Invitations from Corona and Lincoln were received. It was decided by vote to meet at Lincoln, Nov. 2 and 3.

We appreciate the hospitality accorded three years ago when this Association met at Lincoln, and look forward to this meeting with pleasure.

A great many of the state educators, Dr. F. H. H. Roberts of El Paso, Dr. A. D. Speaker of Roswell, and Dr. Mills of Las Vegas and other speakers have been invited to give addresses.

The program will be definitely arranged soon, copy of which will be mailed to all teachers in the County.

This is Constitution Week in the Good Old U. S. A.

PURPOSE OF THE CONSTITUTION.

"WE, THE PEOPLE of New Mexico, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of liberty, in order to secure the advantages of a state government, do ordain and establish this constitution."

"UNDER THE CONSTITUTION, we have prospered and developed; under the Constitution we have kept alive the watch fires of freedom, and have maintained the open door of liberty. Under the Constitution we have seen millions of people, self-governed, self-controlled, work out their destiny in ordered liberty. Under the Constitution we have worshipped God in accordance with conscience. I want it to abide; I want it to impel us onward."—Warren G. Harding.

"HE WHO LOOKS with pride upon this history which his fathers have written, who accepts with gratitude the inheritance they have bequeathed him and who resolves to preserve this inheritance unimpaired is a true American, be his birthplace or his parentage what it may."—Lyman Abbott.

The big sale at the Carrizozo Trading Company has been so successful that Mr. Lutz has decided to extend it for one more week, to give purchasers outside of the city a chance to avail themselves of the low prices on first-class, up-to-date goods, going at bed-rock prices. One more week of BARGAINS. See their announcement.

Highway Commissioner R. C. Sowder, E. H. Sweet, S. L. Northlane and Wm. Ferguson took a trip over the road between here and Socorro last Sunday on a tour of inspection. This is the highway on which the state has appropriated $5000 which will be spent to better its condition and the work will soon begin.

C. W. Tarbell, administrative assistant, first class, U.S.P.H.S. of the Leprosy station at Carlinville, Ill., is here on a tour of stock inspection for the different government institutions.

Sgt. Raymond G. Carleton, in charge of nine members of the N.C.O.S. Infantry from Fort Snelling, Minn., passed through here on No. 3 Thursday morning, enroute to Honolulu, where they will be transferred to the Hawaiian department.

Florencio Vega, ranchman, has leased his ranch seven miles east of here to R. C. Sowder for a period of one year. The lease includes all of the stock on the ranch. This will be added to the vast acreage Mr. Sowder has in this region ready for the incoming of fine stock from other points.

Mrs. Charles Joyce returned Monday from Kansas City, Mo., where she spent about ten days with her sister, who was ill, and whose improvement warranted her return.

The Japanese Relief Campaign.

As Vice Chairman of the Red Cross of Lincoln County I wish to thank those who helped to raise our quota for the Japanese earthquake sufferers. Our quota for this county was one hundred and fifty dollars. One hundred and eighty-nine dollars and forty-five cents have already been sent to headquarters with, perhaps, one more district to hear from. We have already gone over the top by about thirty percent. The fine thing about it is the readiness with which people subscribed. It proves that after all, the whole world is kin.

I wish to give special thanks and credit to the ladies and gentlemen who solicited the people of the county. When asked to help they responded most readily and cheerfully. The finest quality in the universe is the spirit of service and sacrifice. I also wish to thank Mr. Brickley for very valuable advice and assistance.

The ladies who solicited the funds are Mrs. Blaney, Mrs. Spencer and Mrs. Stadtman, of Carrizozo; Mrs. Burl Sears, of Capitan; Mrs. B. D. Garner, of Picacho. Mr. A. W. Varney solicited for Corona.

The amounts obtained were:
Carrizozo, $126.86
Corona, 25.00
Capitan, 25.59
Picacho, 10.00
Total, $189.45
E. E. Cole, Vice-Chairman

Notice to Nurses

The New Mexico State Board of Nurse Examiners will meet in Santa Fe, Nov. 21, 1923. A law enacted by the legislature provides for the compulsory registration of graduate nurses in this state. All nurses should make application for registration immediately to Mrs. W. C. Wilson, secretary, box 668, Albuquerque.

