Fort to Fort Highway Meeting Well Attended

Minutes of the meeting of the Fort to Fort Highway Association, held in the Lincoln County Court House on Monday, September 13th, 1920:

Present, various citizens from Lincoln county and the following visitors: J. W. Corn, Tucumcari, N. M.; U. S. Devor, Tucumcari, N. M.; Oscar Sandusky, Tucumcari, N. M.; H. W. McGruder, Dalhart, Texas; Frank E. McDowell, Dalhart, Texas; C. H. Walker, Dalhart, Texas.

In the absence of J. B. French, secretary of the association from Lincoln county, Mr. E. M. Brickley of Carrizozo, introduced Mr. J. W. Corn, president of the Southwestern section of the association, who presided at the meeting.

Mr. J. W. Corn spoke briefly of the aims and purposes of the association, which are to induce the government to make the highway from Kansas City through Topeka, Hutchinson, Dalhart, Tucumcari, Carrizozo and Alamogordo to El Paso a military road. The chair then introduced Mr. H. W. McGruder of Dalhart, Texas, who addressed the meeting and stated briefly how people living along this road and adjacent to it would be benefitted by having this road and having it kept in good order. Mr. U. S. Devor of Tucumcari, N. M., followed Mr. McGruder and spoke briefly of the condition of the roads of eastern New Mexico and gave the history of the building of the road from Tucumcari to Montoya, in the building of which federal aid was received.

The chair then called on a representative from Lincoln county and Mr. F. W. Gurney reported on the condition of the road from Carrizozo to Tucumcari. Mr. Gurney stated that this is a good road in dry weather. He advised that the road from Carrizozo to Vaughn is in good condition, but that some repairs were needed from Vaughn to Santa Rosa. He stated that it was 52 miles from Carrizozo to Vaughn and one hundred eighty-seven miles from Carrizozo to Tucumcari. He also stated that it was one hundred forty-four miles from Carrizozo to El Paso, sixty miles from Carrizozo to Alamogordo. He reported the road fairly good, excepting from Oro Grande to Newman and this road being rather sandy and hard to travel in dry weather. There being stretches of sand for a distance of four or five miles at different places. Mr. Gurney's statements were supplemented by remarks from Mr. Ed R. Kelley also of Carrizozo.

The chair introduced Frank E. McDowell of Dalhart, Texas, who gave an interesting talk on the benefits to be derived from the promotion of this project.

It was the consensus of opinion of those present that in order to attain their object, it would be necessary to log and mark the road from Kansas City to El Paso and the visiting delegates desired an expression from the Lincoln county men as to whether they would join the association in hiring a man to log and mark the road, Lincoln county to pay her pro rata of the expense incurred thereby. The Lincoln county delegates went on record and unanimously agreed to share their part of all expense incurred in marking and logging the road. Mr. E. M. Brickley, acting as secretary for Lincoln county, in the absence of J. B. French, was instructed by the Lincoln county

On motion by F. E. Richard, Seconded by Ben Lujan, the Marshal is ordered to immediately notify the parties responsible for the digging of a pit on the rear of lot 32, block 20, of the Town of Carrizozo, to immediately fill said pit or cover the same substantially in order that the danger to the public be removed.

On motion by Ben Lujan, Seconded by S. L. Squier, the Streets, Alleys, and Sanitation Committee is ordered to make immediate preparations for street work to be done immediately after first rain falls in sufficient quantity to make such work practical.

On motion by F. E. Richard, Seconded by S. L. Squier, the Marshal is instructed to hire men, immediately, for the purpose of removing weeds along the main streets of the Town.

On motion of S. L. Squier, seconded by Ben Lujan, the Streets & Alleys Committee is instructed to negotiate with the E. P. & S. W. R. Co., for cinders, and is authorized to apply the cinders on a walk from the Street Corner in front of the M. E. Church to the main entrance to the School Grounds, and also such places in the street as require immediate attention. The Marshal is also instructed to assist in this work and to procure the necessary labor, wagons and teams, and to take charge of the work on the ground.

On motion of S. L. Squier, seconded by Ben Lujan, the salary of the Marshal is increased to $60.00 per month to recover regular expenses incidental to the duties of his office.

There being no further business, meeting is adjourned.

delegates to call a meeting of those interested in this project to convene some time in October for the purpose of organizing the county to aid in the above mentioned work. He was instructed to invite to this meeting delegates from Otero, Torrance, and Guadalupe counties and to invite the neighboring towns to participate. Also to send notice of the meeting to the visiting delegates.

The chair then called on Mr. John A. Haley, of The Carrizozo News, who gave a short and very sensible talk on organization for this work. He was followed by Mr. A. L. Burke, of The Carrizozo Outlook, whose remarks were listened to attentively by those present.
 J. W. Corn, Tucumcari, President.
 E. M. Brickley, Carrizozo, Secretary.

The City of Purple Dreams

by Edwin Baird

These were busy days for Fitzhugh, days filled with suspense and excitement and acute money fever. By the end of the year his entire capital was tied up in spring wheat, which was surching and plunging like a sinking ship; and every downward swoop drove his fortune upward. Though Fitzhugh's money was all on paper he was growing rich with galloping leaps, and already he was planning a deal to follow that might send his fortune soaring toward the million mark.

It was in the beginning of March, while the Metropolitan Opera company was playing a two weeks' engagement at the Auditorium, that he received (through Artie) at his club an invitation to a box party given by Mrs. Otis.

"Well, well, tell us how you managed it."

"I told her," sputtered Artie, choking with mirth, "I told her I had a frightfully aristocratic fellow putting up at my place who was all the talk of Lannon. Mondays and Wednesdays are her opera nights, don'tcher know, and she'd just been telling me that a chap who was to have rounded out her party tonight had failed her at the last moment, and then I mentioned this frightfully aristocratic fellow, and I saw her prick up her ears, and before I left she told me to bring him along. She doesn't know, don'tcher know, it's you, and she'll be dreadfully—"

"Her daughter will be there?"

"Oh, yes, indeed. She was in the room at the time. She'll be dreadfully surprised, too."

"No doubt, Sparkie, you've got the brain of a Napoleon. Going home? Then I'll take you out in my car."

They left the Union League club together and entered Fitzhugh's new $30 horse power automobile glistening at the curb.

The perennial favorite, "La Boheme" was sung that evening. In spite of Mrs. Otis (who had borne Artie's "surprise" with commendable composure, sending only one terrifying glance at that rash joker), Fitzhugh contrived to sit near Kathleen, and by the time "Rodolfo" and "Mimi" had chorused "Amore" he was subtly making love to her, saying little by word of mouth but speaking volumes with eye and mien.

It was near the end of act two, and he did not know whether "Mimi" was making merry with the Bohemians in the Quartier Latin or dying of starvation in "Rodolfo's" attic, and he did not know whether Mrs. Otis was watching him or discussing with the lady next her a corset display in Michigan avenue, that his hand found Kathleen's and smothered it in a burning pressure.

