superintendent; Bryan Cazier, principal of high school, manual training; Fannie B. Fordon, M. Ed., commercial branches; Ellen B. Herron, B. Ed., English; Verda Neff, domestic science and Spanish; Mrs. E. A. Gumm, eighth grade, and principal of grades; Mrs. Beattie E. Corona Notes

Corona's dream is coming true. It has been the hope and plan of this place, (since the town was started) that the depot be placed on the North side of the track where the public would have better access to it. Early Monday morning the E. P. & S. W. carpenter gang started the good work. The old M. C. Porter ware house was made to serve as a temporary depot till the old one is moved and remodeled. The present plans are to enlarge the waiting room and office; also to have larger express room and freight house. This is a much needed improvement and will add to the looks of our fair city besides being much more convenient to the public in general. From present indications the new Depot will be ready for use in about a month.

The Corona Trading Company shipped a car of wool last week to Boston, Mass., and have a car of native beans to ship at an early date. This is just a fore-runner of the big business that we are going to have. From all reports we are to have some of the best crops that this country has seen for several years.

On Friday August 27, we are to have the best dance that has been seen in these parts for some time. Music is to be furnished by Furguson's "Joy Makers," from Carrizozo. We are safe to say that they are the best in Lincoln county, if not the whole state. "If you hate a good time STAY AWAY!"

Two car loads of brick and one of sand were received this week by the school board for the new gymnasium. Work has been started and from all indications the building will be finished before the snow flies.

The two disciples of Isaac Walton, Frank Staley and Bob Stevens, returned last week from a ten day outing in Northern New Mexico. They report lots of fish in those parts and a fine trip.

E. D. Gumm made a business trip to Carrizozo last week returning the same day. He was accompanied on his return by Mr. Homer Donaldson who spent the week-end with him.

A large crowd went up to Tucumcari last week to take in the Round-Up. All report a good time and plenty of good real Western amusement.

Miss Josephine Clements came up last week from Carrizozo to visit her sister Mrs. P. H. Kersey.

Who remembers who lost his dog at the dance last Saturday night?

Carl Woods made a business trip to Carrizozo last Wednesday.

Canada Whisky Sent To U. S. By Airplane

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Bootleggers are not only shooting whisky across from Canada in torpedoes, but they are sending it over in airplanes, according to word reaching Major A. V. Dalrymple, prohibition commissioner, today.

Capt. Joseph E. Taylor, an aviator of Indianapolis, called on the commissioner and told him, so Dalrymple says, that while flying above Indianapolis recently he encountered a queerly acting airplane. When the stranger landed, the captain followed. He told the captain he had 25 cases of Canadian whisky in his plane and that he made regular trips from Canada. Dalrymple said he would ask for an airplane agent to stop air smuggling.

Important Notice

There will be a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Fort to Fort Highway Association in Carrizozo, New Mexico, Monday, September 13, 1920. Members of this important committee will be present from the states of Kansas, Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico and a good attendance of representative people from this county is urged. The proposed highway is to be from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, to Fort Bliss, Texas, hence the name, Fort to Fort Highway. The last meeting of this important committee was held at Hutchinson, Kansas, to which C. A. Perkins was the representative, but nothing of much importance was settled on and no report was rendered.

However, this meeting will be held to bring matters that were under consideration at the Hutchinson meeting to a climax and plans and specifications will be produced for the building of the highway. The Highway has already been built for a portion of the way through Kansas and the balance of the route will depend in a large measure on what interest is taken in localities along the route proposed and how the money will be raised. The date should be remembered by all interested. The county commissioners will be present and a lively interest should be taken in the route, as it will, as proposed, follow the Rock Island Route through from Fort Leavenworth, coming directly through Carrizozo, which will be of inestimable value, not only to our town but to all of the county. This highway coupled with the Carrizozo-Socorro Highway will give us an advantage which we have long sought—Now is our chance.