School Notes

(Supt. E. E. Cole)

The pupils are still coming in to the High School—two more this week. 19% of the Senior High School is made up of pupils from the outside of Carrizozo.

The Ginn & Co. Silent Flash Cards were very well explained by Mrs. Blaney at the teachers' meeting held last Wednesday. These cards will be used in the first six or seven grades of the schools.

"Dickey," the little canary in Mrs. French's room, "Makes Merry All the Day" and is a source of great pleasure to the children of the third grade.

The presentation of the "Winged Victory" occurred on Friday afternoon of this week. The presentation was by Grace Taylor of the Class of 1922. The acceptance on the part of the High School was by William Kahler, president of the Class of 1924. The "Winged Victory" is a very appropriate present as it stands for and strongly suggests effort, work, dig, grind, persistence, faithfulness to ideal and anything else that brings accomplishment. It is a beautiful piece of work and adds much to the artistic and classical appearance of the High School.

Friday afternoon, Sept. 7, at four o'clock, the Woman's Club of Carrizozo gave a reception to the teachers of the town at the home of Mrs. Ulrich. There was a large attendance and the teachers were delighted with the cordiality and good will shown by the ladies. The teachers of Carrizozo hope that the parents of their pupils will visit the schools often during the coming months. It will benefit the school, the parents and the teacher.

On Friday of last week the three upper classes of the High School gave a reception to the Freshmen, over twenty in number. Of course it was not in the nature of the usual reception. The "freshies" had a mysterious, dark and somewhat dangerous path to tread but they are all at school this week.

The School Board has had the fire escape on the High School building lined with a smooth metal. The slide is now in perfect working order. It is as good as a circus to see the faces of some of the pupils as they slide down the first time.

Okla. Editors Score Walton's Methods

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 20.—Editors of ten daily newspapers in Oklahoma have denounced Gov. Jack Walton's blanket martial law edict at a conference held here today. The issue in this state is not one of whether invisible or visible government shall survive, as declared by the governor, but one of whether constitutional or unconstitutional government shall be recognized, the editors said.

A pledge of legal assistance was made to any editor upon whom military censorship was forced.

"The governor's declaration is a libel against the state of Oklahoma," the editor's statement said.

"There have been no riots, insurrections or rebellions in any part of the state, nor have the civil authorities been defied or overthrown."

The Home Town Paper

When chores are done and stock is fed
And the wee little rascals are tucked in bed,
The kerosene lamp is adjusted just so
It throws a light with a soft yellow glow;
While my pipe is filled with the favorite brand—
And then somehow to get the news
The Home Town Paper I peruse.
From six in the mornin' till darkness comes,
We keep things movin' till they fairly hum!

Well, if I must say I'm fond of work,
The neighbors'll tell you I never shirk;
Yet I have my hours to while away
'Round about the close of day—
Then I like very well, if you must inquire
The Home Town Paper and a good hot fire.
The Joneses may come and the Browns
may go;
There may be new "fang-dangle" at
the show;
Here's a big ad 'bout the grocery store
Prices are comin' down more an' more;
Every column 's just plum' an' csm'ed
Well, if here ain't my name, I'll be damned,
That there editor feller in town,
His Old Home Paper is whos'er re-

HOLD QUEER JOBS

Woman Testifies She Pokes Fires for a Living.

London Firm Supplies Attendants for Dogs, While Good Conversationists Are Always in Demand.

The woman who stated in court recently that she earned a living by poking fires is only one of the many hundreds of people who follow occupations of which most folks have never heard.

This curious form of employment is common in big cities where Jews are numerous. By rabbinical law Jews are forbidden to mend or tend to any fires on their Sabbath. As many as 50 houses may be visited by these professional firemakers, who receive a small fee from each.

Strange as this may be, there are many stranger ways of making a living. For example, a good conversationist need never be "down and out." Some employment agencies are always on the lookout for interesting talkers to entertain insomnia victims at night. A sufferer from this complaint actually pays a retaining fee to a woman well known in the West End of London for her bright and vivacious conversation.

