Harding's Plan Turned Down

Washington, Aug. 2.—President Harding had the rail strike problem back on his hands tonight as a result of the refusal of the railway executives, at their meeting in New York to accept the administration settlement plan so far as the seniority issue is concerned. There was no indication at the White House as to what move, if any, the government planned to make in the situation. It was considered probable that Mr. Harding would study carefully the text of the executives' reply and that expected from the labor leaders' meeting in Chicago, before reaching a decision.

The tone of the replies and the circumstances under which they were made, it was indicated at the White House, undoubtedly would guide Mr. Harding to some extent and there was another intimation that publicity could not always be helpful in the difficult and delicate negotiations into which the administration has been drawn by the industrial situation.

From the government viewpoint, the railroad strike is regarded as immediately serious only because of the existing stoppage of coal production and there have been constant intimations that the administration would be disposed to force a quick settlement of the railroad difficulties in order to cope with the coal shortage, even at the cost of some re-establishment of the former control of railroads.

Cabinet members and associates of the president have sharply emphasized the contrast between their view of the "seniority issue" and that taken by the railroad executives as expressed in public statements. Public statements of railroad heads that the granting of the strikers' demands for a return of full seniority rights would necessitate the discharge of scores of thousands of efficient workers hired to take their places have been flatly denied in informal discussions with newspaper correspondents, said to be exaggerated and otherwise stamped as unreliable. It has been further represented in some government quarters that such men who have been hired would not generally be of a character and capacity which would make them suitable as permanent employes.

That this was the president's view was further indicated by the proposals transmitted to the union and the executive meetings, in that on the crucial point of seniority rights, the proposals would give the strikers a more complete rehabilitation in the service than was suggested in any of the unofficial summaries made public in advance. The president's view of the situation, it was said, was that the acknowledgment by the railroad world of the supremacy of the railroad labor board was the chief object of the government at this moment.

Change of Pasture

Col. Willson is Dead

Roswell, N. M., Aug. 1.—Col. J. W. Willson, superintendent of the New Mexico Military Institute, died here this morning, thirty-six hours after he had been stricken with paralysis in a confectionery store Sunday night. Little hope had been held out for his recovery from the first. Funeral arrangements will not be made until the arrival of his daughter here Wednesday.

Colonel Willson had made the New Mexico Military Institute one of the best known and most efficient military schools in the United States. He brought to it the traditions of the Virginia Military Institute, of which he was a graduate in the class of 1894. Col. Willson, taking charge of the New Mexico Military Institute in 1901, found a small, poorly equipped school. With him at the head, and with the assistance of enthusiastic boards of regents and the people of Roswell, he saw it grow into a magnificently housed institution, and with a high rating from the United States war department. The school has given many officers to the army, and especially during the world war was its value to the nation demonstrated.

Colonel Willson was born in Fairfield, W. Va., March 5, 1872. He was educated at the Virginia Military Institute. He was commandant of West Point (Va.) Military academy 1894 to 1897. In 1897 and 1898 he was a civil engineer in Mexico and west Texas. He served as commandant of cadets at the New Mexico institute 1893 to 1901 and became superintendent in June of the latter years. He was captain and colonel on various governors' staffs and since 1902 held the rank of aide de camp to the governor.

New Mexico Principal Meridian, Township S., Range 13 E., Section 32; Subdivisions, NE1-4, SE1-4 Fr., NE1-4, 186.80 acres.

There is a soldiers' preference connected with the entry available from August 15 to November 13, 1922 inclusive when said lands will be subject to entry under the Homestead and Desert Land laws by qualified ex-service men of the World War, who have been honorably discharged or separated from the service or placed in the Army or Naval service, provided, further, that such soldier preference applicants may file their applications to enter at any time during the twenty days prior to the date upon which said restoration becomes effective, that is, from July 26, to August 14, 1922, inclusive; all such applications together with those filed at 9 o'clock a. m., August 15, 1922, to be treated as filed simultaneously and conflicting, to be disposed of by lot.

Administration Puts Business in Government

Encourages Individual Initiative, Establishes Budget System, Reduces Onerous Taxes, Restores Public Confidence and Stands for Sane Policies

U. S. REPRESENTATIVE HOMER F. SNYDER
(NEW YORK)

The Republican administration came into authority in March, 1921, pledged to put more business in government and to have less of government in business. That pledge has been liberally redeemed. One of the first things which the Republican administration did was to impress upon business interests that it was up to them to become self-reliant if they wished to become self-sustaining; that they must begin to work out their own salvation instead of running to the government for artificial stimulus. Legislation has been enacted wherever it could prove helpful, but it has not been permitted to take the place of individual energy and thrift.

Simultaneously with the elimination of government in business there was an injection of business in government. Perhaps what will go down as one of the greatest pieces of constructive legislation of the last half century was the enactment of a law creating a Budget Bureau, which made it not only possible but mandatory for the first time in the history of the United States Government to conduct the Government's business in an orderly manner. It is largely due to the inauguration of this budget system that the daily operating expenses of the Government have been reduced in the aggregate over $2,000,000 a day under this administration.

The business interests of the country were given consideration in the enactment of the new tax measure. Surtaxes were decreased, excess profits taxes were abolished altogether, and the shipping interests of the United States—which include practically every business and industry—were relieved from the burdensome transportation taxes that were levied upon freight express and passenger traffic.

The Edge Act to facilitate the organization of corporations to promote exports was amended in order to render needed assistance to business interests endeavoring to expand America's markets in foreign countries thereby increasing production and employment at home.

By rendering assistance to the agricultural sections the Congress kept alive the buying power of over half the nation's population. This aid, although extended directly to agriculture, was of vital importance to business.

