

NEWS FROM CORRESPONDENTS IN NEARBY TOWNS

Corona Notes

Geo. Z. Mellen returned last week from an extended visit through Colorado. He will resume his duties at the Corona Lead and Silver Mine.

E. M. Brickley was a visitor in Corona last week. He was accompanied by the bank examiner of New Mexico, who was looking over the bank here.

Geo. Clements, Sr., and Ralph Treat were visitors in Corona last week. Mr. Clements is candidate for sheriff this coming election and Mr. Treat is candidate for county clerk.

One of the biggest dances and one that will bring back fond memories to the old timers was held at the Bert Stroop ranch last week. A large beef was killed for the occasion and a grand banquet was held about ten o'clock and again at an early hour in the morning. Every one in the surrounding country that could walk and had a way to get there was present and a good time was reported by all.

Mrs. T. M. DuBoise returned last week from El Paso where she has placed the children in school.

We are very much surprised and shocked to hear of the death of Mrs. John Queen on Sept. 15. At the time of her death she was living in Bisbee, Ariz. The remains were brought to Corona where interment was had in the local cemetery.

Many of the residents, peddlers and visitors have been very much annoyed by the depredations committed by a crowd of young people in this vicinity. Their chief crime is the theft of water melons and other small objects. One instance that was noted was the theft of a fine water melon belonging to Mr. Brickley of Carrizozo. He left the melon on the front porch of the Western Hotel, when he returned a few minutes later the melon was gone and no trace of it could be found. While no one has been apprehended for this foul crime several parties are under suspicion. Young people, take warning.

Ed Kimmons was down from Santa Rosa last Sunday visiting friends and relatives here.

School started off on its third week with a bang. Over one hundred pupils registered and more coming all the time. The only complaint to be heard is that there is not sufficient seating room for the children. We are indeed fortunate in having the teachers that we have. They are always looking out for the welfare of the children, and we are correct in our conjecture that we are to have one of the best schools in the county.

Frank Stanheart met with a very painful accident last week.

"MAN OF THE HOUR"

DON MERRITT C. MECHEM
Republican Candidate for Governor of New Mexico

While starting a gasoline engine his finger was caught in some manner the wheel of the brute, resulting in the loss of the end on one of his fingers. Medical aid was secured immediately and at the present time he is well on the road to recovery.

Jicarilla—Coyote

Mr. Brogan came in from Oklahoma this week to join his wife, Mrs. Bessie Brogan, in a visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Bogle.

There is a fine crop of pinions in the Jicarilla-Coyote district this year but they are ripening and disappearing very rapidly and will soon be all gone. If you expect to gather any it must be soon.

They are still making big pastures out this way, and the little men are losing their range and inevitably their homes, hundreds of sections are now enclosed in a few holdings and we must say goodbye to the little man, unless something can be done to protect him.

We are getting some good showers again and it is coming in good time, as the range was in need of rain.

Clyde Fargier and J. B. Graven made a trip to the Quivaris last week in quest of better range. They report good grass but a scarcity of water in places.

School will close Friday 24th account of Field Day at Carrizozo. The children all expect to attend the meet.

The Yacht Club is very active again and the officials are elated over this enterprise, and the Jicarillas will soon be better known and a more enterprising place when we get on the map.

Rural School Notes

(M. L. Blaney)

The Consolidated School at San Patricio has an enrollment of 105, which is sufficient proof that a new school building is a necessity. Bonds in the amount of $4000.00 were voted last spring but on account of money conditions were not sold. The enumeration of the district has increased until now it seems necessary to increase the amount of bonds.

School is being held in a store building and transportation furnished.

Consolidation of schools, thus converting the one-room schools into a Community center school is the means of keeping boys and girls in school and at home where they are so much needed.

Lincoln, under consolidation, maintains five teachers and offers the first year in High School work. The new school building will soon be ready.

Corona, an inter-county consolidated school, offers a two-year, splendid High School course. The gymnasium and library building will probably be completed early in December.

Most of the schools in the county began work Monday, Sept. 6th, with the exception of two or three which had teachers hired who failed to keep the faith. These schools will be working in a few days.

The children of Tecolote and Luna are enjoying educational privileges by the county board of education maintaining a transportation line to Ancho.

The Lincoln County High School reports the largest enrollment for several years.

Taylor & Sons Robbed

Last Friday night the hardware store of N. B. Taylor & Sons was robbed by some one who seemed to value pocket knives, razors and cartridges to articles of more importance. The thieves entered through a back window after prying open the window bars. They next proceeded to hunt for a receptacle containing money and thinking the McCaskey register contained the desired object secured one of Mr. Taylor's saws and sawed the brass lock knob from the top of the register but on opening it, nothing was found but tickets.

The prowlers satisfied themselves with razors, knives, two watches and a good quantity of cartridges. Mr. Taylor is to be congratulated on the smallness of his loss however, as articles of more valuation than those taken might have been had by the intruders. Officers claim that the guilty parties are being shadowed and arrests will soon follow.

Ex-Mayor and Mrs. H. S. Campbell are here from El Paso. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Barnhart are here from White Oaks, attending the Field Meet.

Big crowds are taking advantage of the many attractions of big Field Meet as we go to press. Mr. and Mrs. Brack Sloan are down from Ancho for the "big doings."

The faculty are awake and earning their salaries.

A Parent-Teachers' association is being organized which means that parents are working with the teachers, realizing that "In Union there is Strength."

The Tucson School building is completed, being the fifth new building to be completed the past year.

Plans are being completed for the visit of the School Nurse, Mrs. Green to the rural schools. Scales have been ordered for weighing the pupils. Every opportunity to benefit the child will be given consideration.

Only two cases of compulsory violations have been reported.

One Was Taken;

Two Returned

Thos. J. Straley left for the U. S. service during the war with Morgan Riely, Jeff Claunch and others from our community and journeyed overseas to fight for his Uncle Sam. Thomas should have returned when the other boys did, but while in the land of the enemy, he met with a circumstance which changed his plans. Tom fell in love with a charming German girl and the same old story is told again; they were married and took their time in returning so as to avoid the frantic stampede which follows the home-coming of soldiers after peace has been declared.

The truth of the matter is that Tom fell in love so deep that he enlisted for another year so that he would be sure to have his life partner to return with him. They are now settled in Ancho and the new Mrs. Straley is rapidly falling into American ways and customs. She is possessed of a sunny disposition and makes a loving friend out of every one of her new acquaintances. The Straleys have the best wishes of The Outlook for their future welfare and happiness.

