

Let Us Organize An Old Settler's Society

There are many people living in these parts, who came here in the early days. These old residents are the foundation of our commonwealth; to them belongs the honor of blazing the way from conditions which tried men's souls, to the peaceful privileges which we now enjoy. To listen to these old residents relate accounts of by-gone days inspires us with the idea that too little attention is paid to their importance. Now and then one of the "old guard" is called to his, or her reward, and the papers dwell on the merits of the departed ones while flowers are scattered as loving tributes to the worthy dead. While this is all fitting, appropriate, and as little as we can do, yet why not say a little and do a little to show the old resident just what we think of him while he is yet with us? Why not scatter a few flowers in his pathway before he gets beyond the reach of mortal help and tribute. We are, first, in favor of organizing an Old Settler's Society which will include in its membership all old residents of Lincoln County. After this organization has been effected, entertainments may be arranged which will be of great interest to our old settlers. Besides, this will afford our old neighbors the blessed get-together privileges gained by such an organization. We have talked with a number of our old settlers and they are heartily in favor of the movement to organize, so let us start the ball rolling—Who will help? Now is the time.

S. H. Nickles, No. 1.

The night before the hunting season opened, S. H. Nickles took his bedding and motored up far toward the top of Carizo Mountain, and from there, carried his belongings to the summit so he could find a good place to put in the night. Early in the morning of the "open season" he arose and after traveling a short distance, saw a fine buck emerge from his concealment, making a dash for the next cluster of trees.

Mr. Nickles fired, striking him in the shoulder, but he kept up his gait until a second shot brought him to the ground. Being some three miles from his car it made the task of getting his catch to that point exceedingly difficult, as the deer weighed over 200 pounds. He skinned the animal, and divided the carcass and in that manner carried his prize to the car. The buck was exceedingly fat and made fine eating. He presented this office with a portion of the deer, for which we return our thanks.

Bagged Two Big Bears

William Reilly and Tom Bragg bagged two big black bears last Sunday in sight of Carrizozo near Nozal Mountain. They started out early and trailed the pair of bruisers, finally bringing them to the killing. They telephoned the news to Carrizozo and a truck was sent up which brought the bears to town. They were fine specimens and made good eating.

Hail to Our Distinguished Guests

Hon. Merritt C. Mechem, Senator A. B. Fall and party arrived on schedule time Thursday accompanied by a large crowd of admirers from neighboring towns anxious to lend their efforts to the big rally and to hear the distinguished gentlemen, who addressed the meeting. The party was composed of Hon. Merritt C. Mechem, candidate for governor, Hon. Senator A. B. Fall, Hugh Williams, Oliver Lee as principals accompanied by many who joined the contingent at points between here and Roswell. George Spence, precinct chairman, opened the meeting by introducing Hon. Merritt C. Mechem who addressed the meeting which was the biggest political gathering witnessed in Carrizozo for years. He reviewed the charges made against him in the present campaign by the Albuquerque Journal, the editor of which, Judge Mechem said, was not even a legal voter in the State of New Mexico.

He told, in a straightforward and honest manner of how that editor had made attempts to induce him to come out with a "dash" against some of our most prominent public men, principal among whom was our United States Senator A. B. Fall. Judge Mechem held his audience in close attention as he reviewed the principles of the Republican platform and repeated his assertions with firmness and telling effect, that he had made no promises to any individual and stood in the position to be dictated to, only by the people whom he would represent should he be elected as governor.

Senator Fall followed with an address on the league of nations. He riddled the document from beginning to ending and said that the league of nations, if carried out as proposed by the present arrangement which the President insisted must not be changed by the dotting of an I or the crossing of a T, and said that in case the same should ever pass, the people of New Mexico could look for his resignation as their United States Senator. Senator Fall was followed by Hugh Williams, who gave a very interesting talk ending with a recitation entitled, "Life Is a Funny Proposition, After All." The Crystal Theatre was crowded to overflowing, many having to be turned away on account of lack of seating capacity. The party left early to-day for Alamogordo, where a big meeting is planned for to-night.

Chas. Felton Grey "The Home Man"

If the people of Lincoln and Socorro Counties want a representative that will give the two counties equal representative service and work for the joint interest of our section in general, let them vote for the above named gentleman. Mr. Grey is a practical civil engineer, who has had a good amount of experience and knows the leaps and bounds of the territory of both counties. He is conscious of the fact that many things of importance effecting the interests of both the counties will come up for consideration within the next two years and the people may rest assured of the fact that Mr. Grey will protect our interests in every manner possible. He is on the Republican ticket and his platform is big enough for all the people to stand on re-

Price Gets the Limit

S. A. Price is the champion Wild Turkey Hunter of the season. Mr. Price, in company with two other Carrizozo friends, took a trip to Water Canyon in search of the festive turkey. When they returned, there were three birds in the car, but it seems that S. A. killed the entire lot. However, Mr. Price is a "game sport" and always divides up. Each had a turkey.

George Ferguson returned from his vacation trip this week, leaving Mrs. Ferguson and the baby at the home of Mrs. Ferguson's mother at Santa Rosa on the return trip, where she will visit a week or so. George looks fine and in good condition to lead the Ferguson's "Joy Makers" to the satisfaction of lovers of the dance.

Mrs. C. G. Gokey spent a portion of the present week in El Paso. Mrs. Jane Moore, coming up from El Paso, is here visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ed Harris.

Deer Hunters Asked to Be Careful With Fire

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 22— "Be careful with fire in the mountains" is the parting request of the Forest Service to the hundreds of deer hunters who are starting for the woods during the next few days to be on hand for the opening of the season on Oct. 20. The New Mexico forests have been extremely dry, according to reports received by the District Forester, and while the recent storms have temporarily relieved the situation, a few days of sunshine will again make every neglected campfire or unextinguished match a source of danger.

Hunters are requested to observe the game laws, to leave their camps clean, to respect the property of ranchmen and settlers, and to avoid careless shooting with high-power rifles. The Forest Service points out that real sportsmen do not have to be reminded to respect the rights and property of others, but that unseasoned beginners are apt to be careless. The co-operation of all citizens is requested in the prevention of damage and accidents in the woods.

Blues Entertain Reds

There are two contest clubs in the Baptist Church, Blues and Reds. Last Thursday evening the Blues entertained the Reds at the home of Mrs. C. H. Haines. The Epworth League of the Methodist Church received an invitation, to which a goodly number responded. The evening was pleasantly spent in games of different kinds, during which time refreshments were served. The Blues and Reds Clubs are made up of different members of the young folk in the church and engage in friendly contests in work connected with the religious cause, which is in the way of emulation as to who can best work, and best agree; and the above account of the entertainment at the home of Mrs. Haines is a fair sample of the manner in which the clubs exercise their friendly and religious courtesy toward each other.

Woman's Club Musical

The Musical given by the Woman's Club last Friday afternoon was extremely successful. A good attendance greeted the first of the series arranged by the ladies of this important society since its organization. As this is the branch superintended by Mrs. Albert Ziegler, her program proved interesting and delightful. The second of the series will be announced later. The program for the musical follows:

1. Piano Duet, Polish Dance, Salarwonka. Mrs. D. Sauerbros and Mrs. T. B. Kelly
2. Recitation, "Toluhonin' Marco Henry. Geo. Reilly.
3. Man John Solo, Mid-Summer Waltzes. Vandevogel. Miss Laureen Wilcox. Mrs. A. Ziegler, Piano Accomp.
4. Vocal Solo, Darlin'. Harold G. Frost. Miss Carrie Roberts and Miss Ivy Linday, Piano Accomp.
5. Chorus, The Armorer's Song. De Koven. Club.

