State Officials Visit County Schools

Assistant State Superintendent of Public Instruction, John V. Conway, and Mrs. Ruth C. Miller, State Director for Vocational Education, are in the county this week accompanying Mrs. M. L. Blaney, Superintendent of Lincoln County Schools on a trip making a survey of the schools. The Corona schools were visited Monday. The patrons and pupils were addressed after which the party attended the dedication exercises of the consolidated school at Ancho the evening of the same day. Mr. Conway made the dedicatory speech and was followed by Mrs. Blaney, Mrs. Miller and Mr. E. M. Brickley of the Board of Education. J. E. Secrest, secretary of the local board, presided over the meeting.

Tuesday, the Capitan schools were visited. The members of the state department of education expressed themselves well satisfied with conditions found and were delighted to note the improvement over the conditions which existed two years ago. The school building is clean and in splendid condition. During the past year a furnace has been installed so that ever room is comfortable, well heated and well ventilated.

The qualifications of the teachers have been raised and are now such as will meet the requirements of the North Central Association of Accredited High Schools and is now assured placement on the accredited list. The honor system has been established and the pupils show a fine spirit in responding to this responsibility placed upon them. The patrons recently organized a parent-teacher association, the first in the county schools this year. Mr. Robert Hurt, member of the local Board of Education, is the president and Miss Mildred Peters is secretary. It is the plan for this organization to make a particular study of community problems, needs and interests. The first work to be undertaken will be to provide additional equipment for the home economics department. There are about seventy-five members in the association.

Mr. T. P. McCollister is the city Superintendent and Mr. W. J. Klopp is the Principal of the High School. Under the leadership of these two men, the work is progressing exceedingly well. There are one hundred and ten pupils in the first six grades. Last year there were about one hundred. There are now fifty seven pupils in the Junior and Senior High School. Last year there were thirty-five. The work is well organized, both teachers and pupils showing a fine spirit of cooperation. In the home economics classes there are thirty-nine girls enrolled. The girls

To the Voters of Lincoln County

When you vote for District Attorney there are four things you want to know about him: First, is he trustworthy? Second, will he be impartial in office? Third, what are his qualifications as a lawyer, gained by education and experience? Fourth, will he attend to business?

The District Convention, composed of one hundred and fifty three delegates from the respective counties, considered these points. I was graduated in 1907 after a three years course in law school at Cincinnati, came to New Mexico the same year and was admitted to practice in the State of New Mexico in January, 1908; have been court reporter for five years in this district.

As to other qualifications, I gladly refer you to any attorney, regardless of political affiliation, or any person who has known me during my residence in this state. Acquaint yourself with the reputation and qualifications of candidates before you vote. Take the trouble to find out what sort of public officer my experience, ability and acquaintance with the people and affairs of my district should make of me and I gladly submit to their views.

Business conditions have prevented a personal campaign throughout each county in my district and I am availing myself of the use of the press to solicit your vote and support.

Sincerely yours,
J. BENSON NEWELL.

will organize the local branch of the State Association of Vocational Agriculture and Home Economics and will send a demonstration team to compete in the state contest to be held at the Industrial meet during the state teachers meeting, Nov. 22 to 24, in Albuquerque. Miss Lola Wright is in charge of the department. This is one of the county schools in which Mrs. Blaney has made particular effort to improve school conditions and as a result the school shows one hundred per cent improvement in the condition of the building, qualifications of the teachers and the spirit of the pupils and the community.

In visiting the schools it has been found that in many of the districts consolidation has been effected and adequate transportation facilities provided. At Corona there is an inter-county consolidation of districts in Lincoln and Torrance counties. Three trucks are used at this school. At Ancho there was a re-districting to include Tecolote, placing this village in the same district as Ancho. The children are brought from Tecolote to Ancho in trucks. At Capitan transportation is furnished the children of school district No. 31.

It is the plan for Mr. Conway to continue to visit schools with Mrs. Blaney for the remainder of the week.

Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen Organize

On Sunday afternoon, Oct. 17, members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen met at Masonic Hall over the Exchange Bank and organized a local branch of the order which is known as Carrizozo Lodge No. 610, B. of R. T. The lodge starts out with a good membership and at the meeting Sunday, Oct. 24, more names were added to the membership roll book. The meeting was well attended as members listened to good reports from various parts of the country of interest to the order.

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen has, since its organization, worked many reforms which to day are enjoyed by the railroad fraternity in general. Legislative acts compelling railroad companies to provide more and better means of safety for men in the train service can be traced to the zealous work of this organization. It offers no antagonism to necessary capital and wages no conflict with legitimate business enterprises, but works fraternally and steadfastly to prevent evil-designing methods from being carried out by those who, blinded by self interest, oftentimes violate the rights of those they deem helpless. The lodge card of the local order appears in this issue of the Outlook and designates the first and third Sundays of each month as the dates for regular meetings. Officers elected who will appoint others of a subordinate nature are: F. J. Ashe, President, W. J. La Fleur, Secretary.

Of Interest to Teachers

Many teachers of the county will undoubtedly be interested in this announcement just sent out by the State Normal that it's "Service Bureau" is again in full running order for the new school year. The bureau was established a year ago to aid teachers who are at work in the solving of the knotty problems that arise in every teachers career—problems of discipline, relations with parents, methods of presentation of new subject matter, and even such lesser things as subjects for debates, orations, etc. The State Normal invites any teacher to send a brief statement of her problem, accompanied by a self-addressed and stamped envelope, and the service bureau will give her the assistance of the best brains of it's faculty in solving the problem. No charges. Address, "Service Bureau, New Mexico State Normal School, Silver City, N. M."

News has been received here of the successful hunting ventures of the following named gentlemen: M. U. Finley, a deer; John Harkney, a deer; Ed Long, a deer. As the heavy snows recede from the mountains, more reports to the good may be expected.

The "Smashing" Of Those Women

Here is an accurate, stenographic report of a statement made by Antonio Lucero, democratic candidate for Congress, in a speech at Santa Fe, Friday night, October 22. "The public opinion has for its object, my friends, the smashing of those women who have displayed such a political activity on the Republican side and who are trying to make us believe that they can keep their political skirts clean while performing by the side of political bosses who are as crooked in politics as a ram's horn"

There you have it, Republican women of New Mexico. This chivalrous Mr. Lucero, who seeks to represent all of the people, of which you, as legal voters, are an important part, has to say about you; that's how much he thinks of you. Talk about your "cave men", how does this compare? Again: From the same platform, on the same night, the democratic candidate for governor made a similar attack on those same women whom he considered committed a "grave offense" in taking an active interest in the present campaign against himself and his political backer, Bob Putney, who styles himself the "vendor of prunes." You women of New Mexico, your choice is between this cave man stuff and the gentlemanly courtesies extended by Judge Mechem and his associates on the Republican ticket.

Box Supper Successful

The Box Supper given by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist Church last Friday evening was a decided success both socially and financially. The boxes prepared by the ladies were handsomely decorated and filled with dainty, appetizing things to tempt the palates of those who contested in friendly bidding, as all boxes were auctioned off to the highest bidder. After the cash was counted, the ladies found that they had realized the neat sum of $67.50.

