CARRIZOZO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, MAY 25, 1923

PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

Hewitt and Kahler Honored

Albuquerque, May 20.—The fortieth annual meeting of the department of New Mexico, Grand Army of the Republic, came to a close with the election of officers and a dinner served by the members of the Women's Relief corps. The officers of the department elected for the coming year are: B. A. Jones, Albuquerque, department commander; John C. Hull, Santa Fe, senior vice commander; William Kahler, Carrizozo, junior vice commander; E. S. Stover, Albuquerque, medical director and patriotic instructor (two offices); Z. H. Bliss, Albuquerque, department chaplain, and J. G. Caldwell, Albuquerque, assistant adjutant general.

John Y. Hewitt of White Oaks, was elected one of the members to the council of administration of the department.

Of Such is the Kingdom

Notwithstanding fond hopes of parents and friends of an improvement in the condition of little Thompson Kelley, age 5 years, beloved son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Kelley, his condition changed for the worse on Tuesday evening and at 9:55 the spirit took its flight. As has heretofore been mentioned in these columns, he was the victim of a second attack of pneumonia within the past two months, but after a visit to El Paso, where an XRay examination was held and medical advice was given which carried hopes of his recovery, the parents came home with happy expectations which only loving hearts can experience, only to have them shattered by the sadness of his passing in the unexpected manner.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. T. M. Blacklock at the Baptist Church of which Mrs. Kelley was a member at the hour of 3:30 Wednesday afternoon, attended by a throng of sympathizers so large that space in the church would not accommodate them and many stood on the outside until the services were over. A quartet of ladies sang several beautiful selections and the pallbearers were: Albert Rogers, William Kahler, Mack Shaver, Miller French and David Saunders. The remains were interred in the local cemetery. As clouds hang heavy where loving hearts are bowed down with sorrow, the sympathy of the entire community goes out to them. The following poem composed by Rev. T. M. Blacklock was sung for the first time in public by the ladies' quartet:

JESUS CALLS THE CHILDREN
(Tune, Jesus Calls Us)

By T. M. Blacklock.

Jesus calls our little children
From this world of death and strife,
From our homes we hear Him calling
Saying, children come to life.

Jesus calls their little spirits
From their earthly house of clay
To His happy, heavenly mansions
To the bright eternal day.

Jesus calls them as his jewels
Yes, He calls them to His breast,
Calls them from this world of sorrow,
Saying, enter into rest.

Jesus calls for us to meet them
On the blest eternal shore,
Where no death shall ever part us
And we'll live forever more.

Mrs. M. F. Wells of El Paso is visiting her son Gordon at White Oaks and was a guest of Mrs. A. H. Harvey on Tuesday.

Sixty Years of Memories

Memorial Day is chosen as the time of remembrance for those who fought and fell in the service of their country. It has been set aside for more than half a century as the time to honor those who gave their lives or offered them in the Civil War.

The American nation turned the tide in the World War—but how did America come to be a nation? Through the blood and sufferings of the men who went out from '61 to '65 to fight for an idea. Had the land been divided between North and South then, a further division between East and West might well have been the next step and after that—who can say? Instead of being an example of the strength and prosperity which go with union, America should have been little more than a second and weaker Europe, unable and probably unwilling to take a decisive part in the contest that decided the fate of the world.

The poppies of Flanders fields bloom in triumph now because the boys marched sixty years ago. They are boys no longer. Beards are white and steps are slow, the blue line is short and thin and broken by many gaps; in a few more years, it will be a memory. But while freedom lasts, it will be a sacred memory, far in saying the unity of a nation those lads saved the liberties of a world.

On another page of this issue of The Outlook there appears an article prepared especially for The Outlook in observance of Memorial Day.

Carrizozo Woman's Club

On last Friday evening, the basket ball team of the Carrizozo high school, with its director, Mrs. T. R. Spencer, were honored guests of the Carrizozo Woman's Club when, with appropriate remarks, the president Mrs. Geo. L. Ulrich, presented each with a token of appreciation of their success in winning the championship of the southwest during the last season, thereby meriting the beautiful loving-cup so much admired by all.

The Woman's Club, from the depths of mother-love, rejoices in every success of our young people. Mrs. Spencer introduced the girls in their respective positions on the team. Following is the musical program of the evening, directed by chairman of the music department, Mrs. Albert Ziegler: Piano solo, "Me Feresita Valse," (Carreno) Mrs. B. S. Burns; vocal solo, "If Winter Comes" (Terment) Miss Carolyn Roberts; reading, "The Farmer and the Wheel" Mrs. M. L. Blaney; piano solo, "Pierette" (Ghaminuch) Miss Belle Lutz; violin solo, "Palm Branches" R. C. Pitts; piano solo, "Valse Arabesque" (T. Lack) Mrs. Albert Ziegler; vocal solo, "In the Garden of My Heart" (Ball) Mrs. E. D. Boone; violin solo, "Simple Avenu" (Thome) R. C. Pitts; piano solo, "March Grottesque" (Sinding) Mrs. J. H. Mims. Accompanists, Miss Lorena Sager and Mrs. Albert Ziegler.

Thanks

We appreciate more than we can ever express the sympathy, kindness and floral offerings from our friends at the death of our darling son and brother, You did what you could to relieve our sorrow, and we thank you.

T. E. Kelley,
Mrs. Kelley,
Ruth Kelley.

Gone to his Reward

Following the information in our last issue from Secretary Stone of the local lodge of I. O. O. F. of Artesia to the effect that James Roselle's death was hourly expected, came the notice of his demise on Saturday morning May 19 at 10 o'clock. The funeral arrangements were made for Sunday and a party of twelve, eight of whom were members of Carrizozo Lodge No. 30 I. O. O. F. and four from Carrizozo Lodge No. 41 A. F. & A. M., motored over to Artesia, leaving here Saturday evening so as to be present on Sunday morning for the funeral, the same being held at the local cemetery at Artesia and conducted by the Masonic lodge of Carrizozo, with Worshipful Master D. A. Saunders performing the rites.

Preceding the sacred rites Rev. Coffey of the Christian Church and also a member of the Masonic and Odd Fellow fraternities, spoke in glowing terms of the unblemished character of the deceased, stating among other things, that he had known the Roselle family for many years, they having been intimate friends of his in the early days in the state of Missouri. Rev. Coffey's remarks were followed by the Masonic rites after which all that was mortal of James Roselle was lowered to its last resting place.

Of James Roselle, much can be said all of which was for good. His devotion to right; his patriotism; his fidelity to his religion and to his fraternal relations with his brother man. He was born in Sturgeon, Mo., March 8, 1891, and moved with his father and brother to Broken Arrow, Okla., where he finished school and entered the county treasurer's office as clerk, afterwards being employed by one of the banks at Tulsa, and came to Carrizozo in 1912. At the beginning of the World War, he was one of the first to enlist from this county. After enlistment, he was sent to Kelley Field, where, after some training, he was assigned to overseas service in the 103rd Squadron of the noted LaFayette Escadrille, where he distinguished himself to the extent that on his return to this country, he was one of the selected few whom the government placed in charge of conducting the Victory Loan, flying at different places for the purpose of furthering the cause. In the war overseas, he was closely connected with other flyers in the danger zone, but at no time did he suffer injury of any kind.

On his return home, he became a member of Benjamin I. Berry Post American Legion at Carrizozo of which he was still a member at the time of his death. To his surviving relatives, the Outlook extends its deepest sympathy. To the citizens of Artesia who performed acts of kindness and assisted the family in ministering to his wants, we extend our gratitude, but to all such kind words, acts and deeds, which were "Smiles of God," were nobly and worthily bestowed. To quote the words of Rev. Coffey at the grave, "He was not a stranger to patriotism, religion, fraternalism, nor brotherly love." These noble and holy traits of true American manhood, made him a model citizen and a glowing example. He rests.—So mote it be.

J. B. Dinwiddle, who has been ill of late, has now recovered and attending to business.

Commencement Exercises

The Commencement exercises of the Lincoln County High School began with the Baccalaureate sermon delivered by Rev. J. N. Thompson on the subject "The Victorious Life." It was an eloquent address ably handled and filled with real sound philosophy. The Junior Class Graduation exercises were held in the church building on the following Thursday morning. The church was decorated with class colors and wild flowers; the class of thirteen boys and girls, each wearing the class flower, marched into the church with the sweet strains of music rendered by Miss Hancock, and took their place on the rostrum. Several songs were sung by the audience which were followed by a solo by Miss Stella Wyatt, which made its impression upon the young minds. Then followed the address by Prof. Bennett of Lincoln who gave a masterful address to the class, outlining their program and warning them of the imminent dangers along Life's Pathway. After a brief address by Supt. W. J. Klopp the diplomas were presented and the crowded house moved in one mass to the front to offer congratulations to the young class. This was no doubt one of the largest classes ever graduated from the Eighth grade.

Friday night occurred the Senior Class Graduation exercises. This was an eventful night for more than one reason. First, because the class was honored by the presence of Mrs. Annie Henderson who received the diploma after having served in the teaching profession in several States for about twenty years and has been a faithful student of the educational problems of this state, receiving many credits above the high school from accredited schools thus entitling her to receive a diploma from an accredited school. Secondly, the presence of Dr. H. H. Roberts and Senator Brickley added to the success of the occasion. Dr. Roberts being an educator of this state and now of Texas, a man of wide experience, learned, and surrounded by a host of witnesses, gave an impressive address upon the subject of "Friendship." Senator Brickley, in his usual pleasing manner, offered genuine advice to the graduates and then presented the diplomas.

The program was opened by a beautiful duet by Miss Wyatt and Miss Peters which was followed by the Valedictory Oration by Edward Carroll Deason on the subject, "Out of School Life Into Life's School." Charles William Evans delivered the Salutatorian address upon the subject, "What is Success?" Dr. Peters delivered the address upon the subject, "The Value of a True Education." The orations were well prepared and well delivered. These orations were then followed by another duet by Misses Wyatt and Peters and then by the address of Dr. Roberts and the presentation of diplomas by Senator Brickley. The following received diplomas: Edward Carroll Deason, Charles William Evans, Dr. Ella Peters, Susie Bennett and Annie Henderson.

