INAUGURATION OF HARDING AS PRESIDENT LAST FRIDAY; CEREMONY WITHOUT SHOW

New President Presses Lips to Historic Bible in Presence of Vast Throng Gathered at Capitol.

Washington, March 4.—Warren G. Harding of Ohio, and Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, were today inaugurated president and vice-president of the United States. Mr. Harding took the oath at 1:15 p. m. and Mr. Coolidge at 12:21 p. m.

Pressing his lips to an historic Bible used at the inauguration of George Washington, the new president took the oath administered by Chief Justice White. He had chosen the eighth verse from the sixth chapter of Micah, saying:

"What doth the Lord require of thee but to do justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God."

President Wilson Not Present

President Wilson, yielding to the last minute entreaties of his family and his physicians, took no part in the inaugural ceremonies, other than to accompany the incoming president from the White House to the Capitol where he signed some bills and then went with Mrs. Wilson to the new home which will be theirs in the residential section of the city.

Immediately after the administration of the oath, Mr. Harding turned to the vast crowd which stretched across the Capitol plaza and began the delivery of his inaugural address.

Sound amplifiers carried his voice to the outskirts of the big assembly. A chill wind feebly warmed by bright sun swept the broad plaza which appeared strangely in contrast of other years when it has been illuminated by the uniforms of the West Point cadets, midshipmen from Annapolis and troops.

Pledging his faith anew to American institutions, President Harding concluded his address at 1:55 p. m. after taking exactly 37 minutes for its delivery.

There was a roar of applause as he concluded and turned to receive the congratulations of those on the inaugural stand. Vice-president Coolidge was the first to shake hands with him as the president and Mrs. Harding started from the stand the Marine band played a stanza of America, the crowd began to disperse and the inauguration was over.

President Harding during the afternoon got down to business and took up a number of public matters with his chiefs.

High Lights of Address:

We need a new national unity of spirit and of purpose.

Out most dangerous tendency is to suspect the lack of government and to let it be.

No distinction and no rivalry between the states.

The immediate necessity is to get our own household in order.

No attempt can be made to repeal the insupportable laws of nations.

There is no instant way from the order to order.

We must change our own laws and start afresh.

The suit is for production and the America to go on.

I speak for administrative efficiency; for collaboration tax levies; for sound commercial practices; for adequate credit facilities; for sympathetic concern for agricultural problems; to stop the unnecessary interference of government in business; for an end of government experiments with business; for more efficient business in government administration.

We count on the new political influence of women to check the social order.

My prayer is for industrial peace. When revolution threatens let us defend the flag of law and order.

We must protect our industries.

INDIAN FIESTA AND SUNRISE DANCE

One of the most spectacular and all round pleasing entertainments ever given in Carrizozo was rendered Friday evening at the Crystal Theatre under the auspices of the Woman's Club. The program was in two parts under the able direction of Mrs. E. E. Cole, Mrs. Albert Ziegler, and Mrs. J. B. French. The stage was beautiful. The soft red lights of the camp fires made the wigwam and the surrounding scenery look very picturesque. Our own people were seen in a "new realm, all its own, where romance, idealism and glorious flights of imagination were the chief factors of the domain," as one reader expressed it. The house was packed and about one hundred people were turned away, not being able to obtain even standing room. As an overture, Messrs. Ferguson and Pitts played several choice "Indian Selections." This was followed by a paper, "The American Red Man," by Mrs. John E. Wilson, dealing with the government, work and history of these "First Americans." It was full of choice information. "From the Land of the Sky-blue Water," by Cadman, was sung by Mrs. E. D. Boone, and her interpretation of it was very fine. Mrs. E. E. Cole read a paper, "Indian Art and Music," showing the interest of Indian art and the beauty of the music. Miss Carrie Roberts charmingly sang "By the Waters of Minnetonka," by Lieurance. Miss Ivy Lindsay sang "Invocation to the Sun God," by Carlos Froyer. The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Baker was the inspiration for this appeal.

The costumes worn by those in the first part of the program were similar to those of Indian Princesses and were strikingly becoming. During the intermission, Messrs. Ferguson and Pitts rendered Indian music in keeping with the spirit of the occasion.

The Apache Fiesta and Sunrise Dance opened with a description of the scene by Mrs. Wallace Gumm. She, with several others in the dance, have witnessed the fiesta among the Mesquero Indians. Mr. Watmore, as the Chief, and Bill Prude, Don Finley, H. Bamberger, and Louis Adams, were fantastic bucks, were unsurpassed in their whoops and dancing. Their costumes were fantastic, mysterious and brilliant in their makeup. The medicine men, Dr. E. E. Cole and George Dingwall, hid their part admirably, especially in the "make-up" of their charges, the Misses Evelyn French and Lola Jones, "The Beautiful Indian Maidens," Mr. Davis, the "Tom-Tom" man, assisted by two Indian boys, kept time for the dancers. These were occasionally interrupted by the "Walters," Mesdames Squier and Gumm. Miss Clara Adams never did better than when she sang "Rainbow" and an "Indian Lullaby." The Squaws, with paposes, were Mrs. Truman Spencer, Mrs. Baker, and Mrs. E. D. Boone. Other Squaws were Mrs. French, Mrs. Ziegler, and Mrs. Pitts. They looked the part and their costumes were ideal.

The songs "Tob" and "Navaje" by the tribe and led by Dr. E. E. Cole, were truly enjoyed. Much credit is due Miss Lorena Sager, Mrs. Albert Ziegler and Mrs. D. A. Saunders for their fine piano work. The Woman's Club realized a neat sum which will be used for the benefit of the city.

By Dr. E. E. Cole.

Wealth should be the friendliest agency of welfare.

We want an America of homes.

Service is the supreme commitment of life.

I pledge an administration wherein all the agencies of government are called to serve and ever promote an understanding of government, purely as an expression of the popular will.

ALL MEMBERS OF HARDING CABINET CONFIRMED FRIDAY

President Harding Breaks All Precedents and Presents Nominations As Soon As He Is First Inaugurated. Senator Fall First To Receive Senate Approval.

Washington, March 4.—Breaking a precedent which has stood since the days of Washington and Jefferson, President Harding appeared today at an executive session of the senate to present nominations of his cabinet officers. In less than ten minutes after he had finished his address of five minutes, the senate had confirmed all ten nominations.

The cabinet officers as confirmed were:

Secretary of State—Charles Egan Hughes, of New York.

Secretary of the Treasury—Andrew W. Mellon, of Pennsylvania.

Secretary of War—John W. Weeks of Massachusetts.

Secretary of the Navy—Edwin Denby, of Michigan.

Secretary of the Interior—Alber B. Fall, of New Mexico.

Secretary of Agriculture—Henry C Wallace, of Iowa.

Secretary of Commerce—Herbert Hoover, of California.

Attorney General—Harry M. Daugherty, of Ohio.

Postmaster General—Will H. Hays of Indiana.

Secretary of Labor—James J. Davis of Pennsylvania.

The chief executive was escorted into the senate chamber by Senator Lodge and Underwood, the republican and democratic leaders.

It was said that President Harding addressed the senate for five minutes. He then returned to his private room prior to leaving the capital for the White House.

The new president submitted his other nominations besides his cabinet officers and in presenting those to the senate said he desired to "maintain close and amicable relations with the legislative body during his administration, and had therefore presented the nominations in person.