Just as little known is the work of men who take dogs for an airing. There is in London at least one firm which, at the shortest notice, supplies dog attendants, who may be called by women to take charge of their pets in the parks.

This strange "profession" is not such a sinecure as it would appear. Thefts of valuable dogs have been increasing very rapidly in recent times; and the thieves are very ingenious in their methods. So where valuable animals are taken for an airing only people who are up to the tricks of these pests can be entrusted with them.

Another little known way of earning a living is the work of the searchers at the British museum. These men are employed chiefly in looking up references dealing with heraldry, genealogy, and the history of ancestral mansions or of regiments—anything and everything indeed.

Many of the searchers have been employed in the queerest tasks imaginable. In one case a three years' quest produced evidence, found in the rolls of some ancient parchments, regarding the disputed ownership of a rich seam of coal in Yorkshire. This resulted in a gain of £37,000 for the man's employer.

It is not only in London that one finds queer trades; they abound in many parts of the country.—London Answers.

A Responsive Chord.

Betty Brown, the prettiest girl in the village, was blest with a father who snubbed all the young men who came to see her. One evening a bashful young man named Samuel Green called.

After the trio had sat together in silence for some time, the young man ventured to remark:

"It looks as though it might rain, sir."

"It's not going to rain," was Father Brown's gruff reply.

For nearly half an hour there was complete silence. Finally the old man's curiosity got the better of him.

"Who are you?" he growled.

"Samuel Green," was the response.

"What? Not old Tom Green's son?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, then," exclaimed the father, thawing, "it may rain, it may rain!"—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Saved Embroidery.

She was comely and a widow. She mourned MacIntyre, her late husband, for 18 months, and then from a crowd of suitors chose honest, homely MacIntyre for her second.

"I'm no' guld enough for ye, dear!" he whispered. "What for did ye choose me oot o' sae many?"

"Aw, weel, ye see, your name's MacIntyre."

"Yes, but—" began the bewildered suitor.

"An' ye ken," finished the widow, "all my linen's marked 'MacI'—that's why, Donald."

Wonderful Earrings.

Lost Ring Oddly Found.

A Boston woman lost a ring highly prized as an heirloom. She searched diligently for it and offered a reward for its return. A few days later she was eating some cookies she had made and, to her joy and surprise, found that a particularly hard substance she bit into was her lost ring.

Graduate Nurse Finds "The Perfect Remedy"

"From my long experience as a professional nurse, I do not hesitate to say Tanlac is nature's most perfect remedy," is the far-reaching statement given out for publication, recently, by Mrs. I. A. Borden, 423 Pontius Ave., Seattle, Wash., a graduate of the National Temperance Hospital, Chicago.

"I have used Tanlac exclusively for seven years in the treatment of my charity patients," said Mrs. Borden, "and my experience has been that for keeping the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels functioning properly, and for toning up the system in general, it has no equal.

"About a year ago I had a lady patient who could not keep a thing on her stomach, not even water. I prevailed on her to try Tanlac and after the sixth bottle she could eat absolutely anything she wanted without the slightest bad after-effects.

"I had another patient who simply could not eat. I got him started on Tanlac and by the time he finished three bottles he was eating ravenously and able to work.

"These two instances are typical of the wonderful merits of the medicine. My confidence in Tanlac is unlimited." Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists.

He Hears Old Hats.

"The majority of us have some certain article of wear which we just naturally hate to discard," said the hat store customer. "One of mine is hats. No matter how old or battered it may become, I can't bear to toss a hat into the discard, and the result is that in the attic at home I have a wonderful collection that goes back almost twenty years. Sometimes, usually at house-cleaning time, the wife gets into the garret, and then there is a family jar, which ends in the disappearance of some of the hats, but not all. My wife can't understand why I hang on to the hats any more than I can understand why she treasures a switch that was made twenty years ago from her own 'combs,' before her hair was gray."

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

Edible Oil From Egyptian Plant.

