Remarkable Afghan Hounds Owned by Englishman

This photo, just received from England, was taken in that country's only kennel of pure-bred Afghan hounds—that of Major G. Bell-Murray at Kirkpatrick. The Afghan hound is famous for its scent as well as for its speed. Although it is a "coursing" dog, like the equally-speedy greyhound, it does not depend on keenness of vision, as does that English breed, but follows a scent like a foxhound or a beagle. And it has greater strength and endurance than the greyhound and stands the cold better. It is probably the only dog that keeps its own breed pure.

School Notes

In the fire drill at the large building last week, the last pupil was out of the building in just one and a quarter minutes after the last tap of the alarm. The time is good enough and needs no improvement. In case of fire the great danger is not from a fire but from panic. Our pupils march out quickly but not in a rush.

In the chemistry laboratory, during last week, the members of the class have been making oxygen and hydrogen.

At the last meeting of the Boy Scouts, the attempt was again made to make fire by the Indian method—with bow and thong.

After three attempts, fire was obtained by an effort of one minute. The apparatus is called "The One Minute Apparatus." Practise will no doubt make us more perfect so that with every effort we can get a fire in one minute. Anyhow, it work!

The latest addition to the high school is a magazine rack made by Mr. Cazier. It is of Mission style, well made, and is very attractive piece of furniture. Thanks, Mr. Cazier.

The new desks, two dozen in number, have arrived and have been placed in the assembly room of the high school. They were made necessary by the increase of the high school pupils. Last Saturday the old desks were taken up, the rows placed closer together and lengthened, thus making room for the new desks.

The bi-weekly literary society of the high school gave a very interesting program last week. Every number was good but we especially commend the musical numbers. The "Girls' Trio," consisting of Audrey Miller, and Ada Corn, gave "The Little Red Schoolhouse" in which they were very well trained by Mrs. T. E. Kelley. They received an encore, of course. The duet, piano and saxophone, by Rue Shulda and Edwin McCarty, received the usual encore given when these two young people play. How we need a Violin and Cornet for our orchestra!

A debating club has been added to this literary society. Fourteen students joined at the first mention of the proposition. Possibly a Senator from New Mexico, in embryo, will get his training in this new club.

Miss Mildred Shrader, our popular teacher of the commercial branches, has subscribed for the El Paso Herald, to be placed in our magazine rack. Fine, Miss Shrader. Next!

The Literary Digest, Popular Science Monthly, Boys' Life, and Wohelo were subscribed for this week through the generosity of our worthy school board. The Boys' Life is especially for the Boy Scouts and Wohelo for the Camp Fire Girls.

The first meeting of the Camp Fire Girls was held last Wednesday and the following officers for the coming year were elected: president, Beulah Burr; vice president, Juell Miller; secretary, Audrey Miller; treasurer, Lillian Johnson. Several new girls have joined the Camp, among them Dorothy Reddy, Opal Fite, Jessie Rustin, Dora Anderson, Rue Shulda, Gwen Cline, Josephine Lalone. Much enthusiasm was shown by the girls and a great year is anticipated.

We will give a write-up of President Hill's visit next week. Lack of space forbids it this week.

Who is the "Masked Lady?"

The coming number of the Carrizozo Entertainers will contain several "thrills" for the entertainment-loving public. New songs will be sung by our best singers; instrumental selections by our best musicians, together with Ferguson's full orchestra composed of Messrs. Ferguson, Pitts, Wright, Burke, Appelget, McCarty. Much curious interest has been aroused over the announcement that "Ajmer-Merwara," (the Masked Lady) will perform one of her renowned Oriental dances. This lady is positively not a local product, but according to authority, we are assured that she seldom performs in towns of this size, hence the concealment of her identity. Who is she? Following is the program for the entertainment at the Crystal Theatre October 19:

State Evangelist Here

Rev. A. L. Maddox, State Evangelist for the Baptist Association of New Mexico, arrived here on Wednesday, spent the day with Rev. Blacklock and family, left for Cloudcroft, Alamogordo and Tularosa, where, after spending the week end, he will return and occupy the pulpit in the local Baptist church at both morning and evening services. Rev. Maddox moved to Las Vegas from Tucuman recently, to give his children the benefit of the Montezuma College.

Spoilight and Masquerade

On the night of October 27, the Seamen's Social Club of Fort Stanton will give a Spoilight and Masquerade dance that promises to surpass all past efforts of this important organization in the way of entertaining their friends. The above affair will be given for the benefit of the disabled sailors in the Marine Hospital and as these deserving patriots have never been compensated by the Government for services rendered, the Seamen's Social Club, an organization whose main object is to perform acts of human kindness toward those less fortunate than themselves, have arranged a series of entertainments for the benefit of those of their number who are languishing on beds of pain, therefore, to patronize one of these entertainments is lending a helping hand with the Seamen's Club in reaching down to assist their brothers and make their pillows softer, their lives brighter, their circumstances and involvements more happy and congenial. Remember the date of the Spoilight and Masquerade, make arrangements to attend for by so doing, you will be royally entertained, besides assisting those who are so highly deserving. Best of music and an enjoyable time is in store for those who attend.

Mining and Prosperity

Mining news from Utah and other western states is the most encouraging since the readjustment period started. Lead has reached .0635 cents per pound; zinc is above 7 cents; silver is pegged at $1.00 an ounce by the Pittman act; gold mining is increasing as cost of operation declines; and copper is holding its own around 14 cents a pound with larger amounts being used as it slowly replaces substitutes which displaced it during the war time period.

The future for the lead market looks exceedingly good for indefinite period. Reductions in railroad rates are enabling mines to again ship ore profitably to smelters with the result that increasing activity in mines and smelters is taking place. Why the metal industry is producing on a profitable basis it assures prosperity in many western states.

Lalone's Cash Grocery

The Carrizozo Trading Company Annex, or Lalone's Cash Grocery, will make its appearance in the business arena tomorrow. Its owner and manager is Mr. Fred Lalone, who needs no introduction to Carrizozo residents. Mr. Lalone served grocery purchasers with the Patty Grocery, then with the C. D. Mayer Grocery, and now in a letter to the public which is being mailed out to the citizens and also printed in this week's issue of The Outlook, he issues a plain and concise statement to the homes of Carrizozo in which he sets forth his plan which he claims will save money to grocery purchasers. The new store occupies the same space which was taken up by the grocery department when the Carrizozo Trading Co. handled the line, hence the name, The Carrizozo Trading Company Annex. The store opens tomorrow; give Lalone's Cash Grocery a call.

Basila Bros. Locate

Basila Brothers of El Paso are preparing to locate here in the general Dry Goods and Grocery business. The firm has rented the store room next door to the Lincoln State Bank and the date of opening is set for Oct. 16, at which time the public is invited to inspect the stock and investigate prices. Everything will be strictly up-to-date. Groceries will always be fresh and seasonable.

Work Progressing

Work on the site for the erection of the new Rolland Drug Store on Alamo avenue is progressing nicely. A good yielding well has been finished which furnishes water for making the 'dobbies and these are being made from the basement excavations. The 'dobbies are drying fast, other material is on the ground and a new, handsome drug store under Mr. Rolland's efficient, courteous management will add greatly to the business interests along this public thoroughfare.