DON'T DESTROY SOUL OF U. S. HARDING SAYS

Marion, Ohio, Sept. 22.—Speaking today to a delegation of members of the Grand Army of the Republic and a delegation of Kentucky and Tennessee citizens, Senator Harding declared that the north and the south had been drawn into the civil war mainly because of an ambiguity in the constitution and asked "how can we consent to enter into a covenant with a dozen or more ambiguities?"

He told the veterans, about 400 in number, from Cleveland and other northern Ohio cities, who were on their way to Indianapolis to attend the national encampment, that if it had not been for them "there would have been no nationality to preserve now."

Commenting on President Wilson's assertion that it would "break the heart of the world" for America not to enter the league of nations, the presidential candidate declared that he "would rather break the heart of the world than destroy the soul of the United States."

Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Harding shook hands with a delegation of veterans from Akron, Ohio, who stopped off en route to the encampment. He made no speech.

The senator has four other front porch speeches on his schedule for the week.

Cully-Grumbles

In the city of El Paso on September 9th, at the Episcopal Church with the Rev. Swift officiating, occurred the marriage of Matthew Cully of Albuquerque and Miss Ida Grumbles, formerly of Carrizozo. The ceremony was performed in a quiet manner, the attendants being Mrs. C. D. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Shulda, all of whom were old Carrizozo friends of the bride.

After the nuptial knot was tied, the happy couple left for Albuquerque where after a short stay with relatives of the groom, the couple departed for Riverside, Cal., to pay a visit to the bride's mother, Mrs. M. R. Grumbles, and brother, Roy.

At the expiration of their visit to the coast, they will return to Albuquerque, where they will reside for the future. The bride was reared in Carrizozo and consequently has many friends and admirers who will extend to the newly married couple their most heartfelt wishes for future happiness and prosperity. Her sister, Mrs. Lena Gallacher, and brother, Walter Grumbles, still reside here. The groom is a prosperous business man of Albuquerque, where, as we have said, they will make their home in the future. The Outlook joins with the well-wishers in their congratulations.

CHAPTER X.—Continued.

The luxuriant-haired Pole was soaring toward his finale. In a few minutes they might be discovered. She spoke rapidly. "You can accomplish more wonders"—looking eagerly at him. "I even believe you can make father like you. Once you have shown him you can be a master of finance it is possible his feeling toward you will change. He thinks you a nobody now, but if you—I have it!" She clasped her hands. Her eyes were radiant. "We will announce our engagement the day you are worth a million dollars!"

The violinist swept his bow across the strings in a triumph of Mozartian climax, and they drew apart and joined in the applause. And none in the room was more enthusiastic.

CHAPTER XI.

Thanks to the dexterity of his French chauffeur, Fitzhugh was attacking his morning mail at twenty minutes past ten. When running through the fourth letter of the heap his secretary had opened and laid out for him he paused suddenly, then sat violently back in his chair.

"Now, how in Hades," wondered he, "could I forget that?"

He meant the first million. While with Kathleen that morning the thought of it had occurred and re-occurred to him, but always at inopportune moments, and when finally the right time had arrived it slumbered in the members of his mind.

"I'll tell her on Wednesday," he concluded; and promptly was swallowed up in the rush of the day's business.

The boy handed him a scrap of paper on which was written with a lead pencil:

"I must see you at once.—Esther." "Tell her I can't see her!" and he crunched the paper between his fingers and shot it angrily out an open window. Before the had reached the door he checked him, less harshly, with: "Explain to her, Tommy, that I am extremely busy, and ask her to call again."

Identifying the incident completely from his mind, he gathered up the sheet of letters. An altercation arose in the outer office. The door was flung open. Esther entered.

Seeing the stenographer, she held the door open.

"I want to see you alone, Daniel," said Esther quietly.

Fitzhugh motioned to his employees to go, and closed the door after him.

"Well? What is it?" He remained standing near the door, the sheet of letters clutched with an iron grip in his right hand. He was striving hard to control his mounting temper.

Unbidden, she sat down. He did not remove his seat. There was an awkward pause.

"This may be the last time," she began, choosing her words carefully, "that we shall see each other. I am going away tonight. I came all the way from Paterson. I thought I would tell you—good-by."

She stood up so that she faced him. She looked at him fixedly. "Night before last, Daniel, to Paterson, I walked my room for hours. I was trying to decide something, Daniel. Something very hard. A secret—a terrible secret—and I wanted to tell you. But I couldn't decide."

"Have you decided?"—Impatiently.

"Quite. I shouldn't tell you. I have reasoned it out again and again. You shouldn't know. But I want you to know! And, Daniel"—reaching up suddenly, she rested her hands on his shoulders, and when her large, and eyes lifted to his it struck him afresh how like a martyr she seemed—"Daniel, I have been chosen to remove our ambassador."

He tensed, with a quick intake of breath. "You mean—what do you mean? You're not—you don't intend—"

"It is decreed he must die tomorrow. His living is inimical to the Cause. He is false to Russia."

"And you intend doing it?"

"I will do it."

He seized her wrists, gripped them till she winced. His voice was as steel when he said: "You shall not. Understand that once for all. You shall not! It is madness. Nothing less."

"You can't understand. I hardly expected you to."

He strode violently to the door to will somebody's knocking, then came back to her.

"What price do you want? Name it!"

She shook her head. "There is no price."

"I say there is! Why else would you be here? Speak up! What do you want?"

She lowered her gaze, a little startled. "Yes, there is one for whom I would renounce even the Cause, turn traitor—" She flung her arms out to him in a rush of abandon—"Oh, Daniel, you know, you know!"

He loosened her hands from his neck.

"That," said he, "is impossible. I am engaged to be married."

She recoiled as though he had struck her. Her foot struck a chair as she stepped back. She sat down very slowly. For a few moments she seemed stricken dumb. Then:

"To—to that—"

"To her you saw me with at the opera?"

"When?" she asked. "When?"

"We became engaged last March. The second of last March."

"The second of last March." She repeated the words dully, pressing her hand to her forehead. "The second of last—why, D-Daniel, don't you remember? That is the day we first met each other. Don't you remember, Daniel?"—laughing shrilly—"the crowds, and how I was swept into your arms, and the speeches you made, first in the street, and then—"

"Esther! Esther! Do you realize where you are? Twelve or fifteen persons are waiting outside to see me, and their time and mine means money."

Her remonstrances trailed off into silence.

"Money!"

Then all at once a terrific change came over her. She sprang up tigerishly, swept the chair aside, rushed toward the door.