A plant belonging to the lettuce family, now cultivated in Upper Egypt and which can be grown with profit in certain parts of the Sudan, is a new source of edible oil. The seed yields under pressure from 37 to 38 per cent of oil and certain specimens of fresh seed from the Sudan, which contained less than 4 per cent of water, yielded more than 44 per cent. The oil is odorless, of a light yellow color and without disagreeable taste. The seed is so small that it cannot be handled with ordinary equipment, but the oil product is so valuable that new machinery will no doubt be built to do the work.

Smoking the peace pipe in wartime

A late report from an A. E. F. veteran who found a can of tobacco in his soldier mail

It was during the thick of things in France that Gen. Perahing sent the following frantic cable to Washington

"Tobacco is as necessary as food. Send a thousand tons at once."

As any ex-doughboy will tell you, a thousand tons of tobacco distributed over a fighting force of 3,000,000 men showed good intentions, but it didn't fill the need—not by a few million pipefuls.

Even today letters still come in from veterans who have forgotten the horrors of war and remember only the thrill of "a real American smoke" in France.

For one, Hugh Livingstone, Adjutant of Yankee Division Post, No. 272, V.F.W., remembers:

Providence, R. I. Larus & Brother Co., Richmond, Va.

My introduction to Edgeworth took place over in the training area in France under circumstances that left a lasting impression of the good qualities of Edgeworth.

One night, after a hard day's work, my bunkie drew a package from some one of those mysterious affairs that might contain everything but what you wanted. After due ceremony of guessing he opened it and the first thing we saw was the blue box of Edgeworth. All further operations ceased until we filled the pipes. After using the French leaves for several weeks and burning our mouths and throats to a raw state you can imagine how cool and satisfying that Edgeworth tasted to us.

We smoked until we were ordered to bed, and I fell asleep smoking. You can just bet a letter went home for more Edgeworth.

Since that time I have used about every kind of tobacco that is put up, but it is Edgeworth for me when I can get it. Thank you for putting such a satisfying and cool tobacco on the market.

Gratefully yours, (Signed) Hugh Livingstone.

Probably any good American smoking tobacco would have brought the same joy to Mr. Livingstone and his bunkie in France.

But it is a fact that when Edgeworth makes a friend, more often than not it is a lifetime affair. Edgeworth's one great asset for most smokers is that it is always the same. You can buy a package in Chicago, another in New Orleans, another in San Francisco, and each package will give you the same cool, satisfying smoke.

If you are not an Edgeworth smoker, you are cordially invited to accept some free samples of both Edgeworth Plug Slips and Ready-Rubbed.

Just drop a postcard with your name and address to Larus & Brother Company, 75 South 21st Street, Richmond, Va., and the free samples will be forwarded to you immediately. If you will also include the name and address of your tobacco dealer, your courtesy will be appreciated.

To Retail Tobacco Merchants: If your jobber cannot supply you with Edgeworth, Larus & Brother Company will gladly send you prepaid by parcel post a one- or two-ounce carton of any size of Edgeworth Plug Slips or Ready-Rubbed for the same price you would pay the jobber.

Consolidated Schools and Good Roads.

The "little red schoolhouse," good as it is, is not as good as the "big red schoolhouse." States which have experimented in rural districts with the "consolidated" schools (sometimes called "centralized schools" or "union schools") report a great gain in education at little or no increase of cost. The "consolidated school" takes the place of half a dozen or more "little red schoolhouses," collects the several teachers, libraries and facilities under one roof, and brings the children to and takes them from such schools via county operated motor buses, horse drawn vehicles or trolley cars.

The "consolidated school" flourishes where good roads are. It cannot be established where are only poor roads.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction in the State of Washington sets forth as the advantages of the consolidated school, that it provides a better school plant, i. e., makes possible the erection and maintenance of more modern school buildings and school equipment. It enables the district to increase the teaching staff and to obtain better trained teachers, and gives to the rural community the advantages of the uniform graded school. It makes possible the establishment of high school courses, and, in many instances, enables the rural district to erect a modern high school building. It provides special work, such as manual training, domestic science, etc., in the rural community, and, finally, the consolidated school increases community interest in community activities by providing a central meeting place under attractive surroundings, making the school the center of the community circle.

