

Big Republican Rally

Tuesday night at Lutz Hall, one of, if not the largest Republican meeting was held and one which was the heaviest attended of any held here for years. The State candidates, R. C. Dillon, candidate for Governor, Miss Mary Bartolino, Secretary of State, Benjamin F. Pankey, Land Commissioner, R. P. Barnes, Attorney General, Miss Lois Randolph, State Superintendent of Schools, Hugh H. Williams, Corporation Commissioner, Miguel Otero, Jr., Auditor, all made addresses in which there was no odor of political hatred, mud-slinging of any nature.

When the Republican Standard Bearer entered the hall, he was greeted with applause and all through the big meeting, the different candidates were interrupted with applause as they modestly and without malice toward their opponents, presented their respective claims for election to the various offices to which they were nominated in a convention which nominated them unattended by nominating rings, etc. It will be remembered, that Senator Bratton, when he made the assertion at the Democratic meeting the night before, asked that the word be conveyed to Adam Bede of Minnesota, who is a member of the Republican campaign party, that he had said, "the Democrats during the Wilson administration enacted more conservative legislation in eight years, than the Republicans have given the country for fifty years."

The word was conveyed to Mr. Bede and his answer to that statement will remain in the minds of those who heard him speak, for many years. As his was the last number on the program, his humorous talk caused so much laughter, that the janitor of the Lutz Hall swept up about a quart of buttons the next morning.

In answer to another charge that he was not to talk on state issues, he proved that it was not his mission by not uttering one word about state issues, and only once referred to the muddy roads between here and Capitan which reminded him of a story of a certain resident of the Ozark regions, which caused an uproar of laughter.

After the meeting, the crowd of about 300 people, composed of both Republicans and Democrats, came forward and shook hands with the candidates, expressing in friendly approval of the cleanness of the meeting. Mr. Holmes, press correspondent, was with the party.

J. V. TULLY

As will be seen by the Republican County Ticket on another page of this paper, J. V. Tully, merchant, business man, and booster, is named thereon as a candidate for the office of County Treasurer. Mr. Tully has served Lincoln County in the past in various capacities, once as Representative from Lincoln County in the Legislature and serving one term as Senator from the shoe-string district. In Mr. Tully, we have an ideal candidate for the office to which he was nominated. He is not only capable and efficient, but his familiarity with the affairs of our County, his interest in the good and welfare of affairs in

Railroad Rumbblings

At the Safety First meeting held at Tucumcari Sept. 28, Trainmaster Horton and Conductor S. G. Allen were in attendance from this point. The meeting, as a whole, was well attended, and many valuable suggestions were taken under advisement.

Our old friend Marvin Burton, who had been for several years in the employ of the old E. P. & S. W., before leaving this place, is here from Alamoso, Colo., and will remain in Carrizozo for a few days to finish up some business matters.

Many cars of apples are being shipped from the Hondo region to eastern points. This is a new and important development in that district and we hope it will continue to grow.

Brakeman C. N. Lemmon left for Duran to relieve Yardmaster R. G. Robertson at that point, so that he might attend the Safety First meeting at Tucumcari.

Operator S. W. Wells and family left this week for California, where Mr. Wells has been transferred. Operator Laverty is filling the vacancy caused by Mr. Wells' departure, which is regretted by the operator's many friends.

Conductor and Mrs. J. E. Quirk were El Paso visitors this week, to attend the funeral of one of their old New Mexico friends whom they had known for years.

Rev. Stanley Leaves With Regrets From Friends

Rev. H. King Stanley, who had been so long connected with religious affairs at Fort Stanton, serving as chaplain and at the same time serving as Rector for the Episcopal Churches of Carrizozo, Alamogordo and Tularosa, holding meetings on alternate Sundays, left yesterday for Raton, where he has accepted a call from the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church of that place.

The many friends of the Reverend gentleman regret in a large measure, his departure. In times past, he has gone out of his way to assist in every good work wherever he was called, and oftentimes went where he deemed it his duty without waiting for a call. Such reverend men of his type will be of great benefit to any community, and while we very much regret his decision to accept the call, we congratulate the Episcopal Church on the same and wish the new Rector and his charge the fullest measure of spiritual prosperity.

general, will, if elected, make him one of the best County Treasurers we have ever had. Mr. Tully solicits the support and influence of the public, regardless of past party affiliations.

The Songs I'd Like to Sing

By C. Lawrence Hawthorne

I'd like to write of humble things—
The common joys and cares of every day.
I'd like to tell a tale that brings
A brighter smile, or drives a tear away.
I'd like to paint a little scene
Of good old-fashioned comradeship and fun,
Where life is wholesome and serene,
And restful sleep is found when day is done.

I'd like to sing the simple songs,
That children often stop their play to hear.
I'd like to talk to artless throngs
And have them understand my words of cheer.
I'd like to voice the happiness
That only humble folks can truly know,
And search for language to express
The beauty of contentment's kindly glow.

I'd like to chant love's tender lays,
And laud the charm of nature everywhere.
I'd like to sing of childhood days,
Of home, and of a mother's faithful care.
I'd like to touch the wistful chords
Of memory, and somehow play again
That gentle music which affords
Uncending pleasure to the hearts of men.

Lincoln Forest Notes

The recent rain which was general over the entire forest no doubt is too late to benefit ranges other than furnishing a bountiful supply of stock water, but will be of considerable benefit for relieving special fire risks usually occurring during the fall of the year.

The Secretary of Agriculture has approved the resumption of grazing fees for Arizona and New Mexico Forests commencing Oct. 1. Letters of transmittal for the remainder of the 1926 grazing season Oct. 1 to March 31, 1927, have been furnished permittees calling for payments. On account of drouth and poor financial conditions which have prevailed, grazing fees were waived for the period January 1, 1925 to September 30, 1926.

Forest Ranger Vance A. Thomas of the Capitan District who conducted a round-up of trespass horses on ranges on the south side of the Capitan Mountains during August 16, 17 and 18, gathered 104 head. Disposal of the stock has been made in accordance with Regulation T-12, a Regulation providing for the impounding of domestic livestock found trespassing on National Forest land if not removed upon reasonable notice. A summary of the disposal is as follows: 23 head were redeemed by rightful owners who paid all impounding costs borne by the government, 49 head were sold at public sale and 27 head sold at private sale. The remaining 5 head of unknown ownership have been advertised, and unless sold at public or private sale, will be condemned and destroyed. Such workings as these are great benefits to the ranges, the object of the Regulation being to provide a supplement to existing trespass procedure to enable Forest Officers to meet the responsibility imposed upon them by law to adequately protect public property.