He was there first, however, and stood with his back against it, barring her way.

"You will not leave this office," he declared, "until—"

"Open that door!"

"—until you listen to reason?"

"Open that door, open that door! I'll scream!"

"You may go when you've promised me—"

"Open that door!"

Out of all patience, angry and humiliated, he threw the door open, and saw her run the gaping gaudiest in the outer office. He closed the door quietly and summoned a messenger. His nostrils were dilated, his face white, his lower front teeth were locked firmly over the upper ones. He sat at his desk, took a pad of telegraph forms from a drawer, and with a hand as steady as the mahogany on which it rested he wrote the following, addressing it "Secret Service": "A demoralized woman who imagines she has been wronged by the Russian ambassador will arrive in Washington from Chicago. Watch all trains for her. She is slightly built, has dark hair and eyes and is dressed in black. H. D. F."

Some while after five o'clock Fitzhugh sat at the telephone on his locked desk, his hat on, an unlighted cigar between his teeth, delivering the customary order for violets. With a final admonition to the florist to send nothing except the best, he "hung up." As he lighted his cigar and swung out of his office he met a messenger, who handed him a square envelope. Embossed on the back was "One Thousand Lake Shore Drive," and it contained a very brief and formal request for an immediate call from him at that address.

The chauffeur was waiting with the car in Adams street. Fitzhugh settled back comfortably in the cushioned seat as the chauffeur picked his way through the mass of traffic, and all the cares and worries of that busy day slipped gratefully from him, leaving him serene with contentment.

He was received in the library of Mr. and Mrs. Otis. There was no sign of Kathleen; and a glance at her parents sufficed to apprise him he was in for a disagreeable time. They remained standing after he entered; not was he asked to sit down. Mrs. Otis, haughtily stationed as far from him as the large room would permit, had appointed herself spokeswoman.

"Our daughter," said she, lifting a formidable lorgnette to her eyes and staring at him as though he were the garbage man, "has informed us of her unfortunate alliance with you."

He bowed respectfully.

"I need hardly say to you—and her head raised higher, her hauteur waxed stiff—"that you must consider this engagement broken. Furthermore, you will regard your undaunted acquiescence with our daughter as though it had never been. All communication with her of whatever nature must cease instantly. That, I believe, is all."

If Mrs. Otis had expected to inflict a shock she triumphed amply. If she had hoped to witness its manifestation she was woefully disappointed. The crash struck its victim as a thunderbolt; but beyond a sudden tension that gripped every muscle of him, he betrayed never a sign of the impact. Outwardly he was almost if not quite as self-possessed as when he entered the house.

"Miss Otis—does she know this?"

"What a question!" she gasped. "Why, it is she who—"

"Don't!" He started forward impulsively, the blood mounting hotly to his face. But ere his composure departed irretrievably—"I beg your pardon. May I know the reason?"

"The reason," she said icily, wishing his discomfiture were more pronounced, "is disgraceful. Most disgraceful"—lunging with the superlative. "Today—this very afternoon, in fact—your—"

She floundered helplessly in a muddle of words. The starched formality she had deemed sufficient to crush the presumption of any man wilted before his steady gaze, his calm sternness. She turned appealingly to her husband, who, having held a very unwilling silence at her prior behest, came gladly to the rescue.

"I had best deal with this man alone, Elizabeth." He waited until she left the room; then he blazed at Fitzhugh: "Your wife, whom you deserted, was here today."

"The woman is not my wife."

"Not your legal wife, you mean."

"Nor any other kind."

Scarcely had Fitzhugh uttered the words, advancing with he knew not what rash design, then he stopped, turned back, and stood listening intently. Otis, thoroughly alarmed, rang frantically for a servant.

Fitzhugh crossed to the hall-door and listened.

From somewhere above, unbridled and spasmodic, though faint by the distance, came the hysterical sobbing of a girl. Kathleen!

With an imprecation on his tongue, he bounded up the staircase—just as Noonan appeared in answer to the summons. His coat clutched from behind, Fitzhugh turned, jerked free and, with a single push of his flat hand, sent the butler reeling backward to the hall below. He leaped up the few remaining steps to the second floor, strode to a door standing ajar and knocked. The girlish weeping in the room beyond was muffled. He knocked again. The sobbing abated, stopped. A third time he knocked and, receiving no response save silence, thrust the door open, entered, closed the door behind him.

It was Kathleen's boudoir. She was seated in a chair, weeping, with her hands hysterically covering her face; but immediately on seeing him she jumped up and started for an adjoining room, calling hastily to her maid.

And the next instant she was held, struggling, palpitating, in the hot embrace of his arm, and his kisses showered upon her lips with a delirious passion that seared as heated metal.

"Kathleen—sweetheart, you don't believe—You don't want me to go—"

She squirmed in his arms, striking at him with her fists, uttering incoherent words, her face scarlet with shame. The note of hate in her voice cooled his madness. He released her.

"So you do believe it." And he became aware that her father, at his wife's end how to handle the outrage, was pelting him with blows and kicks. He shook off the man as a Newfoundland would a Pomeanian.

Rats Welcome.

Coal mines and other mines are always full of rats, which become exceedingly tame and saucy, being never killed or molested by the miners. The latter believe that to kill one would bring bad luck.

Indeed, it may be said that rats are very useful in mines. They do good service as scavengers; and, what is more important, they give warning by their actions in the presence of dangerous gases, being more sensitive to them than human beings.

When a "cave-in" is about to occur, the rats often give timely notice, scampering about in an unusual manner. Doubtless the preliminary cracking of the rocks alarms them.

Paradoxical Feelings.

"I felt cold chills coming over me when the train stopped."

"What was the trouble."

"A hot box."

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

By Mary Graham Donner

SLOTH BEAR.

"It is well," said the Sloth Bear to the Japanese Black Bear in the zoo, "to be recognized easily. Then one's friends know who one is."

"Who are your friends you want to have so sure of knowing you?" asked the Japanese Black Bear.

"Well," said the Sloth Bear, "I'm not sure just who I'd want to let know who I was, but I think it is nice to be yourself and look like yourself and all of that."

"Most creatures look like themselves, don't they?" asked the Japanese Black Bear.

"Bears don't look like boys and boys don't look like bears, and little girls don't look like rhinoceroses and monkeys don't look like birds."

"As far as I can make out," the Japanese Black Bear continued, "creatures look pretty much like themselves."

"That is true to a certain extent," said the Sloth Bear.