One Apiece

Stanley Squier and W. P. Loughrey have each bagged one Wild Turkey; they are looking for the other two apiece which are coming to them, and we hope they will get them before the season closes.

Daniel joined in merrily and more than held his own in the three-cornered melee.

Very naturally his enemies attacked first what seemed to them his most vulnerable spot. "Why did he change his name?" "Why did he need an alias?"

When they had given up all hope of ever sounding it and were searching in despair for a successful plummet, Daniel very deliberately laid bare on the first page of his newspaper everything it contained.

The bomb exploded with a deafening crash, and with a howl and a shriek his foes were upon him.

And then when the rumble and bomb had died away, when the blood and smoke had passed, Hugh Daniel Fitzrandolph stood before the populace—a hero.

Daniel rushed his campaign onward with a tireless zeal that outdistanced his rivals and led them to view. Here, as in the wheat pit, his endurance and energy were a marvel to all who knew him.

The campaign came to a whirlwind finish. Daniel rose at daybreak on election eve and was on the go ceaselessly for twenty hours.

While smoking a good-night cigar with Hunt at two o'clock next morning he remarked:

"Altogether, Harry, it has cost me a warm million dollars. But it has been worth it—every cent. I've had a million dollars' worth of fun."

Yet an hour later, had one looked in the front room of Daniel's apartment, one would have doubted it. The room was quite dark, and before the front windows overlooking Grant park he was sitting very silent and motionless.

From the avenue below came sounds of an irresponsible quartette. They were rendering "The Heart Howled Down" and even their untutored throats, ruffled with libations, could not wholly mar the tragic sweetness of Balfe's sad melody.

The melancholy strains, something softened by the distance, floated celestially up to him. Music—over the worst—always had a singular effect upon Daniel. Good or bad, he could never listen to it without feeling within him a responsiveness transcending the composer's note.

to realize the composer essayed, yet failed to attain.

His elbows resting on the arms of the chair, his chin on his interlaced fingers, he sat for a long while gazing into the foggy gloom.

Yes—Yes, he had failed once more. He would fail next time. He would always fail. He could not forget. He could never forget.

Daniel started, sat up suddenly, looked round with a jerk. It was past nine o'clock. He had been asleep in his chair five hours.

After casting his ballot the day seemed a void. There was nothing more to do. It was all over now. Already the election was practically settled.

Returning, however, he left the car at Twenty-fourth street continued afoot toward town, his raincoat collar turned up, his soft hat down, and wandered aimlessly about, taking studious care to shun his usual haunts.

CHAPTER XV.

All afternoon of that rainy April fourth, Daniel roamed restlessly about the loop, until, shortly before dark, the returns began coming in.

From the start it was plainly seen which way the election tended. Dinwoody was carrying the First, Fourth, Fifth, Tenth, Sixteenth and Eighteenth wards by a big plurality.

Before eight o'clock the winner was known.

John Dinwoody, champion of vice and crime, was elected mayor of Chicago.

With a sickening dissolution, Daniel's castle came crumbling about his ears, and he lay among the ruins and the dust, bruised and stunned by the utter havoc, yet unresigned to the inevitable.

Scouting a storm of questions about his unexplained absence, Daniel forestalled it by outlining to his secretary a philanthropic plan of such magnitude that the curiosity of the two was drowned in astonishment.

"I believe you're kidding!" exclaimed Hunt. "Do you know what such a thing would cost?"

"Fully"—glancing over the letters and telegrams beside his plate.

"It would take the bulk of your fortune, rich as you are."

"Not 'would,' Harry, 'will.'" Putting aside his mail, and devouring a thick steak as he talked, Daniel continued: "I shall establish these houses in every town of a hundred thousand or more.

In New York, Philadelphia and Chicago there will be one to every two hundred thousand inhabitants—or more if useful. They will be self-supporting, nonprofit-making. Those who can afford will have food and shelter at the set cost of provision. Those who cannot will have both free. Above all else, I want no publicity. In fact, I prefer having my name left out of it altogether. I wish you two would remember that, and act accordingly. Each of these settlements, by the way, will be known as an Esther Street memorial."

Hunt interposed. "Esther Street? Let me see—why, that woman was an anarchist!"

"She was something more besides, Harry. She was a great attractant." Daniel looked down, stirring his coffee slowly and thoughtfully. "And she did me an irremediable wrong," he quietly ended.

Hunt burst out: "Then why the—?"

"I'm hanged if I know, Harry! I suppose it is a queer notion. We all have them, don't we?" He added in an odd voice: "Perhaps I deserved all I got. Anyway, I believe she was a martyr."

"A martyr to anarchy?"

"But even a martyr to what she considered right."

"Steady, Dan," said Hunt. "You're getting morbid. Come along to the pit today. There's something stirring in summer wheat. It'll wake you up; make you your old self again."

"No use, Harry. I'm finished with speculating."

"You talk like a tin-been! Why, you're just starting in life. You've got to do something. A man like you can't loaf. What's it going to be?"

"Giving to others."

Hunt jerked his head impatiently. "I mean what business, what line? You've got some big thing up your sleeve, Dan. Out with it."

Daniel dabbed his fingers in a finger-bowl. While drying them on a napkin the vertical lines appeared sharply between his brows. He lighted a cigarette.

"Henceforth I am going to take my happiness in my own way. I learned how at daybreak this morning. I am going to give, give, give. And I won't stop giving until the last cent is gone."

"Dan, I believe you've gone crazy."

"And I believe," said the secretary, who read his Bible on occasion, "that Mr. Fitzrandolph shows a very keen wisdom. Furthermore—well, there is a verse in Saint Matthew, which runs: 'Ye are the salt of the earth.'"

Jonas, the valet, touched his sleeve. "A special delivery letter, sir."

Taking the square envelope from the servant's salver, without observing the superscription, the secretary opened it and perused the contents. He knitted his brows.

"Puzzling," he murmured, scratching the back of his head. "It's anonymous, has neither beginning nor end—"

He looked suddenly at the envelope, then, with an apology, handed the message to his employer. "I didn't notice it. It's marked 'personal.'"

One glance at the sheet of note-paper, and Daniel sank into his chair. With his strong fingers he pinned the note to the table, breathing rapidly through dilated nostrils.

Hunt, sitting next to him, recalled afterward that it was the only time in all the years he had known him that he had ever seen the man's hand tremble.

Daniel looked up, stared blankly a moment at the two silently questioning faces. His lip quivered slightly.

"Boys, I've received startling news. I've changed my mind about giving everything away. I'll go ahead with those houses. But I'll go a little saner. In a little saner manner, you understand. And, boys, I am going to do that big thing!"

He sprang up. "Jonas! Call a good livery stable. I want their best saddle horse at twelve sharp. Craig, make an appointment for tomorrow morning with Stanley Graham, the architect. Phone for the head barber downstairs. Jonas, mention ten dollars to him."

Then, without say of them knowing what it was all about, the speculator, the secretary, and the valet, had their hands seized and wrung with a vim that crushed their fingers.

Hunt, burning with curiosity, permitted his eye to rest momentarily upon the opened note lying on the table. He could make nothing out of it. It began without preface and was unsigned. It consisted of two questions, written in a flowing, girlish hand:

"Do you remember our last appointment? Will you keep it today?"

As the superbly lithe, red-haired young woman mounted with cool composure on the scorial horse, castered serenely past the Grant monument in Lincoln park she glanced at her watch and saw it was one o'clock. A garden-er spading the soft ground beside the bridle-path stopped his work, as well anyone might, to follow her with admiring gaze. There was a delicious "earthy" smell of spring in the air, a vernal gushing all about.

Presently—she had passed the end of the blisset just north of the monument—she turned in her saddle, and perceived far to the south a dark shape growing rapidly larger. She jerked the reins precipitately, wheeled about, started back in alarm. Her admirable tranquillity had vanished.