Here from Rhode Island

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Harrington and daughters Ruth and Faith of Providence, R. I., arrived here last Saturday, staying over until Monday as guests of the E. H. Sweet family of the Carrizozo Eating House. In coming west, the Harringtons took a steamer from New York to New Orleans, thence by rail to Carrizozo. They continued their journey from here to California and will return to their eastern home by the way of the Yellowstone Park and Grand Canyon. Mrs. Harrington is a cousin to Mr. E. H. Sweet.

Carrizozo Woman's Club

On the evening of Oct. 20, the Woman's Club will hold a reception at the Board of Trade rooms for teachers and patrons of the Carrizozo schools. Members of the Club are requested to be present on this occasion.

At a meeting of the Club on Oct. 6, the following resolutions were adopted: WHEREAS, Regardless of political affiliations, the members of the Woman's Club of Carrizozo, appreciate the honor extended to one of its members who aided in its organization and served as its first President, therefore, be it RESOLVED, that this Club endorse the action of the Republican party of the State of New Mexico, in placing the name of Mrs. Maude L. Blaney on the State ticket as the nominee for State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sweet and daughter of El Paso, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Harrington and daughters of Providence, R. I., E. H. Sweet and daughter, Attorney and Mrs. H. B. Hamilton, spent last Sunday at the Eagle Creek Club grounds.

"Head In" With the B. of R. T. Thanksgiving Night at Lutz Hall

Thanksgiving is looked forward to with much interest by those seeking holiday entertainment, and for the benefit of those so inclined, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen hereby make the announcement in advance of the date, that at Lutz Hall on Thanksgiving night, Nov. 30, they will give one of the best dances of the fall season. The B. of R. T. is an organization composed of railroad men with aims and objects for the benefit of all concerned in their circles and mainly does this order seek to relieve conditions of members who are ill and disabled and the coming event will be given for their expressed benefit.

Carrizozo and vicinity is always quick to respond to movements in which human kindness are the prime motives and this affair which will be given with this main object in view, will be met with a ready response. Here will be a chance to assist a worthy cause and besides, as the head of this article suggests, you can "head in" and get a wonderful "run" for your money in the way of entertainment. Ferguson's "Joy-Makers" will furnish the music.

Dr. Hill Here Monday; Corona Monday Night

Next Monday, the people of Carrizozo will have the opportunity of meeting Dr. Charles L. Hill, Republican candidate for Governor of New Mexico. Dr. Hill, with other candidates on the state ticket, will be here for the greater portion of the day and will meet as many of our citizens as they can during that time. At night there will be a big mass meeting at Lutz Hall where different state candidates will speak. On the same night (Monday) Dr. Hill and Fred Muller, candidate for State Land Commissioner will speak at a big meeting in Corona. The people should give them a rousing reception.

New Pastor Arrives

Rev. J. M. Glazier, new pastor of the Methodist Church, arrived Tuesday from evening from El Paso. He was pastor at Magdalena, N. M., last year. Mrs. Glazier and two children are on a visit in Denver, Colo. Rev. Glazier will occupy the pulpit at the Methodist church next Sunday—11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited and welcome to worship with us.

CHAPTER XI

The Gangsters.

Gramont left the covert and walked forward.

He was thinking about that odd mention of Jachin Fell—had Chachero lied in saying he had come here on his master's business? Perhaps. The man had come in Fell's car, and would not hesitate to lie about using the car. For the moment Gramont put away the circumstance, but did not forget it.

He walked openly toward the Gumberts buildings, thinking that he would have time for a good look around the place before dusk fell; he would then get off for Houma and attend to Hammond's defense.

As for the place before him, he was convinced that it was abandoned. Had any one, other than Chachero and his two friends, been about the building, the late excitement would have brought out the fact. No one had appeared and the buildings seemed vacant.

Gramont's intent was simple and straightforward. In case he found, as he expected to find, any evidence of illegal occupation about the place—as the sheriff seemed to have discovered to his cost—he would lay Chachero and the other two men by the heels that night in Houma. So would then go on to New Orleans and have Gumberts arrested, although he had no expectation that the master crook could be held on the murder-necessary charge. If this place were used for the lottery, even, he was fairly certain that Memphis Izzy would have his own tracks covered. The men higher up always did.

He walked straight in upon the barn. It loomed before him, closed, lurid in the level rays of the westerling sun. The doors in front had been only loosely swung together and Gramont found them unlocked. He stood in the opening, and surprise gripped him. He was held motionless, gazing with astonished wonder at the sight confronting him.

Directly before him was a small roadster, one which he remembered to have seen Jachin Fell using; in this car, doubtless, Ben Chachero had driven from the city. He recalled the fact later, with poignant regret for a lost opportunity. But, at the present moment, he was lost in amazement at the great number of other cars presenting themselves to his view.

They were lined up as deep as the barn would hold them, crammed into every available foot of space; well over a dozen cars, he reckoned swiftly. What was more, all were cars of the highest class, with the exception of Fell's roadster. Directly before him were two which he was well aware must have cost close upon ten thousand each. What did this mean? Certainly no one man or one group of men, in this back country spot, could expect to use such an accumulation of expensive cars!

Gramont glanced around, but found no trace of machinery in the barn. Remembering the motor that he had heard be turned from the doorway in frowning perplexity, he strode on toward the long shed which stood closer to the house. At the end of this shed was a door, and when he tried it, Gramont found it unlocked. It swung open to his hand, and he stepped inside.

At first he paused, confused by the vague objects around, for it was quite dark in here. A moment, and his eyes grew accustomed to the gloomer lighting. Details came to him: all around were cars and fragments of cars, chassis and bodies in all stages of dismemberment. Still more cars!

He slowly advanced to a long bench that ran the length of the shed beneath the windows. A shop, indeed—a shop, to quickly perceived, fitted with every tool and machine necessary to the most complete automobile repair establishment! Even an air-brush outfit, at one end, together with a drying compartment, spoke of repair jobs.

Comprehension was slowly dawning upon the mind of Gramont; a moment later it became certainty, when he came to a stop before an automobile engine lying on the bench. He found it to be the engine from a Stutz—the latest multi-valve type adopted by that make of car, and this particular bit of machinery looked like new.

Gramont inspected it, and he saw that the man had done these work well. The original engine number had been carefully dug out, and the place as carefully filled and leveled with metal. Beside it a new number had been stamped. A glance at the electrical equipment around showed that these workers had every appliance with which to turn out the most finished job.

As he straightened up from the engine Gramont's eyes fell upon a typed sheet of paper affixed to the wall above the bench. His gaze widened as he inspected it by the falling light. Upon that paper was a list of cars. After each car was a series of numbers plainly comprising the original numbers of the engine, body, radiator and other component parts, followed by another series of new numbers to be inserted. That sheet of paper showed brains, organizing ability, care and attention to the last detail!

Here was the most carefully planned and thorough system of automobile thievery that Gramont had ever heard of. He stood motionless, knowing that this typed sheet of paper in itself was damning evidence against the whole gang of workers. What was more to the point, that paper could be traced; the typewriting could be traced to the man higher up—doubtless Memphis Izzy himself! These men ran in cars by the wholesale, probably from states adjacent to Louisiana. Here, at this secluded point on the bayou, they changed the cars completely about, in number, paint, style of body, and then probably got rid of the new product in New Orleans.

Gramont stood motionless. Surprise had taken hold of him, and even a feeling of slight dismay. This was not at all what he had hoped to find there. He had thought to come upon some traces of the lottery game—

"Seen all you want, boy?" said a voice behind him. Gramont turned. He found himself gazing directly into an automatic pistol over which glittered a pair of blazing eyes. The man was a stranger to him. The place had not been deserted, after all. He was caught.

