Aviators Found In Wreckage

San Francisco, Calif., Dec. 21.—The charred bodies of the missing aviators, Col. Francis C. Marshall and Lt. Charles Webber, have been found on the Papago Indian reservation about 75 miles west of Tucson, Ariz., the Southern Pacific railroad offices here were advised this afternoon in dispatches from Tucson.

A cowboy, the advices stated, came upon the bodies near what is known as Indian Oasis. The bodies lay in the wreckage of the fliers' airplane. It is not known whether Col. Marshall and Lt. Webber were killed when they crashed to earth, or burned to death afterward.

The message to the Southern Pacific said:

"Some cowboy found those two aviators near Indian Oasis. Both apparently were burned to death. About 75 miles south of Tucson on Papago reservation. No railroad there. It is on a wagon track. Suppose airplane fell to ground and aviators burned to death."

Col. Marshall and Lt. Webber disappeared December 7, just three weeks prior to the time their bodies were discovered. They left San Diego early in the morning and their plane was last seen passing between Twin Buttes and the Santa Rita range of mountains near Tucson.

The Campbells are Here

Major and Mrs. H. S. Campbell arrived here last Saturday from El Paso to remain for a week with their many Carrizozo friends. The Campbells who were residents for so many years, make regular trips in order to mingle with friends of "ye olden time," especially do they pay us a visit near the yule-tide. Last Tuesday, Major Campbell purchased the Fuller residence which he owned and where the family resided before going to El Paso.

At the French Home

J. B. French left last Thursday for Santa Fe, returning on Sunday accompanied by his daughter Evelyn and Miss Anna May Berkshire of Estancia. The young ladies are students at the Loretta Academy and Miss Berkshire will be the guest of Miss French for the holiday season.

Rapid Work

Contractor Frank English has a force of forty-two men at work digging ditches and laying pipe for Carrizozo's new water system. The streets are badly torn up at times, but the system he is working with is very rapid and the mains will soon be ready to receive the mountain water.

Remember the Christmas Tree at the Methodist Church Sunday evening at 7:30. Let memory harken back to the days when you were a girl or boy. Come!

Notice, White Oaks

On Monday evening, Jan. 8 at 7 p. m. we will begin a series of services at the church in White Oaks; preaching each evening for several days. A day service will be planned if desired. Make your plans now to attend every service and thus add something to the success of the meetings. —T. M. Blacklock, Pastor of the Carrizozo Baptist Church.

School Notes (Supt. E. E. Cole.)

No school next week but remember that it commences the day after New Years, the second of January. We wish you all a very pleasant vacation and hope you will come back determined to do your best.

We believe we have had a very successful year, so far. The teachers have been in earnest and nearly every pupil has done very acceptable work. The attendance has kept up to a high percentage and the spirit, all the way through the grades, has been excellent. The enrollment in the high school is 25 per cent higher than that of all last year. The enrollment in the grades is as good as that of last year and is holding up.

The Christmas exercises will be over when this article is printed, but we hope the parents shall have attended the exercises in large numbers. Programs were held in all the rooms and were well prepared. There is no better intellectual exercise than speaking in public and our pupils get a great deal of that in the Christmas exercises.

If there are any persons contemplating entering school after the Christmas holidays the superintendent will be glad to meet them at the office in the high school Saturday morning of next week.

The Carrizozo high school is in receipt of the Caerulea, the Annual published by the students of the Long Beach Polytechnic high school. It is a fine production of over 225 pages and shows great accomplishment. The Annual was sent by Herbert Tennis, a student in the Carrizozo high school three years ago. Herbert's picture appears as one of the assistant advertising managers. He is a fine looking chap too, and all his old friends of the Carrizozo high school wish him the very best going.

