

CITIZEN'S MILITARY TRAINING CAMPS

Commencing in the summer of 1921, and before July 15th or later than August 10th, the Citizen's Military Training Camps will be instituted throughout the whole United States.

All men, native and foreign-born, between the ages of 18 and 35 years, who meet the physical requirements and who bear good reputations are eligible to apply for enrollment.

Congress, recognizing the great value of military training, has appropriated funds enabling the War Department to give one month's training to ten thousand men.

The term of practical military training given in the Citizen's camps will consist of a series of three courses. In school these courses would be termed "freshmen," "junior" and "senior" classes. The series, as arranged at the training camps, will be known as the RED, the WHITE and the BLUE courses.

The RED course will be the "freshman" class and will appeal to (1) young men between sixteen and twenty-one—youths who desire, but who never have had the opportunity to obtain military training; and (2) those who have military training in school and cadet companies, but who desire, in addition, practical military instruction in the field.

Young men among the following groups who wish to attend one of the camps should apply at once for enrollment:

1. Young men with little or no military training.
2. Boy scouts over 16 years of age.
3. Those receiving military training in high schools and academies, who have not the opportunity to attend a summer camp.
4. Members of the Junior Division, Reserve Officers' Training Corps, who are not privileged to attend the Senior Camps.

Upon the completion of the RED course all candidates who have reached the required degree of efficiency—which can be obtained through attention and obedience to instructions—will be given a certificate indicating that they have been found qualified for enlistment in the Organized Reserves of the Army of the United States.

White and Blue Courses.

The two higher courses—the WHITE and BLUE—require that a candidate shall have had previous military training and the minimum ages required for enrollment are 19 and 21 years. Successful completion of these courses will qualify a man for appointment as a non-commissioned officer or an officer in the Organized Reserves. Those desiring additional information regarding the WHITE and BLUE courses may write to the Commanding General of the Corps Area in which they reside. The enrollment for the RED course will be made from the earliest applications received; therefore, all who are interested should make immediate request for additional information and the necessary blank forms.

C. M. T. Free of Charge.

Attendance at one of the Citizen's Military Training Camps will be without cost to the candidate. Upon being accepted for enrollment, he will be notified to proceed to the camp designated so as to arrive there on the date specified. Upon his arrival at the camp designated each candidate will be reimbursed for the amount of his traveling expenses at the rate of five cents per mile. This will cover the cost of the fare and will provide additional amount for other expenses incurred enroute, such as meals, etc. At the termination of the period of the encampment the boys are returned to their homes, payment for the return travel will be made before their departure from camp.

All training and instructions will be given at permanently established camps in different parts of the country, the student benefiting from the associations to be had at a fully garrisoned Regular Army post; he will have an opportunity to study the functions and activities of combat troops; the tanks; the field and coast artillery; the cavalry; infantry; signal corps and air service.

The candidate will act and feel a part of the regular troops; he will be one of them. Upon arrival at camp, the enrollment finished, a complete outfit of soldier's equipment will be issued. A place to eat and sleep will be assigned. Instructions regarding medical attention, the doctor, in the

MURDER MOST FOUL

Last Monday evening about 7 o'clock, just as Mr. A. L. ...

... the most heinous murders was committed in the presence of a train of people ... The victim, Charles ... was a resident of Carrizozo ... was an employee of the ... in the capacity of ... The man had had some minor differences some time ago, but to all who knew of the trouble, fears of a collision over the matter were abandoned, but Howard Avert, who did the killing, had perhaps been nursing his wrath, waiting for an opportunity to take the drop on Mr. Lackland, and this proved to be his chance. Lackland and W. W. McLean, engineer, had just finished lunch at a local cafe in Duran and the former, lighting a cigarette, started across the street to meet No. 4 which had just arrived. As he neared the depot, Avert came across from his home which is close to the depot and taking Lackland by surprise, pulled his gun and began firing at the defenseless man. The first shot struck the victim in the wrist, the next in the arm and Lackland attempting to turn, the third struck him in the spine. Lackland fell, mortally wounded.

Not content with his work, the assassin fired two more shots into the body of the dying man. He expired in about five minutes. The body was brought to Carrizozo where funeral services were held on Wednesday, conducted by Rev. Higbee of the Methodist Church and on the same night, the body was shipped to Palestine, Texas, for burial. Deceased is survived by a wife and some four sisters, two in Texas, one in Washington and one in Michigan. Too much cannot be said in condemnation of such acts, which give a man no signs of warning and descending as it did on the victim who unwarned and unprotected was suddenly launched into eternity over some trivial matter that could easily have been settled in a friendly fashion. The family have the sympathy of the entire community.

... of toothache, and where the weekly wash shall be sent, will be given him in a comfortable and easy manner the citizen of yesterday will today find himself enveloped in the charm of a soldier's life.

All but the subjects necessary for practical military training will be eliminated from the instruction program. The essence of past experience in the training of millions will be devoted to the training of these thousands of American lads. Five hours each day will be set aside, normally, for military instruction, in addition to the time required for ceremonies, such as reveille, guard-mount, retreat, and for athletic exercises and competitions.

The instructions for all candidates in the RED course will cover the duties of a private in the following subjects: The school of the soldier, squad and company; rifle practice; guard duty; camp and marching; individual cooking; care of equipment; personal hygiene and physical development; the teaching of discipline; and the development of that spirit of mental contentment which permits cheerful compliance with instructions by and body of men subject to military discipline.

Physical training will occupy a prominent place in the program, including body development and instruction in training methods. The spirit of competition will be particularly encouraged. Those who have achieved athletic ability in school or other amateur sports will be eligible for selection as platoon representatives to meet with the company athletic leader and to lead his own platoon in competitions with other organizations. Every candidate will take part in all manner of athletic games and all will learn to play as well as to supervise and conduct sports. Play, in which the entire personnel take part, as well as highly specialized sports such as basketball, baseball, track and field, will form a part of the daily life at the camp.

Recreational periods may be enjoyed as the candidate wishes. There will be vaudeville and motion picture shows. There will be opportunities for the candidates to exercise their own ability to entertain at musicals and shows promoted among themselves. Facilities will be available for letter-writing and for the entertainment of guests and visitors. Religious services for all faiths will be held.

Memorial Day

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR.

