Fort Stanton News

The writer, having spent ten days in the hospital, is so full of the splendid care and service of doctors, nurses, orderlies, and all, that nothing else seemed important at the moment.

Then the frequent calls and sincere interest of patients-visiting patients and of the Hoovers and the coterie of teachers from Capitan bringing flowers and autumn leaves, the Masons and Odd Fellows calling Sunday, the excellent music given from time to time by Miss Helen Rice, Friend Walters and others at the piano, just enough to make everyone wish for more, the joviality and good will of the patients themselves made ten days most pleasant and yet convinced one of the tedium of days and weeks and years of which many another has to endure, and the great praise due the splendid workers among the sick and the comfort which occasional visits and interest in their welfare would bring.

For news I asked Friend Olcese and others. On learning that it was for the Outlook he replied; "Tell them that I am always looking out all the time."

Dr. Anderson has been called away to discover if anthrax or something else is the peril in the Carlsbad district. Mrs. Gensler is back and the O. T. Department is making great strides toward its winter schedule and the wonderful Halloween party.

Those arriving recently were L. J. Hoffman, W. J. Dias, Samson Kritzer from New York and Capt. John Quick from New Orleans.

On Monday night Baron Auriemma of the Salvation Army, with the assistance of Mrs. W. W. Stuart and Paul Schrieber gave a wonderful concert to the patients and secured a very nice donation from the Personnel and from many of the patients in his work among the Salvation Army's several philanthropies.

Carrizozo Woman's Club

The Carrizozo Woman's Club opened the fall season last Friday night with a party and musicals in honor of the teachers of the Carrizozo schools at the home of Mrs. Albert Ziegler.

The Ziegler home was crowded to its capacity and the successful outcome of the entertainment was due to the efforts of the committee composed of Mesdames Ziegler, Blaney, Coe, Stadtman, French, McCall. The musical program which lasted from 8 to 9:30 met with the highest appreciation, each number being heartily and deservedly applauded in its well arranged order as follows:

- Song, "Spring Greetings" (The Blue Danube Waltz) J. Strauss. Mesdames Ray Lemon, Louis Adams, and Miss Connell. Welcome Address, Mrs. W. W. Stadtman. Response, Prof. J. W. Helm. Piano solo, "Liebestraume" Liszt. Miss Margaret Amelon. Accompanist, Mrs. A. Ziegler.

Following the musical program, delicious refreshments were served to over sixty members of the Club and guests, after which the remaining portion of a well spent evening was taken up in games, most of which were of a comical nature, having been arranged by the committee for this special occasion.

The next meeting of the Club will be held at the home of Mrs. C. A. McCammon on October 3.

Would Co-operate in Beautifying Carrizozo

The following letter from Mr. J. M. Hawkins, agent of the Public Relations Department of the E. P. & S. W., will be read with the deepest interest by those of our residents who have lost heart by reverses of the past and the generous tone of the message should renew our hope and increase our confidence in the friend, who has never deserted us. Read the letter.

El Paso, Texas, Sept. 20, 1924

Commercial Club, The Woman's Club, Carrizozo, N. M.

On "Public Relations" trips over the El Paso & Southwestern System, with a view to noting possible civic improvement in which the railroad might aid, the absence of shade trees in the towns was observed.

Advice with regard to this shortcoming, and a remedy was sought from Supervisor O. Fred Arthur, of the Lincoln National Forest. He at once promised to co-operate, without charge, a Department Tree expert to go with a railroad representative to study local conditions at Carrizozo and other towns.

The Agricultural Department of the Government has specialists whose knowledge as to suitable varieties of trees would be of great value to a community. Character of soil, altitude water supply, and climate need to be considered.

In a limited area in Carrizozo, doubtless street and park trees should be watered with fire hose, wagon tank until well started.

There are varieties that require less water than cottonwood trees, are more durable, and more suitable for streets and parks. It is not too early to plan for spring planting. Carrizozo is a substantial, permanent town, and ought to go in for making the place more attractive for its residents, and to draw and hold others.

Alamogordo, because of its park grove, and street trees, is the town most sought and remembered by travelers, by train and automobiles, of any between Kansas and California. So appreciative are the Alamogordo people of their beautifully shaded streets, the town board this year planted 350 two-year old treeings, American elms and others, to replace cottonwoods uprooted by the great storm of last winter. The total cost to the town treasury, for trees and labor, was but about seventy-five cents per tree, it was announced.

If the people of Carrizozo would plant trees on some of the main blocks, the railroad company might be allowed to waive charge for freight from the nursery, and also would plant trees and grass on the railroad premises. Certainly the effect of such improvement would be striking.