Goose! What did he mean? He was a full hour early.

Escape was cut off. Quickly she guided her horse into the concrete arch monument—and waited. Her perturbation increased. Her gloved hand toyed nervously with her riding crop. Her heart pounded against her side. She smoothed for the fifth time her stylish riding-habit, adjusted for the tenth time the pointed hat atop her Titian hair.

What did he mean? He was an hour early—

Now she could hear the rhythmic thud of the hoof-beats. They were coming with break-neck speed. Louder and nearer, louder and nearer, louder and nearer—

A form shot past. Her heart leapt to her throat.

Then the scuffle of a horse checked in a headlong gallop, swiftly returning sounds, and the archway was darkened by a broad-shouldered, athletic man astride a heaving, foam-flecked steed.

His age sat lightly upon him. He looked much younger than he was. He had swept off his hat, and his thick black hair, matted damply against his forehead, showed never a trace of gray. He was distinguished rather than good-looking, and the skin of his newly—and wholly—shaven face was as fresh, as clear, and as glowing as her own.

Stirring within the minds of these two, who had beyond question proved their love for one another, who had known sorrow and bitterness and despair, who had traveled years to reach this moment, treading a long circle to fuse it at last, were—who shall say what thoughts and emotions?

But suppose I tell you what the gardener, spading the soft ground beside the bridle-path, overheard?

"... Well, Kate, how are you? You came a little early. Two 'was the hour, you know..."

"... Dan, I like you ever so much better without the beard..."

FUTURE MOTHER OF HEROES

Small Girl, Brave After Operation, Deserves the Encomiums of the Operating Surgeon.

"Now," said the surgeon, "look right over there in that corner, and maybe—maybe—there, it's all over, and you never know what hurt you. My, but you are a brave girl."

At that moment the chubby little girl sitting atop the operating table—did not look very brave. Surprise was in her eyes and two great tears ready to roll down upon the marble slab, for the woman doctor, realizing that more than half the pain of the small operation which is the rule in the daily clinic at Mercy hospital, is due to the dread of it, had stolen a march on little Marie, and the operation was over before Marie knew it had begun.

"Yes," continued the kindly doctor, as she hid the shining blade behind her, "you are a mighty brave little girl. You aren't going to cry."

Marie blinked the tears back and straightened up her small body.

"Course not," she said, "I've four years old." And her big eyes gazed proudly into those of the surgeon.

"Here," said the doctor as she turned the small girl over to the nurse for out patients, "is the future mother of heroes—American heroes."—Kansas City Star.

Famous Woman Orator. Mary A. Livermore was born in Boston, Mass., Dec. 19, 1821. She was not more than 11 or 12 years old when she conceived the idea of helping her parents by some definite occupation.

She learned to sew, and made flannel shirts at 6 1/2 cents apiece. Regarded by the pastor of her church as a prodigy, at the age of 14 she was sent by him to the Charlestown Female seminary, where she soon ranked with the best scholars the institution ever had. At the age of 20 she was placed in charge of the Duxbury high school, Mass., a position of unusual rank for a woman at that time. With the outbreak of the Civil war in 1861 she became an organizer in woman's war work. In 1863 she made her first public address at Dubuque, Iowa. Her wonderful talents as an orator were immediately recognized, and her fame as a speaker soon became nation-wide.

Not His Own Words. The hoary-headed examiner glanced over the top of his spectacles. "Are you sure," he inquired, "that this is a purely original composition you have handed in?"

"Yes, sir," came the answer. "But you may possibly, sir, have come across one or two words in the dictionary."—Eighty.

There is more Cataract in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a fatal disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Cataract to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Cataract Cure, manufactured by Dr. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

STATE HIGHWAY BOND PROPOSALS

Pursuant to Chapter 172, Laws of 1919, the following act is hereby submitted to the qualified voters at the General Election to be held November 2, 1920.

MANUEL MARTINEZ, Secretary of State.

CHAPTER 172.

AN ACT PROVIDING FOR THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS BY THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO IN THE SUM OF TWO MILLION DOLLARS TO PROVIDE FUNDS FOR THE CONSTRUCTION AND IMPROVEMENT OF STATE HIGHWAYS, PROVIDING A TAX LEVY FOR THE PAYMENT OF INTEREST AND PRINCIPAL OF SAID BONDS AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES.

Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 80, (as amended): Approved March 17, 1919.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of New Mexico:

Section 1—For the purpose of providing funds for the construction and improvement of State Highways and for meeting allotments of Federal funds made to the state under the Act of Congress known as the "Federal Road Aid Act," an indebtedness of the State of New Mexico is hereby authorized in the sum of two million dollars.

Section 2—Immediately after the issuing of the proclamation of the Governor as provided in Section 10 of this act the State Treasurer shall prepare negotiable coupon bonds of the State of New Mexico in the denominations of one thousand dollars each, or smaller denominations not less than one hundred dollars each as the Governor shall determine, to be numbered consecutively and to bear date January 1st, 1920, said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first day of July, and the first day of January each year, and both the principal and interest shall be payable in gold coin or its equivalent in lawful money of the United States at the office of the State Treasurer in the City of Santa Fe, New Mexico, or at some bank in the City of New York, State of New York, or such other place as may be designated in said bonds and in the coupons attached thereto, at the option of the holder.

The principal of said bonds shall be payable to bearer thirty years after their date, and it shall be provided in said bonds that they may be redeemed at the option of the state at any time after ten years from their date; said bonds shall be signed by the Governor, attested by the Secretary of State under the seal of the state and countersigned by the State Treasurer, and shall be registered by the State Auditor in a book to be kept by him for that purpose in which shall be entered the date, number, amount and series of each bond and the amount for which the same shall have been sold. The full faith and credit of the State of New Mexico is hereby pledged for prompt payment at the maturity of the principal and interest of all said bonds which may be issued and sold as provided in this act.

It shall be provided in each bond so issued that if it shall be called for redemption before maturity notice thereof in writing shall be given by the State Treasurer to the bank designated in the bonds as the alternative place for payment, at least thirty days before the date for redemption, and in a letter thereto notice thereof shall be published by the State Treasurer in a newspaper published in Santa Fe, New Mexico, and also a newspaper published in the City of New York, State of New York, once each week for four successive weeks next prior to the date fixed for redemption and if any bond so called for redemption be not then presented for payment, it shall cease to bear interest from and after the date so fixed for redemption.