Memorial Day since the recent great war has been given a broad, world wide significance. For over fifty years we have observed the day in honor of the soldiers, living and dead, who fought in the Civil War; and in more recent years the ceremonies of the day have included the boys who defended us in the Spanish-American War, also the brave lads who gave up their lives at Vera Cruz. We now have the sacred privilege of including in our tributes of gratitude on Memorial Day the soldiers, sailors and marines who served in the world war. Over fifty thousand American youths made the supreme sacrifice and great numbers of them rest on foreign soil.

The deathless words uttered by Abraham Lincoln at Gettysburg have become a national ritual in our Memorial Day service. As these profound words applied to our country's condition and life in these days, they now apply to the entire civilized world, and I deem it fitting to include herein the last paragraph of that great American document:

"But in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here, have, thus far, so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Now, therefore, I, M. C. Mechem, Governor of the State of New Mexico, do hereby designate as Memorial Day in the State of New Mexico, and respectfully invite all citizens to observe the day in a manner suitable not only to reaffirm our devotion to the memory of those who participated in the defense of our country many years ago, but to those who stepped into the breach for the cause of human freedom in the colossal world conflict just ended.

Done at the Executive Office this the 26th Day of May, 1921.

Witness my Hand and the Great Seal of the State of New Mexico, M. C. MECHEM, Governor.

Attest: MANUEL MARTINEZ, Secretary of State.

TYPHUS FEVER MAKES APPEARANCE AMONG NAVAJO INDIANS

Santa Fe, N. M., May 21.—Typhus fever, scourge of the Balkan States, and a constant menace to the armies during the Great War, has made its appearance in New Mexico among the Navajo Indians of San Juan county, taking a toll of sixteen lives thus far. Among the victims are two physicians of the Indian service, Dr. J. C. Giffin and Dr. Davis, both of Shiprock. It does not appear to have spread to the white population in the State as yet, but may do so unless the local health authorities maintain a strict watch upon every suspicious case of disease appearing in their communities.

The Director of the State Bureau of Public Health, Dr. C. E. Waller, has been in San Juan County for several days studying cases of a mysterious epidemic disease, and has just wired the Bureau in Santa Fe that he has definitely diagnosed the condition as typhus fever. Dr. Waller is being assisted by Assistant Surgeon-Tappan, U. S. Public Health Service, who is engaged on the border typhus quarantine, at El Paso. A request has also been sent to the U. S. Public Health Service to detail Surgeon Joseph Goldberger, the chief authority on typhus in this country, to the Reservation for the purpose of controlling the outbreak. While the State has no jurisdiction within the Indian Reservations, there is very close cooperation between the U. S. Public Health Service, the State Bureau of Public Health, and the Indian Medical Service, so that every precaution will be taken to prevent the disease from spreading into the surrounding communities.

Typhus fever is not to be confused with typhoid fever, although they may look somewhat alike at first. Typhus is more rapid in its onset and in the development of the fever. The eruption appears in about five days and spreads from the flanks to all parts of the body. The face becomes swollen and dusky and the whole skin may be mottled. There are slight hemorrhages under the skin that are sometimes confused with so-called "black" measles. Quite early in the disease the mouth becomes foul and sore. There is also considerable clouding of the mind and a tendency to delirium.

This disease is spread only by body lice and head lice. Where there are no lice there can be no typhus fever. After a louse bites a person who is sick with the disease, it carries the infection in its body for several days before it can transmit it to other persons. After that time it is capable of giving the disease to anyone whom it may bite. Vigorous measures for destroying all lice will soon stamp out the epidemic. It is only necessary to bathe every person, who has been near a typhus case in kerosene or gasoline, so that it is necessary to repeat the soaking three times at intervals of five days, in order to catch the lice that have recently hatched out.

The State Bureau of Public Health is warning all health officers in the State to be on the lookout for cases of typhus, and to wire the Bureau at the appearance of the first suspicious case. It is also sending a letter to every doctor in the State, to the same effect. There is every prospect that the epidemic will be quickly stamped out, now that it has been recognized and energetic measures for its control instituted.

CARRIZOZO WOMAN'S CLUB

The Club will meet at the home of Mrs. E. E. Blaney at Oscura, on June 3. As this will be the last meeting of the season, a large attendance is desired. Chairmen of the different departments of the Club are urged to bring or send in their reports. Refreshments will be served.—Como.

Buck Stover

At the parsonage of the Baptist Church on May 20, with the Rev. Wm. Huffman performing the ceremony, occurred the marriage of Wm. M. Buck of Tularosa and Miss Winnie Inez Stover of San Patricio. The newly weds will make Tularosa their future home.

NEW REGULATIONS ISSUED TO GOVERN APPOINTMENT OF POSTMASTERS BY COMPETITIVE EXAMINATION PLAN

The new regulations on postmaster appointment follow: When a vacancy exists or hereafter occurs in the position of postmaster at an office of the first, second or third class, if such vacancy is not filled by nomination of some person within the competitive classified civil service who has the required qualifications, then the postmaster general shall certify the fact to the civil service commission, which shall forthwith hold an open competitive examination to test the fitness of applicants to fill such vacancy, and when such examination has been held and the papers in connection therewith have been rated, the said commission shall certify the results thereof to the postmaster general, who shall submit to the president the name of one of the highest three qualified eligibles for appointment to fill the vacancy unless it is established that the character or residence of any such applicant disqualifies him for appointment. Provided, that at the expiration of the term of any person appointed to such position through examination before the civil service commission, the postmaster general may, in his discretion, submit the name of such person to the president for reappointment without further examination.

No person who has passed his 65th birthday, or who has not actually resided within the delivery of such office for two years next preceding each vacancy, shall be given the examination herein provided for.

If, under this order, it is desired to make nomination for any office of a person in the competitive classified service, such person must first be found by the civil service commission to meet the minimum requirements for the office.

Statement of President

There are more than 400,000 men and women participating in governmental work who are in classified service. All of these are under the permanent provisions of the civil service law and rules.

These permanent rules provide for the certification of the highest three eligibles, from which list of three each necessary appointment is made. The successful operation of the principles of civil service law has demonstrated the wisdom of this provision. This leaves in the appointing power, who has the ultimate responsibility for efficient administration, the necessary, constitutional right of choice. This right of selection is the kind of responsibility which cannot legally be and is not abridged by act of congress, and is in exact harmony with the spirit of the civil service principle.

There are 52,332 postmasters. Of these, 20,433 are in the fourth class, and are now under such civil service laws and regulations as bring them within the privileges and conditions of the classified service.