A program of music and readings preceded the sale, in which Mrs. Saunders, Miss Ivy Lindsay and Miss Kathryn Stidham rendered piano duets, and the Misses Eva Wack and Barbara Hust gave humorous readings which elicited laughter and applause from the audience. A social session followed the sale in which all present sat down to a dainty repast which the boxes afforded. A good time was experienced by those who attended, and a worthy cause was patronized.

Paul Mayer of White Oaks has purchased the Kimbell residence, the deal being consummated Wednesday after Division Supt. Kimbell came over from Douglas, Arizona. Mrs. Kimbell and Mrs. Slosson, who have been visiting with Carrizozo friends for the past two weeks, have returned to Douglas.

Mechem Gets Ovation at Albuquerque

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 28. —Judge M. C. Mechem, Republican candidate for governor, and Senator A. B. Fall spoke to the largest political gathering ever had in New Mexico in this city last night.

Approximately two thousand men and women filled the National Guard Armory. Judge Mechem was given a three minute demonstration when he was introduced by Charles M. Barber of Albuquerque as the next governor of New Mexico. He spoke for twenty minutes giving a brief, forceful review of his policies and his position toward administrative and legislative questions.

Senator Fall's address on the league of nations was a masterly effort, showing the weaknesses and dangers of the covenant.

Today A. B. McMillen, a life long Democrat and one of the leading lawyers of the Southwest, authorized a statement in the Albuquerque Herald condemning the league of nations as a league for war and announcing that because of his opposition to the league he would vote for Harding and Coolidge.

Corona Notes

Winter is with us at last. We have had one good snow and are in the midst of another one now. Many of the local Nimrods are taking advantage of the snow to make an effort to get the elusive deer, and several have been reported successful in the last few days.

Bob Stevens went to Tucuman last Monday on business.

W. Henter returned last week from Kansas City, where he has been with several cars of cattle. He reports that the market is very poor at the present time.

Quite a number of people were up from Carrizozo last Monday for the race and big dance. The race was one of the best that has ever been seen in this territory, the horses running neck and neck nearly the whole course. The race was declared a tie by the judges. That evening one of the biggest dances we have ever had was pulled off. Needless to say, the music was good, for the "Joy Makers" have that reputation and they live up to it. Another race is to be run some time in the near future to see which horse is really the best.

The Southwestern Fish, Game and Forest Protective Association reports the arrest, conviction and fining of the following persons for violations of the game laws: Messrs. Phillips and Carleton, Alto; Brownfield, White Mountain. One of these gentlemen stopped at the door of the Deputy Game Warden with a deer in his car, without a head. Oh, Boy! If you don't see his horns, SHE hasn't any.

UP TO DATE GHOSTS

Fiction readers who like haunted houses and mysterious noises in the night, and ghost doings that baffle explanation, should stop, look, and read right here. For "The House of Whispers" is well named. It's even more fascinating than the old-time haunted house, because it's a mystery apartment in a big city building—the lovely heroine, for instance, can creep along a ledge from one window to another in the dead of night, and a wonderful pearl necklace can disappear from a wall-safe and find its way back again, and the superintendent and his employees can fasten a charge of murder on the hero, and there might be room in the walls for secret passageways. But there is nothing new-fashioned or queer about the loyalty and devotion of the heroine for her lover in trouble; it's the same glorious thing that has thrilled us all ever since true love ceased to run smooth. And of course she gets the reward that she deserves—and they live happily ever after.

CHAPTER I.

With an exclamation of annoyance I crumpled up the note from my great-uncle Rufus and flung it on the floor. My disappointment at its contents was the one thing needed to complete the utter misery of a wretched day.

Only that morning my roommates, Birge and Roller, fortunate fellows, had been informed that their applications for the ambulance service had been accepted. Our year of happy companionship had come to an abrupt end.

"Cheer up, old man," cried the optimistic Birge, "your luck will change some time."

"Right," said Roller, as he stooped to give a final tug to the straps of his now lit bag, "a chap as crazy about Adventure as you are is bound to meet her soon."

"Stop it," I cried in desperation. "It is you two who are to have the great opportunity. Soon you'll be seeing abraded burst, airplanes battling, regiments charging, heroes dying, and I'll be sitting here alone in a hall-room, eating my heart out with loneliness and envy, spending my days at an uncivilized desk, and my nights, God knows how, after you fellows have gone."

"You never can tell," chirped old Birge, "all kinds of strange things happen right here in New York. You may be the one that has had a bellyful of adventure before we return—if we do."

His last three words gave us all a sobering thought. There was a chance, more than a chance, that never again on this earth would we three be together again. Eight of our college mates had preceded Birge and Roller to the great battlefield. Already three of them lay in hero graves somewhere under the hills of France.

The silence of a sad parting fell on us. The taxicab came and we drove together to the pier with hardly a word spoken.

As we shook hands at the gangplank old Roller spoke again, a glint of tears in his eye, something almost prophetic in his voice.

"Nelson," he said, "I feel it in my bones that something is going to happen to you soon, something thrilling."

"I wish to God something would!" I answered bitterly.

Disconsolately I waved them a last adieu from the dock. In a black mood I walked against the fate that had left me behind, poignantly lamenting the lack of the eight hundred dollars that would have set me free to accompany them.

Two letters, thrust under the door in lodging-house fashion, awaited my homecoming. One of them I recognized at once as my mother's weekly billet of good advice, and tossed aside to be read when I was in a better frame of mind. The other was in a cramped, unfamiliar handwriting. As I studied the envelope curiously a suspicion as to the writer's identity flashed into my mind and eagerly I tore it open. My great-uncle, Rufus Gaston, was an old, old man. It must be from him. What could he be writing to me about? Rufus Gaston was rich—worth many millions.

It was merely an invitation to dine with him and his wife. Disgustedly I flung it aside. It capped the climax of my dissatisfaction with everything. Here were my two chums starting off to the war, and here was I, Spalding Nelson, twenty-six, strong in physique, save for a "football knee" that had barred me from military service, thirsting for excitement, left behind in the prosaic business world and now bidden to an uninteresting meal with two decrepit old relatives. I made up my mind not to answer the note. My great-uncle Rufus could go hang, for all of his millions. I would not go near him.

The sight of my mother's letter lying unopened on my desk served to recall to me that it was she who had prevented my going. Poor mother! She and I had been at cross-purposes ever since my father's death while I was a youngster. It seemed to me that always she had opposed everything I wanted to do.

After I left college she had found a place for me in the office of one of my father's friends in the little western city where our home was. I had been two years getting away to join Birge and Roller in New York. Most of all she had set herself against my going to France. She did not believe in war. I was the only man left in the family. She was far from well. If anything should happen to her, my young sisters had only me to look to. When these plans had failed to move me she had not hesitated to remind me that I was in her debt.

Unfortunately this was true. My years at college had cost me more than my small patrimony. I had borrowed freely from her, expecting soon to be able to repay her. Like all young graduates I had vastly overestimated my earning capacity. Three years had elapsed and I still owed her eight hundred dollars.

"I do not see," she had written me, "how you can honorably feel free to go while you are in my debt. To furnish you funds at college your mother and sisters practiced many economies. The girls are now reaching an age when their expenses will be much greater. I need the money for them. The least you can do is to pay it back before you give up your position and go off on wild-goose chases."

