NEW MEXICO LEGISLATORS HAVE NOT ACCOMPLISHED MUCH YET

If The Legislators Redeem Party Pledges They Will Have to do Faster Work Than Thus Far During the Session.

Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 23.—High speed and overtime must constitute the order of work from here on to the end of the session, if the Fifth State legislature is to redeem party pledges and enact measures vital to the welfare and advancement of the people of New Mexico. Considerably more than half the session has gone by without the accomplishment of much that is really important.

The general appropriation bill has not yet been considered in the light of explanation of needs of the various state institutions, as these needs are to be set forth by friends of the institutions. The report of the budget committee was transmitted by Gov. Mechem some time back, and there was then reason to hope that the general appropriation bill would be disposed of earlier than usual in the session, leaving the closing days to be devoted to study of revenue systems. However, present indications are that this appropriation will be one of the last to be agreed upon.

Hearings have been held upon the subject of mine taxation by joint committees from the senate and the house, but not much that was new was submitted. The division upon the subject remains about as it was last summer. The house has gone far ahead from the revenue code and introduced a house bill to put into effect the Arizona mine taxation plan. There is much reason to believe that this bill will be passed by the house and no reason whatever to believe that the senate would concur therein. It would not be surprising, if the tax upon the output should remain in effect, with the contiguous clause repealed.

The senate bill that is likely to be passed in the senate, carefully prepared by the senate judiciary committee, has been introduced by Senators Quintana, Phillips and Wright. It has been referred to the committee on public affairs, which is holding the primary election bill introduced several weeks ago by Quintana. The other bill was found to have serious defects. Sellers, leader of the minority, has introduced another bill to provide for a state-wide primary, resembling closely the one introduced in the house by Hartill, of Eddy.

The majority bill provides for the nomination of county officers and selection of delegates to the county conventions by the primary, and limits the participation, as nearly as possible, to members of the party. The Sellers measure is not for a party primary to select the nominees or candidates of the party, but to hold a sort of preliminary election, with the entire public taking part. In fact, it is expressly provided that any candidate for nomination shall receive a majority, he shall be declared to be elected to the office, without going through the election.

Senators who have studied the subject thoroughly declare that the operation of any primary election law will add $40,000 to the present cost of elections. This fact is having a decided tendency to kill enthusiasm of a great many people for a primary law.

The house has assigned a major bill into the proportions of a monster monster in its effects to resist an alleged attack upon its dignity. The resolution by Gallegos, of Guadalupe, concerns Dr. C. E. Waller, the commissioner of the state department of health. Senate him privilege of the "house" for the remainder of the session, declares he is unfit to serve as health commissioner and calls upon the state board of health to remove him now. In all other respects the

HARDING COMPLETES CABINET SELECTIONS; HOOVER DRAWS COMMERCE SECRETARYSHIP

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 22.—President-elect Harding completed his cabinet late today by virtual selection of Edwin Denby, of Detroit, Mich., as secretary of the navy. The choice was the first big surprise among the cabinet selections. Mr. Denby's name never having appeared in newspapers' speculations about the navy. He is an attorney and a former member of Congress and served as an enlisted man in war time in both the navy and marine corps.

Herbert Hoover, of California, and John J. Davis, of Pennsylvania, virtually have been chosen for membership in president-elect Harding's cabinet, leaving open but one place, which now seems certain to go to a dark horse.

Mr. Davis, a former steel worker and now a banker, is to be secretary of labor if the cabinet slate goes through as it now stands.

Meantime, it became known that all of the seven cabinet tentative selections previously reported had been finally put into the class of certainties.

The new cabinet as selected by president-elect Harding will be: Secretary of State—Charles Evans Hughes of New York. Secretary of treasury—Andrew Mellon, of Pennsylvania. Secretary of War—John W. Weeks, Massachusetts. Attorney General—Harry M. Daugherty, of Ohio. Postmaster General—Will H. Hays, of Indiana. Secretary of the Navy—Edwin Denby, of Michigan. Secretary of the Interior—A. B. Fall, of New Mexico. Secretary of Agriculture—Henry Wallace, of Iowa. Secretary of Commerce—Herbert Hoover, of California. Secretary of Labor—James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania.

Irish vs. Scots Again

An Englishman, Scotchman and Irishman were indulging in reminiscences of sporting occasions.

"The closest race I ever saw was a yacht race," deposed the Englishman "in which one of the boats that had been recently painted won by the breadth of the coat of paint."

"The closest race I ever saw," declared the Scotchman, "was one in which a horse, stung by a bee, won by the width of the swelling of his nose."

"The closest race I ever saw," said the Irishman, "is the Scotch."

House is strong for Dr. Waller. This sentiment expressed by the house grew out of what was reported to be the action of Dr. Waller in criticizing and censuring R. L. Baca, of Santa Fe for Baca's attitude toward house bill No. 78, which was a health department measure.

The house has passed house committee substitute for house bill No. 1, repealing the gasoline tax that has been declared to be unconstitutional and enacting a measure which, it is hoped, will "hold water," or rather, gasoline. But there is water mixed up with the act, at that, for it is provided that from the proceeds may be taken $20,000 to establish a fish hatchery. Democrats opposed the bill on account of the fish hatchery.

Senate committee substitute for house bill No. 32, has been concurred in by the house. This creates a game and fish commission and raises the pay of the game warden from $2,400 to $3,000 a year. The warden is to be appointed by the governor, without the advice and consent or confirmation by the senate.

HEALTH LABORATORY AT STATE UNIVERSITY CONTINUES USEFUL ACTIVITY

Hundreds of Free Microscopic Examinations Made for Sick Who Cannot Pay.

At the State University of New Mexico, the Public Health Laboratory, which is conducted jointly by the State Health Department and the University, has completed an extremely busy and useful month. The report of the bacteriologist, Miss Greenfield, for January, shows the microscopic examinations for 422 persons living in different parts of New Mexico.

Director A. O. Weese of the Department of Hygiene at the State University has prepared a summary of the work of the Health Laboratory for the entire twelve months, ending January 31, 1921.

The Laboratory was partially opened for business on February 1, 1921, upon the basis of a cooperative agreement between State Health Commissioner C. A. Waller and President D. S. Hill, of the State University. Delay in the arrival of materials and especially containers for mailing infectious materials prevented its getting under way until May 1, 1920, when the number of examinations began to increase steadily.

Summary Showing the Character of Examinations Made.

Diphtheria	2,469
Staphylococcus infections	54
Tuberculosis	60
Wasserman (for syphilis)	686
Widal (for typhoid)	137
Feces (for typhoid)	138
Urine (for typhoid)	1
Malaria	3
Hookworm	5
Meltz Peyer	6
Amoebic Dysentery	1
Prep. Antigenous vaccine	1
Water analyses (sanitary)	104
Milk analyses (sanitary)	21
Blood count	4
Food poisoning	1
Swimming pool water and analyses	4
Sewage analyses	4
Abscess	2
Tubes broken in transit	5

Total for 12 months, 3,788

The entire cost of the above work to the State during the year was about $4,000. If the 3,788 examinations had been done privately for compensation at an average cost of $10 each, the amount paid would have been over $37,000. The greatest values received however, are in terms of contributions to the health and well-being of individual and of families throughout the whole state.

TO CENSOR MOVIES!

Bill to Be Introduced to Prohibit the Showing of Pictures Without Official O. K.

Santa Fe, Feb. 13.—Motion pictures will be subject to censorship if a bill, which shortly will be introduced in the senate is passed.

The bill, already written, prohibits the showing of any pictures without approval by the state censor and carries stiff penalties for violation. The maximum fine is $100 for the first offense and $500 for the second in addition to a jail sentence of 30 days.