Section 3—Interest coupons payable to bearer shall be attached to each of said bonds and shall be consecutively numbered specifying the number of the bond to which they are attached and shall bear the lithographed or engraved facsimile of the signature of the State Treasurer in office at the time when such bonds are prepared and printed, and such coupons shall be valid obligations of the state notwithstanding that the person whose signature appears thereon may have ceased to be such State Treasurer when such bonds are issued and sold, and said bonds signed, countersigned and attested as in this act provided shall, when duly issued and sold be valid obligations of the State although the issue and sale thereof be made after the person so signing, countersigning and attesting the same shall have ceased to be the incumbents of their respective offices. The bonds authorized by this act shall be sold by the State Treasurer at such times and in such amounts as the Governor shall direct to the highest bidder for cash. The Governor shall issue such directions to the State Treasurer upon being requested so to do by resolutions of the State Highway Commission specifying the amount of money which in the judgment of said Commission shall be required from time to time for the purposes for which such indebtedness is authorized. Before offering any of such bonds for sale the State Treasurer shall detach therefrom any coupons which may have matured or will mature before the date fixed for such sale. He shall publish a notice of the time and place of sale in one newspaper published in Santa Fe, New Mexico, in one newspaper published at Albuquerque, New Mexico, and in one newspaper published in each of the cities of New York, State of New York, and Chicago, State of Illinois, once each week for four successive weeks prior to the date fixed for such sale, such date being not less than thirty days after the first advertisement in each of said newspapers, such notice shall specify the amount, denomination, maturity, and description of the bonds to be sold and the place, day and hour at which sealed bids will be received for the purchase of said bonds. At the place and time named in said notice the said State Treasurer and the Governor, or in absence the president or a member of the State Highway Commission shall open all bids in public and shall award the bonds, or any part thereof, to the bidder or bidders offering the highest price therefor. They may reject any or all bids and may refuse to make any award unless satisfactory security shall be furnished by a bidder for compliance to the terms of the bid. Said bonds shall be sold in consecutive numerical order and no bid shall be accepted which is less than the par value of such bonds plus the interest which shall have accrued thereon between the date last preceding interest maturity date and date of the sale. The proceeds placed to the credit of the State of the sale of such bonds shall be placed to the credit of the State Road Fund, except such amount as may have been paid as accrued interest on such bonds which shall be credited to a special interest fund for payment of interest on such bonds. The moneys placed in the State Road Fund from the proceeds of such bonds shall be used exclusively for the purposes for which said indebtedness is authorized. The expenses incurred by the Treasurer in the preparation of the said bonds and in advertising the sale thereof shall be paid out of funds available in the State Road Fund. The proceeds realized from the sale of said bonds shall be paid out by the State Treasurer under the authority and direction of the State Highway Commission of the State of New Mexico, and the State Highway Commission is hereby authorized and directed to expend the said proceeds from the sale of said bonds in the different counties of the State of New Mexico in the construction of roads in said counties, the amounts to be expended in the respective counties in the State to be in proportion to the amount of assessed valuation in each of said counties of all the property therein, according to the tax rolls of the respective counties, and the amount so to be expended in each of said counties shall be determined by the State Highway Commission from the tax rolls of said counties for the year 1920 as they shall be on file in the office of the State Tax Commission of the State of New Mexico for said year.

Section 4—To provide for the payment of the interest and principal of any bonds issued pursuant to the provisions of this act there shall be and there is hereby imposed and levied during each year in which said bonds shall be outstanding an annual ad valorem tax on all property in the State of New Mexico subject to taxation for state purposes sufficient to produce a sum equal to one year's interest on all of the said bonds outstanding. In each year after said bonds shall have run for five years, there shall be and there is hereby imposed and levied on all property in the State of New Mexico subject to taxation for state purposes, an annual ad valorem tax sufficient to pay the principal of said bonds at maturity. The taxes are hereby authorized, imposed, and levied shall be levied, assessed and collected in the same manner as other taxes for state purposes, and it shall be the duty of the State Auditor and of all assessors and local taxing authorities to cause said taxes to be levied, assessed and collected in the same manner and at the same times as other taxes for state purposes are levied, assessed and collected.

Section 5—The State Treasurer shall keep separate accounts of all moneys collected under the taxes hereby levied and imposed for the payment of the interest and sinking fund of said bonds respectively and shall from time to time invest the moneys in said sinking fund in any bonds or other securities issued by the State of New Mexico, or in any bonds or securities of any county in said state, or in any bonds of any city or school district therein at their market value; Provided, such bonds or securities are payable from a tax upon all taxable property in such county, city or school districts and that such bonds or securities so purchased shall mature before the maturity of the bonds for which said sinking fund is created.

Section 6—Any holder of any of the bonds issued pursuant to the provisions of this act and any person or officer being a party in interest may either at law or in equity, by suit, action or mandamus enforce and compel the performance of the duties required by this act of any of the officers or persons herein mentioned.

Section 7—All bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall be exempt from taxation.

Section 8—The provisions of this act shall constitute an irrevocable contract with the holders of any bonds and the coupons thereof issued pursuant to the provisions of this act for the full performance of which by the state and its officers and taxing authorities the full faith and credit of the State of New Mexico is hereby pledged.

This act shall without reference to any other act of the Legislature of the State of New Mexico be full authority for the issuance and sale of the bonds hereby authorized, which bonds and the coupons thereto attached, shall have all the qualities of negotiable paper under the law of merchant and shall not be invalid for any irregularity or defect in the proceedings for the issue and sale thereof and shall be incontestable in the hands of bona fide purchasers or holders thereof for value.

Section 9—This act shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the state at the general election to be held in the month of November in the year 1920, and it shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to cause this act to be published in full in at least one newspaper in each county of the state, if one be published therein, once each week next preceding such election. All ballots used at said election shall have printed thereon the words "For State Highway Bond Act," and in a separate line under the same words "Against State Highway Bond Act." Opposite each of said lines there shall be a square in which the voter may mark a cross to indicate whether he votes for or against the said bond act, and those voting for said act shall do so by placing a cross in the square opposite the words "For State Highway Bond Act," and those voting against the same shall do so by placing a cross in the square opposite the words, "Against State Highway Bond Act."

Section 10—The votes cast for and against said bond act shall be counted, returned, canvassed and the result declared and certified in the same manner as votes cast for state officers, and if it appears that this act shall have received a majority of all the votes cast thereon at such election, the Governor shall make proclamation thereof and thereupon this act shall immediately take effect and shall be irrevocable until the principal and interest of all bonds issued and sold hereunder shall be paid and satisfied. But if a majority of the vote cast thereon at such election shall be against this act, the same shall not take effect. The cost of publication of the notice herein provided for shall be paid out of funds available in the State Road Fund.

Section 11—That it is necessary for the preservation of the public peace and safety of the inhabitants of the State of New Mexico that the provisions of this act shall be come effective at the earliest time, and therefore an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act shall take effect and be in full force from and after its passage and approval.

A Knife in the Back

Someone with a small amount of sense and a less amount of many courage, has circulated false reports concerning Dr. J. T. Stone of Corona, with the intention of doing him an injury in the present campaign. These lies have been started in a location where the originators felt certain the Dr. could not reach them as they knew he was duty bound to care for his patients in his hospital at Corona, several of whom need his hourly attention and treatment. It is the purpose of this paper to see fair play carried out, and to assist Dr. Stone in branding these lies. This is what we call a "dirty trick." Anyone can do a trick like that, but everyone cannot act the Man; it is not in them. Dr. Stone's letter, which will assist those who are in favor of fair play to judge for themselves, follows: Corona, N. M., Oct. 19, 1920 To the voters of Lincoln County, Ladies and Gentlemen: Reports have reached me that I have made insulting remarks about the Spanish American population of this County to the effect that I did not solicit their friendship and dis-regarded that portion of our population and did not care even for their support or assistance in the present campaign; also that I did not wish to remain on the same ticket with that class of our citizens. I am, at the present time, confined to my hospital with a house full of patients that demand my attention, therefore, I cannot leave them to visit all localities, much as I would desire to do so. Knowing my position, some evil-doer has maliciously lied about me, thinking I could not have the time or opportunity to overtake it and therefore defeat me in this way. In branding these stories as LIES I ask the people if this is a fair manner in which to conduct a campaign? The Spanish-Americans of my locality are my hearty supporters; if this story is true, do you think they would be supporting me in this campaign? This alone should convince the people of the falsity of these stories. I ask the fair-minded people of this County to help me to correct these erroneous attacks and give me their support at the coming election. If elected I promise to faithfully discharge the duties of County Commissioner to the fullest extent of the term.

Yours very truly, DR. J. T. STONE

Conviction of Frank Moore and five other negroes who have been sentenced to death for participation in a race riot in Phillips county, Ark. last October, will stand as a result of the refusal of the Supreme Court to review their cases.