For this argument I could find no answer. My obligation to her was a debt of honor that must be paid before I could be my own master. Each week I had been putting away five dollars, and as it accumulated had been sending her a money order.

While I was debating what to do I began to read my mother's latest letter. The first part of it repeated her many arguments. She wrote:

"Two days ago I received a letter from my father's brother, Rufus Gaston, upon whom you called when you first went to New York. He asked about you and made me a proposition concerning you. I did not venture to give him an answer. Your views and mine are so seldom in accord. I gave him your address and suggested that he write to you himself. Probably he has done so by this time."

Hastily I rescued my great-uncle's crumpled note from the floor and smoothed it out. If Rufus Gaston—with his millions and no direct heir—had made a proposition concerning me, his letter took on a vastly more interesting complexion. Carefully I reread it, seeking for some hidden meaning between the lines, but it gave no clue to what he had in mind. He merely expressed the hope that I would be able to dine with him and his wife informally next Thursday evening.

What could it mean? It was at least well worth looking into. Mr. Gaston was seventy-four. He had made a fortune in the South-American trade, retiring at sixty-five. There was only himself and his wife. On the Gaston side, through my mother, my sisters and I were the only blood relations. I wondered if it could be that old Rufus was thinking of making me his heir—his heir to the Gaston millions!

As I penned a cordial acceptance of his dinner invitation I determined to set myself to pleasing the old couple, whom I had met only once, on the occasion of my call. A few years ago I would have despised the thought of catering to wealth, but since I had discovered how difficult it was to earn money and how much more difficult to save it, my views had changed.

I could hardly wait for the day he had set for me to dine with them to arrive. I found myself approaching their residence fully three-quarters of an hour before the time named. When I discovered how early I was I decided to loiter in the park for a few minutes. Old Rufus recently had given up his Avenue residence and now lived in one of those stately apartment buildings erected in the East Eighties. I turned into Central park opposite my great-uncle's street and dropped into the first bench I came to, depositing beside me a bunch of roses I had purchased as my first move toward winning my great-uncle's affections. Lighting my pipe I gave myself up to pleasant reveries, from which I was aroused by finding my roses tossed suddenly to the ground at my feet.

"Pardon me," I said indignantly, "but those belong to me."

"Benches ain't for bundles," croaked an evil voice beside me. Recovering my flowers, I turned to find seated beside me a rat-eyed young fellow, cheaply dressed, eying me with an insolent stare. As I looked at him he began crowding over toward me. Plainly it was his intention to oust me from the bench.

"There's plenty of room on those other benches over there," I suggested resentfully.

"Beat it yourself if you don't like it here," he retorted, blowing the smoke from a cheap cigarette in my face. "I got a date here, and I'm going to stay, see?"

I answered with an angry retort and hot words followed. We had almost come to blows when the bushes opposite us suddenly parted. I caught sight for just a second of a villainous face, that of a man about forty, an unforgettable face with a red scar across the left cheek. He raised one finger in an imperative gesture, signaling to my unwelcome companion on the bench. With a profane exclamation of dismay, the rat-eyed fellow sprang up and walked hastily away along the park path. Wondering what it was all about, I watched him out of sight around a turning of the asphalt and then glanced toward the apartment house where in a few minutes I was to be a guest.

As I looked a young girl came out of the house and walked slowly toward the park. At the corner she hesitated. She seemed to be debating whether to continue on down the avenue or to turn into the park. Apparently the lure of the greenery won her, for she came on slowly toward where I was sitting. As she drew nearer I observed her with interest, for she was one of the prettiest girls I ever had seen. Her slim figure, her dainty ankles, her carriage, everything about her suggested the patrician. Her face, rosy and youthful, was set off by a jaunty feathered toque, from under which a pair of soft, black, roguish eyes, shaded by long lashes, looked out above a dainty nose, just a bit tip tilted, on either side of which a fugitive dimple played.

To my great amazement she walked right up to me and stopped short. I observed then that she seemed to be greatly agitated. Involuntarily I sprang to my feet and removed my hat, feeling certain that she had mistaken me for someone else.

She looked straight at me with an odd tightening of the lips. Into her great dark eyes came a look in which pride and fear seemed to mingle with utter loathing.

"I am here," she said. In my confusion I mumbled something, I hardly knew what. She looked me up and down with a puzzled air and raised her hand to a red carnation she was wearing.

"You were to wear one, too," "I don't understand," I answered. "Didn't you," she asked hesitatingly, "didn't you come here about the papers?"

"What papers?" "You know—" "I don't know," I replied. "I know nothing about any papers. You must have mistaken me for someone else."

"But this was the place—this bench—the first bench?" "I sat down here quite by accident." "Oh!" she exclaimed with a sigh of relief. "And you're not wearing a red carnation, either."

I recalled then with misgiving that the ill-favored youth who just a moment ago had disputed the bench with me had been wearing a red carnation, and that he had muttered something about having a date. Yet it did not seem possible that a girl of this sort would be having a rendezvous with a scamp like him. I determined if possible to ascertain the girl's mission.

"I am merely waiting here," I hastened to explain, "until it is time for me to keep a dinner engagement with some relatives in the apartment house from which you came."

As I spoke I noticed that the fear and loathing had vanished from her eyes and that she was looking with relief at a little college pie I was wearing. She was blushing now from confusion at her mistake, and the rising red in her cheeks added greatly to her exquisite loveliness.

"I was to meet someone here," she faltered; "you quite understand, don't you?"

"I understand perfectly," I answered

ed, and recalling the scar-faced man who had been lurking in the bushes, I hurried on to say, "but if I can be of any service—"

"No, no," she sobbed, apparently overwhelmed by whatever it was that was besetting her. "It's nothing—nothing anyone can help."

"Tell me about the man you were to meet here."

"Who are you?" she demanded, her suspicion suddenly rising at my question. "You're not a detective?" "Far from it," I answered amusedly. "I'm just plain Spalding Nelson, on my way to dine with my great-uncle Rufus Gaston."

"Oh!" she said, relieved, "their apartment is on the same floor as ours."

"Tell me about the man you were to meet," I insisted. "I may have seen him."

"Did you? What was he like?" she demanded eagerly.

"Don't you know him?" I countered. "No, I never saw him. I don't even know who he is. I only know that there was to be a man waiting here on this bench this evening. We were both to wear red carnations. I was to come here alone, to see him and to get the—"

She stopped abruptly and tearing off the flower she was wearing, trampled it viciously under her foot. "Not so loud," I warned her, fearful lest they might still be lurking about and overhear us. "There were two of them."

"Two," she whispered, turning pale. "Yes, one waiting here on this bench, and the other, a villainous scar-faced fellow, hiding in the bushes yonder."

"I dare not go on with it," she sobbed, "I dare not! I dare not! Oh, what shall I do?"

"The thing to do now," I replied, "is for you to let me accompany you back to your home. They will make no further attempt to meet you this evening, since my presence has spoiled their plans. Come, let me escort you, Miss . . ."

As I hesitated over the name she answered simply:

"Bradford—Barbara Bradford." She pondered for a moment over my suggestion and then turned to walk with me toward the apartment house.

"What were the men like?" she asked.