Of the remaining 12,899 postmasters, 760 are first class, 2017 are second class and 5,583 are third class. Obviously these offices are business agencies of the government in legal purpose and should become so in fact. The only certain ultimate way to bring this about is to classify first, second and third class postmasters. This will require an act of congress. It is a step forward, measured by the requirements of progress, and is one which I hope will be made. Under existing laws the executive has no power to require that these offices be placed in the classified service.

Moving in that direction, however, the executive order issued today provides that if any such vacancy is not filled by nomination for promotion of one from within the competitive classified civil service, then an open competitive examination shall be held and the appointment shall be made from one of the highest three eligibles, as required now by law in the classified civil service.

This order, which is for our own guidance in making these appointments, will bring an operation squarely within the requirements of any probable future legislation. Under this order the kind of test and plan of investigation and examination which shall be provided, shall be approved by the president and shall be based on the applicant's business training, experience, fitness, organizing and executive ability and general qualifications for an efficient administration, and shall in no sense be a test of scholarship or general education, which might result in a high grade in theory, but not a guaranty of efficiency in fact.

This order applies to all present incumbents of post offices whose terms have expired, and will apply to all other incumbents as their terms expire.

BURSUM BILL TO AID CATTLE MEN MAY BE PASSED

Washington, D. C., May 23.—Relief for Texas and New Mexico cattlemen seems to be in sight. Secretary of the treasury Mellon has agreed to favorably consider the bill of senator Bursum, of New Mexico, which would create out of the federal reserve board funds a special fund of $500,000,000, known as the "cattle loan fund."

The essence of the Bursum bill is that, as the sudden reduction in price of cattle and agricultural products has so embarrassed the cattlemen and depreciated livestock paper, it is necessary to create a special fund to aid cattle growers.

The bill will provide modification of the federal reserve law so that reserve banks may purchase discounts based on livestock security, which discounts will be guaranteed unconditionally and may run for a period of two years, subject to renewals.

The gist of the regulations under the Bursum bill would simply be to extend longer bank credits to the livestock men and enable them to have time to recover from the present low prices of cattle and depression in agricultural products.

The Bursum bill with modifications suggested by secretary Mellon, has an excellent chance to pass at this session.

Senator Bursum is to see president Harding and enlist the president's support for the bill on Wednesday.

DEATH OF FRANKLIN K. LANE

The Nation sustained a great loss Wednesday, May 18th in the death of Franklin K. Lane. His death was unexpected to his family and close friends. He had undergone an operation for appendicitis and gall stones at Rochester, Minn., May 6th. He had rallied from this operation very satisfactorily and was generally supposed to be on his way to complete recovery when he had an attack of heart failure.

CARRIZOZO HONORED

Governor Mechem and party stayed over several hours on Monday, on a tour of this portion of the State.

Pardon us for being late. We are moving into our new quarters, hence the delay.

WEST-HUGHES

Tuesday evening at the parsonage of the Baptist Church, Joseph West and Miss Rachel Hughes were united in marriage with Rev. Wm Huffman performing the ceremony. The wedding which came with no surprise to their many friends, was attended by only immediate members of the two families. The bride, was reared in Carrizozo, was educated in our schools, afterwards teaching for several terms before her marriage to Mr. West. She being a native product of Lincoln County, her friends and admirers are many and all join in extending their best wishes for future welfare and happiness. The groom is an employee of the E. P. & S. W. in the capacity of car inspector. He has resided here for the past four years, part of which time was spent in the U. S., during the late war, Joe, performing his part in establishing peace. Mr. West is far seeing in his calculations; he had a home built and ready to conduct his bride to, after the ceremony, where the newly married couple will reside in the future. The Outlook extends its best wishes with the many friends of both parties who are showering them with congratulations.

The export trade of the big packers slumped $520,000,000 during the last year. Thomas E. Wilson of Wilson & Co. told the House agriculture committee in opposing packer control legislation. Meat producers, he declared, receive 87 cents of each dollar the packers receive for meat and the decrease in exports resulted in a loss to the livestock raisers of $430,000,000. "In the year 1920 there was exported from the United States 1,200,000,000 fewer pounds of meat products than during the previous year," he said. "It was this decrease that caused the lower prices to the producer."

The University of Arizona will conduct summer sessions this year at Flagstaff and Bisbee, co-operating with the Northern Arizona Normal School and the Bisbee public schools. The session at Flagstaff will last 10 weeks, opening June 20 and closing August 25. The entire session is divided into two five-week halves and all courses carry definite units of credit for each five-week term.

Aubrey Mitchell, 15, was accidentally shot and killed by Claude Smith, a playmate, at the latter's home, nine miles north of Peoria, Arizona. The two boys were playing with a revolver when it was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering the left lung, young Smith told officers. Death followed almost instantly. The executive board of the New Mexico Cattle and Horse Growers' Association will meet in Magdalena June 30, when many questions which have come up since the annual meeting will be taken up.

PEACE HINGES ON LABOR'S ACTS ON LABOR'S ACTS

LEADERS QUIET IN FACE OF ANNOUNCEMENT OF COMING CUT IN WAGES.

RAIL WAGES REVISED

OFFICIALS CLAIM BETTER TIMES AHEAD UNDER LOWER SCHEDULE.

(Western Newspaper Union News Service.)

Chicago, May 19.—"What will labor do?" was the question that became uppermost as a result of the announcement of the United States Railroad Labor Board that wages of railroad employees will be revised downward, effective July 1. On the attitude taken by the labor organizations, observers declared, hinges the question of peace in the railway industry.

No inkling of their attitude or intentions was forthcoming Wednesday from leaders of the railroad workers here. It was the evident desire of the men who have directed labor's fight to prevent wage cuts to wait until the full details of the board's plan are announced before making definite statements.

Railroad heads, however, were inclined to see better times ahead for the roads as a result of the ruling. In railway executive circles, there also was manifested a disposition to await details before commenting. H. E. Byram, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, pronounced the board's statement "encouraging," but said the benefits to be derived from it by the roads will depend on the "reductions to be made."

The announcement of the board declares that, in its judgment, a "readjustment downward of wages of employes of the carriers which are parties to the disputes already heard" is justified. The board promised to announce on June 1 a decision covering these disputes, the decision to become effective July 1.

On Monday, June 6, the board will hear wage reduction cases that have been filed since April 18, or which will be filed between now and June 6. The decision in these disputes also will be effective July 1.

Although no inkling of the extent of the reduction to be made was given by the board, it was the general belief that the wage cuts will aggregate approximately 12 per cent. Unskilled employes of the roads will be chiefly affected. Percentages of increases granted to skilled workmen by the board's decision of July 20, 1920, were not so great, hence it is believed reductions now to be made will be less.

