

Corona News

Mrs. M. D. Atkinson and son Joe motored to Tohaca, Texas the first of the week. They are expected to return Wednesday.

Many Carrizozo visitors were in Corona Saturday night enjoying the games and dance at the Gym. The music was furnished by Carrizozo orchestra and was exceptionally fine. Mr. Burkett is developing some real musicians in Carrizozo.

Lum Richards took a load of cake to the Hancock ranch Tuesday and returned with a 2200 pound calf tied on his truck. A distance of 23 miles a fair ride for the calf.

Geo. Simpson motored to Las Vegas, Tucumcari, Santa Rosa and several other places. We don't know what his business was, but he was driving the new Sedan and his wife stayed at home.

W. S. Dishman is having the city water put in his residence. He (or his wife) has a new Oakland Sedan. Everything is getting progressive-like around there — and we wonder if they are starting life anew.

The 8th grade, under the supervision of Mr. Greer, has organized a 'Better English Club.' They have the 'Bad English Box' and everyone who makes a mistake in English during the week is reminded of it at the meeting on Friday.

The primary purpose is to teach the young students just how to organize and conduct a business of any kind according to parliamentary law.

The games at Corona Saturday night were fast and interesting. Our girls started like they were going to have a walk away, scoring 8 points in less than a minute, but several changes in the Tularosa line-up stopped the rally. D. Arnold and Simpson lived up to regular form at forward, but Willingham at center and Green at guard were completely too sluggish for their opponents. Atkinson and Varney showed up exceptionally well at guards, the last quarter holding the visitors to two goals.

The boys played the same steady game as usual. This is the first start in the last four, the boys all have been in good condition.

The stalwart Tularosa cagers were too slow to stop the speedy little Pirates. The first quarter puzzled the Pirate guards somewhat as the peculiar form of defense the visitors offered was the first they had come against of its kind this season. After they solved the puzzle they had 4 men to bother with, and they made it count, too.

Clements was entirely open for the most of the game, and he will make any team sweep if they don't watch him! The Corona defense was good, and the visitors were seldom able to work. The ball, in for a 'set up' most of their scores came from difficult angles. The Tularosa aggregation is a nice bunch of sports and play a good brand of basketball. We enjoy playing them. The line-up follows—

Store and Post-office Robbed

Last Friday night at Glencoe, at about 8 o'clock, J. V. Tully drove up to his store in company with two other men, the trio discussing business matters. Mr. Tully entered the store evidently to get some papers, the other men remaining on the outside. He found on entering the store, that he had been visited by robbers, but they were frightened away by his coming.

They fled in such a hurry, that they left a Ford coupe with a 1927 Texas license and a small dog, which was afterwards found to belong to C. Bert Smith, Secretary of the Grand Lodge of New Mexico, I. O. O. F.

A check on the contents of the car made by Sheriff Kibbey, who was called at 10 and arrived at 12 o'clock that night, showed that the men were from the Texas oil-fields.

The only articles the robbers got away with were several watches and about thirty cents from the postoffice. Government officers are working on the case, and as Uncle Sam has resources and patience to work with, there is a small chance for them to escape — therefore, the end is not yet.

Six o'Clock Dinner

Last Sunday evening, Mrs. R. E. Leman entertained the First and Second basketball teams with a six o'clock chicken dinner, assisted by Mesdames C. N. Lemmon, James Cooper and P. M. Shaver. Valentine decorations in team colors prevailed on every hand and in the center of the dining table, a large kewpie stood, dressed in all the colors of the rainbow. There were twelve of the boys who compose the first and second teams and their Coach, Riddle. It was a five-course dinner and between courses, the teams honored their Coach, Captain and Hostess with "yells."