The censor, who will be appointed by the governor, will get $2,400, but he, or she, must be qualified by education and experience, and he can appoint assistants subject to the governor's approval. The bill carries an appropriation of $1,000 for furnishing an office for the official in the state house, and provides for maintenance of the office by assessing a fee of $3 for the examination of the reels.

The bill, although giving the censor the right to make regulations, provides that he shall not approve any reels that are sacrilegious, cruel, obscene, indecent, immoral or tend to debase or corrupt morals. The bill also gives the censor the right to disapprove posters and advertisements.

AMERICAN LEGION WARNS THAT CAMPAIGN OF GERMAN PROPAGANDA IS IMMINENT

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 20.—American Legion posts were asked today by the Legion's headquarters to look out for a revival of German propaganda.

The bulletin issued by the National headquarters, said that several meetings, including Omaha, have been planned as one of the first manifestations of the propaganda campaign, the object of which, the bulletin outlined as follows:

"Disruption of the accord which exists between the United States and our allies with particular reference to France and France and Great Britain by the turning of American popular sentiment, against the governments of those countries.

"Methodical creation of a powerful national-political machine by the amalgamation of the disloyal elements of our nation and the elevation to a place of power in American politics by the invisible influence of this organized minority.

"One of the first manifestations of this activity will probably take the form of mass meetings," the bulletin continued, "ostensibly in protest against the occupation of the Rhine by French negro troops. The alleged presence of French colonialists to be used as a motive for the turn of American sentiment against France. Negro troops were withdrawn from the French army of occupation months ago. Their conduct was excellent, according to reports from the American ambassador at Paris.

"Identified with the movement are individuals whose disloyalty and whose efforts in the interest of Germany have been notorious in the past and who are now in direct communication with Berlin.

"National headquarters has received reports of pro-German activities from many sections which appear to connect directly with the national propaganda campaign outlined.

"Department officials are requested to make note of any activities in their community and to forward reports to national headquarters."

COMPROMISE GAME BILL PASSED BY THE SENATE

Senate judiciary committee substitute for house bill No. 32, to create a game and fish warden, was passed by the senate Wednesday afternoon, after a determined effort had been made to reduce the salary of the game warden from $3,000 a year, first to $2,400, and later, to $2,700 a year. Both amendments failed, but by close votes. On passage of the bill, however, the vote was unanimous.

The bill provides for the creating of a game and fish commission of three members, serving without pay to be appointed by the governor. The game warden is to be appointed by the governor, and confirmation by the senate is not required.

It is said that this bill, in the main is acceptable to all parties concerned, and that it will be concurred in by the house.

RECENT APPOINTMENTS BY GOVERNOR MECHEM

Governor Mechem has recently sent to the senate the following appointments:

To be members of the state Highway commission: Eugene Kempenich, of Peralta, Republican, reappointed; H. Leroy Hall, of Chama, Democrat, to succeed D. W. Jones, of Clovis, holding recess appointment.

To be members of the state board of medical examiners: Dr. J. A. Masala, Santa Fe; Dr. H. A. Miller, Clovis; Dr. W. R. Lovelace, Albuquerque. To be trustees of the School of Mines, Socorro County: C. T. Brown, Socorro; J. M. Sully, Santa Rita; P. H. Argall, Magdalena; E. M. Sawyer, of Tyrone; P. K. Klauzy, Tokay.

AMENDMENT WOULD MAKE DRUG STORES BLIND TIGERS

Head is Anti-Saloon League Against Allowing Pharmacists to Sell Whiskey, Brandy, Wines. Also Opposes Sellers' Proposed Enforcement Act.

"We've got all the law we need—what we need is more enforcement," declared the Rev. Roswell M. Farley, the Anti-Saloon League's general superintendent for Latin America, New Mexico and Arizona, with headquarters at Mountainair.

He referred to the enforcement bill introduced in the senate by Senator Sellers, modeled after the Volstead act, and the proposed constitutional amendment in the house to permit the importation of whiskey and wines by druggists for medical purposes.

Mr. Farley, who wrote the "bone dry" amendment now part of the state constitution, expressed the opinion that the proposed amendment would make "blind tigers" out of drug stores. It would probably result in throwing some of them "wide open," he said.

Besides, he added, he didn't believe it at all necessary since the "bone dry" section permitted the importation of grain alcohol which, he said, was all that the United States Pharmacopoeia requires in filling prescriptions calling for a legitimate "tonic." As long as the druggists could get grain alcohol he didn't see the necessity for getting whiskey, brandy and wines.

Unconstitutional, Says

As for the Sellers bill, he believed it probably unconstitutional in that it provided for the sale of whiskey, wine and other intoxicants under the old familiar names on legally written prescriptions by physicians. He pointed out the constitution permitted the sale only of ethyl alcohol.

Mr. Farley said it wasn't the Anti-Saloon League's intention to make a fight against the passage of the bill nor the proposed amendment for the reason that he didn't believe it necessary. He said he had "felt out" sentiment in the house and senate also and believed it was strongly against passage of either. He added members generally felt the "bone dry" section of the constitution and the prohibition enforcement code now on the statutes ample if enforced.

The Clancy bill making bootleggers and moonshiners subject to fifteen years' sentence in the penitentiary if caught "heeled," Mr. Farley praised. He said it was a blow at smuggling. Heavily armed automobiles, carrying booze, were crossing the border daily, he said, and the Clancy bill, if passed, would cause the runners to think twice before arming their cars. He heard some of them planned adding machine guns to their armament and believed the Clancy bill would dampen their enthusiasm.

"The Anti-Saloon League is not especially interested in the home brewer," said Mr. Farley, speaking of the league's plans since prohibition has come. "It's not prying into people's private affairs, but hopes to create a wholesome sentiment for enforcement of the law. Chiefly the league is after the criminals—the bootlegger and the moonshiner."

Some Kick.

Two old winks had met for the first time since Volstead gave the country a piece of his mind.

"How's your home brew?" asked the first anxiously.

"Brother," chortled the second, "you know what they say about Carnation milk—comes from contented cows? Well, that stuff in my cellar comes from contented mules."—The American Legion Weekly.

HOME, SWEET HOME.

"And we shall build our own home, and live our own lives, and love each other—always, only—for ever and ever!" she breathed.

"For ever and ever," he answered.

"Because it would seem like trying to prove you are innocent. And you don't need to prove anything to me. You understand? You don't need to prove anything to me."

And then, between the iron rods across the open window of the jail, his lips met hers.

In the foregoing the first love words are those of John Harris and Mary Allan when they pledged their troth and resolved to homestead in Manitoba. In the next love scene the second generation is making its vows. It is Beulah Harris and Jim Travers who have sealed their pact with a kiss. And in between there is a like-real-life story of the homesteading of John and Mary Harris, well told by Robert J. C. Stead, novelist, poet and Canadian official, author of "The Cowpuncher" and "Kitchener and Other Poems."

PRELUDE.

Six little staves clattered into place, and six little figures stood erect between their benches.

"Right! Turn!" said the master. "March! School is dismissed!" and six pairs of bare little legs twinkled along the aisle, across the well-worn threshold, down the big stone step, and into the dusty road, garm with the rays of the Indian summer sun.

The master watched them from the open window until they vanished behind a ridge of beech trees that cut his vision from the concession. While they remained within sight a smile played upon the features of his strong, sunburned face, but as the last little callow dress was swallowed by the wood the smile died down, and for a moment he stood, a grave and thoughtful statue framed within the white pine casings of the sash.

His brown study lasted only a moment. With a quick movement he walked to the blackboard, caught up a section of sheepskin, and began erasing the symbols of the day's instructions.