It is to be hoped the organizations to which this letter is addressed will secure the support of other clubs, the officials and all the people. Their town is going to be only what the people make of it.

The Santa Rosa Commercial Club, replying to a similar letter, is going for the plan. The Club contemplates beginning where fire hydrants are available, and spreading as the water mains are extended, with funds from the sale of $75,000 bonds lately voted.

Respectfully, J. M. HAWKINS, Public Relations Agent E. P. & S. W. R. Co.

Specialists in Thievery Also

Each Separate Division Has Its Own Peculiar Technique and Tools.

New York.—In the many years that thievery has flourished it has become highly specialized. Each separate division has its own technique and tools and is carried on by men skilled in their use.

Take any professional out of his particular department and the chances are that he would bungie the job. A first-class box car thief could no more fish a diamond ring from a jewelry store than an iron puddler could make the wheels of a 15-jewel movement go round.

How the Shoplifter Works. Thefts by customers are also difficult to detect unless the salespeople in the store detective catch them in the very act of lifting the merchandise.

Another method commonly used is for a person to take from a handbag a piece of cloth with the alleged purpose of matching it. When the cloth is put back into the bag a pair of silk stockings or a piece of alk underwear is stuffed in with it.

Chewing Gum as an Aid. Two methods are still used in the theft of rings. Both of them make use of a humble piece of chewing gum.

Thfts of hats are common. One method is for a woman wearing a $2 hat to walk into the store and ask to see a hat selling somewhere around $25.

One of the most daring of recent thefts occurred in a department store in an eastern city. A man wearing no hat approached a negro porter employed in the store.

The detective, however, was insistent, and the man was searched. A pair of gloves similar in color and design to those on sale at the counter was found in his pocket.

BOMA'S MONKEY ACTING

Boma, the chimpanzee, had been having a very nice time. He had been playing "Hunt-for-the-piece-of-string."

Is that piece used up? Well, here's another one for you.

Now let me think for a moment. Then he would start looking for the string again.

After a time he grew tired of these tricks. He felt as though he must do more to attract the attention of the crowd who were watching him.

Then the keeper spoke to him. "Boma," he said, "the people don't think you're being clever now. They're only laughing at you."

He kept on doing more and more of this and his face looked too absurd for words.

Now Boma, it is true, belonged to the monkey family, but he knew that when the keeper said, "Don't make a monkey of yourself," it meant that he was only acting in a silly, silly way.

After a time he came forth again and did fine tricks and leaped about gaily and had a beautiful time but he didn't "make a monkey of himself" again—not for some time anyway, as he didn't want to be laughed-at because he was foolish.

The Roots of All Evil Little Boy—Daddy, the teacher asks that I was just like a little tree, growing to be a big, sturdy oak. Is that right? Father—Yes, my boy, the compass is admirable. Little Boy—Well, then, where are my roots?

HEARS PLEA AND PASSES JUDGMENT BY TELEPHONE

Judge C. Carroll King of the District Court in Brockton, Mass. made the telephone useful in conducting court sessions. The other day a prisoner arrived too late for the regular session. The judge was at home eating his lunch. When informed over the telephone of the late appearance of the defendant, he had the letter put on the line and heard his plea, asked him questions and then imposed his sentence, all over the telephone. The arrangement was duly entered on the records of the clerk of the court.

Rebeka's Will Entertain On Halloween

The Rebekahs are planning to give one of the biggest dances of the season which will be called a halloween dance, although it will be given on Saturday night, Nov. 1, so that the following day will be one on which tired patrons may rest after the good time. This is one of the coming events which will be looked forward to with much pleasure and account of the record this organization has made for itself in the past for entertaining. Good music and a grand good time for all who attend. Mark it down as a place for an evening's enjoyment at Lutz Hall on Nov. 1.

A free public school is essential to the perpetuity of American institutions.

"Twilight" of Minds Might Work Wonders

To most grown-ups the child mind is an enigma, and it is reasonable to suppose that the grown-up mind is an enigma to the child. For a few hours there is a sudden "twilight" for a few hours, great changes would be apparent in the behavior of the one to the other, a writer in the Westminster Gazette comments.

Take, for instance, meal time—a period when youth and maturity wage their war. Mary and Bobbie would appreciate mothers' dislike for messy, noisy meals, and mother would realize in a flash how tiresome and dull it is to sit, quiet and be careful and clean and good right through all the course.