I described them as best I could, though really the impression that the youth on the bench had left was vague. His voice, an insolent, hoarse, uncultivated one, was almost all I could recall about him.

"I wonder who they were? I wonder how they know?"

"Knew what?" Her lips tightened into a straight line.

"I can't tell you. I don't. It isn't my secret."

By this time we had reached her home and the bowing doorman was swinging back the great iron door for us. It had been my intention to announce my arrival, but recalling that Miss Bradford had said that the Gaston apartment was on the same floor as hers, I stepped with her into the elevator. When it had descended, leaving us together in the corridor, she turned to me and offered her hand.

"Thank you so much, Mr. Nelson." "I wish you'd let me help you," I cried.

She shook her head. "Well, promise me one thing," I insisted.

"What is it?"

"That you never again will go alone to the park to meet those men."

A tremor shook her body, and once more a look of terror crept into her eyes.

"I can't promise that. I must meet them. I must! I must!"

I reached out and took her hand.

"Promise me, then, that before you go again you will let me know."

"You must not try to stop my going," she cried desperately and freeing her hand turned quickly and unlocking her door left me standing there alone, staring after her.

Perplexed beyond measure as to what I ought to do, after a moment I pressed the bell and was admitted to the Gaston apartment and to the presence of my aged relatives.

Hard Life of Eskimo Dogs.
An Eskimo dog has a hard lot. In the first place, it has to earn its living by drawing sledges. In the next place, food is so scarce that a dog is usually hungry, often hungry enough to eat its harness, or indeed any bits of skin and leather it can find. To prevent this, the men rub the leather cords with tar. But in order to live at all an Eskimo dog has to fight its way. Whenever there is a pack of dogs together they fight. The weak ones are driven away or killed. The strongest and fiercest one, who can thrash any or all the others, is known as the "king dog." It has the best place upon which to lie and the choice of the food.

Carrizozo School Notes

(By Supt. E. E. Cole)

This is examination week of the second month of the school year. A spirit of industry and application to the work in hand prevails among both pupils and teachers. At the close of the first fourth of the school year we find a continuance of good will toward all, a spirit of comradeship, an absence of strife, envy, all things disagreeable. This is the condition the teachers are striving for. It makes school life happy for the pupils while they are doing the work they ought to do. It attracts the pupils and gives us an attendance and punctuality which threaten force could never do.

At this time, we teachers wish to thank the parents for their hearty cooperation and good will. Our relations with the patrons of the school have been most pleasant. This fine spirit not only makes school life happy for teachers and pupils but also does much to advance the standard of the school and the community.

The Camp Fire Girls' Hike to Manchester, last Saturday, was keenly enjoyed by all. They had "lots of fun" in spite of the fact that it turned cold during the outing. Part of the day was spent in climbing, and part in sitting around the camp fire. The girls wish to hereby express thanks to Mrs. French, Mrs. Garrard, Mrs. Lujan and Max Taylor for their kindness in taking the nineteen girls and the two guardians out to the mountains and bringing them back. Misses Herron and Fordon are the two "Guardians" of the Camp Fire Girls.

Special attention to the next item. On November 12, in the high school assembly room, the present class in chemistry will give a program demonstrating the uses of the physics apparatus which was used last year by the class in physics. We wanted to give this entertainment last year but could not get some of the apparatus in time. Some of the striking and pleasing experiments in physics will be made. Some demonstrations with the air pump will be made, with the cartesian diver, the sonometer, the cup of tantalus. There will be two coils: one on the single organ pipe, one on the sonometer. A genuine sparking machine will furnish genuine instruction and delight to the young. Many curious tricks will be done with the Teepler-Holtz machine. The electro-magnet will, among several tricks, pull the hairpins from the head of a beautiful Circassian lady, allowing her hair to fall over her shoulders in rippling waves of gold.

The school owns a fine little wireless telegraph instrument which is in perfect working order and will show the principles of wireless telegraphy just as well as one costing a hundred thousand dollars.

An artificial fountain will play during the whole evening, showing that water will rise higher than its source. We shall boil water with a snowball, if we can get the snowball; if not, we shall boil it with cold water. Galton's whistle will prove to you that some persons can hear sounds that others can not hear. The beautiful manometric flames will be shown, by which you may see the 256 vibrations of the human vocal chords when middle C is sounded.

The object of this entertainment is to show the people of Carrizozo a part of the fine equipment of the Carrizozo High School, one of the reasons why the high school was so readily accredited to all the colleges of the State of New Mexico.

Capitan High School Notes

Say partner! Hear about that good time the girls of the Capitan High School are going to have on the night of November 5th? You didn't? Say boy, they are going to pull off another box supper and dance.

You know when these people on the hill start anything, they do it right and they tell me that this one is to be for the purpose of getting some money to buy needed equipment for the Home Economics classes of the Lincoln County High School. You know, the classes where they learn to cook frijoles and make pies. Things a fellow has to eat as well as those he likes to eat.

They have a class of eighteen future cooks and housekeepers in the high school this year and only material enough for eight to work at one time. That's what they want with the money, to get tools for the other ten.

Everybody's going and all the girls are going to bring boxes and it's up to us fellows to be there and bid in those boxes when they start to auction them off at 8:30 P. M., Friday, November 5th at Howard's Hall.

You tell the girls to pack boxes and we'll get out the old buss and get a good start and be there on time. Maybe we can get our own girls' boxes if we can see what they look like on the way. What's that? You don't eat at night? All right, come on along anyway. I'll buy both boxes and eat 'em both, you can dance.

Girls! Get out that "know how" you told us about and get a box packed and bring it to Howard's Hall, Capitan, Friday night, November 5th. There is going to be a regular old fashioned box supper and dance there and all the money goes to help equip the Home Economics classes of the Lincoln County High School. Make your best cake, put in your best ideas in relishes and good things to eat, in general, and see whether you can't put up that box so that the fellow who auctions them off gets more for yours than for any other. You don't want the other girls to "beat you to it," do you? Of course not. Well, be there with a box. The boys will be there to buy them. Remember, Friday, November 5th.

Capitan High School Notes

Say partner! Hear about that good time the girls of the Capitan High School are going to have on the night of November 5th? You didn't? Say boy, they are going to pull off another box supper and dance.

You know when these people on the hill start anything, they do it right and they tell me that this one is to be for the purpose of getting some money to buy needed equipment for the Home Economics classes of the Lincoln County High School. You know, the classes where they learn to cook frijoles and make pies. Things a fellow has to eat as well as those he likes to eat.

They have a class of eighteen future cooks and housekeepers in the high school this year and only material enough for eight to work at one time. That's what they want with the money, to get tools for the other ten.

Everybody's going and all the girls are going to bring boxes and it's up to us fellows to be there and bid in those boxes when they start to auction them off at 8:30 P. M., Friday, November 5th at Howard's Hall.

You tell the girls to pack boxes and we'll get out the old buss and get a good start and be there on time. Maybe we can get our own girls' boxes if we can see what they look like on the way. What's that? You don't eat at night? All right, come on along anyway. I'll buy both boxes and eat 'em both, you can dance.