"But what do you mean then when you say it is well to have creatures look like themselves?" asked the Japanese Black Bear.

"Japanese Black Bear," said the Sloth Bear, "you are a ridiculous creature. I started to tell you that I am very much like myself and no one else."

"So that was what you started out to tell me, eh?" asked the Japanese Black Bear. "Well, I'm glad you have told it to me, considering you started out to tell me that, I am so glad you don't have to go home or to the other end of your cage or to sleep without feeling that you had told me that. And I am so glad that you are like yourself. I had thought for a long time you were very much like a fish."

"Japanese Black Bear," said the Sloth Bear, "you are in a very silly frame of mind. Something must have made you like this. But still you're good-natured and you're not always like that. I've heard that your relatives who came first were nice and friendly, but that all of you Japanese Black Bears who have come to the zoo lately have been very nervous, shy and also cross."

"Well, I'm feeling a bit more friendly today. After all I'm a pretty interesting bear. I come from Japan, as my name tells you, and I'm one of the smallest bears in the world—next to the Malay sun bear in smallness. I'm like a little black bear of the United States of America—you know what I mean—the American black bear—I'm like him in looks, except I am so very much smaller."

"I know that," said the Sloth Bear, "but I wanted to tell you how nice it was to look so like one's own self, as I do. I am called the Sloth Bear and the Long-Lipped Bear. I can be seen far, far away and recognized because of my great black hair which is so long and my white muzzle or nose and my long white claws. I have interesting ways, too, and I come from the forests of India. Ah, yes. When creatures see me far off they know who they are looking at, for you couldn't mistake me for any other bear than a Sloth or Long-Lipped Bear."

"Ah," said the Japanese Black Bear, "it is better when you say that creatures know you when they see you from afar than when you say, as you did before, that you could be seen far away—just as though you might be far away, but always around."

"There might be times, plenty of times, when you wouldn't be recognized because you wouldn't be around at that time. Isn't that so?"

"Oh, Japanese Black Bear, you're full of your jokes today, full of them," said the Sloth Bear.

"Soon I will be full of dinner and that is better," said the Japanese Black Bear as he saw the keeper coming, armed with his dinner, and the Sloth Bear said:

"Yes, that will be better, much better."

A Ridiculous Creature.

EATONIC Users —Do This—Get the Greatest Benefits

Chicago, Ill.—Thousands of reports from people all over the U. S. who have tested eatonic, show the greatest benefits are obtained by using it for a few weeks, taking one or two tablets after each meal.

Eatonic users know that it stops Belching, Bloating, Heartburn, and Stomach Miseries quickly, but the really lasting benefits are obtained by using eatonic long enough to take the harmful excess acids and gases entirely out of the system. This requires a little time, for eatonic takes up the excess acidity and poisons and carries them out of the body and of course, when it is all removed, the sufferer gets well, feels fine—full of life and pep.

If you have been taking an eatonic now and then, be sure and take it regularly for a time and obtain all of these wonderful benefits. Please speak to your druggist about this, so that he can tell others that need this help. Adv.

There is always a chance that an opportunity may be connected with a galvanic battery.

The Cuticura Toilet Trie. Having cleared your skin keep it clear by making Cuticura your every-day toilet preparations. The soap to cleanse and purify, the Ointment to soothe and heal, the Talcum to powder and perfume. No toilet table is complete without them. 25c everywhere.—Adv.

SICK WOMEN HEAR ME

You Can Be Free from Pain as I Am, if You Do as I Did.

Harrington, Mo.—"I suffered with backache, pains through my hips and such a bearing down feeling that I could not stand on my feet. I also had other distressing symptoms. At times I had to give up work. I tried a number of remedies but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me more good than anything else. I am regular, do not suffer the pains I used to, keep house and do all my work. I recommend your medicine to all who suffer as I did and you may use my letter as you like."—Mrs. MINNIE MITCHELL, Harrington, Mo.

There are many women who suffer as Mrs. Mitchell did and who are being benefited by this great medicine every day. It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is made from extracts of roots and herbs and is a safe medium for women. If you need special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

School Notes

(By Supt. E. E. Cole)

Mr. J. W. Buttress, of the El Paso Y. M. C. A., called at the High School a few days ago and made a very good talk to the students along lines very helpful to them.

A large number of the girls of the high school have expressed a desire to join the Girls' Glee club this year. This club did some fine work last year and with an early organization ought to make very rapid progress.

The apparatus for the chemical laboratory arrived about a week ago and the class in chemistry is getting down to real "Black Art" work. The members of the class are: Eva Wack, Lillian Merchant, Laureen Wilson and John Boyd.

The Camp Fire girls had their first council fire on Thursday of last week. The council discussed several names for their order; Montezuma, Pueblo, Taos, Navajo, etc., but no selection was made. Ten new members were received making the present total membership nineteen. "Wohelo for Aye" and "Good Night Song" were practiced and the council was dismissed with "proper ceremonies."

The seniors and juniors gave a very delightful party to the freshmen last Friday night, at the high school. It was really an initiation, and there was plenty of fun. You know an initiation must have a good deal of secrecy, mystery, surprises, which are accompanied by little feminine speeches, yells from some of the boys when the goat is turned loose, and fun of various kinds.

After the initiation, games were played, refreshments were served and every body went home feeling that he had spent a very delightful evening. The sophomores were also present. Those present including the faculty numbered thirty-seven. The chaperones were Mrs. E. A. Green, Mrs. E. A. Gumm, Mrs. E. E. Cole, Misses Herron, Forden, Neff, Mrs. Bryan Cazier and E. E. Cole.

The County School Nurse, Mrs. E. A. Green, is very busy at her work of inspecting all the pupils of Lincoln county. The following is her report for the week ending Friday, September 17:

"The primary and first grades of the east side of the track, the primary and first grades of the west side and the third grade have been inspected. The primary and first grades on the east side were examined Tuesday and weighed on Dr. Shaver's scales. He very kindly allowed me to bring the children to his office and helped weigh them. A vote of thanks is due Dr. Shaver because he has offered the loan of his scales to the school, at any time while I am inspecting the grades.

The children in some of the grades have not been vaccinated. Some had been vaccinated but it did not take. They were advised to have the work repeated. Those who had not been vaccinated at all were told that it must be done at once.

Three children in the third grade were found with defective eyes. Most of the children of this grade have been vaccinated. The grade is in good condition and the children all seem to be well and weigh the normal

Republican Primaries

The primary election for delegates to the County Republican Convention was held Tuesday night in the District Court room with a good attendance, absolute harmony attending every movement that was made. Precinct Chairman H. B. Hamilton opened the meeting and after reading the call, introduced Mrs. J. E. Farley, vice-chairman, who after a few well rendered remarks, called for nominations for chairman of the meeting and Mr. J. B. French was unanimously chosen.