The advance in pay last July was 20 per cent and amounted to $650,000,000. The general reduction of wages for unskilled railroad employes will be made the basis of reductions extending to all classes of railroad labor, it was understood Wednesday.

Following this cut in wages a reduction in freight rates and passenger fares may be announced.

Under the new classification to be used as a basis for future wage cuts or otherwise modifying the $650,000,000 annual increase in wages granted last July, each group and grade of employes is given a standardized nomenclature which is expected to simplify the work of both the labor board and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Lack of uniform classification has been the cause of bitter clashes in the past. Recently executives of the Pere Marquette road charged that a change in title of four of their employes, although there was no change in duties, cost them over $3,000 in back pay.

"The use of standardized nomenclature, based on duties," the board stated, "will also enable the board to make comparisons with similar occupations outside of the railroad service and to detect and measure inequalities in wages between positions in the railroads and outside organizations. With this establishment, a foundation is laid for securing comparative information."

Men Held for Killing Father.
Peoria, Ill.—Paul Weir, who was shot four times by his son, James, when it is alleged he threatened the youth's life because the latter interfered when the father was beating his wife, died in a Canton, Ill., hospital. A coroner's jury investigating the case decided young Weir shot in self-defense. He is being held, however, pending action of the grand jury, which is in session.

Cable Bill Passes House.
Washington.—The Senate bill giving the President authority over cable landings on American shores and empowering him to issue licenses for cable operation has been passed by the House. It goes to conference. The measure has been pressed by at least two administrations and is designed to remove any doubt as to the right of the executive to prevent unauthorized cable landings. This right has been questioned for half a century.

THE TRIALS OF A HOUSEWIFE

How They Have Been Endured and How Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Providence, R. I.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a female trouble and backache. It began just after my baby was born, and I did the best I could about getting my work done, but I had awful bearing-down pains, so I could not stand on my feet. I read in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the good it was doing other women, and I have got dandy results from it and will always recommend it. You can use these facts as a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HERBERT L. CASSEN, 18 Main Court, Providence, R. I.

Ohio woman for three years could hardly keep about and do her housework as well as she did. Made well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; Fayette, O.—"For about three years I was very nervous and had backache, sideache, dragging-down pains, could not sleep at night, and had no appetite. At times I could hardly do my housework. I got medicine from the doctor but it did not help me. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and took it with good results, and am now able to do my housework. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. CHESTER A. BATT, R-15, Fayette, Ohio.

An Illinois woman relates her experience: Bloomington, Ill.—"I was never very strong and female trouble kept me so weak I had no interest in my housework. I had such a backache I could not cook a meal or sweep a room without raging with pain. Rubbing my back with alcohol sometimes eased the pain for a few hours, but did not stop it. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and six bottles of it have made me as strong and healthy as any woman; and I give my thanks to it for my health."—Mrs. J. A. McQuerry, 610 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

The conditions described by Mrs. Cassen, Mrs. Batt, and Mrs. McQuerry will appeal to many women who struggle on with their daily tasks in just such conditions—in fact, it is said that the tragedy in the lives of some women is almost beyond belief. Day in and day out they slave in their homes for their families—and beside the daily routine of housework, often make clothes for themselves and for their children, or work in their gardens, all the while suffering from those awful bearing-down pains, backache, headaches, nervousness, the blues, and troubles which sap the very foundation of life until there comes a time when nature gives out and an operation seems inevitable. If such women would only profit by the experience of these three women, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the natural restorative for such conditions it may save them years of suffering and unhappiness.

There is hardly a neighborhood in any town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman does not reside who has been restored to health by this famous medicine. Therefore ask your neighbor, and you will find in a great many cases that at some time or other she, too, has been benefited by taking it, and will recommend it to you. For more than forty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring suffering women to health and strength.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Afflictions Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

One Time That Mr. Hogg Scored on the Partner of His Joys and Sorrows.

Former Senator John W. Weeks was lately recalling some of the happy days of the long ago in Washington. In those days, he said, there were such things as bars, and his friend Hiram Hogg, spent a great deal of his time on the fringe of the cases. One night after an unusually long sojourn near his favorite bar, Mr. Hogg navigated painfully home and at last reached his bedroom. Mrs. Hogg was waiting for him.

"Hiram," she said, after a swift appraisal of his condition, "I am ashamed of you—utterly ashamed. You are a Hogg by name and a hog by nature."

"Yes, m'dear," replied the prodigal, meekly, "but even at that I have the advantage over you. You are a Hogg by name, but you became a Hogg by choice."—Exchange.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition. Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it takes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them.

The Homesteader

"I have tried," said Harris, "and it's no use. She's got those notions like Beulah—quitting work, and twillights and sunsets and all that kind of thing. There's no use talking with her; reason don't count for anything. I gave her a good pocketful o' money, and told her to write for more when she needed it. She'll get over her notions pretty soon when she gets among strangers. Go in and have a talk with her, boy; there's no use you helin' at puts with her, too. As for me, I can't do anything more."

"I suppose you know best," he answered, "but it seems—hang it, it's against all reason that you two—that this should happen."

"Of course it is. That's what I said a minute ago. But reason don't count just now. But you have your talk with her, and give her any help you can if she wants t' get away at once."

Allan found his mother in her room, packing a trunk and gently weeping into it. He laid his hand upon her, and presently he found her work-worn frame resting in his strong arms.

"You're not going to leave us, mother, are you?" he said. "You wouldn't do that?"

"Not if it could be helped, Allan. But there is no help. Your father has set his heart on more land, and more work, and giving up this home, and I might as well go first as last. More and more he is giving his love to work instead of to his family. Perhaps when I am away for a while he'll come to himself. That's our only hope."

The boy stood helpless in this confusion. He knew something of the depth of the nature of his parents, and he knew that beneath an unobtrusive exterior they cherished in secret a love proportionate to the strength of their character. But the long course down which they had walked together seemed now to be separating through neither will nor power of their own; it was as though straight parallel lines suddenly turned apart, and neither lost its straightness in the turning.

So he comforted his mother with such words as he could. Loyal to his father forbade laying any of the blame on those shoulders, and to blame his mother was unthinkable; so with unconscious wisdom he spoke not of blame at all.

"Of course, while we are away, why shouldn't you have a visit?" he said. "Here you have been chained down to this farm ever since I can remember, and before. And then, when I get settled on my own homestead, you'll come and keep house for me, won't you?"

"You're sure you'll want me?" she asked, greatly comforted by his mood. "Perhaps you'll be getting your own housekeeper, too."