"I have loved you," murmured he, very close to her ear, "for three years. Today, in fact, is the anniversary—the second of March. Three years ago today I found this"—from under his cuff he slipped a dainty handkerchief of exquisite lace and dropped it in her lap. "I loved its owner then. I love her now. I have always loved her. I always shall love her. Everything I have I owe to her."

She picked up the bit of lace, bent her eyes on it. The warm color had crept from her cheeks, leaving them, if he could have seen, as white as her arms and shoulders—an exquisite, fine-grained white as pure and as beautiful as the petals of a milk-white rose.

The act was nearing its close. The ocean of melody had touched high tide. "I am waiting for my answer," he whispered.

She made no sign that she heard. "If there's any hope, if I've a ghost of a chance, smile when you look at me again. You needn't speak. Only smile."

Some friends of Mrs. Otis, making an entr'acte call, had peeped in her box to say "how do," and Mrs. Otis, dimpling and gracious and stout (and watching her daughter from the corner of one eye) stood gossiping with them a few moments in the corridor entrance.

As the lights came on Kathleen had leaned back in her chair, pressed her lovely shoulders against the cushions and breathed deeply. Now she very deliberately walked to the seat her mother had vacated, and, with her feet partly toward Fitzhugh, she engaged herself in airy conversation with Artie Sparkie and the third man of the party, a middle-aged bachelor named Chickering. Not once had she glanced Fitzhugh's way. Not once did she notice his existence.

There is one thing at which even the most determined of lovers will stop, and that thing is indifference. Indifference raises a wall there is no scaling.

"Fool! . . . Fool that I was ever to imagine she cared! . . . A girl like her—what idleness!"

He determined that when the act ended he would excuse himself on some pretext and rush into the streets, and walk and walk, as he had walked on this same night three years ago.

He did not look very far beyond that. Only he repeated to himself that for him everything was over. All his ambitions, all his dreams and aspirations had gone for naught. He thought of Esther.

But all at once he sat up very straight, and his deep-brooding melancholy slipped away from him. His sinewy fingers spread, then clenched quickly—his familiar battle sign. Was he, Daniel Randolph Fitzhugh, to be lashed into oblivion by a girl's indifference?

He was not aware act three had closed until the roar of hand-clapping apprised him of it. Automatically he joined in. As the lights came on he heard Artie's voice:

"I say, Miss Otis, won't you come for a stroll in the corridor? It's frightfully warm here."

"I really prefer staying here, thank you, Mr. Sparkie, but you go."

When he knew Artie had gone Fitzhugh walked over to say goodby.

But as he drew near she rose hurriedly and hastened toward the curtains at the rear of the box, leaving him with her mother, who, with her forehead to her eyes, was placidly and studiously ignoring him. Kathleen vanished into the corridor, and, turning, drew the curtains together so that her face and neck and shoulders were framed in the aperture. And for a long moment her soft pansy eyes gazed into his leaping black ones.

And the smile on her lips was heavenly. And the light in her eyes, afraid yet glad, spoke with an eloquent tongue.

Then the curtains fell together, and he was alone with Mrs. Otis.

CHAPTER X.

The following October Fitzhugh bought a seat on the Board of Trade. His Golden Goddess, Luck, over beamed upon him, and this, no less than his breadth of grasp on the market, and all its wealth of tentacles, swelled his fortune with tremendous booms. His speculations in May and July wheat had alone netted him two hundred thousand dollars. Winter wheat had increased his capital by two more similar notches. It was now well past seven hundred thousand dollars, and was rushing on toward the million mark.

All this within four years! Yet whenever he caught himself being awed by the magic he had wrought he would quell his rising ego by severe self-admonition: "Don't get too confident. Remember it's all gambling. Once your luck changes it will go as fast as it came—maybe faster. You're liable to lose the whole pile in one swoop."

Esther and the thought of her gave him bad moments. Directly she left the hospital she had come again to him, and he had been forced to the ignominy of lying to placate her. This angered him. Soon afterward she had gone to Paterson, N. J., where from time to time he heard from her. He tried repeatedly to give her money, but always unsuccessfully. She repulsed every effort he made. Her unspoken reproach, her silent refusal of his checks, for she returned them without a word, worried him more than anything else she could have done.

What Fitzhugh could not understand was Otis' unrelenting bitterness. He never planned a venture, never made a move, but some hidden hand was against it. He was not slow to discover whose hand it was. Nor was he long in discerning that its owner had nothing save enmity for him. Since Kathleen's return from abroad he had taken eager advantage of every opportunity to be with her. And here, too, he had encountered that same en-posing force. At first he never suspected Otis. He had thought Otis a man who disdained society as a frivolity only for women to amuse themselves with. He was soon to learn, however, that it is often those who jeer the loudest at smart society who secretly revere it most. Hypocritically a snob, the flinty old capitalist was as well versed in all those little tricks and artifices and petty subtleties of socially disparaging a person as the most sophisticated dowager.

Fitzhugh's perplexity became a torment. One evening (it was at a charity ball) he reminded Kathleen of the "La Boheme" evening one year before.

"I shouldn't bring it up," he ended, "only this is our anniversary, and anniversaries are always the time for recalling things."

She lowered her eyes to the cluster of violets on her corsage. They were his violets. He had long ago learned her passion for the flower and seldom the day passed but he showered her with them.

"You do care a little? Don't you—Kathleen?"

"I—you know I like you."

He said tensely: "I don't want you to like me."

"I'm sorry."

"I want you to love me. You know I love you. Can't you—don't you love me, Kathleen?"

The violin sobbed with its delicious melody. She began toying with the violets. Her fingers were unsteady. The violets fell to the floor.

"Don't you?" he insisted, as he recovered and returned them.

"Don't I what?"—plucking the flowers to her corsage.

"Love me."

Having finally arranged the bouquet and stilled her trembling fingers, she permitted her arms to rest beside her on the chair. Instantly she felt his hand close upon hers. The sobbing of the violin increased. It was some wild thing of Mozart's.

"Kathleen! Kathleen!"

She was overpoweringly conscious of his nearness. The flesh of his hand seemed to burn into hers. Every nerve in her body throbbled to its pressure. All the restraint of years of breeding and tradition, which thus far had held her back, were now snapping asunder; and she felt herself being swept on toward that which she feared yet longed to attain. She could no longer resist. She gave herself utterly to the half-frightened deliciousness of surrender.

"Ah . . . I love you . . . I do love you . . ."

They were snugly ensconced behind the shielding fabric. The violinist was in a poodle frenzy. The attention of all was held by him. Nobody saw them. The shadows of the March afternoon were thickening, and the room was in semi-darkness.

After a while he spoke, very softly. "So we are engaged," he said, and in spite of him his voice trembled.

"Yea," she murmured, unclosing her eyes. Still leaning against him, she asked wistfully: "And are you very, very happy?"

He held her close. "I never dreamed," said he, "that any man could be so divinely happy, least of all myself."

Presently she sat up, with a start, and removed his encircling arm.

"You must remember," she said hastily, "it is only between ourselves. We mustn't announce it yet."

He detected a strange note in her voice.