"Who are you?" demanded Gramont, quietly.

"Me?" The stranger was unsmiling, deadly. In those glittering eyes Gramont read the ferocity of an animal.

"Hurry Up! Turn Over the Name and Address."

at bay. "I suppose you would like to know that, huh? I guess you know enough right now to get all that's comin' to you, boy! Got any particular business here? Speak up quick!"

Gramont was silent. The other sneered at him, viciously.

"Hurry up! Turn over the name and address, and I'll notify the survivin' relatives. Name, please?"

"Henry Gramont," was the calm response. "Don't get hasty, my friend. Didn't you see me here a little while ago with Chachero and the other boys?"

"What's that?" The glittering eyes flamed up with suspicion and distrust. "Here—with them? No, I didn't. I been away hating all afternoon. What the hell you doing around this joint?"

"Your best scheme," said Gramont, coldly. "Is to change your style of tone, and to do it in a hurry! If you don't know what's happened here this afternoon, don't ask me; you'll find out soon enough when the other boys get back. You'd better tell them I'm going to get in touch with Memphis Izzy the minute I get back to the city, and that the less talking they do—"

"What the hell's all this?" demanded the other again, but with a softening of accent. The moaker of Gumberts had its effect, and seemed to shake the man instantly. Gramont smiled as he perceived that the game was won.

"I never heard of no Gramont," went on the other, quickly. "What you doin' here?"

"You're due to hear a good many things, I imagine," said Gramont, carelessly. "As for me, I happened on the place largely by accident. I happen to be in partnership with the boss named Jachin Fell, and I came out here on business.

To Gramont's astonishment the pistol was lowered instantly. It was well that he seemed speaking, for what he had just said proved to be open to misconception, and if he had said any more he would have spoiled it. For the man facing him was staring at him in mingled disgust and surprise.

"You're in partnership with the boss!" came the astounding words. "Well, why in hell didn't you say all that in the first place, instead of bein' around? That's no way to built in, and me thinking you was some dick on the job! Got anything to prove that you ain't pullin' something cute on me?"

"Do you know Fell's writing?" asked Gramont, with difficulty forcing himself to meet the situation coherently. Jachin Fell—the boss!

"I know his mitt, all right." From his pocket Gramont produced a paper—the memorandum or agreement which he had drawn up with Fell the previous afternoon, relating to the oil company. The other man took it and switched on an electric light bulb overhead. In this glare he was revealed as a ratty little individual with open mouth and teeth hanging out—an adenoidal type, and certainly a criminal type.

It crossed the mind of Gramont that one blow would do the work—but he stood motionless. No sudden game would help him here. The discovery that Fell was "the boss" paralyzed him completely. He had never dreamed of such a contingency. Fell, of all men!

Jachin Fell the "boss" of this establishment—Jachin Fell the man higher up—the brains behind this criminal organization! It was a perfect thunderbolt to Gramont. Now he understood why Chachero was in the employ of Fell—why no arrest of the man had been possible! Now he perceived that Chachero must have told the truth about coming here on business for Fell. Reaching farther back, he saw that Fell must have received the loot of the Midnight Masquer, which had turned it over to Lucie Ledanols!

Did she know? "All right, Mr. Gramont," the ratty little man turned to him with evident change of front. "We ain't takin' no chances here, y'understand. Got quite a shipment of cars comin' in from Texas, and we're tryin' to get some of these boats cleaned out to make room. Bring out any orders?"

Gramont's brain worked fast. By overcoming this guttersnipe he might have the whole place at his mercy—but that was not what he wanted. He suddenly realized that he had other and more important fish to fry in New Orleans. Gumberts was there. Fell was there. What he must do demanded time, and his best play was to gain all the time possible, and to prevent this gang from suspecting him in any way.

"Did you see Ben Chachero?" he countered.

"Uh-huh—seen him just after he come. Gumberts will be out day after tomorrow, he said. The boss is fram'in' some sort of deal on a guy that he wants laid away—some guy name of Hammond. Chachero is running it. He figgers on gettin' Hammond on account of some car that's been hunted up—"

Gramont laughed suddenly, for there was a grim humor about the thing. So Jachin Fell wanted to "get something" on poor Hammond! And Chachero had seized the golden opportunity that presented itself this afternoon—instead of "getting" Hammond for the theft of a car, Chachero had coolly fastened murder upon him!

"Ben is one smart man; I expect he thinks the gods are working for him," said Gramont, thinly. "So you don't know what happened today, eh? Well, it's great news, but I've got no time to talk about it. They'll tell you when they get back—"

"Where'd they go?" demanded the other.

"Houma. Now listen close! Chachero did not know that I was in partnership with the boss, get me? I didn't want to tell all the crowd in front of him. Between you and me, the boss isn't any too sure about Ben—"

"Boy, I get you there!" broke in the other, sagely. "I tells him six months ago to watch out for that Creole guy!"

"Exactly. You can tell the boys about me when they come back—I don't suppose Ben will be with them. Now, I've been looking over that place next door—"

"Oh!" exclaimed the other, suddenly. "Sure! The boss said that one of his friends would be down to—"

"I'm the one—or one of them," and Gramont chuckled as he reflected on the ludicrous aspects of the whole affair. "I'm going to Houma now, and then back to the city. My car's over next door. Mr. Fell wanted me to warn you to lay low on the lottery business. He's got a notion that some one's been talking."

"You go tell the boss," retorted the other in an aggrieved tone, "to keep his eye on the guys that can talk. Who'd we talk to here? Besides, we're workin' our heads off on these here boats. Memphis Izzy is attending to the lottery—he's got the whole layout up to the house, and we ain't touchin' it, see? Tell the boss all that."

AN ENGAGEMENT PRESENT

"I've had an engagement present, cackle, cackle," said Miss Hen.

"Do let me see it," said Miss Fidgety, Fashionable Hen.

"Cackle, cackle, let me see it," said Mrs. White Hen.

"And I want to see it, too," said Miss Brown Hen.

"So do I," said Red Top, the Rooster. "I, most certainly want to see it. Cack-a-doodle-do, pray show it to me."

"I'd like to see it," said Mrs. Duck. "Quack, quack, please let me see it."

"And I want to have a view of it, too," said Sir David Duck.

"What is all the fuss about?" asked Mr. Gander, as he walked by the other barnyard animals.

"Oh, nothing for us to bother about," said Mrs. Goose.

"I thought as much," said Mr. Gander.

"Miss Hen is engaged to Robble Rooster and all the other barnyard animals want to see the present she has been given which she calls her engagement present," Mrs. Goose explained.

"I don't want to bother to see it," said Mr. Gander. "I am sure you don't want to bother either."

"No, I don't want to bother," said Mrs. Goose. "Such a thing would be a waste of our time. We can't bother with the other barnyard animals."

"We prefer our own society," said Mrs. White Hen.

"Just as we should do," said Mr. Gander. "Just as we should do."

"Let me see the present," begged Mrs. Indian Runner Duck.

"I'd like to see it," said Sir William Goat, known as Billy by the barnyard friends.

"Oh, show it to us," said Mrs. White Hen.

"I can't," said Miss Hen. "Cackle, cackle, it is quite impossible. I can't."

"I would if I could, but it's impossible."

"How absurd," said Miss Fidgety, Fashionable Hen.