Although no act of Congress figured in the process, nevertheless, the influences of the Republican administration, of which the Congress is a part, gave such confidence to the business world that within a year from the time the Republican party took control of all branches of the Government prices of practically all sound securities advanced materially. The most outstanding example of this is the increase of 15 per cent. in the value of $18,000,000,000 worth of outstanding Liberty bonds.

As another reflex of the influence of the Republican administration, interest rates have been lowered from 7 per cent to 4½ within 12 months, thus releasing money at a reasonable rate for the use of business interests.

No one has the temerity to deny that business conditions today, compared with a year ago, are not infinitely better and that prospects are undoubtedly far for further improvement. There is no other explanation for this transformation in the business world except the 12 months' application of Republican policies and the certain knowledge throughout the business world that the influences and policies of the Republican Party which will direct the affairs of the nation for the next two years, are constructive in finances that make for accumulation rather than waste, assist legitimate activities, stand four squared for the protection of capital and labor and stand equally firm against the fallacious theories of Communism and Socialism.

In brief, the commercial optimism with which the people of all classes in the United States face the coming year must be wholly attributed to the fact that all branches of the Government of the United States are now in control of the Republican Party.

Keil-Corn

Last Saturday afternoon at the home of Rev. T. M. Blacklock, Robert H. Keil and Miss Robana Corn were united in marriage, the Reverend gentleman above mentioned performing the sacred ceremony. The wedding was to have occurred in the evening, but the young couple sprung a surprise on their friends and accompanied by Mrs. H. J. Garrard and Miss Ada Corn, sister of the bride, they quietly stole a march on their admirers, who were primping and laying plans for the evening ceremony. A wedding dinner was served in the evening at the home of the bride where a host of friends of the newlyweds extended congratulations. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Corn. She was reared in this locality and attended the Carrizozo schools. Possessed of a sunny, enviable disposition and many additional accomplishments, her portion of their new life's success is assured. The groom came to these parts about one year ago from Texas and for a while conducted a shoe shop, afterwards filing on a claim between Oscurro and Three Rivers where the couple will reside. He is an ex-service man and did good work for his Uncle Sam in the World War. Their friends wish them a world of happiness.

Good Reports

R. E. P. Warden reports good rains on his ranch and cattle in fine condition.

Admunsen Changes Plans

Nome, Alaska, Aug. 2.—Heavy ice was the cause of the transfer of Captain Admunsen, Arctic explorer, from his ship Maud to the schooner Holmes, reported in meager radio advices last night, according to later radio messages. Bad weather was the cause of the postponement of Admunsen's proposed airplane flight across the pole from Point Barrow until next spring, the advices said.

Lieutenant E. G. Fullerton, who was to have piloted the airplane on this flight, is expected to return to the states, said the message. The Maud will proceed to Point Hope on the Arctic ocean, north of the Seward peninsula. The Holmes will go to Point Barrow.

On Tour of Inspection

Dr. H. E. Kemper left this morning on a stock inspecting tour of the Silver City and Mogollon countries. He will be absent two weeks.

Brack Sloan, Ancho; New Commissioner

News was received at this office yesterday of the appointment of Mr. Brack Sloan of Ancho to the position of Commissioner of Lincoln County, to succeed Chas. H. Lutz, resigned. Mr. Lutz's resignation took place last week after receiving the appointment as Receiver of the Land Office at Roswell and the appointment of the new Commissioner followed in short order.

Mr. Sloan will make a good Commissioner for more reasons than one. He is one of our prominent stockmen, knows the needs of the County and realizing as he does, the economy with which administrative affairs should be handled in the interest of taxpayers, he will make a wise, conscientious and fearless caretaker of our County interests. Governor Mechem, who made the appointment is to be commended on his wisdom and the people of Lincoln County will be thoroughly satisfied.

Injunction Hearing

Santa Fe, Aug. 2.—By agreement between the parties, Judge Colin Neblett of the U. S. district court postponed until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning the hearing to show cause in the temporary restraining order which he signed July 22, to restrain the federated shop crafts from interfering with trains on the El Paso & Southwestern system.

Here's Your Chance

to Help the Boys

Next Thursday afternoon, August 10th, there will be a game of base ball at the local ball park for the benefit of the striking Shop Craftsmen of this city. The Carrizozo East-Siders and Carrizozo Nationals will play and Mike Barnett will umpire the game. The proceeds will go towards the relief of the men who have been out for the past month. The game is called for 8 o'clock. Buy a ticket when the seller comes around.

Close, Wasn't It?

Pat Dolan and Meyer Barnett played with the Duran ball team last Sunday at Tucumcari, the game resulting in a score of 14 to 1 in favor of Duran. Dolan did the twirling for the visitors while Meyer held down the first sack. The Tucumcarians thought they would show Duran how to play ball and the above score shows just how they did it. Tucumcari has two good newspapers in which the boys may advertise, should they conclude to sell their uniforms!

Three Men Hung At Estancia

There is no justice for the poor man, I die with pleasure!" These were the last words of Ysidro Miranda, who, with two others, was hanged at Estancia this morning for the murder of Anton Coury, storekeeper at Duran, in Torrance county, last September. A fourth man secured a stay of execution on the appeal of his case.

Although the hanging was not supposed to be a public spectacle, several hundred people, including a few women and children from all parts of Torrance county, who had gathered in Estancia for the event, were witnesses to the meeting-out of the law's supreme penalty. Included was the widow of the slain merchant.

Standing on the west side of the wire which held them off several yards from the scaffold, they were able to see everything which went on inside because of the shadows cast on the canvas covering the scaffold, made by the rising sun in the east.