Mr. French, after thanking the convention for the honor, called for nominations for secretary of the meeting, and on motion A. L. Burke of The Outlook was chosen. The chairman then announced nominations in order for 10 delegates to attend the coming County Convention which meets at this place Saturday, Sept. 28, at 11 a. m. A motion was made that the chair appoint a committee of three to retire and report the names of ten as delegates for the consideration of the convention. (motion lost) Following this action, a motion

FIGHTING NEAR BREST-LITOVSK

POLES AND REDS ENGAGE IN HEAVY FIGHTING, IS REPORT.

FIGHTING IS RESUMED

MANY PRISONERS AND MUCH WAR MATERIAL CAPTURED BY POLES.

London, Sept. 18.—Heavy engagements with the Poles in the region to the east of Brest-Litovsk and in the Kovel area in Volhynia are reported by the Russian soviet staff in official statement from Moscow.

Paris.—New successes for the army of General Wrangel, in southern Russia, are announced in Constantinople advices. On the Don river General Nuzarov has cut the railway line from Voronezh to Tzaritzyn. At Malkou the 345th division of Bolsheviks is said to have surrendered.

Warsaw.—The Lithuanians and the Poles are again engaged in hostilities, it is announced in Polish statement. Fighting has been resumed between the two forces in the Suwalki sector near the German border.

The statement also announces that Kovel in Volhynia has been occupied by the Poles, who took 3,000 prisoners, captured thirty-six guns and a large quantity of war material which included four locomotives, three airplanes and 300 cars.

The loss of Kovel deprives the Bolsheviks of railway communication between the Pinsk district and the southern front.

The Lithuanian fighting was brought on through a surprise attack on the Poles, which forced them to withdraw from Seyny. The reports indicate that the Lithuanians are advancing in the direction of Augustowo.

A military decree has been issued calling up five new classes which is estimated to bring into service more than 200,000 men.

In the north quiet prevailed along the battle line where recently there were encounters between the Lithuanians and the Poles over the disputed boundary line, the problem having resolved itself into a conference at Kalwaryn where the Poles and Lithuanians are to meet to discuss the question.

The Polish delegation appointed to conduct peace negotiations with soviet Russia left Warsaw on a special train for Danzig, where its members will board their torpedo boat destroyers for conveyance to Riga, in which city the conference is to be held.

M. Dombiski, under secretary for foreign affairs and head of the delegation, said the instructions to the Polish representatives were the same as those given the delegates before their departure for Minsk for the earlier conference. He declared the Polish government had no intention of taking any advantage of the victories gained over the Russians.

Texas Will Protect Voters.

Austin, Tex.—The Texas Legislature has been called to convene in special session Sept. 21 by Governor Hobby. The governor stated that he had called the Legislature to "give consideration to the subject of safeguarding the general election . . ." "to prescribe qualifications for voters; to prevent discrimination among voters in the exercise of the franchise."

Prisoners Escape in Auto.

Leavenworth, Kan.—Two prisoners from the United States disciplinary barracks have escaped, taking with them their soldier guard. It was announced at the prison here. The prisoners are Herbert A. Ellis, serving a three-year sentence for robbery, and Leslie A. Tibbetts, Wymore, Neb., serving one year for desertion. The prisoners disappeared in the direction of Atchison after stealing an automobile from a Leavenworth farmer.

Alleged Red Lawyer Disbarred.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Judge J. D. Shaffer, in Common Pleas Court, handed down an opinion and an order disbarring Jacob Margolis, accused of being an anarchist, and prohibiting him from practicing law in the courts of Allegheny county.

Council Bluffs, Iowa.—Two masked bandits waylaid Dick Devaney, Washash employe, chained him to his automobile, and robbed him of $200. The money belonged to fellow railroad employe whose checks Devaney had taken to the bank and cashed.

Southwest News From All Over New Mexico and Arizona

Western Newspaper Union News Service. Nara Visa, New Mexico, will hold a country fair Sept. 24 and 25. County Farm Agent H. P. Powers of Gallup, New Mexico, has announced that the McKinley County Fair will be held this year on Oct. 1, 2 and 3, which come on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

A carload of mining machinery is now being hauled to the Barney Caballero mines near Hillsboro, New Mexico, and will be used to develop the properties in the Ready Pay gulch. Sierra county parties have a ten-year lease on these properties.

Many of the old-time miners of the southwest are returning to the town of Scholle in Valencia county, New Mexico, where several of the old mines are being opened up. Several of these claims are now being worked and some splendid ore has been shipped to the smelters.

At the first annual meeting of the Arizona Automotive Dealers' Association, at Nogales, Donald Dunbar of Phoenix, Ariz., was elected president; N. B. Mercer of Nogales, vice president; G. E. Goyett of Tucson, treasurer. The meeting was attended by fifty delegates. A permanent organization was effected.

The well-known Ruby Silver Mining Company, whose valuable properties are located a few miles northeast of Lordsburg, New Mexico, in the Gold Hill region, has been reorganized under a declaration of trust, with an authorized capital stock of 500,000 shares of the par value of one dollar each.

Arrest of two fifteen-year-old boys, Albert Driscoll and George Herrich, was followed, say the Phoenix police, by recovery of more than $1,000 worth of stolen property of great variety, taken in a series of burglaries. Fifteen residences, a lumber company's establishment and a bicycle shop were among the places entered, the officers said.

Resolutions adopted by the Douglas Chamber of Commerce and mines at Douglas, Ariz., call upon President Wilson and Secretary of State Colby to extend recognition of the United States government to the present national government in Mexico, which has, the resolutions stated, "in a short time restored that country to a condition of peace and tranquillity."

A report of the Arizona Legislature on the thirtieth annual conference of commissioners on uniform state laws, held at St. Louis Aug. 18 to 24, is being prepared by the Arizona state librarian, Con P. Cronin, who has just returned from the conference. Cronin said he would prepare for presentation to the Legislature certain bills based on the deliberations of the conference.