EVEN ISOLATED FARMS MAY HAVE ELECTRICITY

Electrical engineers declare that no home, no matter how far removed from cities, need be without the cheery brightness and the decorative charm of electric lights. In all places where a public utility lighting and power company has its lines of transmission wires, the house simply needs to be properly wired.

Farm houses that are isolated are in many places installing their own electric light and power plants. These are entirely self contained. A small gasoline engine furnishes power for an electric generator which produces the electric energy not only for lighting the house, but for running a pump for the water system and power for many of the farm machines.

These farm light and power sets are so comparatively simple that cases are on record of where women have run them and taken care of them without assistance.

By means of these, electricity can be brought into any home that is out of reach of the lines of the electric light and power companies.

Electric Whip—For the Kitchen
The electric whip has also arrived. Calm yourself—this isn't a refinement on the sod that must be used if the child is not to be spoiled. It's an egg beater, motor driven, and it's said to be capable of beating the wildest eggs, cream, batter or dressing.

Some Facts About
Studebaker Cars

With four months remaining in 1923, the Studebaker Corporation has already surpassed its entire production for 1922, according to a report just received from the Studebaker factory by Sears Bros., Studebaker dealers of Capitan. Production for the first eight months of 1923 was 110,540 cars as compared with 109,222 for the full calendar year of 1922.

August production was 15,700 cars,
and broke all previous records. Production for the first eight months of 1923 was more than 32,000 in excess of the first eight months of last year.
Sales are expected to exceed 150,000 cars this year against 110,269 last year.
All plants are running at capacity to meet the continuous, large demand for Studebaker cars from all sections of the country.

Buildings are now under construction
at South Bend, Ind., which will increase Studebaker manufacturing facilities still further in order to meet more adequately the insistent demand for Studebaker cars. Work on these new additions, requiring an investment of $6,000,000, is progressing rapidly. The new six-story building, now nearing its completion, contains 480,000 square feet of floor space.

Shipping will be facilitated by a new four-story building and a train shed which is being added to the present facilities. The mammoth new foundry, alone costing $2,500,000, will measure
722 by 683 feet and is now under way.
When finished this will be the largest grey iron foundry in the automotive industry.

PIG'S POETRY

"We might as well make the best of it," said Miss Ham. "Squeal, squeal, we might as well make the best of it."

"What should we make the best of?" asked Grandfather Porky Pig. "Tell us, Miss Ham, grunt, grunt, tell us, Cousin Ham."

"Yes, tell us, squeal, squeal, tell us, Miss Ham," said Brother Bacon. "Grunt, grunt, tell us, Miss Ham," urged Sammy Sausage.

"Please tell us," said Sir Percival Pork. "Grunt, grunt, please tell us, Miss Ham."

"Yes, squeal, squeal, please tell us, Miss Ham," said Sir Benjamin Bacon. "We want to know, grunt, grunt, we want to know," said Mrs. Pink Pig.

"Yes, and you must tell us, squeal, squeal," said Mrs. Pinky Pig. "You surely must, grunt, grunt," said Pinky Pig's mother, and Pinky Pig said:

"Squeal, squeal, we want to know." "Well, grunt, grunt," said Miss Ham, "you don't give me a chance to tell you, you grunt and squeal and won't give me a moment in which to tell you anything."

"Squeal, squeal," said Brother Bacon, "we will give you all the moments you want, if you will only not ask us for food. I do not mind, however, if you ask the others for food, but do not ask it of me."

"Ask me for moments if you will and I will give you all the moments you want."

"How absurd you are," said Grandfather Porky Pig. "Why, I would not even bother to say that I didn't want to be asked for food."

"She could ask me if she wished. That wouldn't mean that I'd have to give it to her."

"That wouldn't mean anything of the sort."

"Oh, yes, I understand," said Miss Ham. "But I must tell you what we've got to make the best of and that is that we've finished dinner and can't find anything in the Pig Pen, so that it looks as though we'd not have anything more to eat until supper time."