Girls! Get out that "know how" you told us about and get a box packed and bring it to Howard's Hall, Capitan, Friday night, November 5th. There is going to be a regular old fashioned box supper and dance there and all the money goes to help equip the Home Economics classes of the Lincoln County High School. Make your best cake, put in your best ideas in relishes and good things to eat, in general, and see whether you can't put up that box so that the fellow who auctions them off gets more for yours than for any other. You don't want the other girls to "beat you to it," do you? Of course not. Well, be there with a box. The boys will be there to buy them. Remember, Friday, November 5th.

PLOT TO KEEP UP BUILDING COST

CONTRACTORS ACCUSED OF OPERATING UNLAWFUL SCHEME TO HOLD UP COSTS.

THROTTLE COMPETITION

PUT BIDS THROUGH "CLEARING HOUSE," IS CHARGE OF UNTERMYER.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

New York, Oct. 21.—Attempt to show that master plumbers, stone cutters and steam heating and ventilating contractors in greater New York have an "unlawful scheme to throttle competition," was made here by Samuel Untermyer at the opening of the joint legislative investigation of the alleged building materials trust.

Mr. Untermyer said he expected to develop evidence that would show that the contractors "had associations" and operated under a "code of practices" by which bids were put through a "central clearing house."

John P. Hetrick, attorney for the association of master plumbers of greater New York, was subjected to a severe cross-examination regarding this alleged "code." Mr. Hetrick also is counsel for groups of stone cutters and steam heating and ventilating contractors.

The witness testified that he had realized from 1 to 3 per cent on millions of dollars of contracts that had passed through his office. This money was paid him for furnishing "insurance" against mistakes and the hundreds of evils surrounding the business" of his clients, he said.

The witness admitted that a system of colored cards was used to notify contractors regarding the status of various bids and the "insurance risk" involved.

When Mr. Untermyer produced a stack of index cards, the witness recognized them and exclaimed:

"My mail has been robbed down at my office. If you are using any of my cards it is my duty to warn you. I hope nobody that robbed the United States mail has turned anything over to you."

"I don't know how they got here," said Mr. Untermyer, "but you will agree with me that they are significant."

The witness then asked Mr. Untermyer if the cards were "all blanks."

"Not one," replied Mr. Untermyer, smilingly, holding up a card, adding:

"What is the item marked? Insurance, isn't it? That is the way they pay in their money. These cards are membership cards, aren't they?"

"Yes," that represents their legal fees to me," replied the witness.

Mr. Hetrick resented any reference to the group of contractors as "associations," expressing the desire that they be recorded on his clients.

Mr. Untermyer said he would develop evidence to show that they are "associations," and that many members have resigned during the last few weeks when they heard "things were stirring."

The McKinley county fair which was held at Gallup, N. Mex., was a decided success in every way, and the best ever held in the county. One of the striking features was the splendid exhibit made by the Navajos and Zunis, this applying both to their handwork and the products of the soil.

One of the largest and finest crops of apples ever harvested in the entire state is now being shipped from the orchards of G. H. Webster in the vicinity of Cimarron, N. Mex. One carload per day is going out of these orchards and it is estimated that it will take at least twenty-five days to take care of the entire crop.

Land owners in the vicinity of Farmington, N. Mex., are making an effort to get a beet sugar factory in that city during the coming year. San Juan county has been surveyed and a total of 1,000 acres has already been signed up. The farmers are very enthusiastic over the outlook and many feel that the factory is assured.

Prospecting on the radium bearing ore deposits in the White Signal district in New Mexico, has been discontinued after several months' work and it is not known just when the work will be resumed. The trouble is said to be that of perfecting a system of separating the ores from the torbenite metals which are found in the mines.

The Copper Belt Silver Mining Company, which has large holdings in the Silver Hill district north of Magdalena, N. Mex., will soon establish permanent offices at that place.

The local ore shipments from the Lordsburg, N. Mex., mining districts during the month of September, amounted to 83 cars or a total of 4,072 tons with an approximate value of $61,000.

Building in Phoenix continues active. Permits in September amounted to $590,527. These figures include permits issued to the city. During the month, about ninety homes are included in the above list with a valuation of approximately $275,000, which makes it a greater home-building month than Phoenix has had in some time.

Under the auspices of the Arizona State Laboratory, a special milk and cream contest will be conducted during the Northern Arizona state fair. Dr. John W. Rheumatism Comes From Tiny Pain Germs

First of all, get it firmly fixed in your mind that all the liniments in the world have no effect whatever on Rheumatism.

This is why S.S.S., the greatest known blood purifier is so successful in the treatment of Rheumatism. It is a powerful cleanser of the blood, and will remove the disease germs that cause your Rheumatism, affording relief that is genuine.

A very common form of Rheumatism is caused by millions of tiny disease germs which infest the blood. The one and only sensible treatment, therefore, is one which cleanses the blood of these germs, and routs them entirely out of the circulation.

GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER

A Marvelous Remedy for Indigestion.

Those who suffer from nervous dyspepsia, constipation, indigestion, torpid liver, dizziness, headaches, coming up of food, wind on stomach, palpitation and other indications of disorder in the digestive tract will find Green's August Flower a most effective and efficient assistant in the restoration of nature's functions and a return to health and happiness. There could be no better testimony of the value of this remedy for these troubles than the fact that its use for the last fifty-four years has extended into many thousands of households all over the civilized world and no indication of any failure has been obtained in all that time. Very desirable as a gentle laxative. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

FREEDOM FOR ARAB WOMEN

May Go Forth to Shop in the Business District Like the European Women.

While the Arabs of Algeria, in turbans and gracefully draped burnouses come out from their silently swinging doors, and with their staffs stroll into the European quarter of the city to buy food at some French chop, the Arab women who leave the Kasbah, the native quarter, are now enjoying a newer freedom.

The war has done it. The women are now allowed to go to other places than the bath and the cemetery, the two traditional rendezvous where their husbands heretofore permitted them to gather. Many rally forth to shop in the downtown district like the European women. Some go to take tea at a fashionable French pastry shop, where they take off their veils, safe from the sight of Mohammedan men, and eat sweet cakes the Christians make. Then they put on their veils again, and, "shrouded in white mystery," go home to their hidden doors. Velled to the eyelashes in "haicks" as white as snow, they undulate slowly in the billowy, baggy trousers of 1,000 folds, and pass into the heavy wooden doors, brass studded, that swing noiselessly shut.—Century Magazine.

TO KEEP EXPERIENCED HELP

Colorado Beet Sugar Company Plans to Provide Houses for Mexicans Next Season.

At least one big sugar company in Colorado is already planning a nucleus of Mexican beet workers for next spring. It has just ordered the construction of 25 small frame buildings in the outskirts of Montrose for the Mexicans to occupy this winter, so that they will not drift to other districts and force the sugar company to bring in inexperienced beet workers again next spring.

This year the company imported several hundred inexperienced workers from Mexico. Many of these have become valuable beet workers and the company intends to do all it can to keep them in the locality.

One to the Sex

A lady, having left her umbrella in a car, applied for it at the office. "Oh, you ladies, you ladies," said the official in charge, as he brought about thirty umbrellas for her inspection, "you are so terribly forgetful!" ## A Beautiful Complexion & Admiration

Ladies—A few days' treatment with CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS will do more to clean up the skin than all the beauty treatments in creation. An imperfect complexion is caused by a sluggish liver. Millions of people, old, young and middle age, take them for Biliousness, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Upset Stomach and for Sallow, Pimply and Blochy Skin. They end the misery of Constipation. Small Pill—Small Dose—Small Price

A man never forgives his enemies until he wishes them prosperity.