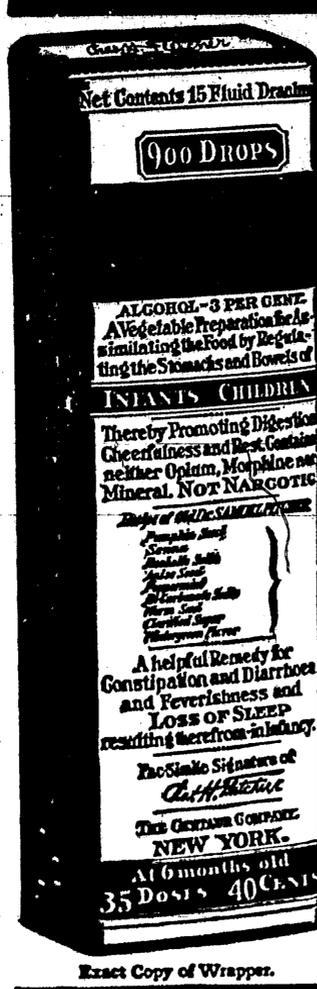

J. F. McCammond, superintendent of the Magda Mining Company, formerly known as the Hardscrabble holdings, near Magdalena, New Mexico, reports a big strike about 500 feet below the old workings. The vein is a fourteen-foot stope and is very rich, assaying twenty-five ounces of silver, four and one-half per cent copper and six per cent lead.

The sun shone 367 hours out of a possible 414 in the month of August at Phoenix, according to a weather bureau announcement, which added that the prolonged cool weather of the last week of August was unique, although lower temperatures had occurred in previous Augusts. The month, as a whole, was two and a half degrees cooler than the average of past years, it was added.

Work on the Las Vegas-Mora road has started, the work being begun on the Mora end of the road. Work on the complete highway will cost New Mexico over $330,000, or about $10,000 per mile.

Dispatches received at Roswell, New Mexico, from Washington announce that the secretary of agriculture has approved the expenditure of $30,000 of federal road funds for graveling the Ruidoso road beginning at the north side of the Mesalero Indian reservation. This news will be of great interest to tourists and to the people of the Pecos valley, as this is one of the most important outlets to the entire valley.

The Abbo Pass Highway Association will hold a meeting in Enid, Okla., Sept. 20 for the purpose of definitely locating the road and marking the shortest route to the Pacific coast. This highway will connect with the Ocean-to-Ocean and National Old Trails highways at Magdalena, but the route through New Mexico has not yet been decided. The association meeting will be attended by delegates from Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico.

LITTLE ADVICE FOR GROCER

Would Be Wag Had Picked Out the Wrong Woman on Whom to Exercise His Wit.

There was an expression of melancholy ringed with resentment on Mrs. Brown's face as she entered the grocer's shop. "I want," she began impressively, "to talk to you about them eggs I had last week. They weren't anything like as fresh as they might have been." "That's strange," replied the grocer, who fancied himself something of a wag. "We always have an almanac hanging up in the fowl run to keep the hens up to date." "Oh!" came the retort with crushing emphasis. "Then all I have to say is that somebody with brains about as added as them eggs has been misleadin' the hens with last year's calendar. Just you hang up a 1920 card, my good fellow, and maybe them chickens'll start working overtime to catch up to it!"

HAD HIGH AMBITION FOR SON

Father Wouldn't Be Satisfied Until He Saw Him in a Really Proud Position.

An instructor in the military academy at West Point was once assigned to conduct about the place the visiting parents of a certain cadet. After a tour of the post, the proud and happy parents joined the crowd assembled to witness evening parade, a most imposing spectacle. The march past aroused the father of the cadet to a high pitch of enthusiasm. "There!" he exclaimed to his spouse, "Isn't that fine? But," he added, reflectively, "I shall not be happy till my boy attains the proud position that leads 'em all." And he pointed in rapt admiration to the drum-major.

Honest Milkman. "You are charged with selling adulterated milk," said the judge. "Your honor, I plead not guilty." "But the testimony shows that it is 25 per cent water." "Then it must be high-grade milk," returned the plaintiff. "If your honor will look up the word 'milk' in your dictionary you will find that it contains from 80 to 90 per cent water. I should have sold it for cream!"—Success Magazine.

CANADA'S HARVEST IS OVER

Threshing Shows Increase Over Expected Yields.

The Winnipeg Free Press of a few days ago contained a cartoon of which the following is a copy:

When Harvest They'll Have to Show It On Somebody's Side the Farmer

This probably as much as anything else will give some idea of the state of mind of the Western Canada farmer, as he watches the tally from the thrashing machine while his wheat is being carried to the elevator.

From all sections of the country, the most optimistic reports are received, the local and city papers are filled with reports from twenty to thirty bushels of wheat to the acre, while in some places oats are showing a record of as high as 120 bushels to the acre.

Referring to Saskatchewan, it is confidently expected that the wheat yield will be nearly 125 million bushels. Heavy rains which fell in districts that did not promise so well in July, had greatly improved the prospects there, and there is no question that paying yields will be produced. The yields in the eastern part of the province may not show to the advantage that will those of the western part, but too much cannot be said of this, for it is the results as they come from the machine, and often these prove happily deceptive.

There is now every reason to believe that the wheat crop of the three prairie provinces will approach 250 million bushels.

Alberta will exceed the 70 million bushels that had been looked for. The average yield will be considerably higher than it has been in the province in any of the last four years. The Department of Agriculture in a recent report gave the opinion that it cannot fall below twenty-two bushels to the acre, and that it might easily pass the twenty-five bushel mark. Most of the wheat in the province when the report was written, stood well up to three feet high, and on some fields was still higher. The report goes on that in parts of Southern Alberta forty and fifty bushels to the acre yields will not be uncommon, while there will be a good many yields of from thirty to thirty-five bushels to the acre.

In the northwest part of the province, in the country surrounding Battleford and adjacent to the Canadian National Railway line to Lloydminster, and south the crops are excellent and the yield will be heavy.

A larger than average wheat crop is being thrashed in Manitoba. It has been estimated that the total yield of the three provinces will not be less than 225,000,000 bushels, and it may be that somewhere between 250,000,000 and 300,000,000 bushels will be the final figure.

Oats is a good crop in all three provinces. This crop has also grown rapidly during the last two or three weeks. Excepting from those fields which were sown late for green feed, the yield will be heavy and the grain excellent. Barley and rye are above the average. There was sufficient help to harvest the crop.—Advertisement.

Each for All; All for Each

The growing faith of all classes of people in Co-operation, a general moral awakening and the economic conditions of our time have created a demand for some definite source of co-operative education, information and organization. There is also a persistent demand that some actual elimination of competitive middlemen be made and a consequent immediate saving secured to both producer and consumer and some steps taken towards the removal of the root of causes of monopoly, profiteering and speculation.

