NEW MEXICO LEGISLATURE HAS LESS THAN 30 DAYS IN WHICH TO COMPLETE SESSION

By Guthrie Smith.
Santa Fe, Feb. 14.—With less than half of the 60 day session remaining, the fifth New Mexico legislature finds the great bulk of its most difficult and important work yet to be done. The house calendar is badly jammed and still great flocks of new bills are being introduced nearly every day. Practically none of the senate measures had been referred for consideration of the house committees until last Friday afternoon, when 33 of them were read by title and referred to the committees. The senate has been keeping up with the house measure about as well as with its own.

The vital things that both senate and house have yet to do is to agree upon:

The general appropriation bill, not yet introduced.

The revenue code, repealing all tax laws now in existence and making laws on all tax matters, on which hearings have not yet been more than started.

Redistricting Judicial Districts.

The reapportionment provided by the constitution, to follow the census of 1920. Reapportionment committees have been appointed in both branches but there has been little talk of what has been proposed on this line.

The redistricting of the judicial districts, also provided by the constitution to follow the census of 1920. It is presumed the reapportionment committees will handle this task also, but there has been no discussion of the matter either in senate or house.

A road law to take care of the program of road building and maintenance, with especial reference to building of federal roads. The bill abolishing county road superintendent has been passed by both senate and house, which leaves the road building program decidedly up in the air. The bill provided that until legislation provision might be made the road work in the several counties would be under direction of the boards of county commissioners. A new bill is now in preparation, with the advice and counsel of the state highway commission.

Study of Mine Taxation.

Tomorrow the finance committee of senate and house will begin jointly the study of the subject of mine taxation, which for some years has been the biggest of all political bugaboos. The basis of study will be in the revenue code.

Platform pledges as to abolishing of useless offices have been pretty well fulfilled through bills already passed. The bill to create a game commissioner will be passed, as will the resolution to amend the constitution to create a commission to administer the state lands, along with one to abolish the state corporation commission, creating instead a commission of public utilities, the last named possibly to have greatly increased powers.

Murray and Turner have introduced a new senate bill to appropriate $15,000 to cover the costs of the second trial of the Villista raiders who were pardoned by New Mexico's former governor from the state of Chihuahua. The raiders, riding in a special car under heavy guard, were started Friday afternoon for Deming, where their second trial soon will be commenced.

Reinburg has introduced a new senate bill to regulate the hours of all state and county officers and employees. It provides the offices must be kept open from 9 to 12 and from 1 to 5, except on Sundays and holidays, and except in the months of June, July, August and September, when the hours will be from 8:30 to 12. All state employees are to be entitled to not more than 15 days vacation, each year, on full pay.

HARDING ASKS CONGRESS TO CLEAR DECKS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—President-elect Harding telegraphed congressional leaders today, urging that congress at this session pass the regular appropriation bills so that the special session of the new congress to be called soon after March 4, would be free to deal with other important matters to come before it.

Representative Mondell, Republican leader in the house, replied that the house would pass the last of the appropriation measures by Thursday night. Senator Lodge, Republican leader in the senate, telegraphed Mr. Harding that every effort possible to that end was being exerted.

"I hope you will not think it an unbecoming intrusion," said Mr. Harding's telegram, "if I say that it would please me immensely and strengthen my hope of prompt action at the extra session of the new congress if all appropriation bills could be cleared away at the present session."

BIDS FOR A SANTA FE FEDERAL BUILDING HAVE BEEN RECEIVED

Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 6.—While the bids for the new federal building at Santa Fe, which is to cost a quarter of a million dollars, have been opened and the calculations made, yet no award of contract is as yet officially announced. Bids were received from Kansas City, Denver, Minneapolis, Omaha, San Francisco and other contractors who make a specialty of federal building construction.

The new structure will be in Santa Fe style and in architecture will be the most unique and most original of all the federal government structures in the United States, the plans marking a distinct departure from government routine.

This is due to the representations and work of the museum of New Mexico which has been pleading with the treasury department for a building adapted to Santa Fe environment.

MORE HOSPITALS

The Paso Herald Feb. 15: Our great national health service may establish a hospital at Lordsburg, N. M., that will cost $4,000,000 or $5,000,000. The service found when it took over the hospital at Ft. Bayard from the army that it got better results in a high, dry climate with its sick, particularly with its tubercular, than it could get anywhere else. Now there is a possibility of every hospital needed in the states west of the Mississippi and south of Wyoming and Idaho going into New Mexico and Arizona.

The chamber of commerce at Lordsburg is leading its assistance to the public health service by studying sites, clearing up preliminary details, and by otherwise making it easy for the building of the hospital. The chamber of commerce will not, and should not, let anybody make a lot of money out of the construction of the hospital. It is to be used mainly for sick boys who fought in France and for sick service men generally.

WASHINGTON-LINCOLN PROGRAM IN THE SCHOOLS

Next Monday afternoon, patriotic exercises will be held in the schools of the city in honor of Lincoln and Washington. The exercises in the first three grades will be given from one to two in the afternoon; those in grades four, five and six will be given between two and three; grades seven and the high school will have their programs from three to four. The idea of this is to enable the parents to visit the exercises of all their children. Parents and friends of the people and the schools are most cordially invited to be present.

NATIONAL GUARD OF STATE MAY INCLUDE 10,000 MEN BY FOUR-YEAR PLAN OF ADJUTANT GENERAL BROWN GIVES OUTLINE FOR NEW ORGANIZATION

Adjutant General, Explains Plan For Creation of the Federalized National Guard in New Mexico: U. S. Has Appropriated $540,000 and Will Spend $150,000 Annually in States Towns Chosen Where Majority of Proposed Units Will Be Located.

Albuquerque Journal

Outline of a plan of organization of national guard units in New Mexico that will establish military outfits in the state with a possible strength of 10,000 men within the next four-year period, was explained to The Morning Journal last night by Adjutant General Henry Rolf Brown, of Albuquerque.

Within a few months it is expected to have units established in the state in the minimum strength basis, including 600 men, General Brown said. This will be increased to 1,200 men at the end of the year, he expects.

At present there are two established units in the national guard in New Mexico, the cavalry troops here and in Carlsbad. Santa Fe is now recruiting a third troop of cavalry. It has practically decided, General Brown stated, to place a company of engineers at Las Cruces, an artillery unit at Roswell, signal corps at Gallup and the fourth cavalry troop at Las Vegas. Albuquerque will be made the "squadron headquarters" for the cavalry units and the quartermaster corps and truck company are likely to be located at Santa Fe, General Brown said.

The Immediate Plans

Immediate plans contemplate establishment of a medical corps and a machine gun company but locations for these units have not yet been considered. There is no limit to the number of units that may be created under the National Defense act creating the federalized national guard, General Brown explained. The ability of the state to recruit is the only thing that can prevent national guard units with a strength of 10,000 men in four years, he said. Funds have been appropriated by the federal government for initial expenses of equipping the various outfits and $150,000 a year is appropriated for maintenance. "This means approximately $20,000 a year that the federal government spend on every unit in the national guard in New Mexico," General Brown said. "This should arouse the interest of the communities in the state large enough to support a company. This outfit will be made annually for an indefinite period and on a purely commercial basis, should warrant the backing of every community for its national guard unit."

State Must Pay Share.

While the federal government has appropriated a huge sum for the maintenance of the national guard in the state, General Brown said, it does not finance the organization of the various units nor does it provide armory, stable or other buildings needed. It supplies the equipment and maintains it and pays the salaries of the officers and men.

The other expenses must be borne by the state. For this purpose about $25,000 must be appropriated by the legislature, General Brown said. An appropriation was included in the budget before the legislature but the sum in the provisional budget is not sufficient for the needs, he said.

"If the appropriation is not made the state loses the benefit of money that would otherwise be made in the state," the new adjutant general declared. "The appropriation of $150,000 annually for maintenance must be met by the state or it will not be

GRAVE PROBLEMS OF STOCK INDUSTRY TO BE DISCUSSED

Abuquerque, N. M., Feb. 16th.—The gravest problems that have ever confronted the livestock industry in New Mexico are coming up for consideration at the seventh annual convention of the New Mexico Cattle & Horse Growers' association, which meets in Albuquerque, March 29, 30 and 31. While the emergency and tariff bill passed and thus grant some measure of relief for market conditions, there is still no solution in sight for the grave financial problems that confront the industry during the next two years.

Cattle growers throughout the state have found that the only way effective progress has been made during recent years has been through their organization, which has grown into one of the strongest associations of its kind in the west. Conventions that formerly drew twenty or thirty men now attract five hundred or more and it is expected that the coming convention will establish a new attendance record. Some of the foremost men in the livestock industry have accepted invitations to address the convention, and consult with the members. The formal program of the convention will be announced on the first of March.