Mr. Harding submitted his nominations orally, reading the names one by one from the list he held in his hand. They were referred immediately to committees which had been polled in advance, and as the names were read, the chairman of each in concerted committee arose and gave the unanimous and favorable report of the committee for confirmation.

After confirming the cabinet, the senate, still behind closed doors, discussed the program for the extra session. Several senators objected to suggestions for taking up the Columbus treaty but no decision was reached at the time.

It was believed that the president would not ask for consideration of the treaty until the regular session in April.

The senate then adjourned until Saturday, March 5th.

Senator Fall, of New Mexico, named for secretary of the interior, was first on the list to be confirmed. He was given precedence because of his senate membership.

TWO MILLION DOLLAR BILL PASSED BY THE HOUSE

Santa Fe, N. M., March 4.—The house passed by a final vote of 22 to 12, house bill No. 220, which authorizes the state highway commission to issue $2,000,000 of highway bonds, the proceeds of which must be used in meeting federal aid road appropriations. The issuance of the bonds is contingent upon approval by the people of a constitutional amendment which empowers the legislature to issue such bonds, and validates the act in question. Thus the bond issue, in effect, is voted upon by the people, the bill is merely making it possible to issue the bonds immediately, and without waiting for another legislative session, should the vote of the people be favorable.

FIRST NEW MEXICAN IN U. S. PRESIDENT'S CABINET

By Brian Boru Dunne, in Santa Fe New Mexican.

The appointment of U. S. Senator A. B. Fall as secretary of the interior department of President Harding's cabinet gives this honor to New Mexico for the first time, although New Mexico was honored several years ago by the selection of A. A. Jones of Las Vegas as first assistant secretary.

The interior department, one of the great administrative departments of the United States national government is of particular interest to the Southwest because it has been charged by congress with the control of Indian affairs, geological surveys, the reclamation service, the bureau of mines, the national park service—this state has been trying to get a national park—and education.

Since it was created in 1849, during the administration of President Taylor, sixteen different states have furnished heads of this department, Missouri leading with four, Indiana, Iowa and Ohio, three each; Mississippi, Michigan and Virginia, two each, and the following one each: Pennsylvania, Illinois, Colorado, Wisconsin, Georgia, New York, Washington and California.

Strange as it may seem nearly all of the precedents saw changes in the heads of the interior department.

President Wilson started out with Franklin K. Lane in 1913, but in 1920 John Barton Payne succeeded him. President Taft had Richard A. Ballinger in 1909, but he had Walter L. Fisher in 1911. Mr. Roosevelt had John A. Mitchell and later James T. Gardner. Mr. McKinley started with Cornelius N. Bliss who was followed in 1898 by Mr. Hitchcock. Mr. Leveaux had Hoke Smith, then David C. Francis. President Arthur had two at different times, while Grant saw three in his two terms. Lincoln and Fillmore had two each while Johnson had three.

It's a Hard Job.

One explanation of the numerous changes is given and that is the department is usually trying on a man's strength.

To keep tabs on pensions and patents would be a pretty good sized job at which you add three or four hundred thousand Indians, throw in homesteads to be drained and mines to be managed, and adorn the result with strings of national parks, there is glory and work enough for any man even at $1,000 a month.

More Shade Trees Should Be Planted Says Prof. Garcia.

More time and effort should be given to planting shade trees and other ornamentals," says Director Garcia of the Agricultural College. "Even though the growing of shade trees or other ornamentals shrubs does not as a rule become a source of direct revenue, they certainly add to the comfort and beauty of the home and the school grounds, avenues, driveways and parks, and also add to the value of the surrounding property.

It is true if we were always to measure the value of shade trees in dollars and cents there is many a tree that would never be planted. It takes some care, work and money to grow a good shade tree successfully, especially in some of our New Mexico localities where water is limited or very expensive, but man is a beauty-loving animal and the effort is well worth while.

Spring is the best time to plant shade trees, but the practice of planting shade trees in the spring and forgetting them during the summer usually results in either dead or stunted specimens the following spring. Trees are grateful plants and will respond and grow if given the right treatment but one should not expect them to get along without care, water or cultivation. Water is king in New Mexico and a reasonable amount of water is absolutely necessary to produce a satisfactory tree.

FEDERAL FARM LOAN ACT HELD TO BE CONSTITUTIONAL WILL RELEASE MILLIONS TO THE FARMERS

Leases Have Been Held Up Since Suit Was Filed; Court Finds Congress Had Authority to Establish Banks.

The Federal Farm Loan Act was held constitutional Monday, February 28th, by the Supreme Court of the United States. This is the act under which land banks were established to extend loans to farmers.

Millions of dollars in loans to farmers have been held up pending a decision of the court in this case, which was brought by Chas. W. Smith, a stockholder in the Kansas City Title & Trust company, who sought an injunction to restrain that institution from investing its funds in bonds issued by the farm loan banks.

The act was attacked on the ground that congress was without constitutional authority to establish farm loan banks and to exempt their bonds from taxation. Justice Day, who rendered the opinion, for the court, said the power of congress to establish the banks had, in a broad sense been upheld by the supreme court in the days of Chief Justice Marshall.

The court in sustaining the federal court decrees dismissing the injunction proceedings brought by Mr. Smith also held that congress had the authority to exempt the bonds of the bank from taxation.

Loans Held Up.

Farm loans aggregating more than 150,000,000 have been held up since May, 1920, as a result of the suit instituted by Charles W. Smith, a stockholder in the Kansas City Title & Trust company, to test the validity of the Federal Farm Loan act. Applications to this amount were pending when Commissioner Lottbell announced at a conference of farm loan officials that official approval would be withheld pending a decision of the court.

Officials placed the total amount of loans to farmers held in abeyance by the suit at many times $50,000,000, however, the receipt of applications having stopped with Commissioner Lottbell's announcement. On March 1, 1920 the farm loan board reported that $183,827,000 had been advanced to 75,384 farmers and that applications from 170,734 persons then pending totalled $471,000,000.

The suit in the supreme court was in the form of an appeal from lower court decisions refusing to issue an injunction to restrain the Kansas City Title & Trust company from investing its funds in bonds issued by the farm loan banks. The government, the federal land bank of Wichita, Kansas, and the First Joint Stock Land Bank of Chicago, on their own application, were made defendants in order that the entire question might be settled finally by one suit.

Grievous for Attack.

Counsel for Mr. Smith asserted in substance that the farm loan act was an exercise of power which congress did not possess under the constitution. Further ground for attack was found in the exemption of the farm loan securities from taxation, an "instrumentality of the government."

William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, submitted the government brief as special assistant to the attorney general, in the argument of the case. He asserted that the banks were created as "special agents" of the government and that congress had the clear right to set up such institutions. Since assistance to agriculture pertains to the general welfare, it was argued, congress could have made direct appropriations for the purpose in view, but chose to create these special agencies to provide the necessary funds.

With regard to the tax exemption feature, Mr. McAdoo contended that it was "simply a question for congress to determine when the usefulness of its agencies would be enhanced by exemption."

YOUNG GIRL FINDS RELIEF

Wants to Tell Other Girls All About It

Evansville, Ind.—"I am eighteen years old and have been bothered for several months with irregular periods. Every month my back would ache and I always had a cold and felt drowsy and sleepy. I work in a millinery shop and I went to work every day, but felt stupid and would have such cramps. I had seen Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and had heard several women talk of it, so mother got me some. This Vegetable Compound is wonderful and it helped me very much, so that during my periods I am not now sick or drowsy. I have told many girls about your medicine and would be glad to help anyone who is troubled with similar ailments. You may use my testimonial as you like."—STELLA LYXWILER, 6 Second St., Evansville, Indiana.