"Not while I can have you," he answered. "You'll promise, won't you? Nothing that has happened, or can happen, will keep you from making my home yours, will it? And when you're not going to leave us, mother, are you?"

Riles took the suggestion of a few days' delay with poor grace. "Yes, an' while you're chasing up an' down for a housekeeper the Yankees get all the homesteads. They're comin' in right now by the train load, grabbin' up everything in sight. We'll monkey round here till the summer's over, an' then go out an' get a sand farm, or something like. Couldn't your wife do her visitin' no other time?"

"I'll tell you, Riles," said Harris, who had no desire to pursue a topic which might lead him into deep water, "you go ahead out' an' get the lay of the land, and I'll follow you within a week. I'll do that, for sure, and I'll stand part of your expenses for going ahead, seel'n you will be kind o' representin' me."

The last touch was a stroke of diplomacy. The suggestion that Harris should pay part of his expenses swept away Riles' bad humor, and he agreed to go on the date originally planned, and get what he called "a bed on the easy money," while Harris completed his arrangements at home.

He was to get "a bed on the easy money" in a manner which Harris little suspected.

When Harris returned home the next forenoon he found that Mary had already left for Plainville. He sat down and tried to think, but the house was very quiet, and the silence oppressed him. He looked at his watch, and concluded he had still time to reach Plainville before the train would leave. But that would mean surrender, and surrender meant weakness.

CHAPTER IX.

A Whiff of New Atmosphere.

Riles found the journey westward a tiresome affair. It was his first long rail journey in over 20 years, but his thoughts were on the cost of travel rather than on the wonderful strides which had been made in its comfort and convenience.

As fate would have it, Riles selected as the base of his homestead operations the very foothill town to which Beulah Harris had come a few weeks before. He sought out the cheapest hotel, and having thrown his few belongings on the bed, betook himself to the bar room, which seemed the chief center of activity, not only of the hotel itself, but of the little town. Men were lined three deep against the capacious bar, shouting, swearing, and singing, and spending their money with an abandon not to be found in millionaires.

Riles debated with himself whether the occasion justified the expenditure of 10 cents for a drink when a hand was placed on his shoulder, and a voice said, "Have one with me, neighbor." He found himself addressed by a man of about his own age, shorter and somewhat lighter of frame and with a growing hint of corpulence. The stranger wore a good pepper-and-salt suit, and the stone on his finger glowed like a real diamond.

"Don't mind if I do, since I mention it," said Riles, with an attempted smile which his bad eye rendered futile. One of the bartenders put something in his glass which cut all the way down, but Riles speedily forgot it in a more exciting incident. The man in the pepper-and-salt suit had laid half a dollar on the bar, and no change came back. Riles congratulated himself on his own narrow escape.

"You'll be looking for land?" inquired the stranger, when both were breathing easily again.

"Well, maybe I am, and maybe I ain't," said Riles guardedly. He had heard something of the ways of confidence men and was determined not to be taken for an easy mark.

"A man of some judgment I see," said his new acquaintance, quite unabashed. "Well, I don't blame you for keeping your own counsel. The rush of people and money into the West has brought all kinds of bastards in its train. Why?"—with growing confidence—"the other night—"

"Who's there?" he demanded. "Gen'lman to see Mr. Riles," said the porter. "Well, shoot 'im in. The door ain't locked," said Riles, in considerable wonderment as to who his visitor might be.

The door opened, and a well-dressed man of average height, with carefully combed hair and clean-shaven face, save for a light mustache, stood revealed in the uncertain glow of the match with which Riles was endeavoring to find his lamp. His visitor was a man of twenty-eight or thirty years, with clear eyes and well-cut face, and yet with some subtle quality in his expression that implied that under his fair exterior lay a deep cunning, and that he was a man not to be trusted in matters where his own interests might be at stake.

"Hello, Hiram," he said quietly.

"Well, if it ain't Gardiner," he exclaimed.

"You didn't figure on seeing me here, did you?"

At first glance Riles did not recognize him, and he raised the oil lamp to turn the light better on the stranger's face.

"Well, if it ain't Gardiner!" he exclaimed. "Where in Sam Hill did you come from?"

"It's a big country, Hiram," he said with a touch of bitterness, "but not big enough for a fellow to lose himself in." He sat down on the side of the bed and lit a cigar, tendering another to Riles, and the two men puffed in silence for a few minutes.

"Yes, I've hit a lot of trail since I saw you last," he continued, "and when you're in the shadow of the Rockies you're a long piece from Plainville. How's the old burg? Dead as a oyster?"

"About the same," said Riles. "You don't seem t' be wastin' no love on it." "Nothing to speak of," said the other, slowly slicing the ash from his cigar. "Nothing to speak of. You know I got a raw deal there, Hiram, and it ain't likely I'd get enthusiastic over it."

"Well, when a fellow gets up against the law an' has t' clear out," said Riles, with great candor, "that's his funeral. As for me, I ain't got nothin' agen Plainville. You made a little money there yourself, didn't you?"

HAD THE TEACHER GUESSING BOY'S SUGGESTION ALL RIGHT

Small Wonder That She Didn't Understand, but There It Was in the Book.

George surveyed with puzzled eyes a sentence in his reading lesson. At last he raised his hand.

"Well, George, what is it?" asked the teacher.

"What is a feebly, Miss Smith?" "A feebly!" repeated Miss Smith, in astonished tones. "What do you mean, George? Feebly is an adverb, not a noun."

George was unconvinced. "It's something that grows," he said. "It says so here."

"Bring me your book," said the mystified teacher.

Whereupon George complied and laboriously read out the sentence: "The man—had a feebly—growing down—on—his chin."

Grim Jest. "I mention some o' them toilet articles mentioned in your catalogue," said Cactus Joe as he approached the young lady in charge of the novelty counter.

"Just what kind?" "Playin' cards, an' poker chips." "You don't call 'em toilet articles?" "I do; 'em ways the last few times I've used 'em they cleaned me proper."

Thirteen-Year-Old Had Remembered What He Had Been Taught About Electricity.

The family washing was going through its regular Monday electric washer route. Incidentally the basement was damp, because there had been no furnace fire.

When the lady of the house started to wring the clothes she found an electric current in the water, due to a short circuit in the motor. After several attempts to wring the clothes before the current got in its work, she was about ready to give up and wring them by hand.

"Shucks, mom," said thirteen-year-old Harry, who knows all about Edison and Franklin, "I'll bet if you put on your rubbers, so the current can't go on out of your body you won't get a shock at all."