"I understand," he answered quietly. "You see, if I promise to marry you—"

"If you promise?"

"I mean when we announce our engagement. I shall have to oppose father and mother. I've never breathed a word to them, you know. When I found you had said nothing to mother that night I—I thought it best, all round, to wait a little while. So I've never spoken. But now . . . I shall have to fight for you. I shall have to defend you. You must help me all you can, and always remember if I seem severe or exacting it is because I care for you so."

"Once," he mused, looking down at her with the unutterable joy of possession, "you spoke rather strongly of my egotism. I think, sometimes, I have a right to be egotistical."

"Indeed, you have!" she exclaimed, purposely misunderstanding him. "Your success is the most wonderful thing in the world."

"I didn't mean exactly that," he smiled. "But go on: tell me I've accomplished wonders."

Simple Cure for Hiccoughs.

This is the method of treating obstinate hiccough that Dr. D. Francisco Vanegas employs. He describes it in the Revista de Medicina Cirugia Practica (Madrid). The patient lies down and draws up his knees until his thighs are pressed tightly to his abdomen, the lower part of the legs being pressed against the thighs by bending the knees. The position is held for several minutes. The effect of this is to press the abdominal organs up against the diaphragm and to sustain the pressure until the diaphragm ceases its spasmodic contractions.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

by Mary Graham Donner

THE CONCERT.

"The blue fairies were all over the tops of the hills," said Daddy, "and there were some fairies about, who were dressed in lovely purple, too. They changed their costumes from one color to another as they played which was done by the Fairy Queen waving her wand about."

"They wore pink and lavender and then rose and at last they wore yellow and the cloud fairies changed their costumes, too, as they were all being as gay as they could. At the top of the hill which was near where the cloud fairies and the mountain fairies were having such a good time there was a red house which was surrounded by trees and wild flowers and big hills rising behind it. And all about were the cloud fairies and the mountain fairies."

"A few sumach leaves were beginning to turn red, and surrounding a brook nearby there were daisies and buttercups which laughed and said: 'We are around here, too, though this isn't our time of year, but when the whole country is so beautiful we cannot help but be around, too, and see what is going on. So here we are around this brook where some of the red leaves on the vines which creep about show that it is almost the autumn, and some of the grass is brown and there are wild asters. It is different from the way it was when our brothers and sisters were here first this year.'

"And soon the brook will change again and there will be ice over it. How beautiful all the changes are."

"So," Daddy continued, "the flowers and the fairies and the leaves and all the things of the country talked and chatted."

"Soon they all were quiet for they began to hear the opening tune of the great concert. And then they all stopped and listened for upon this night all of the little creatures were going to sing, led by the Crickets' chorus.

"There was a steady sound of the singing and buzzing of the little creatures. There wasn't a moment of silence. Always if part of the chorus stopped for a moment the others took it up, so that there was a concert throughout the whole evening."

"They had been singing now on every evening, but on this night all of the singing was to be especially fine for every creature had been asked to sing their very best for the greatest of the great September concert."

"The leaves whistled and rustled and sang in their low voices and some of them blew little tunes as they whistled into the face of old Mr. Wind."

"And sometimes the apples dropped to the ground as though to beat time."

"The very big grasshopper with the yellow wings who looked like a butterfly when flying but like a grasshopper when still was making the sound he considered so fine—like an airplane. And he was buzzing and his wings were swishing!"

"The locusts with the long wings and little legs were rubbing their wings together and making music."

"All through the day the bugs had been talking. They had been saying that they lived in one part of the country which was really wild. It was away from any road and no automobiles could be heard from where they were. They had chatted all day long, and the birds had sung and there had been a constant noise of little wild creatures and no noise of trains or autos and only the voices of the farmer and his wife and of the children were the only voices heard. And the Woodchuck family had chuckled over the nice home they had."

"And this evening, you see, the greatest of all their great concerts was given, a concert of joy over the country where the voices of the little wild creatures could be heard rather than modern sounds such as automobile toots!"

WEALTH IN WEST

Canadian Farmers Confident of Record Grain Crop.

Boston Banker, Returning From Trip Through the Country, Tells of Rich Yields of Great Northwestern Wheat Fields.

A Boston banker, desiring to recuperate from a season of strenuous work, did what most bankers do, or should do, took a holiday, away from the confines of the city life. Canada was in his mind. He would make the trip, learn something of the country, breathe of its ozone and return exhilarated both in mind and body. On his return a few days ago, he told the reporter of the Wall Street Journal of the richness of the vast fields of golden grain that he saw on his trip through the Canadian West. Doubtless he broke his journey into the Canadian Rockies long enough to make an inspection of them. Who could help it, as from the car window were to be seen miles and miles of golden streaks, ranged row upon row away back to the lines of the horizon? He must have done so, for when he got back to the Hub, he was filled with enthusiasm over his trip and what he saw in Canada, and he had to get it off his mind. It was revealed in this way:

"Canada is getting strong, recovering by leaps and bounds from the depression caused by war. While unrest and lack of co-operation seem to be holding things back on this side of the border the Dominion to the north faces an era of unprecedented activity and prosperity. One of the basic reasons for this brilliant comeback is the rich yield of the great northwestern wheat fields."

That the crops in Canada, both east and west, are meeting the expectations of the farmers is a satisfying fact, which gives a positive assurance of a yield that will mean millions of dollars to the wealth of the country. There will probably be as much as two hundred million bushels of wheat to export, giving an added wealth to the country of nearly half a billion dollars. In all parts the crop yield promises to be abundant, and with favorable weather from now on there may be expected a harvest that will equal if not surpass that of 1915. It will doubtless be pleasing to the many readers of this paper to know that the friends they have developing their farms in this region of big crops and good prices will participate in this wealth, and what will be more pleasing, is the knowledge of the fact that the wealth in which they will participate comes from big prices for a product produced from land purchased at a cheap price.

Western Canada has never known a failure in crops. There are districts where partial failures have been, but consideration should be given to the fact that the country, that portion of it in which the present grain growing lies, is from seven to eight hundred miles in length by half that distance in breadth.

Because one speaks of the wonderful success of grain growing there, there should not be lost sight of the fact that this is only one item in the wealth-producing possibilities. There is cattle raising, with all the advantages in every way that it possesses anywhere; the dairying industry is assuming remarkable proportions, and a great deal of attention is given to the development of this industry, which is so adaptable to the country, by both federal and provincial governments.—Advertisement.

Judge Mechem and The State Ticket

In the selection of Judge Merritt C. Mechem to lead the Republican ticket for the State of New Mexico, the party could not have done better; it could not have done better for more reasons than one. First, because of the fact that the Judge has never been an active politician, he has no political enemies. Second, he was not at any time before the convention, a candidate and even after the great honor was bestowed upon him, his modesty led him into consultation with his many friends in both contending factions as to the advisability of selecting another to fill the important position.

If there ever was a convention held where the office sought the man, it was at the convention which just closed last week in Albuquerque. He preferred rather to pursue his labors as judge of the Seventeenth district, than to accept the highest honors a great political party had to give. Judge Mechem was always a great man, but his collection as standard bearer for his party without an effort on his part to obtain it, and hesitating as he did to accept the same, makes him a hundred fold more in the spotlight of greatness.