LOOT!

BY ELMO SCOTT WATSON

"Le Grand Exploit" of Pierre Le Grand

PIERRE LE GRAND lives in history as one pirate who knew when to stop. He captured one rich prize by an exploit so daring in conception and in execution as to stand in a class by itself; then he retired and never again went a-pirating. But his success proved the inspiration for his fellow buccaneers of the West Indies and the long reign of piracy in the Seventeenth century began.

Le Grand was a Norman who settled on Tortuga Island and became known by the English as "Peter the Great." He had been "on account" for a long time, but as a pirate he had been a miserable failure. Finally, almost starving and in despair, he came in sight of a great Spanish fleet, and seeing one ship, the biggest of all, lagging somewhat in the rear he immediately conceived a daring scheme.

Swearing his men to fight to death and never surrender and ordering one of them to bore a hole in the boat so it would sink quickly, thus "burning his bridges behind him," Le Grand pushed his little vessel alongside the big man-of-war just as night was falling. In a moment Le Grand's pirates had swarmed over the side, armed only with pistols and cutlasses, killed the watchman and Pierre ran down into the cabin, where he found the Spanish admiral playing cards.

"Jesus bless us!" exclaimed the astonished Spaniard. "Are those devils, or what are they?" Le Grand quickly assured him that they were not devils but desperate men who would kill as quickly and willingly as they would eat and drink, and demanded the surrender of the ship. The admiral realized the futility of resistance and surrendered.

Le Grand did not waste any time in looting the ship nor in allowing his men to get out of hand from liquor. He at once put his prisoners ashore and set sail for France, where he lived the rest of his life in peace.

Word of his exploit spread like wildfire among the buccaneers of Tortuga and Hispaniola. They left their work of killing and drying beef (from which they derived the name "buccaneer") and set out to emulate Le Grand in attacking Spanish ships. No boat was too small in which to make the attempt to capture any size Spanish ship, and thus Le Grand's one exploit led to innumerable others which made the pirates of the West Indies notorious for many years.

A special meeting of the Carrizozo Woman's Club is hereby called to meet at the home of Mrs. M. L. Blaney, Monday afternoon, Oct. 4, 1926, at four o'clock, for the purpose of considering the purchase of a piano. Mrs. Maude L. Blaney, Pres. Mrs. C. N. Lemmon, Secretary.

Chamber of Commerce Entertainment

Last Friday night, the Chamber of Commerce entertainment under the direction of its President, E. M. Brickley, offered the following program to a large and appreciative audience.

Piano Solo, Alene Thompson
Vocal Solo, Esther Woods
Saxophone Solo, J. C. Burkett
Address, Harry McElroy, General Attorney, Southern Pacific.
Every vocal and instrumental number met with its deserved amount of applause and the final number, an address by Mr. McElroy, was listened to with the closest attention. Many of the patrons were railroad men and those who were not connected with the Southern Pacific were given one of the most public interviews concerning the relations between the company and the state, that has ever been set forth in this community.

If we could have a Democratic Pow Wow composed of the same party which made its appearance here Monday night, September 27, the Republican candidates could save themselves a lot of strenuous work for the balance of the campaign, said a certain business man Tuesday morning.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Franco-Italian Relations Strained by Attempt to Kill Mussolini.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

ALTHOUGH friendly relations between Italy and France are strained as a result of the latest attempt to assassinate Premier Mussolini, it is not likely there will be an actual diplomatic rupture. The Italian anarchist who threw a bomb at the dictator's automobile insists that he had no accomplices, but the Italian authorities are convinced that his crime was plotted in France and they accuse that country of deliberately sheltering conspirators against the Fascist regime. Immediately after the bomb throwing Mussolini, without naming France, uttered a warning to other nations that Italy proposed to "put a stop to certain culpable, tiresome conditions." The Italian press was more outspoken and berated France soundly, to which the French replied, officially and unofficially, with disclaimers of responsibility and advice to Italy to watch its own borders and keep out the plotters who might form their plans in other countries. There were demonstrations against the French consulates in several Italian cities, and the French chargé d'affaires in Rome fled three protests. Premier Poincaré called in the Italian ambassador to Paris and made it clear that France would regard further official inspired criticism of its hospitality for foreign political refugees as an act of extreme unfriendliness. Notwithstanding this, the directory of the Fascist party issued orders which said in part:

"The land of France, for whose safety some of our 500,000 war dead fell, has been for years the most hospitable land for all those hatching in their perfidious hearts hatred against Italy."

It is there, the orders continue, that "spirits are excited, bombs are built, and those people are instructed who later will enter Italy to attempt the life of the head of the Italian regime. All this cannot longer be tolerated."

The orders declare that, if France desires to continue friendship with Italy, as the latter desires, it must change its line of conduct.

The Italian government published a list of political refugees, most of whom are living in France, and announced action that will deprive them of their citizenship.

COLORADO Republicans seem to have wrested the control of the party's affairs in that state from the hands of the Ku Klux Klan and similar secret organizations. United States Senator Hiram W. Evans, directing head of the Klan in Colorado, was defeated for re-nomination by Charles W. Waterman, counsel of the President's oil conservation board, who was supported by the anti-Klan element. In addition, all the candidates for office who were sponsored by Senator L. C. Phillips were beaten by those supported by Clarence C. Hamilton and ex-Governor Shoup, leaders of the anti-Klan faction in the party. The Democrats nominated former Gov. W. E. Sweet for senator.

In Maryland Senator Weller, Republican, defeated Congressman John Philip Hill for the senatorial nomination to oppose M. E. Tydings, Democrat. Governor Ritchie was re-nominated. Senators E. D. Smith of South Carolina and Wesley Jones of Washington won re-nomination.

Michigan Republicans had an exciting gubernatorial fight and Gov. Alex Groesbeck was badly beaten by Fred W. Green of Ionia, mainly because Groesbeck had been exceedingly liberal in the granting of prison paroles and pardons. The Groesbeck-Green contest was so bitter that the Democrats think it will result in a split in the Republican party and the election of William J. Comstock, their unopposed gubernatorial candidate.