And when "mom" tried the suggestion also found the embryo electrician knew what he was talking about, for she worked in safety while wringing the rest of the clothes.

EDUCATIONAL NEWS

(By Mrs. M. L. Blaney.)

The children, as a body, are happy that the year's work has ended, but more than three-fourths expressed themselves as being just as happy in looking forward to the re-opening in September. I was pleased with the interest manifested by teachers, pupils and parents in the work and the closing exercises, which were a credit to the school. Many local boards have realized the advantage of retaining teachers who have made good. Lincoln County can boast of seventy, Eighth Grade Graduates this year. About 75 per cent of these are planning on entering high school and in view of this fact, I wish to urge parents to patronize the high schools of our county - the Lincoln County High School has membership in the N. C. A. The following bit of history will give patrons a better understanding of its position.

There seems to be confusion in the minds of many concerning the affairs of administration of the Lincoln County High School during the year just closed, especially its curriculum and status. Later in July 1920, the local Board of Education in Captain instructed superintendent McCollister to secure applications for the teaching positions in the school. From those submitted, the local board made selections before the teaching forces arrived, preparatory for the year's work, the local board of education, with the sanction of the Supt. Mrs. M. L. Blaney, the course of study was formulated by the Supt. in accordance with the requirements of the State Dept. of Education and the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, with but minor changes, and those in no manner affecting the required subjects, were adopted and followed up throughout the year.

No attempt was made at this time to set a minimum standard in the amount of subject matter to be taught there being no ruling on that point, but was left wholly to the Supt. to determine. Not caring to be arbitrary, believing that those who were to have the respective subjects should be consulted concerning certain matters of detail, each teacher was required by and with the advice of the Supt. to prepare and file a copy of each semester's work in each subject and if satisfactory would be adopted as presented, otherwise with what changes or additions the Supt. might deem essential. Each teacher was to be held responsible only for his or her department with full credit given accordingly.

The basis upon which the high school was a candidate for membership in the N. C. A. was not copied from any particular school, but was made wholly upon the requirements of the N. C. A. and the Department of Education, after due consultation with that body; no attempt was made to set a higher standard than said requirements of the N. C. A. were.

As it is known to this Supt., the previous scheduling of many pupils have been irregular, it was thought best to arrange the curriculum so far as possible, to meet the immediate needs of the pupil and to keep him in school, rather than to try to fit him for a certain and definite course, no matter how logical that course might be or complete the subject matter. The predominant purpose of the administration has been to place the school on a recognized basis and to increase its efficiency as rapidly as possible and as thorough, as necessity and expenditures will permit. These are plain facts concerning the basis upon which instruction has been given and membership granted in the N. C. A. The Supt. alone, assumes the responsibility for any inefficiency that may have resulted from the arrangement and subject matter of the curriculum, as he is for all other matters of administration, in which he has been unimpaired, and just as certainly responsible for the status the school now occupies. To live and grow; to meet the needs of the community, is the aim of those administering school affairs. A certain course will be offered for the coming year. I thank the teachers for their splendid co-operation and wish them a pleasant vacation and a happy return to their schools in the fall.

NOTICE OF CONTEST

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Contest No. 10,112.

Roswell, N. M., May 4, 1921

To Owen H. O'Neil, of Corona, N. M., (record address), contestee.

You are hereby notified that James Deaver, who gives Corona, New Mexico, as his post-office address, and on November 29, 1920, file in this office his duly corroborated application to contest and secure the cancellation of your Additional Homestead Serial No. 33956, made March 11, 1920, for Lot 1, BEANLEY and EBERG, Section 6, Township 1 South, Range 14 East, N. M. P. Meridian, and as grounds for his contest he alleges that said entryman can not show the lands embraced in his entry for the W 1/2 Sec. 6, Twp. 1 S, Range 14 E, to J. B. McKibben and on November 24, 1918, McKibben with his family to Australia. That he has wholly abandoned his additional homestead entry first above described and has failed to establish his residence thereon or to improve any part thereof. And, that said alleged default was not due to service in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps of the United States, or in the National Guard of the several states while in the service of the United States, or any military service rendered in connection with operations in Mexico, or along the border thereof, or in mobilization camps elsewhere.

You are, therefore, further notified that the said application will be taken as confessed, and your said entry will be canceled, without further right to be heard, either before this office or on appeal, if you fail to file in this office, within twenty days after the fourth publication of this notice, as shown below, your answer, under oath, specifically responding to these allegations of contest, together with due proof that you have served a copy of your answer on the said contestant either in person or by registered mail. You should state in your answer the name of the post office to which you desire future notices to be sent to you.

Ford Producing 4,000 Cars a Day.

Present Production Greater Than for Same Period Last Year

Ford is building cars at full speed. And, according to an official statement from the factory at Detroit, the demand for Ford cars and trucks still exceeds the output, despite the fact that a new high level of production has been reached.

By the first of May the figures representing daily production were in the neighborhood of 4,000 a day, so the May schedule was set at 191,125 cars and trucks, not including the output of the Ford Canadian plant or any of the foreign assembling plants. The output mounted daily; May 12th brought forth 4,092, the greatest number that have been produced in one day so far this year. Since the month has 25 working days, present indications point to a new high record.

A comparison of Ford production figures for 1920 and 1921 discloses the fact that for April, 1921 the output was greater by 34,514 than for the corresponding month of a year ago. The output for May, 1921 will probably overshadow May, 1920 by between fifteen and twenty thousand cars and trucks. Approximately 43,000 men are at work in the Detroit plant of the Ford Motor Company. The factory is operating on full time, six days a week and three shifts a day.

"We were never in a better condition than we are right now," said Henry Ford recently.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one cured disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical profession. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors

Japan Minister Favors Disarmament.
 Tokio.—In a speech before a gathering of Japanese governors, Vice Admiral Tomomatsu Kato, minister of the navy, declared he favored armament reduction, but that no concrete proposal had been received from any country. Meantime he was convinced Japan's naval program, which is expected to be completed in 1927 at a cost of 200,000,000 yen, would not necessitate increased taxation.

Wants Federal Regulations.
 Washington.—Federal regulation of the meat packing industry is very "desirable now" to aid the livestock industry, Secretary Wallace declared before a House committee. The agricultural secretary suggested that his department be charged with the administration of the law, as it had a large number of men familiar with the industry and also that the farmers felt it was closer to them than possibly any other government agency.