In view of these facts, he should, and will, be elected by one of the largest majorities ever given to a candidate in the history of New Mexico.

The gentlemen who were nominated with him on the State ticket, are of the very best of material. From the presidential electors on down the list to corporation commissioner, the ticket is remarkably strong. This was evidenced in the convention by the contests being more on the order of friendly contention or of emulation, as to who would be the best to serve for the interests of the people. Principally noticeable was the unanimous vote in favor of State Land Commissioner Nelson A. Field to succeed himself which conclusively showed how faithful his past service has been to the people of a great State.

Socorro county has been honored in Judge Mechem's nomination, the convention is to be commended on it's selection, and the people of New Mexico have the opportunity of electing a state ticket in which it may be justly proud.

Cox Diverting Public Mind

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14—That the Cox outcry against campaign contributions is merely an effort to forestall exposure of the campaign fund methods practised by his own machine in Ohio, is asserted by public men in his own state who cite the records in support of that view. Attention is called to the fact that "there is proof from the records of the Criminal Courts of Franklin county, Ohio, that a real conspiracy, operated right under the dome of the State Capitol where Cox was presiding, to collect funds to re-elect him Governor of the State"

"The Cox machine didn't merely request campaign funds," says this authority. "It violated the law by leaving assessments for the advancement of Cox's political fortunes on all the civil service employees in the State service. Half a dozen State officials and Democratic party leaders are indicted. William L. Finley, chairman of the Cox state executive committee, pleaded guilty and was punished, and the conspiracy was frustrated.

"There were thousands of employees on the state payroll at the time the conspiracy was hatched, which was in January, 1914. The plot involved a levy of three per cent on the annual pay of each of these, payable monthly, or an average of about $10 per month per victim. Launched in January, 1914, the immediate purpose of the fund was to pay the expense of a publicity bureau which was to be established in Cox's interest.

"The defenseless victims were ordered to make their contributions. Men and women, girls, boys, colored and white, democrats and republicans, from the chief clerks down to the janitors and scrubwomen—all were forced to pay. The collection system was extended to practically every department of the state government—Secretary of State, Public Utilities, Treasury, Superintendent of Banks, Adjutant General's Department, Tax Commissioner, were all completely organized, and plans were under way for the extension of the system to the remaining departments when discovery was made and the Grand Jury halted further progress.

"The evidence which was produced before the Grand Jury was convincing beyond all doubt. The mute proof of cancelled checks was added to the oral testimony adduced, and as a result State Chairman Finley Emery Latfner, State Superintendent of Banks, Merle A. Golder, his assistant, and A. V. Abernathy, secretary of Cox's State tax commission, were indicted. "A fight of two months and a half was waged by a squadron of skilled organization attorneys in behalf of the indicted officials. But every effort to have the indictments squashed was defeated, and finally Finley decided to plead guilty on one of the six indictments returned against him. The others were thereupon squashed, as were those against the other defendants, the object of the prosecution having been attained, Finley was let off with a fine."

The sincerity of the Cox outcry may be easily judged.

Carrizozo as Viewed From the Clouds

The Outlook is in receipt of a good collection of pictures of Carrizozo and surrounding country taken from the airplane that visited us a little over a week ago. The pictures were taken by Mr. James Roselle, at different altitudes from 3,500 to 6,000 feet above the city and are very distinct. "Jimmy" was perfectly at home in the plane and we are not at all surprised when we remember that he was a member of the historic Lafayette Escadrille which made good in the aerial service in the late war. In the views, the town resembles more a fairy settlement than the hustling, bustling western city that it is. Miss Irene Smith was Mr. Roselle's companion in the plane and wondered at the coolness of "Jimmy" as he took his time in arranging his camera while dives and slants were being performed. In one picture, the Malpais resembles a long stretch of black tape and the E. P. & S. W. track like a fine silver thread.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local reme-

TO ORGANIZE U. S. RESERVES

PLAN TO BACK REGULAR ARMY WITH TRAINED CITIZEN BODY.

HAAN OUTLINES PLANS

NEW POLICY ADOPTED BY WAR STAFF FOR AMERICAN FUTURE FORCES.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Detroit, Sept. 9.—Peacetime organization and training of the nation's organized reserves is an important element of the new military policy adopted by the general staff.

The regular army of approximately 200,000 officers and men will continue to be the first line of defense, he said, and the National Guard the second line.

Organization of the reserves will follow closely the geographical division of the United States, under the departmental plan. With the entire continental expanse of the country forming the "area of the United States army," an army corps will be formed in each of the new districts which has supplanted the old military departments.

This system of peace assignment and training will be followed, it was announced, with officers and men of the staff units as well as of the line.

Regular army: To garrison overseas possessions, coast defenses and other posts; to provide training personnel for National Guard and reserves.

National Guard: To provide in time of peace an adequate and effective force available in minor emergencies for employment by the states, or the United States; in time of war to provide "an adequate, balanced and effective component of the army of the United States for employment within the United States or elsewhere."

Organized Reserve: To provide an organized and balanced force which may be expanded into an adequate war component of the United States to meet an emergency requiring troops in excess of regulars and National Guard. "The organized reserve is distinctly a war force," according to officials of the department.

French Capture Armenian City. Constantinople.—Alntab, a city in Asia Minor, fifty-eight miles northeast of Aleppo, and the scene several months ago of a massacre of Armenians by Turks, has been taken by French troops. The city was held by two Turkish brigades.

Contracts Let for Big Guns.

Washington.—Award of additional contracts to complete the 16-inch gun program required for arming the six 43,000-ton dreadnoughts and six battle cruisers now under construction have been announced by the Navy Department. Contracts for six 16-inch guns each were awarded the Midvale Steel Company at $256,000 per gun, and the Bethlehem Steel Company at $257,500 per gun.

Military Rule Ends in Denver.

Denver.—Military rule in Denver is at an end, but 562 federal troops will remain indefinitely as aids to the civil authorities. That was the substance of an official proclamation issued and subsequent announcements made by Col. G. C. Ballo, commander of the 562 United States regulars who have been patrolling Denver streets and guarding tramway cars since Aug. 7.

Southwest News From All Over New Mexico and Arizona

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Farmers in Arizona in the Casa Grande district expect to make a half bale of long staple cotton to the acre. The majority of farmers and ranchers in that district are engaging extensively in raising cotton.

The Lordsburg hospital, that the contractors expect to be able to turn over to the building committee by Dec. 15, will be a credit to the city and county and an honor to the association that is making it possible.

The big farm bureau picnic held at Aztec was a success. About 2,500 people were in attendance. An orchestra furnished the music to the crowds. A ball game was played in the morning, but the afternoon game was called off in the fourth inning on account of rain.

Five deep test wells are now drilling in Roosevelt county, New Mexico. The Nu-Mex well, the farthest advanced, is located on exceptionally good structure, is looked forward to by experts as a possible big producer.