Senator Butler of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee, and Gov. Alvin T. Fuller were re-nominated without opposition.

and the Democrats of the state put up former Senator David I. Walsh and William Gaston to oppose them. The Democrats of Louisiana re-nominated Senator Edwin S. Broussard, though former Gov. Jared Y. Sanders gave him a close race. Senator Dale of Vermont was unopposed for re-nomination.

Republican national leaders have brought out the old saying, "As Maine goes, so goes the nation," following the election last week in that state. It was won by the Republicans with ease and their majority of about 20,000 was considered quite satisfactory for an off-year. Gov. Ralph O. Brewster and all four congressmen were returned to office. The Democratic congressional committee admittedly could find little encouragement in the Maine results.

CANADA'S elections last week were watched by the United States with unusual interest, and the victory of the Liberals, it was predicted, would result in reciprocity with this country. Leaders there said the defeat of the Melchior Conservative government meant the Canadian people refused to be lived behind high tariff barriers. W. L. MacKenzie King, leader of the Liberals, had urged the wisdom of freer trade facilities, and some of his Progressive allies in western Canada are out-and-out free traders. The Liberals won 110 parliamentary seats, and of their natural allies the Progressives won 8, the United Farmers of Alberta 11, the Laborites 3 and the Independents 2. It was certain Mr. King could muster a majority of about 60 votes for his policies. It was expected Premier Melchior and his cabinet would resign promptly and that Mr. King would be called to form a new government.

SEVERAL thousand delegates of the Ku Klux Klan met in Washington for the annual convention, paraded down Pennsylvania avenue in robes, but without masks, declared themselves against the World court and also against Gov. Al Smith as a Presidential candidate, and re-elected Hiram W. Evans as imperial wizard. Evans also said the Klan would wage war against alienism, bolshevism, Catholicism, modification of the Eighteenth amendment and European intervention in Mexican internal affairs. Resolutions were adopted demanding strict adherence to a "hands-off" policy toward Mexico's church squabble and expressing the order's sympathy with the Calles government in its "efforts to free the people from anti-fying foreign influences and to popularize the education of the masses."

Every delegate to the convention took a solemn oath to attend some Protestant church every Sunday in the year, unless prevented by illness or some other emergency; and a similar oath is to be administered by the delegates to every member of the Klan.

TORRENTIAL rains, the heaviest recorded for September, swelled the rivers and streams of the Middle West into roaring floods and immense damage to crops and real property resulted. Western Illinois was hardest hit by the rains, which descended on sections of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, Wisconsin and Michigan. The losses ranged from $3,000,000 in Illinois to half a million in Iowa. About a score of persons lost their lives. Most of the damage falls on the corn crop.

ELECTION of non-permanent members of the League of Nations council by the assembly resulted in the choice of Poland, Chile, and Rumania for three-year tenure; Columbia, Holland and China for two years, and Belgium, Czechoslovakia and San Salvador for one year. By a special vote, Poland was declared re-eligible for election at the expiration of her three-year term, thereby becoming a semi-permanent council member. There are 18 candidates for the nine seats, including the Irish Free State and Uruguay whose representatives were bitterly disappointed by the result of the balloting.

August Zaleski, foreign minister of Poland, on behalf of the delegation from Poland, Sweden and Finland, presented a petition asking that the league enter the battle against alcoholism. He declared the evil of alcoholism was made worse by the lack of co-ordinated international action.

After the nations signatory to the Locarno treaties had deposited with the league secretariat signed copies of the pacts, Doctor Stresemann of Germany demanded that the Rhineland be evacuated by the allies. In an interview he said: "If Locarno has any meaning at all, it should mean the existing frontiers of western Europe are guaranteed against forceful revision, and consequently no other guarantees, such as occupied zones, are longer necessary."

Paul Boncour, French delegate, urged that a general conference on disarmament should be convoked at the earliest possible date. The league's disarmament commission adopted a modified resolution emphasizing the necessity of concluding as soon as possible a convention of the private manufacturer of arms.

MEXICO has more trouble on its hands. The Yaqui Indians of the state of Sonora, who never have been really conquered, are in revolt and the government has sent large bodies of troops to the scene. One detachment of artillery is reported to have been destroyed by the Indians. The Yaquis stopped a train on which General Obregon was traveling and seized the former president, but he was soon released, presumably after paying ransom. It is believed in Mexico City that the Indians have been stirred up by revolutionary agents sent into the country by Adolfo de la Huerta, head of the revolt against the Obregon government in December, 1923.

Jacob Rosenthal, a wealthy New Yorker, was kidnapped by bandits while motoring from Cuernavaca to Mexico City and held for ransom. Federal troops were put on the trail of the bandits, who sent warning that if they were pursued they would kill their captive. This being ignored they murdered Rosenthal.

HENRY STEVENS, firearms expert, joined his brother Willie and Cousin Henry de la B. Carpenter in the county jail at Somerville, N. J., on charges of murdering Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, whose bodies were found under a crab-apple tree four years ago. The slain rector's three relatives by marriage and his widow, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, were indicted for the murder by the grand jury. The indictment of Henry Stevens was something of a surprise, although he recently figured prominently in the revived investigation—and it was officially announced that his alibi, considered ironclad four years ago, had been broken down.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. COOLIDGE and their summer household departed on Saturday from White Pine camp in the Adirondacks, their vacation having come to an end. The President has profited greatly physically by the outdoor life in the mountains and returned to Washington full of energy and brown as a berry. He found the White House all cleaned and repaired, and also found his secretary, Mr. Sanders, in good health again after a sea voyage.

CAPT. RENE FONCK and his crew selected for the transatlantic non-stop flight all went to the flying field at Westbury, N. Y., early Thursday morning prepared to jump off for Paris in the huge Sikorsky plane, which had been tested and approved by Lieutenant Curtin, navigator and alternate pilot. But when nearly everything was ready for the start a bad leak in the gasoline tank was discovered. So the plane was put back in the hangar for repairs and the start was postponed. Perhaps before this is read the flight will have been made or have failed. On the other hand, weather conditions may have caused indefinite delay.

SENATOR CARAWAY of Arkansas has broken out in a new spot. He says the graves of America's war dead in France have been desecrated with abusive and vulgar writings on the crosses, and urges that the bodies of all soldiers buried there be brought home. The War department says nothing of this character has been reported to it, and General Pershing, chairman of the American battle monuments commission, declared that during his recent stay in Europe he had heard nothing of such desecration.