Peru Depots Politicians.
 Lima, Peru.—A score of persons prominent in Peruvian political circles, including Gen. Oscar Benavides, former President of the republic, have been deported from Peru on the Peruvian liner Palta, according to the newspapers. General Benavides was taken into custody last week for alleged complicity in a revolutionary plot. The reported destination of the Palta is Sydney, Australia.

Denby Wants Airplane Carrier.
 Washington.—Immediate construction of at least one airplane carrier for the navy was urged by Secretary Denby before the House naval committee. He said two plane carriers should be built, but added that work on the second ship might be deferred for a short time.

Rushing Wheat to Avoid Tariff.
 Duluth, Minn.—Shipments of Canadian wheat are being rushed into the United States through Duluth and Hamden free of duty by shippers who anticipate the signing of the emergency tariff measure by President Harding, according to the local customs office. Approximately 216,000 bushels of the grain have been shipped through this district during the last month. Ordinary shipments vary from 500,000 to 8,000,000 bushels a season. Since Sept. 1, 10,503,922 bushels have been shipped in.

Clara Hamon Wants $3,000,000.
 Chicago.—Mrs. Jake L. Hamon, widow of the politician and oil magnate for whose murder Clara Smith Hamon recently was tried and acquitted at Ardmore, Okla., characterized as "blackmail" the claims of Clara to a share in the Hamon fortune. According to word received here Clara has demanded that Fred B. Ellis, attorney for the Hamon estate, turn over to her $3,000,000. Negotiations have been pending.

Wife Banks Hubby's Money.
 Houston, Texas.—Mrs. B. M. Godwin paid into her husband's desk and found $31,000 and $2500 to considerable property in Texas and Oklahoma. She deposited the money in a bank in her own name, applied for an injunction restraining her spouse, Dr. J. M. Godwin, from interfering with her and filed suit for divorce. Mrs. Godwin's petition alleges the doctor has always complained of being poorly stricken. They were married in 1890.

SUGGESTIONS ON RAISING CABBAGE

Plant Contains Large Quantities of Mineral Salts So Essential in Diet.

GIVE ATTENTION TO VARIETY

Select Richest Portion of Garden and Work Into Soil as Much Rotted Manure as Can Be Spared—Prevent Work of Cutworms.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
 Most people have a fondness for cabbage, served in one way or another, as it contains large quantities of the mineral salts so essential in the diet. Early cabbage is especially desirable, as it furnishes green food at a time when it is needed.

In giving suggestions on growing cabbage, garden specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture say the proper variety must be planted. Some kinds require a longer period for their growth than others. Jersey Wakefield and Charleston Wakefield are most universally planted for the early crop, Jersey Wakefield being considered earliest of all. The variety known as "All Seasons" has a round, flattened head and is a good intermediate sort. Copenhagen Market is a large, round-headed early cabbage that is very much in favor among market gardeners. Late Flat Dutch and Danish Ballhead are considered the leading late varieties.

Start Plants Indoors.
 Plants must be started indoors, in a hotbed, or be shipped from some point farther south where the season is advanced, if extra early cabbage is to be grown. One or two cigar boxes filled with fine soil and placed in a south window will form a seedbed for starting 100 to 200 cabbage plants. The little seedlings must be transplanted to larger boxes or to a cold frame when they begin to crowd each other in the seed boxes. Cabbage plants are quite hardy, and along the South Atlantic coast are grown in the open by the acre.

Plant early cabbage in the richest part of the garden, having previously worked into the soil all the rotted manure that can be spared and then added high-grade commercial fertilizer at the rate of ten pounds to every 100 feet of row. The fertilizer should be well mixed with the top 4 inches of soil over a space the full width of the row, which is generally 3 feet.

Do not plant cabbage on land where it was grown last year, especially if any of the heads were diseased or showed any kind of trouble. It is always a good plan to rotate crops, even in the small home garden. Cabbage is subject to several diseases, but fortunately these do not do much harm in small gardens. Insects, however, play havoc with the crop from the time it is planted. Cutworms are generally waiting in the soil during early spring to cut off the stems of the cabbage plants just at the surface of the ground.

Protect Plants From Cutworms.

The best remedy, or rather preventive, is to place bands or tubes of stiff paper around the stems of the plants as they are being set in the garden. Thin cardboard makes ideal plant protectors. By cutting the cardboard into strips about 3 inches wide, sections can be cut off and rolled around a lead pencil to form a tube. The protectors should extend an inch below the surface and at least 2 inches above. After the stems of the cabbage plants have become toughened and begin to grow rapidly the protectors can be taken off.

Cabbage worms, the eggs for which are laid by the light-yellow butterflies that are often seen flying about the cabbage plants, do a great amount of damage. Dusting the foliage and the heads with air-slaked lime, to which a little Paris green has been added, or spraying them with arsenate of lead, one ounce to a gallon of water, are both effective. There is no danger as the heads grow from the inside and the outer leaves, to which the poison is applied, are all removed.

PASTURE LAND ON HILLSIDES

If Properly Taken Care Of Steep Inclined Can Be Made to Return Good Grass Yields.

Many of our pasture lands are so hilly that they cannot be used for cropping purposes, but if properly taken care of they can be made to return substantially profitable grass yields.

VEGETABLES ENTIRE YEAR FROM GARDENS

Accomplishment of Women in One New Mexico County.

Everything Tried in Dry-Land Section and Given Proper Attention Brought Good Results—Much Fruit Was Canned.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
 Women in Union county, New Mexico, are working to have on every farm a garden large enough to supply the family with vegetables the entire year, with a sufficient surplus for each housewife to can or dry enough vegetables for winter use.

The United States Department of Agriculture reports that the following is a part of what was accomplished last year in this county under the supervision of the home demonstration agent: A great many vegetables new to the community were tried out, such as Swiss chard, Chinese cabbage, asparagus and celery, and fruits like ever-bearing strawberries, rhubarb, garden lemons, and other varieties not previously raised. These were grown successfully. Grapes, peaches, plums, apples and apricots have been planted by many people who had not thought these fruits would grow in their county. This is a dry-land section where practically no attention has been given to the home garden.

Everything tried, and given proper attention, brought good results. Some failures were reported, due to lack of moisture and lack of care. Reports also showed that, besides all that was used fresh on the table, from 25,000 to 50,000 quarts of vegetables and fruits were canned in this county last year.

AVOID DODDER INFESTATION

Farmer Should Use Plants Known to Be Immune to Attacks of Pestiferous Weed.