Some girls lead lives of luxury, while others toil for their livelihood, but all are subject to the same physical laws and suffer in proportion to their violation. When such symptoms develop as irregularities, headaches, backaches, bearing-down sensations and "the blues," girls should profit by Miss Linxwiler's experience and give Lydia E. North American Buffalo.
The total number of wild and tame buffalo on the North American continent at present is estimated at more than 9,000 head. Canada has 5,000. This is due to the fact that several years ago when the Pablo herd in Montana, belonging to Michel Pablo, a half-breed Indian, was for sale, the Canadian government bought the animals, sufficient interest not being exhibited by Americans at that time to make it possible to retain them in this country.

CAMP NO. 1.

Synopsis.—Dissatisfied because of the seemingly barren outlook of his position as a school teacher in a Canadian town, John Harris determines to leave it, take up land in Manitoba and become a "homesteader." Mary, the girl whom he loves, declares she will accompany him. They are married and set out for the unknown country.

Harris left his wife with a company of other women in the government immigration building while he set out to find, if possible, lodgings where she might live until he was ready to take her to the homestead country. He must first make a trip of exploration himself, and as this might require several weeks his present consideration was to place her in proper surroundings before he left. He inquired at many doors for lodgings for himself and wife, or for his wife alone. The response ranged from curt announcements that the inmates "ain't takin' boarders" to sympathetic assurances that if it were possible to find room for another it would be done, but the house was already crowded to suffocation. In two hours Harris, notwithstanding his stout frame and his young enthusiasm, dragged himself somewhat disconsolately back to the immigration building with the information that his search had been fruitless.

At the door he met Tom Morrison and another, whom he recognized as the teller of Indian stories which had captivated the children of his car.

"And what luck have ye had?" asked Morrison, seizing the young man by the arm. "Little, I'll be thinkin', by the smile ye're forcin' up. But what am I thinkin' of? Mr. McCrae is from 'way out in the Wakopa county, and an old timer on the prairie."

"Aleck McCrae," said the big man. "We leave our 'mist'ers east of the Great Lakes. An' Ah'm not from Wakopa, unless you give that name to all the country from Pembina crossing to Turtle mountains. Ah'm doing business all through there, an' no more partial to one place than another."

"What is your line of business, Mr. McCrae?" asked Harris.

"Aleck, I said, an' Aleck it is."
"All right," said the other, laughing. "What is your business, Aleck?"

"My business is assisting settlers to get located on suitable land, an' ekking out my own living by the process. Tom here tells me you're hunting a house for the wife. Ah know Emerson too well to suppose you have found one."

"I haven't, for a fact," said Harris, reminded of the urgency of his mission.

"It's out of the question," said McCrae. "Besides, it's not so necessary as you think. What with the bad time our train made, an' the good time the stock train made, an' the fact that they started ahead of us, they're in the yards now. That's a piece of luck, to start with."

"But I can't put my wife in a stock car!" protested Harris.

"There's worse places," McCrae answered, calmly worrying a considerable section from a plug of black chewing tobacco. "Worse places, Ah should say. Ah've seen times when a good warm stock car would have passed for heaven. But that ain't what Ah have in mind. We'll all turn in an' get the stock unloaded, hitch up the horses, pack a load, an' get away. Ah've been making a canvas, an' Ah find we have six or seven families who can be ready to pull out this afternoon. My team will go along with a good tent an' some cooking outfit. Everyone has bedding, so we're all right for that. Now, if we all hustle we can be started by 4 o'clock, an' out ten or 12 miles before we pitch camp. How does it suit you?"

"What do you say, Mr. Morrison?"

"I think Aleck's plan is best. I've my wife and the two girls, and there's no roof for their heads here. It suits me."

"If it's all settled," continued McCrae, who had the leader's knack of suppressing indecision at the psychological moment, "we'll all turn in with the unloading of the stock."
Harris ran to tell his wife that they were to join a party for "the front" that very afternoon. She received the news joyously.
In a few minutes all hands, both men and women, were busy at the cars. Many hands made the work light, and by mid-afternoon six sleighs were loaded for the journey. All the women and children were to go with the party; Morrison and one or two hired men would remain in Emerson, complete the unloading, and take charge of the effects until the teams should return from their long journey. McCrae, on account of his knowledge of the town and of the needs of the journey, was chosen to secure the supplies.

Each settler's sleigh carried that which seemed most indispensable. First came the settler's family, which, large or small, was crowded into the deep box. McCrae made them pack hay in the bottom of the sleigh boxes, and over this were laid robes and blankets, on which the immigrants sat, as thickly as they could be placed. More robes and blankets were laid on top, and sacks stuffed very full of hay served the double purpose of cushioning their backs and conveying fodder for the animals.

Morrison came up to Harris' sleigh, and gave it an approving inspection.

"You will all be fine," he said, "and a great deal better than wearin' out here. Besides, you're just as well to be away," he added, in a somewhat lower voice. "McCrae tells me if this sun keeps up the roads will be gone before we leave it, and that means a delay of two or three weeks."

At this moment McCrae himself joined the group. "There's only two in your party, Harris," he said, "an' while Ah don't want to interrupt your honeymoon, there's another passenger to be taken care of. Dr. Blain is going with us, and Ah'm going to put him in your charge. He's a bit peculiar, but Ah don't think he'll give you any trouble. It's just a case of being too much of a good fellow. One thing Ah know—he's a doctor. Ah'm going up town for him now; you can shift your stuff a little an' make room."

The whole party were ready for the road and waiting before McCrae appeared again. When he came a companion staggered somewhat uncertainly by his side.

"I'm aw'right, McCrae," he was saying. "I'm aw'right. Shny, whattish? Shildren v' Ishral?"

"Come now, Doctor, straighten up. Ah want to introduce you."

Half leading and half pulling, McCrae brought the doctor to Harris' sleigh. "This is Mr. Harris, who you will travel with—Jack Harris. An' Mrs. Harris."

The doctor had glanced only casually at Harris, but at the mention of the woman's name he straightened up and stood alone.

"Glad to meet you, madam," he said. "And it's only proper that the pleasure should be all mine." There was a little bitterness in his voice that did not escape her ear.

"But indeed I am glad to meet you," she answered. "Mr. McCrae has been telling us something of your work among the settlers. We are very fortunate to have you with us."

He shot a keen look into her face. She returned his gaze frankly, and he found sarcasm neither in her eyes nor her voice.

"Help me in, McCrae," he said. "I'm a bit unsteady . . . There now, my bag. Don't move, Mrs. Harris . . . I think we are quite ready now, are we not?"

"Most remarkable man," whispered McCrae to Harris. "Wonderful how he can pull himself together."

McCrae hurried to his own sleigh, called a cheery "All ready!" and the party at once proceeded to get under way.

Harris' thoughts were on his team, on the two cows trudging behind, and on the multiplicity of arrangements which his new life would present for decision and settlement. But his wife gazed silently out over the ocean of snow. The rays of the sun fell gratefully on her cheeks, pale and somewhat wan with her long journey. But the sun went down, and the western sky, cloudless and meatless, faded from gold to copper, and from copper to silver, and from silver to lead. It was her first sight of the prairie, and a strange mixture of emotions, of awe, and loneliness, and a certain indifference to personal consequences, welled up within her. Once or twice she thought of home—a home so far away that it might have been in another planet. But she would not let her mind dwell on it for long. She was going to be brave. For the sake of the brave man who sat at her side, guiding his team in the deepening darkness; for the sake of the new home that they two should build somewhere over the horizon; for the sake of the civilization that was to be planted, of the nation that must arise, of the manhood and womanhood of tomorrow—she would be brave.