LEOPARD'S COMPLIMENT

"I have just received a compliment," said the Leopard.

"Indeed," said some of the other animals in the zoo, "and what was the compliment?"

"What is a compliment?" some of the others asked, for they did not know what the word meant.

"A compliment," said the Leopard proudly and haughtily, "is a sentence or speech of praise."

"If any one compliments you, it means that that person is saying, or has said, fine, praising, complimentary, pleasant, flattering things about you."

"A compliment is always nice, because it is always made up of praise."

"Oh," said the animals in their different languages.

"Now," said the ones who had known what the word meant but wanted to hear about the compliment, "now," they repeated, "tell us the compliment."

"I will tell it to you gladly," said the Leopard, as he paced up and down his yard.

"We're glad that you're glad to tell it," said the other animals.

"Pray begin."

"The keeper," said the Leopard, "was speaking to a person a few moments ago."

"You all know what a person is, I imagine?"

"A creature with two legs and two arms and who talks a lot of funny words, and who laughs in a funny way."

"Yes, we all know what a person is, for the keeper is a person, too," said the others.

"Well," continued the Leopard, "the keeper was telling this person something about me and something about all animals."

"And what do you suppose he said?"

"That we all had good appetites," suggested one animal.

"That we all slept well?" asked a second.

"No," said the Leopard, "the keeper said that almost any animal could be made friendly, and then he looked at me."

"That is," the keeper added, "almost any animal but the Leopard."

"He is the one animal you certainly can't have as a friend or a playmate or a pet."

"Now wasn't that a fine compliment? It makes me so superior and fine not to stoop to be friends with the keeper."

"In fact it is so nice to have them all realize that the Leopard is not one of your little lap dogs, nor even a friendly big old pet."

"Well," said the other animals, "it all depends on your idea of a compliment, that's all."

"Of course," the Leopard agreed, "creatures feel differently about compliments."

"What is praise to one may not be praise to another."

"But I thought that was a great compliment, and I was mightily pleased."

"Of course as I am a big leopard I wouldn't be just a little bit pleased."

"If I am going to be pleased at all I am going to be mightily pleased as befits my rank and station as you might say."

"Oh yes, that compliment was all right."

So the Leopard began once more pacing up and down his yard and saying to himself:

"He will never have cause to make any other sort of a speech about me."

"The keeper is right in what he says now and he will always have to say the same."

"I, the Leopard, will see to that."

Marilyn Got the Candy

Two-year-old Marilyn accompanied her parents to the home of a friend for dinner. Following the dinner the host passed a dish of candy around and then set it down. The entire group of adults was so interested in conversation that they completely forgot little Marilyn, who was sitting quietly by, wistfully watching the candy dish.

Finally Marilyn piped up to her host: "Mr. Smith, don't you want some more candy?"

Her parents were shocked, but Marilyn got the candy.

The ten minutes was around getting acquainted. He was speaking to the small daughter of the house.

"You say your sister, Helen, is the oldest? And who comes after her?"

"Oh, there's a different fellow almost every night."

FIRST to adopt DUOCO

THE General Motors Research Laboratories cooperated with E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company, Inc., in the development of Duco—an achievement ranking in importance with the invention of the self-starter.

DUOCO is not only far more lasting than paint and varnish; it is finer, more beautiful and more economical to apply in factory production.

DUOCO was first adopted by Oakland, and immediately thereafter by the rest of the General Motors cars.

BUYERS of General Motors cars have profited by the development of this finer, more enduring finish. Their cars wear well longer.

COATS OF UTILITY TYPE;
MILADY'S SHOES COLORFUL

IT IS high time to be buying one's new coat for fall, and just what shall it be? It all depends, for there is a most clean-cut distinction drawn this season between informal and formal coats. As to the practical utility coat, and it is the one which interests most of us who are either at school or at business and if at leisure planning health-giving hikes, over countryside and moor, the major trend is to handsome and striking novelty woollens, fur-collared and often fur-cuffed, generously pocketed and sturdily built in fashion smart as smart can be.

When it comes to dressy wraps for social occasion, that is a different also the lining which is of quality-kind crepe de chine. The raglan sleeved topcoat is very much in evidence this season.

Let's talk of something cheerfull—shoes for instance, for never have they been more fanciful, more colorful or more beautiful than at this very moment, and for time to come according to displays of advanced autumn modes. Not only are the leathers of which present-day shoes are made almost sensationally unique, but there is also an interesting use of fascinating color.

To be sure, for practical utility wear, there are excellent styles which help us keep in mind that "shoes is shoes."

and endless story of whims and fancies, of intricacies of design and elegance of fabric sometimes gleaming with gold and silver interweavings, richly fur-laden and garnished with handwork of world-wide attainment.

Tweeds of durable promise accent deep rich colorings this season and the very last word in practical cloakings of irrefutable attraction is the fabric of ombre coloring, that is plaids or stripes shaded in gradations. There are such combinations available as red ombres in wide stripes, plaids; also small block designs. Then there are soft brown ombres done in complementary tints and the new greens in ombre styling but when it comes to the dresser modes, oh, me, oh my! where are the adjectives to describe them. Perhaps this picture of four of the reigning styles will best tell the story of the elaborate trend of modern shoeology.

In the list of shoe fashions the pair shown first in this illustration register as strap sandals. In line with the thought that the smartest footwear this season invariably features a combination of colors, narrow underlays and heels of blond kid combine with champagne kidskin.

A French tie-model is shown to the right which declares most frankly the supremacy of the extremely ornate, in that it combines royal blue lizard skin on a background of pearl gray kid.

The newest note in Paris is the slipper which appears from the outer side to have but one strap, which develops into three narrower straps across the inside. This modish pair in the picture, shown to the left, are of parchment kidskin.

Cutout effects are very fashionable as defined in the exquisite kid slippers are exceptionally handsome. Black and white plaids in deep-pile wool are stunning trimmed with either black or white fur.

It seems as if novelty woollens call for fur as unique and it is a fact—fur trims are almost without exception included in every coat styling. A fur collar is almost a certainty on every topcoat for sports or utility, and often there are wide fur cuffs, likewise frequently neck to hem revers, but hemline borders are conspicuous by their absence.

The attractive topcoat in the picture aptly defines the popular trend in coats for schoolgirl, business woman and for general practical wear. The fur collar is toned to the browns in the fabric patterning, as is which conclude this interesting group of leading footwear styles.