"Ridiculous," said Mrs. White Hen. "Utterly nonsensical," said Miss Brown Hen.

"Too queer for words," said Red Top, the Rooster.

"I cannot understand why she says such a thing, quack, quack," said Mrs. Duck.

"I don't understand, either," said Sir David Duck.

"Tell old Billy Goat," said Sir William Goat.

"You see," said Miss Hen. "I can't show you my engagement present. I told you that I had been given an engagement present, but I didn't say you could see it as that is so impossible."

"Why is it impossible? Was it such a horrid present that you are ashamed to show it to us?" asked Miss Brown Hen.

"Of course not," said Miss Hen proudly. "My dear Robble Rooster would only give me the very best."

"But it is impossible to show it to you as I have eaten it! Ah, yes, it was a beautiful engagement present. No hen was ever given so fine and delicious a worm as Robble picked out for me."

"He said he looked them all over and waited until he succeeded in getting the very best of all."

"But I have already eaten my engagement present. And I thoroughly enjoyed it."

"So that was it," said Miss Fidgety, Fashionable Hen.

"How stupid of us not to have understood."

"How stupid," said Mrs. White Hen.

"Very stupid," said Miss Brown Hen.

"You hens should have thought of that," said Sir David Duck.

"You should have thought of that, Hens, it is true," said Mrs. Duck.

"Well, I might, too, have thought that it was something you had eaten," said Billy Goat. "For an engagement present that can be eaten is surely nicer than any other, is my goat opinion."

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

Robbery.

An old man was walking along a road one night, when he was confronted by a burly stranger.

"What do you want?" he asked.

"We're going to have a game of put and take, mate," replied the stranger.

"Put and take?" gasped the old man, alighting with fright.

"Yes," said the burly one. "You put yer 'ands up and I'll take yer watch!"—London Tit-Bits.

The Wild Gentleman.

"I saw a wild man in a sideshow last summer," stated J. Fuller Gloom. "The gentleman was a most disreputable looking personage. If I had had with me either a bottle of soothing slrup, a club, a book of etiquette, a cake of soap, or a tract, I believe I should have given, or taken, as the case may have been, it or them, to him."—Kansas City Star.

Birds of the Sea.

Gannets are strictly oceanic birds, and are only found inland when they have been driven by storms, or for some reason or other missed their accustomed migratory routes, says the American Forestry Magazine. It is a big bird, as big as a goose. They are wonderful on the wing, flying with great rapidity, and plunge in a most extraordinary manner to seize the fish.

Philosophy is not "what's the use" but the "use" in everything.

Red Clergy Plan Live Church

Calls All-Russian Conclave to Decide the Fate of Orthodoxy.

TO GET CLOSER TO MASSES

New Movement is Against Supporters of Old Byzantine Church Service Which Demands Splendor in All Its Glory.

Moscow.—The "Red clergy," led by a group of young men, held its first congress here early in August and discussed plans to establish a new "live church." It was contended that the church must be brought nearer to the masses, and that the "new church" should be as "simple and as humble as was Christ himself."

The aims of the "Red clergy," so-called because of its acknowledgment of the social revolution and the soviet internationale, include liquidation of the superiority of the regular clergy in Russian church affairs, doing away with the reactionary section of higher clergy who, it is claimed, are still hoping for a coup d'etat to sweep them into power again, and preparation of an all-Russian conclave at which a successor to Patriarch Tichon is to be elected.

Orthodoxy in Split

The "Red clergy" group, headed by Archbishop Antonin and a number of young Moscow and Petrograd clergymen, came into existence as a result of a split among the Russian Orthodox clergy, brought about soon after confiscation of church treasures was started by soviet government officials.

Because of the opposition which developed among the ruling church authorities, a number of the clergy were prosecuted in various parts of Russia, even Patriarch Tichon himself having been placed on trial. Many sentences of death were imposed, some of which were carried into effect, and various other archbishops, bishops and clergymen were given jail sentences.

Realizing that the conflict between the state and the church threatened the very existence of the church itself, the group of young clergymen took the initiative and demanded the abdication of Patriarch Tichon. The patriarch yielded to the demands, and immediately afterward the movement of the "live church" was inaugurated.

Oppose Splendid Service.

The new movement, first of all, is against supporters of the old Byzantine church service which demands splendor in all its glory. It is contended that the costly miters of gold studded with jewels, the magnificent vestments, the priceless rugs, are too significant of aristocracy.

"In all this splendor," claim the young clergymen, "little room is left for the light of Christ's mercy and love." The church must be brought nearer to the masses—it should be "proletarianized." And it is on these grounds that the "Red clergy" have recognized the revolution, its results, and the internationale.

The live church proposed also to

GARRY BABES 2,400 MILES

Man and Wife in Long, Weary Walk in Fruitless Search for Employment.

Rochester, Minn.—Completing a weary walk of 2,400 miles carrying two babies with them, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Tofte of Tidewater, Ore., plodded into Rochester on what he said has been a hunt for a job. They did not find work here and Tofte, disconsolate and rather forlorn, says he will again start out with his family.

Tofte says they started from Oregon in May while he was out of a job, crossed the Cascade and the Rocky mountains and found no work. He says Mrs. Tofte sometimes fainted from exhaustion, but they stuck to the trail steadily.

"I've had some jobs along the way," said Tofte, "but it's been a tough struggle, and I don't know where it will end up. Well, let's go," he finished, speaking to his wife. He swung one of the children upon his shoulder, where the lad had ridden for hundreds of miles and with Mrs. Tofte and the other child following he set out on a new hunt for work.

LOCALITY MADE DIFFERENCE

According to Uncle Silas, Horatio K. Bentley Do Not Lash a Pink Line in Boontown.

People in Boontown were used to Uncle Silas' way of talking and enjoyed it; but at last there came, as a member of the summer colony, a man who had a desire to set everything and everybody straight, according to his ideas.

"What's the sense of your referring to that animal of yours as a 'colt'?" demanded this person one day. "How old is he?"

"Well, he is going on eleven years," said Uncle Silas, mildly.

"Eleven years!" sneered the man. "Well, we should call that pretty ancient for a colt—in New York."

"I think likely you would," said Uncle Silas, without rancor, but with considerable firmness in his tone; "but perhaps 'twould be well to consider, sir, that this colt of mine resides in Boontown, where eleven years is pretty young for a horse."—Philadelphia Ledger.

LITTLE DIFFERENCE IN POETS

Mr. J. Fuller Gloom Comments on Strain That Seems to Be Common to All of Them.

"It is related of Tennyson—not Tennyson J. Draft, but that other and equally asphyxiating poet, Alfred Lord Tennyson—" stated J. Fuller Gloom, "that at one time he took certain visitors up onto the roof of his house to show them a view, which in all probability he wished to give the impression he had made. Presently a woman and child were observed in the distance, running in their direction, and Tennyson would have it that they were hurrying to catch a glimpse of him. A moment later a bull was seen charging out from behind a clump of bushes, palpably in pursuit of the two. Thereupon Tennyson, true to form, declared that the gentleman cow was also trying to get a good look at the world's greatest poet. From this we should learn that the birds of the good old times were fully as silly and conceited as they are today."—Kansas City Star.

Thoughtful.
An old Irishman was struggling along the highroad with a heavy bundle, when a friend passed in a cart. It was a hot day, so the friend, thinking Pat would be glad of a lift, said: "Jump up here, old man."
Pat was delighted and, after climbing up, rested his bundle carefully on his knee.
"Put your bundle on the seat," said his friend.
"Oh, no," Pat answered. "Since you are so good as to give me a ride, I'll not be after asking you to carry me bundle as well!"