There being 12 players and Coach Riddle, making a total of 13, might indicate as though this was an unlucky number, but after a glance at the following menu, the thought is put to route, and besides this, Messrs. C. N. Lemmon, R. E. Lemon and Dr. P. M. Shaver were present and while they did not register as basketball players, they filled their places gracefully when it came to refreshments. The menu follows:

Fruit cocktail
Celery, Olives, Salted nuts
Fried chicken (gravy)
Creamed potatoes—Cabbage slaw
Candied sweet potatoes—Peas
Hot Biscuits Butter jelly
Ice Cream and cake Coffee

New Frigidaire

Frigidaire Dealer F. A. English has installed a Frigidaire water cooler at the Star Cafe. This new invention furnishes ice-cold water at all times, from the fact that as water is taken out, the 'intake' replaces just that amount, leaving at all times a good supply of ice-cold water for drinking purposes. It is the first Frigidaire Water Cooler to be installed in the state.

The Big Snowfall

The effect of the big snow that fell over this section last Sunday was plainly visible on faces of our ranchmen coming into town the early part of the week.

In the lowlands, we had a 4-inch snowfall, while on the highlands and in the mountain regions, the depth was as much as six to eight inches, according to incoming ranchmen and farmers from the different localities.

The snow was heavily laden with moisture, and with no wind to cause it to drift, it came down evenly, making a distribution that melted into the unfrozen ground and gave it a good soaking. Thus was the dry spell broken with a blessing that made stockmen rejoice.

To add to the visitation, the day was warm, which caused the stock no discomfort whatever — and on the other hand, they seemed to enjoy it.

A few more warm snows or good rains will insure early grass, fat stock and greatly broaden the smiles of our good-natured stockmen.

Meyer Barnett returned yesterday morning from Kansas City, where he attended a convention of Sinclair oil agents of the southwest who had made leading sales in their respective localities during 1927. He met several former Carrizozo residents, among whom was Dr. R. T. Lucas, who entertained him at his home on Minnesota avenue. Meyer reports a splendid meeting of the agents, there being 400 present.

Miss Lois Snyder will give the play, "Little Red Riding Hood" at her room in the Primary Department of the school for the benefit of the piano fund. See the little folks act and help pay for the piano. Date, February 14.

The Green Cloak

By YORKE DAVIS

STORY FROM THE START

Dr. Ronald McAllister, famous in his special work—applied psychology—employs his leisure time in the elucidation of crime mysteries. As the narrative opens he is interested with Assistant District Attorney Ashton in the murder, in the small town of Oak Ridge, of a reclusive, Henry Morgan. The murdered man, his papers reveal, had been in New Zealand, where Doctor McAllister had lived in his youth. Will Harvey has testified he saw a woman wearing a green cloak in the Morgan home the night of the murder. Doctor Reinhardt, friend of McAllister, telephons he has a queer case in his hospital and invites McAllister to see the patient. Doctor Reinhardt's patient proves to be a young woman, who in unconscious mutters in a language Reinhardt does not understand. McAllister sees a possible connection between the murdered New Zealander and the girl. A carefully hidden map is discovered. A girl enters the house in the darkness and escapes leaving a green cloak behind. McAllister decides upon a psychological test of Harvey.

With a feeling of excitement which I found it hard to conceal, I began reading those first twelve neutral words. His answers came with flash-like rapidity. He was a good subject and he had entered fully into the spirit of the test. To my ear the interval between my word and his was about half a second. When I saw the record afterward, I found that it averaged a little less than that—about four-tenths.

The word Pen brought the obvious association, Ink. Snow called up Shovel; and Song, Theater. The twelfth word, Sign, called up the curious association, Woodland, which was to prove of interest and significance to us before the day was out. But I had no time to think about it then.

Without varying the interval, without varying the tone of my voice, or raising my eyes from the list I held in my hand, I pronounced the thirteenth word, Look.

The answer came like a flash, and it was Automobile. I glanced up as he said it, and caught a faint smile of reminiscence on his lips. Loops in his mind were things to be looped, and the circus billboards supplied the association with automobiles. The next word Pipe, brought the simple association, Tobacco. To my mind his unhesitating utterance of that word was as good a demonstration of his innocence of the crime itself as a completely established alibi would have been.