"That's no news to us," said Grandfather Porky, "and to think that you got us so excited about such a horrible thing that was not worth getting excited about."

"Grandfather Porky is right," the other pigs grunted. "Grandfather Porky is right."

"Oh, very well," said Miss Ham. "But I was going to suggest that as long as we couldn't eat and had to make the best of it we might make up some poetry."

"What?" grunted all the pigs in amazement.

"Yes," said Miss Ham. "Pig poetry would be lively, I'm sure, and it could go down to fame."

"We don't know about it going down to fame," said Sammy Sausage, "but it would doubtless go down into the mud along with our snouts."

"Well," said Miss Ham, "as you're all so foolish, I will show that I am superior and I will make up a poem. Here it is:

I'm a pig,
I don't dance the jig
I am not so neat,
But I do love to eat
And food I will greet
And consider it "I Am Superior." Sweet

"Queer sort of poetry," grunted Brother Bacon, "but it only goes to show that pig poetry cannot amount to much, so there isn't any use in trying to make poems."

"Correct," squealed the other pigs. "Correct!"

Parking Space Needed. Fred was five years old, and his mother was making him some new suits.

"I wish you'd make me some regular pants, that aren't hooked onto the shirt, and that have pockets and everything," Fred complained.

"But you're too little for that kind of pants yet," his mother protested. "And, anyway, you don't need any pockets. What would you do with pockets if you had them?"

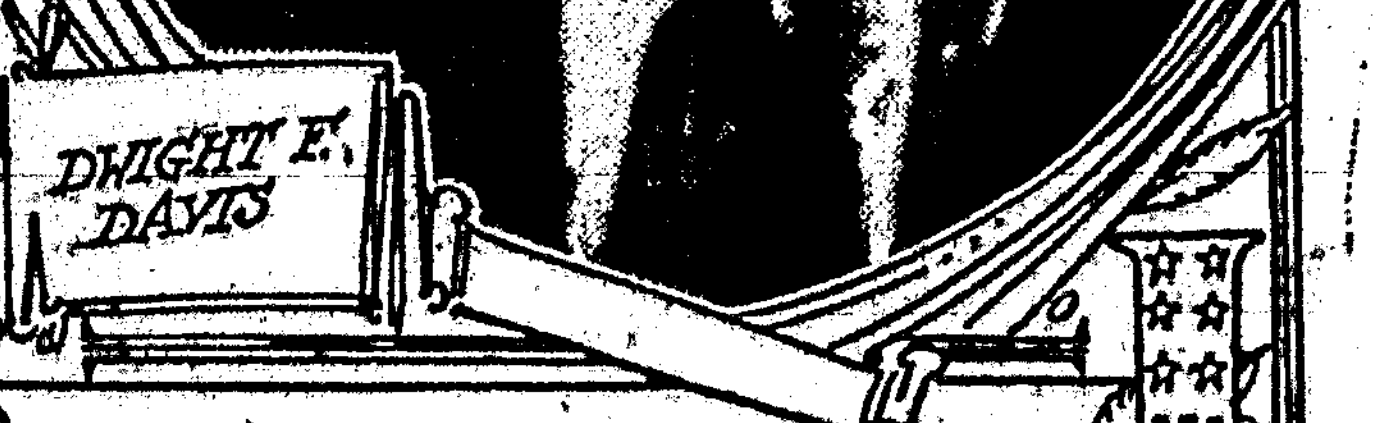

"Well," he replied, "I think I'm just naturally getting big enough to have a place to park my hands."

And These Centipedes. "How old is your little brother, Johnny?" inquired Willie.

"Just a year old," replied Johnny.

"Huh. I've got a dog just a year old, and he can walk twice as well as your brother."

"He ought to, he's got twice as many legs."