Two hours of expectancy came to a climax, when they saw the shadows of the three condemned men mount the stairs to the platform. They saw the shadows line up as the three men took their places on the trap. Then they heard the dramatic last speech of Miranda, spoken with deep feeling, in a firm voice, in excellent Spanish.

They saw the caps placed over the heads of the three men. Then a large shadow, which was Sheriff John Block, pulled on the trigger, and the three figures dropped from sight.

For 35 minutes they waited, beginning to get restless and uneasy, while the taut ropes told that death had not yet come to all of the men. Miranda was the last to die and the bodies were cut down.

The people then stirred, and moved off in the directions of their homes, or their occupations for the day. The trap was sprung at exactly 7 o'clock, and at 7:35 the bodies were cut down and placed in their coffins.

Flood in Nebraska

Omana, Neb., Aug. 2.—With the flood waters of Saturday receding, reports tonight presented a picture of devastation to thousands of acres of Nebraska farm lands, swept clear of all farm crops, thousands of head of livestock lying dead and property loss estimated at $1,000,000.

Small streams, flooded by the cloudburst of Friday night, spread over Pierce, Wayne, Stanton, and Ceda counties, inundating towns with from several inches to several feet of water and forced citizens to flee to higher ground.

More than half the inhabitants of Pilger, Neb., were forced to flee from their homes, reports saying that not a house in the town escaped being flooded. Randolph, Wathill, and Pierce, Neb., had similar experiences. Flood waters of the North Fork river reached Norfolk, Neb., early today but were held back by sandbag levees piled up by laborers who worked all of yesterday and tonight.

Highway traffic in the vicinity of Norfolk and north of there has been suspended. Bridges and roads are hardly more than mires. A number of towns in the inundated counties are without train service, thousands of feet of truck being washed out.

"I was smoking my pipe when it came to me"

Which may, or may not, be a boost for Edgeworth

How many good ideas are born in a pipe of tobacco? There is something in the calm contentment of smoking a pipe that seems to open up the mind for new ideas.

A busy man, a thinker, whose brain is crisscrossed with a thousand impressions, finds that smoking his pipe wipes out most of the confusion, and leaves his mind clean, so that the new idea, the inspiration, has a much better chance to make its impression—as if pipe-smoking wiped all the chalk-marks from the blackboard of the mind and invited new ideas, new thoughts, and creative plans to outline themselves thereon.

Lots of men get good ideas when shaving. Many more find their new ideas when puffing away at the pipe.

The right kind of tobacco is an important matter to a pipe-smoker—though, like breathing, he seldom thinks of it. Having settled on a certain brand, it becomes a habit to buy that. If the tobacco just suits his taste, it doesn't matter what its name is or what it costs—it becomes his tobacco.

Edgeworth suits many men. We presume there are some men who wouldn't like Edgeworth. It is a matter of individual taste—like eating onions.

But we have a belief that there are many pipe-smokers not smoking Edgeworth who ought to be— who don't know Edgeworth and therefore have no idea that there is a tobacco that hits their taste so exactly that it might have been made for them alone.

We want those men to try Edgeworth. We would like to hand them our pouch personally, but as that is impossible, we'll do what we can.

The makers of Edgeworth will send free samples to any pipe-smoker who will ask for them. Simply send a postal or a note asking for these free samples and they'll come to you by the first mail.

Edgeworth comes in two forms—Ready-Rubbed and Plug Slice. In either form it is a moist, fragrant tobacco that packs nicely, lights quickly and burns freely and evenly.

We can't promise that Edgeworth will make brilliant ideas come to you; but we are sure you will have a delightful smoke—and after all, that's all that good tobacco is supposed to give.

For free samples, address your postal or letter to Larus & Brother Company, 44 South 21st Street, Richmond, Va. If you will mention the name and address of the dealer from whom you usually buy your tobacco, your courtesy will be appreciated.

To Retail Tobacco Merchants—If your jobber cannot supply you with Edgeworth, Larus & Brother Company will gladly send you prepaid by parcel post a one- or two-dozen carton of any size of Edgeworth Plug Slice or Ready-Rubbed for the same price you would pay the jobber.

YOUNGSTER IS MARINE PER Child Victim of Hun Frightfulness
Plays Pranks Among Soldiers of Uncle Sam.

A youngster of ten created a sensation in the reading rooms of the Knights of Columbus club in Paris recently by appearing before the assembled Yankee soldiers garbed in the uniform of an American marine with two wound stripes and three service stripes on his sleeves.

More than a year ago some of the marines were stationed in a little French village when a little Belgian boy came to their camp. He was received with open arms, and when he told them the story of how his mother and father had passed away, they adopted him as the mascot of the regiment. Jean Moyaux has been with the marines every moment since that day when the little refugee, hungry and lonesome, reached the camp.

During two engagements the little Belgian boy was wounded, and one of his little legs is crippled. He walks with a limp, but he always hopes that he will some time be able to walk as straight as his friend, the corporal. The corporal adopted the youngster, and soon he was loved by every member of the Thirteenth regiment. He is a clever youngster and in the past year has learned much of the ways of the American.

A Knights of Columbus secretary gave the little soldier some candy, and piled the refugee with questions. "Me no Franciscan, me Belge," said the youngster. "Me like American. Spose corporal say, me go to America with a regiment. Me no talk beaucoup Anglaise. Me understand beaucoup." From head to foot the young Belgian was garbed in the uniform of the marines. On his arm he carried a little rain coat, and he proudly displayed the numerals which showed that he was a member of the gallant Thirteenth.

There were tears in the eyes of many of the soldier boys who were gathered at the Knights of Columbus club when the lad related his horrible experiences of the past. They had been through much, but this little figure with the two wound stripes and the warped limb gave them just another incident of the horrors of the Hun attacks in France and Belgium.