But we were only at the beginning of our experiment. Neither the doctor nor I believed him guilty. We both believed that, hidden in some corner of that mind of his, was a piece of unsuspected knowledge which would give us the key with which to unlock the heart of the mystery.

Three or four numbers down the list came another word, Map, which might have drawn a significant reply. The instantaneous association which it brought up, however, was Europe. After that came a succession of words, straight inventories of articles to be found in various rooms in the Morgan home, but they all drew blank. Never once was there a moment's hesitation.

So far our test proved, clearly and exhaustively that, in his testimony at the inquest, our young man had meant to tell the truth. I was reminded of the doctor's words on the night of our return from the hospital, when he had warned me against falling into the error of thinking that the unlikely could not happen. His old theory of associative illusion, which had been made to look so fantastically improbable by our discovery of the cloak, was practically proven true in the very teeth of its improbability by this test of ours.

But who was the girl Harvey knew—the black-haired girl who wore a green cloak, with the collar cut high in the back? We were as far as ever from the answer to that question.

And so far as I could see none of his associates with the successive words in my list brought out anything of significance. Apparently we were drawing blank covers. At the same time, I was aware that something or other had made my chief extremely thoughtful. The way he was opening and shutting his hands and staring out of the window, the perplexed frown which knit his brows, made it clear that there was only one link lacking in some chain of association of his own.

At last he glanced at him in the half second interval between my word and Harvey's. I saw that he had got it; saw the sudden flare of excitement flash in his eyes and his lips stretched hands come down softly on the arms of his chair.

The next moment the word Dance in my list brought the unexpected association Policeman from Harvey.

At that the doctor rose and interrupted the test. "I think, Phelps," he said, "that those negatives of yours must be done. I'll go on and read this other list to Mr. Harvey."

The errand he had proposed to me was purely fictitious and the sheet of paper he held in his hand was blank; so I interpreted his interruption as intended for the mere purpose of giving him a chance to catechise Harvey along some new line without causing him to suspect the reason for the change.

To give color to the excuse, I left the room for a few moments. But it will be easy to believe that I returned as soon as I plausibly could. I found Doctor McAllister pronouncing a succession of words rather more rapidly than I had read them from my list, and this young man's answer had quickened, too, so that to the ear they were almost instantaneous. The words were a list of the features of the human face. Ears was the first one I heard, and its association, instantly, Coral; probably a reference to earrings, I thought. Eyes produced the adjective Black. Lips, ludicrously enough, brought the involuntary admission, Kiss. And at that our subject went flaming red. His perturbation was made perfectly evident the next moment, when he waited four seconds after the word Hand, only to produce the rhymed association, Band. Nothing could have been clearer than that, being on his guard against making another involuntary admission, he had rejected whatever word had come first, and consciously and laboriously thought up another.

The next word Face brought as a rather quicker response, the adjective Nice. It did not occur to me at the time that this was a rhymed association also; that somebody he knew pronounced it "fice." But that the doctor's mind had jumped to this conclusion was made clear when, for his next word, he himself gave out the word English.

There Was a Scared Look in His Eyes, but, Besides That, He Was Evidently Extremely Angry.

This got an answer, but not the kind of answer we were expecting. Our witness jumped to his feet, knocking over the little telephone before him, as he did so. There was a scared look in his eyes, but besides that, he was evidently extremely angry.

"Now look here," he said, "what business is it of yours whether I go around with Jane Perkins, or not? She's a respectable girl; she's a lady. What right have you got sticking your nose into my affairs?"

For myself, I was too much astonished by the result of the doctor's experiment to say anything. For that matter, my chief might as well have been silent for any effect his words had in calming the subject of our test. He wouldn't sit down. He wouldn't answer questions. He was through with us completely. This he made quite clear as he struggled into his overcoat and clapped on his hat.