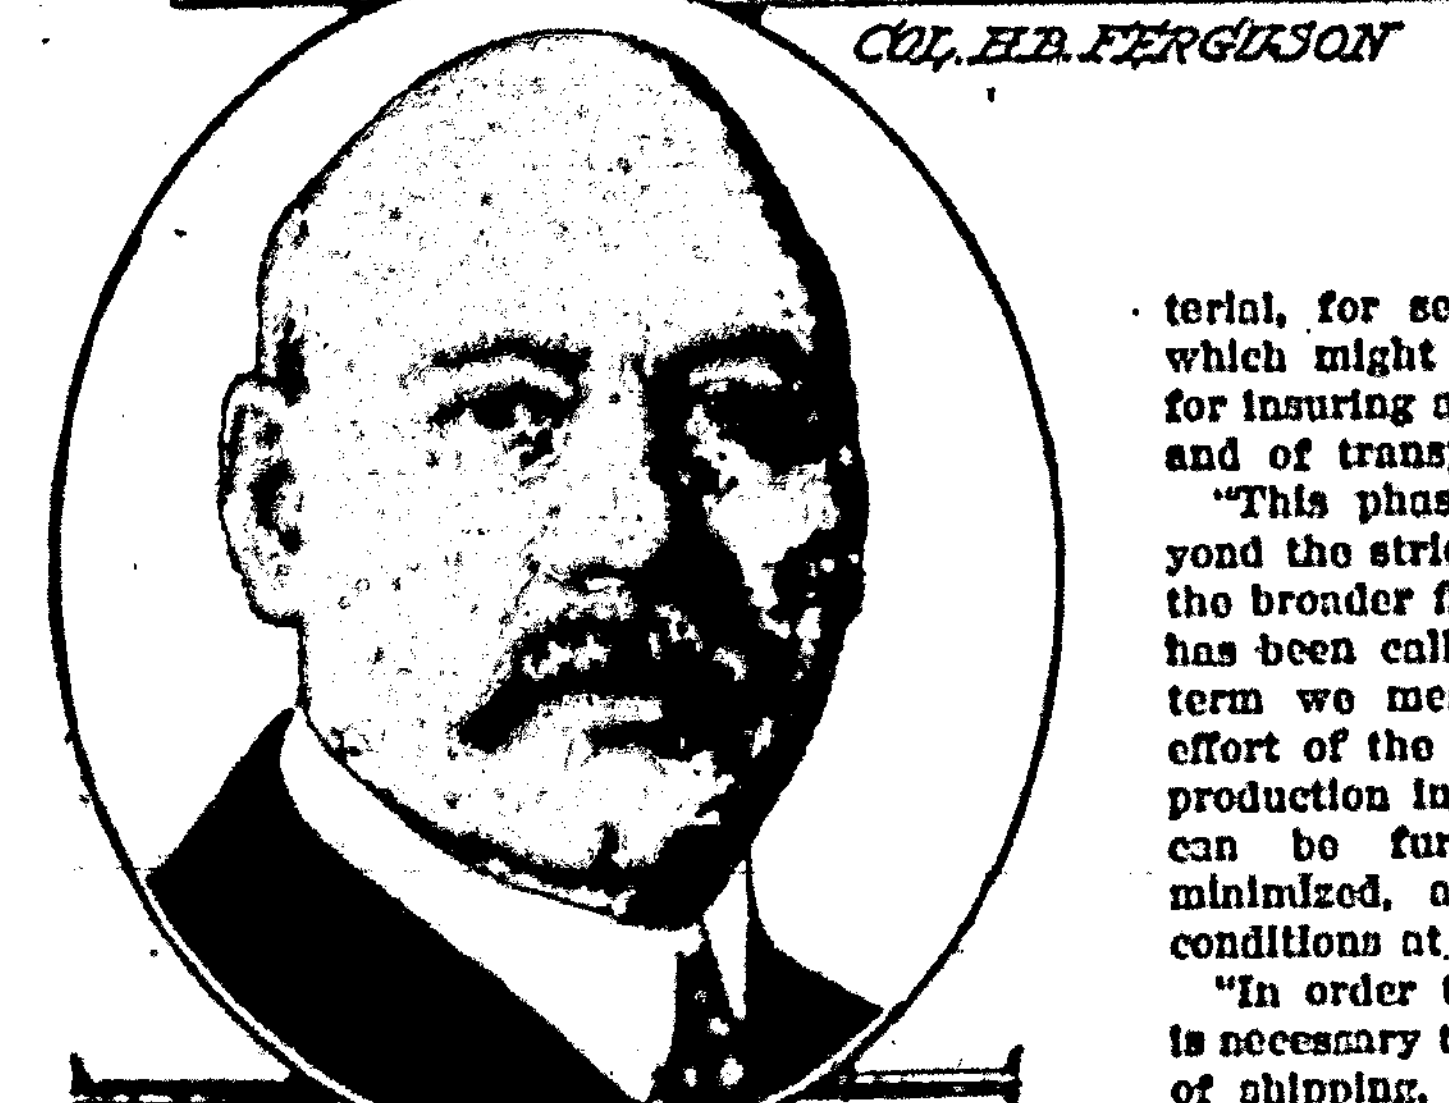

PLANS OF WAR DEPARTMENT UNDER NATIONAL DEFENSE ACT

COL. H.B. FERGUSON

GENERAL PERSHING

SECRETARY WEEKS

material, for securing the necessary raw materials which might become critical in time of war, and for insuring an adequate supply of labor, of power, and of transportation facilities.

This phase of procurement planning goes beyond the strictly military features and merges into the broader field, which for want of a better term has been called "Industrial Mobilization."

The following indicates the steps which have been taken in working out a plan for the procurement of supplies for the War department in time of war.

Capital—Finance—Manufacturers to whom war contracts have been allocated. Prevent profiteering. Stabilize prices in time of war.

Facilities—Equalize the war load so that industries are neither overworked nor made inactive. Determine what industries are less essential and provide for them in time of war.

Raw materials—Provide for a constant flow of raw materials. Provide for their equitable distribution for the benefit of the nation.

Transportation—Maintain railroads and rolling stock in good condition. Obtain maximum efficiency in the use of rolling stock.

Power—Prevent overloading of districts, to meet increased demands. Utilize power most economically.

Labor—Provide machinery for the settlement of industrial disputes in time of war. Insure a proper distribution of labor. Prevent the assumed necessities of industry becoming a haven for "slackers."

Standards—Standardize specifications for supplies wherever practicable. This has been done by adopting, as far as possible, commercial standards.

Plans for procurement do not stop with the determination of the finished article, but the War department must go further and plan for the procurement of machines for the making of its ma-

In the fall of 1918 the war was costing the United States $2,000,000 an hour. Planning in peace for war means not only the saving the life-blood of our youth, but every hour we can shorten such a conflict means $2,000,000 removed from the shoulders of the taxpayers.