Fred Meyer was painfully hurt while driving a wagon at the salt lake east of Willard, New Mexico. In jumping off the wagon he lost his balance and fell under the wagon, which caused the team to start.

The Pueblo Canyon Red River Trail construction crew, near Taos, New Mexico, has completed the trail as far as Old Mike peak, the highest point on the route between Taos and Red river. The crew at present is working on the down grade toward Blue lake, where it is hoped that the trail will be completed this fall.

It is estimated that at least 10,000 visitors attended the big annual Tucumcari roundup and the success of the event transcended all expectations of the most optimistic. Bronco riding, steer roping, calf riding, bull-fogging, Roman racing, cowgirls racing, relay races and all the old stunts were on the program.

Two field engineering crews are now at work in the Paradise valley, parallel to the Salt river valley and separated from it by the Phoenix mountain range. Preparation of final plans and specifications for the big reclamation project, by which it is intended to bring 90,000 acres in Arizona under cultivation, is under way.

Government investigation of the practicability of the Little Colorado river reclamation project has been secured. It has been estimated that 30,000 to 70,000 acres could be irrigated by damming the Little Colorado a few miles west of Winslow, Ariz. The state owns about 15,000 acres that would come under the project, and department officials said.

The first road to be paved in Maricopa county under the $4,000,000 bond issue for the paving of 278 miles of county roads will be the Yuma road, it has been announced by the Maricopa county highway commission. The road will be paved for ten miles west of Phoenix. Federal aid funds will be matched for the first six and one-half miles for immediate work.

The last three of the ten big pumps to be installed by the Pero Refinery Company have arrived at Tucumcari, New Mexico, and the work of placing them is being rushed as rapidly as possible. The last shipment of pumps completes the refinery, so far as machinery requirements are concerned, but the plant cannot be entirely assembled and started to work until the necessary piping arrives.

The New Mexico Construction Company is making rapid progress with the paving of the streets at Gallup, New Mexico. On Aztec avenue, four blocks have been completed. Third street has been completed, from Aztec to Railroad avenue. Second street has been completed from Hill avenue to Coal. Coal avenue is completed from Third street to First street. The breaking of the ground on Railroad avenue has started and the entire work will be completed before the first of October.

James E. Saunders was shot and fatally wounded at Columbus, N. M., in the home of Mrs. Mary Henn, according to evidence given a coroner's jury, which released Mrs. Henn. Both were pioneers of Columbus. According to evidence given the jury, Saunders entered the Henn home and after passing through several rooms discovered Mrs. Henn in the bathroom. Mrs. Henn ordered him out, she said, and then, taking a pistol off the shelf, she shot Saunders in the neck and hand. Saunders staggered to the front door, where he fell dead.

"Cold in the Head"

In an acute attack of Nasal Catarrh. Those subject to frequent "colds in the head" will find that the use of HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will build up the system, cleanse the blood and render them less liable to colds.

A Feeling of Security

You naturally feel secure when you know that the medicine you are about to take is absolutely pure and contains no harmful or habit producing drugs.

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

Such a medicine is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, kidney, liver and bladder remedy. The same standard of purity, strength and excellence is maintained in every bottle of Swamp-Root.

A party of baymen gathered round the stove in a little oyster shack on the Great South bay started the old, old question of what they would do if they suddenly came into possession of $1,000,000.

It is not recommended for everything. It is nature's great helper in relieving and overcoming kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

The question finally came round to old Zeb Banks, noted as the no'er-dowell of the fishing neighborhood. "And now, Zeb, you've been keeping pretty quiet," one of them said.

A sworn statement of purity is with every bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. If you need a medicine, you should have the best. On sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

"Well, I don't know 'actly," responded Zeb reflectively as he spat at the stove. "I reckon I'd pay it on my debts, 's far as it went."—Saturday Evening Post.

J. L. Johnson, 60, a foreman in the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad shops at Marshalltown, Ia., and his wife, were burned to death when Mrs. Johnson by mistake poured gasoline into the kitchen stove to hurry a fire.

Gerald DeWitte, 10 years old, is a prisoner in the Stanislaus county jail at Modesto, Calif., charged with murder in connection with the shooting and death of Louis Cooper, Jr., an 11-year-old playmate, near Turlock, where both resided.

The climax of the police department's war against speeding and reckless driving was reached at Sioux City, Iowa, when Judge Sam Page sentenced James Wilson and A. C. Anderson to three days each in the county jail after they had been found guilty of speeding through the heavy traffic.

With his brother in the engine cab a witness to the accident, Jess Q. Sims, 42 years old, a drayman, was ground to pieces at Marshalltown, Ia., when struck by a Minneapolis & St. Louis train in the local yards. It is believed Sims intended to board the pilot of the locomotive in order to see his brother, Walter, who was fireman on the engine.

Oregon agricultural college officials announced an egg-laying record by a pullet on the ranch of G. B. Coon, located just outside the city limits of Portland. For 131 consecutive days this pullet has laid an egg, the college authorities say. The previous record is said to be an egg a day for 114 days. The chicken, a White Leghorn, has laid 207 eggs in 210 days.

Utah, forty-first state in population ten years ago, and the 1920 population of which was announced by the census bureau as 449,448, has shown the largest percentage of growth of any state thus far announced in the fourteenth census. Its rate of growth, 20.4 per cent, was almost as large as that for the decade ending with 1910, but its numerical increase was exceeded in that decade.

The hunters and trappers made away with 534 predatory animals in Utah in July, hunters report, after receiving official reports from the state. This figure only includes the known bagged game, the poisoned animals and those dying from gunshot wounds; those not found, of course, not being included. There were 3 bears, 35 wildcats, 216 coyotes, 67 badgers, 1 fox, 1 skunk, 216 porcupines.

WASHINGTON

Army recruiting again broke all peace-time records in August, according to a statement by Adjutant General Harris, showing 10,242 enlistments for the month. July enlistments were 15,821.

Gold imports continue to exceed exports, according to figures made public by the Federal Reserve Board for the ten days ended August 20th. Imports of $2,113,000 against exports of $1,760,000 were reported for the period. Silver imports aggregated $1,264,000, while exports of that metal continued to decline, the figure for the ten days being $426,755.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

HE GOT HIS ROUTES MIXED TO MEET THE EMERGENCY

Negro Soldier's Amusing Explanation as to How It Was He Got His Wound.

A medical corps officer chanced upon a negro acquaintance of civil life one day in France.

"How do you like the army, Moso?" he asked.

"S'all right so far, cap'n," replied the negro, "but Ah don't know how I'm goin' to like it when dem Germans shoots at me."

"Don't worry about that," replied the officer. "All you have to do is zig-zag." And he demonstrated.

The next time the two met, the negro was in a hospital.

"What's the matter with you, Moso?" asked the officer.

"I ain't sure, cap'n, but Ah think I must have been ziggin' 'bout de time Ah oughta been zaggin'."—American Legion Weekly.

Glum Prospect.

"I hope," said the newly-made widow, wiping away a tear, "that poor, dear Thomas won't be ranged with the goats instead of the sheep."