The close relationship between fall dress colors and the tones and tints of new leathers is a subject to ponder over. Many snakeskin slippers appear to have been dyed to match the costume. Bright green, royal blue and red are shades noted in footwear now at fashion's rendezvous.

In practical daytime styles for fall, favor is expressed for black patent leather, also tan in both dark and light shades. Growing demand for moderate Cuban heels is noted, especially among American women, although abroad the higher heels are very much in evidence.

Hospital Color Scheme

An ideal color scheme has been worked out for the different rooms at the new medical school and hospital at the University of Denver.

The X-ray room has walls of a violet red, which has great light absorption power, yet exerts a quieting influence on the patient, and is slightly stimulating to the operator.

In the operating room a soft gray is used. The wards for disturbed patients have yellowish green walls, because this color has been found to have a tranquillizing and cheerful influence.

Rooms with a northern exposure have yellow walls, and those with a southern outlook have sunshine gray walls and furnishings.

Most of us reform—when we have got too much of what we shouldn't have.

Close Study of Moon

Soon to Be Possible

Suppose the moon started coming closer and closer to the earth until it were only ten miles away—what would it look like? We shall be able to answer this question exactly, for reports from Paris say that Prof. George Willis Ritchey is now completing a telescope which will show the moon as if it were only ten miles distant.

The telescope will increase the observable universe millions of times. It is estimated, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, for it will make visible stars that are now 15,000 times further away than any that can be seen at present through the best telescope. The reflector of this new instrument will be 10 feet 3 inches in diameter. It required two years to build the special furnace in which the glass is being prepared.

Hatched by Light Bulb

An electric light bulb as a substitute for the mother bird is a success in hatching quail, according to Game Warden A. C. Wagner of Tiffin, Ohio. Seven quail were hatched from eight eggs in a cotton nest heated with an electric lamp. The eggs were taken to the game warden after the mother bird had been killed by an automobile.

Small Girl's Lucky Day

Struck by a shifting engine, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Casanovitch of Sharpsville, Pa., escaped injury or death when she was caught on the front step and carried fifty feet before the engine was stopped. Witnesses and members of the train crew looked under the engine for several minutes expecting to find the crushed body, before they saw her sitting on the step.

Salt Water in Fire Mains

Seaside cities such as Lynn, Mass., may soon be fighting their downtown fires with salt water driven through high-pressure mains by electric pumps that are started by the fire alarm system. This type of fire protection is considered to be cheaper and more dependable than the ordinary method of using fresh city water for the purpose.

Plant Uses Much Water

The tremendous flow of water necessary in the operation of a large electric generating plant astonishes most people. The new Avon plant outside of Cleveland, Ohio, uses 420,000 gallons per minute mainly for the condensation of steam from the huge turbines that drive the generators. This means that the plant uses about as much water every half-hour as is consumed in a whole day by a city of 100,000 population.

EDITORIAL COLUMN

Morrow Credited With Taylor's Thunder

(Special Correspondence)

Santa Fe, Sept. 28. - The myth of Representative Morrow's greatness is being proclaimed all over New Mexico. It is shrieked from headlines in the Democratic newspapers and shouted from the platform by Democratic speakers.

Declarations are made that Mr. Morrow is the greatest and most effective statesman that has ever represented New Mexico - territory or state in the house of the congress. With glittering generalities writers and speakers appeal to the voters, but not a thing definite or specific is cited.

In all of the tons and torrents of words purporting to quiet title to Mr. Morrow's greatness there is not shown one single thing of outstanding importance that Mr. Morrow has actually accomplished for our state.

On the contrary, there are instances where he has failed when he should have been of service; where he has not been equal to the occasion when even a man of ordinary ability would be.

Senator Buroum introduced a bill for continuing appropriation of $20,000 yearly for the maintenance of the highway through the Navajo Reservation, between Gallup and Shiprock. After hanging fire for weeks and weeks, this bill was passed by the senate.

The bill was then reported to the House, where Mr. Morrow is said to yield so great an influence. It was called up one day while the House was transacting business under the "unanimous consent" rule.

This means that the objection of any one member would send the bill back to take its place on the calendar.

Beggs, Republican, of Ohio, asked for information on the bill. It was clear that unless Mr. Beggs could be satisfied that the bill was one of real merit, he would enter an objection. An objection, or a request that the bill go over, certainly would have caused a long delay, and might have prevented the passage of the bill at that session.

First of all, Mr. Beggs desired to know how long the road was. Naturally, the whole House looked to Mr. Morrow for the information. Mr. Morrow was present. In justice to Mr. Morrow, it must be said that he always is in attendance upon the sessions or in his office.

Mr. Morrow was present, BUT NOT PREPARED. He arose in his place and gravely announced that he regretted he did not know the length of the road.

Fortunately for the citizens of New Mexico, Mr. Taylor of the Fourth Congressional District of Colorado, was not only present, but prepared. The road is not in Mr. Taylor's state, but it is in his section of the country, and he had been enough interested to inform himself about a bill pending in the House which affected his section.

Mr. Taylor told Mr. Beggs about the road, about the road, not

Another ANNOUNCEMENT of Telephone Service Changes

Conforming to changes recently announced for telephone service between points in the territory of this Company and points in the territory of any other associated Bell company the following changes will be effective in this state as of October 1, 1926:

REVERSED CHARGES

The reversal of charges has been available only on person-to-person calls. The privilege of reversing charges will be extended to station-to-station calls from points in this state to all points, whether in this company's territory or in the territory of any other company, where the rate is 25c or more.

LONGER REDUCED RATE PERIOD

Reduced rate hours for station-to-station calls will begin at 7 p. m. instead of 8:30 p. m., as formerly. Between 7 and 8:30 p. m. the discount will be approximately 25 per cent of the day station-to-station rates; from 8:30 p. m. to 4:30 a. m. the discount will be about 50 per cent of the day rates. These discounts will apply where the day station-to-station rate is 40 cents or more, with a minimum reduced rate of 35c. Because of the unsatisfactory service conditions which it brought about, the existing midnight discount will be discontinued.

ADJUSTMENT IN LONG DISTANCE RATES

The rate schedule effective October 1 substantially reduces charges for calls to points of other associated companies 150 miles or more distant, and also small increases are made in the rates for some short haul calls.