The girls' basket ball team of the Carrizozo high school defeated Alamogordo on Dec. 15, by a score of 10 to 8, and on December 16 defeated Tularosa 15 to 9. In both games Carrizozo scored the first goal and were always in the lead. Those playing on the Carrizozo team were: Jeanette Johnson, Lois Jones, Forwards; Charlotte Elliott, Jessie Rustin, Centers; Ada Corn, Grace Taylor, Guards; Beulah Burr, Ethel Johnson, Subs. Games played this season: Nov. 11, Tularosa, 8-Carrizozo, 20; Nov. 24, Alamogordo, 5-Carrizozo, 12; Dec. 2, Alamogordo Town, 5-Carrizozo, 24; Dec. 9, Capitan, 20-Carrizozo, 23; Dec. 15, Alamogordo, 8-Carrizozo, 10; Dec. 16, Tularosa, 9-Carrizozo, 16; Total, opponents 50-Carrizozo, 104; games won, 6; games lost, 0. How is that for the Carrizozo high school girls' team! And each girl is doing her school work in good style; passing in everything. Certainly! A sound mind in a sound body. Intellectual and physical accomplishment generally go together. And we must not forget Mr. Cazler, the coach, a splendid fellow and fine leader. Much credit belongs to him. Tell him so, everybody.

At the meeting of the Boy Scouts, Friday of last week, Will Kahler and Albert Laine made hydrogen gas with granulated zinc and hydrochloric acid. Mixed with air it explodes; it burns with a pale blue flame, pours upward instead of downward being fourteen times lighter than air; a candle will not burn in it; when confined it gives the hydrogen gun. At the next meeting oxygen gas will be made by the boys.

Coincident Extraordinary

Last Saturday afternoon at a late hour, little Vernon Ruth, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Peckham, tugging at its tiny stocking in baby fashion, unloosened a safety pin which attached the stocking to the garments above and seeing the shining object, plucked it from the little stocking, did as all babies do, made haste to swallow it. Mrs. Peckham happened to be in an adjoining room for a few minutes and returned just in time to notice what had happened.

Medical aid was summoned at once and Dr. Johnson, family physician, made a hasty examination after which he hurriedly conveyed the little one to Fort Stanton, where an X-Ray examination was held and one of the most perfect photographs made we have seen for years. Another examination was held and another view taken on Tuesday morning which revealed the pin in the same place where it was viewed at first, after which an operation was performed by Dr. Johnson, assisted by Doctors Paden and Shaver, which was highly successful. The pin was removed and at last reports, the baby was resting easy.

As near as can be determined, at the same hour, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Outlaw, of Vaughn, swallowed a safety pin and Dr. Shaver of this place, who had always been the family physician, the parents brought the baby to Carrizozo as quickly as possible for medical attention. Dr. Shaver made a fluoroscopic examination on his X-Ray machine which showed the pin in the child's stomach in much the same position as that of the Peckham child, although it was smaller in size.

Dr. Shaver put the little one under treatment from Saturday until Tuesday morning when at the hour of seven, the baby was relieved and the happy parents left on No. 4 for home. These dual cases happening as they did so closely together, furnished food for much sympathetic concern and offers of material assistance which our good people are always ready to advance when neighbors are in distress. The doctors and parents are to be congratulated on the successful outcome in both cases which will furnish all concerned with wonderful yule-tide blessings.

Masons Will Erect Hospital

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 19.—El Paso Masons last night launched a movement for a $1,000,000 six-story hospital, to be erected on the present site of the Masonic hospital at Five Points. Construction work will be begun early in 1923.

Perry W. Swern, of Berlin, Swern and Randall, Chicago, hospital architects and engineers, addressed a joint meeting of the hospital staff and board of managers of Hotel Paso del Norte. At the next meeting of the staff, of which Dr. Felix P. Miller is chairman, recommendations will be made to the board of managers to ask the architects for preliminary plans and estimates.

The Masonic hospital association owns the hospital building and property at Piedras and Montana streets. It represents an investment of $130,000. Sixteen lots are included in the property and 300 feet on Montana street are unoccupied. It is on this footage that the proposed new building will be erected.