State To Be a Center

Under the National Defense act, General Brown explained, New Mexico is in the eighth army corps comprising New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona and Oklahoma. New Mexico, Colorado and Arizona are a division of the corps and the division headquarters will probably be located at Santa Fe. Sergeant instructors from the regular army will be assigned to the divisions and a colonel inspector for the division will have headquarters probably at Santa Fe, with the adjutant general of New Mexico.

One of the features of the new federalized national guard is in the more flexible terms of enlistment, General Brown said. Enlistments are taken for two or three years, with a restriction that for every one-year enlistment there be two three-year enlistments. However it also provides that any member of the guard can be discharged upon moving to another town, in cases where it is desired a member of a troop in one town may be transferred to a unit in the town to which he is moving.

Encampment Plans.

Another attractive feature of the new national guard will be the annual encampments. This summer the encampment for troops in this corps will be held at Fort Sam Houston at San Antonio, Tex. Transportation and rations for a 15-day encampment with regular cavalry units at the Texas regular army post will be provided. Later, when the strength of the guard in the state permits, state encampments will be held annually, General Brown said.

Adjutant General Brown assumed the duties of his office February 7 and is now in the midst of a reorganization of the office.

"The reorganization will be on a strictly military basis," he stated. "The war department will probably send a retired army officer here to look after the purely military matters and advise with the office of the adjutant general. It will also send a supply officer to look after the federal property in the state and issue supplies on requisition. Under the new status of the national guard the adjutant general holds a civil position under the state and a military position under the federal government."

Speaking of the local cavalry troop, General Brown said that horses had been requisitioned from Fort Bliss and would probably arrive within the next ten days.

ALBERT BACON FALL AND HIS RISE IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

There is no gainsaying the fact that the southwest has an asset in the incoming administration in the favor that one of its illustrious citizens is held with the president-elect. The best asset is a perfectly legitimate one and the people of this section of the United States in any request for recognition of its interests would know that in Senator Fall they have an advocate at Washington who is familiar with conditions here in the west—knows the people, and therefore is in position to give sound counsel to the administration.

Relative to Senator Fall's phenomenal rise and his personality, the Las Cruces Citizen says:

"Albert Bacon Fall, miner, rancher, lawyer, judge and senator, is today the most prominent western man in public life, and the ability, courage and persistency putting him in this enviable position is going to carry him on a record which will make New Mexico one of the best known states in the Union, although small and but a few years in the sisterhood of states.

"New Mexico is not of enough political importance to even advertise the coming of a man in public life who is sent to Washington. There is more nobility to the square inch in that old Washington of ours than anywhere else in the world, all foreign capitans included, and the position accorded the senator senator from New Mexico is one of the leading statesman of the nation was not a free offering because of the voting strength and political importance of the state.

"For six long years, and more, they have tried Fall in the acid tests applied there through years of international trial. He was not received as a popular man, nor was he accorded more than the scant courtesy demanded by his position. However expected to accept the leaderships provided for him by "precedent", and when he refused to recognize the established customs of leadership when they did not harmonize with his own ideas, he was marked for political destruction by the usual means generally found efficient. When he failed to consult republican circles for his political guidance, and openly defied the thunder of the democratic majority, many supposed him a flower of but a few days, and prepared to see another senator from New Mexico. Within two years he had a strong personal following which could not be ignored by leaders on either side of the senate and was nationally recognized as one of the five really big men of that body, and in addition to that he had acquired a reputation as an authority on international law which can today be easily turned into an annual fortune if he will desert his state and take up his residence elsewhere.

"Today he is being urged to accept a place in the cabinet because of his ability, and not because there is anything to be gained by recognizing New Mexico. He may decline because he is said to be anything but enamored of official life, but if he accepts, whether it be as secretary of the interior or as secretary of state, as many urge him for the higher place, he will make good and reflect greater credit on New Mexico.

"Albert Bacon Fall is easily the most able statesman New Mexico has yet sent to public life, and it is doubtful if the west has yet produced his equal. It has been a hard matter for even the ablest men of the west to secure proper recognition in Washington because of the political weakness of the states behind them, which makes the progress of the senator of New Mexico that much more remarkable.

"And regardless of our politics, our personal likes and dislikes, or our aspirations for others, we must say: Our best wishes to you Senator Fall in putting New Mexico on the political map in the big letters."

"I have," she answered, looking at him steadily in the eye, but speaking with a slight tremor in her tones. I wondered to what it might be due. Was it because she feared the consequences of the revelation as to her identity, or was it that she feared she might be trapped by his questions?

"Now tell me, Mrs. Moore," he shot at her explosively, "who really murdered Daisy Lutan?"

"Henry Kent," she answered quickly, before the district attorney had time to stop her.

"What's this?" exclaimed the judge. "What did you say?"

"Object! object!" vociferated the district attorney, striving in vain to catch the attention of the judge presiding. McGregor, apparently well satisfied with the results of his question, stood there, smiling assurance at me.

"Young woman," directed the judge, "will you kindly repeat your last statement—louder. Who did you say killed Daisy Lutan?"

The girl turned to face the judge. Her lips were set as if she had determined to carry out some fixed plan, cost what it might.

"Daisy Lutan," she repeated, "was murdered by Henry Kent, who owns the Granddeck. He's really Orville Granders, the bank president who got away with eight hundred thousand dollars and was bent up for seventeen years."

There was a commotion in the rear of the courtroom. A dapper little old gentleman with neatly trimmed white whiskers rose hastily and made a dash for the door. Gorman, who had been sitting behind him, sprang after him and pincioned him by the arms:

"Nothing doing, Granders. I've got you."

Wick, sitting up near the counsel table, at the same time showed evidence that he, too, was contemplating hasty flight, but a husky chap whom I suspected of being one of Gorman's aides, seized him, too.

"Your honor," cried my counsel, "I demand the issuance of warrants at once for Orville Granders, alias Henry Kent, and his confederate, James Wilson, alias James Wick and 'Stuffy Jim,' on the charge of having murdered Daisy Lutan and Rufus Gaston. I further urge the immediate release of my client, Mr. Spalding Nelson, in my custody. Testimony that we already have obtained will establish that he was an innocent victim of the dastardly plots of those two ex-cop-jects."

The reaction that came from this sudden clearing of my name left me in a puzzled daze from which I hardly recovered until late that evening, when, once more free, I found myself in the Gaston apartment. Granders, his tool, Wick, and practically every employee of the Granddeck were under arrest, and warrants were out for other members of the band whose identity had been revealed by the former telephone girl.

And there in the apartment with me were my mother, Gorman, McGregor—and to my surprise and delight, Barbara Bradford. After her sister's wedding, it appeared, Barbara's mother had gone away for a brief rest, leaving her alone in the apartment with the servants. She had welcomed the opportunity to work undisturbed on the mystery that had landed me behind the bars. Thinking that at Rufus Gaston's funeral she might pick up some clue that would be of use in unraveling the tangled skein that held her and me together, she had gone thither, and seeing my mother there, and suspecting at once who she might be, had introduced herself. Quickly they had become good friends and she it was who had informed my mother of my plight.

Present also with us, despite the lateness of the hour, was the district attorney and two of his aides, and Nellie Kelly, or as she much preferred to be called, Mrs. Moore. The girl was technically a prisoner, but her services in bringing the real criminals to book had been so exceptional that she had been released on her own recognisance. Either she had been brought that the district attorney might check up with her the marvelous tale of criminal conspiracy that she had unfolded to my counsel in the brief recess of the court that day.

Orville Granders, it appeared, had been the master-mind that had directed all the plotting. A score of years before he had been president of one of the metropolis' biggest banks. He had been discovered to have embezzled nearly a million dollars. He had been tried and sentenced to seventeen years' imprisonment, but no one ever had been able to find what he had done with the money, so safely had he hidden it away.

In his long years in prison, associating daily with criminals of the worst sort, and listening to their plans for further crimes on their release, his own criminal instincts, already developed, had grown stronger, and he had spent his time planning a new system of crime of which he was to be the head, using as his confederates certain evildoers with whom he had become acquainted in prison. When he had been released he had slipped quietly away to the West and lived in close retirement until he had been forgotten. The white whiskers he had grown so changed his appearance, too, that he had little fear of being recognized. Recovering such part of the stolen money as was left to him, he had come to New York in the guise of a prosperous Western investor and, purchasing a plot of land, had erected the Granddeck apartments, designed for the occupancy of the wealthiest class of tenants.