These changes will result in a uniformity of service and charges for service within and without the borders of this state. Definite savings will be afforded users of long distance lines and a notable improvement in service to the public can be assured.

The Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Company

only its length, but also explained the importance of such a highway to the citizens of the state. Mr. Morrow did not get to his feet again, to plead his lack of preparation. Mr. Taylor supplied all the information that was required, and Mr. Beggs did not enter an objection. The bill was passed. The fund is now available and will be expended, every year, as soon as construction, now under way, is completed.

This is not a Republican version of the incident. It is here related, precisely as it is given in the Congressional Record.

"And truth is this to me, and that to thee."—Idylls of the King.

A color-blind person sees neither red nor green, but a neutral color. You say the grass is green and he agrees; but the color you see as you look at the grass is not the color he sees as he looks at it. Green is one color to you and another color to him; yet each one takes it for granted that the other one sees just what he sees, for the color blind person rarely knows that he is color blind.

A near-sighted man and a far-sighted man will look at the same hillside and see two totally different pictures. One will be but a greenish blur; the other may see a grove of blossoming chestnut. If, however, any discussion about the hillside arises, each man will believe that the other has seen just what he himself has seen, and will probably believe him a willful liar if he says he saw more or less.

All of us are more or less mentally color blind and mentally near-sighted. Unfortunately the tests for defective mental vision are not so simple and reliable as those for defective physical vision. Most of us go through life without any suspicion of our infirmity.

Defects of mental vision are due to ignorance, to prejudice, to race, to faulty education, and to such like causes. To such defects are due political strife, religious persecutions, wars, and all the other disagreements that mar life.

If each man saw the truth as his neighbor sees it, there would be no cause for disagreement. We are all, however, in the same state as the blind men who went to see the elephant—we see but a part of the truth, while fancying we see it all. You remember that when the blind men began to examine the elephant, in order to find out what the animal was like, one caught hold of the trunk, and thought the elephant resembled a snake; another got hold of the tail, and thought the elephant resembled a rope; a third got hold of a leg, and thought the elephant resembled a tree trunk, while a fourth leaned against the elephant's side, and insisted the animal resembled a wall.

While it is highly improbable that anyone of us will ever be able to learn the whole truth, the real truth, on all subjects, all of us can at least remember the injunction of Epictetus:

"When anyone, then, assents to what is false, be assured that he does not willfully assent to it as false; but what is false appears to him to be true."

HOW I IMPROVED MY HEALTH

Did It in Less Than One Month

"As Mrs. Weaver herself says, 'I was never very strong.' This is a mild statement describing her condition, for, according to her letters, she was subjected to no small amount of ill health. Fortunately, her sister was familiar with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begged Mrs. Weaver to try it. 'After three or four weeks,' writes Mrs. Weaver, 'I felt a great difference in myself. I would go to bed and sleep sound, and although I could not do very much work, I seemed stronger. I kept on taking it and now I am well and strong, do my work and take care of three children. I sure do tell my friends about your wonderful medicine, and I will answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound.'—Mrs. LAWRENCE WEAVER, East Smithfield St., Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

If you know that thousands of women suffering from troubles similar to those you are enduring had improved their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, wouldn't you think it was worth a trial? In some families, the fourth generation is learning the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sees Bowlegs as Advantage in Life

Last spring a Kansas City boy, then aged two years, was observed by his parents and aunts to be quite obviously bowlegged. Great excitement was shared in by everybody except the child's father, who rather envies bowlegged people, being rather of an opposite persuasion himself. The child was taken to a specialist, who prescribed shoes with the outer soles built up. The shoes were obtained and lasted quite awhile, with the result that the boy is now knock-kneed.

A rehearing was granted by the specialist, who now recommends some more shoes built up on the inside soles. The shoes have been obtained, at cost of $9, and the father hopes for the best. He paid the $9 cheerfully, still in the hope that the boy may emerge bowlegged rather than otherwise.

"If he's knock-kneed," explains the father, "the best he can ever be is a pitcher. But bowlegs are suitable either for infield or outfield."—Kansas City News.

A Scotchman was playing golf with his son, Ian. The old man got badly bunkered. Ian, on the other hand, had only one to play to win the match.

"Ian," said the old fellow. "Yes, father?" "Yess the morrow yer birthday?" "Yes, father."

Too Much "Acid?"

Excess Uric Acid Causes Rise to Many Unpleasant Troubles.

AUTHORITIES agree that an excess of uric acid is primarily due to faulty kidney action. Retention of this toxic material often makes its presence felt by sore, painful joints, a tired, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backache and headache. That the kidneys are not functioning right is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Thousands assist their kidneys at such times by the use of Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. Doan's are recommended by many local people. Ask your neighbor!

Lost His False Teeth. THE summer squash provides another vegetable to add variety. Cook it, peeling and all, as long as it is tender enough to pierce with the thumb nail. Cook in as little water as possible after slicing; do not remove seeds. Season well with plenty of butter and salt and pepper. Serve hot and the whole family will enjoy it. Do not serve summer squash if you cannot afford plenty of butter on it, as otherwise it is flat and tasteless.

Rice With Pineapple. Cook rice slightly salted until tender and daky, adding a little milk at a time after it has been cooking until nearly dry in water, season with butter, and sugar, a bit of grated nutmeg and the yolks of two eggs. Heat in a mound and serve garnished with rings of pineapple. If the crushed pineapple is used stir it into the rice and serve a spoonful or two on top.

Shred a firm hard head of cabbage and crisp it by covering with cold water. After an hour or two drain well and cover with thick cream, a tablespoonful or two of vinegar and three or four of sugar, with a dash of salt.

French Method of Cooking Peas. Put two large lettuce leaves in the bottom of a kettle or saucepan; on these place the peas to be cooked, with one small onion. The flavors of these vegetables do not predominate, but only enhance the flavor of the peas. Pea pods are saved and cooked and the water used to cook the peas in, which makes a much more pronounced flavor.

Cherry Fritters. Make a batter of a cupful and a half of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a half teaspoonful of salt, one-half cupful of milk and an egg; beat until smooth, adding more milk if needed; tasy add a cupful of pitted cherries which have been covered with sugar for an hour, then drained from the sirup. Drop by spoonfuls into hot fat and fry a golden brown. Serve with the sauce made from the juice of the cherries.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

DEFENSE AND OFFENSE

THEY took an old battleship out to sea and bombed her to the bottom from flying ships. When it was all over a naval officer engaged on the test was asked what had been proved.