Under the recent mobilization plan the Quartermaster corps has figured that the cost of all harness, pack and saddle equipment, which practically includes all the leather requirements of the army, will cost at current prices approximately sixty million dollars. During the World War for lack of plans there was spent for these same items three hundred million dollars.

By JOHN DICKINSON SHERMAN
THE World war demonstrated the man-power of America and confirmed the traditional prowess of the American soldier. The World war also demonstrated America's material unpreparedness and left this problem for the American people to solve.

In a lecture before the Army War college January 20, 1923, Assistant Secretary Wainwright said:

"It is not in a spirit of egotism, but rather a report of my stewardship when I say that I am certain that more has been accomplished in the past eighteen months looking to industrial preparedness than has ever been accomplished before in the history of the War department."

Dwight Filley Davis of St. Louis succeeded Representative-elect Wainwright as assistant secretary of war. He was born in St. Louis in 1879. He got his A. B. from Harvard in 1900 and his LL. D. from Washington university in 1903.

He was cited in General Orders No. 81, Headquarters, Thirty-fifth Division, dated October 11, 1915, and in Citation Orders No. 1, General Headquarters, June 3, 1919, "for carrying out the orders of his brigade commander in a manner utterly devoid of fear under the most intense artillery and machine gun fire."

Col. H. B. Ferguson is director of procurement. He has seen much service in many lands. He was born in North Carolina in 1875 and is a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy (1897), Army Staff college (1906) and Army War college (1912).

General Pershing was in command of the American Expeditionary Force in France during the World War. He was born in Missouri in 1858 and served in the regular army from 1878 to 1917.