Naval Battles of the War.
The principal naval battles of the World war were the battle of Heligoland Bight, August 28, 1914; the battle of Coronel, November 1, 1914; the battle of the Falkland Islands, December 8, 1914; the battle of the Dogger Banks, January 24, 1915; and the battle of Jutland, May 31, 1916. There were many other sharp engagements, but hardly of sufficient importance to be dignified with the title of battle.

English Expedition Hopes to Penetrate Mysteries of Ancient Monasteries.

Another matter the mission proposes to investigate is the belief that Tibetan monasteries contain books written thousands of years before the art of letters was introduced into the western world.

It has been rumored that in some of these monasteries, where no white man has ever been allowed to enter, are rare volumes written shortly after the great flood, giving an authentic account of the great deluge. Thus far the white world has been compelled to rely upon the Jewish legend contained in the Bible and the legends of other peoples.

Wealth in Libraries.

London is confident the investigators will find material of great importance in the libraries, records which will clarify many puzzling chapters in the early history of the world.

Whether or not the mission will accomplish the great things expected of it remains to be seen. Tibet has never welcomed intrusion from the outside world. A few short years ago a white man took his life into his hands to visit the country.

In the last few years, however, the attitude of the country has changed slightly—perhaps on account of Great Britain's invasion.

One thing which will be in favor of the men composing the English mission is the fact that all connected are of the Buddhist faith. The leader is a Buddhist priest and as such will be able to get into much closer touch with the priests who guard the great secrets, if such they are than would one of the Christian faith.

The members of the mission are not so sanguine about finding a fountain of youth, but they do believe their investigations will be of great historical value. All this provided, of course, that Tibet allows itself to be "investigated." If not, about as much as the average tourist.

PLAYS JOKE ON UNDERTAKER

Jersey Man Sentenced to Cut Grass in Library Grounds as Punishment for Hoax.

Belmar, N. J.—Because he played a practical joke on an undertaker, Harry G. Sykes was sentenced by Mayor William A. Bamford to cut grass in front of the public library.

Sykes was accused of calling by telephone Russell T. Hardy, reporting a death and asking him to take care of the corpse. When Hardy found he had been made the victim of a joke, he complained to the mayor.

Cop Retires, Burns Uniform.
New York—"Here goes all my hard luck," said Patrolman James J. Donahue of the Third Jersey City precinct, as he took off his uniform, poured kerosene over it, lit it and cast the bundle into a field near the isolation hospital, where he had been stationed for the last few years. This episode marked the retirement of Donahue, after 20 years' police duty.

Recently as the dog was walking along the road it found a dollar bill. Picking it up the animal brought the paper money to the Zinkand residence and laid it on the porch.

Hunt Secret of Youth in Tibet

English Expedition Hopes to Penetrate Mysteries of Ancient Monasteries.

PRIESTS HAVE STRANGE POWER

Mission Expects to Find Rare Volumes Written Shortly After the Great Deluge—Are All of Buddhist Faith.

London.—The veil of mystery which shrouds Tibet and the forbidden city of Lhasa may soon be pushed aside.

Recently a group of English investigators left London for Tibet. There they hoped to obtain from Buddhist priests secrets of great and mysterious powers they are rumored to possess.

If the expedition succeeds it may mean a great step forward for the white race—or it may mean nothing at all.

The investigators are headed by D. W. M. McGeever. One of the principal rumors they will investigate is the statement that Tibetans have the power to lengthen the span of human life.

Know Secret of Youth.
It is said there are Tibetan priests who have been in the priesthood more

Big Blue Oval Meteor Found on River Bottom

Fergus Falls, Minn.—A dredge working in the river here, below the central dam, brought up a meteor two feet long and shaped like an egg. The meteor is blue in color, heavier than granite, and hundreds of pebbles are buried in it. Engineers say it must have struck the river while flaming hot, and the pebbles sank into it when it fell.

Wallaces Patronize Government Market

Center Market is the only one in the United States owned and controlled by the government through the Department of Agriculture.

REDUCE THE COST OF HELIUM

Government Makes Greatest Price Reduction on Record.

Cost Is Dropped From $2,000 to Nine Cents a Cubic Foot, and May Be Reduced to Five Cents—Only Plant in World.

Each Worth, Tex.—The biggest price reduction on record has just been put into effect here by the government's helium plant. The cost has been cut from $2,000 to 9 cents a cubic foot! Even at that there is no crowd at the doors to take advantage of the great reduction. Experiments are now going forward to make the cost only 5 cents.

An immense warehouse at the plant has stored in it 2,000,000 cubic feet of helium. Two weeks ago two carloads of the product were shipped East for army use. The institution has been closed for six months, but recently resumed operation, congress having appropriated $900,000, which will keep the plant working for one year. When the plant is in full swing it is expected that 150 men will be employed there, and work will continue day and night. This is the only helium plant in the whole world, giving this government a monopoly of the supply. Experiment has shown that only the Texas gas contains helium. Gas from other states and other countries, when tested, did not contain the element.

The Fort Worth plant was erected during the war and its first shipment was sent East before the war ended, but before it could reach France the armistice was declared. If the dirigibles during the war had been able to use helium, Lanham says military authorities informed him, the great conflict would have lasted no more than a year. On the other hand, if Germany had possessed this helium plant she could have sent her Zeppelins broadcast and destroyed cities in France

A UNION OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Healthy Housewife---Happy Home

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Helped Form Many

For the ailing, half-sick housewife such a union is impossible. Often times even the slightest form of housework cannot be accomplished. Yet the work must be done. Many women struggle along for years suffering from some form of female trouble that makes their lives miserable and their homes far from happy.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped thousands of just such women regain their health and strength. Just give your thought to the following letters and remember that the women who wrote these letters knew how they felt before taking the Vegetable Compound and again afterwards. It helped them—let it help you.

Had Nervous Spells

Horatio, Ark.—"I had nervous spells and awful bad feelings. My right side and my back hurt me all the time and I had been going down in health for six or seven years. For three years I had not been able to do my work without help. I weighed only 95 pounds when my husband's mother persuaded me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Now I heartily recommend it to all suffering women, as I have gained weight and health. I can do all my work; anything I want to do."—Mrs. JIM HEARCK, Horatio, Arkansas.

Reading, Pa.—"I was a nervous wreck and could hardly do my housework. I always had to have help or I would never have got it done. Through the advice of friends I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my nerves and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine for my blood and I am feeling fine and doing my work all alone. I can recommend these medicines to any one, for they certainly helped me. I suffered for five years and Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines pulled me through."—Mrs. WALTER U. SROXER, 1218 Mulberry St., Reading, Pa.

Recommends the Vegetable Compound

New Orleans, La.—"I have found relief from my troubles by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I praise it wherever I go. I could not do my work as it should be done for I would sometimes have to lie down because of the pains I had. A friend induced me to take your Vegetable Compound and I have got great results from it. I keep house and am able to do all my own work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to mine."—Mrs. T. FOECKLER, 1915 N. Derbigny St., New Orleans, La.

AT LEAST SHE MADE ATTEMPT

But Probably Girl is More Than Ever Convinced Public Speaking is Not Her Forte.

My cousin had always been a most timid girl, finding it difficult to say much even before home folks, let alone strangers.