Naturally, a compromise would be effected. Mary would only drop her spoon once, and not see how far she could lean over to pick it up, capsting the chair and herself and knocking her glass of water over at one fell swoop. Bobbie would tip his plate (probably), but not at such an acute angle that the tablecloth would be drenched with rhubarb juice.

As for mother, instead of losing herself in gloomy contemplation of the years to pass before she could have her meals in peace, she would chat companionably and limit considerably her number of "don'ts."

Easy to Lose Way in British Guiana Bush

British Guiana-bush is a dangerous maze. Savages find their way by means of secret marks, but a tenderfoot enters at great risk. The country is five times the size of England, and there are not more than ten white men who have gone into the wilds of the interior, according to D. Bannerman Clarke, M. A., general manager of the Aranka Gold, Ltd., of Georgetown, British Guiana. "The natives," he says, "have the most marvellous sense of direction and find their way through the jungle with unerring precision. They have a sort of sign-language. They make marks on trees which only they understand, and if some one has followed the natives he can always tell how large the party was, whether they went and just when they passed the given spot, by these curious marks on the trees made with cutlasses. They also leave marks for their own guidance when they turn about and start homeward. Once you know the bush and its hidden sign language it is almost as easy to get about as in the open, but if a tenderfoot gets lost he is in a hopper's maze or has very little chance of getting out alive.

Europeans Like Codfish

It is a somewhat strange coincidence that no codfish swim nearer the Mediterranean sea than the banks of Newfoundland or Iceland. The dwellers in that part of the world, however, eat cod, salted, and cooked in many and varied forms. New England for many years got its salt from Italy and paid for it with codfish, sometimes with Old Medford rum. These days are past. The French explorers who followed close upon the heels of Columbus discovered the virtues of Newfoundland cod. Lately curing plants have been established on the Mediterranean shores of France—to save the handling since the Mediterranean peoples eat so much of it, also because the salt is conveniently dried out from the very salty water of the Mediterranean.

Unable to Oblige

An actor was stopped one day by a pretty girl, who planted a yellow chrysanthemum in his buttonhole, gave him a lingering smile and hurried off without a word.

The actor went on his way and that evening received a note from the girl, reminding him of the afternoon's romantic episode and asking him to send her two seats as a memento of the occasion.

The actor, with a grim smile, snatched up a postcard and wrote the pretty girl these lines:

"I should be delighted to send you the seats you ask for as a memento, but on personal investigation at the theater I find that they are all nailed down."

Record Cold June

A vivid account of the cold June of 1816 has been unearthed at Westport, Vt. In the yellowed pages of an ancient account book which belonged to one Sirocco Spaulding. "The six of June it snowed from 8 o'clock in the morning to 3 o'clock in the afternoon like a snowstorm supposed to run as much as four or five inches of snow if it had not melted, and the night following it froze the ground one inch deep, and continued froze the seventh day where the sun did shine all day, and the eighth day morning it snowed about two hours and the ground was white in many places."

Generates Fierce Heat

What is declared to be the hottest name known to man has been produced by artificial means in experiments held to study the form of stone. An electric blast, lasting for only a small part of a second, occurring on a charged wire, seemed to explode, creating heat so intense that it could not be measured, although estimates put it at as high as 30,000 degrees. Pictures taken at the explosion are expected to aid astronomers in solving the causes for different kinds of light thrown off by many of the planets.

Prosperous Era Ahead

Exports of copper from this country for the year ending June 30, show total shipments of 961,119,040 pounds. Of the total for the first six months of this year, 1,83,273,920 pounds were shipped to Germany and Holland; 118,941 pounds to the United Kingdom and 92,089,966 pounds to France.

If the foregoing returns were possible with Europe in an unsettled condition, much better results may be expected if European conditions stabilized and worked out under the Dawes which has been accepted and is now in operation.

After five years of political wrangling in European affairs it is any wonder that in business and industry breathe a sigh of relief when business ideas begin to control in international affairs instead of diplomatic bunkum. If we, in our country, would profit by Europe's experience, we will demand sound economic business conditions here instead of political tomfoolery and inefficiency which would cripple our industrial and financial system. —The Manufacturer.

Smoking in the Far East.

Chinese gentlemen spend much of their time in smoking. The well-to-do Chinese has a body servant always at his side to fill his pipe, to light it for him and to put it in his mouth. Smoking one of the strange little Chinese pipes is quite a bother. They are so small that they only hold enough tobacco for a few puffs. Then the ashes have to be knocked out of the pipe and it is immediately refilled. Nothing is of more importance to the Mongolian woman than her pipe. She may be seen interrupting any household task or pulling up a galloping pony to take a puff at her pipe. These devotees of the pipe are looked upon as very inferior to the men of their tribe, and are shown little consideration by the husbands for whom they slave. As the men do not like manual labor, the women are compelled to do practically all of the heavy work of the fields as well as at the home.