In this building, sitting like a little white spider in his web, he planned to prey secretly on all who came to live there. Every attendant in the building was either a criminal or an associate of criminals, reporting to him daily all that went on, and obeying his orders implicitly. A special switchboard in his apartment enabled him to listen in at will on all telephone conversations that went on. Every letter delivered at the Granddeck went through his hands before reaching the tenants. For every wall safe in the building he held a master combination and his pass-key would unlock every door there was. And in addition to all this—

HE HAD BUILT A SECRET PASSAGEWAY.

We found it that night and explored it, familiarizing ourselves with all its exits, greatly to the amazement and confounding of Gorman. Connecting with the service elevator by a masked opening, it ran along the hall of each apartment, with entrances concealed in wall panels. It enabled Granders to wander at will through the apartments at night, leaving mysterious notes to terrify his tenants, prying into the secrets hidden in their wall safes, listening when he chose to their most private conversations, examining the contents of their pockets. As he had planned from the beginning, he gained in this way much information that he was able to utilize to his financial profit without arousing suspicion. He had discovered, Mrs. Moore said, secret stock market movements one of his tenants was planning and had made a small fortune out of the advance information. Several injudicious women he had successfully blackmailed, turning over to agents who never came near the Granddeck the secrets he learned from letters he opened and telephone conversations he had listened to.

In the case of Rufus Gaston, he had planned to steal the Gaston pearls. Mrs. Moore explained, first terrifying the old couple into leaving the apartment, the whispers that had been heard coming of course from the secret passageway.

"But I can't understand," I said, "why, after he had once got hold of the pearls in Mr. Gaston's absence, he should have restored them to their hiding place."

"It had a duplicate made of those pearls," explained Mrs. Moore. "It was part of his plan not to have any of the tenants discover the thefts for a long time after they occurred."

"If he was so cautious," said the district attorney, "I am puzzled as to why he killed Miss Lutan and Mr. Gaston. He must have realized that both murders would be thoroughly investigated."

"Both were accidents, so to speak," the girl explained. "Each of them surprised him in their apartment, and he had to kill them to make his getaway. I suppose he had been careless."

"How about the revolver?" asked Gorman. "How did he come to plant it in Nelson's room?"

"He was puzzled by Mr. Nelson butting in on the Bradford case, and it made him sore. I heard him and Wick talking about it one day, and he said that he'd teach Mr. Nelson not to interfere. How?" asked Wick. "I'll frame him for the goat if anything happens."

"And, was it he who had me discharged from my office?" I asked, eagerly.

"Sure it was. He wrote a note on Mr. Gaston's stationery saying that you had forged a check after he had befriended you. He wrote in the letter that he was not going to prosecute you because of your mother, but that he felt that you were unworthy of employment anywhere."

"I believe," said the district attorney, "that that clears everything up, except for one thing—why, Mrs. Moore, did you aid him and Wick in all these crimes?"

"He promised that if I would help him he would get 'Eddie' out," she cried. "I was desperate. I'd do anything to get my husband back."

Gorman and the district attorney exchanged meaning glances. While nothing more was said, I felt sure as they departed that both were thinking that this brave young woman who had solved the mystery for them certainly deserved some reward, and I think we all realized that the only reward life ever could hold for her was the freedom of her husband.

Presently they went and left us alone, Gorman, my mother, Barbara, and I.

"There are still two things I cannot understand," I said, as we sat talking it over. "The first is—and I turned to Barbara—"what was your sister doing in this apartment on the night of the first murder? When I came up from the Lutan apartment I caught her just coming out of my door. I could not help wondering if they had made her plant the revolver."

Barbara started up, blushing.

"Oh, no," she cried. "It was nothing like that. You remember a few moments before you and I had been in your room, looking at the secret passageway. Claire just then had come into my room looking for me. She was puzzled by my absence, and the only solution that came to her was that I must be in your room. Alarmed at what she considered my imprudence, she had slipped out into the hall, and seeing your door open, had investigated. Of course she did not find me, for I had returned by way of the window ledge. She told me about it the night before she was married. I don't wonder, though, that you suspected her."

"I didn't suspect her," I cried. "I just wondered what she had been doing there."

"That's right," said Gorman. "He wouldn't believe for a minute that she had had anything to do with it."

"But what puzzles me most," I went on, "is how you ever persuaded the telephone girl to give Granders away. It must have been done after she had given her first testimony. How did it happen that she changed so suddenly over to our side?"

As I looked from one to the other for an explanation, Gorman burst out "You'll have to ask Miss Bradford about that," he said. "She did it all."

I turned again to look at Barbara, expecting her to speak, but she merely blushed and was silent.

"Go on, tell me," I urged her.

"Well," she said hesitatingly, "as I heard her testifying, I had an inspiration. I heard her say that she loved her husband, and that she did not care who knew it—and—and—all at once I realized that love was the strongest influence in the world, so I had Mr. McGregor ask for an adjournment, and then—"

She stopped in confusion, the rosy blushes once more mantling her cheeks.

"Go on," I insisted.

"I can't tell it," she cried.

"You must tell," I urged. "I have a right to know it. What did you do?"

"I managed to see her alone."

"What did you say to her?" I demanded.

"I just told her," she faltered, lowering her eyes as she spoke, "that—that I loved you just as much as she loved her husband, and I begged her for love's sake not to help send you to the chair, and she broke down and told everything."

"Oh, Barbara, my Barbara!" I cried, springing up and clasping her in my arms. "If only I had something to offer you besides my love—"

"I wouldn't worry about that just now, Spalding," interrupted my mother's voice. "They found your great-uncle's will today. He made you his sole heir."

But Barbara and I hardly needed her good news. We were too busy telling each other the world-old story.

COMING EVENTS.
State Automobile Show at Santa Fe, N. M., March 7, 8, 9, 1921.

The total receipts of the parcel post department of the Albuquerque post-office last year was $307,100, which is the largest in the history of the office.

The Roswell, N. M., Juvenile band, which gave several concerts on the court house grounds last summer, is now making plans to supply the music for the regular summer concerts for the season of 1921.

Roswell is planning a big tree planting campaign for the coming spring, the proposition to be backed by the Chamber of Commerce. The plan is to have shade trees on every street in the city.

The Roy, N. M., Chamber of Commerce is now putting on a membership drive and it is expected that by the first of the coming month the membership will be at least 100. W. H. McCarger is the secretary.

On the ground that Pueblo Indians have no right to alienate their reservation lands, the government has filed suit in the Federal Court at Santa Fe to eject Ruperto Archuleta and 155 other residents from lands alleged to have been acquired from the San Ildefonso Indians.

The Southwestern Tularosa Basin Oil and Refining Company has completed preparations for the completing of its well south of Alamogordo and will resume drilling soon. The company is now officered by El Paso men and has some 18,000 acres in its holdings which were carefully selected on expert advice.

Seeking the passage by the New Mexico Legislature of a law creating a commission to work with a Colorado commission for the amicable settlement of the La Plata river interstate controversy, State Senator D. E. Carpenter of Greeley, Colo., was in Santa Fe and conferred with the governor, state officials and legislators.

The Arizona State Legislature has been asked for $1,851,384 by the University of Arizona at Tucson. This amount is expected to cover operation, maintenance and various activities such as extension work. The appropriation is now being considered by both houses. The money is for the biennial period ending June 30, 1923.

Mosquero, N. M., has so outgrown its school facilities that it has been necessary for the directors to rent the Methodist church for some of the classes, until the new high school can be erected. Another teacher has been secured and some of the grades have already been moved into the new quarters for the balance of the term.

Petitions bearing 40,294 signatures, protesting against enactment of the bill making a day of rest compulsory and enforcing almost total suspension of ordinary activities on that day have been presented in the House of Representatives of the Arizona Legislature. Another petition bearing 87 signatures, urged passage of a bill to prevent dancing in public schools, including the State University.

A big forestry day with a wide spread planting of evergreen trees throughout New Mexico and Arizona when 70,000 young trees will be distributed free is planned by the forest service early in April. It has been announced at the district headquarters in Albuquerque. The trees are made available for free private and public planting through the abandonment of a great service nursery made necessary through lack of funds.

Plans are being made for the annual convention of the New Mexico Wool Growers' Association which will be held in Albuquerque on March 26 and 28. The convention committee meeting in that city prepared a tentative program and outlined business which will be taken up during the two days of the convention.

One of the recommendations made by Governor Campbell in his message to the Arizona Legislature came before the House in the form of a bill by Representative J. C. Phillips, Maricopa, to amend the divorce law. The bill—House Bill No. 79—provides that courts issue interlocutory decrees, with absolute divorces to be granted at the end of one year.

In the Foster Contest held during Farm and Home Week at the University, the first prize was won by Roy Deano of Douglas, the subject of whose poster was "Power Improves Waste Land." The second prize was taken by Dorothy Jaynes of Tucson, the title of her poster being "The Desert Reclaimed—Irrigation." The first prize was in black and white and the second was in color.