"Well," said I when we were left alone, "I don't mind admitting that I'm rather behind the procession. We've discovered Jane Perkins, but who she is, or what she is I don't know. And I certainly can't see what gave you the clue that led you up to her so directly."

"Do you remember his association with the word 'Sign'? It was 'Woodland.'"

"Yes," said I. "It struck me as curious."

"It struck me as rather more than that," said the doctor, "because I had an echo of the same association myself, and I spent ten solid minutes trying to place it. I suppose my difficulty came from the fact that it took me so close to home."

"Woodland avenue you meant?" I questioned. That was the street The Meredith was on.

"Closer than that," he said. "Do you remember our own corner and the street sign that marks it? It was pulled around diagonally and beat into a most disreputable angle as a Halloween prank two weeks ago. So the association was a perfectly natural one to anyone who, during the past two weeks, has been in the habit of frequenting our part of the town."

"But," said I, "how did you infer the existence of Jane Perkins from that?"

"Of course, that was only the starting point," he answered. "His whole train of associations made it evident that he had been 'going around,' as he said, with somebody. The place in the social scale occupied by that somebody was pretty well determined by the neighborhood of the street sign. It's quite the smartest part of town for blocks and blocks all around there, and it would be preposterous to assume that Will Harvey calls at the front door of any house thereabouts. The young ladies who use the front doors of the imposing residences in our neighborhood don't go to the sort of dances that would call up the association 'policeman' in any young man's mind. At any rate, it seemed a reasonable inference to me that our young friend had been carrying on a harmless flirtation with some housemaid. The scene of this affair was so far away from his own home, Jane Perkins was so utterly disassociated in his own mind from anything pertaining to the Oak Ridge mystery, that his naive description of the black hair and the green cloak of the woman whose silhouette he saw upon the blinds becomes possible."

"Well," said I thoughtfully, after a little silence, "it's perfectly evident that we've done Harvey a service, although he isn't grateful for it just now. We've cleared him, to our own satisfaction at least. We've found an English housemaid named Jane Perkins. She is, no doubt, the girl of whom the profile on the shade reminded him. The next thing to do is to look her up, discover, if possible, whether she happens to possess a green cloak, with that particular kind of collar. It's likely enough, I suppose. There are probably hundreds of garments like that being worn in the city this season. In the department stores they make what they call 'specials' of those things, and sell them in hundred lots, all exactly alike."

The more I thought over the situation, the deeper my perplexity grew. The test upon Harvey had utterly destroyed my hope that we could get from him any clue to the identity of the strange, wild creature we had seen in the hospital. Instead, it had led us to a trig, song, undoubtedly respectable English housemaid named Jane Perkins; and leading us to her, it left us face to face with a coincidence, or, rather, a series of coincidences almost incredible.

"Well," I resumed with a sigh, "there are lots of young women with black hair, and I suppose a good many of them wear green cloaks. But that a girl should have a profile like that of the extraordinary creature we saw in the hospital and later in Morgan's study—a profile like that and the same colored hair and the same sort of cloak, and still obviously a different person altogether, is rather disconcerting. Ashton at least would laugh at us if we told him we believed it."

"Yes," said the doctor, "Ashton would laugh. He laughs rather too easily, that young man."

Then, for the first time I looked long and searchingly into my old chief's face. His eyes were bright with excitement, his cheeks flushed and his big, restless hands beating out a triumphant tattoo upon the table top. He did not look like a man whose plans and theories had gone awry.

"There's something," I said curiously, "that I don't see yet."

"You will soon," he assured me, "before another day is out, unless I'm mistaken. Have a little patience."

There came a sharp knock at the door just then, and as it swung open, we saw Ashton standing there.