Vegetable Oils Long in Use.
The process of crushing the seeds of various plants for the purpose of extracting the oils contained therein has been known and employed in Japan for centuries, the art probably having been brought over from the Asiatic mainland during the seventh and eighth centuries, when Chinese and Korean civilization was introduced into Japan.

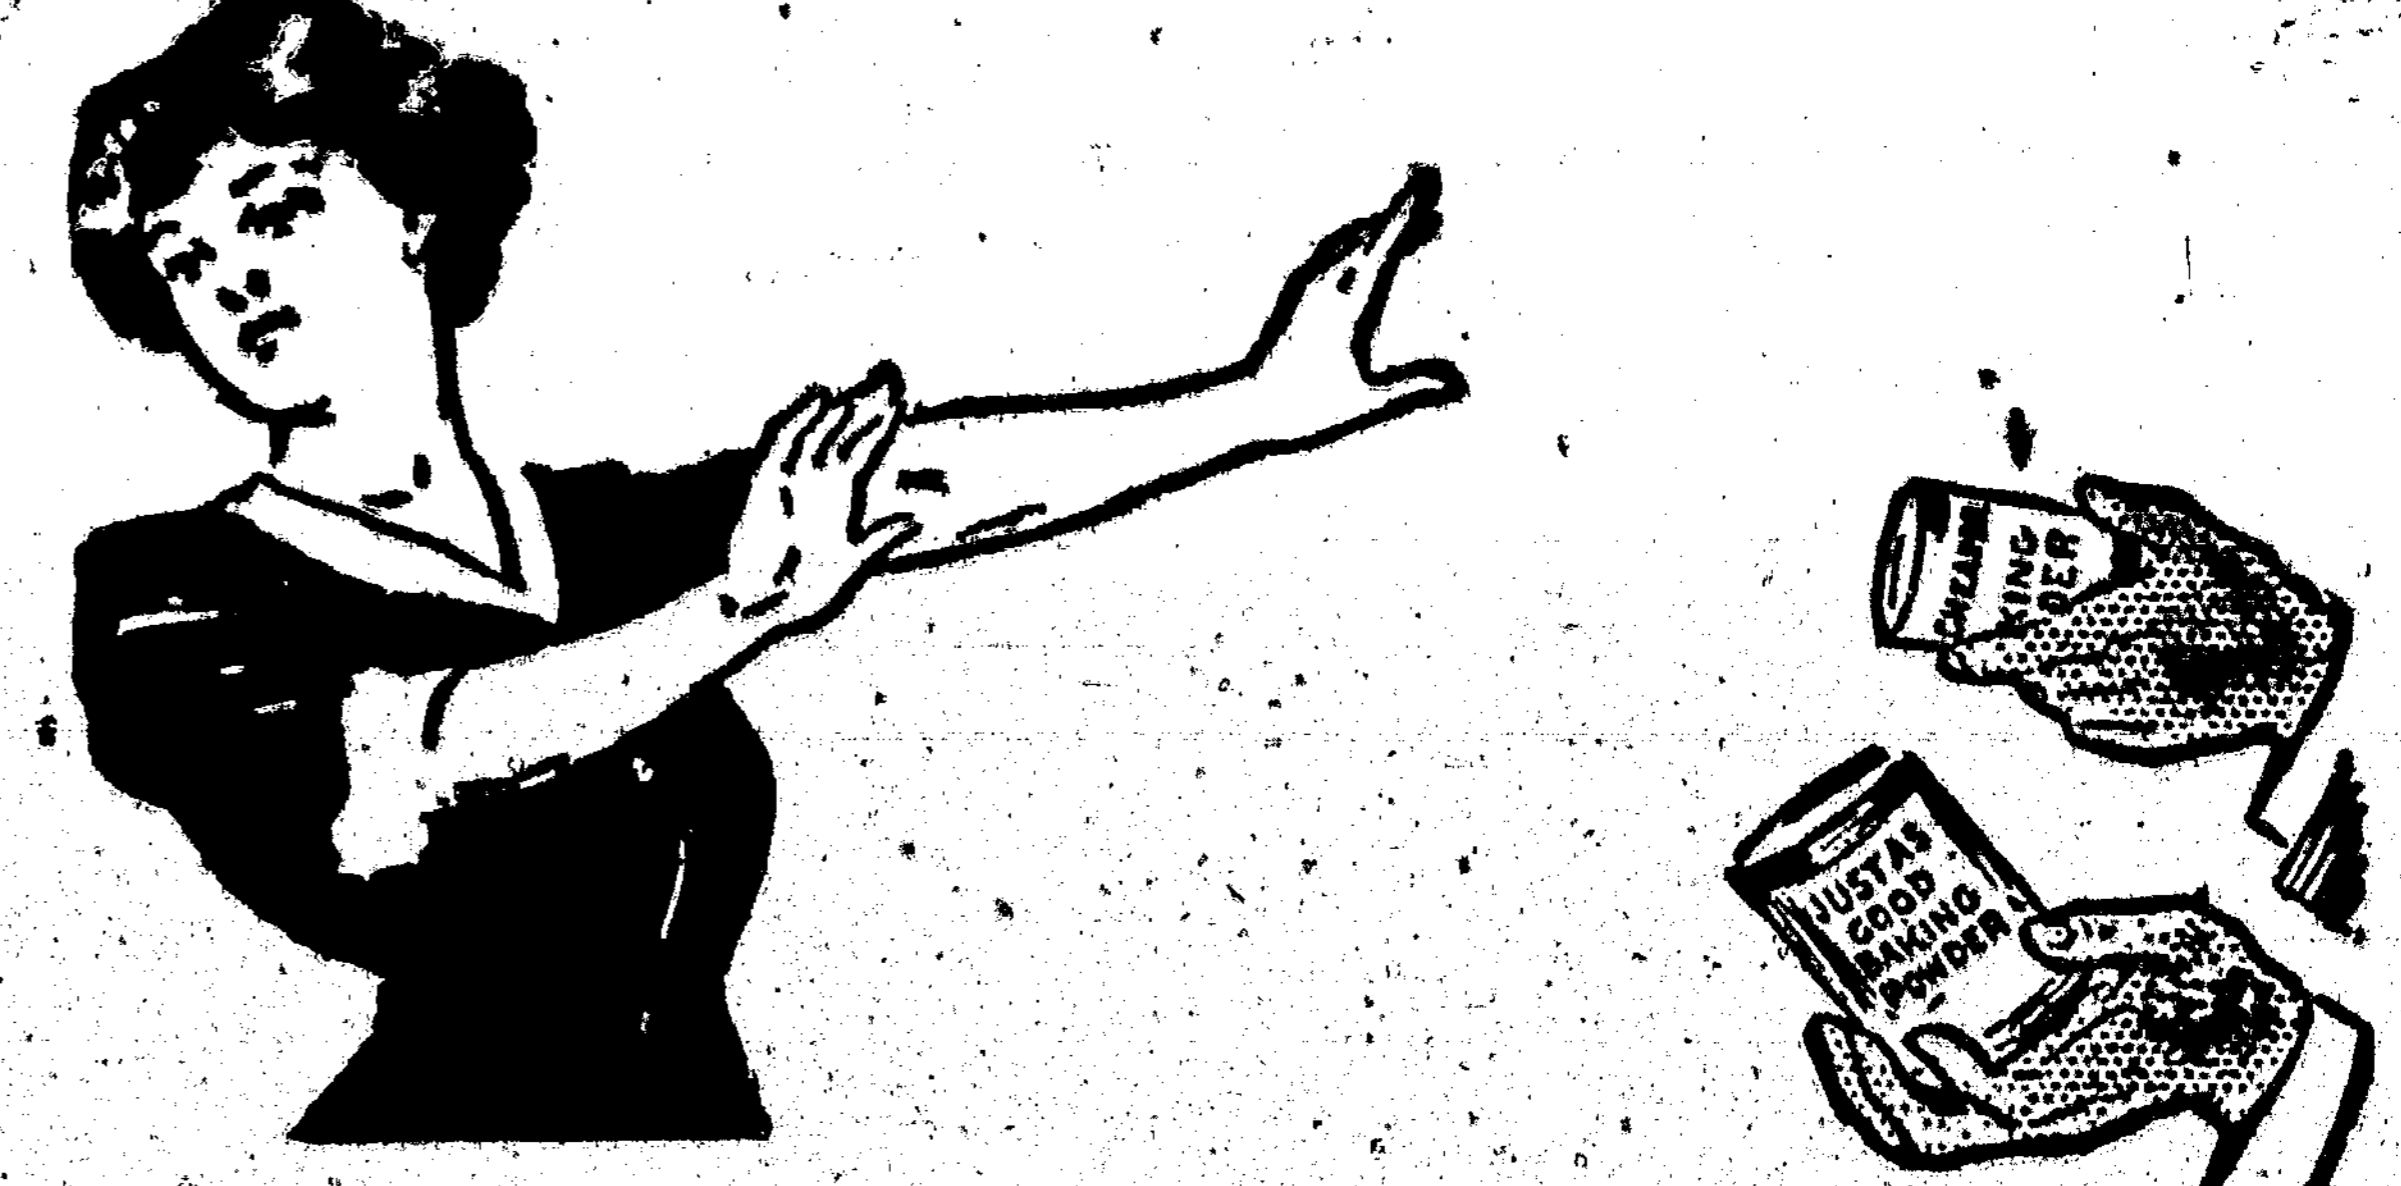

Rapeseed oil has long been used for frying fish and lobsters and is today the principle fat in the Japanese diet. Cottonseed oil was used as a substitute for rapeseed oil and for lighting purposes, while perilla oil was and is today used in the manufacturing of paper lanterns. The ancient Japanese also understood the extraction of oil from woods, as "tung," or wood oil, was used before the coming of the foreigners. "Zabuki" oil, a highly pungent and cheap essential oil extracted from the camellia plant, has been used in the past as it is today by the Japanese women in arranging their elaborate hairdresses.

Famous Chef With Wilson.
A very famous man accompanied President Wilson during his cross-Atlantic trip. He was Louis Seres, chef, and under him were 25 culinary assistants, all experts. Seres is a native of Lyons, and it is said that at the age of ten he showed unmistakable promise of his great future. In the past his handiwork was much appreciated by royalty. King Edward, Leopold of Belgium, and Queen Wilhelmina, among others, sampled his worth. After a spell in Paris, London and Sheffield, the United States saw his arrival in 1904. Already he has cooked for three American presidents. Recently Mr. Wellington Koo, Chinese minister to the States, highly complimented M. Seres for his rendition of an Oriental dish. An admirer has said that the chef is a poet of the sauces, a sage and a food philosopher.

What on Earth—?
"We arrived here after a long journey. The ordered goods have arrived in excellent condition. The messenger has brought us snow and hail in good order. The storm came one day later, I am sorry that the thunder burst up, and the lightning we had to patch up also. The ocean and the river I wish you to send as early as possible, and do not forget to send us new clouds and a new sun. But the most important thing we want is a boy, as ours has been burnt. Then we want a few yards of forest. Roll them all up and send immediately."

This letter was not written by the village idiot, but by the manager of a traveling theatrical company which had lost some of its scenery.