"Well, I suppose there's reward in heaven," he said to himself, as he set the little schoolroom in order. "There isn't much here. The farmers will pay a man more to doctor their sick sheep than to teach their children. If others can take the chance I can take it too. If it were not for her I would go tomorrow."

The last remark seemed to unlink a new chain of thought. The gray eyes lit up again. He wielded the broom briskly for a minute, then tossed it in a corner, fastened the window, slipped a little folder into his pocket, turned the door behind him and swung in a rapid stride down a by-path leading from the little schoolhouse into the forest.

Ten minutes' quick walking in the woods, now glorious in all their autumn splendor, brought him to a point where the sky stood up, pale blue, evasive, through the trees. The next moment he was at the water's edge, and a limpid lake stretched away to where the forests of the farther shore mingled hazily with sky and water. He glanced about, as though expecting someone; he whistled a Dyo of a popular song, but the only reply was from a saucy cavedropper which, perched on a nearby limb, trilled back its own liquid notes in answer.

As may be well improve the moment consulting my chart," he remarked to his undulating lingo in the water. "This thing of embarking on two new seas at once calls for skillful piloting." He seated himself on a stone, drew from his pocket the folder, and spread a map before him.

In a few moments he was so engrossed that he did not hear the almost noiseless motion of a canoe as it thrust its brown nose into the blue wake before him. Kneeling near its stern, her paddle held aloft and dripping, her brown arms and brow were bent alertly in the mellow sun, her face bright with the light of its own expectancy, was a little and beautiful girl. In an instant her eye located the young man on the bank, and her lips molded as though to speak; but she remained silent and upright as an Indian while the canoe slipped gently toward the shore. Presently it cushioned its nose in the velvety sand. She rose silently from her seat, and stole on moccasined tip-toes along the stones until she could have touched his hair with her fingers. But her eyes fell over his shoulder on the papers before him.

"Always at your studies," she cried, as he sprang eagerly to his feet. "You must be seeking a professorship." She stole the map from his fingers.

"I declare, if it isn't Manitoba!" Seizing his cheeks between her hands she turned his face to her. "Answer me, John Harris. You are not thinking of going to Manitoba?"

"Suppose I say I am?"

"Then I am going, too!"

"Mary!"

"John! Nothing unusual about a wife going with her husband, is there?"

"No, of course, but you know—"

"Yes, I know"—glancing at the ring on her finger. "This still stands at par, doesn't it?"

"Yes, dear," he answered, raising the ring to his lips. "You know it does. But to venture into that wilderness means—you see, it means so much more to a woman than to a man."

"Not so much as staying at home—alone. You didn't really think I would do that?"

"No, not exactly that. Let us sit down and I will tell you what I thought. Here, let me get the cushion. . . There, that is better."

"You Are Not Thinking of Going to Manitoba?"

They sat for some minutes, gazing dreamily across the broad sheet of silver.

"And so you are going to Manitoba?" she said at length.

"Yes, There are possibilities there. It's a gamble, and that is why I didn't want to share it with you—at first. I thought I would spend a year; locate a homestead; get some kind of a house built; perhaps break some land. Then I would come back."

"And you weren't going to give me a word in all those preparations for our future? You have a lot to learn yet, John. You won't find it in that folder, either."

She had snatched his confession at an unguarded moment. He had not meant to tell her so much—so soon. As he thought over the wheels he had set in motion their possible course staggered him, and he found himself arguing against the step he contemplated.

"It's a gamble," he repeated. "The agricultural possibilities of the country have not been established. It may be adapted only to buffalo and Indians. We may be far back from civilization, far from neighbors, or doctors, or churches, or any of those things which we stake as a matter of course."

"Then you will need me with you, John, and I am going."

In a crimson glory the sun had sunk behind the black forest across the lake. The silver waters had draped in mist their fringe of inverted trees along the shore and lay, passive and breathing, and very still, beneath the smooth-cutting canoe.

"And we shall build our own home, and live our own lives, and love each other—always—only—for ever and ever!" she breathed.

"For ever and ever," he answered.

The last white shimmer of daylight faded from the surface of the lake. The lovers floated on, gently, joyously, into their ocean of hope and happiness.

CHAPTER I.

The Beck of Fortune.

The last congratulations had been offered; the last good wishes, somewhat mixed with tears, had been expressed. The bride, glowing in the happy consciousness of her own beauty, and deified by the great tenderness that enveloped her new estate like a golden mist, said her farewells with steady voice and undrooping eyes.

It had been a busy winter for John Harris, and this, although the consummation of his great desire, was but the threshold to new activities and new outlets for his intense energies. Since the face and form of Mary Allan had first enraptured him in his little backwoods school district, a vast ambition had possessed his soul, and today, which had seemed to be its end, he now knew to be but its beginning. The ready consent of his betrothed to share his life in the unknown wilderness between the Red river and the Rocky mountains had been a tide which, taken at its flood, might well lead him on to fortune. At the conclusion of his fall term he had resigned his position as teacher, and with his small savings had set about accumulating equipment essential to the homesteader. Because his effects were not enough to fill a car he had "doubled up" with Tom Morrison, a fine farmer whose worldly success had been somewhat less than his deserts, and who bravely hoped to mend his broken fortunes where land might be had to the taking.

So John Harris and his bride took the passenger train from her city home, while their goods and chattels, save for their personal baggage, rumbled on in a box-car or crowded stolidly into congested side-tracks as the exigencies of traffic required.

At a junction point they were transferred from the regular passenger service to an immigrant train.

One or two of the passengers had already made the trip to Manitoba, and were now on the journey a second time, accompanied by their wives and families. These men were soon noted as individuals of some moment; they became the center of little knots of conversation, and their fellow-immigrants hung in reverent attention upon every word from their lips.

"Tell us about the crops," said one of the men passengers. "What like wheat can ye grow?"

"Like corn," said the narrator, with great deliberation. "Heads like ears o' corn. Wheat that grows so fast ye can hear it. Nothin' uncommon to walk into wheat fields when they're knee-high, an' have to fight yer way out like a jungle."

"Is the Injuns werry big?" piped a little voice. "My pa's go'n to make em a bone-arrow so I can kill 'em all up."

"That's a brave soldier," said the man, drawing the child to his knee. "But Ah know a better way to fight Indians than with bows an' arrows. Ah fights 'em with four an' blankets

ACCORDING TO FIXED DESIGN

Variety of Reasons Advanced for the Arrangement of Paint on the Cheeks of Clown.

All pantomime clowns paint their cheeks and mostly they do so according to certain designs handed down from generation to generation. But as to the why and the wherefore opinions differ.

According to one authority the scarlet triangles, red fishtail and half moon, originated from dabs of vermilion placed here and there on the cheeks at haphazard to represent a naughty boy who had been at the jam pot.

Another says that the pantomime clown's reddened face is intended as a burlesque of the rouge-stained cheeks of the pantomime Columbine; while yet a third has it that the crimson patches are a survival from the early mystery plays, when the clown was a demon, and red all over.

The theory has also been held that

The child climbed up on the friendly knee and interested himself in the great silver watch-chain that heaped convenient to his fingers. "Go on with your story, man," he said. "I'll listen."

And big Aleck McCrae forgot the immigrants crowded around, forgot the lurch of the train and the window-glimpse of forests heavy-blanketed with snow, as he plowed his fertile imagination and spread a sudden harvest of wonderment before the little soul that clung to his great watch-chain.

And so the journey wore on. As day succeeded day to the monotonous rumble of the car wheels the immigrants became better acquainted and friendships took root that in after years were to brave every storm of adversity and bloom forth in the splendid community of spirit and sacrifice which particularly distinguished the pioneers.