Being a cautious man he said that it had been shown that the ship could be sunk, for she had been sent to the bottom.

Perhaps the old problem of how nations are to defend themselves is no nearer solution than it ever was. There is a general feeling all over the world just now that less should be spent on armaments than formerly. That makes it all the more important to find out whether an attack is to be expected in the future on the sea, under the sea, or in the air.

Every now and then some one impressed by the marvelous development of aviation has a bright idea. Why spend millions upon a super-dreadnaught when that bonustfully-manned craft can be sent to Davy Jones' locker by means of a little package dropped from the sky?

So there you are! All that is necessary to do is collect fleets of the winged air boats that cost comparatively little, and so be prepared for any emergency. That is the way to save money!

Unfortunately it is not so simple as all that. The inventive ingenuity of man is always warring on itself. In fact, one discovery, in the way of defense, or destruction, is good only until another is made.

Armor plate was evolved that no shell could pierce. Then a big gun was built that could drive a projectile through anything.

And so the indefinite competition went on between the two. But as soon as one became superior to the other the inequality was offset by a discovery in the other direction.

A scientific man displayed a device recently which seemed to open up amazing possibilities. It was claimed for it that, on a large scale, it would throw shells weighing many tons for fabulous distances. In a small shape it could be used for driving rivets into the hardest steel.

And all this without noise or recoil. It looked as surprising as the discovery of the philosophers' stone would be.

THE UNDER-DOG

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

MY SYMPATHIES are always with the ordinary sort of person. My sympathies are all with Smith, Not Algernon Fitzroy MacPherson. The common road I like to jog. And help the rest, at least I try to. And no one loves the underdog. I know, the least bit more than I do.

In fact I frequently jump in (That is, I often used to do it) And help the underdog to win. When he's in trouble, help him through it.

I used to—but I grieve to tell Just how the matter often ended: But I've been bitten much and well By underdogs I have befriended.

I hope I won't appear unkind, But I am getting rather wary; And, when an underdog I find, Instead of (as is customary) Assuming he's the really straight, The underdog the evil-hearted, I often now investigate

And find just how the trouble started. In underdogs we all believe; I hate to see convictions shaken; And yet I was (although I grieve To say it) now and then mistaken. There were occasions all along, When other dogs would bite and chew him.

The underdog was really wrong And getting what was coming to him. (© By McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

How It Started

PARCHMENT

WE ARE all familiar with parchment and its imitation parchment paper from their use in making lamp shades and for other decorative purposes. The original use of parchment, however, was strictly utilitarian, the genuine and original parchment being the skin of a sheep or goat which men in an early period of our history prepared for material to write on.

The invention of parchment is credited to Eumenes II, king of Pergamum, in Asia Minor, in the Second century B. C., the circumstance being the prohibition by Ptolemy of Egypt of the exportation of papyrus, the contemporary writing material. In other words, the invention of parchment was the outcome of Egyptian conservation of home products!

The manufacture of parchment rose to great importance in Rome and its use spread all over Europe and continued until the invention of paper made from rags. It is from its birth place, Pergamum, that the name "parchment" is derived, through the Latin "pergamina," and subsequently the French "parchment."

Drew Revolver Only With Deadly Purpose

The old-time cowboy seldom touched his weapon or its holster unless to draw and shoot, for witless fondling might invite a shot, and, unlike the bad man, he almost never carried more than a single gun. Not only was a second gun cumbersome, but it denoted a state of war or of armed neutrality. Getting the drop and then not bring was what the Texan and the westerner, unlike the synthetic puncher, rarely bothered to attempt. Usually the Texan or the westerner, when he seriously drew a weapon, did so with the purpose of giving "a lead ticket to Gehenna Junction." Employment of the pistol as a means of admonishing stragglers' feet and inviting them to dance, or as an instrument for either lancing hats or snuffing barroom lamps occurred so seldom as to have amounted to little more than the foundation of amusing legend, but it has become, upon both the motion-picture screen and the printed page, one of the cowboy's diurnal functions.—Saturday Evening Post.

Early Hatched Chickens Often Crowded for Room

The early hatched chickens are getting crowded for room; mites and lice are multiplying; crows, chicken hawks and gray squirrels are searching for tender meat. Constant vigilance against natural enemies is the only way to harvest your chicken crop. There is never a season of let-up for the grower of thrifty, quick-maturing chicks. One night of crowding will put them back a month; one house neglected will spread the lice and mites, but we get paid for our time when the cockerels go to market, and the pullets begin to lay.

That pullets can lay you know, whether they will lay enough eggs to pay for their keep depends on watching the details, and heading off trouble by care.

Improving the Flock

Many poultry keepers are successful in improving their flocks by paying careful attention to the type of birds that they use as breeders. If your own stock is not satisfactory it may be more economical to purchase new stock than to attempt to improve your own. However, be sure that the new stock is superior to yours and when once a satisfactory stock is obtained, do not destroy it by constantly bringing new blood. Keep them from vermin and diseases.

Practical Way to Feed

The practical way of feeding a flock is to keep the dry mash before them in hoppers at all times. Then feed the flock all the grain they will eat at night to send them to roost with full crops. Give about half the amount of the night ration in the morning to stimulate exercise in the straw litter. The reduced grain ration in the morning will increase the consumption of dry mash, which contains the materials most necessary for egg production.

FARM POULTRY

DUCK FARMING ON EXTENSIVE SCALE

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Intensive duck farming on a large scale has been more successful than commercial chicken raising, but the demand for table ducks at good prices is mostly limited to the large cities of the East and Pacific coast. It is, therefore, important that duck farms be located within easy shipping distance of the markets in those sections. A good location for a duck farm is on a light, sandy soil, with a gentle slope leading to a stream or pond, making it possible to extend the duck pens into the water. Ducks can be raised at a profit on general farms, but under average farm conditions they do not pay as well as fowls. The Pekin duck is kept almost exclusively by commercial duck farmers in the United States who make a specialty of producing "green" ducks, that is ducklings grown rapidly and marketed when 8 to 12 weeks old and ranging in weight from 4½ to 6 pounds.

The Runner is the most popular breed for the production of market eggs, but the demand for ducks' eggs at attractive prices is very limited. About Easter time these eggs usually bring several cents more per dozen than hens' eggs, but during the remainder of the year the prices differ but slightly. The pure white eggs ordinarily command a premium. As egg producers, ducks are as a rule less profitable than hens.