A bright star shone down from the west; one by one they appeared in the heavens. . . . It grew colder. The snow no longer caked on the horses' feet; the sleigh runners creaked and whined uncanonically.

The team came to a sudden stop. The sleigh in front was obstructing the road, and the party closed up in solid formation.

"Camp No. 1," called Aleck McCrae, from the head sleigh. "Run these sleighs up in two rows," and he indicated where he wanted them placed. "It's hard on the horses an' cattle, after the warm cars, but they'll stand it tonight if they're well blanketed. Tomorrow night we'll be among the Mennonites, with a chance of getting a stable room."

Under Aleck's direction the sleighs were run up in two rows, about 20 feet apart, facing the north. Two sleighs were then run across the opening at the north end, so that altogether they formed a three-sided court. Men with shovels quickly cleared the snow from the northerly portions of the court, and there the tent was pitched. The ground was covered with blankets, robes and bedding. Pots and pans were produced; women eager to be of service swarmed about the stove, and children, free at last of their muffling wraps, romped in high-laughtered glee among the robes or danced back and forward with the swinging shadows.

Savory smells soon were coming from hot frying pans, as sliced ham with bread and gravy, was served up in tin plates and passed about the tent. Everybody—married men and women, maidens and young men, girls, boys, and little children—was ravenously hungry, and for a few minutes little could be heard but the plying of the viands. But as the first edge of hunger became dulled the edge of wit sharpened, and laughter and banter rolled back and forward through the tent. The doctor, now quite sober, took a census, and found the total population to be 23. These he classified as 12 married, eight eligible, seven children, and himself, for whom he found no classification.

When the meal was over and the dishes washed and packed, Aleck made another round of the camp before settling down for the night. Meantime mothers gathered their families about them as best they could; the little ones sleepily mumbled their prayers, and all hands, young and old, nestled down like a brood of tired chickens

Ventilation.
Through persistent education the why and wherefore of this great health necessity has been explained; still to the many, air is air, and that is all there is to it.

Ventilation does not simply mean "open wide the windows," but it should be done scientifically, especially in a sick room. To properly ventilate, the air must be kept in motion. The entrance opening for fresh air should be larger than the one for exit. If these openings are directly opposite, the motion will take place without doing the room any good. If there are two windows in the room, one should be opened from the top and the other from the bottom. For the general daytime room the temperature should be 68 degrees and at night 65. A bathroom should be kept at 70. For the sick room of pneumonia patients and several other diseases, of course, the temperature should be kept as low as possible without having the patient in a draught.

One Good Innovation.
Jud Tankins says one of the best helps to production is the change in political customs that prevents a man from neglecting work in order to go around and get bids for his vote.

under the white wings of the protecting tent. Outside the ground-frost sifted gently about the sleighs, the cows sighed in contentment, and the wolves yapped to each other in the distance.

CHAPTER II

Prairie Land.

The afternoon that has just been described was typical of the days that were to follow as the immigrant party labored its slow pilgrimage into the farther west. True, they entered on the very next day a district having some pretense of settlement, where it was sometimes possible to secure shelter for the women and children under hospitable Mennonite roofs. They soon emerged from the Red River valley, left the vast, level, treeless plain behind them, and plunged into the rolling and lightly wooded Pembina region.

After numerous consultations with McCrae, Harris had arranged that his immediate destination should be in a district where the scrub country melted into open prairie on the western side of the Pembina. The Arthurses, who were also of the party, had homesteaded there, and Fred Arthurs had built a little house on the land the year before. Arthurs was now bringing his young wife to share with him the privations and the privileges of their new home. A friendship had already sprung up between Mrs. Arthurs and Mrs. Harris, and nothing seemed more appropriate than that the two women should occupy the house together while Harris sought out new homestead land and Arthurs proceeded with the development of his farm.

After the crossing of the Pembina the party began to scatter—some to homesteads already located; others to friends who would billet them until their arrangements were completed. At length came the trail, almost lost in the disappearing snow, that led to Arthurs' homestead. A quick hand-shake with McCrae, Ned Bacon, and the doctor, and a few others who had grown upon them in the journey, and the two young couples turned out to break their way over the little-used route that now lay before them.

Picking out a homestead.

NEXT JOB IS WHAT COUNTS

Good Thing to Forget What One Has Done, and Look Forward to Something Else.

James J. Hill, who possessed a phenomenal memory, said it is easy to remember things you are interested in.

What to do, therefore, is to discern what things are useful, what things one ought to be interested in, and then forget the others.

That sounds easy, but it isn't easy, as we all know. However, if we try, we may accomplish something. If we don't, we won't.

Let's see, therefore, what are some of the things we ought to forget.

First, and most important of all, forget that brilliant record you made at school or that wonderful sale you made which caused all the boys to talk, or that remarkable piece of work you did which won your raise of pay and promotion.

Forget the big things you did yesterday or last year.

Forget all about the time you topped the list and were made a fuss over.

Forget that you are (in your own eyes) a wonder, a world beater.

Water that has gone over the mill-wheel can grind no more corn.

Forget what you have already done and address all your mind and strength and talent to the next job.—Forbes Magazine (New York).

Franklin's Court Harmonica.

One of the first musical instruments made by an American was a mouth harmonica, made by Benjamin Franklin at the time when he was minister at the court of Louis in France, where he played it with considerable skill before Marie Antoinette and her court ladies.

The queen was so delighted and interested that Franklin presented the little instrument to her. After Marie Antoinette was beheaded in the great French revolution, this mouth harmonica had many sensational experiences till finally it came into the possession of a wealthy musical amateur and collector in this country, who has it, I believe, to this day.—Musical America.

Troublesome Spiders.

A spider in Buenos Aires spun its web near a telephone cable. The wind caught the web and wrapped it around the wires. The web soon became damp, and caused several short circuits. Other spiders in the neighborhood followed the adventurous one's example, and now it has become necessary for the telephone company to send a man out every few days to clear the wires of webs.—Popular Science Monthly.

Good Effect

A Corona "Joy Party" composed of the Misses Bernice Lively, Charlotte New, Messrs Dean Gumm and Clarence Wiggins, came down last week in time to witness the Indian Fiesta and stayed over for the dance at Lutz Hall Saturday night. The program at the Crystal, or rather a portion of the same, where the Indian wedding took place; had a serious effect on the party, for some rumor was in possession of material which strongly intimated a determination to embark on the life boat of matrimony. We are not assuming authority for the above statement! We will encounter enough trouble without looking for it. (But that was what "George" said, you know.)

Here's a Tube that closes punctures and
prolongs casing life

The Compression Inner Tube has solved the puncture problem! Three times as thick as ordinary tubes, and moulded with deep side and tread corrugations which straighten out when tube is inflated. The air pressure COMPRESSES this tube, instead of stretching it, and nail holes close up automatically. You simply pull out the nail—and keep moving—no air is lost!

By maintaining the same air pressure constantly, keeping the tire firm, pinching and rim-cuts are practically eliminated. Tires last 20 to 50 per cent longer. And your car rides easier. Real economy as well as freedom from punctures is what you get in the Compression Tube. Let us demonstrate this remarkable tube to you immediately.