Early Journalism.
The placing of a memorial tablet, by the Vermont Press association, on the old building in East Poultney, Vt., where Horace Greeley began his newspaper work, recalls the journalism of a time when the whole United States contained hardly more than 800 newspapers. It was in 1825 that Greeley began work as a printer on the Northern Spectator, and East Poultney was a town of about 400 inhabitants. Before long the young printer was writing for the paper, although its readers hardly imagined themselves the first audience of a writer who would later be an influence in the nation and an immortal figure in American journalism.

Firms That Have Died Since Drop in Prices Would Make Large Funeral.

Suppose a funeral passed your house with 38,000 hearses, each hearse containing an American business firm. It would be impressive, wouldn't it? It would also give you an accurate idea of the number of business failures since prices began to tumble in May, 1920, notwithstanding they haven't tumbled so very much for some things. But don't get gloomy over it. Standing on curbstones watching their brethren go to Dun & Bradstreet's cemetery, are nearly 2,000,000 business organizations that have weathered the storm. In two years of severe depression only one business in every fifty-three has failed. The percentage of farmers that have gone broke is larger. Business failures have totaled about $600,000,000 a year in habitable areas. Assets have averaged about enough to pay 50 per cent on the dollar. The net loss has been about $300,000,000 a year, or about $3 a year for each American. Might be much worse, remarks Capper's Weekly.

Thyroid for the Bald.
How baldness was cured by doses of thyroid gland is described in the Lancet by Dr. H. W. Barber, physician in charge of the skin department at Guy's hospital. A Dutch girl who had suffered from almost complete baldness for several years was given ten grains of thyroid gland daily for several weeks. As a result hair is now growing freely over the whole of her scalp.

Recent Census Shows Healthy Increase in Population, Despite Losses Caused by War.

Canada's census for 1921 indicated a total population of 8,700,480, distributed as follows: New Brunswick, 387,830; Nova Scotia, 523,837; Prince Edward Island, 88,615; Quebec, 2,340,067; Ontario, 2,020,054; Manitoba, 613,008; British Columbia, 523,363; Yukon, 4,162; Northwest territories, 6,684, and Canadian navy, 485. The gain for the whole Dominion during 1910-1920 was 1,600,000 or 21.5 per cent. The war cost the lives of 66,880 Canadian killed in action, while 40,000 more died from indirect causes. The percentage increase in population is the same as that for Australia, while the increase for New Zealand 20 per cent was very little behind. In the Union of South Africa the increase was 10.2 per cent. The Prairie provinces made the most pronounced gain in Canada, Alberta showing a 55 per cent increase; Saskatchewan over 53 per cent, and Manitoba, 33 per cent. For the next ten years the unit of distribution for determining the membership of parliament will be 30,250. This total is arrived at by dividing by 65 the population of each province.

Present Trend is to Preserve Tooth and Make it Look as Much Like Original as Possible.

Gold teeth are going out of style, according to practitioners and dental experts. The present trend is to preserve the tooth to make it look as near as possible like it was originally. If this can't be done the offending molar or incisor must be pulled out. The idea of pulling teeth is something comparatively new in American dentistry. The tendency was to save the tooth at all costs. But dentists have discovered that gold crowns are unhealthful and permit foreign matter to get into the teeth.

Bridge work also is not as popular as it once was. To make a bridge two good teeth were filed down as anchors for the mass of gold in between. If the bridge failed the two good teeth on the ends went with it. Now dentists recommend a plate of false teeth instead of the bridge. These being removable, are easily kept clean. The dental science is now spending its energies more on serviceable plates rather than on bridges or crowns.—New York Sun.

Back to the Grain Fields for Health

GRAPE-NUTS is a regular "three bags full" of the best food qualities of whole wheat flour and malted barley, carefully mixed and slowly baked—

To develop all their appetizing flavor,
To preserve all their wholesomeness,
And to provide nature's "broom" that keeps the digestive system spick and span.

There's not a bit of artificial sweetening in Grape-Nuts—
—it just becomes sweet of its own accord in the long baking.

And that enticing flavor—how good it is with good milk or cream! Fruits, too, fresh or cooked, add to the delight of a dish of Grape-Nuts, morning, noon or sundown.

It is a compact, ready-to-eat food—no cooking needed.
Why not try it for tomorrow's breakfast?

Government Guidance

(The Manufacturer)

Individuality and state's rights like personal liberty, are things which have, to a very large measure, been thrown into discard on account of government supervision. Local self-government is largely a thing of the past and our morals and virtues, likes and dislikes, our schools, public welfare, farm affairs, are all supervised today by bureaus each with its army of inspectors, all on the pay roll, and in addition to their personal unpopularity, add to the cost of upkeep. The federal government of the United States has gone far beyond the thoughts and desires of the original framers of the constitution and little is left to the individual or the local community or the state.

Quoting from a recent editorial in the Boise, Idaho, Statesman on the subject, that paper says, in drawing comparison, "If ya blow up a balloon to big, she busts," that is small boy talk but good sense.

The people of the United States are becoming restive under too much supervision and board control. The power is given by constitutional amendments put over by the busy minority which has a selfish and personal interest in people who are so busy attending to their own affairs that they have not time to seek to tell others how they shall and must live and what they may and not do. The statute books are jammed with laws that disregard the constitution. The history of the world is replete with the story of many governments and people who and which have fallen from the very start Germany, under Bismarck and the late kaiser; France, under Napoleon; the nations of Rome and Greece.

The ideas of the framers of the constitution were that the states might well handle their own affairs and one state be free from the domination of another so far as their private affairs are concerned. States were to handle the details of local government while the federal government was to concern itself with foreign affairs, the army and navy and relations between states.