The Pacific Co-operative League has been incorporated to act as a servant of the people in the accomplishment of the above work.

The founders are animated both by a sense of responsibility to the ideal of co-operation, and by the firm belief in the practicability of a plan whereby an actual and immediate cut in the cost of living can be made.

"Each for all and all for each" expresses the aim of the League and it is the intention in these By Laws to adhere strictly to the true co-operative law of one man one vote. This plan, immortalized as the "Rochdale" system, whereby not capital but men rule, is the only means through which the economic life of the people can be remolded on a basis of equality of opportunity.

Co-operation thus planned represents the voluntary giving up of special privileges. It is, therefore, not a theory of about justice, but the practice of the thing itself.

It is the earnest desire of the incorporators that the League may hasten the day when society shall be free from all special privileges and monopolies, free to realize the co-operative commonwealth.

Co-operation means:
 Equality of rights,
 Equality of duties,
 Equality of ownership,
 Equality of responsibility.

The Mothers in Maine

As voted the mothers in Maine so will vote the mothers in New Mexico.

The women of Maine had the first chance to speak out at an election. They did not let one man go to Congress to join in keeping up the democratic program that the San Francisco convention approved as to the past and the future.

So complete was sentiment against democratic doctrines that only thirteen of that party were able to get seats in the State lower house of the legislature of 156 members. The women of Maine are accused of sweeping aside all who publicly advocated backing up a Wilson league of nations that could call American sons to battle abroad.

The women of America send their sons when it is right—but will not have them summoned by distant countries.

The homes in New Mexico have the same sort of sensible mothers as those spoken of in Maine. Beneath the roofs of 15,000 homes in this loyal state are women who sent sons to war that threatened to come to us. Never will such women approve by their ballot of a presidential candidate who pledges himself to summon the sons of America to battle, under a pact with all Europe to whip into surrender any country that starts a war—right or wrong.

This is the pledge of Article X of the covenant President Wilson signed in a palace in Europe. And Me-Too Cox, to get the Wilson support and win. The presidency went to the White House and took the oath of allegiance to the proud master. Coming from the President, Cox announced, "I will do everything in my power to keep every promise Wilson made in the covenant."

CZAR'S JEWELS IN U. S. HANDS

Sent to Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, Bolshevik Envoy, by Soviet Government.

FOUND ON A SWEDISH SAILOR

Precious Stones, Supposed to Have Formed Part of Famous Jewels of Russian Royal Family, Unearthed by Federal Officers.

Washington.—Traffic by bolshevist agents in precious stones, supposed to have formed part of the famous jewels of the Russian royal family, has been unearthed by federal authorities.

The 131 diamonds found on Nells Jacobson, a Swedish sailor, by customs officials in New York July 23, it became known, were inclosed in a package addressed to "Comrade Martens." Using this as a lead, federal officials began an investigation which they declare has definitely connected Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, self-styled soviet ambassador to the United States, with the traffic.

Disclosure of the fact that the package was intended for soviet agents in this country was withheld by customs authorities when Jacobson was arrested, although the details as to the seizure of the jewels themselves were then made public.

Identifies Martens' Aid.

Jacobson, officials say, identified during the course of the investigation a photograph of Santeri Nuorteva, former secretary of Martens, as a person to whom previous packages had been delivered.

Introduction of the alleged incriminatory evidence of the traffic in precious stones between soviet representatives in this country and abroad at the last hearing in the last deportation proceedings against Martens resulted in postponement of further hearings to enable the self-styled ambassador to obtain evidence, if possible, in refutation of the charges.

Counsel for Martens already has asked that the government commission be sent to Stockholm to investigate the system in which he is accused of being implicated.

Perfect Courier System.

Begun six months ago, the smuggling is described by government officials as the most perfectly organized courier service between bolshevist agents abroad and in the United States that has been discovered.

Inclosed about the diamonds taken from the possession of the Swedish sailor Jacobson, whom officials exonerated from any complicity in the illegal proceedings, was a quantity of communist literature, including an "appeal of the executive committee of the third international at Moscow to the I. W. W." This manifesto declared:

"Unless the workers of other countries rise against their own capitalists the Russian revolution cannot last."

GIRL SAVES PREACHER'S LIFE

University Student Sucks Blood From His Leg After Attack of Rattlesnake.

Chicago.—Miss Frances B. Holstein, a student at the University of Illinois, earned her scholarship and a Carnegie medal by methods quite out of the ordinary. She saved the life of Rev. Benjamin W. Soper, pastor of a small church in Florida, by quick thought and action after he had been bitten in the ankle by a large rattlesnake.

Miss Holstein was one of a party which included Rev. Mr. Soper, Bishop Cameron Mann of the Episcopal diocese of Florida, and others who were enjoying a picnic near Coconut Grove. Rev. Mr. Soper was bringing a pail of water from an adjacent spring when he was struck by the rattlesnake. Bishop Mann immediately killed the snake, but Miss Holstein gave her attention to the wounded man, whose ankle was swelling enormously.

SUPER-CANNON WAS CLUMSY

Giant Gun Used for Long-Distance Shelling of Paris No New Invention.

MADE FROM WORNOUT GUNS

Was 122 Feet Long, Weighed 318,000 Pounds and Threw Projectile Weighing 264 Pounds a Distance of 75 Miles.

Paris.—The super-cannon with which the Germans began shelling Paris, March 23, 1918, was just pieces of old, wornout guns put together, instead of a startling new invention, according to American army officers, who were permitted recently by the Germans to visit some of their huge armories.

It was actually just a neat bit of patchwork that startled the world when the terrific explosions began detonating in the streets of the city of Paris, although the verdict at that time was unanimous that the Germans had invented a marvelous new cannon.

Naval Gun Was Foundation.

To begin on the super-cannon, the Germans took a wornout 15-inch naval gun, 58 feet in length. It was bored out and a very heavy tube with an inside diameter of 8.3 inches was inserted, with about 40 feet of it projecting beyond the end of the original gun. Over that another hoop was shrunk and locked to the forward hoop. There also was a patch of 19.7 feet, which was attached at the muzzle of the gun.

The bore of the gun was treated to a uniform rifling, the lanes and grooves which impart a rotary motion to the projectile. The six-meter section of the gun at the muzzle, however, was unrifled, probably designed to steady the projectile and defeat its slight tendency to "tumble" or yaw and fall to travel directly to its mark. Such "tumbling" is caused by the conflict of two forces, one spinning the projectile to the right, the other sending it forward. Such a force had to be obviated as the shell had to travel upward 24 miles on its arc in order to cover the horizontal distance of 75 miles.