Use of Green Foods Common in All Ages

Lettuce is one of the oldest vegetables known and was eaten fully 500 years before the Christian era. Aristotle praised it highly. Spinach was introduced into China from Persia about 100 B. C., but was new to Europe in the sixteenth century. Botanically, one of the most interesting products of the garden is the cabbage family. Kale, Brussels sprouts, navy cabbage, red cabbage, collards, kohlrabi, cauliflower and broccoli are all varieties of one species. Carrots were eaten by the ancients, but they were not very popular. Watercress, growing naturally in all north temperate regions, has been eaten as a salad since the Greek and Roman antiquity and has been cultivated since the thirteenth century. Peas were used by ancient Egyptians and others, but were not common food in Europe until the thirteenth century.

It is believed they were grown in the earliest American settlements. Thomas Jefferson recorded the growing of tomatoes in Virginia in 1781, yet it is said that an Italian could not persuade the people of Salem, Mass., to taste them in 1802.—Kansas City Times.

Wrote Immortal Music

Franz Schubert has been called "The Man of a Thousand Melodies," although the Kluge, in writing of him says that it is "a libel upon his enormous fecundity, because he might better be termed the man of 22,000 melodies." It is probable that no other composer of history produced so many themes, many of which are immortal.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Reed Headquarters Opened—Plain Facts for the Latin Americans.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

JAMES A. REED, senior senator from Missouri, is now a fully developed candidate for the Democratic nomination for President. With his full knowledge and consent, campaign headquarters have been opened in the Washington hotel in which he resides, and Lee Meriwether of St. Louis, in charge, has issued a statement likening Reed to Andrew Jackson and setting forth some of the reasons why the Democrats should nominate him at the Houston convention. In telling how the senator stands on various issues Mr. Meriwether was silent concerning prohibition. Mr. Reed is known to be a wet, but he insists that prohibition is not properly a partisan question. His friends believe that, by keeping that issue in the background, he may be found to be a good compromise candidate in case Al Smith encounters as large and determined an opposition as he did in 1924.

With the exception of his Reed boom and the Healin outburst in the senate the progress of Al Smith toward the nomination seems not seriously impeded. His supporters grow more confident daily, and the Democratic drys have yet to find an available opponent. Many of them are apparently disposed to accept Smith's assurances that he is an upholder of the Constitution in its entirety. In New York they are debating whether or not it would be wise for the governor to attend the convention. Jesse Jones of Houston is being talked of as Smith's running mate.

Hoover and Lowden are racing hard for the Republican nomination, with Curtis, Willis and others trailing. The Illinoisan still depends largely on the farm relief issue, insisting that the McNary-Haugen measure must be passed and that the equalization fee feature must not be omitted. His critics think perhaps his platform is too narrow and its main plank too shaky.

Senator Borah of Idaho, who thinks the Republican platform should contain a strong plank on prohibition enforcement, announced some time ago that he would question every candidate on his stand on prohibition. The first to be quizzed and to reply was Senator Curtis of Kansas. In a letter to Borah he said:

"While I have no desire to dictate what shall be in the next national Republican platform, I personally favor a plank referring to the Eighteenth amendment and the laws enacted to carry it into effect and I favor the plank pledging the nomination to a fair, vigorous and faithful enforcement of them. In my opinion, it is the greatest moral issue of all ages and public sentiment demands that both of the political parties declare themselves unequivocally upon it.

"Should I be nominated and elected President, I favor meeting the issue squarely and believe in the strict and energetic enforcement of the laws to carry out the Constitutional amendment.

"I am opposed to a policy which will allow any state to determine for itself the alcoholic content of beverages to be manufactured, sold, and transported throughout the country." In Wisconsin the La Follette radicals have endorsed Senator Norris of Nebraska for President and adopted a platform containing a plank calling for 27 1/2 per cent beer, despite the fact that Norris is a confirmed dry. Lowden's name also will be placed on the Republican preferential ballot in Wisconsin next April, and probably that of Hoover.