W. H. JOHNSON, of Portland, Ore., who says no one could have done him any greater kindness than the friend who advised him to try Tanlac. — Gains fifteen pounds.

"Not in a long time have I enjoyed such good health or felt so well generally as I do since taking Tanlac," said W. H. Johnson, 319 East 43rd St., Portland, Ore., who holds a responsible position with the Northwest Transfer Company.

"About a year ago I began suffering from lack of appetite and stomach trouble and since that time—that is, until Tanlac set me right—I have felt so poorly that I could hardly do my work. My food seemed to do me little good, if any, as my digestion was bad, and I lost both weight and strength continually.

"After every meal there was a dull, nagging pain in the pit of my stomach that kept me feeling miserable for hours.

"The gas from my sour, undigested food would bloat me up terribly and my nerves were so upset that I would lie awake half the night unable to sleep. I was constantly having blinding dizzy spells and could not bend over and straighten up quickly but what everything seemed as dark as night to me.

"I was telling a friend one day how bad I felt and he advised me to try Tanlac and I just want to say he couldn't have done me a greater kindness.

"I have picked up all of fifteen pounds in weight, my appetite is fine, and although I am eating just anything I want my stomach never gives me a particle of trouble. My sleep is sound and restful and my strength and energy have been so renewed that my work is no longer a burden to me."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the system, cleanses the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

The Utah State Farm Bureau officials and the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company concluded an agreement on the price basis of the 1921 sugar beet contracts which for the first time in Utah will make provision for payment on both the basis of the price received by the manufacturers for the sugar and the sugar content of the beets grown by the farmers. On the present price of sugar net to the refiner of $7.00 per 100 pounds, the farmer would receive $9.04 a ton for beets as compared with the $12 minimum of last year.

Agitation against infected shaving brushes has resulted in virtually paralyzing the Japanese bristle industry, and that the government is taking steps to open a national disinfection office at Kobe to remedy the situation, the Department of Commerce was informed from Tokyo. Pure, Rich Blood Will Keep Your Body Vigorous and Healthy

When impurities creep into your blood the first symptoms are usually a loss of appetite, followed by a gradual lessening of energy, the system becomes weaker day by day, until you feel yourself on the verge of a breakdown. Nearly everybody needs a few bottles of S. S. S., the great vegetable blood remedy, to cleanse out all impurities about twice a year. It is an excellent idea to take this precaution to keep the system in a vigorous condition so as to more easily resist disease to which every one is subject. S. S. S. is without an equal as a general tonic and system builder. It improves the appetite and gives new strength and vitality to both old and young. Methodist Church Notes

At the Sunday School Council Meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fetter Tuesday evening of last week, plans were laid for an Easter Programme at the First Methodist Church, both morning and evening of Easter Sunday, the 27th inst. The morning programme will be chiefly by the smallest pupils of the School and a Pageant by the Young People in the evening.
 At the Epworth League business and social meeting Thursday evening, definite plans were made for the Chautauque to be rendered at an early date. At the suggestion of one of the young men it was voted to hold Sunday evening devotional meetings in the Church Balcony. The session Sunday evening convened accordingly. The advantages in a home-like atmosphere and freedom from interruption were apparent to all.

The pastor will begin a short series next Sunday morning on a very vital theme which has to do with the present unsettled and unsatisfactory economical situation. Our problems will never be solved until they are solved as God would have them.

Baptist Church Notes

We had a fine attendance at both morning and evening preaching services. Subject Sunday morning, March 12, "Personal Work;" Sunday evening, "When Success Was a Failure."
 The Sunday School is taking on new life under the Merit System.

The B. Y. P. U. has been below par of late but we are hoping that it will take on new life in the general improvement in Church work, which we feel sure is beginning.

All men have sinned, therefore all are LOST. Jesus came to save the LOST. ARE YOU LOST? Then come and hear the story of Jesus, and his power to save the LOST.

Senator Fall and Mexico

(Harvey's Weekly)

Out of the mists enveloping Mexican affairs, one fact emerges in sharp distinctness of outline. The day of unofficial Mexican investigators is ended. Americans distinguished or indistinguishable will henceforth go on no more expeditions of psychological, sociological, political, or commercial exploration of the Mexican jungle. No more roving Scandinavians, no more "publicists" of the William Bayard Hale variety, will be turned loose from Washington to undermine and go over the heads of duty constituted representatives in our contact with the dominating powers in Mexico. To that chapter of our Mexican relations the word "Finis" has been written in print that all may read.

Just how much mischief these meddling semi-official busybodies managed to do during the past eight years we shall probably never will know. All that is certain is that their's was no small contribution towards making the confusion worse confounded.

Senator Fall, whose knowledge of Mexico and Mexicans is exceptionally intimate, who speaks and writes the Spanish language with great fluency, whose valuable reservoirs of information will be drawn on freely by the present Administration, has certain clearly defined views regarding our Mexican relations which he has authorized the Washington correspondent of the Boston Transcript to make public. Through the proper channels, the Senator's conclusions have been laid before Senator Oregon. The suggestions are five in number: First, a Commission to fix damages done to Americans and their properties in Mexico, and reciprocally, the damages suffered by Mexicans in the United States. Second, a Boundary Commission. Third, that any decree depriving Americans of property rights and freedom of teaching and worship, be not enforced. Fourth, agreements covering protection of Americans and their property in Mexico.

Fifth, that these agreements as set forth above, be written into a preliminary protocol with specific declaration that this protocol be embodied in a formal treaty as soon as a Mexican Government is recognized by the United States.

Inasmuch as Senator Fall, enjoying as he does the confidence and high personal esteem of President Harding, will in all human probability have a great deal to do with the Mexican question, it is pretty safe to say that these "suggested lines" have Mr. Harding's approval. If accepted, the way will be open to strong American financial support for Mexico, a support which it is plain that our neighbors below the Rio Grande need, as it is plain that the establishment of better conditions and better understanding will be to the advantage of both countries.

Frank J. Barry, a prominent attorney, was stabbed in the left arm at Nogales, Ariz., during a fight with one of four Mexicans who were robbing his home, a report to the sheriff's office said. The robbers were put to flight after looting the house and getting a small amount of money and a few jewels.

The low cost of living is making itself felt in Cochise county, Ariz., according to Miss Beulah Coon, supervisor of home economics in the state department of vocational training, who said seventeen school teachers of Douglas are being served complete luncheons by the home economics girls of the Pirtleville school for 25 cents.

The Masonic Grand Lodge of New Mexico elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: Grand master, Francis E. Lester of Mesilla Park; deputy grand master, Lucius Dills, Santa Fe; senior grand warden, Joseph Gill, Clayton; junior grand warden, John W. Turner, Silver City; grand secretary, A. A. Keen, Albuquerque, and grand treasurer, Solomon Spitz, Santa Fe.

Henry L. Peterson of the school board of Chandler, Ariz., has been informed that the sale of $170,000 worth of school bonds had been approved by the attorneys of the bonding house. These bonds had been sold about two weeks ago to a Chicago concern and their acceptance means that the work of proceeding with the building of the new structures can go forward at once.

The Deming, N. M. representatives of the Winchester Arms Company have been notified that Miss Anna Page of that city has won the marksmanship medal for the state of New Mexico in the Junior Winchester Rifle Corps competition which was held throughout the United States and Canada during the month of January, and the compilation of the scores has just been completed.