The Supreme Court refused to reconsider its decision of last June 7, sustaining the validity of the prohibition amendment and provisions of the enforcement act. The rehearing had been asked in petitions by Christian Feigenbaum, a brewer of Newark, N. J., and George C. Dempsey, a wholesale liquor dealer of Boston, Mass.

America's tax bill for the fiscal year ending June 30 amounted to $3,498,075,468, approximately $1,500,000,000 more than was paid into the federal treasury in the previous twelve months. The figures were contained in the preliminary report of the commissioner of internal revenue, made public. It shows that from income and profits taxes the government received approximately three-fourths of all its revenue. In these two items there was an increase of $1,556,000,000 over the fiscal year of 1919, receipts for the two years being: 1920, $3,957,701,000; 1919, $2,000,000,000.

Approximately 6,500 acres of homestead and desert land in the Eureka and Sacramento land districts of California, will be opened to entry Dec. 3, the Interior Department announced. The land is classed as non-agricultural, mountain grazing land, and entry will be reserved to ex-service men for sixty days after the opening as provided by law.

The 1920 corn crop promises to be the largest in the history of the country by more than ninety million bushels. A yield of 3,318,190,000 bushels, compared with the previous record production of 3,124,748,000 bushels in 1913, was forecast by the Department of Agriculture from a condition of $8.1 on Oct. 1. The yield would exceed that of last year by practically 200,000,000 bushels.

NEW POLICY IN AID OF FARMER

U. S. RESERVE BOARD PREPARING TO ANNOUNCE NEW CREDIT SYSTEM.

TO AID PRODUCTION

AGRICULTURAL DELEGATION TELLS BOARD LIFE OF NATION IS ENDANGERED.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Washington, Oct. 14.—The federal reserve board is preparing to make a new statement of policy covering all phases of the credit situation, Governor Harding told representatives of agricultural interests in convention here, who appealed to him for relief from the "stringent" credit situation.

The statement, Governor Harding said, probably would be made public shortly after the conclusion of the fall conference of federal reserve agents and reserve bank governors here.

The conference decided to request a hearing before the full membership of the board and its agents before the policy of the board shall be formulated by the board insofar as it affects agricultural credits.

A committee from the reserve board listened for three hours to accounts of conditions which the agricultural delegation said threatened the life of the nation through a reduction of food production.

Difficulties of the farmers were laid almost wholly to inability to obtain financial assistance. It was asserted that banks of the reserve system were not supplying needed funds, and that many local bankers claimed to be acting under instructions from the federal reserve board.

Governor Harding denied that the board had issued instructions which would result in curtailing farmers' credit. The board and officials of the reserve banks were in sympathy with the plight of the farmers, he said, and were encouraging loans to aid them, but the board was without authority to instruct member banks as to loans they could or could not make.

"In the first place," the governor said, "I can see no practical value in your visit to the board. Our acts are defined by law. Your conference here with us has resulted only in your telling what we already know. The board knows your trials and your difficulties and is in entire sympathy with you."

Meanwhile the delegates considered whether they should press their request for a conference with President Wilson and his cabinet. Some had thought it would be unnecessary to take their grievances to the cabinet after the conference with the reserve board. It was said also that most cabinet members were out of the city and that as the delegates expected to confer with Secretary Houston and Secretary Meredith a cabinet conference might not be insisted upon.

Governor Harding told the delegation that German interests had informed him they were in the market for 2,000,000 bales of American cotton.

Paris Opera Troupe On Strike.

Paris.—The orchestra, chorus and stage hands of the Paris opera voted to go on strike. Jacques Houché, director of the opera, said the reason was his refusal to change the rules concerning the chorus and to agree not to employ more than one foreign artist every three months.

Art Club Girls Will Vote.

Chicago.—One of the precinct judges of elections, who refused to record the registration of the young women students of the Three Arts Club was a woman. "I do not consider the girls of the Three Arts Club eligible to register," she said, adding that the election laws, to her understanding, extended suffrage rights only to self-supporting women. The election commission announced that the students would be granted special registration and the precinct officials were called on for an explanation.

COUNTRY'S FIRST CORN MILL.

Recent Discoveries Establish Its Site at a Point on the St. Croix River, Eastport, Me.

The site of what undoubtedly was the first tide-water mill on the American continent has been discovered at Red Beach, Me., where Low's brook empties into the St. Croix river at a point nearly opposite the southern end of Dochet's Island, where De Monts and his men settled in the year 1604, three years before the settlement of Jamestown. In excavating for a fish pond near his summer home, R. S. McCarter of Cambridge, Mass., unearthed the unmistakable remains of an ancient dam of stone and timber. Comparing the site with the original map of the island, authorities agreed that it must have been the site of the water mill mentioned in the old records as employed by Sieur De Monts and his men to grind their corn, being the largest stream within an area of several miles on either side of the river.

Water Power in China.

China's great commercial water highway, the Yang-tse Kiang, is to be put to work. To keep the river always at flood level, and, incidentally, to get rid of rapids which interfere with navigation, seven dams will be constructed. The project contemplates the development of $1,000,000 electric horsepower, and will cost $4,000,000. This is the first important water power development undertaken in China, whose industrial future has a wonderful outlook in that direction. For, thanks to its lofty mountain ranges, the Flowery Kingdom has far greater water power available than any other country in the world.

Arithmetic, according to the average small boy, was simply invented in order to give teachers a good excuse for punishing their unhappy pupils. And certainly little Tommy Smith found it the unpleasant feature of his young life.

"Now, Tommy Smith," said the school teacher one morning, during the usual hour of torture, "what is the half of eight?"

"Which way, teacher?" asked the youngster cautiously.

"Which way?" replied the astonished lady. "What do you mean?"

"Well, on top or sideways, teacher?" said Tommy.

"What difference does that make?"

"Why," Tommy explained, with a plying air, "half of the top of eight is nought, but half of it sideways is three."—London Answers.

MR. CANADA PORCUPINE.

"They wonder," said Mr. Canada Porcupine, "why I do not like the zoo better, and why I do not care to live here and why I make such a fuss about it here that it is very difficult for them to keep me here."

"They wonder why Mrs. Canada Porcupine doesn't want any of the little ones to come here, and that she sees to it that none of them will come here, for she doesn't want dear little porcupines to come to the zoo."

"There are fine porcupines who have come great long distances, from other countries and from other lands, which I suppose means about the same thing."

"They live here and thrive here and are happy and contented and please everyone about them, but not us, no, not the Canada Porcupine family."

"They say they do not know why this is. They do not know why some of our very superior foreign relatives get along so well here when we don't."

"And they are quite annoyed because Mrs. Canada Porcupine doesn't want any of the little ones here. They like to have little ones come to the zoo. In fact they like most creatures here for all sorts of reasons."

"They like some because they are unusual and interesting, they like some because they're lovable and they will make nice, tame pets."

"They like animals and birds and creatures of all sorts here. That much is a fact. And most of the creatures like to be where they are fed regularly, where they are well looked after and where they have someone who is good and kind to them and who cares for them."

"Nothing interests me."

"They are more puzzled about me and about my family because of our relatives."

"Our relatives do not mind the zoo, and so they do not see why we should."

"I've said that before, but that is the main thing that puzzles them, why we, simple porcupines, that is, we're porcupines who do not come from far and who are not unusual, should be so fussy when ones who do come from way off are not fussy in the least."

"I don't know much, if anything, about the lives of our relatives abroad. I've never been abroad. I've no desire to go abroad."

"I don't know why they like it here. I really don't, and I am not particular about finding out."

"And now I have come to the whole truth. I do not like the zoo."

"They may reason about it and talk about it and wonder about it, but I will tell you my reasons. Every Canadian porcupine may not feel the same about it as I do. But I have an idea most of them do feel the same way about it, considering most of them hate the zoo."