"Of course not," replied the consolatory friend. "Thomas was a truly good man."

"Yes," sighed the widow, "but he would keep butting in."

The Idea.

"Are you thinking of taking this fat?"

"I am room-inating about it."

Youngster Had Little Difficulty Making Up His Mind as to What He Would Do.

As the old lady strolled on the cliffs near a seaside town she came across a lad dressed in the well-known scouts' rig.

"What do they teach you in the scouts?" she asked him, with a beaming smile.

"To be manly citizens, and true to king and country," replied the lad promptly.

"And what are you going to be when you grow up, my little man?" went on his self-appointed examiner.

"A soldier, to fight for the king," was the patriotic reply.

"Very brave," applauded the old dame. "Now, suppose you saw the king's coach dashing along, with runaway horses, straight toward the edge of this cliff, what would you do?"

The youngster eyed her in disgust. Evidently she was one of those people who never imagine a boy has any sense. He determined to settle her once and for all, so he replied:

"I'd shut my eyes, and sing, 'God Save the King.'"—London Answers.

Corona Notes

At last much to the relief of the citizens of these parts the cold weather has let up to a small extent. A man can be comfortable here at noon with his coat on.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new Davis Confectionery and from all accounts they will be ready to serve the public in their new stand at an early date. We are glad to see an establishment of this kind for it is a much needed improvement to our little town.

Mrs. M. G. Porter and daughter left last Saturday for El Paso and Las Cruces, where they will spend the week end with Mr. Porter who is at Las Cruces at the present time.

F. Wilkins, who has been staying at the Rippo Reno for the last few months, left last Saturday for New Orleans for a visit with his folks. He intends to be gone for several months.

Dr. Stone, who has been attending the Republican Convention at Albuquerque the last week, returned last Saturday. "Doc" reports a good time, plenty of work and best of all a good candidate for governor. The trip was made in his car.

Miss Green, who has been visiting the Du Boises for the past week, left last Tuesday for Los Angeles, California.

Mrs. W. Dishman went to El Paso last week on a shopping trip.

The new depot is nearing completion and we will say that we are going to have one of the nicest depots along the line. It has been remodeled and made very much larger, also a coat of paint has been added. This is something that Corona has been looking for for some time and now we have it.

In addition to this, the stock yards are to be moved about half mile west of town.

Mrs. J. V. Gillespie left last Monday for El Paso where she will visit friends and relatives for the coming two weeks.

F. L. Moulton is down from Albuquerque attending to some business matters here.

Ed Kimmons was down from Santa Rosa last week helping Max Penix and Mr. Hershberger erect the semaphore pole in front of the new depot. He returned to Santa Rosa Monday.

Coast to Coast
Mail Service
Is Reduced 24 Hours.

San Francisco, Sept. 14.—The west was moved twenty-four hours nearer to east today when the first trans-continental mail plane landed here sixteen hours late. When the service settles down to schedule the planes will deliver mail on the two coasts two days sooner than trains do now.

Vying with the pony express and the first fast mail trains as a maker of national history, the plane swept over San Francisco bay, a few minutes after 2 o'clock, and at 2:25 came to rest on the Marine here, overlooking the golden gate.

The mail it bore was transferred to a waiting motor truck and rushed to the general post-office. Tonight some persons here read letters that started their westward trip last Wednesday morning at 6:41 a. m. from Mineola, N. Y.

E. E. Mouton, a Reno aviator, climbed out of the fuselage and shook hands with Charles W. Fay, postmaster here, smiling after a trip that had taken him but a few minutes more than two hours, though it occupies the greater part of a day when made by train.

While winging its way here from Mineola field, the plane passed two east-bound trans-continental mail planes which cleared from here yesterday and today. It brought seven sacks of mail, four destined for San Francisco, one for Washington and one for Oregon, and one for California points outside of this city. Among the throng which gathered at the Marine field to greet the airplane were Colonel John A. Gordon, in charge of airplane mail operation between San Francisco and Salt Lake City, representatives of the railway mail service and officials of the municipality.

Look at the roads for twenty miles around on a Sunday

THERE isn't any "country" any more. The automobile has brought the most remote settlement almost as close to the center of things as the next county was in the old days.

II

To hear some tire dealers talk you might think that nobody knew anything about tires except the fellow from Broadway.

That's not the basis we go on.

We give every man credit for knowing what he is spending his money on, whether he drives up here in his small car from ten miles out in the country or is passing through from the capital in his limousine.

III

That's one thing we like about U. S. Tires.

They make no distinction between the small car owner and the owner of the biggest car in the country.

It's all the same to them. So long as a man owns an automobile—large or small—he's entitled to the very best tire they can give him.

Quality has always been the outstanding feature of U. S. Tires. There's no limit on the U. S. guarantee. All U. S. Tires are guaranteed for the life of the tire.

We have given a lot of thought to this tire proposition. There is some advantage in being the representative of the oldest and largest rubber concern in the world.

Drop in the next time you're down this way and let us tell you some interesting facts about tires.

School Notes

(By Supt. E. E. Cole)

A large percentage of the pupils of Carrizozo entered the first week of school. This is a good sign. We hope the parents will do all in their power to keep them in. It means much better work on the part of the pupils. The supplies came to us the first week and you ought to have seen the delight of the pupils on their arrival.

The third grade is very cosily placed in the second story of the Humphrey building. The pupils are doing fine work and are very much delighted with their teacher, Miss Mamie Humphrey.

Several of the grades are already full and we have begun to put more seats into the rooms.

The High School was glad to welcome John Boyd back to the its midst. John is a Junior and is taking special interest in Chemistry as he did quite a bit of practical work in that science last year in the Army.

Misses Audrey and Juell Miller are being welcomed back to the High School. Last year they were in the El Paso High School.

Misses Vene McDonald, Vera Parks and Gwynne Climer are new to our High School and we hope they will find their work very pleasant and profitable.

The Commercial department is again proving very popular, under the supervision of Miss Fannie Fordon, and is attracting special students from the outside. Mrs. R. E. Lemon, Mrs. F. A. Miller, Miss Irene Smith have enrolled and some others will soon enter.

Two beautiful works of art, the present to the High School from the Graduating Class of last year, have been shipped from Carponi Bros., of Boston, and will be here soon, we hope.

The Camp Fire Girls have re-organized and have about twenty members. They met this week and chose Misses Herron and Fordon, of the High School, as Guardians. This is a very fine organization and we wish for it the greatest good and pleasure. Notice the law of the Camp Fire: Seek beauty, Give service, Pursue knowledge, Be trustworthy, Hold on to Health, Glorify work, Be happy. More about this splendid Club when they get into working order.

Lincoln County at last has a School Nurse. Mrs. E. A. Green holds this position and has been asked to make a statement as to her work: "Having just started my work as School Nurse of Lincoln County, I will give an outline of my duties. Every pupil of every school is to be examined separately and carefully as to the condition of the eyes, hearing, throat, nose, teeth, mouth, gums, and vaccination scar. Items on these points are kept on cards printed for the purpose and the cards are kept in the office of the nurse. Dr. Paden, the city physician, will examine the children after the nurse sends in her report. Dr. Shaver, the county physician, will examine the other children outside of the county.