The two girls of the class are planning to teach a year preparatory to entering college; two of the boys will enter college this fall. Edgar Deason will enter the University of Southern California with Supt. Klopp this fall where Mr. Klopp has accepted a fellowship for a year and where he expects to receive his doctor of science degree.

Rush Will Soon Begin

What is known among railroad men as "the cantaloupe rush" will soon begin. The first trainload will leave the Imperial Valley on May 28, after which, from six to eight trains a day will pass over the E. P. & S. W., which will mean, from 300 to 500 cars containing cantaloupes alone. The rush of business will last until the middle of July. The reason for so much of this product coming over our line is, that the Southern Pacific being the only line running into the Imperial Valley, it makes better and more convenient connections with the E. P. & S. W. at El Paso and quicker time through to eastern points. The boys are lining up and preparing for the rush which means, "mucho dinero," if only for a short spell.

Entertained in Cloudland

A number of friends of Mrs. Roy Hamilton of Battle Creek, Mich., daughter of Dr. E. E. Cole, Supt. of the Carrizozo schools, who is about to leave for her home, entertained in her honor at a picnic at the Eagle Creek Club House last Sunday. A pleasant day was experienced by all. Those of the party were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Sager, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ziegler, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. French and son, Miller, Mrs. W. C. McDonald, Mrs. Geo. L. Ulrich, Mrs. Roy Hamilton and daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Gumm and son, Dean, Mrs. B. L. Sfmuel and daughter Lorene, Misses Lorena Sager and Minnie B. Wahl. Refreshments were served at the lodge.

Entertained Champions

Last Friday afternoon at the Carrizozo Eating House, Mrs. Truman Spencer entertained at a five-course luncheon in honor of the Carrizozo high school Girls' Basket ball team in recognition and appreciation of their winning the championship of the southwest, at the tournament in Roswell on Feb. 24, 1923. Table decorations were artistically arranged in colors purple and gold, in the midst of which rested the beautiful loving-cup which had been received the day before this event and which was the prize won by our girls at the tournament. The favors were small basket balls containing dainties of different kinds.

After the luncheon, the guests were ushered into the hotel parlors where they were treated to a concert by an orchestra which was making a short stop-over on its way east, after filling an engagement at the Golden Jubilee in El Paso. The members of the team in whose honor Mrs. Spencer entertained, are: Jeanette and Ethel Johnson, Lois Jones, Beulah Burr, Ada Corn, Charlotte Elliott, Jesse Rustin.

11 to 3

Last Sunday on the local ball grounds, Carrizozo defeated Fort Stanton by a score of 11 to 3. Next Sunday the boys will play with the Vaughn team and a lively contest is assured. Come and "root" for the home team. Vaughn has a strong team and the contest will be close and exciting. Several games are scheduled for the future.

P. N. Bennett and J. M. Penfield of Lincoln were here on Tuesday, attending a meeting of the county school board.

Captain Yerex's Explanation

About ten days ago, this office received a message from Captain Yerex's manager, Mr. Ortel at Roswell, that the "English Ace" and also "Diavolo" would fly here and take up passengers. He ordered the hand bills printed and distributed, which work we performed, but the flyers failed to come. On Wednesday of this week, we received the following letter from the Captain which is self explanatory:

Santa Fe, N. M.
May 21, 1923.

Editor Outlook,
Carrizozo, N. M.,
Dear Sir:

Your letter of May 12 received. I wish to state that we regret very much that we were unable to reach your city as we had intended. The high winds on the day previous made a change in our plans necessary. I wish to thank you for handling our business advertising for us and I am very sorry that I did not communicate with you sooner. We may be able to visit your city later in the year, as we expect to be down in the southern part of the state in the fall.

Sincerely yours,
Lowell Yerex.

Home Owners vs. Race Suicide

Periodically we read something about race suicide in this or other countries. The latest statement in our own United States that apartment house life will be the cause of decrease in our own population. There is no question about that for the average apartment allows only dogs, no children.

The remedy is to urge our people to move out of the congested districts and build themselves little homes on the abundance of cheap residential property that surrounds all of our great cities. This would accomplish two results: first, a home owner makes a better citizen because he has an interest in our government and becomes more financially independent than a rent payer; second, it would help to hold down and maybe reduce the inflated values for a large number of apartment house property and rents. The average apartment house rent of from $75 to $150 a month would soon pay for a fine home for the family.

An honest architect and contractor can put you up a home cheaper today in proportion to your income than would have been possible in 1913. Don't let the high rent artists scare you about building. They build and are making money off of you. You can build and pay back that money to yourself and at the end of ten years a valuable asset instead of some worthless rent receipts.

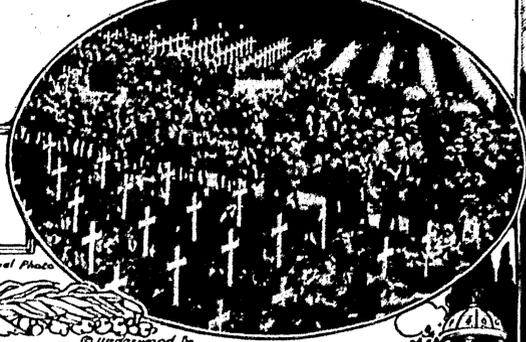

Miss Geraldine DuBois, daughter of T. M. DuBois, prominent stockman of Corona will arrive home in about ten days from the New Mexico Teachers' College, where she is being graduated from the high school department of that institution, taking a prominent part in the commencement exercises. The summer school starts on June 5 and several teachers of this vicinity will attend.

Keep the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen's Big "Double Header" in mind.—June 2 is the date. "Jerry, go oil the car."

TO THE SAILOR DEAD! Underwood & Lindbergh

Sleep on proud heroes of America's wars, wherever you may lie. The light you have made has been a blessing to mankind, and Americans in America see in a new light the tower of Liberty that now faintly illumines the darkest recesses of the world. Your lives have not been given in vain. We weep because you are our kin, but we are proud that you so nobly fought and so nobly died and rejoice that you are in God's keeping. Representative Charles Pope Caldwell of New York.

By JOHN DICKINSON SHERMAN
SPIRIT OF Memorial Day, 1923!

We all know the purpose of Memorial day. We Americans assemble to commemorate our Nation's soldier dead—to express our love and gratitude for their service and devotion by strewing flowers on their final resting places, by recounting their deeds of valor and patriotism by seeking new and deeper understanding of this national holiday, sacred, sanctified, glorified.

In one way it is a day of celebration, of hero worship unattained and unashamed. We won our independence by fighting for it. We are not a warlike nation, but we are a fighting nation. There is no fighting man like the American fighting man. The Star Spangled Banner has never been lowered in defeat. So we celebrate the deeds of our fighting men.

But we do not assemble to awaken bitter memories of battle and slaughter. We do not meet to rekindle the vengeful fires of hate and passion. We do not gather to exult over the defeated. We do not come together to glorify war or to exalt militarism. We meet rather to dedicate anew the power and wealth and strength of the nation to liberty, humanity and justice.

Sea fights and land fights grim and great,
Fought to make and to save the state,
Wear marches and sinking ships,
Cheers of victory on dying lips,
Days of plenty and days of peace,
March of a strong land a swift increase;
Equal justice, right and law,
Blatantly honor and reverent awe,
Sign of a nation great and strong,
To ward her people from foreign wrong,
Pride and glory and honor—all
Live in the colors to stand or fall.

This is part of what Memorial day means to the good American.

Too far away are Flanders fields
Upon his grave to lay
My roses and forget-me-nots,
My rosemary and bay,
A scarlet poppy on my breast
Will speak Memorial day!

Many a poppy will be worn in America on Memorial day. There are eight national cemeteries in Europe, six of which are in France, one in Belgium, and one in England. There are 30,587 bodies at present in Europe, distributed as follows:

Meuse-Arsonne American cemetery, No. 1232; Romagne-sous-Montfaucon (Meuse), France, 13,033. Unknown, 483.
St. Mihiel American cemetery, No. 1233; Thiaucourt, Meurthe-et-Moselle, France, 4,231. Unknown, 167.
Somme American cemetery, No. 030; Bony, Alsace, France, 1,830. Unknown, 154.
Oise-Atene American cemetery, No. 008; Seringues-et-Neules, Alsace, France, 0,071. Unknown 633.

Alsace-Marne American cemetery, No. 1704; Belleau, Alsace, France, 2,220. Unknown, 224.
Bureaux American cemetery, No. 34; Suresnes, Paris, France, 1,497. Unknown, 2.
Flanders Field American cemetery, No. 1232; Waerghem, Belgium, 353. Unknown, 29.
Brookwood American cemetery, No. 107-E; Brookwood, Surrey, England, 453. Unknown, 66.

Many of these American graves overgrown—perhaps all—will be strewn with flowers. American initiatives will do much. Admiring and grateful hearts will take many a Frenchman, Belgian and Briton to these graves with blossoms. It will be long before Europe forgets the American fighting men. Who won the war? Never mind; there is glory enough for all. Just the same the American doughboy left his impress. France may be irritated with America just now, but French mothers are still telling their children of the great savior of the Americans, of their tender care of the young, of their kindness to the aged and infirm, of their jumping over the barbed wire entanglements and jumping the trenches and storming the pill-boxes and routing the Hun. And they will go on Memorial day to the American cemeteries to strew flowers and to bless the nation that came with her men and her women; her material, money and efficiency—the nation that fed the hungry, succored the injured and freed the world.

Full soon the shell holes fill with grass
And battlefields and shell holes pass
Into the mist of yesterday;
But still there lingers word or phrase—
A touch of Western breezy slang
To lend Provencal speech a tang.

Stern battles, though the flags be furled,
Will boom in "Gee—'I'll tell the world!"
And spar of many a valiant fight
Will flash in "Listen!" and "Good night!"