"We live in Canada in great woods. Ah, there are few woods anywhere that are like our woods. That is what we think, anyway."

"We live where it is dark and quiet, where only the woodland creatures live. We look out for ourselves. We're not told what to do or when to eat as we are here. We're not watched all the time."

"We have privacy, and by that I mean we are our own masters."

"In the dark deep woods where few people come, we make our homes, whereas here in the zoo we have lots and lots of people come around just to stare at us."

"They come and say how queer we look with our quills all sticking out. I don't care whether they think we're queer or not but I don't want to be bothered by them."

"Oh, the freedom of the Canadian woods for the Canadian Porcupines, the freedom of the beautiful dark woods where all is still and quiet and where no creatures come to visit one and stare at one as though we were a show performing for them."

"That is why the Canadian Porcupines do not like the zoo. They care for the dark woods and their own way of living there so much better."

"Mob-Minded," is Expression He Uses — People as a Whole as Easy to Stampede as a Herd of Texas Steers

The only way to accomplish the laudable purpose of bringing down the price of clothing would be to start the fashion of being out of fashion and that would be the hardest kind of a lesson to teach the American people. They have learned to act as one—which is a good thing sometimes. They have yet to learn how to act as ones—which is a good thing most of the time.

We are mob-minded and that is the cause of many of our troubles, including the high cost of living. Everybody wants to read the same novel the same week. Consequently the library cannot supply its readers, while equally good novels, a few months old, are stacked up unread on the shelves. There is a worldwide shortage of wheat. "Use other grains," says Hoover. Everybody does for a while, then after a while everybody goes back to wheat and the supply again runs short. All the housewives order the best cuts of meat, but cattle can't be grown that are all best cuts. The department of agriculture advises some other cut and then every housewife orders that and will accept no substitute.

Someone suggests that a few young men and women might learn Spanish to their advantage and immediately 10,000 in a single city start Spanish and there are not teachers and textbooks enough to go around. If an excursion boat tips and the captain calls out, "Too many on one side," the crowd unanimously rushes to the opposite side and the boat lists more than ever. A millionaire, asked for his recipe for riches, said: "Go where everybody is doing the same thing and do something different." He had got his money out of the Klondike by selling groceries.

We declared our independence as a nation, but we have not yet declared our independence as individuals. We do everything in mass movements, by campaigns, drives, booms, crazes, fads and revivals. We cannot even fulfill the simplest civic or family duties without calling on all our fellow citizens to aid. It is only by the proclamation of a "Go to Church Sunday," that we are enabled to make a battling average in religion of one hit out of a possible 52. The rest of the calendar is filled up with "Write to Mother Day," "Clean-Up Day," "Plant a Tree Day," "Be Patriotic Day," "Be Thankful Day," and the like. "All together now," cries our gubernatorial or presidential cheer leader, "one, two, three, let 'er go!" And we all go through the motions of the designated emotions with the precision of a rhythm machine.

"The strongest man in the world," says Ibsen, "is he who stands most alone." That is, I suppose, his way of saying that nobody but a strong man could stand alone in a democracy like ours.

Ben Franklin's Harmonica.

One of the first musical instruments made by an American was a mouth harmonica, made by Benjamin Franklin at the time he was minister at the court of Louis in France, where he played it with considerable skill before Marie Antoinette and her court ladies. The queen was so delighted and interested that Franklin presented the little instrument to her. After Marie Antoinette was beheaded in the great French revolution, his mouth harmonica had many sensational experiences till finally it came into the possession of a wealthy musical amateur and collector in this country. —Musical America.

COMMON ERROR IN GRAMMAR GEORGIE'S PATIENCE GONE

Words "Began" and "Began" Are Wrongly Used by Those Careless in Their Speech.

It is quite common to hear some one say, "I began to do that work yesterday," "the battle begun between the two armies," etc. This use of "began" to express the past tense (sometimes called the preterit) of "begin" is not incorrect, according to some authorities on the uses of words, but there is a fairly general agreement that the better word to use is "began." If you wish to safeguard yourself against possible criticism, say "I began to do that work yesterday."

Richard Grant White, in "Words and Their Uses" a high authority, criticizes and condemns the use of "began" instead of "began," to express the past.

Of course, it is incorrect beyond any doubt to say, "I have began" to express the perfect tense of "begin." Say, "I have begun," never "I have began." —Columbus Dispatch.

WARREN G. HARDING Your Kind of Man and—

The Next President of the United States

The Next President.

As certain as anything can be, in this world, is the election of Senator Harding.

To readers of this newspaper, the many family groups to which it comes a regular welcome visitor, Senator Harding's face shines as that of a friend.

Senator Harding, your next President, is your kind of man. You see him, hear a few words, and you know it.

He was born in a small town, has lived there all his life, lives there now, and will live there again when he leaves the White House with his work for the country done.

How He Lives.

He lives as you live, simply, in the old-fashioned American way.

The main residence street in any little American town, boasts half a dozen homes more elaborate than Senator Harding's, and many as good.

Millions of men, believing in this country, devoted to its government, SATISFIED with the UNITED STATES, believe that the United States is able to deal with its own problems, and settle its own questions free from outside assistance or interference.

Those millions of men are men of the same sort as Senator Harding.

What Kind of Man.

Harding is a big American in physical size, thanks to vigorous farming ancestors. He is a big American also in heart, in understanding, in sympathy and in simplicity.

You read his speeches and know that he does not imagine himself created to tell all the world what to do. He believes in, and he understands the American people, his friends, the citizens of his own little town, Marion, Ohio, and the dwellers in thousands of other towns like it.

Your Servant, No Autocrat.

After you have elected him, you will find in Senator Harding an earnest, conscientious, straight thinking servant of the people, not an autocrat, but a man respecting the traditions of American government, and the Constitution of the United States.

Senator Harding understands that the people will elect him to be President of the United States, not President of the whole world. He will know that he is employed by the PEOPLE of this country to look after the interests of THIS country.

Born on a farm, living all his life close to farmers, he knows and sympathizes with the problems of the farm. Living in the average American way, in the average American small town, he knows the problems of the average American. He understands the printers he employs, and he knows their trade and sets type as they do.

His Ambition.

Senator Harding has no ambition to be called a political superman, or RULER of America. It is his ambition to be known as a good American, a faithful servant of those that trust him.

National politics are discussed this year less than at any election since the republic was founded. Why? Because men do not discuss, to any great extent, that which is DEFINITELY SETTLED.

And this national election is definitely settled as you read this. YOU know it.

But it is important that demonstration of the popular will should be of the most overwhelming kind. Therefore the good citizen will do what he can to increase the vote for Harding, should there be any doubtful votes within reach of his voice.

It is almost ludicrously difficult to find a man or woman that intends to vote the Democratic ticket this year.

But if you do find one, show him or her this picture of the next President. And express in your own way the reasons that inspire you to approve and vote for him.

What is Senator Harding's outlook upon life? It is YOUR OWN.

Read these extracts from one of his recent speeches:

"This government is your government, not that of somebody who is placed in office."

"You clothe us with authority. We are pleased to execute your will. And one reason I want the Republican party in power once more is because we are responsive to the will of the people of the United States and do not try to tell you that what one man thinks is necessary."

No hallucination there, no idea that Harding was made to rule, and YOU, who read this newspaper, made to be ruled, or preached at from above by your own elected servant.

The duty of the American, whether he be President or simple citizen, is not complicated in Mr. Harding's mind. He says:

"As I said at the outset, government is a very simple thing, government is only the regulation of our relationships to one another. The government's first task is the protection of the minority against autocracy, or the domination of the majority that sometimes forgets the rights of the minority."