The best way not to obtain praise is to ask for it.

The Housewives Burden

When a woman is almost distracted from overwork, her home is in disorder, crying children, and on top of all is suffering from backache, bearing down pains, or some other form of feminine ills, then she should remember that hundreds of women in just her condition have been restored to health and regained their youthful strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and not rest until she has given it a fair trial.

Proof that it Restored the Health of These Two Women

Cairo, Ill.—"Some time ago I got so bad with female trouble that I thought I would have to be operated on. I had a bad displacement. My right side would pain me and I was so nervous I could not hold a glass of water. Many times I would have to stop my work and sit down or I would fall on the floor in a faint. I consulted several doctors and every one told me the same but I kept fighting to keep from having the operation. I had read so many times of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped my sister so I began taking it. I have never felt better than I have since then and I keep house and am able to do all my work. The Vegetable Compound is certainly one grand medicine."—Mrs. J. R. MARTINOW, 2311 Sycamore Street, Cairo, Ill.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my baby came when I could no longer keep up. It strengthened my back and relieved me of the ill effect which so often develops at such times. That was my first experience with the Vegetable Compound. Years afterwards I took it during the Change of Life and got along so well I scarcely ever had to lie down during the day and seldom had dizzy, fainting spells. I am now well and strong, can do all my housework with perfect ease and it is a comfort to me to be able to say to other suffering women 'take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine and be strong.' I will be glad to have you use my name if it will be the means of helping any one."—Mrs. R. A. FARMER, 605 Orchard Knob Ave., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Except for the land selected for the Santa Fe and Grant County Railroad Bond Fund, the successful bidder must pay to the Commissioner of Public Lands, or his agent holding such sale, one twentieth of the price offered by him for the land, four per cent interest in advance for the balance of such purchase price, fees for advertising and appraisal, and all costs incidental to the sale herein, each and all of said amounts must be deposited in cash or certified exchange at the time of sale and which said amounts and all of them are subject to forfeiture to the State of New Mexico, if the successful bidder does not execute a contract within thirty days after it has been mailed to him by the State Land Office, said contract to provide that the purchaser may at his option make payments of not less than one-thirtieth of ninety-five per cent of the purchase price at any time after the sale and prior to the expiration of thirty years from the date of the contract and to provide for the payment of any unpaid balance at the expiration of thirty years from the date of the contract with interest on deferred payments at the rate of four per cent per annum payable in advance on the anniversary of the date of the contract next following the date of tender.

The sale of land selected for the Santa Fe and Grant County Railroad Bond Fund will be subject to the above terms and conditions except that the successful bidder must pay in cash or certified exchange at the time of sale, one-tenth of the purchase price offered by him for the land, four per cent interest in advance for the balance of such purchase price and will be required to execute a contract providing for the payment of the balance of such purchase price in thirty equal annual installments with interest on all deferred payments at the rate of four per cent per annum in advance payments and interest due on October 1st of each year.

The above sale of land will be subject to valid existing rights, easements, rights of way and reservations. All mineral rights in the above described tracts of land are reserved to the State.

The Commissioner of Public Lands, or his agent holding such sale reserves the right to reject any and all bids offered at said sale.

Possession under contracts of sale for the above described tracts will be given on or before October 1st, 1921. Witness my hand and the official seal of the State Land Office of the State of New Mexico, this thirty-first day of August, 1920.

It Sounds Pretty Good-But?

The clearest analysis we have seen of Mr. Hanna's campaign and the issues he has brought forward in support of his election, strangely enough is found in a newspaper that has always been a strong supporter of the democratic party and its candidates. The following is from the Alamogordo News, of October 21, for years one of the leading democratic newspapers of southern New Mexico. The heading quoted above is the one used by the News over the following editorial statement: "Mr. Hanna, in his talk in Alamogordo and other places in the county, as well as in the State, has about three or four tunes for his fiddle, and has in most cases, played those tunes with no variations. Mr. Hanna, we believe, is a man of splendid qualities, with a possible exception of being a little too hasty and impetuous, a quality, by the way, which is sadly out of place in an executive office. His main campaign argument for his election is "bossism," unequal taxation, and unfair districting, (gerrymandering) of the legislative districts by the Republicans. He has not much to say except to extol his own party at the expense of his opponents. He is rather the same temperament as Governor Cox, a little ill-natured and unreasonable. We say this only from what we read, have heard, and speeches he has made, not on private information from Santa Fe, by those who know the Judge personally.

"The 'bossism' argument falls flat on analysis. It does not matter very much to the people whether Bursom or Putney is 'boss.' 'Bossism' is the old ghost story, and usually there is a great deal more smoke than real fire, but it makes such good campaign dope and it catches some, maybe. "Now the mine tax last-There has been deal of furor kicked up over it, and really without any particular cause, though the argument that mines should be taxed on the actual value of the property sounds good. It may rouse a considerable number of voters to a high pitch and may catch votes, but the argument is NOT FAIR. Suppose a man has a Coal Mine of 100 acres, for instance he is a small operator. IT IS ARGUED THAT HE SHOULD PAY ON THE ACTUAL VALUE OF HIS PROPERTY, WHICH MAY BE $100,000. HIS OUTPUT OF COAL MAY NOT BE OVER $5,000. HE HAS COAL THAT WILL NOT BE MINED FOR A HUNDRED YEARS. SAY THAT THE CHINO COPPER COMPANY HAS A PROPERTY WORTH $2,500,000; that is maybe London or

New York capitalists would willingly give that much for it. Would it be taxed THAT AMOUNT EACH YEAR, REGARDLESS OF THE FACT THAT THE COMPANY HAS COPPER ORE IN THE GROUND THAT WILL NOT BE TAKEN OUT FOR A THOUSAND YEARS? Taxation of mines on actual valuation is not fair, as the conditions are not the same. "There may be, and probably is ground for complaint as to the taxation of mines in New Mexico, but the law is better than the one of a few years ago, and a special commission headed by ex-governor Hagerman who is an expert and who has the confidence of the people, is at work on a report making recommendations as to taxation in general. The tax argument is mostly mere campaign argument, and as such usually, is most unfair." "As to the gerrymandering of the legislative districts, it is NOT FAIR TO DEMOCRATS and was put over by the republicans for their own advantage. The democrats have abundant grounds for complaints. The wonder is, would the latter make a fair districting to all, if they secure the opportunity, or will they-just play politics?"

HARDING and COOLIDGE and "AMERICA FIRST"

Shoot straight at the Democratic slogan which reads: "A vote for Cox is a vote for peace."
Remember the Democratic slogan of 1916 which read: "He kept us out of war."

KEEP CONSTANTLY BEFORE YOU ARTICLE 10 OF THE WILSON LEAGUE OF NATIONS, WHICH COX IS PLEDGED TO SUSTAIN. REMEMBER THAT IT MAKES THIS LEAGUE A LEAGUE FOR WAR INTO WHICH OUR RESOURCES AND OUR MEN MAY BE CALLED AT ANY TIME BY THE ORDER OF EUROPEAN DIPLOMATS.