Boy faces grinning, wistful, kind,
With each brisk phrase will come to mind;
Boy faces, grim and gray and drear,
That still could manage "Whoops, my dear!"
Who called the world's worst war "the fusa,"
In vivid speech incongruous;
Who joked like boys and fought like gods,
And caroled: "Bloody! What's the odds?"
Reduced the hell of Marne and Hoye
To crisp and long-remembered patois.
Those boys who said, "So this is France!"
And, gayly gallant, "took a chance."

There was a parade up Fifth avenue of the Seventy-fifth division of the A. E. F. Far ahead of Maj. Gen. Robert Alexander and his staff, in front even of the police escort, marched 30 men, each carrying a banner bearing 100 gold stars. Behind these 30 men and the banners with the 3,000 gold stars was a gap three blocks long. Said a thick-witted man in the reviewing stand:

"Why, these banner-bearers are out of place."
"You fool," stormed his neighbor, "The dead are passing now."

If all the patriot dead look upon the services of Memorial day, there is a host indeed. For it is almost a century and a half since the struggle to gain and maintain our freedom began.

By the rude bridge that arched the flood,
Their flag to April's breeze unfurled
Here once the embattled farmers stood,
And fired the shot heard round the world.

There were giants in those days and no American but is the better American for thinking of them—Washington, Jefferson, Adams, Franklin, Sherman and Livingston, who drafted the Declaration of Independence; Alexander Hamilton; Nathan Hale, who regretted that he had but one life to give for his country; Greene, who outwitted and outfought Cornwallis; George Rogers Clark, who took and held the northwest to the Mississippi; John Paul Jones.

In the War of 1812 the Constitution and the United States and the American privateers out-sailed and outfought the British on the seas, to the astonishment of the world. Andrew Jackson won the battle of New Orleans—a decisive American battle that saved us the Mississippi. And the successful defense of Fort Mifflin called forth Francis Scott Key's national hymn, "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Oh thus be it ever, when freemen shall stand
Between their loved homes and the war's desolation:
Dlest with victory and peace, may the heav'n rescued land
Praise the power that hath made and preserved us
Then conquer we must, when our cause is just
And The Star-Spangled Banner in triumph shall wave
Over the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Another generation and the war-drums beat again and the bugles blew, "On to Mexico!" Palo Alto, Resaca, Buena Vista, Monterey and Chapultepec are names to conjure with even now. In the short and brilliant Mexican campaign Winfield Scott won fame. Zachary Taylor's record made him President. There Grant earned his first laurels. And did you know that on the pension rolls of a grateful nation there are yet 52 names of veterans of that war, though it closed 75 years ago!

When Abraham Lincoln left his Illinois home for the White House he said to his neighbors, assembled to wish him Godspeed:

There has fallen upon me a task such as did not rest even upon the Father of His Country, and so feeling I cannot but turn and look for that support without which it will be impossible to perform that great task. I turn, then, and look to the great American people and to that God who has never forsaken them.

He was a true prophet. All Christendom stood astounded at the magnitude of the struggle that followed, and the spirit of the combatants. It was American against American. Nor did the American people fail Lincoln. Nor did God forsake the American people. The outstanding fact in American history is the hand of Providence in the affairs of the nation.

But the Civil war is over now and its wounds are healed. Recalling what were the issues of that war and remembering that Appomattox settled those issues right and for all time, we can strew flowers alike for Grant and Lee, for Sherman and Jackson, for Sheridan and Stuart with:

Love and tears for the Blue,
Tears and love for the Gray.

As for Lincoln—he stands beside Washington in the hearts of a reunited people.

It was this mighty struggle of American against American that gave us Memorial day. And it was Gen. John A. Logan who, as commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic in 1863, established Memorial day. Logan has been in the tomb for 37 years. And now his widow has gone to join him. She was always his constant helpmeet and inspiration; it is likely that she herself brought about Memorial day. Flowers for her grave; the memory of her works will live.

It was only 25 years ago this year that the Maine was blown up in Havana harbor. That meant war, of course. The summer saw it begun, fought and won. And it was an important war. It saw a reunited North and South again fighting under the Stars and Stripes. It made the United States a world power over night. It showed the world that America would fight for the cause of humanity and could forego the fruits of victory. It was notice to the nations that the 1838 American was the same old fighting man on land and sea.

Wouldn't you like to have been on "Fighting Bob" Evans' Iowa at Santiago and seen the band perched on the forward turret, grimy and half-naked, just as they came from the guns, and heard them blare out:

There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight!

It seems only yesterday that the Lusitania went down. And that meant war, too—America's entrance into the World war, the greatest of all history. Doubtless the quintessence of the nation's thought on Memorial day will be in the offerings at the tomb of our "Unknown Dead" in Arlington. Fitting indeed are these words of President Harding, spoken at the burial of this Unknown Soldier: "We do not know the essence of his birth, but we do know the glory of his death. He died for his country, and greater devotion hath no man than this. He died unquestioning, uncompensating, with faith in his heart and hope on his lips, that his country should triumph and its civilization survive. As a typical soldier of this representative democracy, he fought and died, believing in the indispensible justice of his country's cause. . . . We gather him to the Nation's breast, within the shadow of the capitol, of the towering shaft that honors Washington, the great father, and of the exquisite monument to Lincoln, the martyred savior. Here the inspirations of yesterday and the conscience of today forever unite to make the Republic worthy of his death for flag and country."

This smoker says Edgeworth gets better and better
But it doesn't—and no "improvements" are contemplated
To begin with, we had better quote Mr. Whitlock's letter in full. Not in a boastful spirit, but so we can refer back to it farther down in the column.

2844 Acorn Street, St. Louis, Missouri
Larus & Brother Company, Richmond, Va.
Gentlemen:
I wish to take this opportunity to tell you what I think of your Edgeworth Plug Slice Tobacco.
I have been a pipe smoker for about 15 years and during that time have naturally tried many different brands and blends of tobacco. I could not seem to find an ideal blend until about six months ago when, at the suggestion of a friend, I tried a pipe of Edgeworth Plug Slice.
I have been a constant user of Edgeworth since and can truthfully say that "Day by day in every way Edgeworth is getting better and better."
You have my permission to use this letter in any way you may desire if by so doing it will enable other pipe smokers to find a really cool, enjoyable and perfectly satisfactory man's smoke.
I beg to remain,
Edgeworth's yours,
A. F. Whitlock.

We are indeed glad Edgeworth has given Mr. Whitlock such unqualified satisfaction, but we feel obliged to side-step his suggestion that "day by day in every way Edgeworth is getting better and better."
Our constant aim is quite to the contrary.
Just as it is, Edgeworth pleases thousands and thousands of pipe smokers throughout the country.

If we should try to "improve" Edgeworth or change it in the least, we might be doing an injustice to the men who have smoked Edgeworth for years and years and who expect to find it always the same good smoking tobacco.

And so we hope Mr. Whitlock will agree with us that, all things considered, it is best for us to go on making more of the same Edgeworth.

To add to our list of friends we are always glad to send free samples to anyone who cares to send us his name and address.

Just drop us a postcard and we shall immediately forward to you generous helpings of both Edgeworth Plug Slice and Ready-Rubbed.
For the free samples address Larus & Brother Co., 75 South 21st Street, Richmond, Va. If you will also add the name and address of your tobacco dealer, we shall appreciate your courtesy.

Ends Career of Mexican Outlaw

Border Desperado Who Committed Many Crimes With Ax Is Killed by Deputy

Rio Hondo, Tex.—When Alfredo Luna, Mexican outlaw, murdered Guadalupe Moreno, and kidnaped the beautiful sixteen-year-old widow of his victim, a few days ago, he committed the last of a series of bloody exploits.

For three days Luna kept Mrs. Moreno a captive in his remote camp, submitting her to many tortures. According to her sworn story, Luna entered the Moreno home five miles from Rio Hondo, late at night.

later her badly mutilated body was discovered hidden in underbrush. Got His Man—Dead.

Poses beat the country for several days, and one man, a Mexican, believed to have had some knowledge of the crime, was killed when he resisted officers.

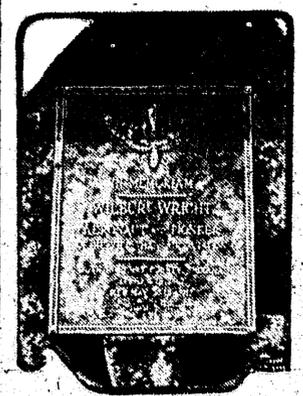

Luna, according to information obtained, was feared by all the people of the Rio Hondo district because of his brutality and treachery.

Luna had been suspected for some time of having been implicated in the Ehlers crime. At the time this crime was committed, Sheriff Sam Robertson put Victor Ortega on the case.

Robertson offered a reward of $100 for the murderer of Guadalupe Moreno, dead or alive, and Ortega, with the faithfulness with which he started on the case, got his man—dead.

Luna was twenty-four years old and it is believed by peace officers that his death will remove the ringleader of a group of bandits who have been committing crimes in the Rio Hondo district, and hiding in the stretches of brush land between that place and the bay.

WHY TAKE LAXATIVES?

Discovery by Science Has Replaced Them. Pills and salts give temporary relief from constipation only at the expense of permanent injury, says an eminent medical authority.

Science has found a newer, better way—a means as simple as Nature itself.

In perfect health a natural lubricant keeps the food waste soft and moving. But when constipation exists this natural lubricant is not sufficient. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements with Nature's own method—lubrication.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals. Get a bottle from your druggist today.—Advertisement.

SWAMP-ROOT FOR KIDNEY AILMENTS

There is only one medicine that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root stands the highest for the reason that it has proven to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of distressing cases. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

Polish Nation Has 27,000,000

Country is Now Sixth in Population in Europe, According to Official Information.

New York.—The new republic of Poland, now in its fifth year, has a population of 27,160,103, and is the sixth nation in Europe, according to official information compiled by the Polish bureau of information.