Off hand estimates by Mr. Swern last night were that the cost of building and maintaining the new structure would be somewhat under $3,000 per bed, and it is planned to have 300 beds in the completed hospital.

English Free-Trade Talk

The London, England, Sunday Times of Sept. 24, in discussing the Fordney - McCumber Tariff Act, says:

"The farmers who grow wool are favored by the imposition of a duty on foreign wool; but all farmers are injured by the duties on machinery and tools and on articles of home consumption."

Really, that sounds very funny to an American, who knows that farm machinery and tools are manufactured and sold more cheaply in this than in any other country. The evident purpose of placing any such articles on the dutiable list was to produce revenue from such people as do not have the good judgment to buy at home, where the products are cheaper, but are much better and more suitable for American use. However, most such machinery is on the Free List.

Of course we entertain a benign pity for those misguided foreigners who are so ignorant of conditions like this, our happy of adequate Tariff Protection, but we have none whatever to waste upon the un-American who purchases abroad what he can get at home at lower prices and of better quality.

EIGHT KILLED IN TEXAS WRECK

TRAIN SIDESWIPES LOCOMOTIVE AS ENGINEER FAILS TO SEE HEADLIGHT.

PASSENGERS TRAPPED

AID IS RUSHED TO SCENE OF DIS- ASTER, HUMBLE, FROM HOUSTON.

Houston, Texas.—Eight persons were killed and approximately twenty others were injured, some seriously, when passenger train No. 23 of the Houston, East & West Texas railway sideswiped a switch engine in front of the depot at Humble, Texas.

A headlight on the switch engine struck by the passenger train was not observed, Engineer Holland of the passenger train said. The light from his engine failed to reveal the switch engine, he said, until it was too late to stop.

The dead and many of the injured were badly scalded. Passenger Conductor Campsey of Houston was among the first identified as dead.

The cylinder heads of both locomotives crashed, loosening steam pipes which plunged into the passenger cars, scattering steam upon the passengers and pinning them in their seats.

The identified white dead include: Conductor Campsey, Houston. The name of the newsboy, who was instantly killed, is not known.

Two negroes and one negro were identified. The injured white persons include: Edgar Randall, Humble; W. Wilson, Houston; A. B. Pickard, Houston; W. A. Babers, Lufkin, and William Campsey, Houston.

A total of eight injured negroes were identified shortly after their escape from the wreckage. The injured and dead were removed to a Houston hospital.

As the cylinder heads ripped loose a two-inch steam pipe on the freight engine, which ran from the cylinder to the steam chest, tore loose and crashed into the window of the smoking car—the first coach of the passenger train—literally cooking its occupants with live steam and scalding water.

Conductor Campsey, for nineteen years a familiar figure to travelers on the road, was killed instantly. The train news dealer died at his post, his body being found underneath a pile of starchy, newspapers and magazines.

Henry was in charge of a detail of five men sent by the bank to get the money of a postoffice substation in the Exchange building.

U. S. Must Build More Cruisers.

Washington.—Blunt notice that the United States cannot avoid a new naval program in swift cruisers and fleet submarines unless treaty limitations are extended to such craft, was scrawled by the House appropriations committee in reporting the $233,506,533 naval appropriation bill. A six line provision placed in the bill by the committee requested President Harding to negotiate with Great Britain, France, Japan and Italy for such an extension of the treaty, limitation of aircraft to be included.

The committee report said large cruiser and submarine programs were planned abroad, adding: "In other words, competition is on again in the single direction to which the unratified agreement (the Washington naval treaty), does not extend, and if it be allowed to go on unchecked, the purse strings again must be relaxed and this government, like all others, will be constrained to launch a new program to the extent necessary to keep us at least abreast of any of the other powers."

Russians Bolt Lausanne Parley.