The highway department of New Mexico awarded the contract for the bridge over the Rio Grande at Espanola to the J. V. Striker Construction Company. The company's bid was $44,700. The bridge will be a concrete structure and will resist the floods that have battered the wooden structure now in place at that point. The contract calls for completion before the flood season.

The attendance during the present year at colleges and universities has increased out of all proportion to the increase of population. It is also out of all proportion to the facilities for the accommodation of students. Arizona is no exception—in fact the University of Arizona is an outstanding example of the rapid growth of a state university. Compared with other state universities the percentage growth is remarkable, being 97 per cent.

The Supreme Court of Arizona upheld the judgment of the Superior Court of Yavapai county which convicted Clarence Sage, former mine guard, of a statutory charge in connection with an attack alleged to have been committed upon a young woman in Jerome. She had been married but was a minor. Sage was sentenced to life imprisonment. Three other men, including two Jerome policemen, were convicted in connection with the same alleged offense.

Hundreds of acres of apple trees are being uprooted in the Pecos valley in New Mexico. Most of this apple orchard land will be given over in the future to alfalfa, a great many land owners seemingly being convinced that alfalfa pays far better than apples.

A drastic anti-cigarette bill introduced in the House would prohibit cigarette smoking, possession of cigarettes or materials for making or their transportation into the state of Kansas. A fine of not less than $50 or more than $100 is provided.

The New Mexico Salt Refining Company held its annual meeting at Mountainair when eight directors were selected for the coming year and plans were made for the developing of the salt industry in the county on a large scale. Many prominent men of the state, including U. S. Senator Jones, have become interested in the company and the prospects for the future are bright. The company owns the Salina grant upon which is located the famous salt lake of the Estancia valley, where the Mexicans got their salt 300 years ago and hauled it to many points in Mexico overland.

Proof Positive.

"I understand," remarked Mr. Callahan to his friend Mr. Casey, "that the judge fined ye $10 for assaultin' Coughlin the other day."

"He did that," answered Mr. Casey, "an' it was a proud moment, I tell ye, whin I heard the sintince."

"How's that?"
"I'm thinkin'," continued Mr. Casey, "that it showed which one of us had the best of the fight."

WHY ONE'S TEETH "CHATTER"

Certain Set of Muscles, Affected by the Cold, Get to Work, Irrespective of Will.

The little muscles which close the jaw are acted upon by the cold in such a way that they pull the jaw up and then let it fall by its own weight.

This, repeated many times, causes the teeth to click together and produce what we know as "chattering."

We think of it in connection with our teeth because it is the teeth which make the sound, but the cause lies in the muscles which we use in chewing or in opening our mouth when we speak.

The chattering occurs in spite of the will or brain. We have little control over it, and can stop it only by clenching the teeth. It is really a mild variety of spasm caused by the cold, which acts on the jaw muscles in much the same way that some poisons produce muscular spasms which cannot be controlled.

HOW ONION AFFECTS EYES

"Gas" Given Off Causes Smarting and the Organ-Hastens to Take Relief Measures.

The "gas" given off by a freshly peeled onion makes itself apparent in two ways—by a strong aroma which is at once apparent to the sense of smell, and by a smarting of the eyeballs, which, being very sensitive, are hurt by this substance to which they are not accustomed.

The nerves of the eye immediately signal the brain to turn on the tears or liquid which is secreted by the body as a natural eye-wash. This, flowing over the eyeball, forms a curtain which prevents the onion "gas" from coming in direct contact with the nerves and thus injuring them.

Tears are present in the eye at all times. When we wink, a tiny drop of the tear-liquid is smeared across the ball of the eye and washes off particles of dust which may have accumulated. But when this liquid is produced so rapidly that it cannot be carried off by the trough at the lower part of the eye, the tears overflow and run down the face.

Carrizozo School Notes
(By Supt. E. E. Cole)

We wish to commend the very fine singing by the seventh and eighth grades. With Miss Ivy Lindsay at the piano, and a book in the hands of every pupil, everyone sings and thoroughly enjoys it. This section of the schools will give a Free Concert in three or four weeks, to which the public is most cordially invited.

The boys and girls of Mrs. Hoffman's room have organized a Reading Club. Each member contributes the books which he has read thereby having the opportunity to read all books in the library, which consists, at the present time, of fifty volumes.

The Club elected Mack Shaver as Librarian and made their own regulations as to management of the library.

Mrs. C. F. Jones has just presented the high school with a stereopticon with movie picture attachment. It is a very valuable and very useful addition to the school and we are very grateful to Mrs. Jones. The high school voted unanimously that its thanks and appreciation be given. Mr. Cole asked the senior class to draft a letter embodying the vote of the school, with Miss Herron to assist. The following is the letter to be sent:

"Dear Mrs. Jones:- It is our privilege to acknowledge your splendid gift to us, the high school, and to thank you for it. It is the kindness and thoughtfulness of such friends as you that give us courage, inspiration and enthusiasm to go ahead and strive to make our school better and greater. We cannot wholly express our appreciation in words. All we can say is 'We thank you,' and will endeavor to make the best use of this machine."

Last Saturday, the Boy Scouts, with Scoutmaster Cole, took a "hike" to the Indian Rocks, southeast of town. One patrol started at 8 o'clock, leaving signs by which the other members of the troop could follow. These signs were such as markings in the road, laying of sticks or stones, bending of grass tufts and twigs.

Indian Rocks is probably a geological dike, the softer rocks on both sides having been worn away, leaving the dike as a wall rising above the surrounding country. Scores of pictures or drawings are found on the surfaces of the rocks. They are not grouped in such a way as to indicate that they have any historical significance. They are probably just the pictures made by small Indian boys and girls; made just for fun, as is done by the children of to day, on paper.

There are two of these long dikes, parallel and about a mile apart. The Scouts found many kinds of rock formations, including conglomerate, breccia, some very pretty specimens of jasper and a good deal of what looks very much like graphic granite. One of the Scouts brought home a fine specimen of chemical stain which looked much like fossil moss. Several climbed to the north spur of Cub Mountain, which is a good deal higher than it looks to be.

The Boy Scouts are learning to signal by the Wigwag or General Service Code. It is the most applicable and the most widely used, and the same in its alphabet, as the Continental Morse Code. An electrical telegraph instrument has been set up in Mr. Cole's office, which the boys are at liberty to use.

Personality

THOSE elements of individuality, attractive or otherwise, which characterize every man and woman and make our association with them pleasant or unpleasant, are summed up in the word Personality. A pleasant, helpful personality is broadly beneficial, while a narrow, self-centered one is a source of much unhappiness.

A business institution is the concrete expression of the hopes and ideals of its founders and directors. The nature of their combined personalities is magnified into the character of the institution. Where discord and dissatisfaction mark your dealings with a firm or business house, you have an indication of the spirit which governs that institution. Choose your business connections as you choose your friends.

The friendly helpfulness and courtesy which characterize the service of this bank mirror the sincere purposes which actuate its management, and reassure you that your interests are thoughtfully considered and safeguarded.

Are you waiting for rents to come down?

Are you one of the millions who are patiently paying rents that are from 20 to 50 per cent too high?

If you are, do you know the facts?

Do you know that Carrizozo is short 50 homes; that experts estimate the United States to be four years behind in building requirements?

The law of supply and demand always fixes prices. So long as there is a home shortage landlords will demand high rents and tenants will be forced to pay them.

The one way out is to BECOME A HOME OWNER YOURSELF.