"Its population is exceeded only by Russia, Germany, Great Britain, France and Italy," the statement says. "Poland has a population as large as Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Sweden, Norway and Switzerland combined."

Warsaw Has 941,000. Warsaw's population is given as 941,001; Lodz, 451,444; Lemberg, 219,000; Cracow, 181,000; Posen, 163,000; Vilna (estimated), 140,000.

The republic has now been divided into 16 states or administrative units, called voyvodships. The city of Warsaw, however, as capital of the republic, is distinct from any voyvodship.

After struggling with various boundary disputes on all sides, and emerging victorious from a war with Russia, Poland established her frontiers and then turned her attention to internal affairs.

The first regular Polish parliament came into being November 27, 1922, succeeding the constituent assembly that had been organized as an emergency governing body early in 1919. During its life, the assembly enacted more than five hundred laws, including a constitution providing for a house of representatives elected by universal suffrage, and a senate elected in the same manner.

Economy was another far-reaching measure instituted by the new republic. During 1922, a reduction of 26,000 civilian employees was made in the various departments. Military affairs also were subjected to sweeping changes. A standing army of 25,000 was recommended, with compulsory military service of two years for all males reaching the age of twenty-one.

Demonstrates Its Stability. The republic demonstrated its stability in December, 1922, following the assassination of President Narutowicz, the first chief executive, after he had been in office but two days.

In the absence of precedent, the leaders turned to the constitution for guidance. Four days after the assassination, an election was held and a new president took office in accordance with the expressed will of the people.

Indian Maidens Have Own Coming-Out Party

Ready to Receive Proposal After All-Night Dance.

Washington.—The modern "society" dapper, with her coming-out party, has nothing on the American Indian maiden, whose marriage-announcement party has been among the tribal customs from time immemorial.

Among the Washoe Indians of Nevada there is a dance or ceremony known as "the girl's dance." In honor of the young girl who becomes eligible for marriage. Her white cousin, however, would hardly care to be the star of such a feast, for the guest of honor is allowed to eat nothing at all for four days previous.

On the fourth night the dance starts at about eight o'clock, and sometimes lasts until sunrise the following morning. The Indians form a circle, joining hands, and move by short side steps in a ring, humming a sort of chant without words or meaning.

The girl, accompanied by an elder woman as a sort of chaperon, and carrying a long staff to support her because of the weakness induced by her long fast, weaves in and out of the dance, joining in the step.

As the dance proceeds late into the night, the girl's family give money and other possessions to the dancers to keep them moving and to induce others to join in. The greater the number of dancers the greater the popularity of the family. Shortly after midnight a feast is given by the girl's relatives, and all participate.

The ceremony closes at sunrise when the girl is taken to her tepee and attended in bunches of sagebrush in which money is concealed. She appears before the assembled dancers outside and throws the money to them amid a wild scramble. A can of water is then dashed over her head as the concluding ceremony, after which she is ready to receive a proposal of marriage.

National Forest Contains Ruins of Cliff Dwellers

Washington, May 23. — Few regions, if any, offer the tourist a better combination of scenic beauty and antiquarian interest than the Bandelier National Monument, located within the Santa Fe National Forest, declares the Forest Service, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, in a booklet just published.

The Bandelier National Monument was established in 1916 to preserve the relics of the vanished race of cliff dwellers who once inhabited this region. The Forest Service booklet, which is entitled "In the Land of the Ancient Cliff Dweller," states: "West of the Rio Grande at Buckman, N. M., but 1,000 feet above it, lies the Pajarito Plateau, a rolling yellow-pine country cut deep by canyons that lead down to the river. One of these canyons contains a pretty little mountain stream, the Rito de los Frijoles. Between picturesque cliffs and canyon walls this stream literally tumbles into the Rio Grande over many falls, two of them 80 feet high.

"On a little flat bordering this stream, where fields were available close by, some prehistoric man established his communal house, his dwellings in the cliffs, and his kivas — the village of Tyuonyi. Others of his people lived in villages on the Pajarito Plateau and in near-by canyons where natural defenses made their habitations more secure. Long ago these people disappeared but the ruins of their cities have remained."

From Santa Fe the Bandelier National Monument may be reached by motor, a distance of 38 miles. From Buckman, a station on the Denver & Rio Grande railway, the distance is but 17 miles, but as no automobiles are available at this point arrangements for transportation must be made in advance.

The Forest Service booklet describing this region may be secured free upon application to the Forest Service, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, either at Washington or at Santa Fe, N. M.

Notice of Filing of Township Plats

Notice is hereby given that the office plats of survey for the following townships will be filed in this office at 9 a. m. on June 14, 1923:

- T. 24 S., R. 13 E.
- T. 2 S., R. 8 E.
- T. 3 S., R. 8 E.

The vacant and unappropriated lands in said townships will be subject to preferred right of entry by ex-service men of the World War, from June 14, to September 12, 1923, both dates inclusive. Such ex-service men may file their applications beginning at 9 a. m. on May 25, 1923, and all applications received between May 25 and June 13, both dates inclusive, will be treated as filed simultaneously at 9 a. m. on June 14, 1923, and any conflicting applications will be disposed of by lot. Persons claiming settlement rights or other preferred rights, should assert such rights between May 25 and June 14, to avoid confusion.

At 9 a. m. on September 13, 1923, any remaining vacant and unappropriated lands in the above mentioned townships will become subject to entry by the general public. Beginning at 9
a. m. on August 24, 1923, the general public may file applications, and all such applications received between August 24, and September 12, both dates inclusive, will be considered as filed at 9 a. m. on September 13, 1923, and conflicting applications disposed of by lot.

The records show that sections
1, 2, 16, 32 and 36, T. 23 S., R.
13 E., and Sec. 28, T. 2 S., R. 8
E., are withdrawn for the State of New Mexico, and the state will have 60 days preferred right to select any or all of these sections, effective on the date of filing of plat, June 14, 1913.

The records also show Sections
5, 6, 7, 8, 17, 18, 19, 20, 29, 30,
31 and 32, in both of T. 2 and 3
S., R. 8 E., to be within the Manzano National Forest and not subject to entry.

All ex-service men must file
copy of certificate of discharge with application, and persons claiming preferred rights through settlement or other sources, must file corroborated affidavit giving all facts as to settlement or other rights.

These lands are rolling and hilly in character and are suitable for grazing.

THE CLEARING HOUSE OF NATIONAL THOUGHT

Do you know that Uncle Sam conducts the largest printing-plant in the world? It requires five thousand people and a plant worth five million dollars to produce the printing-utilized in operating the government.
Then there is the seven million dollar building—one of the most beautiful in the world—housing the Library of Congress.

The story of the small beginnings of these two great institutions, their steady growth, and their present importance in the work of the nation, is told in an attractively illustrated folder of the series on Our Government now being issued by this Institution.

There has been a great demand for these stories and it is evident that they have been doing a valuable work in informing the people of this community about our government.

In response to a telegram from Houston, Texas, officers asking if James C. Dunham was wanted in San Jose, Cal., Police Chief J. N. Black of San Jose replied that Dunham was wanted in connection with the deaths of his wife and five other persons May 26, 1890, at Campbell, seven miles west of San Jose.

That a prehistoric race of people—giants, in fact—lived in California and Arizona, 907,000 years before King Tutankhamen of Egypt, is conclusively proven, Samuel Hubbard, Oakland archaeologist, declared recently in telling of evidence he has found in the Grand Canon of Arizona to support such a belief.

A man who said he was James M. Clark, was arrested in Los Angeles on charges of having defrauded many persons in a number of American cities by the alleged sale of land in the Peace River district of Canada. He was held to answer grand larceny charges. Police declared Clark's operations had netted him in excess of $100,000.

Refusing to eat food prepared in a non-union restaurant, 100 asserted I. W. W. strikers held in the jail at Los Angeles harbor went on a hunger strike. The prisoners informed Desk Sergeant A. H. Castleberry they would eat no food unless it came from a union restaurant. The police have a contract with a restaurant to prepare all meals for prisoners.

Miss Wilma Ruth Hayburn, a member of the graduating class at the University of California, was presented with her degree at the university in ceremony at Berkeley and died a half hour later. Miss Hayburn, 22 years old, a daughter of the Rev. Clinton H. Hayburn of San Francisco, collapsed during the final examinations and was removed to the infirmary.

The San Francisco grand jury has refused to indict Gladwell C. Richardson, a sailor, on a charge of murder in connection with the killing of Rabbi Alfred O. Lefse in a hotel in San Francisco. Action by the grand jury was taken in order to hear Richardson's story. The grand jury held that Richardson "was justified in defending himself under the circumstances."

WASHINGTON

The remains of two men found near the wreckage of an airplane on Cuyamaca mountain, east of San Diego, were positively identified as those of Col. Francis Marshall and Lieut. Chas. Webber of the aviation corps of the U. S. Army. The discovery of the bodies ended a search for the missing aviators which has been carried on for months.

Charges that the government is violating the spirit of the Pittman act in using silver dollars to make smaller coins instead of buying raw silver at a dollar an ounce were made by Senator Key Pittman, Democrat, of Nevada, in a letter to Under Secretary of the Treasury Gilbert. The use of silver dollars, Pittman said, had run the price of silver down to 67 cents an ounce.

George Harvey, American ambassador to Great Britain, declared upon his arrival in New York City on the steamship George Washington that he knew nothing about reports that he had resigned, or planned to resign, in order to direct a campaign for the re-nomination and re-election of President Harding.

Great Britain alone of the allied powers has replied to the American suggestion of April 2 last for concerted action to bring about a permanent solution of the relief problem in the Near East. The British, it was said at the State Department, expressed willingness to participate in any sound plan for permanent relief measures, but advanced no suggestion as to the form such measures might take.

Neglect by parents of their homes and children is largely the result of mental difficulty and as such should be treated as a physiological problem, Dr. Nellie L. Perkins, director of the Wayne county psychopathic clinic, of Detroit, declared in Washington, before the annual conference of the National Probation Association. A recent study of such parents in Detroit, she said, showed that 43 per cent of them were feeble minded.