"Year after year," to quote Senator Borah, "congress is lashed into passing laws which are manifestly unconstitutional and it has become a settled principle, apparently, that congress should disregard the constitution and leave the supreme court alone to protect it." Congress and the courts have given to the federal government powers to the point where restlessness on the part of the people is the result. People are tired of being regulated, controlled, censored and told what to do. Every government that has tried it, has failed—"If ya blow a balloon too big, she busts."

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS
is greatly relieved by constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustach-ian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing will be forever lost. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring Nature in restoring normal conditions. Circulars free. All Druggists.

Our Burning Forests
An Annual Disaster

If one could look down over the western states at the present time and see forest fires raging in every section burning millions of dollars of forests and homes, there would be less opposition to measures for the prevention of forest fires and the protection of our forests.

For two weeks the writer has seen one village in the coast country fight steadily to prevent the spread of a forest fire that threatened all the houses in the district. Also these citizens who do this work as a matter of self-preservation with no thought of thanks or reward have been "back-firing" to prevent this fire from spreading inland to the big timber which is timber dry, thus causing incalculable loss in life and property.

We insure our homes, we insure our lives and we insure against accidents, but as states and a nation we are woefully lax and negligent in insuring the future of one of our greatest assets, timber, from its natural enemy, fire. The National Board of Fire Underwriters has pointed out the awful waste and loss of life and property resulting from forest fires. The present unusually dry season with the air filled with smoke in every direction should be a lesson to the public sufficient to show absolute necessity for fire prevention and protective measures before next season and for the rest of this season.

ANSWER ANY WOMAN WHO WRITES

Women Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Makes This Offer

Cumberland, Md.—"My mother gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was between thirteen and fourteen years old and was going to school, because I suffered with pains and could not rest. I did not have any more trouble after that until I was married, then I always was troubled in my back while carrying a child and could not do my work until I took the Vegetable Compound. I am strong, do all my washing and ironing and work for seven children and feel fine. I always have an easy time at childbirth and what it did for me it will do for other women. I am willing to answer any woman if she will write asking what it did for me."

—Mrs. JOHN HEZEL, 53 Dilley St., Cumberland, Md.

During girlhood and later during motherhood Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought relief to Mrs. Hezel. Her case is but one of many we constantly publish recommending our Vegetable Compound. She is willing to answer your letter. Write to her.

The Best Club.
A golfer dropped into a New York store to buy a driver. "This club is off balance," he remarked to the clerk as he juggled a nice-looking brassie. "That is a splendid club. Let me have it, please," said the clerk nervously, piquing the curiosity of the shopper. The manager, an old friend of the golfer, happened along just then. "Bill," asked the customer, "what the deuce is the matter with this club? Just heft the darned thing. It's all off balance." "Bill looked wise and he looked all around carefully, then he replied in a stage whisper: "Pete, that is the best club in the bag. It holds just two drinks of hooch. See, here, how the handle is hollowed out."

And Scotland was vindicated.

One woman in every six in India is a widow.

ARE YOU GIVING OUT?
Does every day mean just another day of suffering? Are you lame, stiff and aching—tortured with a nerve-racking backache? Surely there's a reason why you feel so badly and likely it's weakened kidneys. When the kidneys fail, poisons accumulate and upset the whole system. That's why you have constant backache and sharp, stabbing twinges. You may have headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, with annoying bladder irregularities. Don't risk serious kidney disease. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

A Colorado Case
Mrs. J. B. McWhinney, 423 Walnut St., Fort Morgan, Colo., says: "For many years I suffered with pains in my back and sides. I hardly dared to stoop over, because of the sharp pains which always hurt me when I stooped again. My head ached and I felt drowsy and run down. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me fine relief, and I soon felt well again."

Helicopter to Be Used Soon

Dr. Albert F. Zahn, Expert for the Navy, Declares It Is Not an Impossibility.

TWO TYPES OFFERED TO U. S.

Experiments Are Continuing in Hope of Perfecting a Motor That Can Be Depended Upon to Maintain Machine in Air.

Washington.—The helicopter, or vertical rising air machine, is not an impossibility, and should a real use for such a type arise, successful ones may be seen before many years, according to Dr. Albert F. Zahn, aeronautical expert for the navy. Had there been a need for the helicopter during the war, he said, any of several types could have been perfected, of which working models have been flown.

Washington.—The helicopter, or vertical rising air machine, is not an impossibility, and should a real use for such a type arise, successful ones may be seen before many years, according to Dr. Albert F. Zahn, aeronautical expert for the navy. Had there been a need for the helicopter during the war, he said, any of several types could have been perfected, of which working models have been flown.

Much interest has been shown of late in reports of successful machines of the helicopter type being perfected in both Germany and England. However, while some flights have been made, none of any consequence are reported by a machine equipped with horizontal propellers or revolving planes, designed to rise vertically from a confined space and descend on the same.

That the helicopter is possible Dr. Zahn said, is proved by the German machine, which, rising several times to moderate heights, has carried observers, remained almost stationary while in the air, and descended in safety. The machine, however, has made no extended flight, such as would prove its dependability, but was tethered to the ground by a mooring rope. At times, when the motors failed, the machine dropped, and the passengers saved themselves only by leaping with parachutes.

The experiments are continuing, however, with the purpose of perfecting a motor which can be depended upon to maintain the machine without sudden failure, the scientist explained, for, as soon as the engine stops, the machine cannot glide to the ground, as does an airplane, but drops vertically. In a proper descent the propellers should be whirled slowly to ease the landing.

Two Other Types Offered.

Present hopes of attaining successful vertical flight rest mainly upon the endeavors of Emil Berliner, Washington inventor, whose experiments with the helicopter have extended over a long time; and of Louis Brennan of London, whose newest machine is reported as nearing completion. He is working to win the £50,000 prize offered by the British air ministry for successful flight.