MRS. ALICE GRESHAM DODD, mother of the first American soldier killed in France, who gives credit for recovery of her health to the well-known medicine Tanlac.

The following remarkable endorsement of Tanlac was given recently by Mrs. Alice Gresham Dodd, at the Gresham-Memorial Home, Gavin Park, Evansville, Ind., which home was presented to her by the patriotic people of Indiana, as evidence of their appreciation of the services rendered to his country by her son, Corporal James E. Gresham, the first American soldier killed in France. Expressions of sympathy were received by Mrs. Dodd from all parts of the United States, and the newspapers of the country carried the story of the first "war mother."

The shock of her son's death resulted in the serious breakdown of Mrs. Dodd's health, but everyone will learn with interest and pleasure that she is now in splendid health again. When seen at her home recently she made the following statement, giving the entire credit for her recovery to the well-known medicine, Tanlac.

"After my dear boy's death I had a general breakdown in health," said Mrs. Dodd. "At first it was just indigestion. My food used to upset me and I had to diet myself very carefully, which wasn't much hardship, as I lost all desire to eat. Then I had an attack of rheumatism, with severe pains in my shoulders, back and arms. Sometimes I used to suffer a great deal, and my joints would get all swollen up and stiff. I was able to do very little about the house, and at times couldn't even cook a meal. I got very nervous and restless, and at night would lay awake for hours, and lost many a night's sleep as a consequence."

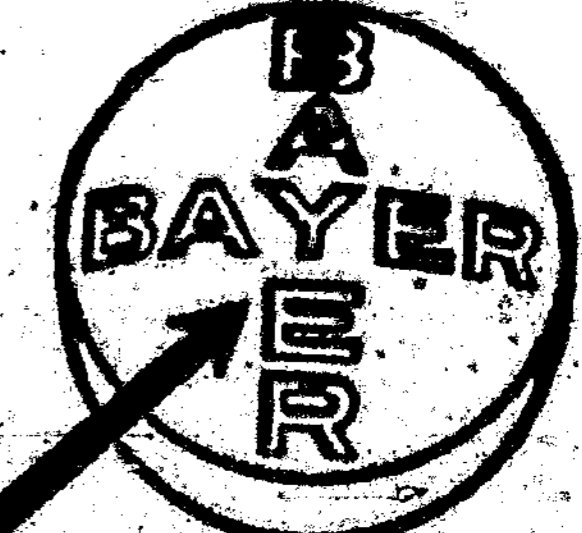

"A friend of mine had received a great deal of help from Tanlac, and it was she who advised me to try it. I am so glad I did for it proved the best medicine I have ever taken. It soon gave me a good appetite and seemed to settle my stomach so that I was no longer troubled with indigestion. I don't know what it is to have rheumatic pains now, the swelling and stiffness has all gone out of my joints and I am able to do the work of the house with the greatest ease. My nerves are now steady and strong. I sleep fine at night, and I feel better in health than ever before in my life. I shall always be grateful for what Tanlac has done for me, and shall recommend it every chance I get."

ASPIRIN

Name "Bayer" on Genuine

Beware! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for twenty-one years and proved safe by millions. Take Aspirin only as told in the Bayer package for Colds, Headaches, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Migraine, Toothache, Ischemia, and for Pain. Handy tin boxes of twelve Bayer Tablets of Aspirin cost few cents. Druggists also sell larger packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monacetic Acid, Germany.

Carrizozo School Notes
(By Mrs. J. M. Cole)

The Senior Reception, given to the Juniors and Sophomores on Friday, February 11, was a most delightful affair. St. Valentine and Cupid presided over the festivities. Over five hundred hearts were hung in festoons throughout the rooms. The reception was held at the home of Mrs. John E. Wilson and everyone reports a most delightful time.

On the afternoon of Feb. 11, the Eighth Grade, Mrs. Gumm's room, gave a Lincoln program, as follows:

Early Life of Lincoln... Abeline Lujan
 Lincoln as a Young Man...
 ... Josephine Lalone,
 Lincoln as President... Alice Aguayo
 A Tribute to Lincoln... Robana Corn
 Joe Aguayo
 "O Captain, My Captain".....
 ... Wayne Richard
 A Campaigner... Clayton Hust
 With His Sleek Boy... Charles Ross
 The Gettysburg Address... Albert Lalone

A Man Who Knew Lincoln...
 ... Charlotte Elliott
 The Blue and the Gray...
 ... Lillian Johnson
 Recessional... Willis Hutchins.

The following limerick was learned by the Chemistry class this week:

Teacher: "Have you seen Al?"
 Bright Pupil: "Al who?"
 Teacher: "Alcohol."
 Bright Pupil: "Kerosene him yesterday... He hasn't benzene since. Gasoline'd against a lamp post and took nap-tha."

The following is of interest to students of literature: Dr. Holland, better known as "Timothy Titcomb," was attending the service of one of the large churches in Springfield, Massachusetts, one day. During the service, a heavy electrical storm came up, and one of the gentlemen of the choir set out to secure an omnibus to take the ladies home. Among the fair singers was a certain Miss Etta..., and, as Dr. Holland was gallantly helping her into the vehicle, a terrific clap of thunder startled them, upon which he remarked: "Et in terror pax home in a bus" (Et in terra pax homibus). To close, it may be well to state that the doctor was not struck by lightning, but died years afterward peacefully in bed.

The Camp Fire Girls met for their first Ceremonial at the homes of their Guardians, Misses Herron and Forden. The service, as carried out by the girls in their ceremonial gowns, was very impressive.

The Boy Scouts met last Wednesday, and Friday of the week before. At the last meeting they learned to make the various kinds of knots and place stones, showing how to trace the path taken by some one who had gone before. Mr. Cole also showed how to test for copper ore.

The Girls' Club met last Wednesday night with Mrs. Cole. A very enjoyable time was spent in games and other forms of amusement. Light refreshments were served.

OYSTER SAUTE.

From the Philadelphia Record:
 Pour a quart of boiling water over 1 pint of oysters; drain them and chop them fine. Melt 2 tablespoons of butter, put them into the chafing dish, stir in the oysters, dust with salt and pepper, and caute until well browned. Add 2 tablespoons of very finely crushed biscuit or toast crumbs and three-fourths of a cup of cream. Stir all together and cook 3 minutes. Serve in separate cups and garnish with parsley.

Find the Cause!

It isn't right to drag along feeling miserable—half sick. Find out what is making you feel so badly and try to correct it. Perhaps your kidneys are causing that throbbing backache or those sharp, stabbing pains. You may have morning lameness, too, headaches, dizzy spells and irregular kidney action. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have helped thousands of ailing folks. Ask your neighbor!

A Colorado Case
 "My father told a story" Mrs. C. R. Foreman, 222 Harrison Ave., Canon City, Colo., says: "I suffered with rheumatic pains, irregular bowels and other symptoms of kidney trouble. I was told I couldn't live. The rheumatic attacks were so bad I couldn't walk across the room and my body was badly bloated. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and they helped. I kept on taking them until I was practically cured."

New Life for Sick Man

Eatonic Works Magic

"I have taken only two boxes of Eatonic and feel like a new man. It has done me more good than anything else," writes C. O. Frappir.
 Eatonic is the modern remedy for acid stomach, bloating, food repelling and indigestion. It quickly takes up and carries out the acidity and gas and enables the stomach to digest the food naturally. That means not only relief from pain and discomfort but you get the full strength from the food you eat. Big box only costs a trifle with your druggist's guarantee.

Stomach Distress, Neuralgia

Red Cloud, Nebr.—"Some time ago I wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice in regard to my stomach trouble, which I was sure was neuralgia. I began taking the Golden Medical Discovery along with Anuric Tablets and feel that I have been greatly benefited by their use. I had about given up when I wrote Dr. Pierce; now I am feeling fine. I have every faith in Dr. Pierce's medicines."—MRS. DORA COLEMAN.

JELLY PLANT.

Comparatively few people know, says the American Forestry Magazine, that we are getting jelly from plants. The Rescilio plant has high commercial value in the Philippines, Hawaii and other Pacific Islands. The plant is an annual and attains a height of seven feet. It is probably the only plant in cultivation in which the part utilized for food is the calyx which has excellent qualities for the manufacture of jelly and allied products.

Mandeville's Giraffe.
 Sir John Mandeville, in his "Travels," gives this description of a giraffe, which he calls "Gerafaunts" or "Orasies": "A beast spotted, and that is a little more high than a steed, but he hath a neck twenty cubits long, and he may look over a great high house."

 The bill in the Kansas Legislature which provided the right of a housewife to claim damages for injuries sustained in performance of her domestic duties, was killed by the judiciary committee.