Good Stock Report

From Corona

Mr. and Mrs. James Beever, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Pruitt and Mr. and Mrs. E. Beever of Corona were in Carrizozo last Sunday to attend the meeting of the American Legion which was to have been held at Lutz Hall on Sunday night and at which, testimonials were to be given of deceased soldiers and at which Rev. Johnson of the Episcopal Church was to have preached the sermon. In the meantime, the meeting was postponed but the Carrizozo papers had not reached Corona in time to advise the people of the postponement, hence the misunderstanding that caused the folks the inconvenience of making an extra trip. They will be present next Sunday to witness the services. Mr. Beever says that his farm and ranch land is in a flourishing condition; stock is fat and healthy, the range, on account of the good rainfall is in excellent condition. On his farm, everything from beans and corn to watermelons, canteloupes down to general garden vegetables are on the same level. These good reports from our neighboring places are truly encouraging.

LATE MARKET QUOTATIONS

Western Newspaper Union News Service. DENVER MARKETS. Cattle. Good fat steers, Texas stock with hard finish, sold at $12.75 for two loads and one load went at $12.25. Most of the pretty fair active steers were quoted around $11.50 to $12.25.

Cows sold at $8 for pretty good killers from northeastern Colorado with others at $6.50 to $7.25. The demand for good cows was fair but the commoner grades were rather slow to move.

Stockers were slow sale, and there was not much change in the condition of the trade. Supply was fair but only a few moved early. Beef Steers. Beef steers were quite plentiful here today and some pretty good quality stock included in the offering. Prices were generally around a quarter lower than at the close of last week.

Trade was a little slow to get started and bids were generally slightly lower. The market was fairly active after it got going, and prices called around a quarter lower than the close of last week. Some choice fat lambs sold at $11.50, which was top.

SPECIAL GRAND JURY SWORN IN

TWELVE PROMINENT BUSINESS MEN SELECTED TO INVESTIGATE MOB ACTIVITIES.

TO PROBE TRAM STRIKE

JUDGE SAYS JURY VERY REPRESENTATIVE BODY OF CITIZENS; CAN BE DEPENDED UPON.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Denver, Aug. 19.—The special grand jury called by Judge Clarence J. Morley to investigate the recent rioting in Denver has been completed. The twelve men accepted were sworn by George McLachlan, clerk of the West Side court, immediately, and following a preliminary address by District Attorney William E. Foley, were charged by Judge Morley.

Deliberations have already begun and witnesses for the state will be heard at grand jury headquarters in room 31 of the county court house daily until the investigation is completed by the body. The jurors have agreed to remain in session from 10 o'clock in the morning until noon, and from 2 until 5 p. m. daily, and also to hold night sessions when thought necessary.

District Attorney Foley and Judge Morley expressed themselves as being highly pleased with the men chosen. Mr. Foley referred to them as a "very representative body of citizens upon whom I can depend for thorough and impartial investigation."

In charging the jurors, Judge Morley said:

"You are instructed that malicious or wilful disturbing public peace, fights, affrays, assembling for the purpose of disturbing public peace or permitting an unlawful act, and refusing to disperse on command of a public officer, shouting, rioting, arson, attempt to commit arson, assault, assault and battery, burglary, carrying concealed weapons, maliciously or wilfully damaging or destroying property of another, malicious mischief, murder, refusing to join posse companies, resisting officers, threats on life or property and aiding, abetting, encouraging or instigating the commission thereof are violations of criminal laws.

"In these days of public strife, unrest and uncertainty, disrespect and disregard of the law and established government are far too general. Law and order must prevail at all costs, else constitutional government falls. The opportunity is yours to aid in the restoration of order, respect for obedience to the law by the faithful impartial and fearless performance of your duties as grand jurors."

Tennessee Ratifies Suffrage.

Nashville, Tenn.—The amendment extending equal suffrage to American women was ratified for inclusion in the federal constitution, the Tennessee House voting 60 to 46 to concur in the Senate resolution, adopted 23 to 4. The action made Tennessee the thirty-sixth state to approve the amendment which lacked only formal certification by Secretary of State Colby to complete its acceptance.