Cox is not the Candidate of Democratic Citizens.
He is the Candidate of the Wilson League of Nations and the Candidate of the "Wets"

See to it that New Mexico's Electoral Votes are cast against Cox

AND REMEMBER, REPUBLICANS, THAT YOUR STALL TICKET IS COMPOSED THROUGHOUT OF STRONG, CLEAN, EFFICIENT MEN, WHO HAVE MADE A CLEAN CAMPAIGN AND WHOSE ELECTION MEANS CLEAN, PROGRESSIVE, EFFICIENT GOVERNMENT FOR OUR STATE.

LET NO LAST MINUTE BARRAGE OF FALSEHOOD OR APPEAL TO PREJUDICE DISTURB YOUR FAITH OR DETER YOUR EFFORTS IN BEHALF OF THE WELFARE OF OUR NATION AND THE CONTINUED PROGRESS OF NEW MEXICO.

For Representative from 30th Legislative District
State of New Mexico

HIS SLOGAN:

"The Best Laws for the Best State"

Cast your vote next Tuesday for CHARLES FELTON GREY, Republican Candidate for Representative 30th District.

The man who has grown up with New Mexico and loves the State.

The man who has personal knowledge of the rich natural resources of the State and who stands for sound business administration of the State lands being so directed as to uphold the smaller as well as the larger prospective investor, and that the lands sold or leased shall produce the largest possible revenue.

The man who has the acquaintance and confidence of Capital necessary for the development of these resources and who will devote his time to create conditions that will attract people and money.

The man who has made no pledges, other than to himself, which means an honorable and direct application of the laws and the furtherance of prosperity for the State.

The man who will safeguard your interests as he will his own.

The man who is a staunch friend in good weather and both. Write and tell him that you helped to elect him and he will be a good friend of yours, too.

He will appreciate your vote and support.

CORN IS EASILY PUT INTO SILOS

Almost Any Green Crop Can Successfully Be Made Into Palatable Silage.

MOST NUTRIENTS PRESERVED

Can Be Put Into Silo at an Expense Not Above That of Shocking, Husking, Grinding and Shredding—Less Waste in Feeding.

Almost any green crop can be made into silage successfully. Much care, however, must be taken to expel the air from such hollow-stemmed plants as the small cereal grains by cutting fine and packing firmly. Other crops, of which legumes are examples, are deficient in the fermentable constituents needed for palatable silage. On the other hand, a few crops, such as the saccharine sorghums, have so much sugar that unless cut at a more mature stage they have a tendency to produce sour silage.

Food Material From Corn.

In most parts of the United States more food material can be obtained from an acre of corn as silage than from an acre of any other crop that can be grown. Corn is more easily harvested and put into the silo than crops like rye, clover, cowpeas, or alfalfa, and when cut for silage the maximum quantity of nutrients is preserved. Experiments have shown that corn, when siloed, lost 15.6 per cent of the dry matter, against 23.8 per cent when cut for fodder and cured in the field. Moreover, there is less waste in feeding silage than in feeding fodder, since good silage properly fed is all consumed.

Land Ready.

When corn is cut for silage the land is cleared and left ready for another crop sooner than when the corn is shocked or is husked from the stand.

Cutting and Blowing Corn into Silo.

ing stalk. Corn can be put into the silo at a cost not above that of shocking, husking, grinding and shredding. Farmers' Bulletin 578 on "The Making and Feeding of Silage" may be had by addressing the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

SYSTEMS OF FARM ACCOUNTS

Ready-Made Schemes Seldom Bring Out Essential Facts That Farmer Ought to Know.

Farmers, as a rule, are highly individualistic in their methods, and farm business conditions vary widely. Accordingly, ready-made systems of farm accounts seldom bring out all the facts that the farmer ought to know. Systems must be developed to fit each man's requirements, and efforts to shape one's needs according to a prepared system not based primarily on these needs will almost inevitably result in failure.

MAKING PORK WITH ALFALFA

Without Crop of Legume Producer is Handicapped—Hogs Do Not Relish Bulky Feeds.

The pork producer without alfalfa is handicapped from the start. Hogs are not designed by nature to consume large quantities of bulky feeds as are cattle and sheep, but there seems to be an exception in the case of alfalfa.

RELATIVE HARDINESS

"It is a mistaken idea that scrubs are more hardy if only those are kept which are of good constitutional vigor."—United States Department of Agriculture.

WHITE SWEET CLOVER CROP IS PREFERABLE

Breeding Is Much Easier Than With Red Variety.

Interesting Facts Brought Out by Recent Experiments Conducted by Department of Agriculture and Iowa State College.

Red clover, recent investigations have shown, is practically self-sterile; that is, under the influence of its own pollen a very small number of seeds on a given plant will set. In this respect it differs from white sweet clover, which tests have demonstrated will set nearly as many seeds under the influence of its own pollen as it will with the pollen of another plant. This makes the breeding of white sweet clover a much more promising undertaking than the breeding of red clover. These facts have been brought out by recent experiments conducted by the United States department of agriculture in co-operation with Iowa State college. The federal department's investigators plan to follow up these discoveries with the selection and breeding of white sweet clover for increased forage and seed production.

It was also found that sweet clover needs a great deal of moisture to mature the seed properly. This is one of the reasons why the second crop of sweet clover sometimes has a better seed yield than the first. There being a smaller amount of growth on the second crop, the plants do not draw on the water supply so strongly and there is more water left for the maturing of the seed.

DRIED CORN FOR WINTER USE

Sweet Corn Cheap and Easy to Prepare for the Family During Cold Weather—Store in Dry Place.

Dried corn is as old as the early American Indians. Sweet corn is one of the easiest of the vegetables to dry for winter use. If there is enough on the market, the corn can be bought very cheaply, or if you have a surplus in your garden, it will be well worth your while to dry that surplus. As soon as the corn is pulled, husk the ears and boil for five minutes to set the milk. Cut the corn off of the cob, and place on the dryer in the sun and air for a day or until the corn has been dried. Place trays in the oven and finish drying. Store in a dry, cool place until it is desired during the winter.

GOOD SIRES NEEDED

"Breeds of livestock cannot be improved without the constant use of good sires. A good sire so impresses his characteristics upon his offspring that they are more like him than like the common herd."—Missouri State Board of Agriculture.

BLUE GRASS IS DETRIMENTAL

Nothing is more detrimental to the growth of alfalfa than blue grass, and perhaps nothing is harder to get rid of. Some use the springtooth harrow, but it does not do satisfactory work. The Iowa State college says the disk does much better work, as it will tear out the blue grass and leave most of the alfalfa unhurt. Naturally, the disk will split some of the crowns of the alfalfa, but this is far better than losing the whole field. The disking should be done right after the first or second cutting.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

THE MOTH BALLS.

"Well," said the first Moth Ball to the second Moth Ball, "so they're taking 'out their things again, and they are looking them all over to see if we have done our work."

"We have," said the second Moth Ball, "there are no moth holes in the coat where I've been."

"How we do insult the moths," said the first Moth Ball.

"One hardly understands how they can stand it. At least one would think they would be so sensitive that they would never come around."