Detective G. B. Hamby was shot dead at a Salt Lake City hotel by Tom Burns, who in turn was shot by Chief of Police Joseph E. Burbridge. Burns died within an hour. Chief Burbridge narrowly escaped death, a shot grazing and bruising his shoulder.

Nebraska Indians of the Winnebago and Omaha tribes, appearing before the legislative committee on medical societies at Lincoln, denied that the use of the peyote bean was harmful or that it was in the nature of a narcotic. The committee had under discussion the bill to regulate the use of the bean and mesqui.

Des Moines, Iowa, has raised $87,640 for entertainment of the Imperial Conclave Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, June 14, 15 and 16, the first day of the solicitation. Business men pledged $50,000, Sea-Ga-Zig temple added $25,000 and Individual Shriners contributed an additional $12,640. Sea-Ga-Zig temple plans a total fund of $125,000.

Because it was charged, newspaper men abused privileges accorded them for obtaining news in the Mare Island navy yard at Vallejo, Calif., an executive order has been issued reviving war time provision for news censorship at the island. Correspondents must submit their news stories to the commandant's office for approval before publication.

Charles Leslie Bunc, a grain sampler employed by a milling and elevator company in Ogden, Utah, is dead and Ward A. Dunn, an electrician, is in a serious condition from the effects of gas, caused, it is said, by the fermentation of moist grain in an elevator. Bunc toppled over shortly after he went for a sample and Dunn collapsed in trying to drag Bunc from the danger spot.

 President Wilson's veto of a bill to give title of seventy-six acres of swamp land in Montana to the Milk River Valley Gun Club of Montana was sustained by the Senate, 17 to 9. In his veto message President Wilson said that the land should be made a public game preserve.

Charges that a combination exists in the coal trade to maintain high prices of coal and to shut off the supply of coal to dealers who cut rates were put before the Senate committee considering the Calder coal regulation bill by J. C. L. Ritter, who said the "combination" put him out of business.

World trade conditions have shown little improvement since the first of the year, excepting in the Scandinavian countries and Belgium, but prospects for the future are somewhat brighter, the Department of Commerce was informed in reports from its representatives in Europe, Asia and South America.

American steam locomotives exported last year totaled 1,711 and were valued at $55,620,847, the federal trade commission has announced. This was an increase of 950 locomotives over 1919. "Before the war, Great Britain and Germany controlled the European locomotive market, but recently the United States has been the only country prepared to ship locomotives in quantity."

The first move to exempt the salary of the President from income taxes was made in the House by Representative Fell, Democrat, of New York. His bill would exempt not only the $75,000 salary of the President, but also the salary of the vice president from provisions of the income tax law. Beginning March 4, the President will have to pay an income tax of about $12,000 a year.

Renunciation of the Serres treaty, which is to be the basis of the London conference, is urged by former Premier Venizelos of Greece. "The treaty is the only guarantee of the stability of peace," he declared. He urged continued support by the allies of Greece. The people, as a whole, he declared, were pro-Ally.

Austria may become virtually an allied dependency if the proposals of the interallied mission, which has been investigating Austria's internal conditions, are approved by the Austrian and allied governments. "If these proposals are adopted Austria will be taken over lock, stock and barrel," said the Mittag Post.

The German government has accepted the invitation to participate in the allied conference on reparations in London March 1. It was announced in Berlin. The government in sending its acceptance, sets forth its supposition that the negotiations will include discussion of the German counter-proposals.

Numerous shooting affairs and outrages are reported in Dublin. Three masked men raided the Baggott street branch of the National Bank, eluded police pursuit and escaped with £1,000. Two military lorries were attacked when two bombs were thrown and a boy was injured. Armed men attacked the home of Gilbert Fenton.

A dispatch from Constantinople said that in an encounter at Zangouldak between a French gunboat and the Turkish tug, Alemadar, one Frenchman was killed and two wounded. The tug had fled from Constantinople, carrying arms and ammunition for the followers of Mustapha, Kemal Pasha, the Nationalist leader, and the gunboat pursued it.

The residence of the archbishop of Mexico in Mexico City, the Most Rev. Jose Mora, has been bombed. A bomb also was exploded at the entrance of the building occupied by Juergens and Company, American manufacturers of jewelry. There were no casualties. The bombings are declared to have been attempts at sabotage by radical labor elements.

Former Emperor Karl plans to return to Hungary in the spring, "whatever the consequences may be," it has been learned at Geneva. According to the information obtained, Karl has been working for some time to regain his throne. He was alleged to have recently written to a high personage in Budapest: "I will return to Hungary in the spring, whatever the consequences may be."

Greek armies will launch a whirlwind offensive against Turkish Nationalists in Broussa with the intention of "cleaning them up" if the allies fail to take action at London, General Vlachopoulos declared in an interview. "Mustapha Kemal's forces can be wiped out in ten days," the commander declared. Thousands of men are being rushed to the front from back sectors and preparations for the attack are complete, he said.

 Robert P. Brindell, president of the Building Trades Council, convicted of extortion from builders, was sentenced in New York by Supreme Court Justice McAvoy to serve from five to ten years in prison.

A cyclonic storm struck Haleyville, Ala. Houses were moved, small out-houses, garages, automobiles and some livestock were blown away. Telegraph and telephone connections were broken. No one was reported injured, though it is considered miraculous how some escaped.

Detective John Stavio, thirty-three years a member of the police department of Minneapolis, made a choice between paternal love and duty and arrested his son, Clarence, as a bandit suspect. After hours of investigation, the father expressed relief that the son is innocent.

Sheriff T. A. Grant of Ouchita parish, Louisiana, has notified Governor Parker that he had forgotten to hang Louis Eaton, negro, convicted of murder on Feb. 4, as required by the sentence, and asked what to do with the prisoner. The governor put the problem up to Attorney General Cocco.

When ex-Private Samuel Derman, a salesman of Norfolk, Va., several weeks ago paid a $10 fine for publicly thrashing ex-Capt. B. B. Fink, Jr., also a salesman, for alleged mistreatment while both were stationed at Camp Lee during the war, he announced "it was worth $1,000." Captain Fink took him at his word, but for good measure instituted civil suit to recover $10,000.

Thieves rob the Pennsylvania railroad station at Wilcox, near here, so often that it has become a habit. One night recently burglars took $50, including fifty rebate checks, which were later recovered beside the tracks near the station. Entrance was gained by forcing the bars between the waiting room and the office. This is the fifth time the office has been robbed since E. T. Davis became agent four years ago, and the third time since there has been no safe in the office.

MONEY IN BREEDING MUSSELS EVERYTHING WAS ALL RIGHT

United States Fisheries Bureau Reports That a Profit May Confidently Be Looked For.

The business of breeding pearly mussels artificially has been carried so far by the United States fisheries bureaus that a money profit is confidently promised.

To produce in this way 1,000 baby mussels costs about 20 cents. When they are full grown 18,000 of them will weigh a ton. Thus the cost of producing a ton of pearly mussels of market size (if all survived) would be, as exactly reckoned, $2.68. Assuming a loss of 50 per cent, the cost would be $5.36.

Pearly mussels occasionally yield valuable pearls, but commercially it is the shells, utilizable for mother-of-pearl, that are importantly to be considered.

The fisheries bureau has devoted its attention wholly to the propagation of superior varieties of mussels, the shells of which have at present time a market value of $35 a ton.

Judge Couldn't Be Spilling the Water When He Didn't Use Any Soap in the Bath.

A serious inconvenience is caused in Australia by the lack of spring water. The trouble is partly overcome by the use of huge tin tanks in which the rain is caught.

Naturally, toward the breaking up of the dry season, water becomes very precious.

A judge, on circuit, arriving at a bush shanty, asked for a bath. Such a luxury was naturally refused, as there was only a little water left at the bottom of the tank reserved for drinking purposes, says the author of "Quaint Acquaintances."

When dinner was ready, as the judge could not be found, the landlord went to call him; whereupon a muffled voice issued from the tank, where the judge was bathing!

The landlord, justly furious, roundly abused his guest.
 "Do not excite yourself," the latter observed, casually. "I am not spilling the water, for I am not using any soap!"

All visitors and strangers are welcomed at our Church to any and all services.

The Valentine Social last Monday night was a highly successful event. The Church had been tastily decorated with 500 red hearts, festooned through the Church, especially about the pulpit and platform which gave a pleasant effect. Music throughout the evening was furnished by Messrs. Ferguson, Pitts and Bamberger, and Mesdames Donaldson and Saunders.

Various interesting games were played. Miss Audrey Miller located the largest number of hearts in the valentine search; the best original valentine poem was written by Dr. Cole, with Mrs. Moss as a close second. Master Albert Roberts was the champion Cupid, in the heart piercing contest and guessing tags on backs and mending broken hearts interested everybody.