State Department advice from the American legation at Peking said the Peking authorities had ordered the Chinese troops "to desist from measures against bandits" and adopt "pacific means," which would insure the liberation of the captured Americans without injury.

President Harding has informed the Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association that its members in a program adopted at the recent Louisville convention have "pretty nearly written my platform as far as you have gone."

FOREIGN

The strike of the Belgian state employees has reached serious proportions. Work in the larger cities was at a standstill.

As a result of the House of Lords' decision in the case of Art O'Brien, the British government is requesting the Irish Free State government to return to England all the prisoners deported to Ireland, Home Secretary Bridgman announced in the House of Commons.

In the Shantung hills back of Lin-cheng are, according to the latest available information, fourteen men and two women—foreigners—together with an unknown number of Chinese, who have been held by Chinese bandits who raided the Shanghai-Peking express and kidnapped the passengers.

Reports received in Paris, France, tended to confirm that the woman killed in the airship crash at Mousures was Miss Juanita Bates of Ithaca, N. Y. The woman, who was traveling alone, gave her age as 32. The cause of the accident, which resulted in the death of six persons, including, besides Miss Bates, Laurence Von Post Schwab of New York, has not been determined.

That the leaders of the bandits who are holding more than a dozen foreigners in the hills back of Lin-cheng are highly educated, intelligent men, determined that their demands shall be met and showing little if any faith in promises made by Chinese authorities, are among the statements made by Roy Anderson, American, who returned to Tientsin, from a trip to the robbers' stronghold.

A violent storm that broke on the Good Will delegates from America entered the war-devastated area near Bolsoons, gave the scene a dramatic setting. Seated comfortably in a closed car, the delegates were deeply impressed with the desolation that seemed to hem them in. The delegates were the luncheon guests of the American committee to devastated France at Blercourt, where the committee maintains a large community center.

GENERAL

Fire and Police Commissioner John Alderman and two firemen were injured when flames wiped out an entire block in the business district of Fort Worth, Texas, the main buildings of which were occupied by the Gilbert garage. The loss is estimated at $150,000 to $200,000.

New York detectives have arrested a suspect in connection with the Wall street explosion which caused the death of more than a score of persons. The man under arrest gave his name as Noah Lerner. Lerner was arrested on information obtained by detectives from persons who told of the alleged bomb of Lerner that he "had driven the wagon that carried the bomb in the Wall street explosion."

Five farm girls from Iowa and Colorado, crowned queens in the art of canning, gathered in Chicago for the start of their trip to Washington and France, where they expect to "pick up pointers" from French dress as well as to show how America's fruit is canned. The girls, winners in the national canning contest held in Chicago last fall, are Esther Hollnagel, Katherine Hollnagel and Beulah Rogers, all of Eddyville, Iowa, and Bertha Roger and Elaine Hendricks of Burlington, Colo.

A little bit gray and looking as mature as a retired farmer, the former champion of the world Jens Willard, stopped Floyd Johnson, the 23-year-old Iowa boy, after eleven rounds of desperate fighting in the feature bout of the greatest boxing show for charity in the history of the country. It was the show at the Yankees' new stadium in New York City for the benefit of the free milk fund of the mayor's committee of women, headed by Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, and attended by 60,000 people.

The sanitarium at Colorado City, Texas, is filled with victims of the tornado which swept a strip of territory a mile wide and fifteen miles long near that town a few days ago. Sixteen bodies have been recovered. About 200 persons were hurt and property and crop damage will total millions of dollars, according to observers.

Hot Springs, Ark., is endeavoring to extricate itself from debris and ruin left by flood, fire and wind which wrecked the business district of the city with damage to property which is expected to run into the millions. Several persons are reported to have been killed. It is not expected, however, that the death list will exceed three or four persons.

A price war in Chicago turned fashionable North Shore millinery shops into a feminine paradise a few days ago. Rival milliners, after bombs were hurled, resorted to price-slashing to wipe out competitors. Where woman, a short time ago, crowned her glory with a chapeau costing up to $25 vainly considered there appeared in windows cards proclaiming "any hat in the store $3."

Lord Curzon's reply to the German reparations note expresses disappointment at the "inadequate sum" offered and at the lack of precision as to guarantees, and also voices a suggestion that Germany will "reconsider to expand her proposals" in such a way as to convert them into a feasible basis for further discussion.

Final passage of a bill to ban corporal punishment of convicts in Florida was effected when the Senate refused to reconsider its action in banning the whip. The bill goes to the governor.

J. D. Fraser has received the appointment as receiver of the Reserve State Bank. Mr. Fraser is well acquainted in that country, having been in the mercantile business at Reserve for a number of years.

Thomas Ray, manager of the American hotel at Aztec, has received an oil prospecting permit from the secretary of the interior covering 2,500 acres of land eight miles east of Aztec. The land embraced in this prospecting permit is located on what is known as the Dyke structure and oil possibilities at this point are most promising.

The American Legion's state convention will be held this year, August 23 and 24, the dates fixed at a meeting of the executive committee at a recent meeting in Albuquerque. At the last convention it was decided to hold this year's at Taos, but the time was left to the executive committee. The auxiliary to the Legion will hold its convention at the same time.

Four men convicted in Mora county of perjury, have to go to the penitentiary to serve from six to eight years as the result of a decision handed down in the Supreme Court. Their conviction is affirmed. The four are: Avellano Archuleta, Rosendo Moya, Eufelio Barola, Manuel Gonzalez. Originally the four appellants were tried on a charge of murder.

Ex-Sheriff W. T. Dufur was accidentally killed on the state highway between Aztec and the Las Animas bridge. Dufur was driving home on a load of lumber and when about half way between Aztec and the bridge he fell from the wagon and two of the wheels passed over his body, inflicting injuries which resulted in his death before medical assistance could be gotten.

Robert E. McKee of El Paso has been let the contract for the six-story building at the southeast corner of Second street and Central avenue, Albuquerque, to be put up by Joseph Barnett, and the old White Elephant building, which has stood there for years, is to be torn down to make way for the city's second near skyscraper. McKee's bid is said to be approximately a quarter of a million.

Conditions in New Mexico forecast 421,000 tons of tame and 23,000 tons of wild hay, compared with an estimated production of 810,000 tons of tame and 23,000 tons of wild hay in 1922. Dr. R. F. Harv, statistician for the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics, says this in his report issued on the hay and winter wheat outlook. The ten-year average for the state (1912-21), he adds, was 433,000 tons of tame and 27,000 tons of wild hay.

Announcement is made that the State Board has authorized a summer conference at State College next month in teacher training and in the philosophy of vocational education for school administrators and others. The conference is scheduled to begin June 11, to continue two or three weeks. Credits will be given for the work done at the conference.

John R. Gaunt, cashier of the closed Reserve State Bank of Reserve, New Mexico, has been charged with the defalcation of $15,400 of the funds of the bank. N. R. WEALTHY GROUP IS BROKEN UP

FEDERAL WARRANTS ARE ISSUED FOR RICH NEW YORK LIQUOR SMUGGLERS

RUM SYNDICATE BARED

FORMER NAVY SHIP YANKTON USED AS RUNNER; HUGE DEALS REVEALED

New York.—Once proudly floating the American flag during a world wide cruise of the United States navy and with a brilliant World war service record, the former navy dispatch boat Yankton was revealed as the rum runner Yankton under British registry. As a result of her capture federal warrants were issued for eight men, alleged heads of a nation-wide rum ring, on charges of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act and defraud the government of customs duties.

The warrants were issued for J. A. Kirsh of New York, Nathan Scharlin and Abraham Scharlin of Chicago, alleged "master minds" of the syndicate; Charles W. Johnson of Philadelphia, said to be a member of the brewing firm of Johnson & Co. of Uniontown, Pa.; Harry L. Marks of New York, Edward Flanagan of Washington and Chicago, Charles T. Cox, Brooklyn tugboat captain, and Alfred Ernest Corras of Uniontown, Pa.

Kirsh, a former importer, was acquitted several weeks ago of a charge of conspiring to import liquor unlawfully on the steamer Javary. Marks also was indicted in the Javary case but never was apprehended.

The rum syndicate, government officials said, had recently cashed $168,000 to Scotland, apparently for the purchase of liquor to be smuggled in from Rum Row.

Disclosure made to government officials of the crew of the Yankton which limped into port several days ago out of provisions and fuel were said to have resulted in the issuance of the warrants.

The Yankton, customs officials said, accompanied the American fleet in the round-the-world cruise under command of Admiral "Fighting Bob" Evans in 1907-1908 and later served in the Atlantic fleet and as a convoy craft in the Mediterranean during the world war. The craft was sold from the Brooklyn navy yards in 1921 to private parties.

Washington.—Possibility of President Harding being requested to seek an understanding with nations which compel their ships to carry liquor as crew rations loomed in reports that officials had struck a snag in drafting regulations to carry out the Supreme Court decision banning liquor within American territorial waters.

At the same time there were hints that the date now fixed as June 10 for the new regulations to become effective might be postponed unless some way is found to "write around" the rigidity of the court's ruling.

Bandit Negotiations at Standstill Peking. The negotiations between the authorities and the bandits are reported to be practically at deadlock. The French and Italian legations have received advice saying the bandits are contemplating taking their captives to another stronghold, and at the same time they are demanding that the government retire its troops to barracks. Other sources report that the chief bandit is communicating with the leaders of the Honan bandits with the object of combining and further coercing the government.

Huge Zeppelin Being Built for U. S. Friedrichshafen.—The greatest aircraft the world has ever seen is slowly taking form under the gigantic shed of the Zeppelin plant overlooking Lake Constance, in which were built the mammoth ships that wrought such havoc in the world war. This craft, known as the R.3, is being constructed for the American navy, and will attempt a flight to America when completed, which however, will not be earlier than October or November of this year, and possibly not until next spring.