First to Explore Grand Canyon.

The first complete exploration of the Grand canyon was made in 1869 by an expedition in charge of Maj. W. Powell, noted geologist. He had boats especially built for the trip. It was an undertaking of extreme danger, forming, as F. S. Dellenbaugh says in his interesting "Romance of the Colorado River," "one of the distinguished feats of history," for not one of the pioneering party could have any conception of what the physical obstacles were before them when he boats set out at the canyon's head into the unknown. Powell was a Civil war veteran, and had but one hand. He made a second and more leisurely trip in 1871-72.

Joy Turned to Sorrow.

A letter which had been brought by the postman was thinner than the bulky ones which a struggling young author usually received, and he tore it open eagerly and read: "Your recent favor stating that you inclose manuscript of story, with stamps for return found suitable, has been received. Your contribution is accepted." "At last!" exclaimed the young author joyfully. But his heart seemed to sink as his eyes caught the following: "P. S.—You neglected to inclose the manuscript."—Montreal Gazette.

16,400,000 Books Printed.

Based on conclusions on what is considered reliable data, an English librarian estimates that since the invention of printing in Europe in the fifteenth century the output of the world's book presses has amounted to about 16,400,000 works, of which some 4,800,000 have been printed since 1800. The librarian believes that perhaps 20,000 of all the books printed still possess value.

"COLD IN THE HEAD"

It is an acute attack of Nasal Catarrh. Those subject to frequent "colds in the head" will find that the use of HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will build up the system and render them less liable to colds. Repeated attacks of Acute Catarrh may lead to Chronic Catarrh. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions. Protection!
FIRE, burglary and health protection, represented in a telephone instrument, costs but a few cents a day.
In the dead of night you may discover your home on fire. You must call for help quickly. A telephone summons brings the department on the run. That's protection.
Police can be called quickly and quietly if you have a telephone. That's protection, too.
And suppose the baby suddenly falls ill. A doctor is needed NOW. The telephone saves priceless minutes. That's the best protection of all.

Think how much safer your wife feels when there is a telephone in the house while you are away.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lutz and daughter, Belle, left Sunday morning for Roswell, where after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Henry Lutz, they went on to Amarillo, Texas, for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Bamberger. They expect to be absent about two weeks.

Frank Maxwell returned Tuesday morning from his eastern trip which he made about one month ago to take his son, Warden and sister-in-law, Mrs. Lancaster, to Wardenaville, West Virginia. After a visit at the Warden home, Mr. Maxwell took Warden and little Mary on a sight-seeing trip to the Niagara Falls and other points of interest along the Atlantic seaboard and on their return, left the children with their grandparents for the fall and winter to attend school.

Mining engineer Samuel Coldren came in Wednesday from Ray, Arizona, and left Thursday morning, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Eva Coldren, who will make her home in Ray for the fall and a portion of the winter season. Mr. Coldren is in the employ of the Ray Consolidated Copper Company.

Road foreman Wm. Ferguson, returned last week from finishing up the road work in the Rhodes canyon between Hot Springs and Tulsa. In speaking of the Hot Springs road boosters, Billy says they are certainly a lot of good sports. They gave him all the assistance in their power, besides coming over on Sunday with a big dinner for the boys. Our Hot Springs neighbors appreciate good service.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bond of Eastland, and Mrs. R. D. Blaylock of Colorado, Texas, passed through here Tuesday morning on a return pleasure trip to Magdalena and the Mogollon mountains. Mr. Bond is a printer, but is one of the fortunate ones who made his escape and is now a prosperous Texas farmer.

Mrs. C. Lumbkins and children and Mr. Sol S. W. brother of Mrs. Lumbkins, were down from Nogal yesterday.

Mrs. Geo. Rustin is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. Braun at her home in El Paso and the Misses Jewel and Mary Lou Townsend are with the Rustin girls during their mother's absence.

J. C. Mitchelmore, the congenial secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Fort Stanton, was a Carrizozo visitor Tuesday. Mr. Mitchelmore is deeply interested in the welfare of the boys, and will organize a boys' club in the county shortly.

THE PROSPECTORS' RACE FOR LIFE

IN THE fall of 1906 Low Crandall and George Williams were prospecting on the Blackfoot Indian reservation in northern Idaho. The Indians had driven them out twice, warning them never to return, but the lure of the gold chase proved stronger than any fear of the savages.