Lausanne.—The Russian experts walked ceremoniously out of the meeting which was discussing the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus as a protest against the alleged exclusion of the Russians from important portions of the straits negotiations. Later the Russian delegation officially notified the three presidents of the conference of Russia's unalterable determination to abandon some of her rights in the negotiations over the straits which directly affect her vital interests.

Christmas Facts and Fancies

By JOHN DICKINSON SHERMAN

THREE WISE MEN, as everyone knows, paid homage to Jesus at his birth. Their story is told in part thus in the Gospel according to St. Matthew:

Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the King, behold, there came wise men from the East to Jerusalem.

Saying, where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the East, and are come to worship him.

When Herod the King had heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.

And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born.

And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judea, for thus it is written by the prophet.

And thou, Bethlehem, in the land of Judea, art not the least among the princes of Judea; for out of thee shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Israel.

Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men, inquired of them diligently what time the star appeared.

And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also.

When they had heard the king, they departed, and, lo, the star, which they saw in the East, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was.

When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy.

And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshiped him; and when they had opened their treasure, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense and myrrh.

And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.

These Three Wise Men were named Melchior, Kaspar and Balthazar. They are sometimes called the "Three Kings of Cologne." Their bones are said to rest in the cathedral of Cologne. This is the finest specimen of Gothic architecture in Europe and its building took more than 600 years—1248 to 1850. Anyway, skulls purporting to be theirs were exhibited as late as the Eighteenth century. To touch them was to be healed. An old prayer charm reads:

To three holy kings,
Kaspar, Melchior and Balthazar,
Pray for us now,
And in the hour of death.

Early tradition supplemented this account by adding a fourth wise man. And the story of this fourth wise man is one for us all to keep in mind at Christmas time.

This fourth wise man started with the other three to make the journey to Jerusalem and pay homage to the new-born King. But he never reached the manger where lay the child. Instead he sacrificed his life to render service. Nevertheless, before he died he was granted a vision of the Christ. Henry Van Dyke's "The Story of the Other Wise Man" tells the tradition most excellently well:

Determined by his efforts to save a dying stranger, Artaban becomes separated from his companions. He, therefore, seeks the Christ alone, traveling from place to place, feeding the hungry as he goes, clothing the naked, nursing the sick, comforting the oppressed.

One after another he spends for others the precious gifts which he had hoped to offer to the Christ. At last he surrenders his one remaining pearl in order to ransom a tormented slave girl.

Struck on the temple by a falling tile, he lies bleeding and breathless. But he hears a voice commanding him.

Unable to believe the testimony of his own ears, the Other Wise Man murmurs:

"Not so, my Lord! For when saw I Thee an hanged and dead? Or thirsty, and gave Thee drink? When saw I Thee a stranger, and took Thee in? Or naked, and clothed Thee? When saw I Thee sick and in prison and came unto Thee? Three-and-thirty years have I looked after Thee; but I have never seen Thy face, nor ministered to Thee my King."

But the voice replies:

"Inasmuch as thou hast done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, thou hast done it unto me."

Is it hard to imagine the Fourth Wise Man re-

appearing on earth at Christmas time with a message to all mankind? Certainly he has a message well worth delivering. And certainly it is a message well worth listening to. For from his experience he could say to us:

"You have served God only as you have served men."

The Christian citizen should be serving God in relation to his home, his community and his nation. There are those who are serving God by trying to improve the conditions under which their less privileged fellows live and work, by trying to bring more of justice, beauty, peace and love into the life of the world. It is to be feared that most of us fall far short here. But he is a poor Christian and a poor citizen indeed who, having, can pass Christmas without doing something in keeping with the day for those who have not.

Everywhere in our modern Twentieth century life we meet the very people whom Jesus painted in living words 2,000 years ago—the prodigal son, who "came to himself"; the elder brother, who "was angry and would not go in"; the priest and the Levite, who "passed by on the other side"; the good Samaritan, who "was moved with compassion"; the Pharisee, who thanked God that he was "not as other men are"; the publican, who cried "God be merciful unto me, a sinner!"