You can build now cheaper than at any time in the past five years, and almost as cheaply, we believe, as at any time in the next five years.

Lumber and building materials have taken a tremendous drop. The complete cessation of building has caught manufacturers with big stocks which they have been forced to sell almost at cost.

If you buy now you can take advantage of their situation. If you wait, you will buy when everyone else is buying, and you will find the increasing demand forcing prices upward.

In our opinion, RIGHT NOW IS A GOOD TIME TO BUILD.

Call and see us, and talk it over.

In your Grand-Mother's Time

At one time I took Dr. Williams' Golden Medical Discovery for a raw, sore feeling in my lungs following the measles; also for torpid liver and poor appetite and the medicine helped me wonderfully. My nerves became quiet and I could sleep well at night.

The Discovery is put up in liquid or tablets, without alcohol, and sold by all druggists.

MANDATE ROW UP TO HARDING

LEAGUE OF NATIONS REFUSES TO TAKE HAND IN DISPUTE OVER YAP ISLAND.

NOTE IS WITHHELD

UP TO NEW ADMINISTRATION TO HANDLE SITUATION, SAYS DAVIS.

Washington, March 3.—Further steps in the controversies between the American government and the allies and the League of Nations council over mandates will be left to President Harding and Charles E. Hughes, his secretary of state.

Decision of this administration to take no further action was made known after receipt of the replies from the council and Great Britain to the American notes on mandates for the Island of Yap, held by Japan, and for Mesopotamia, to be awarded to Great Britain. Officials said there was insufficient time for them to prepare answers. They also indicated that it might be regarded as presumptuous if they acted.

"We have taken the steps to protect the position of the United States government," said Under Secretary of State Davis, "and the matter is in position to be dealt with by the new administration."

The text of the note was made public, but that of the British note was withheld. Question of its publication, officials said, would be left to the new administration. The text of the council's note did not differ from that given out at Paris.

Comment was withheld by officials. It was evidenced, however, that the action of the league in postponing consideration of the Mesopotamia and other class "A" mandates until May or June was received with satisfaction.

Contention of the league that it has no authority over the award of class "C" mandates such as that for Yap probably will not result in the initiation of any new negotiations regarding this question, as the United States has taken this matter up directly with Japan.

The American government has protested against Japan controlling the important cables centering on the island. There has been a suggestion that the two questions, that of the mandate and the control of the cables, be separated, with the cables placed under international control, but one obstacle, it is said, appears in the terms of the mandate taken in connection with Japanese law.

Paris.—The League of Nations is not concerned with the allocation of the former German possessions in the Pacific, which includes the Japanese mandate for the group to which the Island of Yap belongs, the American government is informed in the reply of the council of the league to the American note on the mandate question. The text of the council's reply was made public here.

The allocation was made by the supreme council of the allies, the note points out, but the council invites the United States to be represented at the meeting of the council in May or June, when the other classes of mandates are to be taken up for final decision.

Lawyer Gets Six Months.

Sioux City, Iowa.—Charles Metcalfe, 65 years old, practicing lawyer, in state court was sentenced to serve six months in the county jail for shooting Mrs. George Borton in the jaw during a family quarrel last July. She recovered. Metcalfe appealed to the Supreme Court. He was convicted of assault with intent to commit great bodily injury after being indicted for assault with intent to commit murder.

Power Bill Exempts Parks.

Washington.—The House passed the Senate bill exempting national parks from the provisions of the federal water power act. The measure, which now goes to the President, would prevent construction of commercial dams and power houses in national parks of the West.

Many Killed in Revolution.

Florence.—Eleven persons have been killed, more than 100 wounded and 500 others arrested in connection with the disorders here, which seem to have been the outcome of a revolutionary plot having ramifications throughout Tuscany.

MARKETS

Furnished by U. S. BUREAU OF MARKETS Washington, D. C.

Hay.

Very light receipts are causing a better demand in the timothy market. Recent conceptions and low prices have discouraged shipments. Good timothy in small bales is a premium in Chicago. Shipping restrictions at Cincinnati now removed. Offerings western alfalfa still causing weak markets in Central West. No Idaho alfalfa arriving at Kansas City, recent congestion cleared. Quote—New York: New York, $22; Cincinnati, $23.50; Chicago, $24; Atlanta, 30; Memphis, $25. No. 1 alfalfa, Kansas City, $19; Chicago, $25; Memphis, $27. No. 1 prairie, Kansas City, $12.50.

Feed.

Market firm for principal feedstuffs due to tendency to hold for higher prices. Jobbers expecting better demand from now on, but indications do not point to an early revival of brisk business usually witnessed at this season of the year. Feeders and country deliveries appear amply supplied; receipts in consuming markets more than adequate to take care of requirements. Linseed meal and gluten feed prices were advanced about $2 per ton following the advance in wheat feeds, but demand remains unsatisfactory. Beet pulp dull. Recent decline of $4 per ton failed to stimulate business. Hominy feed and alfalfa meal unchanged and cottonseed meal weak. Quoted, bran, $22.50; middlings, $22; Minneapolis, $21.50; Buffalo, $21.50; Minneapolis, No. 1 alfalfa meal, $19.50; Kansas City, $21; St. Louis, 10 per cent cottonseed meal, $25; Memphis, $26; northeastern markets: white hominy feed, $24; St. Louis, $21.50; New York, gluten feed, $27; Chicago, $40; Philadelphia; beet pulp, $32; seaboard markets.

Grain.

Prices higher and well maintained in the 24th of the month, but a decline in stock market and general economic and business situation caused a drop in grain prices. Prices still lower on the 25th, but a better export demand then developed, and there was a recovery. On the 26th the market was restless and erratic with rapid fluctuations within a narrow range. Germany bought American wheat on the 26th, and after more. Country offerings in the South report better flour inquiry; Greece took 23,000 barrels, seaboard. Exporters after corn in Southwest, but offerings small. In Chicago cash market No. 2 red winter wheat 10 1/2c to 12c over Chicago March. No. 2 hard, 3c to 6c above No. 3 mixed corn, 5 1/2c under Chicago May; No. 2 yellow, 4 1/2c to 5 1/2c under. For the week Chicago March wheat advanced 2c, at $1.68 1/2; May corn, 1 1/2c, at 69c. Minneapolis, 1c above at $1.25; Kansas City March, 1 1/2c, at $1.67 1/2; Winnipeg May, 1c, at $1.83 1/2; Chicago May wheat, $1.57.

Live Stock and Meats.

All classes of live stock made material advances in price at Chicago during the week. The greatest increases were on sheep and lambs and hogs. Compared with a week ago, fat lambs advanced $1.50 to $2.00; feeding lambs, $1; best yearlings up $2.00 to $2.25; fat ewes, $1. Hogs advanced $1. Beef and butcher steers up 15c to 20c; butcher stock up 25c to 50c. Fat hogs, No. 3 mixed prices: Hogs, bulk of sales, $9.50@10.00; medium and good beef steers, $8.00@10.25; butcher cows and heifers, $4.50@9.00; feeder steers, $7.25@9.00. Fat calves, No. 2, $10.00@12.25; fat lambs, $9.00@11.25; feeding lambs, $7.25@8.50; yearlings, $7.50@9.50; fat ewes, $5.50@7.25.

Vegetables.

Sacked round white potatoes up 10c to 20c per 100 lbs. at northern shipping points, reaching $1@1.10. Chicago on-lot market up 15c, closing $1.25@1.35, sacks above at $1.20. The season's low point. Round whites held around 9c at western New York shipping points. New York market slow and dull at $1.10@1.25 bulk.