She was a member of a church society. One of the rules was that each member must take some part in the meetings. She had tried and tried, but could never get her courage up at the last minute.

Finally, the tender, to help her out, gave her some Scripture verses to read. They read as follows: "And bring hither the fattest calf and kill it."

Maggie started the verse, and to her utter dismay, found herself saying: "And bring hither the fattest calf and fill it."

She could read no further and sat down amid giggles.—Chicago Tribune.

European "Currency."

The continental traveler deposited an enormous bag inside the table in the restaurant car. The conductor promptly rebuked him. "Don't you know you can't bring your luggage in here. You'll have to put that bag in the van." "Luggage," sneered the traveler. "That isn't luggage. That's my purse. I'm going to Austria."

Had You Ever Noticed It?

That nature is full of simple facts of scientific importance yet awaiting notice by open eyes and minds is shown by the achievement of a Dutch schoolboy named Van Erpeem, who, during a lesson in physics, called Dr. Van Deventer's attention, to the fact that water in a glass filled to the brim with water and floating ice does not flow over as the ice melts. In fact, no change of level whatever occurs.

Dr. Van Deventer communicated this observation to Professor Van der Walls and Zweman, who thought it of sufficient importance to be placed before the Royal Academy of Amsterdam. It is proposed to call the phenomenon the "law of the permanent level."

His Condition.

The Republican Ticket

The candidates on the County Republican ticket are moving about over the county, meeting people in the different localities and making friends. Meetings are being held at given points where they will meet with candidates on the State ticket, who, like our County candidates, are being received with much public favor. The Republican ticket, State and County, is in every way deserving of public support. A big gathering will be held at the White Mountain Inn next Sunday afternoon and another will be held at Hondo in the evening. Next Monday Dr. Hill, candidate for Governor, will be here and visit the different business houses and homes of as many of our people as he possibly can in the time allotted to his stay. In the evening, he, with Fred Muller, candidate for State Land Commissioner, will be the principal speakers, while the meetings here on the same night will be attended by many candidates on the State and County ticket. The public should hear them at Lutz hall.

MRS. ADELINA OTERO-WARREN
Republican Candidate for Representative in Congress

Mrs. Otero-Warren in the Field of Social Service

The public service of Mrs. Otero Warren, candidate for representative in congress, has been chiefly in the field of non-partisan social service, rather than in politics. How her work for the public welfare is regarded by those in the best position to know and judge it, is indicated by the following letters, written at the end of 1921, when Mrs. Otero-Warren sought to resign from the State Board of Public Welfare:

STATE OF NEW MEXICO

M. C. Mechem, Governor
Santa Fe, Dec. 31, 1921.

Mrs. Adelina Otero-Warren, Santa Fe, New Mexico.
My dear Mrs. Warren:
I am in receipt of your resignation from the Board of Public Welfare and return same to you herein as I must refuse to accept it. I feel that your retirement from this Board would seriously impair the public service. You have been actively engaged in this work for so many years, prior to the establishment of the present board, and as is well known you were a tireless worker in getting the public welfare legislation passed in the recent legislature, that you have valuable experience and knowledge which enables you successfully to cope with the conditions existing in this state. In this opinion I am supported by your co-workers on the board, as you will see from enclosed letter received from them. I am,

Respectfully yours,
M. C. Mechem, (Signed)
Governor.

Albuquerque, New Mexico.
December 27, 1921.

We, the undersigned members of the State Board of Public Welfare, having learned that the president of this Board, Mrs. Adelina Otero-Warren, has tendered her resignation as a member of the Board to the Governor, and believing as we do that the loss of her service on the Board would be a great loss to the Board in this work with which she is so familiar, we respectfully ask and request the Governor not to accept her resignation, if there be any way to avoid it.

Respectfully submitted,
F. G. Shortle, Secretary
(Signed) Mrs. Max Nordhaus
Chas. H. Lembke,
Mrs. Geo. W. Pritchard.

Mrs. Otero-Warren knows the detail of legislative work. She will require no training period, no time to "learn the ropes" before beginning active work for New Mexico as the state's sole representative in the lower house of Congress. She has demonstrated her interest in the public welfare and her ability to achieve for it. She is equipped to carry on her work in the broader field.

STEPHEN B. DAVIS, Jr.

Development:

The first civilizations known to history were founded upon irrigation—in Egypt and Mesopotamia.

Irrigation was practiced in New Mexico in pre-historic days, but its problems are still with us.

The areas to be reclaimed in the development of the San Juan Basin, the drainage of the lands on the Rio Grande and the further use of its waters, the extension of the Carlsbad system, to mention only a few, are so vast and the necessary works so expensive that governmental action is essential.

Almost all of this land belongs to the United States, is of little present value and pays no taxes. Transforming it to productivity is not charity but simply good business.

The Smith-McNary bill is a recognition of this condition and an attempt to improve it. Whether under such a general plan or through specific appropriations for particular projects, the waste lands of this nation must be reclaimed.

The Republican candidates for Congress are pledged in favor of such governmental action.

STEPHEN B. DAVIS, Jr.

Republican Candidate for Governor

I PROMISE YOU

That as your Governor I will give you a clean and honest administration. I have made no pre-election pledges to any individual, but the one I now make to all of you, which is, that for every office I have to fill by appointment I will find a man who is honest and who is qualified by training and experience to properly fill the position.

I will not discriminate in favor of or against the Spanish-American, nor in favor of or against any section of the state, but will simply be the governor of the whole people for the best interests of all as I see them.

Agriculture and live stock are the chief sources of wealth in New Mexico. I believe that these basic industries must be protected and given a chance to grow, so that all classes in the state may prosper; that drainage and irrigation must be fostered; that mining development must be encouraged; that our natural resources, invigorating climate and scenic and historical attractions must be advertised.

I believe that our highway construction should continue; that our educational facilities should be improved; that the rights of the laborer should be more adequately protected and that the health and general welfare of our people should receive more consideration.

To these problems of construction, development and protection I will devote all my energy and thought.

Is Backache Crippling You?

Is that dull, nagging backache making it hard for you to get around? Is your head sore and tingling with sharp, rheumatic pain? It's time, then, you give some attention to your kidneys! A persistent backache is often Nature's first signal of kidney weakness. You may have headache, dizziness and aching bladder irregularities, too. Kidney troubles, if treated early, are usually easily corrected. Begin now with Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

A Wyoming Case

Abraham, tax-martinet, 1400 Emerson St., Sheridan, Wyo., says: "My kidneys were disordered and the secretions were profuse in passage. I had sore and lame legs and there was a steady dull ache through the small of it. I was miserable for a long time before I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box to try. It wasn't long before Doan's completely cured me."

Suspicious That Hurt.

Suspicious that the mind of itself grasps, are but buzzes; but suspicions that are artificially nourished and put into the minds of others, have stings. —Lord Bacon.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

A young man who practiced medicine in Pennsylvania became famous and was called in consultation in many towns and cities because of his success in the treatment of disease. This was Dr. Pierce, who finally made up his mind to place some of his medicines before the public, and moving to Buffalo, N. Y., put up what he called his "Favorite Prescription," and placed it with the druggists in every state.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has long been recognized as a tonic for diseases peculiar to womanhood. After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged-down by weakness of her sex—a woman is quickly restored to health by its use. Thousands of women testify that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has entirely eradicated their distressing ailments.