In the cold gray of a March morning, when the sun had not yet dispelled the mists of night, and the fringing woods back from the Red river loomed white and spectral through the frost, they re-entered the empire, and in a few minutes were detouring at Emerson, the boundary town and gateway to the prairies which for 1,000 miles stretched into the mysteries of the unknown.

Emerson was the gateway of the great invasion. The "farthest west" of rail communication, on the threshold of the prairie country, it seemed the strategical point for the great city which must arise with the settlement and development of the fertile kingdom of territory lying between the Lake of the Woods and the Rocky mountains, and between the forty-ninth parallel and the unknown northern limit of agriculture.

MAN'S FIRST DWELLING PLACE

Scientists Claim That the Desert of Gobi Must for Natural Reasons Be the Spot.

The desert of Gobi, which is the summit of the central steppe in Asia, is the most elevated region on the globe, and it is here, scientists claim, man first lived, arguing that this point of earth must have been the first to emerge from the universal sea, and that as the subsiding waters gradually gave up lower regions of earth to man he was able to descend and spread himself progressively over new acquisitions.

It is from this region that the great rivers of Asia also take their rise and flow toward the four cardinal points. On the declivities of these highlands are the plains of Tibet, lower than the frozen regions of Gobi. Here are found not only the vine, the olive, rice, the legumina, and other plants on which man has depended for sustenance, but also those animals which he has tamed and fed with him over the earth, as the ox, the horse, the ass, the sheep, the goat, the camel, the hog, the dog, and even the reindeer, run wild upon these mountains. On the mountains of Cashmere, in Tibet, and in the north of China, grain has been found to be growing wild for years without ever being sown or tilled, and here also wild animals that have lived there while man has tamed others of the same species, are numerous.—Exchange.

No statue of Georgian. The secretary of the statutory hall in the capitol says that there is no representative of Georgia in the Hall of Fame. Each state may contribute two statues of deceased citizens of the state, who "for historical renown or for civil or military services" are considered by the state as worthy of such commemoration.

The modern clown in pantomime is a direct descendant of Momus, the god of mockery of the early mystery plays and masques, who was always represented with a huge gaping mouth. The red fishtail is merely the survival of that part of the medieval makeup which aimed at producing an apparent enlargement of the mouth. These curious scarlet symbols are only found on the cheeks of pantomime clowns. The ordinary circus clown does not paint his cheeks. He paints only his nose, with a view to poking fun at the "boss," the ringmaster, whose nasal organ, in regard to the old-time circuses at all events, was more often than not apt to be highly colored.—Pearson's Weekly.

First Enthusiasm Gone. MaNette was delighted when a small brother arrived at her home. However, after some weeks she began to think he was somewhat of a care, and one day when her mother told her to rock his cradle, she looked at him with disdain and remarked, "Oh, you little bothering thing!"

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

The Lincoln Basket Ball team played the San Patricio team two weeks ago and beat them, 29 to 8. San Patricio came over the following week, and, with the help of two teachers, who acted as substitutes, defeated Lincoln by a score of 16 to 19. Coffee and sandwiches were served after the game. The Lincoln Boys' Team won both games from San Patricio by a score of 38 to 3, the second game being 18 to 3.

WHITE OAKS ITEMS

Mrs. Robert Forsythe entertained the Woman's Social Club at her home last Thursday afternoon. On this occasion, the Club was honored by the presence of three visitors: Mrs. Hotelling of Kansas and Miss Spence and Mrs. Treat of Carrizozo. The ladies sewed while the hostess served homemade candies, cake and coffee. The next affair of this nature will be held at the home of Mrs. Grumbles and it is rumored, that the hostess to-be, is planning a surprise for her guests.

Those present at the above event were: Mrs. Barbara Burnett, Grumbles, Van Scoyok, Grumbles, Harmon, Manner, Forsythe, Leighner, Olegborn, Gallacher, Nix, Spence, Rustin, Owen, Meyer, Smith, Morgan, and Miss Davis; visitors, Miss Spence, Mesdames Hotelling and Treat.

WOMAN'S CLUB

About fifty members and visitors "blew" in at the Ziegler residence Thursday night, Feb. 17th, to attend the regular meeting of the Musical Department of the Woman's Club. They were well rewarded for braving the storm, as a most excellent program was rendered. Well inside the lovely Ziegler home no one could realize the terrible storm raging outside, as all spent a most enjoyable evening. The Musical Department of the Woman's Club—not yet a year old—would be a credit to an old club in a much larger place; its chairman, Mrs. Albert Ziegler, leaves no stone unturned for its success and its members co-operate in a truly admirable manner. In taking leave of the hospitable hostess, it was rather a surprise to find—the wind still there.

HOME FROM THE EAST

Albert Ziegler, of Ziegler Bros. General Store has returned from his eastern business trip which consumed about four weeks of time. This seems a long time to spend on a purchasing trip, but it proved of much value to Mr. Ziegler. He planned matters so as to have plenty of time to look over the goods, and by this arrangement he was fortunate in making the best of selections, and at the same time purchased at prices which will enable him to sell to his patrons at remarkably low prices.

Mr. Ziegler inspected the markets at Cleveland, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Chicago, and New York, making purchases at each place, the first are beginning to arrive. The best evidence of this is found by a glance at the display windows, which contain some of the new goods bought by Mr. Ziegler on his trip—Stop a few minutes as you pass by and take a look at the latest in quality and prices.

The delay from one single puncture may result in the loss of thousands of dollars worth of property; or worse, the loss of human life. Compression Inner Tubes keep moving when ordinary tubes go flat on nails and tacks. They make every road a SAFE road every mile a happy one.

Compression Tubes are about three times as thick as ordinary tubes. Their circumference is greater than the inside circumference of the tire. They are moulded with deepside and tread corrugations, which conform to the smooth surface of the casing when inflated. The air pressure, instead of stretching the tube, COMPRESSES it. Thus nail holes close automatically as the nail is withdrawn. No air is lost!

Save Tires as Well as Closes Punctures

By maintaining a uniform air pressure, Compression Tubes practically eliminate pinching and rim-cuts. They add 20 to 50 per cent to the life of the casing. They make your car ride easier. They should last as long as a car is driven by the average owner, or about 30,000 miles. The use of this long lasting, puncture closing tube is REAL motoring economy. Let us SHOW you this remarkable tube—NOW.

SENATE PASSES TARIFF BILL

SCORE OF AMENDMENTS ATTACHED TO ORIGINAL MEASURE IN SENATE.

VOTE ON ACT 43 TO 30

MOSES ATTACKS ACT AS 'LOP-SIDED, BLIND AND DEAF' IN SENATE SPEECH.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Loaded with more than a score of amendments, the Fordney emergency tariff bill passed the Senate. The vote was 43 to 30, and the measure was immediately sent to conference.

Action on the bill, designed and rushed through the House as an aid to the farmer, came after a protracted session, during which four Republican senators broke from their party alignment, and two of them—Edge of New Jersey and Moses of New Hampshire—bitterly assailed the measure and its Republican supporters. Likewise, solidarity of the Democratic ranks could not be maintained, nine being recorded for the bill.

The broadside by Mr. Moses temporarily unsettled the Republican program so much that three amendments offered by Senator Lodge, majority leader, were killed.

While the Senate was debating, the House ways and means committee was concluding open hearings on revision of the permanent law. With that work finished, Chairman Fordney will leave for another conference with President-elect Harding at St. Augustine. It is understood he will ask for a definite expression as to his views on the legislative program outlined by Republican leaders, and whether he favors consideration by Congress of tariff legislation ahead of taxation.