Steam Ships Want Mail Rates.

Washington.—Great Lakes, coastwise and Gulf carriers urged the shipping board to grant applications involving approximately sixty steamship lines for rate increases in conformity with advances allowed railroads by the Interstate Commerce Commission. A majority of the lines are now operating at deficits which threaten their existence. Examiner H. E. Mangum was told by witnesses.

Navy Gets Oil and Gasoline.

Washin. —Necessity for commandeering fuel oil and gasoline of the Pacific coast for naval uses is believed by Navy Department officials to have been removed through the signing of contracts by the department the past week providing for approximately 60 per cent of the oil supply and the entire gasoline supply needed.

Neagh No Agreement.

Cleveland.—The joint seals committee of operators and miners of the central competitive bituminous coal fields—comprising Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and western Pennsylvania—adjourned sine die without reaching any agreement, after having been in session five days.

Officer Killed in Tail Spin.

The population of Albuquerque in the 1920 census has been announced by the census bureau in Washington as 15,157. This is an increase of 4,137, or 37.5 per cent over 1910, when the population was 11,020. The percentage of increase was smaller than in the ten-year period from 1900 to 1910, which was 70.7. In the period from 1890 to 1900 the increase was 64.8 per cent.

According to reports coming from the town of Buchanan, N. Mex., the derrick of the National Exploration Company's well near there is completed and actual drilling will be started within a few days. Drilling on all the other wells of this company is progressing rapidly, and as soon as the Buchanan well is started it will be rushed to completion as early as possible.

As soon as the car shortage improves, the immense quantities of wheat now stored in the elevators of Curry county, N. Mex., will start on its long journey nearly half way around the world. According to Clovis elevator men, most of the wheat from that part of the state will be shipped from there to Galveston, where it will be loaded on the big transport that will take it to various European ports.

After about four months delay since the lost drill was recovered, the W. W. Cox Oil Company is about ready to renew work on the well at Las Cruces, N. Mex. Tracks are at work getting things ready for the crew, who are expected to be at work in a very few days. Previous to the arrival of the crew the company will have the casing loosened from its long grip on the sand, so that actual drilling can be started at once.

D. D. Branson, of Tucuman, N. Mex., met with a serious accident when a truck load of wheat turned over with him on the hill south of town. Mr. Branson and his family were en route to Tucuman from his ranch near Kirk, and upon reaching the hill he found a neighbor, Mr. Warren, stuck with a truck load of wheat near the top. Mr. Warren, being an inexperienced driver, was rather nervous about backing the truck down to get a new start, and Mr. Branson offered to do it. Attempting to put his foot on the brake Branson threw in the reverse clutch and before he could correct his mistake, the truck backed off the high embankment and turned over, placing him underneath.

WAS TO BE MORE YELLING YOUNGSTER MADE WORD GOOD

Safe to Say That Father's Prediction Turned Out to Be Absolutely Correct.

The sweetly peaceful scene in the little sitting room was suddenly disturbed by a loud yell, and the honored guest sprang wildly from the chair into which he had just sunk, while the daughter of the house felt her face grow pale.

She had had hopes from this visit. Alas, poor girl, were they to be blighted?

But father took the matter—and his small son—firmly in hand. With a graceful apology he removed the bent pin from the chair and the storesaid small boy from the room.

"Now, look here, Charles," he said sternly, in the back yard, "why did you do it?"

"It—It was an experiment, father!" faltered the lad.

"An experiment!" snorted father. "The only man who has visited your poor sister for years, and you go and drive him away!"

"Well, dad," explained the boy, "he advertises that he is a painless dentist, and I wanted to find out if it was true, and it wasn't. You should have heard him yell!"

"Yes," was the father's grim comment. "And some one else is going to hear you yell now!"

"He is certainly not a prohibitionist, is he?"

"Why, I never had occasion to ask him, dear."

"But how did you happen to meet him?"