Denver Bankers Evicted Omaha.—Le Robert D. Eyskelboom, former vice president of the defunct Denver State Bank and former vice president of the Guaranty Securities Company of Denver.—Homer Molyneux, former teller of the Denver State Bank, and George L. Roach, former cashier of the same bank, were found guilty of conspiracy to use the mails to defraud, by a federal court here, in connection with the promotion of the Colonial Timber and Coal Corporation of Charleston, W. Va.

George Jay Gould Dies in France Cap Martin, France.—George Jay Gould died at his villa here after an illness beginning with an attack of pneumonia in March. The American financier was conscious until the end and never gave up hope in his stubborn fight to recover. To the last he opposed recalling to his bedside the doctors who brought about such an improvement in his condition several weeks ago that he was at that time declared out of danger. Gould's estate was estimated at $50,000,000.

Canada Offers "Last Chance" for Virgin Farms

THINK of what you could produce on a farm of virgin fertility, without the burden of high-acreage cost. Think of what 20-to-40 bushel wheat would mean to you under these conditions, and of dairying and stock raising on cheap pasture land. Land pays for itself in a few crops—no artificial fertilizer—no heavy investment. You have envied the farmer who got his start when land was cheap. Here's your chance, perhaps your last chance, for the same brand of prosperity.

Western Canada—Your Opportunity!

Western Canada is the farmer's land of opportunity. Thousands of settlers who started here many years ago with little or nothing, are today the owners of fine farms, with comfortable homes and barns, thoroughbred stock, dairy herds—all the marks of prosperity. Yet land is not dear—only $15 to $20 an acre for rich, virgin, well-wooded land. Land is not dear in Western Canada—yet because there is so much of it. But many settlers are expected in 1923, and now is your opportunity, before the best farms are taken. Get started. Taxes are reasonable, and land brought under cultivation. On farm buildings, improvements, machinery, personal effects, automobile, etc., there is no tax at all. Canada wants workers—it wants its land farmed—and the farmers, through their municipal councils, have practical control of all local taxation.

Special Renter's Plan—Buy Out of Profits

To aid and encourage the honest worker with perhaps little capital, the Canadian Government has a "Renter's Plan", whereby one may work a new or improved farm—"Try it out" for several years if desired—and buy a farm of his own out of profits.

Thirty-Two Years to Pay

For the benefit of those wishing to buy land, a national non-profit sharing organization—the Canada Colonization Association—has been established, with head office at Winnipeg, and branches in all principal cities. This Association offers selected land convenient to railways—much of it at $15 to $20 per acre—on very small cash payment—no further payment until third year balance extended over thirty years, but purchaser may pay up and obtain title at any time, if desired. Interest six per cent on deferred payments.

Special Excursion Rates to Western Canada

In order that you may inspect the land—see for yourself—judge of its value and fertility—special excursion trips of inspection will leave United States points on the first and third Tuesday of each month. Single fare plus $2 for the round trip, available from all principal centers. Take advantage of these low railroad rates. Seeking for yourself the opportunities which Western Canada has to offer you. Inspect by believing. The nearest Canadian Government Agency will give you all information. The men in charge are Government officials, interested only in the service of the prospective settler. We help you find your opportunity. Let us know something of your position and receive free book with maps and information how special railroad rates can be arranged for a trip of inspection. Mail the coupon.

Free Homesteads are still available in some localities. Canada welcomes tourists—come and see our country for yourself. No passport required.

GOLD!

SYNOPSIS.—The Three Star ranch, Arizona, owned jointly by Sandy Bourke, "Mormon" Peters and "Gods-Water Sam" Manning, a fine colic makes its way, in the last stages of exhaustion. Inscription on its collar says its name is Grit, "property of P. Casey," pointing a desert tragedy. Bourke and Sam mount and let the dog lead them. The two find a dying man, Patrick Casey, pinned under an overturned wagon. Kneeling beside the wagon is his young daughter Molly, fifteen. They extricate the old prospector, who dies repeating "Molly—mine!" "I'll look out for that prospector," says Sandy. It is agreed that Molly stays as mascot of the ranch, she and the "Three Musketeers" becoming partners in the mines. Sandy insists upon an education for Molly. Jim Plimsoil, gambler, visiting the ranch, meets Molly. He claims to be "addicted," which makes him the old man's partner. Mormon drives him off. Starting with a gold eagle, Molly's luck piece, Sandy, with Sam, plays faro at Plimsoil's place, winning $10,000. It is arranged that Molly shall go East to be "educated." A neighbor, Miranda Bailey, warns the ranchers that Jim Plimsoil, as Patrick Casey's "partner," claims guardianship of Molly, and the authorities stand in with him. Sandy determines to take the girl to New Mexico, to an old friend, Barbara Redding, for advice. The three men, with the girl, set out. Pursued by the sheriff and Plimsoil, the ranchers separate, Mormon and Sam returning, and Sandy and Molly going on. The two are caught in a pass by a cloudburst, during which Sandy saves Molly's life. They reach the town of Caroca. Sandy meets a friend, who helps the pair elude the pursuing sheriff, and they safely board the train on their way out of the state.

CHAPTER X

Sandy Returns.

Eight days passed before Sandy came riding back on Goldie, leading the bay, reaching the Three Star at the end of sunset. Mormon was in his chair with the one letter that Sandy had written, on his lap. Sandy pulled in the mare beyond the corral. He could hear the sound of Sam's harmonica and pictured him with the instrument cuddled up under his great mustache. "It's sure good to be home, Goldie," said Sandy. Then he let out a mighty, "Hello, the house!" Sam's lit ceased abruptly. The riders came hurrying. Sam appeared, with Mormon waddling after, too swiftly for his best case or grace of motion, both grabbing at Sandy, swatting him on the back as he off-saddled. "Letime go," said Sandy. "I'm hungry as a spring b'ar. Where's Pedro? Pedro, I'm hungry—muy hambriento. Despachese Vd. Pronto! Huevos—sels huevos—fritos! Frijoles! Jamon! Cafe! Panecitos! Todo el rancho! Pronto!"

"Si, señor, inmediatamente." And, with a yell for Joe the half-breed, Pedro hurried away, grinning, to prepare the six fried eggs, the ham, the coffee, the muffins, everything in the larder! His two partners watched Sandy eat, plying him with food and then with question after question about the trip, about Barbara Redding and about Molly's going to school. "Molly's got an outfit Barbara Redding bought her," said Sandy. "Trunk an' leather grip, all kinds of do-dads. School costs fifteen hundred bucks a year. The rest of Molly's money is banked. Barbara picked out a school in Pennsylvania she said was the best." "It's been all-fired lonely with both you an' her gone," said Mormon. "An' the dawg ain't eat a mouthful. I don't believe. Mebbe you can coax him, Sandy. Set around an' howled like a sick coyote fo' fo'-five days—mostly nights. If the gel balks I'll stand back of her to quit an' come back to Three Star."

"An' have Jordan git her away an' put her under Plimsoil's guardship?"

"He c'udn't do that. Mirandy Bailey 'ud block him."

"He c'udn't do anything," said Sandy. "I got mysef' appointed legal guardian to Molly while we was in Santa Rosa, one day Barbara an' Molly was shoppin'. John Redding's lawyer fixed it up."

The month passed without especial incident at the Three Star. Sandy purchased a champion Hereford bull for the herd out of the ranch share of the late winnings. Other improvements were added, and the three partners seemed on the fair way to prosperity.

Occasional letters came from Molly. Homesickness and unhappiness showed between the lines of the first epistles, despite her evident efforts to conceal them. Her ways were not the ways of the other girls. She apparently formed no friendships and it seemed that none were invited from her. "But I'm going to stick with it till I get same as the rest—on the outside, anyway," she wrote. "I don't know how some of them work inside. It ain't like me. But I've started this and you all want me to go through, so I will, though I get lonesome as a sick cat for the ranch. I don't swear any more—I got into awful trouble for spilling my language one time—and I can spell pretty good without hunting up every word in the dictionary. I reckon I'm a hard fella to break, but then, I was haltered late. I don't think it would be allowed for me to have Grit, so you'll have to look out for him and not let him forget me. I hope you won't do that yourselves. Don't think I'm unhappy, because I'm not."

"If she's happy, I'm a Gila lizard," said Mormon. "What's the sense of havin' her miserable fo' the sake of a l'il' book learnin'. She's gettin' to spell so I can't make out what she's writin' about."

At last Molly wrote that she had made the basketball team and won honors and favors. She gained laurels for the college in swimming and tennis, and life went more merrily.

CHAPTER XI

Pay Dirt.

In September there was a killing in the Good Luck poolroom, the murder of a stranger whose friends made such an investigation, backed by the real law-and-order element of Hereford, that the exposure brought about forfeiture of all licenses and a strict shutting down on gambling and illicit liquor. Plimsoil left Hereford for his horse ranch, deprived of the sheriff's official countenance, and Jordan began to worry about election.

One evening in early October a little body of riders came to the Three Star, all strangers to the county, men whose faces were grim, who cracked no jokes, whose greetings were barely more than civil.

"This is the Three Star, ain't it?" asked the leader of a cowboy, who nodded silently, taking in the appearance of the visitors.

"Bourke, Peters and Manning?"

"One and all," answered the Three Star rider. "Find 'em at chuck. I reckon. You-all are jest in time. If you aim to stay overnight I'll tend yore hawsses an' put 'em in the corral."

"You seem hospitable here."

The tone was half sarcastic.

"Rule of the ranch," replied Buck. "Folks arrivin' after sundown, the same beln' strangers, is expected to pass the night, if they're in no hurry."

"Sandy personally backed the invitation a moment later and steaks were being pan-fried as the men dismounted and lounged on the porch, awaiting their meal. The leader introduced himself by the name of Bill Brandon, claiming previous knowledge, without actual acquaintance, of Sandy, Mormon and Sam in Texas.

"We're out after a man who's been collectin' hawsses too promiscuous," said Brandon after supper. "We know you gents by past reputation an' by what they say of you in Hereford. Also, by that last reckonin', I ain't figgerin' you as any seshul pal of the man we're tryin' to round up. I reckon you know who we mean. Jim Plimsoil."