Nearly all the grades have had their teeth examined; a grade at a time was taken and the children were shown how to brush their teeth in the proper way. The children were taken outside of the building for this purpose. The teeth of most of the children were found to be in very good condition and the mothers should be proud of that fact.

The handkerchief-drill, showing how to use the handkerchief, was met with great success, the children responding finely.

Professor Cole and the teachers are fine; they have taken me right in with them—all working to make Carrizozo school a 100 per cent school for Standard Health." Mrs. E. A. Green, Registered Nurse.

Mrs. E. A. Gumm has received the degree Bachelor of Pedagogy from the Normal School at Silver City. Congratulations to Mrs. Gumm. Mrs. Gumm is the Principal of the Grades in the Carrizozo schools. This is a wise movement on the part of the School Board, and Mrs. Gumm can render valuable service in that capacity.

County School Supt. Mrs. M. L. Blaney visited Escondido Monday and found the new school-house about completed, and the children enjoying their new home. Mrs. Blaney was accompanied by Miss Thelma Allen, who will teach in the school for the coming term.

New York Plans Gigantic Improvement on the Hudson River Water Front

TAKE TEN YEARS TO BUILD

New System Is to Consist of Wide Piers, Slips and Marginal Streets, With Warehouses and Tracks Where Available in Rear.

New York.—The greatest water front improvement here in 50 years, involving the removal of 32 antiquated piers along the Hudson river and the erection in their stead of 18 new and vastly larger piers of latest design has been planned by Murray Hulbert, commissioner of docks, and approved by the sinking fund commission.

The improvement will cost $50,000,000, and will require ten years to complete. Work is expected to be started next spring.

This, with the proposed vehicular tunnel to New Jersey, is expected to solve New York's West side dock problem. The new water front system is to consist of wide piers, slips and marginal streets, with warehouses and tracks where available in the rear.

Will Pay Out in Four Years.

"The cost of construction is expected to pay for itself within four years' time," said Deputy Dock Commissioner Michael Cosgrove. "A permanent sea wall has been built along the entire stretch, no rock will be encountered to a depth of 40 feet, and most of the real estate is owned by the city.

"These new piers will increase the pier-storage area 50 per cent if they are made only one story," continued Mr. Cosgrove. "But because of the high value of this water front it will be uneconomical to stop even at two stories. They will have the most modern appliances for rapid handling of freight, including electric cranes, helpers and hoists of all kinds.

"The present lower North river water front is just what it was in 1871. Its slips are so narrow there is not room in them at once for two big steamships. To afford relief the war department has three times permitted the pier boundaries to extend further outwards. The more these narrow piers were brought out, the worse the slips became, because boats have been continually growing bigger."

La Guardia Lauds Project.
"The new plan," said President F. H. La Guardia of the board of aldermen, "means that New York is going to have 18 piers from 650 to 1,025 feet in length, in place of the 33 dilapidated structures which are a disgrace to the city. Between each pier there will be a maximum dockage space of 300 feet and a minimum of 275 feet. Two of the new piers will be 100 feet wide, seven 150 feet and nine 125 feet."

Along New York's water front the dock commission already has under way other projects under contract amounting to $20,000,000.

DAN DALY QUILTS MARINES

Famous War Hero Who Won Two Medals Will Go Into Business.

New York.—First Sergt. Dan Daly, undoubtedly the best known man in all the services with the exception of Sergt. York of Argonne fame, has been placed on the inactive list of the Marine Corps reserve.

Daly won two medals of honor for valor in the Boxer rebellion and in the capture of Fort Riviere in Haiti, and is said to be the only man in all the services who holds two medals of honor.

In the world war his feats of exceptional bravery won for him the medaille militaire and the croix de guerre from France, and the distinguished service cross from Gen. Pershing. His passing from the active list to go into business removes from the marines their most picturesque of the old school soldiers.

DIG UP RUM 100 YEARS OLD

Workmen Demolishing Graves in New York Make Very Interesting Find.

Rochester, N. Y.—Interest among the workmen engaged in removing bodies from the ancient Putney street cemetery, in Geneva, was greatly enhanced when a grave was encountered that apparently resisted penetration.

After much hard work the men disclosed what proved to be a large stone jug of peculiar shape. It was securely sealed, but after it had been carefully cleaned of the accumulation of more than 100 years the following words were revealed on its side: "New Bedford Rum, 1769." The wording had been blown into the stone by the potter.

About two gallons of fluid were found in the jug, which may have originally held tea gallons.

Killed Rattlesnake Family.

Poncapog, Mass.—A family of 13 small rattlers and their mother was slain by a visitor to the Blue Hills reservation near here. The mother snake fought for her young to the last. After she was killed it was an easy matter to dispose of the little ones.

public functionaries have perpetrated in the past three or four years. The condemning of the profiteer, "moved by a greed for profit which is out of all proportion to the real value of the goods he sells," and the imperial wish that his "fixed prices should be respected throughout the empire," have a familiar ring which makes glad the hearts of historians who want to make history popular.

But relief, comfort and joy do stop there. For it is enough to read a little further to discover that the good emperor's laws and curses against newly rich and profiteers were as useless 16 centuries ago as they are today. And, in despair, the good old Roman tyrant implores his "honest and patriotic subjects" to resort to the one and only remedy, boycott of high-priced goods.

With this ruler's history fresh in their minds, the modern citizens of ancient Rome are now being informed that the following goods are to go up:

Aluminum goods, 500 per cent; nickel, copper goods and utensils, 500 per cent; goods for household use, such as knives, forks and spoons, 500 per cent; iron goods of all kinds, 600 per cent; locks and bolts, 700 per cent; earthenware and china, from 400 to 600 per cent. All these increases are on present prices, which are from 300 to 1,000 per cent above pre-war prices.

DEFIED THEIR MIGHTY RULER

Diocletian's Edicts Have Familiar Ring—His Edicts and Curses Doing No Good, He Advised Resort to Boycott.

Rome.—Let those who can draw comfort from the fact know that H. C. L. is no newer than many other plagues which poor humanity suffers from. In fact, the citizens of Rome, now tormented with further leaps and bounds in prices, are trying to console themselves with the discovery, made by those who read ancient books, that this city was bothered with the profiteer 1,600 years ago.

Ruler Fixed Prices.

In the reign of Diocletian, who flourished in 300 A. D., the emperor was so disturbed by his subjects, who suffered from the H. C. L., that he fixed the prices of foodstuffs and drew a schedule for workmen's wages. To read his proclamation is to read the many long-winded documents which food controllers, mayors and other

Head of Orphan Home in Iowa Is Killed in the Presence of Children.

Muscataine, Ia.—While trying to adjust a halter on a young bull Rev. Julius Doden, acting superintendent of the German Lutheran Orphans' home, south of this city, was fatally gored.

He died 15 minutes after the accident, which was witnessed by a score of children and employees, who were powerless to give aid.