Marshall, who is five, lives in a flat building. He is a real boy and although he has a rear yard and a sand pile in which to play, his mother has more or less trouble keeping him off the streets. A neighbor saw him across the street one morning and the next day called his attention to the fact that he was out of the zone mapped for him. He was one of the busy ones about a vegetable wagon. "Yes," he said, "I had to get some sings." The next morning he asked his mother for the market basket. He immediately disappeared and soon returned, accompanied by the vegetable man. In the basket were three pounds of potatoes, a box of berries and two cantaloupes. Mother had to settle whether she needed the goods or not. At any rate, Marshall made his word good with the neighbor that he had to get "some sings." When questioned by the same neighbor about his shopping expedition he said: "Yes, and mother spanked me, too."

Miracle of Ingenuity.

The air turbine of I. T. Nedland, a North Dakota Partisan, is less than one-twentieth of an inch in diameter and weighs only one-fifth of a grain Troy. It has eight parts, the casing being of gold and the motor of steel. The motor, which has six slots, has a diameter of 0.062 inch; the shaft, 0.007 inch. Mounted on a hollow pedestal the turbine is driven at a high rate of speed by a jet of compressed air entering at the bottom. This seems to be the finest of all motors, being smaller than the same maker's electric motor and steam engine, each of which is reputed to be the smallest machine of the kind in the world.

Constructive National Reforestation

A national reforestation policy, backed by the press and all our educational machinery, has become an indispensable necessity.

Our original forests covering 822 million acres containing 5,200 billion board feet of lumber, are over two-thirds culled, cut over or burned.

We have 137 million acres virgin forest, 112 million acres second growth, 133 million acres partially stocked, and 81 million forest lands of all sorts.

We are cutting 56 billion board feet annually. We are taking 26 billion cubic feet out of our forests annually and restoring only 6 billion feet annually.

Our annual wood bill is 40 billion feet of lumber, 87 million feet hewed railroad ties, 7 million cords paper pulp wood.

There must be reforestation on a national scale to supply the raw material of lumber production and paper manufacture unless we are to become forestless.

State and forest forestry departments, the sawmill and lumber manufacturing interests and private owners of forests and logged off lands must unite to save the day.

That Cox "Popularity."

(From the Kansas City Journal)

Not long ago The Journal gave some figures to show that as a "vote getter" and especially as an "Ohio-Sweeper" Governor Cox was never conspicuous. Additional statistics are given in a recent statement from Republican national headquarters emphasizing the points made clear by The Journal and making them even more conclusive by comparing Senator Harding's popularity in Ohio with the standing of Gov. Cox.

It is one of the curious political delusions of the campaign that many persons were deceived by the propaganda at the San Francisco convention to the effect that "Cox defeated Harding once and could do so again," by way of showing how enormously "popular" the governor was with the Buckeye voters. The fact is as could have been readily ascertained, that Harding and Cox never measured popularity for the same office until now, yet it is quite significant that the 1914 election, when Governor Cox was defeated for reelection by Frank B. Willis by 29,270, Warren G. Harding was elected United States senator by 102,373 a margin of 131,643 when that sort of comparison is made. It is still more significant that James M. Cox has never been elected to office in Ohio on purely national issues, and he has never been elected in a straightaway campaign. In each instance that Mr. Cox has won, it has been in an election where there has been a third ticket in the field; or a split party which eased his way into office. And finally, almost invariably, even when elected, he has run behind the rest of his ticket.

In the campaign of 1912, in which he was first elected governor he owed his election that year to the breach in the Republican party, due to the organization of the Progressives. There were three candidates in the field and the vote shown: Cox, 433,323; Brown, Republican, 272,600; Garford, Progressive, 217,903. Cox was elected by a plurality of 160,823, but the combined Progressive and Republican vote totaled 490,403, so that Cox became a minority governor by a margin of 51,080 votes.