REPUBLICAN wets in the senate have made a practice of sagging the Democratic Southern drys concerning the re-endorsement in the South of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments of the Constitution. Last week Senator Swanson of Virginia deemed the time had come to reply, and he delivered a long prepared speech defending the Southern states in this matter. He denied that they are violating the Fifteenth amendment prohibiting the states from denying or abridging the right of citizens to vote "on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude." Admitting that many negroes have been eliminated as voters, he asserted that this has resulted from imposition of educational and property qualifications, requirements as to length of residence, and payment of poll taxes. All of these regulations have been sustained by the courts as within the provisions of the Fifteenth amendment, he declared.

Lively debate followed. Senator Bruce of Maryland, a Democratic wet leader, insisting that the Southern states have evaded the Fifteenth amendment, whether within or without the authority of the Constitution, and that the situation is comparable with that existing under the Eighteenth amendment applying to prohibition. "It seems to me," he said, "that we who are opposed to the Eighteenth amendment ought to be permitted to apply the same ingenuity, not to say chicanery, to evade its provisions."

Senator Glass of Virginia supported the position of Senator Swanson, and Senator Borah rose to state that careful study of the laws of the Southern states had convinced him some of them violated the Fifteenth amendment.

Healin the irrepressible amused the packed senate galleries by another tirade against the Catholic church whose agents, he declared, had threatened to poison him. He also denounced some of the newspaper men in the press gallery as "squirrel-headed and cowardly pen pushers."

PRESIDENT COSGRAVE of the Irish Free State, after a swift trip to Chicago, spent several busy days in Washington as the guest of the government. Formal calls were exchanged with President Coolidge and other high officials, and on Wednesday Mr. Cosgrave was received with extraordinary honors on the floors of the house of representatives and the senate. Speaker Longworth and Vice President Dawes announced his coming in each house and all the members were introduced and shook his hand. Mr. Cosgrave said he considered this the greatest honor paid to Ireland in all the ages. Before going to the capitol, he laid a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and also visited Mount Vernon and spent hours inspecting the Washington relics. On the stone coffin of the first President he placed a handsome wreath tied with the Irish national colors.

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES, head of the United States delegation in Havana, has politely but flatly told the Pan-American conference the position of his government on matters that have aroused criticism. He said that the United States has no imperialistic aims anywhere in Latin America and intends to withdraw from Nicaragua and Haiti as soon as order and something like a stable government have been established. But he made it plain that he proposes to continue to dominate the area about the Panama and Nicaragua canal routes; that he will not let the Pan-American union be made into a political institution, and that he will enter no international combination that claims a right to interfere in what the United States considers its personal affairs. Several moves contravening these principles already have been headed off by Mr. Hughes and his colleagues, and now it looks as if in the main they will be endorsed or let alone by the conference. To the committee on reorganization of the Pan-American union Doctor Pueyrredon of Argentina proposed that there be compulsory tariff reciprocity among the American countries, this being aimed mainly at our high tariff policy, and when the plan met strong opposition he declared he would not sign the reorganization convention without it. Mexico proposed that the chairmanship of the governing board be rotated so that the United States should hold the position only once in twenty-one years, but this idea had little support in the committee.

MAJOR GENERAL LEJEUNE, commander of the marine corps, made an airplane inspection of the part of northern Nicaragua that has been infested with Sandino's rebels, and returned to Managua, hopeful that there would be no further bloodshed. The bandits seemed to be dispersed, and Major Young's column of marines occupied their base at La Chipote from which they were dislodged recently by air attacks. The marines were still searching for Sandino himself but his whereabouts were unknown. The Nicaraguan government heard he had been reinforced by a considerable number of well armed men from the east coast. Brig. Gen. Frank McCoy, appointed to supervise the Nicaraguan elections, has arrived at Managua.