"I am preaching the gospel of popular representative government in the United States, a government that does not know any class anywhere in all this Republic."

In his speeches and in his daily life, running for the Presidency or running his country newspaper, Senator Harding is just an everyday American neighbor. This is what he says, as he bids farewell to a crowd of friends:

"I am very happy to see you all this morning. As I have said, I want you to know me, and I am delighted to know you. We are going to work together for the good of the United States, and we are going to hold America first in all our thoughts and in all our actions."

Women Voting.

Women especially have reason to congratulate themselves on the fact that Senator Harding will be the next President.

Their sons are taken in war. Their husbands and fathers are taxed to pay for war. They spend the lonely hours of dreadful anxiety, while the son is away.

They, above all, are interested in having for President such a man as Senator Harding. He does not believe that foreign powers should be allowed to conscript American boys for war beyond the seas.

He does not believe that a Foreign Council should send to America for men and money to settle wars not of our making.

Senator Harding does not believe that this country should be taxed to finance the ambitions or the land greed of foreign nations, and as he believes, so the earnest men and women of this country believe.

When you cast your vote for Senator Harding, you will vote for YOUR KIND OF MAN, the intelligent, straightforward, unpretentious American citizen. President Harding will be an American President, not an international President.

You will have in the White House a man of constructive mind, a plain American with no dreams of world dominion, but with a settled determination to restore normal conditions and normal prosperity to this country.

After the War.

After a war that has destroyed old conditions, cost many lives, squandered many billions in reckless extravagance and dishonesty, and weakened respect for the Constitution, you need for President a straightforward, constructive American.

And you will have such a man in the White House after the 4th of next March, for after that the President of the United States will be Warren G. Harding, your kind of man, one that you would gladly trust with your own affairs, and the affairs of your country.

His Name Is on the Republican Ticket

Chairman Brady's

Open Letter

Hondo, N. M., Oct. 18.

The Outlook,
Carrizozo, N. M.
Gentlemen:—

Please publish in your paper the following facts and reasons why we should support our Republican Candidate for Governor, Hon. Merritt C. Mechem. Ladies and Gentlemen of Lincoln County: I was a delegate to the State Convention and cast my vote for Gov. O. A. Larrazolo, because he gave us a good administration, but we should vote for Judge Mechem because he was the choice of our great Republican Convention, by a majority vote of the delegates. Second, I believe we should vote for Judge Mechem because he is one of our foremost, distinguished Americans, and his record as attorney and District Judge is of the very highest and best. Third, I am going to vote for Merritt C. Mechem because he knows what Justice is, and will give equal rights to all citizens of the great State of New Mexico. Therefore, he will make as good a Governor as O. A. Larrazolo has made during his administration. Fourth, those people who are dissatisfied with H. O. Bursom; Secundino Romero, and others whom they term "bosses," should vote for Merritt C. Mechem, and hold our organization, and create a big representation for the next State Convention which will be the only method of turning down the so-called "bosses" in the open ground, for voting against Judge Mechem we are losing our party representation and party harmony. Fifth, we will vote for Judge Mechem because we are heavy laden and tired of Democratic administration in any form.

Yours very truly,
BENNER BRADY,
Chas. Rep. Co. Com.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE

Notice is hereby given that I, R. A. Duran, Sheriff of Lincoln County, New Mexico, will, on the 15th day of November, 1920, at 10 o'clock, a. m., of said day, sell at public auction for cash at the front door of the court house in Carrizozo, said county and state, the following described chattels for the purpose of satisfying that certain judgment made and entered of record in the district court of the Third judicial district for Lincoln county, New Mexico, on the 8th day of October, 1920, in cause number 2072 on the civil docket of said court and entitled Harry Comrey v. Wooten Brothers, a firm composed of John Wooten, Willis Wooten and May Wooten, which action was for breach of contract and for damages, and which said judgment is for the principal sum of Five Hundred Dollars, the interest upon which will, on the day of sale, amount to the additional sum of Seventy nine and 72-100 Dollars, together with an additional amount for costs of suit:

- 20 head range cows;
- 9 head range heifer yearlings;
- 2 head range steer yearlings.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand this 15th day of October, 1920.

R. A. DURAN, Sheriff.

It's a Republican Year in the Nation It's a Republican Year in New Mexico

Harding and Coolidge Will Be Elected

BECAUSE the minds of the people are made up to defeat the Wilson League of Nations and to maintain our constitution and America free of foreign domination.

BECAUSE Cox offers only to continue Wilsonism, while Harding has developed and presented his own courageous program of policy abroad and reconstruction at home.

BECAUSE Cox has thought to win the favor of the American people with a campaign of trickery, evasion and unsupported charges, while Harding has sought with dignity and sincerity to reach and appeal to popular judgment.

The New Mexico State Candidates Will Be Elected

BECAUSE EVERY CANDIDATE IS A MAN OF STERLING CHARACTER AND DEMONSTRATED ABILITY; basing their respective campaigns upon a progressive, constructive platform, definitely and clearly pledging performance of specific things the people desire in government, upon the word of a party that has never broken its pledge to the people.

BECAUSE the Republican candidate for governor, Merritt C. Mechem is a man of mature judgment, wide and practical education, calm judicial mind; with the courage to administer the executive office as his judgment and his conscience dictate.

BECAUSE no candidate on the Republican ticket seeks election upon the unsupported charge that his opponent insincere or dishonest.

BECAUSE the Republican candidates seek your support, affirming their pledge to a thoughtful, constructive program that they know, and that they believe YOU know will work for the welfare of the state and all its people; and because this pledge is based upon their own sincerity of purpose to carry out that program in legislation and administration to the final letter of performance.

Let no last minute appeal to prejudice affect your calm judgment or cause you to waver in voting for what your judgment tells you is sound, safe, honest and for the surest welfare of yourself, your neighbors and the state.

Corona Notes

Luther Jefferies came in last week from New York City where he has been breaking polo ponies for the last six months.

While chopping wood last Saturday, Ed Fairhurst had the misfortune of cutting an ugly gash in his left foot. At the present time he is well on the road to recovery.

J. M. Sheldon, a former employee of the Corona Lead and Silver Mine, stopped off to see us last Tuesday. He is now in the employ of the Southwestern in the capacity of telegraph operator, and left Wednesday morning for Mosquero, where he is to work.

On Oct. 25th we are to have several good horse races. "Ginger," Corona's race horse, is matched with the Burruss horse of Estancia for a quarter mile, and there are to be other races as well. In the evening there is to be a real dance, music to be furnished by the "Joy Makers" of Carrizozo, and you all know the quality of music they put out.

J. R. Jenkins was down from Dalhart last Tuesday looking over the ranches and cattle here. He reports that the cattle market is all shot to pieces and predicts a hard year for the stockmen in all parts of the country.

C. F. Grey, Republican candidate for State Representative, was a visitor in Corona for three or four days last week.

F. A. English has a force of men at work on our new gymnasium, which is to be one of the most modernly equipped buildings of its size in the state.

"Shorty" Miller and Raymond Brown made a business trip to Carrizozo last week, returning Tuesday evening.

Dr. R. R. Davis met with a very painful accident last Sunday morning. While making a call to one of the out-lying farms his car turned over, throwing him out on the ground. Aside from a few scratches and bruises the doctor was unhurt.

G. C. Clements and George Jr., came up from Carrizozo last week to look over their ranch.

M. E. Missionary Society

Last week the Missionary Society met with Mrs. R. Lemon and the meeting proved a very interesting one. Mrs. Channell attended the State Conference at Las Cruces and gave a very glowing report of the meeting. The ladies planned to have a miscellaneous sale of home-made articles Dec. 11th, also to serve cake and coffee. This date is a long way off, but keep it in mind for Christmas gifts. On next Tuesday, Oct. 26, Mrs. Clarence Spence will entertain the Missionary Society. Plans will be perfected for the "Day of Prayer," a reception for the new pastor, Rev. Higbee and family, and a merchant's lunch, up town. A large attendance is desired for Tuesday's meeting.