The speech by Senator Moses was filled with caustic shots at his Republican colleagues. He declared every senator knew that the bill, if it should become a law, would avail nothing, and he challenged denial by any senator that it was "unscientific and designed to fool the farmer rather than aid him." He also assailed supporters of the bill for having offered no defense for its provisions.

"The Republican party cannot go before the country with such a measure," he declared. "It can only give to President Wilson, who was so thoroughly repudiated in November, an opportunity to excoriate the Republican party, and believe me, he will do it."

"Why, this bill is lopsided, it's blind and it's deaf and it has the rickets. It's a combination between the rice paddies, the cane brakes, the cattle ranges, the sheep runs and the wheat fields."

Senator McCumber, Republican of North Dakota, a leading proponent, declared that Mr. Moses was "perfectly willing to stack protection upon protection for his New England folk, but was unwilling to share the benefits with the farmers feeding the world."

"I am tired of such discrimination," he shouted.

Senator McCumber's speech was followed by rapid disposition of the finance committee's amendments, all of which were accepted. Consideration of amendments, introduced by senators, brought the first signs of a determination by the Republican supporters to keep the measure within the bounds set by the committee.

New Westminster, B. C.—The eighty teachers in the New Westminster schools failed to appear for duty following an announcement of the school board that there would be no further increases in salaries. A schedule providing for an aggregate increase of $13,000 annually had been refused as insufficient by the Teachers' association.

Fargo's Check Protested.

Fargo, N. D.—A check for $10,375, drawn by the city of Fargo on the Bank of North Dakota, against deposits totaling $101,000, was returned marked "Protested," according to city officials. The money is needed for bonds and interest soon to fall due, they said.

Knoxville, Tenn.—Will Bowling, a brother of a young woman attacked here, shot Arthur Hendrix, one of two negroes held for the crime on the way to the hearing. Hendrix was wounded in one arm. The trial was waived and the negroes taken back to jail.

A number of Gallup, N. M., citizens have taken over the development of the Development and Recovery Company's mines at Waggoner, Ariz., and will start work on the properties at once.

At a recent meeting of the Gate City Lodge No. 11 and the Raton Masonic Corporation in Raton, N. M., the contract for the new temple was let and plans for the starting of the work completed.

The White Cross hospital which was recently put into operation in Silver City, is said to be one of the finest institutions of its kind in the state, and is a credit to the city and Grant county.

Between three and four hundred members of the Masonic order representing lodges in practically every section of Arizona, attended the annual communication of the grand lodge of Arizona at a five-day session in Bisbee.

Several children were injured when the La Luz school bus, which was evidently running at an unsafe speed, turned over and landed in the ditch. Cyril Jones, the only uninjured member of the party, ran over a mile to Alamogordo and gave the alarm.

The contract for the new Santa Fe postoffice building has been let to J. D. Wise of Omaha for $200,890, and the building is to be completed in fourteen months, according to a telegram received from U. S. Senator A. A. Jones by Arthur Seligman of Santa Fe. All papers have been signed and construction is expected to commence at once.

After slipping away from the guards, going to the engine room, where they rendered the engineer unconscious by striking him on the head with a pick handle, smashing the electric switchboard with a sledge hammer, putting the lighting system out of commission, and overpowering a watchman, four convicts in the New Mexico state penitentiary scaled the prison walls by means of a rope ladder and escaped in the darkness.

Long debate in the Senate of the Arizona Legislature resulted in an amendment to include a soldiers' settlement act in the provisions of the bill to increase possible bonded indebtedness of the state to 4 per cent of the total assessed valuation of property. The soldiers' settlement bill provided for apportionment of state lands and financial aid. Senator C. M. Stoddard, Maricopa county, who introduced the bill, was asked how much money would be needed for the bill. "One hundred thousand dollars as a starter and at least $3,500,000 to carry out the provisions of the bill," he said.

Two tentative plans for the reorganization of the state of Arizona were presented by Governor Campbell in a special message to the Fifth State Legislature. One plan would be by legislation and the other by constitutional amendment through a referendum vote of the people.

An anti-tobacco bill was introduced in the Senate of the Arizona Legislature by Senator J. H. Lines of Graham county. It would give counties, justice precincts and common councils the right to prohibit sale or gift of tobacco within their limits. He also introduced a bill to prohibit chewing or smoking of tobacco in any public room or car not designated as a smoking room or car.

The Elephant Butte dam, Hot Springs, Las Alamos, Derry, Garfield, Salses and Hatch are now on the state highway map. The New Mexico Highway Department has just completed a fine link of highway that will be open to travel in a short time. This new road means much to Hot Springs as it makes it accessible to the tourist. The grades along this route are easy and the route is open the year around.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. Catarrhal Deafness requires constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

SCENERY BIG PART OF PLAY
Modern Theatrical Productions Evidently Depend a Great Deal on the Stage Settings.

"The Beggar's Opera" is now being presented in New York with the company that was gathered for the London revival, and settings which also crossed the ocean. It was not that it was cheaper to bring the scenery over, but simply because it would have been impossible to duplicate the original sets without doing a great deal of Eighteenth century research work that would mean going over the same ground that had been carefully covered by the London designer.

The situation is hardly a parallel to that of "Her Own Way," the Clyde Fitch comedy which could not be played for several days after the date set for the London opening because the scenery had been put on a steamer other than that taken by the company. Fitch had written this play with intricate, though unobtrusive, scenic effects, constantly in thought. The result was that, broadly speaking, the special scenery for this play actually did some of the acting.

HAD STRANGE NEWS TO TELL
Boy's Information Might Have Been Conveyed in More Intelligent Manner, However.

A boy, apparently very much agitated, rushed into a house and said to the lady:
"I don't want to alarm you, but I've got big news to tell you. The man sent me up from the livery stables to tell you."
"Yes, yes! What is it?"
"Why, you know, your little boy, Aleck, what the man can't keep out of the livery stables round the corner?"
"Yes, yes! Well?"
"I told Aleck just now not to go into the stables among the horses, but he wouldn't mind me."
"Oh, dear! What has happened?"
"He said he wanted to see what a mule would do when you tickled its heels with a straw."
"Oh, dear, dear!" gasped the lady, and clung to the chair for support.
"So Aleck got a straw," continued her informant, "crept up behind the mule, tickled him on the heels, and—"
The woman started for the door.
"And the sleepy old mule never lifted a hoof," called the visitor. "Never as much as switched its tail."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

WASHINGTON BANQUET

One of the most enjoyable and profitable events of recent date in our City, was the splendid banquet given by the Epworth League of the First Methodist Church on the evening of the 22nd inst. at Lutz Hall. The hall was tastily decorated with bunting, flags and pictures of Washington.

Three tables were arranged in the center, artistically adorned with cut and potted flowers; together with two shaded lights each mounted on columns. There was an atmosphere of fragrance, a scene of beauty and a cozy and home-like appearance which was indeed charming.

After the invocation by Rev. C. C. Higbee, an excellent and bountiful five-course banquet was served, consisting of the following menu:

Oyster Cocktail and Celery as Brunches; Roast Stuffed Pork, a la Francaise; Potato Flap, French Fries and Buttered Buns; Martha Washington Salad; Water; George Washington Special and Lady Fingers; Cafe Noir, Coffee and Mints.