Cattle.

Conditions on this division continued to show an improvement. Receipts were fairly liberal, but under a strong demand on the 24th the market was firm. Prices on the stock were generally called 25 cents higher than the close of last week. Beef steers registered an advance of 25 to 50 cents.

Hogs.

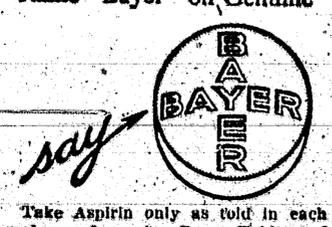

Supplies were unusually heavy on this division. Demand, however, was strong and the offering met with ready sale. Although eastern markets were lower, the local market was not affected.

Swine.

Trading was slow on this division. Ewes were in strong demand and this class of stock was cleared at an early hour. Prices held steady. Good grade of choice fat ewes, averaging 115 pounds, brought $5.50, freight paid, while another string, averaging 115 pounds, sold at $5.25 flat. Good grades of fat ewes were quoted from $5.75 to $6.75 with fair to medium sorts $5.25 to $4.50. More common kinds were quoted at $3.50 and down.

Marquesans Are Dying.

The Marquesans, we gathered over coffee and cigars at Nukuhiva, were dying rapidly of consumption, introduced in the form of Panama fever by laborers returning from canal construction. The fever afterward developed into the white plague by reason of the natives' unresisting, if not acquiescent, nature. And when all were gone, what then? Chinese.

The Chinese appear to be the answer to most questions in the South Pacific today. They come; it costs them but $50 to land; and after that they grow—upon Dieu, how they grow!—Ralph Stock in the National Geographic Magazine.

RUB OUT SORENESS

Sprains, Backache With Old St. Jacobs Oil.

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now, listen! That's lumbago, sciatica, or maybe from a strain, and you'll get blessed relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil!" Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on and out comes the pain. It is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle from any drug store, and after using it just once you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years. Stop dragging kidneys! They don't cause backache, because they have no nerves, therefore can not cause pain.—Adv.

Agricultural Enterprise.

"The instructions I get from our congressman on how to make a farm pay," remarked Farmer Cornstossel, "are kind of disappointing."

"They give a great deal of information about agriculture."

"Yes, but what I want is some reliable advice about how to turn the old place into a real estate subdivision."

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these bothersome spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it at night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of easy back if it fails to remove freckles.

A Fish Story.

The story that made millions laugh—that one which includes, "Thunder! That ain't no such animal!"—has, we think, a pretty good running mate in the following more recent one. A countryman was standing on a fish pier where they day's catch was being landed. Presently a swordfish of monstrous size was hoisted up, and the old fellow stared at it in wonder and amazement. He positively could not believe his senses, and when at last he recovered himself sufficiently to speak it was only to exclaim: "The man that caught that fish is a darn liar!"

Jed Tunkins says a practical joke requires an entirely theoretical sense of humor.

POPULATION IS DECREASING.

Recent All-Russian Census Shows Loss in Population.

The recent all-Russian census under Bolshevik rule, only partially completed, shows that the population of Russia has decreased considerably since the beginning of the revolution, according to an article in the Krasnaya Gazeta (Red Gazette). Although the census took place on August 28th, no complete returns are available yet.

"The census," continues the article, "has been taken nearly all over the country, with the exception of the northern tundra, the nomadic population of the Kirghiz, Kalmucks and Turkomans, and also the territories recently freed from the white armies. Up to the present the central statistical department has received returns from 320 counties, 840 cities and fifty-eight provinces.

"From twenty-two provinces, including the city of Moscow, complete returns have already been received. On the whole returns are still outstanding from 45 per cent of rural districts and 25 per cent of the cities. Nevertheless, the data already on hand afford a wealth of material for observing the changes in the distribution of the population of soviet Russia.

"First and foremost, the census establishes the indubitable fact that the population of Russia has decreased since the beginning of the revolution. For twenty provinces on which data are obtainable for both periods the census of 1917 gave a total population of 30,000,000. The census of August 28th, 1920, however, enumerated only 27,000,000 inhabitants, a loss of 10 per cent. And this, notwithstanding the fact that after the conclusion of peace following the world war millions of soldiers and war prisoners returned to their homes. The cause of this is that the mortality rate has grown considerably, while the birth rate has decreased during the years of war and revolution.

"A particularly great decrease has been noted during the revolution among the city population. In the above-mentioned twenty provinces the number of city inhabitants dropped from 7,900,000 in 1917 to 3,800,000 at present, the decrease thus amounting to 3,100,000 persons, or 39.2 per cent.

A soda fountain equipment company of which he was head went into bankruptcy recently, costing the former mayor much of his popularity. Disappointment over the loss of money and friends was said to be the motive.

Forest Fire Danger Great

Albuquerque, N. M., March 9—Reports covering six forest fires that have occurred on National Forests of Arizona and New Mexico in the past ten days have been received by the District Forester for the Southwestern District at Albuquerque, N. M. Three of these fires were on the Coconino Plateau in northern Arizona and three in the White Mountain region on the Lincoln National Forest in southern New Mexico. While none of the fires were extensive or did much damage, two of these in the White Mountains exceeded twenty-five acres and were fanned by high winds which made their control difficult by forest rangers and ranchers who were fighting them.

The mild winter and general deficiency in precipitation in the Southwest during the past few months leads the Forest Service to expect an early and severe fire season on the National Forests in this region. The District Forester sounds a note of warning to all those who live in or near unburned areas or those work takes them to such places, to observe every precaution against starting of fires. The situation is especially critical since the high spring winds are about due and this year finds the forests in an excessively dry condition, thus creating a double hazard at this time.

DR. C. L. PARSONS, OF ROSWELL, TAKES POISON TO AVOID ARREST

Deceased Was Prominent Politician And a Member of the State Republican Central Committee.

Roswell, N. M., March 7.—The body of Dr. C. L. Parsons, well known Republican politician and osteopath and resident of Roswell for many years, was found late Sunday afternoon a short distance west of the city. A note found in his pocket proved he had committed suicide. Evidently Dr. Parsons had taken poison Saturday night a short time after his disappearance from his home. His body was found lying near his car, which he had driven out on the open prairie.

Death Note Protests Innocence
A note had been written by the doctor protesting his innocence of the charges of malpractice found by a coroner's jury. The findings of the coroner's jury were brought in Saturday afternoon and found that Mrs. B. E. Harrington came to her death by peritonitis caused by an abortion at the hands of C. L. Parsons. Only a part of the jurors signed that part of the statement referring to C. L. Parsons.

A warrant for Dr. Parson's arrest was issued Saturday night and when the sheriff went to his home he had disappeared. It was presumed he had fled and the finding of the body Sunday evening was the first intimation of his whereabouts.

Dr. Parsons was once before convicted on the same charge, sentenced to the penitentiary and pardoned by Governor Larrazolo. Prominent in Republican Councils, Parsons was secretary of the Republican county central committee and a member of the state central committee. He had been endorsed by the Chavez county Republicans for the post of U. S. marshal of the Panama canal zone, a position now held by former governor Miguel A. Ochoa. He had been a prominent Republican in Eastern New Mexico since coming to the state from Iowa, Fall, 1890, 18 years ago. He is survived by a widow and four children. Only one of the latter lives in Roswell.