The Epworth League banquet next Tuesday evening promises to be an event of equal importance. Continuing the general series, subject of "Our Life Work" the sermon themes for Sunday are: 11: a. m. "Fields of Life Work"; 7:30 p. m. "When and by Whom Called." If you would rather stay at home than enjoy services, it is an indication that you are getting old.

The Railroad Payments

Washington, Feb. 15. — Commenting on the fact that the Wilson administration has refused to make part payments on the claims of the railroads for compensation under terms of government possession and operation, the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne Jr., says:

"The reason given by the treasury department is that the administration does not wish to pay by piece meal but wants to wait until each road has presented its claims in full. Manifestly the plan of the administration is unreasonable, for there are a multitude of different items in claim that will be made under the regulations, and no road desires to disclaim further demands by presenting a final statement before all the facts are known.

"While the roads were in the hands of Mr. McAdoo numerous damage claims and other liabilities were incurred, which the government did not liquidate, though it assumed the obligation. These roads must pay, and will be entitled to recover from the government, which was in control during the time the debt was incurred. Many other claims are still indefinite in nature.

"It is impossible for all the railroads to present final claims at once, and the administration knows it. The more plausible explanation of their attitude is that they wish to avoid paying out the money before March 4th, leaving the expenditures to be paid under the Republican administration. On the face of the record, this would lessen the Democratic expenditures and increase the amount paid out by the Republicans. Some few people would be deceived when the comparative figures are presented by the democratic campaign managers, but far more will understand and resent the effort to deceive them. The Country is pretty well impressed with the manner in which the McAdoo regime piled up deficits when operating the railroads."

Public Health Notes

The schools, except Osceola have been examined. Corona had a fine showing, 144 pupils were examined; there were a good many defects in some of the grades, two children underweight—and 18 not vaccinated. Brown and Gallinas schools were found in fair condition.

The school work has been followed up by corrections in most of the schools promptly.

There were three children found in the districts crippled; with the help of interested people the County has been enabled to have the children taken to Dr. Lukens' Hospital at Albuquerque.

Through the special effort of Mr. and Mrs. French and the Red Cross Chapter, a car was hired and a careful driver sent by the City Garage to take the children. We left last Friday morning and arrived in Albuquerque the same afternoon without any accidents. Dr. Lukens' Home is a comfortable, happy place; the children look well cared for. The Doctor himself seems like a fine man, and was very interested in the children from here. I left Saturday morning for Carrizozo and the children seemed quite contented to stay. They have a single bed each, and occupy the same ward. Everything in the Hospital is very clean, and the Matron, who comes from Chicago is a motherly woman. She promised me that they would have the best of care. Whooping cough patients are recovering and very few new cases are reported. The mothers responded finely to the appeal to keep the children at home.

E. A. GREENE,
Public Health Nurse.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, etc. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

FURTHER USE FOR RADIUM

Its Employment in Pottery is Said to Be Productive of Results of Great Benefit.

Water containing radioactive compounds is used as a curative agent for certain illnesses. Mere contact with such compounds for a sufficient length of time will make water slightly radioactive.

Pottery is now manufactured which has in it a small percentage of radioactive material. This is mixed with the clay and baked in the kiln. Water left in pottery of this nature for a short time will become radioactive by "induction," and a health-giving drink is made.

Such water may also be employed in the watering of plants with good results, since the presence of a radioactive compound near the roots of a plant is very helpful to its growth.—Popular Science Monthly.

Ward's latest collection in the dog line was a young puppy which his father compelled him to put in the barn for the night.

It wailed the whole night through and next morning Ward's father said indignantly: "Ward, you got rid of that pup. It howled all night and I did not get a bit of sleep."

With eyes full of indignation the little boy replied: "Well, papa, you got as much sleep as the pup did."

$250,000,000 FOR VETERANS

TOTAL OF $412,350,000 IS APPROPRIATED BY UNITED STATES SENATE.

SUPPLY BILL PASSED

HOUSE IS WARNED OF ECONOMY NEED BY REPRESENTATIVE GOOD.

(Western Newspaper Union News Service.)

Washington, Feb. 10.—The sundry civil appropriation bill has been passed by the Senate, carrying $412,350,000, of which about $250,000,000 is for war veterans. Among principal items was $18,600,000 for new hospitals and enlargements of hospital facilities for service men as requested by the American Legion. Funds for compensation and vocational training of the service men also were carried.

The appropriation of $10,000,000 for development of the Mussel Shoals, Alabama water power project was retained.

During final consideration, the Senate voted to increase the appropriation for Mississippi river flood control from $6,070,000 to $8,000,000.

The measure is but the second of the sixteen supply bills to be passed by the Senate, and Republican leaders are expressing private opinions that several appropriation measures appear to be doomed and will be forced over into the extra session.

As passed by the Senate, the sundry civil bill carried almost $30,000,000 more than the House provided, and about $20,000,000 less than the appropriation for the present year. It will be sent to conference.

Warning the House that the mounting wave of high taxation would not roll back without a sharp and sweeping reduction in government expenditures, Chairman Good of the appropriations committee declared the time had come to call a halt.

Huge figures were hurled over the heads of members as Mr. Good told dramatically of the vast sums expended, and the appeals for more. There was a shout of approval when he insisted that the appropriation bills must be passed before March 4, so that the framers of a new tariff law may know the amount of cloth out of which they must patch the nation's coat.

Laying down the definite policy that the expenses must be cut before talking of lower taxes, Mr. Good insisted that appropriations for the year beginning July should be kept within $3,500,000,000, virtually the sum recommended in the big supply measures for that period.

Mr. Good's plea for government economy was made in presenting the first deficiency bill for the present year, carrying $203,000,000. Democratic members of the committee declared there would be other deficiency sums, and Representative Byrnes, Dem. South Carolina, declared direct appropriations this year had passed the five billion dollar mark. This stupendous sum could best be understood, he added, by the fact that in order to meet it the government must levy an average tax of $50 on every man, woman and child.

In suggesting methods of raising revenue without making the burden on the individual more severe than it has been since the early days of the war, Mr. Good said he doubted if a tariff law could raise more than $400,000,000 without disturbing international trade relations.

Building Costs Lower in Seattle.

Seattle, Wash.—The Northwestern Association of Master Painters and Decorators have announced that decorating and painting costs to the building public would be reduced by 15 per cent. The reduction will be accomplished by a 12 1/2 per cent reduction in wages of painters and decorators and by cutting down the profits of contractors, according to the announcement. The reductions were agreed upon at a meeting of the association. The new wage scale will be on the basis of $7 a day instead of $8, as at present.

Imperialists Victors in South Africa.

London.—The South African Nationalists, who favor the secession of the union of South Africa from the British empire, were defeated by the Imperialists (antisecessionists) in the general election, according to notices received from Cape town giving latest returns. The feature of the result was the collapse of the Labor party which lost eleven seats in the National Legislature. Labor will have only eight seats in the next Legislature.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

Our Interest in Mining

Floyd W. Parsons, in the Saturday Evening Post of Jan. 23, reviews the mining situation in the U. S. and clearly shows that mining is one of the two basic industries of man, farming the other.

"Civilization has developed on a metallic basis, and the mine has been the real pioneer of industry and empire.

"Just now we are disturbed by the slump that has taken place in our metal mining industries. From a time of unusual prosperity, caused by the war, the metal mining industry has settled down to a period of dullness and readjustment.

"Of the many problems the mining industry is now facing none are more important than the questions of tax reform, blue sky registration, standardization, a protective tariff and operating costs under the new freight rates. In the matter of state mine taxation the metal producers are on solid ground in their contention that the so-called ad valorem basis of taxation for mining property is not economically sound as comparable to the same basis of taxation for real estate holdings or agricultural lands. When the miner produces the ore it becomes of value, is sold, and thereafter can never be of value to that piece of property again. A mine can only show income by depletion of its fixed value, while a farm not only yields an annual crop providing a yearly income, but at the same time is likely to show an increase in land value which is not affected by the return from the annual harvest."

The plainest lesson of the war was that the nation which exercises dominion over the minerals of the earth, including oil, controls the earth. Every westerner should stand solidly behind the mining industry and favor only constructive policies which encourage its operation and development, and particularly in regard to our foreign trade relations.

Capitan Sport Notes

The games between the Capitan Teams and Alamogordo were the fastest games played at our home court in years.

The Girls' game was a struggle for victory between two of the fastest teams in the State and the first consistent pass work, and the accurate shooting of the Home Team won for them a victory which reflects credit upon the girls. The score was 15 to 9.

The Boys showed much improvement in pass work and team work, but were easily outplayed by the fast quintet from Alamogordo. Score: 45 to 13.