While the diners were seated about the tables various toasts and responses were given. Dr. E. E. Cole was Toast Master, and he is certainly a master in this realm, and remarked upon the "Spirit of the Banquet." Also fittingly introduced each speaker. The toast "To Our Guests" was given by Miss Laeale Ayers, daughter of the President of the Epworth League, Miss Florence Spence. The response was by Mr. D. S. Donaldson. Under the general theme of "What the Epworth League Stands for," Miss Jewel Miller interpreted the meaning of the emblem. Misses Lois Jones, Edna Crabb and Audrey Miller outlined the work of the first, second and third years respectively. Rev. Higbee spoke of the "Future of the League." Mrs. D. S. Donaldson rendered a piano solo, accompanied by Miss Loreen Wilson and Mr. Davis. Mr. R. T. Cribb responded to the subject of "Enlistment;" Miss Eva Wack to "Our Mothers;" Miss Loreen Wilson to "George Washington," and Mr. Ferguson to "Music Makers." Messrs. Ferguson, Pitts and Bamberg furnished orchestral music throughout the evening.

This banquet marked the conclusion of a friendly contest which has been in process between the White and Gold divisions of the Epworth League. It was indeed a fitting termination. Those present will look back with fond recollection to this happy occasion. The League acknowledges its gratitude to visiting friends and is deeply indebted to the ladies who so kindly assisted them. It was a privilege to have been there. No one can estimate its influence for good upon the young life of the community.

 Mr. A. L. Burke,
 Editor Outlook,
 Dear Sir:

Your article in reference to starting a Boys' Club in this town in your issue of a short time ago was timely, and to the point. I would think the Boy Scout organization would be the proper ones to take hold of getting up a Club for the boys. All kinds of athletics could be had. A building could be rented—probably part of N. B. Taylor & Sons' former garage, on El Paso avenue, and the boys could fix it up to suit themselves.

A small fee could be collected monthly from each member (and contributions could be given whereby money could be raised, with which equipment for the place could be purchased. There should be nothing improper permitted on the place; it could be patterned after the Y. M. C. A.

Magazines could soon be established, magazines and

Lincoln's Plea For Nation's Political Religion Recalled

(Capital News Service)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23. — At a time when the magnificent memorial to Abraham Lincoln just completed in Potomac Park, Washington, is about to be dedicated, and with the Nation facing many problems at home, the plea of Lincoln that the Constitution and the law be revered; that reverence of them be taught by the mother, to the babe, and in the schools, seminaries and colleges, is most pertinent. So well worth reading once more is it that his plea is herewith reproduced:

"Let every American, every lover of liberty every well-wisher to his posterity swear by the blood of the Revolution never to violate in the least particular the laws of the country, and never to tolerate their violation by others. As the patriots of '76 did to support of the Declaration of Independence, so to the support of the Constitution and the laws, let every American pledge his life, his property, and his sacred honor; let every man remember that to violate the law is to trample upon the blood of his fathers and to tear the charter of his own and children's liberty. Let reverence for the law be breathed by every American mother to her lisping babe that prattles on her lap. Let it be taught in the schools, in seminaries, and in colleges. Let it be written in primers, spelling books, and almanacs. Let it be preached from the pulpits, proclaimed in legislative halls, and enforced in courts of justice. In short, let it become the political religion of the Nation."

American Legion Rejects K. of C. Memorial

(Capital News Service)
Washington, Feb. 23. — The offer of the Knights of Columbus of $5,000,000 of its war fund for a national memorial building in Washington has been rejected by the national executive committee of the American Legion, in session in Washington, because of objections to the terms of the Knights of Columbus' offer providing a dual control of the institution. The executive committee of the Legion, in transmitting to the national officers of the Knights of Columbus its decision, stated that with this condition eliminated, the offer would be accepted.

Under the terms submitted with the offer to the American Legion, the Knights of Columbus would designate three members to serve on a committee to erect, furnish and equip the building.

Also the committee for a committee to handle, invest and reinvest an endowment fund of $1,000,000, on this committee to be the head of the Knights of Columbus, the head of the American Legion, and the Secretary of the Treasury, if he would accept. Should the Secretary of the Treasury not accept, then someone, preferably a public official, should be selected by the two first named.

A similar fund of $500,000 in the hands of the Y. M. C. A. was turned over to the Legion unconditionally in so far as any control of the fund by the Y. M. C. A. as an organization was concerned. The understanding, of course, was that the Legion should make the best possible use of this money in advancing the interests of those who fought in the war.

In response from the Knights of Columbus, announcing its decision on the Legion's terms probably will be forthcoming shortly.

Spirit of the Inaugural

The religious spirit exhibited by Mr. Harding since his elevation to leadership of his party and of the Nation has made a profound impression on all believing men, who in November struck for God and their native land. On the day following his overwhelming election, he spoke humbly: "It is all so serious," said he, "the obligations are so solemn, that instead of exulting, I am more given to prayer to God to make me capable of playing my part." And in taking the oath of office he will place his hand on the 8th verse of the 6th chapter of Micah: "He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years, was supposed to be incurable. For great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials.

WELL TO DO FARMER GAINED 20 POUNDS

H. W. Boring Says He Is In Better General Health Than He Has Been in Years Since Taking Tanlac.

H. W. BORING of Overland Park, Kansas

"Since Tanlac has overcome my troubles I have gained twenty pounds in weight and am in better general health than for years past," was the straightforward statement made a few days ago by H. W. Boring, a prominent and well-to-do farmer living at Overland Park, Kans.

"During the two years I suffered I tried everything I knew of to get relief, but nothing seemed to reach my case until I tried Tanlac. My appetite was poor and my digestion was so bad I could hardly retain my food. Nothing agreed with me; in fact I was almost a confirmed dyspeptic. My whole system seemed to be out of shape. I would have pains across the small of my back so bad at times I could hardly move around.

"My nerves were all unstrung and I would become up-set at the least little thing. I seldom slept well at night and, finally, became so weak and run-down that I lost weight rapidly. I was also troubled a great deal with catarrh and of mornings had to spend a half hour or more clearing up my head.

"This is just the condition I was in when I began taking Tanlac and it certainly has been a blessing to me. It just seemed to be made especially for my case. I improved from the very first. My digestion now is perfect and regardless of what I eat I never suffer any bad after effects. The pains across my back have entirely disappeared. The catarrh has left me, too, and my head is perfectly clear. I am no longer nervous and rest well every night. I have regained my lost weight and am feeling better and stronger than I have in years. I am going to keep Tanlac in my house so it will be handy at all times."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

Back Given Out?

There's surely some reason for that lame, aching back. Likely it's your kidneys. A cold or strain often times congests the kidneys and slows them up. That may be the reason for that nagging backache, those sharp pains, that tired, worn-out feeling. You may have headaches and dizzy spells, too, with annoying bladder irregularity. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have helped thousands. Ask your neighbor!

A Colorado Case
Guy Young, 726 Colfax St., Denver, Colo., says: "I was laid up for three weeks on account of my kidneys being in a weak condition. Sharp pains darted through me. I couldn't rest well and when I stooped over I could hardly get up. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they gave me the relief I kept taking Doan's until my back was free from pain. Carrizozo School Notes
(By Supt. E. E. Coles)

Quite a number of the pupils, with the teachers, made a trip to The Crater last Tuesday. They report a most delightful time.

We very much regret to hear of the illness of our popular and efficient county superintendent, Mrs. Blaney. May she soon be restored to health.

Vera Parks was recently called home by the illness of her mother. Miss Vera was a favorite in the High School and all are hoping for her return very soon.

We have received a list of the books to be used for the next six years. This list was recently adopted by the state board of Education and seems to be wisely selected.

Friday, February 25, at the regular meeting of the Woman's Club, held in Lutz Hall, several numbers of a patriotic nature were given by the pupils of the public schools. The High School Glee Club sang "A Patriotic Melody" and "The Jolly Student", the seventh and eighth grades gave "America, The Beautiful". The entire program was patriotic and much appreciated by the members of the Club. Mrs. F.E. Richard was chairman of the day.