Green ducks are marketed from April to November, the prices being highest early in the spring and decreasing as the season advances. On the New York market preference is given ducks weighing 5½ pounds. No ducklings should be held after the long wing feathers have reached their full length, as the ducks reach their best condition at that time.

In slaughtering for market the live birds are hung up by their feet in a row and a weighted hook is caught through the nostrils to facilitate bleeding. The ducks are stuck in the roof of the mouth or through the throat, cutting the artery with a knife having a narrow blade four inches long, and stunned by piercing the brain, turning the knife slightly. They may be either scalded or dry plucked, scalding being the most common method and the one used exclusively for the New York market. If the birds are to be scalded, it is important that this be done as soon as they have finished bleeding, and that the water be just below boiling, as water too hot discolors the flesh. The long tail feathers are left on the ducks, the wings are plucked to the first joint, and the neck half-way to the head. Long pinfeathers usually are removed with a dull knife, and the down sometimes rubbed off with the moistened hand, or it may be burned with alcohol or shaved with a very sharp knife.

After plucking, the birds usually are washed and put into ice water for an hour or two to cool and plump. Each layer of ducks is packed flat in ice, in barrels, ordinarily with the keels or breasts down. A layer of crushed ice is put on the bottom of the barrel, and on this a layer of dressed ducks. Alternate layers of ducks and ice are added until the barrel is nearly full. The top of the barrel is filled with a layer or header of ice.

Many poultry keepers are successful in improving their flocks by paying careful attention to the type of birds that they use as breeders. If your own stock is not satisfactory it may be more economical to purchase new stock than to attempt to improve your own. However, be sure that the new stock is superior to yours and when once a satisfactory stock is obtained, do not destroy it by constantly bringing new blood. Keep them from vermin and diseases.

Practical Way to Feed

The practical way of feeding a flock is to keep the dry mash before them in hoppers at all times. Then feed the flock all the grain they will eat at night to send them to roost with full crops. Give about half the amount of the night ration in the morning to stimulate exercise in the straw litter. The reduced grain ration in the morning will increase the consumption of dry mash, which contains the materials most necessary for egg production.

Low-cost Transportation Star Cars

If you live in a part of the country where roads are rough, hills are steep, mud is plenty—or if there are long stretches of open roads where a sustained speed is necessary—you need a Star Car!

W. F. Bond, Forest Ranger of the White Mountain District and Geo. Russell of the Sacramento District were here the first of the week, Mr. Russell arranging with manager Sterling to put on the forest pictures which served as an added free attraction to the regular program at the Crystal Theatre Wednesday night. Mr. Bond has lately returned from a visit to his home in Boston, Mass., bringing with him his brother, Alvin. They made the trip from the Bean city to Carrizozo in a Ford and encountered very little trouble.

Mrs. Maggie Wetmore will leave tomorrow for Alamogordo, where she will join her brother, J. W. Bennett and wife, after which the trio will go to Comanche, Brownwood and Mexia, Texas, to visit relatives for several weeks.

Central Shoes Are Best that money can buy. For sale only at Doering's Store.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Stumpf, father and mother of Mrs. T. V. Ludlow, who have been visiting their daughter's family for the past two weeks, left yesterday for their home in Perry, Okla.

Democrats Hold Meeting

To an audience of nearly 100 people, instead of the court house being "jammed" to its capacity, as read a report sent out from here on Monday, the night of the meeting, Governor Hannett, Senator Bratton, Jameson, Bryce and Fortune, entertained the audience for about two hours in the attempt to convince the Republicans and also the Democrats, that the state Democratic ticket was the very thing to vote.

John E. Hall, candidate for the Legislature from Lincoln County, acted as chairman and performed that office with becoming dignity. In introducing each candidate, he did so with the utmost courtesy which gained him many friends.

Governor Hannett consumed about thirty minutes in plastering a little salve on some of the sore places, but he failed to explain why a certain prominent Democrat was at one time advertised as being such a competent member of the Tax Commission which insured the state of the fact that said commission's affairs would be so properly conducted and then out the Carrizozo member as soon as he had the reins of government in his hands.

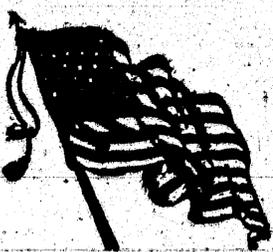

Senator Bratton followed with a talk of one hour which he began by assuring his hearers that there would be no mud-slinging and before he had gone very far, the mud was flying in every direction. Among other things, he said that the Democrats, in the eight years' reign of President Wilson, had enacted more "constructive legislation" than the Republicans had given to the country in fifty years. At this juncture, some squirmed in their seats, while others stepped into the corridors to take a smoke.

Much to the credit of his dignity as a candidate for Supreme Judge, Judge Brice won the admiration of all present by saying that it should be considered apart from the usual political custom for a candidate for such a position to go about the state and engage in the heat of politics, and he hoped some day to see it abolished.

Safely we may say that Judge Brice's talk saved the party considerable amount of embarrassment. There were two times during the speaking when applause followed the speakers' remarks, and the same was heard when two funny stories were told. Mr. Jameson, candidate for Senator of the shoe-string district, made a short talk; as also did Miss Fortune, candidate for State School Superintendent; none of whom engaged in anything but becoming language and said nothing disrespectful of their opponents.

The Woman's Missionary Society will meet with Mrs. Calvin Carl next Thursday afternoon, Oct. 7.

Statement of Ownership and Management of the Carrizozo Outlook, Oct. 1, 1926

State of New Mexico
County of Lincoln ss
Before me, a Notary Public in and for the County aforesaid, personally appeared A. L. Burke, who, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is Editor and Publisher of the Carrizozo Outlook, a weekly newspaper published in Carrizozo, N.M., and that the owners of the publication are M. M. and A. L. Burke, and that there are no incumbrances thereon.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 1st day of October, 1926.

W. W. Stadtman,
Notary Public
My commission expires Jan. 26, 1926.

When Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Tennis were here from Long Beach, Cal., on a visit, they said they failed to see anything in the paper about E.-A.-I.-N. We are now in a position to inform our esteemed subscribers a full former Carrizozo friends—that we have had a steady rain which lasted 72 hours.