Saturday, Feb. 19th, our teams play both teams from Tularosa on the home court. This promises to be a close contest for the boys especially, and the Tularosa girls are coming to win.

BLOODY WEST VIRGINIA GUN FIGHT NOW IN COURTS

Early in the summer of last year at Matewan, a little West Virginia village, occurred a deadly gun fight between the officers of the town and members of the Baldwin-Feltz detective agency. The Baldwin-Feltz organization operated over that section of the United States for many years, and on first organization contained several of the Feltz brothers who by the way were cousins of Ranger Dan Feltz, of the Lincoln National Forest. One by one the Feltz brothers and others of the organization or their men were killed in gun fights with outlaws and desperadoes, for the organization took a hand wherever their duty called regardless of the danger.

The Matewan affair, which is now being given publicity in the Associated Press dispatches, grew out of labor troubles with coal miners. The company operating the near by coal beds sought to have some of the striking miners evicted from the company property. The detective agency being retained by the coal company, was called in to force the evictions. The fight between the local officers of the Matewan village and the Baldwin-Feltz men, occurred at the end of the day when the latter were ready to take the train to leave the camp. Ten men hit the dust before the affray was over and men on both sides went down before the rifles of their adversaries. The press dispatches of the 15th contain the following:

Williamson, W. Va., Feb. 12.—A Baldwin-Feltz detective and two telephone operators opened the testimony in the Matewan shooting trials here today after more than two weeks had been taken up in obtaining a jury.

John McDowell, the detective, testified to the eviction of miners from the houses of the Stone Mountain Coal Company and that Mayor C. C. Testerman and Sid Hatfield had protested to Albert Feltz. He was unable to say, he testified, who fired the first shot, but he saw Reece Chambers one of the defendants bringing his gun into play.

May Chasin, a telephone operator niece of Reece Chambers, testified that she overheard a telephone conversation between Deputy Sheriff Tony Webb and Sid Hatfield, in which Hatfield asked when warrants could be obtained for the Baldwin-Feltz men and threatening to kill the detective before they left Matewan. This testimony was almost duplicated by Elsie Chambers, a daughter of Reece Chambers. Court then adjourned until 9 o'clock Monday morning.

The first shot of the battle that resulted in the death of ten men, came from the doorway of a hardware store near the railroad station, according to McDowell's testimony. He could not say who was the first man killed. He testified that Sid Hatfield, Matewan police chief, Albert C. Feltz and Mayor C. C. Testerman, all of whom were killed, were gathered about the doorway. When he turned over to the defense for cross-examination Attorney W. J. Conitt went back into "what has been accepted as the cause of the battle, the eviction of miners from houses owned by the Stone Mountain Coal Company."

"While a few of us were taking the furniture from a house," said the witness, "Feltz who was in charge said: 'Two or three of you had better get your rifles for yonder comes the mayor, Sid Hatfield, and a gang of men.' We did as we were told. Hatfield, Mayor Testerman and two or three others came up to where we were and protected against the eviction."

These Must Get There!

The delay from one single puncture may result in the loss of thousands of dollars worth of property; or worse, the loss of human life. Compression Inner Tubes keep moving when ordinary tubes go flat on nails and tacks. They make every road a SAFE road every mile a happy one.

Compression Tubes are about three times as thick as ordinary tubes. Their circumference is greater than the inside circumference of the tire. They are moulded with deep side and tread corrugations, which conform to the smooth surface of the casing when inflated. The air pressure, instead of stretching the tube, COMPRESSES it. Thus nail holes close automatically as the nail is withdrawn. No air is lost!

Save Tires as Well as Closes Punctures

By maintaining a uniform air pressure, Compression Tubes practically eliminate pinching and rim-cuts. They add 20 to 50 per cent to the life of the casings. They make your car ride easier. They should last as long as a car is driven by the average owner, or about 30,000 miles. The use of this long lasting, puncture closing tube is REAL motoring economy. Let us SHOW you this remarkable tube—NOW.

Ancestral Home in English County of "Hero of Two Worlds"

In the village of Sulgrave, Eng., in the heart of the Northamptonshire lanes, is still to be seen the manor house in which, until 1803, there lived the family of Laurence Washington, whose great-great-grandson, finding his way to Virginia in 1637, was to become the great-grandfather of George Washington, the first President of the United States. Carved in the corner of the stone lintel of this manor house is to be seen the Washington Stars and Stripes.

It was this great descendant's stroke for liberty that drew from the English statesman, Chatham, the whole-hearted declaration: "If I were an American as I am an Englishman, while a foreign troop was landed in my country, I never would lay down my arms—never, never, never." Chatham did not stand alone; with him being Pitt and Shelburne, all of whom saw that the threatened liberties of England could be saved in Washington's birthday.

Washington won for himself the title of "The Hero of Two Worlds," as a result of the victory of the British democrats who fought for more liberty under the rule of the king, made effective by Washington's successes. The title was bestowed upon him by Thomas Carlyle, who also nicknamed him "Scipio Americanus" and "Cromwell-Grandison," the latter title being given him because, like Cromwell, he fought to crush the pretense of a king.

The house, in Northamptonshire, England, was built before the domesday survey, and came into the possession of the Washington family in 1564. In 1914 the mansion, home of the ancestors of George Washington was bought by the British Peace Centenary committee in celebration of the one hundred years' peace between England and America. A committee of the Sulgrave society met in Manchester to raise an endowment fund for repairs and furniture. Toward this the Sulgrave Institute of America contributed $50,000; $25,000 was raised in London, and Manchester furnished the balance of $50,000. Among the subscriptions was $2,500 from the Stars and Stripes Women's club in Manchester, collected as a memorial to the American soldiers who died in the city.—Detroit News.

Washington Type of Highest Citizenship

In the formal observance of the anniversary of the birth of George Washington, it is well to pause to reflect upon the character of the man to whom the American people owe the utmost debt of gratitude. His services were rendered in the supreme hour of trial and in the dark days of national birth. As soldier and as statesman Washington stood supremely the leader of the people.

Putting aside all speculation as to what Washington would have done in this or in that specific situation of modern days, it can and should always be borne in mind that he would assuredly have been for a strong government, for the highest type of citizenship, for a devotion to a single allegiance, and for the broadest possible spread of education. He could not have favored or fostered a spirit of revolt against the established institutions, save by the legal and definitely appointed means. He had rebelled against the tyranny of British rule. He had led the American colonists to a victorious independence. But he could never have sustained a movement of mere dissent, conducted outside the pale of law or employing the weapons of sedition.

George Washington was a patriot in the truest sense, true to his convictions, true to the institutions that had been set up here in substitution for

NATION IN DANGER

Washington Resigning Command of the Army

December 23, 1783, George Washington resigned his commission as commander in chief of the army, and retired to private life. During the five years following the close of his military career he found sufficient occupation in attending to the affairs of his homestead and property and in fostering the progress of his native state. He greatly helped, by his correspondence, to bring the leading men of the country to a determination to form a more perfect union. He was president of the Philadelphia convention of 1787, which framed the Constitution of the United States. Washington was unanimously chosen the first President of the United States, and on April 30, 1789, took the oath of office in New York, where congress was then sitting. At the close of his term of office he was re-elected unanimously, and on March 4, 1793, took the oath of office for the second time.

the colonial administration which offended the sense of justice even of Britons of that day. He guided the new government capably, without a chart, finding the way carefully and sagaciously. He felt that though this new government had been set up in revolt, it must be conducted in a spirit of universal acceptance by the people of the principles that had been adopted as its foundation.

There is no support for the radicals of today in the fact that George Washington was a rebel against the rule of King George. His example will never serve to justify sedition or intrigue or selfish class alignments seeking to overturn that which has been reared through nearly a century and a half of painstaking, consistent development based upon the principle of the general welfare and the co-operation of all the people.

WASHINGTON.

Dust of the gray years cannot dim thy name,
Nor changes chill thy country's pride in thee;
Thou art as some bright light that burns steadily
Burns high above the little crackling flame
That lesser men may kindle, dreaming fame
Is one with party's brief idolatry.
On the low altars of humanity
Glory is quenched by the first breath of blame.

While the log's heart glowed with a living heat,
The faded Meleager knew not death,
But when it cooled his own must cease to beat—
He to the envious gods must yield his breath;
But children's children keep alive for thee
The brand their sires' love kindled reverently.
—Francis Beers in New York Sun.

Farm Abandonment Has Created Most Serious Situation.

Food Supply Threatened Through the Drift of the Population to the Cities—Now is Great Opportunity to Take-Up Land.