One day the two men foolishly went to their prospect hole without their rifles, and while busy at work failed to notice a party of Blackfeet surrounding them until the circle was almost closed. As the prospectors made a dash for their camp in the woods, a quarter of a mile away, the Indians closed in. Williams was the slower runner and a warrior had almost overtaken him when Crandall wheeled suddenly, picked up a rock and hurled it at the head of the savage, who barely had time to throw himself to the ground to avoid it.

This diversion allowed Williams to reach the forest safely, but it nearly sealed Crandall's fate. Three tomahawks were thrown at him, but he dodged them all. An one Indian, swifter than the others, sprang forward to grapple with the white man, Crandall, seeing that he had no weapon, jerked a dead limb from a tree and felled the savage with one mighty blow.

In the woods the white men separated and Crandall never saw his partner again. By a series of tricks—backtracking, wading in brooks and hiding in trees and on high rocks—he managed to elude his enemies, but he could not shake them off his trail entirely. For three days and two nights the chase continued and in all that time the prospector had no food or sleep.

Finally he came to a broad prairie, and here the ceaseless strain of his unrelaxing vigilance brought the final calamity. Crandall went blind staggering into a clump of sagebrush, he lay down to await the end, but when at last he heard footsteps he clutched a stone and arose for a desperate blind defense. But instead of an Indian yell he heard an Irish voice say, "What's the matter wid ye?"

He had been found by a detachment of soldiers from Fort Lapwal, who were themselves lost. Blind as he was, Crandall guided them to the fort.

The Fall season Dance given by "Ding's Diablos" last Saturday night was a well attended affair and dance fans enjoyed themselves to the limit. As this dance opened the season's pleasure period in this line of amusement, a good sized crowd was on hand to usher in the season and have a good time. They were not disappointed. The Diablos gave them what they came for.

Capitan School Notes

(E. S. Copeland) Mr. D. W. Roekey, state high school inspector, paid us a visit recently.

An excellent stage has been constructed in the high school room which will be of much material benefit in putting on the various school entertainments.

A trip down the Ruidoso impresses one with the bountiful crops there, and the evidence of prosperity, aside from the grandness of the scenery.

An attempt will be made to have both a boys' and girls' basket ball team this fall. Mr. Cummins will have charge of the boys, and Miss Coffey, assisted by Miss Townsend, will have charge of the girls. Practice begins this week.

The playground equipment has been repaired and placed in good condition, a circumstance much appreciated by the youngsters. The outbuildings have been rebuilt and made sanitary, and the school grounds, cistern, etc., put in good shape for the school year.

Baron Auriemma, who is well known to the people of the southwest as a worker for the Salvation Army, gave a most delightful and artistic concert at the high school Saturday evening. The one regret is that more people did not hear him. He is a professional singer of national renown, and has recently made some records for the Victor Company. Had the event been better advertised we are confident that a crowded house would have greeted the famous singer.

A reception was given Friday night by the people of the community for the faculty of the Capitan schools. A good old fashioned community sing was much enjoyed by all, after which coffee and cake were served. From the interest evinced in the singing, perhaps such gatherings will be held occasionally this winter. We believe there is nothing better for a town or community than coming together for a good sing-fest. It develops co-operation, causes folks to forget some of their worries, and tends toward the formation of a better neighborhood spirit.

Would Mars Rebuke Us For Shortcomings?

Scottish Rite News Bureau: For a month, the eyes of the astronomers were turned on Mars. As the brilliant planet swung nearer and nearer to the earth, the intensity of popular interest deepened. Would the powerful telescopes disclose any indication of intelligence and life upon that blazing star? If so, would sufficient information be revealed to enable us to judge something of the nature of that life? Are there intelligent creatures on that planet and if such there be, are they trying to communicate with the earth?

Speculations were rife and the world listened eagerly for any sign from the washers on the Jungfrau and Mount Wilson that new knowledge was being obtained, or that communication was being established with our near yet distant celestial neighbor.

But all in vain. The planet shone on with its cheery or baneful light, dependent upon the mental bias of the star-gazer. The only answer to human queries—a twinkle, a gleam, a shaft of brilliance. Perhaps it was a rebuke to the soaring curiosity of man; perhaps it was a challenge to solve the problems near at hand before wandering afield in quest of planetary Hiddies; perhaps it was a command to clean up our own back yards before coming a conqueror of the intergalactic spaces. So long as we are unable to cope with illiteracy, grinding poverty, war, industrial feudalism and religious hatreds, we need not longingly peer through our telescopes to discover life on Mars.