Rev. Mr. Doden was for 27 years pastor of the Lutheran church at Wilton, prior to which he was teacher in the Muscatine parochial school.

Pittsburgh.—After a courtship and proposal conducted solely by wireless telegraphy, Burton P. Williams and Miss Marian Carson of Springdale, Pa., were married at Pittsburgh. Mr. and Mrs. Williams both hold operators' licenses listed as first class by the federal government.

YANK DREGS IN PARIS

Drifters of American Army Stay in the Gay City.

Former American Soldiers Soon Drop into the Foulness and Darkness of the Parisian Apache Life.

Paris.—Two thousand former American soldiers are adrift in Paris. Most of them are utterly jobless, while a few work just enough to keep them in food and clothes. The majority gain their living by questionable means, following the races, touting dance halls and worse places, while a large number are living in absolute degradation in the Apache quarters of Paris, as thieves, accomplices of feminine crooks and in other criminal pursuits.

Officers of the Paris post of the American Legion declare nothing less than a regiment of military police can clean this situation up. The French police appear to be powerless before the superior vigor and initiative of the former Yank soldiers. The Paris post of the Legion, numbering only about 900, can do nothing against them. The situation grows worse from day to day.

These men, left-overs, are part of the tragedy of the war—the lotus-eating sediment of the American army. Some of them stayed when the American army went home. Others went back to the states but drifted again to Paris.

During the war most of the A. E. F. got a taste of Paris, the uniform being an introduction to any circle. The highest paid army in Europe, the Yanks had everything their own way. Now things have changed and the former heroes have sunk to the lowest depths of degradation. Men are constantly drifting back to Paris where they still find some looseness and the same license, but the life they knew before has passed and they soon drop into the darkness of a life of crime until the prison doors open for them.

FOREST LONG UNDER WATER

Submerged Petrified Trees That Must Be Centuries Old Removed as Menace to Navigation.

When the government ship canal that connects Puget sound with Lake Washington was opened, the waters of the lake were lowered 12 feet. While wire-dragging the lake, says a contributor, the United States coast and geodetic survey discovered a submarine forest. The tops of the submerged trees were so close to the surface that they were a menace to navigation. Under-water logging operations to clear the lake were therefore started.

It is thought that the forest is prehistoric, a remnant of one that grew in the Lake Washington area in the days when it was dry land; or that great landslides in remote ages carried the trees into the lake.

The trees were without branches and stood vertical, or nearly so; they were semipetrified. The longest trunk removed was 121 feet 6 inches. The top, 10 inches thick, rose to within 4 feet of the surface of the lake. The butt was 5 feet 6 inches in diameter, and the roots, firmly embedded in the bottom of the lake, had a 20-foot spread. It was found 1,500 feet from the shore.

Off the south end of Mercer Island, in Lake Washington, nearly a hundred trees were destroyed. The cleanup gave a count of more than a hundred trunks during the first three months of 1920, off Manitou point. The largest trunk in that area stood in 121 feet of water, 110 feet from shore. The tree was 111 feet long, with a 5-inch top and a 3-foot butt.

Wherever possible, the trees were pulled out by the roots. Fastenings were made to the trunks by dragging the bight of a cable through the water at the required depth. When the bight touched the trunk, one end of the cable was passed through an eye at the other end, and the loop formed was run down to the trees. When the trees were hauled up, they were cut into 4-foot sections and thrown back into the lake. Since they were water-logged, they immediately sank.

Sometimes a trunk was caught that could not be uprooted. Such trees were blasted off at the top until vessels could pass safely above them. An idea of the extent of the submerged forest and the difficulty of removing the towering ancient trees may be determined by the time—three years and six months—that it has taken the engineering corps, working steadily, to make the lake safe for navigation.—Youth's Companion.

Wanted an Audience.

During my vacation I started in a canoe one afternoon on a four-mile trip across the lake. There had been a hard storm the night before, and the lake was quite rough. The wind carried me out of my course, the canoe dipped water with every roller, and I was soaked and terrified. When I reached the opposite side I decided that I would never go back until something more substantial should come along and pick me up.

An hour later one of the finest speed boats on the lake docked at the wharf. I boldly asked the pilot to take me back to the hotel. On the return trip I entertained him with a gay line of chatter, and as we came near the hotel I noticed that there were very few guests out, and asked him if he would mind going on a little further, coming back when there was more of an audience to appreciate my impressive home coming. When I finally did get out of his boat I offered him the 40 cents, which is the usual fee for hired boat service on the lake. The most embarrassing moment of my life came when the guests excitedly informed me that I had been riding with one of the most important and dignified political figures of the day, who had a summer estate nearby.—Exchange.

Trees of Mysterious Origin.

In the right transept of the parish church of Miss, Herefordshire, England, are two sturdy young elms, which rise from the ground at the base of the wall, says London Tit-Bits. The story goes that they spring from the grave of the "Man of Ross," a local celebrity of the eighteenth century, who did much to beautify the town and neighborhood with trees and shrubs. The appearance of trees on his grave was regarded as so appropriate that they were allowed to grow. It is more likely, however, that they were shoots from an elm root outside, which found their way in by an interstice in the masonry. The trees flourished for many years in their unusual situation, until some building operations interfered with them. At present they are leafless, though one is said to be showing new signs of life.

Hamlet's Advantage.

"The play's the thing!" exclaimed Hamlet. Then he added aside: "Fortunately the cinema has not been invented, so the king cannot forsake us—show to go to the movies."

HAS NO PAIN NOW

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Mrs. Warner.

Onalaska, Wis.—"Every month I had such pains in my back and lower part of stomach I could not lie in bed. I suffered so it seemed as though I would die, and I was not regular either. I suffered for a year and was unfit to do my housework, could only wash dishes once in a while. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women and decided to try it. It surely did wonders for me. I have no pains now and I can do my housework without any trouble at all. I will always praise your medicine as I do not believe there is a doctor that can do as much good in female weakness, and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. LESTER E. WARNER, R. 1, Box 69, Onalaska, Wis.

The reason women write such letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. and tell their friends how they are helped is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives. Freed from their illness they want to pass the good news along to other suffering women that they also may be relieved.

Why a Co-operative Store?

Everybody is feeling the pinching effects of a decreasing earning power—a day's work buys overalls, a bushel of grain, likewise buys less overalls than ever before in our memory—statistics reveal that production is greater than ever before since authentic records were kept by our government, statistics reveal that all labor, whether on the farm or in industry that is more poorly paid where income is measured in kind than in any period in our history.

Organized labor and the united Farmers, employing their vast resources of knowledge and observation have concluded that, in answer to the query of "where does our product go to?" All signs point to the hordes of middle men who produce nothing, yet are receiving a larger and larger share of the products of the farm and work shop. Disparaging of any relief from the agencies of government and in the face of ravenous greed for more and more profits on the part of middlemen. No other solution remains but for producer and consumer to build up a Co-operative Institution where trade on the basis of a square deal can be carried on.

"Rochdale Cooperation" is a movement of the people, by the people, for the people, that the profiteer shall perish from the earth.—(Continued next week)