The question, "How is the country to be fed if the population continues to drift to the cities?" is one that should create an agitation that will bring about a reply that will mean a solution. The census, recently completed, reveals a situation truly alarming, one that has never been known in the United States before. The urban population is now greater than that of the rural districts by about 4,000,000. Cities and towns, each with more than 2,500 inhabitants, contain 54,318,032 persons, or 51.4 per cent of the total population, while the farms and smaller towns together claim only 51,399,739 persons, or 48.6 per cent of the total.

As is pointed out by an influential Chicago daily, "the drift to the cities is thus proved and, reduced to figures, showing a top-heavy condition of the industrial life."

Farming is and must remain the basic industry of the world, and, certainly should remain the basic industry of a nation with a continental area like ours. It is small profit to gain the markets of the world with manufactured goods if agriculture has decayed so badly as to furnish an uncertain subsistence for our people, and fluctuating crops are reflected in price changes that upset the economic life of the country. Yet we are within measurable distance of that condition, if the present or recent drift toward the cities continues.

Most writers on this topic take it for granted that young folks go from farms to cities merely to make more money. Doubtless that is something of a motive at all times and was a very strong one in the period immediately after the war when city industries paid wages totally impossible for farmers to rival.

It is hoped that this drifting has reached its apex. Unless it has, and there still remains a possibility of its continuance, the effect cannot be foretold. The great wave of manufactures for war purposes has ceased, and with it the number of those employed in factories is diminishing by thousands daily. It is therefore hoped that there will again be heard the slogan, "Forward to the Land." If prices to which farm land has reached are prices prohibitive to many, the opportunity is still open elsewhere. There are states possessing large areas of good land that may still be had at prices within the reach of many, and it is doubtless true that in self-preservation it will be necessary to bring these lands under cultivation. The prices are not high, considering their value. Then, too, there are the lands of Western Canada, that hold out an inviting prospect. Reports from there show that the prosperity of the farmers there is not mythical. Farming there is conducted on scientific principles, and the climate is such as appeals. The production amply repays all the expenditure that may be made. The social conditions are of a character that make farm life a pleasure, and tends to keep the young man and young woman from pining for urban life with so many drawbacks. If conditions as above mentioned, showing such a large percentage of population in the cities and towns, continues, they will require food. The opportunity to supply it is by the means suggested. Go forward to the farm, become independent, and become a factor in supplying the world's needs in cattle, sheep, grain and such other commodities as the farm will produce and the resident of the city requires.—Advertisement.

Fruits and Vegetable Prices Falling.

Washington.—The mild winter has been to a great extent responsible for low returns to producers of fruits and vegetables because of rot and the accumulated cost of storage and extra handling, the bureau of markets said in a report here. Prices started low and continued moving downward until "disagreeably close to the vanishing point," the report added. Late winter finds the six months' depression at its lowest, it is said, and wholesale prices have found new low levels. Dealers hold perhaps one-sixth of the potato stocks remaining and the farmers have the rest, the report continued, and present the potato markets in producing sections are close to demoralization. The situation generally is the same, the report added, in the case of cabbage, onions and apples.

Rich Men Duel to Death.

Lubbock, Tex.—Jim C. Bowles, 60, wealthy land owner, and Jim M. Wright, 62, also rich and prominent in civic affairs of his community, shot each other to death in a duel in a small country store at Shallow Water, fifteen miles west of Lubbock, during a school board meeting. Their legs were intertwined when they fell. The shooting was the result of a feud of many years involving a land boundary, authorities declared.

To Stop Short Term Divorce.

Reno, Nev.—An amendment to the Nevada divorce law, which provides that every applicant for divorce must have been a resident of the state for six months preceding commencement of divorce action, was passed by the assembly of the State Legislature and now goes to the governor for signature. The amendment, prohibits the "short-term" class of divorce, except for bona fide residents of the state.

Stockman and Farmers Held Meeting.

Montrose, Colo.—Gov. Oliver H. Shoup, Senator-elect Sam D. Nicholson, Charles A. Lory of the State Agricultural College, and George T. Wells of the Denver National Bank were the principal speakers at the opening sessions of the Stockmen's and Farmers' Conference. An address by Warden Thomas A. Tynan of the state penitentiary on "Good Roads," and a talk on the "Sugar Beet Industry" by A. E. Carlton, president of the Holly Sugar Corporation were other features. A smoker was held at which former Gov. El. M. Ammons of Colorado gave the address. "The adjustment of freight rates is the most important reform to livestock and farming industries at the present time," he said. "The government railway guarantee cannot continue, and the railroads must be put on a competitive basis, the same as other business." Mr. Ammons also declared that the state must improve transportation facilities within its borders and overcome the handicap caused by the junking of more railroads in the state than are being constructed. He also advised longer credit for the livestock industry.

Stanley Squier has sold his residence on Main street, Frank Maxwell being the lucky purchaser. The deal was closed Wednesday.

S. H. Nickles was in from Nogal the early part of this week, the first time since his recent spell of illness. He looked well, however, and is gaining rapidly.

Miss Hallie Callahan, niece of Dr. and Mrs. Carl E. Freeman, arrived Thursday from Pine, Colo., and will visit with the Freeman family for an indefinite period.

There will be another of those celebrated dances by the Carrizozo Dancing Club on Saturday night, February 19, at Lutz Hall. Ferguson's "Joy Makers" furnish the music.

Peter Phillips and family of Alto stayed over here last Saturday on their way to Bernardo Gap ranch which Mr. Phillips purchased some time ago from the Erastus Lacey family.

"Brandy" Doveton came in last Saturday and stayed over with Carrizozo friends until Tuesday. He is now with the Marshal Field people of Chicago, selling men's furnishing goods.

Rev. William Hoffman and family arrived the first part of the week from Lyon Creek, Mo., where the Reverend has been the pastor. Rev. Hoffman has accepted a call from the local Baptist Church, and comes well recommended. Rev. Smith, former pastor, has accepted a call near Tucumcari.

Walter La Fleur, Jr., met with a painful accident Tuesday. After the school hour, he climbed to the roof of the Carrizozo Eating House and losing his balance in some manner, he fell to the ground, sustaining a painful injury to his left side. Fortunately, he alighted on the lawn on the east side, but somehow struck a board which happened to be laying near the building, and physicians are of the opinion that this was the cause of his injury, mainly. At this writing the young man is improving nicely.

A. B. Graham, accompanied by several parties, all interested in the Parsons Mining Co., arrived here the first part of this week and are now at Parsons looking over the plant with the idea of further development of their interests. They will remain for about one week.

Senator E. M. Brickley came home the latter part of last week and stayed over this week to transact some important business. The Senator relates many incidents which have occurred since the two law-making bodies have convened, many of which contain information of vast importance, while others contain a good amount of harmless humor. The Senator is certainly alive to the interests of our community.

A new photograph gallery was opened this week in the Branum building, across from the City Garage on Alamogordo avenue, where all kinds of photo work and enlarging will be done at reasonable prices. Mr. and Mrs. Bayne are the proprietors, who extend an invitation to the public to call and investigate.

200,000 AUTO SHOW TO COVER 15,000 SQUARE FEET OF SPACE AT SANTA FE

Santa Fe, Feb. 10—Space is going fast on the great exhibit floor of the New Mexico Automobile Show at Santa Fe on March 3, 4 and 5, and reservations should be made without delay by intending exhibitors at this big statewide motor event. Fifteen thousand square feet of floor space will be occupied by $200,000 worth of cars.

Artist Gerald Cassidy is in charge of the elaborate decoration scheme in which cedar and aspen trees will play a principal part, making the big Olds garage a veritable bower of greenery, beautifully illuminated with electricity at night.

The famous Tucumcari Boy Scout band has been secured for the show. Mrs. Margarite Cluxton Root of Las Vegas, pianist, will play, and there will be a lively and entertaining program each night of band music, quartets, solos and fancy dancing. There will be dancing from 10 to 12 each night on a new floor laid for the occasion, the largest garage floor in the state.

Thursday night will be Grand Opening night; Friday night will be Governor's night with Governor and Mrs. M. C. Mechem present, and the show will wind up in a blaze of glory with Society night on Saturday.

All automobile owners are urged to lose no time in making exhibit reservations in the largest automobile trade event ever attempted in the state.

Reservations can be made by communicating with the chairman of the Auto Show Committee Santa Fe, N.M.

CENTER OF POPULATION IN U. S. IS LOCATED IN OWEN COUNTY, IND.

Washington, Feb. 14—The center of population as disclosed by the 1920 census is located in the extreme south east corner of Owen county, Ind., 83 miles southeast of the town of Spencer the census bureau announced today.

During the last decade the center of population continued to move westward, advancing 9.8 miles in that direction and about one-fifth of a mile each from Huntington Ind., where it was located by the census of 1910.

The bureau attributes the westward movement in the last decade "principally to the increase of more than 1,000,000 in the population of the state of California."