More recently that wonderful discovery of Dr. Pierce's called Anuria (for kidneys and backache) had been successfully used by many thousands who write Dr. Pierce of the benefits received—that their backache, rheumatism, and other symptoms of uric acid deposits in joints or muscles have been completely conquered by its use.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. of any of his remedies, or write for free medical advice.

M. W. Friedell, former president of an oil refining corporation in Philadelphia, was taken into custody in Los Angeles at the request of the authorities of that city on a charge that he had embezzled $30,000. "I am not guilty," declared Friedell, "and I can prove it."

James Thomas, 14, student at the Inglewood High school in Los Angeles, is trying to prevent a door with a glass panel from slamming, thrust his hand through the panel and a silver of glass pierced his heart. As if nothing had happened, he walked down the steps of the building. Then he collapsed and death came quickly.

Joe Dieker, while sitting on the steps of a church in Los Angeles, was arrested for the police of Denver, where he is wanted to answer a charge of murdering William Hinton. Dieker, according to the arresting officers, declared his willingness to return to Denver to tell what he knew of the affair, but declared he was a witness and not a principal.

Victor Cusson, 53 years old, of Dayton, Ohio, and William Crowell, 45, Spanish war veteran, inmates of the National Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle, near Los Angeles, quarreled over a hat, according to officials of the institution. The inspectors had trailed Roach for several thousand miles, visiting cities in Texas, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado, since he left Calexico on Sept. 1.

A woman from Georgia won the distinction of being the first of her sex to obtain appointment to the United States Senate, when Mrs. W. H. Felton of Carterville, Ga., long known as the "grand old woman of Georgia," was named by Governor Thomas W. Hardwick as senator to succeed the late Thomas E. Watson, until the November elections, when a successor will be chosen at the polls. Mrs. Felton is 87 years old and has been prominent in Georgia politics for nearly half a century.

Charges that "certain representatives of the Department of Justice" converted to their own use large stocks of liquor seized in the enforcement of prohibition laws were made in a special report filed by the District of Columbia grand jury. The report asserted that the liquor was removed from the warehouse used by the department for storage purposes and was used by the officials involved for their private consumption, for distribution to personal friends and as gifts to favored institutions.

Two New Yorkers have annual incomes of more than $5,000,000 each. Two Michigan citizens, Henry Ford probably being one of them, also are in the $5,000,000 class. These figures, though the names of individuals with the fancy incomes are a secret, are revealed by Internal Revenue Collector Blair in his annual report for 1929.

The peace agreement between forty-nine railroads in the western area and trainmen and conductors was formally signed in Chicago. The agreement calls for the continuance of the present rate of pay to conductors and trainmen for one year, the eight-hour day basis to be maintained and time and a half for overtime after eight hours.

Coal-carrying railroads have been urged by Federal Fuel Distributor Spens to make every effort to break all records for coal shipments during the month of October. The current output of coal and its movements, Mr. Spens pointed out in a letter to presidents of the railroads concerned, are adequate for current needs of consumers, but do not permit laying up of reserves against a possible cold snap early in the winter.

A pension pay envelope increased from $50 to $72 a month for Civil and Mexican war veterans, possibly as a Christmas gift from Uncle Sam, is planned by Republican leaders in Congress. A bill providing pension increase already has passed the Senate and Senator Duran, Republican, New Mexico, its author, says he has been promised by House Republican leaders that it will be passed by the House soon after it reconvenes. He expects the bill to become law before the holidays.

All the members of the Greek royal family, with the exception of Prince Paul, who becomes her apparent, sailed with King Constantine for Italy, according to a Havas dispatch from Athens. The Turkish cavalry has retired from its advanced positions in the Channak area, decreasing the danger of conflict there. This withdrawal, which is described in messages from the Dardanelles as "slight" was supposed here to be in consequence of word received by the Turks that the Mudania conference was in session. The Turks, however, were said still to be well within the neutral zone.

ALLIES PROMISE THRACE TO TURKS

TURKISH GOVERNMENT ACCEPTS ENGLISH PROPOSALS AT MUDANIA CONFERENCE.

TURKS ACCEPT TRUCE

LINE OF DEMARKATION BETWEEN BRITISH AND KEMALISTS AGREED UPON.

Constantinople.—The allies have agreed to turn over Thrace to the Turkish army in thirty days.

The Mudania conference, it is understood, probably will reach an agreement on all points of the Turkish proposals with the exception of the provision relating to the occupation of the western line of the Maritza river by allied troops.

The Turkish conditions agreement in the Mudania conference are as follows:

- 1—Formal guarantees concerning the evacuation of Thrace.
- 2—Establishment of allied garrisons in the larger towns of Thrace.
- 3—Occupation of Thrace by Turkish Nationalist gendarmes.
- 4—Transfer of the civil administration of Thrace to Kemalist functionaries.
- 5—Evacuation of Thrace within eight days by the Greek army.
- 6—Occupation of the westerly line of the Maritza river by allied troops.

The delegates agree to establish a definite line of demarcation between the British and Kemalist forces in the Channak zone. The space between the opposing forces will be sufficient to place them out of rifle shot, thus lessening the danger of immediate conflict.

Conciliation marked the conference between the allied generals and the Turkish representative at Mudania. Ismet Pasha, who speaks for Mustafa Kemal Pasha, leader of the Nationalists, and also for the Angora government, has announced that the government accepted the allied proposals in principle and he took occasion to explain that the Turks "had no intention of creating incidents with the English."

Ismet asked for a settlement of the Turkish administration of Thrace and asked that Thrace be freed from allied control, but he felt that at least one month would be required to effect the transfer. He also suggested that there should be an allied covering force on the Maritza river and that a neutral zone should be created west of that river.

The allied generals explained that the proposed administrative measures must all be subject to the approval of the governments concerned.

What is described as the "finest expression of Egyptian statuary art in the world" has been sold at Sotheby's auction room in London for 10,000 pounds sterling. It is the head of Amenemmes III, an Egyptian king who lived about 3000 B. C. It is cut in obsidian, which is said to be one of the hardest stones on which an artist can work.

It measures 4 1/2 inches from the top of the head to the chin, but Prof. Percy B. Newberry, the Egyptologist, has pronounced it "a masterpiece that has not been surpassed by any sculptor of any country or age."

THE RAT STORY

Dear Sir: Mr. Robert T. Donnell of Anderson, Tenn., came in our store the other day and wanted something to kill rats. We sold him a box of Edgeworth's Rat Paste. And he put some paste on his floor that night and the next morning he found fifty-four big rats. And the second night he put out four more bladders with paste on them, and the second morning he found seventy more rats, making a total of seventy-four rats in two nights, and there were lots more that he did not find.

This is some big rat tale, but nevertheless, it is so. Just thought you would like to know that your rat paste is good.

"I hereby solemnly promise to fill any man's pipe"

This promise is made in the letter that follows. We had sent Mr. Lewis some free samples of Edgeworth (as we do to all who ask for them). We didn't know that he was an Edgeworth smoker until we received this letter.

Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Messrs. Larus & Brother Company, Richmond, Va.

Gentlemen:

I am a smoker of good tobacco for over 40 years and have no hesitancy in saying that of all smoking tobacco Edgeworth in my estimation occupies the first place.

Having smoked it for a number of years in many different parts of our own good U. S. A., and also Alaska and Cuba—it has always given me a double smoke-satisfaction, at all times, anywhere, everywhere, regardless of climatic changes or other obnoxious-pocuss.