The necessity of selecting plants immune to dodder infestation when cultivating newly cleared land was emphasized by a report which recently reached the United States Department of Agriculture concerning the destruction of an entire field of eggplant on a newly cleared field in Pennsylvania. So bad was the infestation that not a single fruit was formed on the parasitized plants and the entire field was destroyed. The dodder was determined as hazel dodder, a species not uncommon on hazel and other wild shrubs and on tick trefoil and other wild herbs, but never previously reported on cultivated plants. The department recommends that on land known to contain the seeds of dodder, farmers should use plants which are immune to attacks of the pest. The following plants are not susceptible to injury by dodder: corn, soy beans, velvet beans, cowpeas, and small grains such as oats, wheat, and rye. Potatoes and buckwheat, crops commonly used on newly cleared land, are not very likely to be injured by dodder, but truck crops should not be planted on land known to contain dodder seeds.

GOOD COLLAR IS ESSENTIAL

Every Farmer Should Plan to Prevent Sore Necks and Shoulders of Work Horses.

Now that the busy season is here, every farmer should make a careful examination of the supply of horse collars on hand and see to it that he has a good fitting collar for every horse he purposes to put to work. Sore shoulders and sore necks on farm horses are generally caused either by collars that do not fit or by harness that are not properly adjusted.

CAREFULLY SAVE DROPPINGS

Either Use for Fertilizer or Dispose of to Persons Who Can Make Good Use of Them.

No matter how small the flock the droppings should be carefully saved, stored, and either used as fertilizer for plants or disposed of to persons who can so use them to increase the fertility of the soil.

Special Care of Baby.
 That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.
 Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.
 A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.
 Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

The Wants of a Pioneer.
 Writing to the editor of the Palladium, John P. Irish recounts some of the hardships of Iowa pioneer life and tells the story of one of those pioneer women and her granddaughter, who asked:
 "Grandma, you were here in the early days?"
 "Yes, I was a pioneer."
 "Well, were you poor?"
 "Yes, we were all poor."
 "Couldn't you have what you wanted?"
 "No, I could not."
 "Did you have no meat?"
 "No, nothing but venison, wild turkeys, prairie chickens and quail."
 "Did you have no sugar?"
 "Nothing but maple sugar."
 "What did you want that you couldn't get?"
 "It was New Orleans molasses and salt mackerel."
 There are such things as tears of joy, but few people ever see them.

Going Back.
 "My dear," said Mrs. Snuy-a-Jipzen, wearily raising herself on one elbow, "we really must economize, don't you know?"
 "True, angel," said Mr. Snuy-a-Jipzen, nodding his head fully three languid times. "We must go back to—back to Nature!"
 "Precisely, love; back to Nature."
 "James, tell the butler he may take two days off each week instead of one. We are going to live the simple life!"

New Windmill Idea.
 A new French windmill on the principle of the water-turbine, is cased with a vertical cylinder bladed like a Venetian blind. The cylinder is stationary, but the blades or staves guide the wind from any direction to the turbine wheel. After acting on the wheel, the wind escapes from the bottom of the cylinder. The vertical shaft transmits the power through a succession of gears adapted to light or strong wind, and a centrifugal regulator controls the speed. The apparatus is designed especially for driving an electric generator.

A health to him—our soldier grim—with his faith that makes his might; Who tunes his life to the thrilling life and knows the way to fight!

A health to the fighting man! The man all innocent of sham, Who pays the due of a loyal heart at the shrine of Uncle Sam; Who bears our load on the weary road that leads to a distant peace, And asks no halt till he finds the fault, and the roars of cannon cease; May the throb and thrum of the rolling drum be promise to his care; Of the joyous day when he'll come away to hear a nation's cheers.

A health to the fighting man! The man with impulse clean and clear To hold him right as a gallant knight without reproach or fear; When the bugle sings and the bullet rings and the saber flashes bright, May he feel the aid of the prayers prayed to guard him in the fight; May good luck ride on either side and save him for the grasp Of the friendly hand in his native land that's yearning for the clasp.

Carrizozo

New Mexico

The local baseball team crossed bats with Mountainair last Saturday and Sunday. The visitors, while well organized, were no match for the Carrizozo boys who defeated them on Saturday by a score of 5 to 1 and Sunday, 8 to 2. Sundry and Decoration Day we play with Corona. A big crowd is expected from surrounding towns. The boys need new uniforms. Let's help them.

The Advisory Board of the Salvation Army is in search of those who are in need of help in this locality. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of worthy distressed persons or families, will please communicate with the secretary of the board at Carrizozo, N. M., as this organization is anxious to help all who are in need of assistance.

The Lincoln Light & Power Co., is now located in its new offices, quarters on Alamo avenue. This with the new Outlook office directly across the avenue, add greatly to the improvement on this important thoroughfare. The old Outlook office, like that of the Light & Power Co., will be things of the past beginning with next week. Come in and visit us both at our new offices.

First Methodist Church

Now that the public schools have closed for the term, it is but reasonable to expect the attendance to diminish to a certain degree. To those who remain will be left the duty of putting forth extraordinary efforts. Let us make the summer season as profitable as possible. The pastor will conclude the Educational Movement Sermons next Sunday. The morning theme will be on the "When" of the movement and the evening sermon will explain the "How." Heretofore, we have dealt with the "Why." The "How" is for the drive, May 29, to June 5.

The statement last week concerning the Tennis Court was not meant to be misleading; the time and workers were adequate but some of the material has not yet arrived.

Baptist Church Notes

We had real interesting meetings last Sunday, both morning and evening. There were several strangers present, whom we hope enjoyed the services. Several of our Sunday School pupils have merited the Merit Buttons and Badges, which they will probably receive next Sunday. We will then publish a list of those who receive them. Subject for next Sunday morning's sermon will be, "The Greatest Question of all the Ages." Evening subject, "Faith That Overcomes." Read these announcements and attend these services. Paul said, "Not forsaking the assembling ourselves together as the manner of some is," therefore, we welcome you to any or all of our services.

White Oaks Notes

The Woman's Social Club met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Nix. The distance was so far that the trip was made in automobiles. A large attendance was had. A fine trip was made both in going and coming, most of the cars returning by the way of Carrizozo where the guests stayed over for a short while. Before leaving the Nix home, refreshments of coffee, cake and sandwiches were served. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. McFadden.

The School program as printed in the OUTLOOK last week, was successfully carried out before a large audience and was followed by one of the biggest dances we have had for a long time.

Mrs. Edna C. Burnett and Miss Mary Ward will attend the State Normal at Silver City during the vacation period.