"Lead's Cheaper Than Rope, but Somehow It Ain't So Convincin'."

who owns what he calls the Waterline hawss ranch, sixteen miles east of you, more or less; an' who gits more fancy breeds out of the mangy cayuses he shows his breedin' mares an' stallions, than there is different fish in the sea. From all I can figger most of his mares must have fo' foals a year.

"Some of us are from this state—Mojave county—two of us from Nevada. Me, I'm from California. We've all been losin' hawsses off an' on an' we've final' got together an' compared notes. Seems most of the missin' stock sorter drifted across the Arizona line somewheres between Mojave City an' Topock. Most of 'em have been sold or passed on. All of 'em have been faked an' doctored more or less. Talk points to Plimsoil, so do some facts, but not enough."

"You been over to his ranch?" asked Sandy.

"Jest come from there. He's slick an' cool, is Plimsoil. We was supposed to be lookin' over hawsses for buyin', but he's cretful who he sells to. We saw some. An' we recognized some. But you know how it is, Bourke, it ain't hard to change a hawss. I'll say this for the man, he's the finest brand-faker I've met up with. But we're goin' to git him yet an', when we do, there won't be any more hawss-stealin' an' yakin' in Cococino county, Arizona. Hawss-stealin' was a hangin' matter when I first come West an' I reckon there's some feels the same way now. Specially when the courts back up a man like Plimsoil. Lead's cheaper than rope, but somehow it ain't so convincin'."

Brandon changed the subject after he had spoken, but it was plain that he and his companions had not given up the matter; clear also that they were sure of Plimsoil's guilt and laying plans to trap him. They stayed until the next morning and departed.

The incident was forgotten as the roundup days grew near. Molly was not to come home at Christmas after all. She formed a friendship, the first close one she had made, and Barbara Redding advised that the invitation extended by this new acquaintance to spend the holidays be accepted.

Snows fell, the temperature ranged down far below zero at times, winter gave reluctant place to spring until the last moment when it turned and fled and, far into the desert, myriads of flower-blossoms sprang up overnight while everywhere the cactus gleamed in silken blooms in yellow and crimson.

One April night the Bailey flivver came charging up to Three Star, smothering itself in a cloud of dust that had not settled before there sprang out of it Miranda Bailey and the lanky Ed, temporarily charged with a tremendous activity. The cause of young Ed's galvanism was so strong that he actually won from his aunt as bearer of the news.

"Gold!" he cried. "They've struck pay dirt at Dynamite! Chunks of sylvanite that sweat gold in the fire. Assay thirty thousand dollars a ton. Whole streaks of it. Veln's twelve foot wide. The whole town's stamped-in by way of White Cliff canyon. I'm goin'. Got a pick an' shovel in the car. Aunt Mirandy, she was bound we'd come this way. Mebbe we can pack you all in. But you got to hurry or they'll swarm over dynamite like flies on a chunk o' liver!"

"It's true," backed Miss Bailey. "Folks over to Hereford have gone crazy. I caught a word or two that Plimsoil's to the bottom of the rush. An' he'll grab those claims of Molly's first thing. That's one reason I made Ed come this way. Thought you might like to come erlong, only he took the words out of my mouth."

"You goin'?" asked Mormon.

"Sure am," she answered. "Ed Bailey Senior, he lows there's no sense in chasin' gold underground. Says he likes to see his prospects growin' up under his own eyes an' gaze in his own land. I'm the adventurous one of the Bailey fam'ly, though you mightn't guess it to look at me," she said with a twitch of her lips. "Plimsoil ain't got much love for me. He figgers I lost him his license an' his brother-in-law sheriff his badge. He's right. I did. I figgered you'd not be anxious to let him have his own way about Molly's claims an' I l'owed I'd like to be along an' see the excitement. Me an' Ed here'll stake off suthin' for ourselves. I'd jest as soon git come easy money as the rest of 'em."

Sandy, after a swift word of apology, turned away toward the bunk house. Mormon, with a sweeping salute from his bald head to his knees, voiced his opinion.

"Marm," he said, "you're a dyed-in-the-wool sport an' I admiro to trail with you. But that flivver 'll sure bust its cinches with we-all ridin' it. I'm no jockeyweight, fo' one."

"I'll stand up. We've got to make time."

With orders to Buck, with some provisions, ammunition and a few tools, the hurried start was made. Mormon clambered to the front seat beside young Ed. Miranda Bailey sat between Sandy and Sam. Whatever lack of energy the lanky Ed Junior displayed on his feet, he eliminated as a driver. The springs creaked, chirpings arose from various parts of the car as it ran, but he coaxed the engine, performed miracles at bad places in the road, nursed the insufficient radiator surface and kept the flivver at a simmer.

They made the down-road as the sun rose above the run of the eastern range, so jagged it seemed trying to claw back the mounting sun. Ever in view below them lay the intermountain valley in which the camp had been located. There were a few tents, some wagons and picketed horses, and there were a great many machines parked at will. Here and there unbroken glass in the windows flung back the sun. Suddenly smoke jetted from a tumbled chimney, other puffs followed and steady vapors mounted. Ant-like men emerged from every house, gathered in little knots, busied themselves with the horses, hurried back to breakfasts. Faint sounds came up to the travelers.

"W'udn't think that place had been dead as a cemetery fo' years?" commented Sandy. "Stahted up overnight like an old engine. That's the hotel, with the high front. Furniture all in it an' in the cabins. Most of the fixtures left in the saloons, an' there was a plenty of them. Two hotels, five restaurants, seven gambin' houses; twenty-two saloons an' the rest sleepin' cabins. That was Dynamite. When they git it dusted off and started up it'll run ortermatic."

"Cutlin' out the saloons," said Miranda.

"I'm not so sure of that," said Mormon, turning in his seat. "You-all want to remember, m'am, that this is an unincorporated town an' that there's allus a shortage of law an' order for a while wherever there's a strike; gold, oil or whatever 'tis. Eighty per cent of the rush is a hard-shelled lot an' arlong with 'em is a smaller bunch that thrives best when things is run haphazard. There'll be licker down there, an' it'll sure be quickfire licker at that. If you weren't the kind you are," added Mormon. "I'd tell you that down there ain't no place fo' a woman!"

"Meanin'?" snapped Miranda Bailey. "But there was a gleam in her eye that showed of a compliment accepted.

"Meanin'?" said Mormon, "that, of you'll take it 'thout offense, you-all air plumb up-to-date. When wimmen took up the ballot I figger they wasn't only ready fo' equal rights, they knew how to git 'em. 'Slide from the shootin' end of it, I'd say you was as well equipped as any man to look out fo' yore own interests."

"Thanks," replied Miranda. "I suppose you mean that as a compliment. Also I know one end of a gun from another an' I can hit a barn if it ain't flyin'."

They rolled down to the valley and over the dusty road to the camp. Before they reached the main street a car passed them from behind with a rush, driver and passengers reckless, whooping as they rode, one man waving a bottle, another firing his gun into the air.

"That's the kind that'll figger to run Dynamite fo' a while," said Sandy. "I'll bet there ain't twenty old-timers in the camp—real miners, I mean."

The street was alive with changing groups, merging, breaking up to listen to some fresh report of a strike, or opinion as to the prospects. There were no women in sight. The men were of all sorts, from cowboys in their chaps, who had left the range for the chance of sudden wealth, to storekeepers from Hereford and other towns.

Mormon's pronouncement that the town, after its long desertion, had automatically refunctioned, was not far wrong. Rudely lettered signs proclaimed where meals could be bought and boldly announced gambling.

KENO—CHUCKALUCK AND STUD CHAPS AND DRAW POKER THE OLD RELIABLE PARO BANK J. PLIMSOIL, PROP.

read Sandy.

"He's here, lookin' fo' easy money, both ends an' the middle," he drawled. "W'udn't wonder but what we'd rub up an' n' fo' we have."

"You'll want to go right through to Molly's claims, I suppose," said Miranda Bailey. "Do you know where they are?"

"I can soon find the location," replied Sandy. "But there ain't any extry hurry. They've been recorded. They'll keep. We'll git us some real hot grub at one of these restyronts an' listen a bit to the news."

"Ain't you afraid Plimsoil or some one'll have jumped those claims?" asked the spinster.

"W'udn't be surpris'd. But there's allus two ways to jump, Miss Mirandy. In an' out. Let's try Cal Simpson's place. I know him when he was runnin' a chuck-wagon. He's sure some cook if it's him."

They passed through the crowded street to the sign. Next door to the cabin that Simpson had pre-empted on the first-come-first-served order that prevailed, was one of the olden saloons. Through door and window they could see the crowded bar with bottles and tin mugs upon the ancient slab of wood. Some looked curiously at Miranda Bailey, but the sight of her escort checked any familiarity. Covered with dust from their ride, guns on hip, the Three Musketeers did not encourage perusal of the expense of their outfit and they passed unchallenged into the eating-house where a stubby man with a big paunch shouted greetings at Sandy.

"You ornery son of a gun! An' Mormon. This yore last, Mormon. No! I beg yore pardon, marm. I 'ud have wished Mormon 'ud struck somethin' sensible an' satisfactory at last. It's his loss more'n your'n. What'll you have, folks? I've got steak an' po'k an' beans. Drove over some beef. More comin' ter-morrow. I'll have a real mameo by the end of the week. Steak? Seguro! Biscuits an' coffee."

He shouted orders to a helper and hurried off to pan-broil the steaks.

"What's the indications?" asked Sandy, after Simpson had rejoined them.

"Big. Look here. White gold!" He pulled out a piece of tin white mineral with a brilliant metallic luster, sparkling with curious crystals. "Sylvanite—twenty-five per cent gold an' twelve an' a half silver. Velned in the porphyry. There's a young assayer come in last night. He l'ows it's sylvanite, same as they have over to Boulder county in Colorado. He's a kid, but I w'udn't wonder but he knows what he's talkin' about. Some calls it telluride. But it's gold, all right, an' there's a big vein of it close to the surface on the knoll east side of Flivver creek."