In 1914, when Cox was defeated, despite the fact that there were three candidates in the field the vote was as follows: Frank B. Willis, Republican, was elected by a plurality of 29,270. Garford, the Progressive, polled 60,934, and the combined Republican and Progressive will show how far behind Cox would have been in a straightaway fight, Willis polling 623,074 votes, Cox 493,804 and Garford 69,904.

In the campaign of 1916 Wilson pulled Cox through on the slogan "He Kept Us Out of War." Cox polled 633,218 votes and Willis 601,692, Cox being elected by a plurality of 6,016, and his plurality ran 23,792 behind the head of his ticket.

In the campaign of 1918, Mr. Cox's last appearance before the people of Ohio, his plurality was 11,044. But for the defection of a block of Republican voters in Hamilton county (Cincinnati), naturally a Republican stronghold, by about 25,000, Willis, the Republican, would have defeated him. A purely local issue in Hamilton was responsible for the overturn.

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

OATS BEST CROP

Statistics Show Advantages Over Corn Growing.

On Comparatively Cheap Land in Western Canada Farmers Get Record Yields—Cost Per Acre Much Less Than Corn.

How much more does it cost to grow an acre of corn than to grow an acre of oats? To get a proper comparison it is necessary to take an illustration from a farm on which both crops are grown successfully. An example has just been brought to the writer's attention of the comparative cost of growing corn and oats on a Minnesota farm. It is furnished by Albert Immer, a well-known farmer in Cottonwood county, Minn., in an article which appeared in the Cottonwood Citizen.

Mr. Immer says: "I had a curiosity to know how much it would cost to raise an acre of oats and corn. To find out I kept account, during the year, of the time required and the cash expended to grow the above mentioned crops." His figures show that it cost him $21.49 to grow an acre of corn and $18.13 to grow an acre of oats, or a difference of $3.36 an acre in favor of oats.

Provided the respective crop yields are not altogether out of proportion to the cost of growing the crop, this seems to be a good argument in favor of growing oats. But to grow oats successfully it is not necessary to use $150 or $200 land. In western Canada some of the best oat-growing land in the world can be bought for about $20 an acre. On this land good yields and a high quality of grain is obtainable.

Fifty to sixty bushels to the acre in properly prepared land is a fair average yield for oats in western Canada in a normal season but yields of up to 100 bushels, and even more, to the acre have been frequent in good years. The quality of oats grown in western Canada is attested by the fact that at all the international exhibitions for many years past oats grown in western Canada have been awarded the leading prizes. There is on record oats grown in western Canada that have weighed as much as 45 pounds to the measured bushel, and the dominion grain inspector is authority for the statement that 85 per cent of the oats examined by him in western Canada weigh more than 42 pounds to the measured bushel. The standard weight for a bushel of oats is 34 pounds.

Samples of these oats weighing upward of 45 pounds to the bushel are on exhibition at the Canadian government information bureau, located in various cities in the United States.—Advertisement.

And Yet It Was Tough! A woman famous locally for her ducks sold one to Brown, her neighbor. But it proved particularly tough, and as Brown had paid a big price for the bird he called on the vender without delay.

"What do you mean by imposing such a duck upon me, one of your neighbors?" he inquired.

"Why, was there anything wrong with it?"

"Wrong! It wasn't good at all!"

"Well, it ought to have been," replied the dame. "It won the first prize at all the poultry shows for 11 years in succession!"

Heavy Traffic.

They seldom crowd the roads in northern Minnesota, but on our last tour, when we headed into a tamarack swamp and had to take our top off because of the low-hanging trees, we did feel a trifle uncertain about the route.

"Do many cars travel this road?" we asked some children who happened along.

"Oh, yes," came the proud reply: "lots of 'em. One came last year and one this year, an' now you're here, too!"

There is more Cataract in this section of

PACKAGES HELP TO SELL GOODS

Desirability of Packing Products
in Clean, Sound Containers
is Emphasized.

RECENT INSTANCE IS CITED

Farmer, Who Shipped Large Amount of Butter in Dark, Unattractive Barrels Suffers Loss of 8 Cents
a Pound on Shipment.