This week closes the sixth month of school. The large majority of the pupils are doing fine work and will make their grades. Some who have taken things too easily are on the danger line of failure and are being cautioned that they must brace up and do better work. There is yet time to make their grades, but they must work. Going to school is a business which must be attended to carefully. One cannot play for six or seven months of the school year and then expect to be able to make up for so much lost time. They are likely to be "repeaters." Parents can help a good deal right here by inspecting the cards of the pupils each month, giving them opportunities of study at home, helping them to some extent and giving them encouragement at all times.

A number of patrons of the schools have said that never in the history of the Carrizozo schools have such programs been given as those in honor of Washington and Lincoln this week. It almost seems that the different rooms vied with each other to see which could do the best. Powdered hair, panners, three-cornered hats, ruffles and knee breeches seemed to be in vogue for the day. In keeping with the spirit of the day "Rastus" and "Mandy," with black faces, were in evidence. Nearly every room was profusely decorated with flags and plants. The High School program was made up mainly of declamations and music, and was exceptionally good. The last hour of the exercises the rooms were crowded with visitors. It was especially pleasing to notice the large number of visitors who have no children in school. Parents who were not present missed a treat.

Ladies' Guild Social

The Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal Church, gave a well-attended social at the office rooms of Wm. Reilly. This is the first social given by this important Society for some time, and it will be followed by more of a like nature in the future. Regular meetings will be held each week and socials once a month, the notice of which will be found in succeeding issues of this paper.

DISEASE CAUSE OF ANIMAL LOSS

Three-Fourths of Ailments Which Ruin Valuable Herds Can Be Prevented.

STRICT SANITATION NEEDED

Contagious Maladies, Sporadic Ailments, Parasitic Troubles, Accidents and Neglect Are All Quite Disastrous.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Every year the people of the United States lose over $200,000,000 directly (and no one knows how much indirectly) through diseases of farm animals. This is a large toll when divided on a per capita basis, and when it comes home to the farm stock-raiser who finds a valuable animal dead in the barn, or an epidemic spreading into his herd, the loss is sometimes disastrous. The most regrettable feature of the case is that probably three-fourths of the loss could be prevented.

Five Causes of Disease.

There are five principal causes of disease and death of farm animals—contagious diseases, sporadic disease, parasitic troubles, accidents and neglect. Contagious diseases can be avoided, or at least their consequences greatly diminished, if farmers will learn to co-operate with the United States Department of Agriculture and the various state livestock and sanitary authorities, who are striving to maintain animal health. Farmers should report promptly to the nearest officials any suspicion of the presence of contagious disease, and they should observe carefully all regulations in regard to quarantine, sanitation, and care of animals, as protection against contagion.

Tuberculosis is one of the worst scourges among animals. It thrives best in damp, dark, ill-ventilated stables. It is less common among animals running at large. Light, dry, well-ventilated stables and dry, clean barnyards or paddocks are essential to the health of farm animals. One valuable point in combating contagious diseases, especially tuberculosis, is to start the herd with animals that not only are free from disease, but are of stock that is not predisposed to disease. Official tests of herds are made on request and through co-operation of the United States Department of Agriculture with livestock sanitary officials. Purchase of breeding stock from these herds is a wise precaution. Care also should be taken to obtain stock adapted to climatic and local conditions. The other sources of animal loss are largely a matter of intelligent and careful handling.

Sporadic and incidental diseases, such as disorders of the digestive and respiratory tracts, can be avoided largely by proper handling and feeding. A proper balancing of rations has a material influence on the health of live stock.

Department Offers Aid.

The department of agriculture is constantly giving out important information in books and bulletins which may be had on request and in every state the department has representatives combating animal diseases. It is well to consult a local veterinarian in case of any disturbing symptoms and to report to the state veterinarian or the United States Department of Agriculture, any symptoms which indicate the possibility of an epidemic. The wise breeder is ever on the lookout to prevent disease instead of waiting until a cure is necessary.

MAKE COMPOST HEAP FOR USE IN GARDEN

Start By Laying Down Bed of Fresh Stable Manure

Organic Rubbish, Decayed Vegetables, Dead Vines, Weeds and Other Truck May Be Used—Size Plot Necessarily Varies.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Garden waste, decayed vegetables, dead vines, weeds, and the organic rubbish that collects about the place during a busy summer may be cleaned up and put to work again through the agency of a compost heap. Start the heap by laying down a bed of stable manure which has not been burned or heated. The size of the plot will vary with the amount of refuse to be used; for ordinary uses, if the bed is made 8 feet long by 6 feet wide and 2 feet deep it will serve the purpose. Over the manure spread a two-foot layer of refuse and cover it with another layer of manure. This last layer need be only a foot in thickness. Repeat the layers until all the waste has been disposed of and then cover the whole with a layer of earth.

If it is desired to add to the heap from time to time the top layer may be opened and the new material emptied into the hole thus made. This is convenient for the suburban home where there is no animal to consume the kitchen waste. In the spring the heap is well mixed with a fork and the compost is ready to be spread on the garden plot. The heating manure will effectively destroy any weed seed present and will also break down the structure of most of the materials that have been thrown upon the pile. The process may be continued indefinitely by simply adding enough manure to insure heating. Compost is especially valuable for use in hotbeds and coldframes.

Don't Leave Manure in Piles Exposed to Weather Conditions Favorable to Loss by Washing—Use It to Make a Compost Heap.

FARM FOR CENSUS PURPOSES

is All Land Which is Farmed by One Person, Either by His Own Labor or With Assistance.

According to the 1920 census there are 6,449,908 farms in the United States. A "farm" for census purposes is all the land which is directly farmed by one person, either by his own labor alone or with the assistance of members of the household or hired employees. When a landowner has one or more tenants, renters, croppers or managers, the land operated by each is considered a "farm."

BOARDER HEN IS DECEPTIVE

The boarder hen is being harbored on thousands of farms throughout the country merely because her owner has been led to believe her resemblance, actions, build and conduct in general

ALWAYS DEMAND FOR SQUABS

Pair of Pigeons Ordinarily Produce Dozen or More Young in Year—Specialize in Winter.

Squabs are scarce and a premium is being offered for them. While a pair of pigeons ordinarily produce a dozen or more squabs in a year, they do not breed so freely in the winter. Therefore the squab raiser can afford to make a specialty of producing them in winter.

Curing Cowpea Hay.

Cowpea hay should be cured with as little exposure to the sun as possible. Too long exposure will cause the loss of the leaves, the most nutritious part of the plant.

Sudan grass is a rapid grower and a very gross feeder, producing a lot of feed to the acre in a remarkably short time.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale
BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER
THE SAD BROWNIE.

When the girl and the boy were adventuring along the road they began to get a very fine opinion of themselves—and not only that, they didn't act in the least like a regular boy and girl, but they acted as though—well, you'll hear for yourselves how they acted!

The Luncheon.
funny little plants, and, too, it seems to us that the sun shines down more brightly upon this road than upon the Road Commonplace which we took once by mistake.

"I say we have some food," said the boy after a few minutes.

"Yes," said the girl, "for we had quite an exciting time in the woods when we found we almost went the wrong way, and I'm very hungry."

So the boy took his knapsack from his back and they undid the luncheon. It was extremely good.

They sat down and ate their luncheon and peeked into the basket and saw three other packages, one with a card attached which said:

"For supper this evening," and the second package said:

"For breakfast tomorrow morning." And there was a third package which was marked, "Extra goodies for extra times." This had all been fixed for the adventurers by Mrs. Wood Elf.