At Christmas time, if at no other, it is well for us to be the publican and the good Samaritan.

Without Christmas trees, holly and mistletoe Christmas would seem strange indeed to most Americans. The balsam fir is most used for Christmas trees, but doubtless almost any kind of evergreen can be used in an emergency. And some of the municipal and community center Christmas trees nowadays are of great size, especially when they are set up outdoors.

The photograph of the Christmas tree reproduced herewith is worth studying as something quite out of the ordinary in several respects. In the first place, in the original photograph three separate exposures of the tree were made—the first for the building and its lights; the second for the Christmas tree and its lights; and the third for the moon. Each exposure varied in length to suit the different degrees of brilliance.

And where do you suppose this unusual photograph was taken? Why, at the annual Christmas celebration in Yosemite valley, Yosemite National park, California. Most people think that all the national parks are closed in the winter time. Well, they are not. Rocky Mountain National park in Colorado has a carnival of winter sports in February. Mount Rainier National park in Washington has winter sports and a ski tournament as late as July. And Yosemite is open the year round. And Yosemite's Christmas celebration includes a fat, jolly, red-clad Santa Claus who drives up in the old-fashioned way in his sleigh and distributes his gifts to the village children.

But that isn't all about this unusual picture. What kind of a tree do you suppose the Christmas tree is? You could not guess if your Christmas gift depended upon your guess. That's because it is the only one of its kind in the whole world.

This Christmas tree is nothing less than a living Sequoia tree. The Sequoia (Sequoia gigantea) is the oldest and biggest living thing in the world.

Some of the biggest and oldest of them are 85 feet in diameter and at least 6,000 years old. So you see many of these Big Trees in Sequoia and Yosemite national parks were not even middle-aged when Christ was born in Bethlehem.

This particular Sequoia Christmas tree was planted in 1800. From a seedling it has grown to a height of more than 60 feet. A thousand years from now it will probably be nearly 800 feet tall and have a diameter of 15 or 20 feet.

One wonders if there will be a similar Christmas celebration in Yosemite valley then—a thousand years from now. Why not? Christmas will still be celebrated then—if the world endures. And our nineteenth national parks have been set apart by congress as public playgrounds for the people forever. So, if the United States of America endures, why not a Christmas celebration in Yosemite A. D. 2022? All that seems to be necessary is the planting of a Sequoia seedling every thirty years or so.

Christmas and mince pie! Nobody ought to have to tell anybody that Christmas is the time for mince pie. Why, the two go together—just like Thanksgiving and pumpkin pie and the Fourth of July and spring lamb and green peas. The first mince pie of the winter should grace the Christmas board; any housewife who gives her family even a taste of one before Christmas day should go without a new Easter hat—that's the punishment to fit the crime. And any man who eats mince pie at a restaurant or at his club before Christmas day should go without mince pie all winter.

However, if he should, his punishment would likely fit the crime. For nowadays the making of mince pies is largely an art. The ordinary restaurant mince pie is nothing but minced fruit.

There is a saying that every really good woman cook must have a temper. Maybe. Certainly she should be nice and plump—as if she ate her own mince pies and thrived on them. And it's easy to tell by watching a woman make mince pies whether or not they're going to be a success. If she goes at it, you know, as if it were sort of a religious rite—as if the fate of the nation hung on her work—why, all is well.

"Pies like mother used to make!" Tenderloin of beef and Northern Spy apples and real cider and everything else to correspond! Maybe mother used to bake her pies a dozen at a time and set them away in a cold store room to freeze. Maybe mother got her mince meat ready and set it aside in a big stone jar to ripen. It doesn't make any difference. They were real mince pies when they got to the Christmas dinner. The looks of them! The smell of them! The taste of them! Yum, yum! There's a memory a fellow can carry with him to his grave.