"But they don't seem to have any feeling about it. That is if they can get anywhere they do."

"I suppose they're hungry and like such things to eat," said the second Moth Ball.

"But they shouldn't go after people's clothes," said the first Moth Ball.

"Well, we do our best to keep them from doing that."

"It is queer," said the first Moth Ball, "how many creatures there are who can't take hints."

"Now there are the flies. They come around and no one wants them. Everyone quite plainly says and shows that they don't want them.

"We Do Our Best."

"They put fly paper about so the flies will stick to it and they put screens in their windows and they have fly swatters."

"Flies are very unhealthy and still the flies come about. They don't take hints."

"Then there are the mosquitoes. They're mean as they can be, going around and biting people and making them feel most uncomfortable on nice, warm summer nights. They are very rude and not in the least nice. They will never take hints."

"Mosquito netting, screens—nothing makes them take hints. And often they're mean enough to spoil some lovely spot by being around. When people are sitting in the nice cool evening air in the summer they will come around and drive people indoors where it is close and hot."

"Then there are a number of other creatures I've heard of like that who won't take hints. You'd think that when people first thought us up, thought of having moth balls in the first place—that the moths would quietly and quickly have departed."

"One would have thought that, but no, they still come around."

"It is true that we keep them out of the way but as far as they can they come around and eat meals in people's clothes and lay their eggs there."

"Just because years ago someone got hold of the idea of making moth balls to put in clothes it didn't make the moths feel sensitive."

"Where the moth balls were the moths stayed away. And of course the more of us there are around the greater the number of moths that stay away in the summer time when they would like to live in people's clothes."

"How funny they are. When most creatures go to the country or the seashore in the summer if they have to live in the cities in the winter, still the moths prefer to stay, if they can, in great heavy coats and furs and tam-o'-shanters, and so forth."

"It is really most ridiculous. One would think they would prefer it where it was cool."

"Still," said the second Moth Ball, "we do not go to cool spots in the summer. We stay right in with the warm clothes."

"That is so," the first Moth Ball answered, "but we have our work to do. Our business keeps us in warm clothes in the summer time."

"Oh, well," the second Moth Ball said, "I suppose there are some creatures who will never take hints and perhaps it is just as well."

"For if moths took hints there would be no need for moth balls around and the poor winter clothes in the summer time would feel very nervous!"

"True," the first Moth Ball ended.

Doctor Cupid

That love sometimes cures disease is a fact that has been called to the attention of the public by a prominent physician. Love is not, however, the cure for all women. Many a woman is nervous and irritable, feels dragged down and worn out for no reason that she can think of.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives new life and new strength to weak, worn-out, run-down women. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well. It is now sold by all druggists in the United States in tablets as well as liquid form.

ATCHISON, KANS.—"About twenty years ago I first commenced taking 'Favorite Prescription' for feminine trouble. The first half dozen doses gave relief and by the time I had finished the first bottle I felt stronger than for a long while. Since then I have taken it whenever I was run-down, weak or nervous and it has always given me the desired relief. I am very glad to recommend 'Favorite Prescription' as a woman's real friend."—Mrs. IDA TICKNER, 1118 North Tenth Street.

Bad Stomach Sends Her to Bed for 10 Months

Eatonie Gets Her Up!

"Over a year ago," says Mrs. Dora Williams, "I took to bed and for 10 months did not think I would live. Eatonie helped me so much I am now up and able to work. I recommend it highly for stomach trouble."

Eatonie helps people to get well by taking up and carrying out the excess acidity and gases that put the stomach out of order. If you have indigestion, sourness, heartburn, belching, food repeating, or other stomach distress, take an Eatonie after each meal. Big box costs only a trifle with your druggist's guarantee.

"You are charged with bigamy." "I guess I'm guilty, your honor." "Well, sir?" "I'm a victim of war statistics, your honor."

"What do you mean?" "I read some figures to show that because of the number of men killed in the war there are now six women to every man, and I tried to get my six."

SWAMP-ROOT FOR KIDNEY AILMENTS

There is only one medicine that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that it has proven to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of distressing cases. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

Start treatment at once. Sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Call for Introspection.

One little seed doubles—triples—multiplies an hundredfold in a surprisingly short time. Think of all these things, reader, and then ask yourself, "Am I the rotten apple of Guam; shall I be the seed of discontent?"—Guam News Letter.

Little Dorothy Dozier is recovering from a recent spell of illness, and will soon be able to resume her school studies.

A. H. HARVEY merits re-election as County Surveyor. His work has been all that efficiency calls for.

Mr. Fred Gibson, who has been visiting the Haines family for the past week, left for El Paso Monday. During his stay here he made several good attempts to get a deer, but like many more with the same intentions he "came back."

Your vote cast for Harding and Coolidge, you will be happy.

Mrs. M. L. Blaney's popularity increases as people become acquainted with facts concerning her past services as County School Superintendent. The present campaign has been a good educator in that it has shown the people how unselfishly and justly she has conducted the office, and how much more the improvement will be with another term in the office.

Mrs. S. A. Price and son Teddy, in company with Miss Chloe Price, left for Roswell Saturday where Mrs. Price and son will visit for about ten days with Miss Price, who stayed over here for several days on her return trip from attending the convention of the Eastern Star at El Paso last week.

Mike Barnett arrived home last week from the navy, where he has been serving since his enlistment during the late war. Mike was, for the last six months of his time, stationed at Portsmouth, N. J., from which navy yard he received his discharge before his return home.

Mrs. Harry Norman and children, accompanied by Mrs. Richard Meikle, sister of Mrs. Norman, arrived on No. 3 Wednesday from Tucumcari, where Mrs. Norman has been visiting relatives for the past week. Mrs. Meikle will spend the week-end with the Normans.

Score one for Morgan Reilly. He killed his deer Tuesday on the north portion of the Gallacher ranch and he was certainly a fine one. Leave it to Morgan to get what the law allows him.

Miss Clara Adams arrived Saturday from Waco, Texas, where she has been attending school since the opening of the term. Miss Clara will remain in Carrizozo to finish the balance of the school term.

Incoming deer hunters report deep snows in the adjoining mountains and this makes the hunting bad. But two kills have been made as far as we have been informed. Morgan Reilly and S. H. Nickles, were the lucky boys.

A first class photographer has located here in Carrizozo for a for a short stay at the place formerly occupied by the J. K. Such Jewelry Store, and is equipped to turn out high grade portraiture at 1/2 to 3/4 the regular price charged by leading studios. Flashlights of banquets, socials, parties, etc., a specialty. Formerly with Moffatt, Chicago's leading studio. Your patronage solicited. The Art Shop.

Manager Dingwall of the Crystal Theatre, is arranging to give a double bill on the night of Nov. 2, and will, after the show, give the returns of the election on the big screen. A private wire will be run into the Theatre so that all news will be flashed on the screen as fast as it comes in. This will be a new departure for this town, and will afford the people with the exact convenience enjoyed by those of a metropolitan city. Take notice and attend this popular resort on that night. There will be no charge.

Our Prices on Cotton piece goods are lower than they were in 1918--Watch our show windows--Carrizozo Trading Co.

As a candidate for County School Superintendent on the Democratic ticket, I respectfully solicit your support. WILBUR COX, Pol. Adv.