The desirability of packing farm products in clean, sound containers is again emphasized by the loss of $350
recently suffered by a producer in connection with a single shipment of butter, say specialists of the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture.

Used Dark-Colored Barrels.
This farmer shipped in barrels unpacked butter that scored 89 points.
Because of the dark gray color of the Better Because of Their More Attractive Appearance.

barrels, which suggested packing stock butter, the receiver was unable to interest buyers in the commodity. Realizing that he would be unable to sell it at all in that condition, he sorted and reworked the butter and then packed it in butter tubs. Although the butter had deteriorated in quality by this time, the appearance of the packages commanded the attention of buyers and the butter was promptly sold. The loss to the shipper was practically 8 cents a pound, or over $350 on the entire shipment—a loss that would have been avoided in the first place had the shipper packed the butter properly, and a loss that would have been greater had not the receiver done so.

The same principle applies to eggs,
beans, or any other commodity, say the bureau's experts. If the packages present an inviting appearance, the sale is half made; for good-looking packages suggest contents of high quality.

Another illustration.
Another illustration given by the bureau of markets is that of a country creamery that forwarded a five-tub sample shipment of butter to a commission firm and received an offer for future shipments. In the next shipment the creamery used second-hand tubs instead of bright, new, clean, attractive packages, such as were used in the five-tub sample. Although the butter shipped was uniform in quality and scored 92 points,
the commission firm was unable to dispose of it as "extras," and the shipper was compelled to take a loss of 2 cents a pound on the shipment.

WELL-SELECTED CORN SEED

Supply Should Be Set Aside at Time
Crop Is Being Harvested—Store
in Dry Place.

The corn for seed should be selected and saved when it is being husked.
Save no ears for seed which are not
of medium size, fair, rows straight, even and of the standard color and borne at least two on the stalk. Seed corn should be spread out in the granary or on the top floor of the barn
where it will keep dry.

FALL GREEN BEANS FAVORED

Superior Vegetable for Canning or Pickling—Red Valentine Is Always Tender.

Fall green beans are just the thing
for canning or pickling as the continued cool weather is less apt to cause them to spoil. The Red Valentine is a favorite variety for fall planting as they come quick, are always tender and stringless, and yield heavily.

PLAN TO MAKE YARD FOR POULTRY FLOCK

South Side of Building Is Favored by Experts.

Height of Fences Will Need to Be Regulated by the Variety of Fowls—Hexagonal Wire Netting Is Not Expensive.

If convenient, it is well to have double yards, for then one may rotate green crops. Small yards may be sown to oats, wheat, rye, rapeseed, etc., but if large yards are available they can be kept in a permanent sod of bluegrass, alfalfa, or clover. While the fowls are using one yard the green feed in the other is getting a fresh start.

If the yards are to be on only one side of the house, they should be on the south side in order that the fowls
may have the benefit of the first dry ground in early spring. It not infrequently happens that in localities where snow is abundant the ground on the south side is dry many days before that on the north side.

If the yards are to be in permanent sod and are to furnish green feed for the fowls, 70 to 80 square feet should be allowed for each bird. If part of the green feed is to be provided for otherwise, and the yards used mainly for exercise grounds, 35 to 40 square feet
for each bird will be sufficient, poultry specialists of the United States department of agriculture say.

Hexagonal wire netting, 2-inch mesh, is suitable for fencing and can be bought cheaply. Where several runs are adjoining, the fences may be boarded up at the bottom to a height of 2 to 2½ feet, or 1-inch mesh wire
can be used in place of these boards, to prevent the males fighting one another. Height of fences will need to be regulated by the variety of fowls.
The heaviest breeds, like the Brahmas,
may be restrained by a 4-foot fence,
while most of the other breeds can be kept in by a 6-foot fence. Some of the Hamburges and leghorns, however, need a 7 or 8 foot fence. By clipping the flight feathers on one wing they can be kept in without much trouble. Gates should be provided in order to permit access from one yard to the next.