My object in sending for the free samples (if you will forgive me) was to determine whether or not Edgeworth was being made any different—that possibly the samples (like whiskey samples used to be) were the best and finest of the whole output.

But on smoking the samples I find no difference whatever, and so I am convinced beyond the shadow of a doubt that Edgeworth always is of the same superior quality in all its forms, and further, that my little joke in asking for and receiving something for nothing will be excused by you on the plea of curiosity.

In thanking you kindly for your courtesy in sending free samples, I hereby solemnly promise to fill any man's (reasonable-sized) pipe with Edgeworth tobacco of my own purchase, to convert him to that really good smoke, "Edgeworth."

Very sincerely,
(Signed) Arthur John Lewis.

Edgeworth samples are no different from the regular Edgeworth tobacco you can buy in a store. We wouldn't keep "special" samples any more than we would have a special kind of tobacco in a different pouch in our pocket to hand to a friend.

We feel that Edgeworth is good enough, that its pleasant fragrance and mellowness will appeal to most pipe-smokers. We do not think our effort is wasted if we send free samples of Edgeworth to a man who doesn't find it exactly suited to his taste.

If you never tried Edgeworth, let us send you enough to fill your pipe a few times. Smoke it, and then decide whether or not Edgeworth was "made for you."

If you'll add the name and address of your tobacco dealer, we'd appreciate the courtesy.

When you send for samples, address Larus & Brother Company, 44 South 21st St., Richmond, Va. To Retail Tobacco Merchants: If your jobber cannot supply you with Edgeworth, Larus & Brother Company will gladly send you prepaid by parcel post a one- or two-ounce carton of any size Edgeworth Plug Slice or Ready-Rubbed for the same price you would pay the jobber.

M., with five large black bears. One of the animals measured seven feet from the tip of his nose to the end of his tail and eight feet from toe to toe. Hunters report that bears are plentiful in southern Arizona and New Mexico than in many years.

According to reports of the Biological Survey over 120,000 acres of land in New Mexico was treated for the extermination of prairie dogs during the month of August. The crop lands totaled 13,225 and the range lands 108,908 acres. The work has been carried on in nearly every county of the state and at the present rate there will be no dogs in the state in the next two years. The extermination work took 7,724 quarts of poisoned grain for the destruction of the rodents.

Always an exhibit of popular interest because of the gem-like beauty of many specimens, the mining exhibit this year will be a magnet for hundreds of mining men from all parts of the southwest during the coming fair week, October 30-November 4.

ALMOST IS NEARLY

Georgia Yards Officially Announces the Arrival for Which Scientists Have Been Vainly Seeking.

The gorilla has no foe but man. No flesh-eating animal in his territory is large enough to harm him. The gorilla is a vegetarian, so he kills no animals for food, and he has not progressed sufficiently along the paths of man to enjoy killing as a sport. He lives in amity with the elephants, buffalo and all the wild creatures in his neighborhood, and in the Mikeno region (in Africa) the natives drive their cattle into the gorilla's mountains in the dry season of the year without molestation.

Altogether, then, as the gorilla has no enemies, he has no need to fashion himself a bed out of harm's way, writes Carl E. Akeley in the World's Work. All the gorilla beds I saw were on the ground. They consisted of a pile of leaves, about what the long arms of a gorilla could pull together without moving. I saw no signs of their occupying these hastily constructed sleeping places more than once.

The gorilla makes no abode, has no clothes, uses no tools, unless grasping a stick may indicate the beginnings of such an idea. It is still before the dawn of intelligence with him. Yet scientists tell me that he has the palate and muscles that enable man to talk. In spite of Mr. Garner the gorilla cannot talk, but no one knows how near to it he is, perhaps a very long way. Of course, a parrot can be taught to talk, but a parrot has no brains to speak of, so that his talking is of no significance. But recent studies of the brain of John Daniel seem to place his brain about on a par with that of a two-year-old child. Now, a two-year-old child can both talk and think. If the gorilla with his child's brain could learn to use his voice even like a parrot, we should have come very near to having a contemporaneous "missing link." This, of course, is a very unlikely thing to happen, and it is not necessary, for science can make deductions from the gorilla's brain, muscle, habits, etc., which will enable us to understand more of the gorilla's significance or evolution without such a spectacular event as his acquiring speech. I mention such a thing merely as an unscientific way of trying to dramatize the importance of the study of the gorilla.

Of course, it does not follow that because the gorilla's palate and muscles are like a man's he will be able to talk or pass out of the barking or roaring phase. The gorilla has what might be called "paring pouches" that extend down the side of his neck. It is an interesting fact that there is evidence of these same pouches on man, although they are nearly atrophied from long disuse.

Reading the Signs.

"You must learn how to handle your man," the young matron was explaining to the engaged girl. "Oh, I won't need to handle Tommy," answered the engaged one. "Oh, but you will," insisted the matron. "They are all alike, and you must learn to read the signs. Now my Dick is about as good as they come, but just the same I keep my eye on him and I know just when he is feeling good and when he is cross or discouraged. When he comes home with his hair standing on end, I know he is feeling good and I can tease him and boss him around and we have a jolly time of it. When he feels good he runs his fingers through his hair and it stands up. That's the high sign. But when he comes in with his hair hiked down flat, as if the cat had applied her tongue, I know he doesn't feel well or is out of sorts or blue. Then I tell him to go smoke his pipe while I put dinner on the table. After dinner I coax him out to the movies or put some rollicking records on the phonograph or otherwise entertain him until I get him cheered up, then he is all right again. Oh, you'll have to learn, too, to read the signs."

Henry's Dinner Missing.

Henry A. Roberts, former state statistician, is looking for a negro with a strong arm. Roberts knows he has a strong arm because he carried a two-bushel market basket of groceries from Roberts' automobile recently. The basket contained 24 pounds of flour, 20 pounds of sugar, eggs, butter and trimmings to serve a wonderful Sunday dinner, which Roberts didn't enjoy. Not least among the contents was a nice fat chicken. Roberts told the police he expects the fellow to make a return visit to his car, and he told them he doesn't wish any interference when he finds him—Indianapolis News.

Iceland and the Phones.

Those who are accustomed to think of Iceland merely as a bleak land of perpetual snow and ice may be surprised to learn that from the standpoint of telephone development it is well up in the list. The actual number of telephones, which is about 2,900, may seem small, but the total population is under 100,000, and on the basis of number of telephones per 100 population Iceland holds a good rank. With its 24 telephones for every 100 people Iceland comes ahead of Great Britain, which has 21, France, which has only 1.2 telephones for every 100 people.

Rivals for Rubber.

The radio manufacturers and the makers of bitar pipes are rivals for the vulcanized rubber which is on the market and the extreme activity in radio circles has put a crimp in the pipe business. Deliveries of the rubber bits to the pipe manufacturers are from 16 to 18 weeks overdue. It is said that $500,000 annually is a conservative estimate of the amount spent for pipe bits.

Expansion Depends Upon Earnings

THE telephone system must keep ahead of the needs of its community. That costs money. The expenditures for expansion, however, do not come from earnings, but from new money which is constantly being invested in the securities of the company.

A reasonable dividend must be paid on this investment exactly the same as reasonable wages must be paid to employees. If earnings are too low there will be no dividends and therefore no new investments and no extensions and no important betterments.

Remember that a company which is not prosperous cannot render good service nor extend its system to meet the demands of growing communities.