They passed the heavy mineral from hand to hand, examining it with eager curiosity. Simpson rambled on.

"Lady-back-here-in-the-crowd," said Sandy quietly.

Economy.

"Gwine to dat dentist's again, missy?" the suburban lady's newly imported cook queried. "Pears like you went every blessed day." The suburban lady explained the long and tedious process of having $500 worth of repair work put into one's mouth. Dinah was astonished at the price. She managed to gasp out: "Five hundred dollars for repairs! Why, missy, you can get 'em taken out for five!"

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

HOUSE-CLEANING FUN

Now, maybe you don't think that there is any fun to house-cleaning, but you don't know about the House-Cleaning family.

"I Can't Blame Them."

There are Mr. and Mrs. House-Cleaning. Then there are the Silver Cleaning Twins, the Bureau Drawer Cleaners. There are the aunts and uncles in the House-Cleaning family.

There is Willie Window Washer and there is Polly Picture Washer and there is Paddy Painter. Willie Window Washer is always around when the windows are being washed. Polly Picture Washer is around when the pictures are being washed and Paddy Painter is on hand when things are being freshly painted.

Of course, there are the Jolly Dust Brothers and there are the Dusty Back grandchildren. They're the ones who always play behind pictures and in corners and back of books which haven't been read, and behind chests of drawers which are hard to move out very often. The Jolly Dust Brothers and the Dusty Back grandchildren are driven out of the way by the House-Cleaning family.

"Well," said one of the Bureau Drawer Cleaners, "we've certainly had a busy day. We've been attending to the cleaning of so many bureau drawers."

"Dear me, some of the drawers were in most shocking condition, especially upper drawers. One upper drawer had everything in it any one could think of, and such disorder! Gracious, but it was a frightful mess. And then we had to keep at some of the people until they put things to rights."

"After they had washed out the drawers and had shaken out the things which had been in the drawers, how hard it was to get them to put the things back at the end of the day after the drawers were nice and dry. They felt so tired, then. But we kept after them. The House-Cleaning family won't let any one stop just because of feeling tired. It's our time of the year. We're not going to miss the excitement. So we won't let them rest while we're having our fun."

"People rest a little bit when I'm around," said Polly Picture Washer. "I'm afraid I'm not so dreadfully strict. They like to look at the pictures as they sit on the floors and wash the glass and wipe off the backs of the picture frames. And I can't blame them. But I make them work hard, too. I see that their water is dirty. I like to see dirty water, for it means they've taken the dirt off the pictures."

"Then I like to see clean water with nice soap suds in place of the dirty water."

"Oh, good fresh paint is the thing that makes a room or the outside of a house or a chair or a table look so fine," said Paddy Painter.

"Shining silver, that's the most important," said the Silver Cleaning Twins.

"The brass must be polished, too," said Billy Brass Polisher.

"The rugs must be beaten," said Reggie Rug Beater.

"Oh, everything must be attended to properly," said Mr. House-Cleaning, and Mrs. House-Cleaning said, "Yes, that is so. Nothing should be neglected in house-cleaning time. Let them have tired limbs, weary arms, but let us be allowed to do our work thoroughly. "We may be inconsiderate, but we do enjoy a good overhauling, a general cleaning of everything. That is what we enjoy. We love the confusion. We love moving from room to room and having some rooms so filled with things from others, that they can't be used. Then people always want what is in some place, almost impossible to get at. And that amuses us, too. For then we feel our power and our authority and that we have everything our own way. Ah, yes, we're the House-Cleaning family, and we think house-cleaning is fun."

Papa Was Bookkeeper.

"My papa's a bookkeeper," said little Albert, proudly.

"Yes, I know it," rejoined small Dorothy. "He borrowed a book from my papa six months ago and hasn't returned it."

WOMAN'S HEALTH RESTORED

See Claims, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did It After Everything Else Failed

Milwaukee, Wisconsin.—"I feel that I ought to let you know about my case. I was ailing and could barely do my house-work and washing I was so run-down, just from having one child. I took a lot of medicines and had doctors. Then I gave them all up and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I feel wonderfully good now. I do everything that comes along, and we all take your medicine as a tonic when we don't feel just so. I am thankful for what the Vegetable Compound has done for my health and for my family."—Mrs. MARY SAIBERCK, 944 28th Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Letters like these testify to the value of the Vegetable Compound. These women speak from the fullness of their hearts. They describe as correctly as they can their conditions: First, those symptoms that affected them most conspicuously; and later the disappearance of those symptoms. They are sincere expressions of gratitude. For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been so praised by women.

Mining With a Feather.

Placer mining in Mongolia is a primitive process compared even with the American pioneer methods of washing out gold in a pan. The Mongol—so Dr. Ferdinand Ossendowski tells us in his book "Bonas, Men and Gods"—lies flat on the ground, brushes the sand aside with a feather and keeps blowing into the little excavation so formed. From time to time he wets his finger and picking up on it a small bit of grain gold or a diminutive nugget, drops it into a little bag hanging under his chin. In this way he collects about a quarter of an ounce, or $5 worth, of gold a day.—Youth's Companion.

Cuticura for Sore Hands.

Soak hands on retiring in the hot suds of Cuticura Soap, dry and rub in Cuticura Ointment. Remove surplus Ointment with tissue paper. This is only one of the things Cuticura will do if Soap, Ointment and Talcum are used for all toilet purposes.—Advertisement.

The Man.

No man who hath eyes open spiritually will make more of structural alteration and addition to the church building than he does to the invisible superstructure of the church's life.—William Parkers.

Such assistance as one's friends may give is seldom satisfactory. The best way is not to require it.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL MENTION

W. N. Williamson, who has been ill with pneumonia of late, is improving and now able to be around.

Mrs. Rachel Kelley and daughter Creola Ward, left Saturday for Ft. Worth, Tex., where they will visit relatives.

Mrs. H. P. Clarke left for her home on Monday where she will spend the major portion of the vacation period and return to teach in the Carrizozo schools for the coming term.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Comrey, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Andrews, all of the Capitan neighborhood, were Carrizozo visitors on Wednesday.

T. M. DuBols and Lon Atkinson, ranchers whose interests are near Corona, were business visitors here Tuesday. They report stock and range in the pink of condition in their locality.

Miss Charlotte Bacot, sister of L. T. Bacot of the local E. P. & S. W. shops arrived here on Monday from San Diego, Calif., and will spend about six weeks here with her brother's family.

Nelle Katherine Farris, youngest daughter of J. H. Farris, operator at the local station, underwent an operation for mastoids recently. She is improving rapidly.

Mrs. Bessie Vaughn, who has been teaching the sixth grade in the local school, left Saturday for El Paso. She expects to attend school this summer and the coming school year at Silver City.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Phipps left on Monday for Tucumcari, where Mr. Phipps is employed by the E. P. & S. W. in the supervision of bridge work. They will make their home in that city for the coming summer.

Mrs. C. E. Roe, accompanied by her daughters, Evelyn and Dorothy, left on Tuesday for St. Louis, Mo., where they will visit with Mr. Roe's parents for a month, at least.

Contractor A. L. V. Nilsson of Tularosa spent three days of the past week here, attending to some important business matters. Mr. Nilsson is supervising the concrete and tile drainage work at Three Rivers which will be of so much importance to the surrounding country.

Prof. W. J. Klopp and Miss Stella Wyatt of Capitan were visitors here on Tuesday, prior to the departure of these two important educators for California, where they have signed contracts for the coming fall term of school.

Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Swearingen and son Ansel left Wednesday for an extended trip along the coast and will visit Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, returning by the way of Salt Lake City and Denver. They will be absent about two months.

Man Rides 30 Miles in Freight Car With Rails Mashing Feet

The second accident to occur at Las Vegas on a freight train within the past two months took place yesterday when a man's feet became pinned between heavy rails on a freight car, after which the train traveled about thirty-five miles, the man not being discovered by the train crew until they stopped in Las Vegas yesterday morning.

The man, Frank Watrington, was removed to the St. Anthony Sanitarium by the city authorities and it is believed that, although his foot is severely mangled, it can be saved. He stated to the hospital authorities that he was trying to go to Los Angeles from Kansas City but did not have money enough for railroad fare. Las Vegas Optic.

Opening Play, "The Gossipers"

Entertained at the Close of School Term

Last Friday being the last day of school, Mrs. Roy Skinner assisted by Mesdames W. McClane and J. V. Hobbie, entertained in honor of Frances, Gordon and Robert Skinner, her three children. An equal number of pupils were selected from each of the school rooms and an enjoyable time was had, after which refreshments were served. Those present were: Lena Harris, Lala Joyce, Elsie Fay Zumwalt, Emma Carleton, Otto Prehm, Maben White, J. R. Taylor, Boyd Loughrey, Henry Humphrey, Dean, Beatrice and Bethel Treat, Theodore and Eliza Hobbie, Georgia Rustin, Helen Sterling, Ruth Brickley, Fulton Duggar, James McGowan, Helen Frances Huppertz, Louise and Jeane Bacot, Eleanor Humphrey, Gussita Taylor, Raymond, Dee, and Talbert McClane, Frances, Gordon and Robert Skinner.

Amos Gaylord was down from the Helen Rae gold mine on Tuesday. Mr. Gaylord is engaged in inspecting the ore that was taken out at the time the mines were closed for repairs, so to make ready for renewal of activity in the near future. He finds that the ore is living up to the usual output in percentage of gold mineral of a fine quality. He is also prospecting for a lost vein of valuable ore.

Baptist Church Notes

(T. M. Blacklock, Pastor)

There will be divine services next Sunday at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m.

The Sunday school meets at 10 a. m., the Sunbeams at 2:30 p. m. B. Y. P. U. at 7 p. m. each Sunday. The prayer meeting each Wednesday at 8 p. m.

If you are not perfect, come and be benefitted. If you are perfect, then you owe it to others to come and make the church what it should be. You would not want to live in Carrizozo if there were no churches in town. Help us make the town better through the churches.