The helicopters upon which most experimentation has been made consist mainly of two or more propeller screws mounted horizontally on a vertical shaft bearing engine, fuel and passengers. Equal numbers of propeller blades must revolve in opposite directions, that the body of the machine may not spin like a top.

Whether or not this type of machine is brought to actual use, Dr. Zahn stated, at least two other types of planes that may fly vertically have been offered to the government. This fact is not widely known.

One of these, of which Dr. Zahn observed experiments with a working model, was almost identical with the present type of plane, except that mounted behind the body were two sets of air vanes, in groups, tilted at an adjustable angle, like those of Venetian blinds.

When the power was turned on, he said, the "wash" of the air stream from the propellers, pushing against these groups of vanes, caused the model to rise gently vertically. The model was held in midair by the action, and when the power diminished it returned gently to earth. A full-size machine of the type, he said, would be equipped with engines of immense power in order to furnish sufficient air pressure, and when driven to a sufficient altitude the vanes would be so adjusted that horizontal-motion would result. The plane could then fly in the usual manner, finally using the vanes again to descend vertically.

The other type offered to the army,

Has Demoralizing Effects, Mentally and Morally as Well as Physically— Couple Habit With Religious Ceremonies.

Washington.—A new dope craze—peyote eating—has taken such hold on the Indians on the pine reservations of South Dakota as to create a problem which those who are interested in the welfare of the red man view with grave apprehension. The peyote bean is the fruit of a cactus plant, which grows along the Mexican border. It is known as the Indian cocaine, and has practically the same effect as that drug. Eaten by the Indians under any circumstances, it has demoralizing effects, mentally and morally as well as physically. To complicate the situation in South Dakota, the peyote habit has been coupled with religious ceremonials

Berliner Helicopter Really Rises

With the successful development of this helicopter which now will rise ten feet off the ground, Henry A. Berliner and his father, Emil Berliner, believe that in a few years flyers will be able to hop off from the roofs of buildings. The helicopter has the fuselage and rear controls of an ordinary plane with two 14 foot horizontal propellers replacing the wings, and immediately beneath the propellers four narrow vanes acting as controls with a small horizontal propeller near the tail of the plane. The two large propellers literally pull the plane into the air, the small propeller giving it the horizontal motion.

WHO COULD BE THIS BASE FIEND?

Story of Flask Spurs Muse to Pity "Uncle Joe"

Mr. Cannon Says After Reading Admirer's "Cannonade" He Is Willing to Let the Story Go Uncontradicted.

Washington.—Recent reports that a flask had mysteriously disappeared from "Uncle Joe" Cannon's coat pocket caused H. E. McFarland, of St. Louis, one of Uncle Joe's fervent admirers, to burst forth in verse. He wrote what he termed a "cannonade" on the incident as follows:

Who was the base pray let me ask,
Who nicked our Uncle Joe's flask?
The flask he carried on his hip,
From which to take a quiet sip.
Of mellow stuk we used to know
In happy days of long ago.
How could one have such little tact
As to steal the flask from our great
New could one be so mean and low
To rob our dear Old Uncle Joe?

"It is a question whether the author owes you an apology," the author wrote Mr. Cannon, "or is deserving of the thanks of congress for what he intends as a slight tribute of respect and affection for its most beloved and honored member. It is his fervent hope that there was no material delay in getting the prescription refilled."

Mr. Cannon replied to the letter as follows:

"I have your favor, with enclosure, and after reading your 'cannonade,' I am willing to let the story go uncontradicted and thank you for your tribute.

Baby Falls From Window, Caught in Postman's Bag

Henry M. Drueckman, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a letter carrier, was delivering mail when he saw a baby climbing to the sill of a third-floor window. He ran across the street to notify the child's mother, but the baby kept on climbing. Drueckman got under the window just as the child, who had crawled over the sill, fell out. The letter carrier stretched his empty mail bag and caught the baby in it. The child was unhurt.

He said, was of the present wing plan, equipped with three propellers, two placed far out toward the wing ends, and with vertical rudders and ailerons similar to those in use. The quicker lifting power was to be gained by having the wash of the central propeller act upon elevators on the tail of the body, while the side propellers would wash against the special ailerons on the wing tips.

In the air, Dr. Zahn continued, this machine could maneuver exactly as does the ordinary plane, cut figures and do stunts, besides being able to rest motionless in any desired position—vertical with nose up, if need be.

The best feature, he said, is that both planes of the new types are entirely feasible and can be constructed at any time. In fact, several European inventors and manufacturers are patenting designs of the second type, notably the Frenchman, Bleriot, one of the pioneers of aviation.

Experts for the government studied the second type during the war, it was explained, but the matter went no further.

Curious Fire Engine

What might be described as a double-tandem bicycle, with four wheels arranged like those of a wagon, and four seats for riders, two in front and two behind, and carrying a hose reel, rotary pump, etc., was exhibited recently in Paris. The machine is intended as a fire engine in small towns. When the scene of fire is reached the pedals are thrown into gear with the pump, the hose is unrolled, and the riders, resuming their seats, work the pump by means of the pedals. It is claimed that this machine can outstrip any fire engine drawn by horses on the way to a conflagration, and that its pump is at least as effective as those of the hand engines used in many towns.

Women in Serbia

Woman suffragists in Serbia, writes Mrs. Sineck Grouitch, wife of the Yugoslav minister to the United States, interest themselves not only in legislation that give women equality before the law, but are also sponsoring legislation for the protection of child labor. In addition to continued endeavor to help for the Serbian aid fund, to which Mrs. Grouitch has rendered such sustained service, she is now asking for support also for some of the distinctive movements, such as woman suffrage, which are making for the permanent reconstruction of that country.