Do you remember Isaac Walton's friend Dr. Boteler and his famous appreciation of the strawberry? Well, it's quite evident the good doctor never sat down to just the right kind of a Christmas dinner or he would have ignored the strawberry as unworthy of his cleverness and would have said instead that doubtless God could have inspired some heaven-born cook to make a more appropriate dessert for December 25 than mince pie but that doubtless God never did.

POETS OF MORE IMPORTANCE

What Ambassador Page Discussed With Sir Edward Grey During Most Serious Crisis.

Ambassador Page's letters sufficiently reveal his fondness for Sir Edward Grey and the splendid relations that existed between the two men. The sympathetic cords which they struck upon their first meeting only became stronger with time. A single episode of the war illustrates the kind of fellow-feeling that drew them together. It took place at a time when the tension over the blockade was especially threatening, according to "Life and Letters of Walter H. Page," in the World's Work. One afternoon Page asked for a formal interview; he had received another exceedingly disagreeable protest from Washington, with instructions to push the matter to a decision; the ambassador left his embassy with a grave expression upon his face and his associates were especially worried over the outcome. So critical did the situation seem that the most important secretaries gathered in the ambassador's room, awaiting his return, their nerves strung almost to the breaking point. An hour went by and nothing was heard from Page; another hour slowly passed and still the ambassador did not return. The faces of the assembled staff lengthened as the minutes went by; what was the ambassador doing at the foreign office? So protracted an interview could portend only evil; already, in the minds of these nervous young men, ultimatums were flying between the United States and Great Britain, and even war might be hanging in the balance. Another hour drew out its weary length; the room became dark, dinner time was approaching and still Page failed to make his appearance. At last, when his distracted subordinates were almost prepared to go in search of their chief, the ambassador walked jauntily in, smiling and apparently carefree. What had happened? What was to be done about the detained ships?

"What ships?" asked Page, and then suddenly he remembered. "Oh, yes—those." That was all right; Sir Edward had at once promised to release them; it had been settled in a few minutes.

"Then why were you so long?"

The truth came out; Sir Edward and Page had quickly turned from intercepted cargoes to the more congenial subject of Wordsworth, Tennyson and other favorite poets, and the rest of the afternoon had been consumed in discussing this really important business.

Bluff Called.

The evening train had filled rapidly. Three commuters, each of whom had a seat, were loudly boasting what they'd do if they wanted a seat, and all because one other man had jumped on the train, turning over double seats and was holding them—the only unoccupied ones in the entire car—for three persons who had not yet put in their appearance.

"Believe me," said one of the former three, "if I needed a seat I'd sit right down there with him." So you see many of these Big Trees in Sequoia and Yosemite national parks were not even middle-aged when Christ was born in Bethlehem.

Getting Her Reward.

I have always made it a practice to wear dainty house dresses in the morning and afternoon frocks at home no matter what happens.

When my son was eight we moved to a small town where the women were far from up to date in dress and to be brutally frank, not always neat. In a few weeks son had become acquainted with other boys near his age, and had been to most of their homes.

One evening he came in as I was getting dinner.

He paused just inside the kitchen door and studded me for several moments, then blurted out: "Mom, why don't the other boys have young, pretty mothers like you?"—Exchange.

Capital's Monumental Churches.

Among the great capital cities of the world Washington alone has no monumental church. Two, however, are building. The corner stone of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception has been laid, and the walls of the new Protestant cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul is already completed. The Protestant cathedral is at the summit of Mount St. Alban, overlooking Washington, a situation our writer calls "the noblest site of any cathedral in the Old World or the New."—Youth's Companion.

Corn Loaded in Cars by Air Blast.

Loading ear corn into box cars has been facilitated by the production of a portable air-blast outfit, which is manufactured by an Illinois concern. It is described and illustrated in Popular Mechanics Magazine. When the front end of a wagon is elevated by a jack, its contents fall upon an endless belt that conveys the grain to a powerful blast of air, which blows the corn into the car.