Shade of some kind should be provided, and this can often be advantageously furnished by planting fruit trees (such as pear, plum, peach, cherry and apple) in the yard.

LOCATION OF FARM HOME

When planning to build a farm home, say specialists of the United States department of agriculture, select a location near good trees, so that their shade may be used and enjoyed by the family every day during the summer. It takes so long to grow good trees that existing ones should be cherished and utilized to the fullest extent.

Standard-Bred Male.

A standard-bred male at the head of a mongrel flock will improve the quality of the stock materially. A mongrel male will produce no improvement in quality.

Value of Apple Crop.

Apples ranked ninth in the list of farm crops in the United States in 1919. The total value was equal to that of rice, rye, buckwheat and flaxseed combined.

Hard to Get Beta Grapes.

Nurseries have not been able to get enough Beta grapes to fill their orders this year. People generally have done more planting than usual.

Thin Out Melon Vines.

Do not let too many melon vines grow in one hill. Thin, cultivate and fertilize for best results.

If your horse is really sick call a graduate veterinarian and let him prescribe appropriate treatment.

U. S. HOSPITAL AT CONSTANTINOPLE

Designed Eventually to Be Nucleus of Important Medical Center in Near East.

BALKAN WOMEN MAY TRAIN

Equipment of the Hospital, Which Will Have 100 Beds, Will Be Supplied by the American Red Cross.

Constantinople.—Americans in Constantinople have established a hospital which is designed eventually to be the nucleus of an important American medical center in the near East. Admiral Bristol, the American high commissioner, is chairman of the hospital's board of directors, which includes G. H. Ravndahl, the American commissioner and president of the American chamber of commerce; Maj.
G. Claffin Davis, director of the American Red Cross in the near East; Col.
James P. Coombs, director of the American committee for relief in the near East; Dr. Mary Mills Patrick, president of Constantinople College for Women; Dr. W. W. Peet, representing the various American missionary boards, and Mrs. Huntington, representing Robert college.

Red Cross Gives Beds.

Equipment for the hospital, which will have 100 beds, will be supplied by the American Red Cross. The personnel will be supplied by the American Red Cross and the American committee for relief in the near East, both of which have many doctors and nurses working in Turkey among war refugees of various nationalities.

Dr. A. R. Hoover, who has lived for many years in Turkey, will be director of the hospital and Dr. Elise Richards Graff, formerly physician to Vasterley unit of the American committee for relief in the near East, will be his assistant. Mrs. Anna E. Rothrock of Glenside, Pa., will be superintendent of nurses and her assistants will be Miss A. Estelle Sutton of Detroit, Miss Roberta K. Sharpe of New York and Miss Mary E. Coughlin of Acton Center, Mass.

Constantinople College for Women
will open a school for nurses in connection with the hospital, and within a year will open a woman's medical college to afford medical training for women of all nationalities and religions. The Rockefeller foundation has promised to send a board of inspection to Constantinople and the hospital board hopes to get the assistance of that organization in a general improvement of health and medical conditions in the near East.

Need is Urgent.

The need for a hospital for English-speaking patients is very urgent.
American firms are opening branches in Constantinople every week. This has become a great rendezvous for the

LIVES SIX DAYS IN GLASS CASE

British Scientist Makes Daring
Experiment in Interest of Aviation.

WAS HERMETICALLY SEALED

Question Involved Was Would It Be Possible to Calculate Quantity of Oxygen Necessary to Airman
at High Altitudes.

London.—Six days sealed up in a glass case is a daring experiment bearing on aviation which has just been carried out by a middle-aged British university professor, Joseph Barcroft, F. R. S., reader in physiology at Cambridge university. The question involved was whether it would be possible to calculate the quantity of oxygen necessary to an airman at high altitudes.

The case in which Mr. Barcroft was shut up for six days was specially erected in a quiet room in the physiological laboratory. It was about seven feet high and about ten feet broad.
The floor, walls and roof were made of glass, hermetically sealed and divided into two compartments—one fitted with a lounge chair and table
and the other with a simple bed.