The D. B. Tennis and J. B. Beagles families are now located at Long Beach, Cal., where they have purchased property and will reside in the future.

Attention, Voters!

Editor Outlook.

Dear Sir:

It has been stated over Lincoln County that I, as a candidate for the Legislature on the Democratic ticket, am in favor of a division of the county. I wish now say that the statement is false. I am in favor of a reduction of our taxes. To divide the county would increase taxes.

Respectfully,

Pol. Adv. A. S. McCAMANT.

Serial!

A Serial Story With a Punch

Excitement! Stolen Jewels! Detectives!
Complications and Suspense!

Contains all the elements of mystery and the attributes of good fiction. Has the charm of medieval romance with modern characters and surroundings. It will grip you.

MYSTERY!

Who does not love it? When Macbeth said: "Canst thou not minister to a mind diseased?" he could have had his answer and his remedy had there been a school of mystery and detective fiction in that day. There is no better medicine for young and old than a good mystery story.

The House of Whispers

offers all that the most exacting reader may require. It grips, thrills and entertains, and never oppresses.

William Johnston

the author, skilled in this class of writing, has transplanted the strange and weird happenings of an ancient castle to ultra modern surroundings. He has located the mystery in that most unusual of all places for such an abode—a fashionable New York apartment house. It challenges the best detective, legal and newspaper brains in the unraveling. It will challenge yours, unless you become too anxious and turn to the closing chapter. Do not spoil your pleasure in that manner, but follow it through from the opening installment. It is

Our Coming Serial!

This clever writer has made notable contributions to humorous literature in his "History Up to Date" and in "Solomon Sloan's Advice on How to Run the Universe." In "Limpy," he produced one of the sweetest, most appealing stories of a boy ever written. During the past few years he has found a delightfully happy field for his talents in mystery and detective fiction. "The House of Whispers" is the best thing he has done in that line. It will be our pleasure to offer it to you serially in this paper. See that you get the first installment.

Health Report

(E. A. Green, Public Health Nurse)

School District No. 7, for September: defective vision, 47; defective hearing, 12; enlarged tonsils, 187; defective teeth, 16. The children as a rule, were in a good and healthy condition. The large number of enlarged tonsils found does not mean that children must have them removed, as that is a matter for doctors and families to decide. In cases of defective vision, hearing and vaccination, parents are asked to have children taken to a physician as soon as possible.

But few children are absent on account of sickness; the school on the whole is fitte, the children are neat and tidy and clean their teeth daily. At the White Oaks, Raqenton and Parsons schools, the same good condition of school and pupils exists. At Rabenton a little girl was found in need of treatment for a deformity, whom the County may be in a position to help, shortly. On the whole, the County schools are in good condition, the teachers kind and attentive. The defections mentioned are of no larger percentage than found in other counties. I find the work very interesting.

Carrizozo School Notes

(By Mrs. E. E. Cole)

One of the most important accomplishments in the schools is penmanship. It is vastly more important than most people think. On receiving a letter, many a person has thrown it into the waste basket because he is disgusted with the unreadable stuff. A good position is often gained because the applicant writes a readable hand.

During the past week the superintendent has especially noticed the fine work done in writing in the fifth grade. Mrs. Vaughn writes a fine paper hand as well as a good blackboard hand, and is exciting a desire on the part of her pupils towards good penmanship.

On the 13th of this month the barometer at the High School building indicated the true state of the weather. It fell 53 hundredths of an inch. At a quarter of twelve, it made a small jump up, and the wind went down. At one o'clock it went down again, indicating a slight air, and the wind and dust rose at once. When the barometer goes down a great distance and very rapidly; it is an almost absolutely sure sign that a great change in the weather is about to take place, and storms follow. Many a stockman keeps such a barometer and gets in his cattle before a storm breaks.

The Art work, by Miss Layer of the Seventh Grade, is beginning to attract a good deal of attention. The pupils are interested because they see results. It is the same through life. We are encouraged and built up in our ambitions when we see desirable results.

When you come to the High School building go into the Seventh and Eighth Grade room and look at this work.

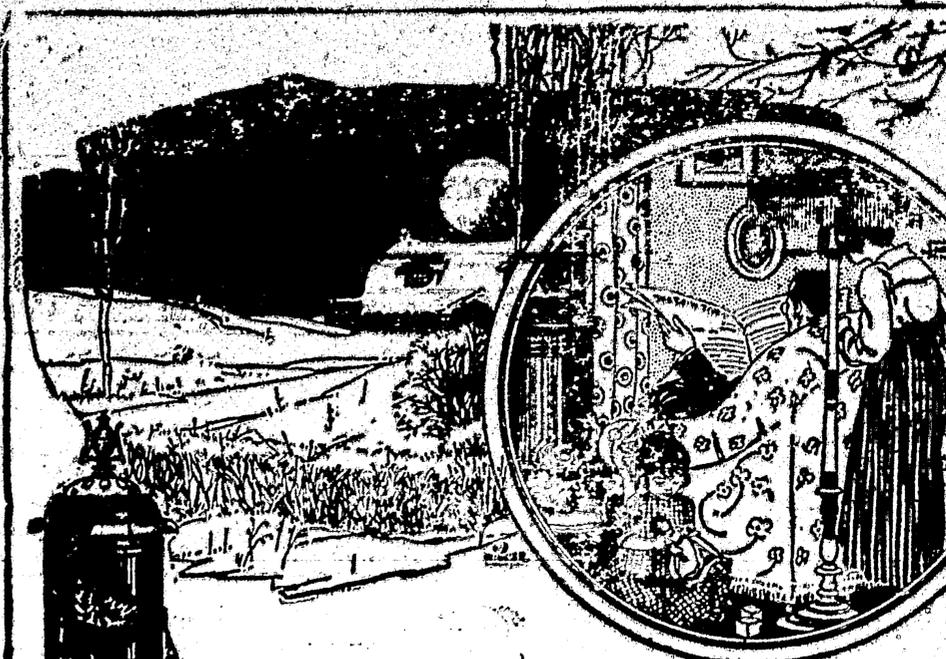

Last Friday, this room gave a very interesting program in honor of Columbus. The following is the program:

"America, the Beautiful," by the School; "Columbus," a recitation, by the eighth grade; Song, "The Spanish Cavalier;" Playlet, "Columbus;" Scene I, Palos, Spain. Songs, "Juanita," Nancy Lee," "The Boy Scout March." Scene II, "Sailing," Scene III, On San Salvador, Song, "New Mexico." Scene, IV, The Spanish Court; Song, "The Star Spangled Banner." The girls, dressed in Spanish costumes for the dance, looked very charming. With Miss Ivy Lindsay at the piano, the singing was especially good.

Tuesday afternoon, after school, the Domestic Science girls gave a very delightful "Tea" to the teachers. The refreshments were doughnuts and tea, and were served in a most charming manner. Fifteen minutes later—: "Those doughnuts were the finest we ever ate! Nobody on Earth can make better doughnuts than the girls of the Carrizozo High School have been making."

On Wednesday afternoon Thorwardson's two beautiful works of art, "Night" and "Morning" were presented to the Carrizozo High School, through letters from Lina Branum and Hilary Cooper, the two graduates of our High School last year. The following program was carried out:

Song, "America, the Beautiful" by the School. Essay, "The Life and Works of Thorwardson," Eva Wank. Reading of the letter of Presentation, Mrs. Wank. Acceptance, Laureen Wilson. Song, "America."