Clever Expedient to Prolong Life.

The life of the giant gun, which was 318,000 pounds in weight and 122 feet long, under the heavy pressure of its high velocity projectile was very limited. But when the Germans found the span of the gun amounted to only 50 pounds they hit upon a clever expedient. They bored out the 21-centimeter tube, which was very thick, to 24 centimeters, and later to 29 centimeters, giving it just so much more life at each caliber, with only a change to larger ammunition required. The shell hurled by the cannon weighed 264 pounds and was 19 inches in length.

Catch Blue Lobster Off Shore of Massachusetts

Nantucket, Mass.—Capt. Sylvia of the steamboat Sankaty was presented with a rarity—a blue lobster. A fisherman brought him ashore, much elated over his rare find, and handed him over with some pomp and ceremony. The freak was a deep, rich navy-blue in color, instead of the customary green, but, boiled, he turned red, just the same as his ordinary brother.

TEETH'S BIG FOE

Pyrorrhea Responsible for Immense Amount of Suffering.

Infection of the Gums Which Frequently Is Not Suspected Until Much Harm Has Been Done—How to Recognize It.

(Supplied by the United States Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.)

Pyrorrhea is an infection of the gums or tooth-sockets. It begins beneath the edges of the gums that have been injured and especially where there has been an accumulation of tartar or lime-deposit. As the infection progresses and destroys the membranes that attach the root of the tooth to the socket, a pocket is formed around the root and the tooth becomes loosened. It is said that this disease is responsible for far more loss of teeth than is decay.

But this is not the only evil. In the pocket pus is continually being formed and discharged into the mouth and swallowed. Also, as the teeth rise and fall in their diseased sockets in ordinary chewing, bacteria are forced into the circulation and may be carried to distant parts, where they work harm according to their nature, selecting tissues for their operation in which they can best thrive.

It was formerly supposed that the ill effects from such conditions as dental abscess and other pus foci were wholly due to the toxins or poisonous products thrown into the blood-stream by the bacteria at the focus. It is now known, however, that the bacteria migrate into outside tissues through the blood and lymph-streams. In joint affections they clog and obstruct the small blood-vessels, interfering with the nutrition of the joint-tissues, causing deformity and enlargement, as in arthritis deformans, as well as in acute inflammation, such as rheumatic fever. Indeed, this condition of sub-infection, or "focal infection," is coming to be recognized as a far more important cause of disease than the time-honored auto-intoxication, a term which has been greatly abused and misused.

Vacuum Best Known Insulator.

In answer to a question, the Scientific American says:

"A vacuum is the best insulator against heat which is attainable. A perfect vacuum would be a complete insulator and would retain or exclude heat indefinitely. The common thermos bottle is an example of the use of a vacuum for keeping liquids either hot or cold. Heat is retained in hot liquids and kept out of cold liquids.

However, there is a difference between heat from a white hot body like the sun or an electric lamp and heat from a liquid or solid such as may be contained in a thermos bottle. The intense heat from a white hot body will pass easily through the best vacuum man can make, as witness the heat given off by an incandescent lamp bulb, which will char and set paper on fire. A vacuum will restrain heat of low intensity, but not heat of high intensity."

Krupps May Build Plant in Spain.

Spain is one of the great iron-ore centers of the world, shipping ore heavily to other European countries as well as to the United States, and while it has some large iron and steel works, its output of the finished product has never been commensurate with its ore developments. Now, however, according to the London letter of the Whaley Eaton Service, there is a well-defined project of the Krupps to set up a great branch at Bilbao, Spain, to manufacture agricultural machinery for the purpose of driving out of the market American companies who now have a large share of the business.—Manufacturers' Record.

"A House of Gold."

A house of gold really exists. It stands in a little place called Rosamond, on the Mohave desert in California, as a sort of monument to an old miner who "struck it rich." His gold properties were in the vicinity of Rosamond, which years ago gave promise of some day becoming a city, and when the miner's wealth accumulated he determined to do something nice for the place, so he reared this structure of rock and put in the entire front of gold ore from his discoveries. It is a large building, and of heavy construction, particularly that part made of the gold-bearing rock, which runs about $25 to the ton in yellow metal. The mines whence this came have been worked out. It is not unlikely that some day, when the building is razed, the rock will be milled and the gold extracted, and it may yield a large amount, because some very rich streaks were encountered, and part of this rock undoubtedly came from these ledges.

YANKEES IN DANGER

Many Have Close Calls in the Turkish War Zone.

Bullets of Bandits, British and Greeks Keep Americans on the Jump.

Constantinople.—Many Americans have had narrow escapes in the fighting which British and Greek troops have kept up for several weeks with the bandits which are harassing the eastern shore of the Bosphorus. Belkios, a summer place ten miles north of this city reached by hourly ferry service, has been the chief center of the fights between bands of adherents of Mustafa Kemal Pasha, nationalist leader, and the British-Greek soldiers operating under the artillery protection of British warships.

which came well within the line of fire between the rival forces. The steel riveters were compelled to flee for their lives and for several days bullets played a tattoo on the tanks, which was nearly as constant as the tune of the riveting machines. Many Americans were in summer camps and cottages in the vicinity of Belkios the night the fighting began, but they speedily moved to the western shore of the Bosphorus, where it was possible for several nights to watch the fighting on the Anatolian hills by the light of the naval rockets and searchlights used in directing the gunnery.

Robert college and Constantinople College for Women, the two American institutions of higher learning on the Bosphorus, both commanded an excellent view of the struggle and were safely out of range of the nationalist bullets.

Prof. F. W. Kelsey of the University of Michigan was prevented by the fighting in Anatolia from making a survey of the famous battle fields of Caesar, south of Samsoun. Professor Kelsey has been in Turkey for many weeks investigating old manuscripts and studying ruins of the Roman civilization.

He hoped to make the trip from Samsoun to Zile, about which one of Caesar's best-known campaigns was waged, and had made all arrangements for motor transportation. But the unsettled political conditions and the activities of the various bands forced him to abandon the expedition.

Choked Girl by "God's Orders."

Moss Point, Miss.—Louis Smith, shipyard worker, killed his four-year-old daughter, Lula, by strangling her to death. Passers-by, witnessing the tragedy from a distance, held him until he was placed under arrest.

Smith told the officers that he had been ordered by God to kill his daughter, and now that he had carried out God's wish, he was ready to die himself. The man is believed to be mentally deranged.