"She was nice, was Mrs. Wood Elf," said the girl. "I am going to be very careful to like only nice people and I'm going to make no mistakes, and I'm going to think of serious things and not behave in a foolish way."

"Why, I'm even going to enjoy things when they're hard, for I'll be feeling they are doing me great good." "Maybe we will find the House of Secrets that way sooner," agreed the boy.

"Well, let's be off," said the girl a little later, as she wiped her mouth with one of Mrs. Wood Elf's leaf napkins. "You are through, aren't you?" "All through," said the boy.

Just then they heard a sobbing. It sounded very near.

They walked along a little way, looking in the direction from which the sobbing came.

"Oh, it's a poor little creature, a little bit of a brownie, or something of the sort," said the girl. "See, he is hidden behind this stone."

"I'm hidden because you made me so small," said the little brownie. "You aren't behaving like a regular boy or a regular girl at all, and it breaks my heart!"

"What in the world was, or is, the matter with you?" "Do you always stay behind that stone where we found you and so never get a chance to grow, but make folks wait on you and spoil you like a little gnome we once met?" asked the girl.

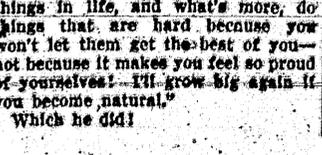

"No," said the brownie, "I'm no relation to that gnome at all."

"We're having adventures," said the boy, "and we're going to the House of Secrets. I hope you're feeling better now, little sir."

"This is a nuisance," said the boy. "A perfect bother," said the girl. "I do believe he is just doing that because we said we were going on as he had dried his tears."

"No," said the brownie, "only I've grown small because you've talked as if you didn't want to be joyous. That's one of the most important things in life, and what's more, do things that are hard because you won't let them get the best of you—not because it makes you feel so proud of yourselves!—I'll grow big again if you become natural."

Which he did!

Moffat to Reduce Rates.

Express commodity rates, based upon 60 per cent of first-class express rates now in effect on the Denver & Salt Lake (Moffat) railroad, will be put into effect in the immediate future by order of the Colorado State Public Utilities Commission upon one day's notice to the Moffat road and the American Railway Express Company. The new rates on specified commodities represent a 20 per cent reduction in the present rates being charged on these commodities. This settlement of the rate controversy on the Moffat road was arrived at when those protesting what they termed excessive rates, and representatives of the express company and the railroad agreed to such a proposal. "It is further stipulated and agreed that the commodities to be shipped at the rates named shall include berries, fresh fruits and vegetables, bakery goods, such as bread and cakes, pies and rolls, etc.; fish, oysters, fresh meats, butter and eggs, poultry, both live and dressed, and other specific commodities that we are unable to think of at this time that generally move under second-class express rates and designated as 'second-class' under the express classification," stated Attorney Charles R. Brock for the railroad. This was also agreed to by all parties concerned. President F. L. Tobin of the Northwestern Colorado Tunnel Commission declared that 20,000 citizens of the northwestern part of the state "propose to initiate another fair amendment" for the Moffat tunnel construction, despite "the big railroad and coal lobby" working for the abolishment of the State Railroad commissions. Charles H. Leckey of Steamboat Springs, former state auditor, showed how ordinary express and freight matter was being sent by parcels post because a ton shipped by parcels post from Denver to Steamboat Springs costs only $23, compared to $108.20 by first-class express, and $34 by first-class freight.

A plea for the organization of consumers with the object in view of purchasing in wholesale lots from the farmers direct was made by Herbert F. Baker of Michigan in an address before the All-American Co-operative Congress. "There are no up-to-date figures on the extent of direct trading between farm producers and city consumers," Mr. Baker said.

Policemen Indicted in New York.

New York.—An indictment charging two members of the police department with murder in the first degree was returned by the January grand jury after former Governor Whitman, conducting the inquiry into alleged city corruption, turned his attention to reputed suppression by the police of evidence in a murder case in 1918. The two policemen were charged with responsibility for the death of a 10-year-old boy shot and killed in July, 1918, whose case was re-submitted after it originally had been dismissed without indictments being found.

Passengers Foll Customs Officers.

New York.—Passengers on the Norwegian-American liner Bergensfjord, who arrived here well provided with liquor were thrown into great excitement when customs officials began confiscating the liquor as quickly as the travelers left the ship. Many of the passengers rather than surrender their wet baggage returned to their staterooms and emptied the bottles, subsequently having much difficulty in making their way ashore.

and Mrs. J. D. Watson, who were in El Paso last week. The ladies were in the city on Saturday.

E. Ella, stockman, whose ranch is located near Ancho, was a Carrizozo visitor last Saturday.

J. M. Crisp, Corona merchant, was here last Friday, staying over until Saturday morning, taking train No. 8 for his home town.

E. G. Jacobs, engineer on the E. P. & S. W. between this place and El Paso, has moved his family to Carrizozo, and will make this point his home for several months at least.

Louis Shook, of the Stockmen's Bank in Corona, came down this week and will remain for about ten days to assist Mr. Paul Mayer and to relieve Miss Ula Edmiston, who is on a short vacation.

Jesse Kennedy came in last week from Douglas, Arizona, where he has been for the past several months, being interested in a mining enterprise. Jesse is now with a company in the Gallinas mountains.

Mrs. W. C. McDonald and father Mr. Tarbell, came home Sunday morning on No. 2 from Douglas, Ariz., where they have been residing for the past several months after having spent a pleasant season on the Pacific coast.

Carrizozo Lodge No. 41, A. F. & A. M., held its regular monthly meeting Saturday night, with the usual good attendance and interest. Special meetings will be held in the near future in order to accomplish the work on hand.

Morgan Rely left Sunday for El Paso to accept a position as traveling salesman for the American Tobacco Company. Mr. Rely will make a valuable addition to the field force of the company, and we heartily wish him the best of success.

Miss Mae Brown, who has been in charge of the local office of the Western Union Telegraph Company here, left for El Paso this week, where she has accepted a position in the offices at that place. Miss Pearl Baldwin is now in charge of the company's interests.

Senator E. M. Brickley, accompanied by his sister, Miss Ella Brickley, daughter Ruth and Miss Ula Edmiston, left Friday for Santa Fe to attend a banquet given by the Scottish Rites wing of the Masonic order. The ladies returned Wednesday, while the Senator remained to finish his official business.

The Carrizozo Dancing Club held one of the best dances of the season last Saturday night in the Lutz Hall. A large crowd was present and Ferguson's "Joy Makers" were reinforced by two pieces, trombone and saxophone from Tucumcari. The regular dances are held on the first and third Saturdays of each month.

J. H. Fulmer, Jr., of the Lincoln Light & Power Co. is in receipt of the sad news of the death of his brother, Lee, D. Fulmer, who died at his home in Mishawaka, Indiana, last Sunday. Mr. Fulmer will be remembered by his many friends here, as he spent about one year with his brother in the work of the Parsons Mining Company. His friendly disposition made friends for him wherever he went.

The Santa Fe, N. M., P. Co. has made an adjustment of commodity rates from Kansas to Capitan will be made by the E. P. & S. W. as the result of the conference between Eugene Fox, general traffic manager, and W. C. Barnes, freight traffic manager, and the corporation commission. The railroad officials gave assurance that the company would make the adjustment.

The Titaworth Company, of Capitan, pointed out that Roswell, on the Santa Fe, but in the same competitive territory as Capitan, got lower rates on some commodities from Kansas points. On flour, for instance, the complainant showed, the rate from Roswell to Hutchinson, Kans., is 65 cents. To Capitan the rate is 85 cents. The company charged the same discrepancy existed in other commodity rates.

The adjustment probably will affect the commodity rates to other points below Capitan—between that station and El Paso.