Took Regular Exercise.

At the foot of the bed was a pedaling apparatus consisting of a frame of a bicycle, from which the front wheel
had been removed, and a small back wheel with a frame attached, to enable Mr. Barcroft to get some exercise and American navy. The Young Men's Christian association and Young Women's Christian association have large organizations, in addition to many relief and missionary bodies, which are constantly in need of hospital space

for their personnel.

Under the direction of the Constantinople unit of the American committee for relief in the near East, an open-air hospital for tuberculous children has also been established on the shore of the Bosphorus a few miles north of Constantinople. This hospital is under the direction of Dr.
Elise Richards Graff. It has 60 beds, and is designed as a model institution which the Americans hope to get the Turkish, Greek, Armenian and Jewish communities to duplicate.

The new American hospital has leased a large private residence in Stamboul, the Turkish section of Constantinople.

caused a certain amount of work to be done.

During his six days in this case
Mr. Barcroft spent his time in work relating to the experiments, in taking exercise on the bicycle and in sleeping. He was kept under observation day and night to insure his personal safety, college students and others taking their turn to keep watch.

Nitrogen was continually introduced into the chamber and the air became gradually rarer in oxygen until it approximated that at an altitude of 10, 000 feet, when Mr. Barcroft, who has had experience in mountaineering, experienced considerable inconvenience from sickness and sleeplessness, and also an indisposition to take any food.

At the close of the experiment some blood was taken from Mr. Barcroft's arm. The oxygen the blood contained was separated and it was found to agree with the expectations of the experiment.

Mr. Barcroft confesses to having felt rather shaken up after his release from the glass case but did not look much the worse for the experience.

The experiment is regarded here as thoroughly successful and a scientific report of it will be laid before the next meeting of the British association, where Mr. Barcroft will be president of the physiological section.

Camden Buys Whitman House.

Camden, N. J.—Walt Whitman's home here, in which he is said to have written many of his best poems, has been bought by the city of Camden for $4000. The house will be converted into a museum.

IOWA IS MADE A TARGET

Famous Battleship To Be Objective of Big Naval Guns.

Will Go to Sea Unmanned, Under Own
Steam and Controlled by Wireless for Unique Experiment.

Washington.—The once famous battleship Iowa, which played no small part in the destruction of Cervera's fleet at Santiago, is being prepared at the Philadelphia navy yard for what naval officers say will be one of the most unique target experiments ever attempted.

Proceeding unmanned, but under her own steam and controlled by radio,
probably from seaplanes, the old sea fighter will become the objective of the big guns of the Atlantic fleet super-dreadnaughts in Chesapeake bay late this summer. This will be the first time that American warships have used a moving craft for a target except in actual war.

Two of the Iowa's coal-burning boilers are being converted to burn oil so the ship may continue under way with no one aboard once its fires have been started burning and its engines placed in motion.

It is expected that the unique practice will give the gun pointers of the Atlantic fleet an opportunity to test their ability under conditions as nearly like those to be expected in battle as can be obtained. Smoke screens will be thrown around the Iowa during the runs and the course will be changed at will through the radio control system, necessitating a change in range on all the firing ships, exactly as would occur in action.

The Iowa has already been stripped of some of its guns and much valuable metal and the practice will be continued until the old vessel, a mass of twisted metal, sinks beneath the waves

to join the old Texas, which, as the San Marcos, was used as a stationary target years ago.

The battleship Ohio has been turned over to the bureau of steam engineering for purposes of experiment in radio control and a staff of expert technical officers has been placed on board to arrange the Iowa practice.

Edison Uses Telegraph Key First Time in 19 Years.

Orange, N. J.—Using a telegraph key for the first time in 19 years, Thomas A. Edison sent from here to a committee of the Old-Time Telegraphers and Illustrated association a message to be inscribed on an imperishable phonographic disc to be placed in the association's archives as a record of his style of "sending." The last time Mr. Edison used a telegraph instrument was in 1901.