RESTED and refreshed by days of hunting and fishing, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on Thursday resumed his good will tour of Latin America, hopping off from France field, Colon, for Cartagena, Colombia. He had intended to start Friday and fly direct to Bogota, but suddenly changed his plans. His route takes him from Bogota to Caracas, Venezuela, and thence to St. Thomas, Porto Rico, Santa Domingo, Haiti and Havana, reaching the Cuban city on February 4. The French flyers, Costes and Lebriz, who reached Panama while Lindbergh was there, made a quick flight to Venezuela and Barranquilla, Colombia, before starting for the United States.

Bert Acosta, transatlantic flyer, got into trouble last week. First a warrant for his arrest was issued at Hackensack, N. J., for taking away a plane which had been attached by the sheriff, and then in Naugatuck, Conn., he was sentenced to jail for flying too low over the town.

MAHLON T. EVERHART, son-in-law of Albert B. Fall, finally has told the senate public lands committee about the Liberty bonds in the Teapot Dome case. He testified that Harry F. Sinclair gave the then secretary of the interior the $230,500 in Liberty bonds found in Fall's bank account soon after Sinclair's Mammoth Oil company obtained from Fall a lease on the navy's oil reserve. He said they were ostensibly payment for a one-third interest in the reorganized Tres Ritos Cattle and Land company owned by Fall and Mrs. Everhart. Everhart's testimony flatly opposed the frequent assertions of Sinclair's counsel that the latter knew nothing of the bonds and received none of the profits of the famous Continental Trading company, Ltd., transaction. Everhart gave a lot of testimony that in the aggregate seemed damaging to Fall and Sinclair.

WAR alarmists among the officers of the army and navy are urged by President Coolidge to be more moderate in their statements, for he thinks their predictions of hostilities and their other propaganda in favor of larger defense appropriations are damaging to international relations. He sees no way of curbing such officers short of officially muzzling them, and that he believes would cause general protest throughout the nation. In putting forth these views the President alluded especially to a statement attributed to Rear Admiral Plunkett in New York to the effect that war between the United States and her commercial competitors was inevitable. Mr. Coolidge holds that there is no serious threat of attack from any foreign government and that of course the United States has no hostile attitude toward any other nation. Admiral Plunkett's statement was severely criticized abroad, especially in England. The Soviet Russians took it for granted that he meant Great Britain and rather than think that an Anglo-American war is imminent, with a row over oil as the immediate cause. There were indications that the house committee on naval affairs would not sanction the huge naval building program for which Secretary Wilbur and the admirals have been arguing.

MAJ. GEN. GEORGE W. GONTHALEM, builder of the Panama canal and first governor of the Canal zone, died in New York after a long illness, deeply mourned by a host of friends and admirers. His body was interred at West Point, where he was graduated in 1880.

Pat Had Evidence of Tim's Waste of Time

Thomas Edison declares that if there was any one single thing, more than any other, that would improve the world, it would be the coming true of the Bérns line. "To see ourselves as others see us."

"There are too many Pat Billeys in the world," continued the great inventor. "Pat, you know, was calling at the stupidity and idleness of Tim. 'Sure, he asked for an hour at the mill pond an' never caught a thing!' declared Pat. 'I never did see such a time waster!'"

"But how do you know that he fished for an hour and never caught anything?" demanded a friend. "'Sure, wasn't I hidin' in the bushes watchin' him all the time?' defended Pat."

U. S. Senate Violates Constitution

The New York Times and the New York Herald, two of the leading newspapers of the United States, and the leaders in the newspaper political world, assert that the United States has violated the constitution, when under the leadership of Senator Reed, it refused to seat Senator-elect Smith of Illinois.

The Senate is now going further than that in attempting to announce Mr. Smith's democratic opponent the duly elected candidate, in spite of the fact that he was snowed under at the polls; and the same procedure obtains regarding the senator-elect from Pennsylvania.

The New York papers say that the senate has done a thing which will cause untold trouble in the future and will react on that 'august' body in a way that it won't like.

The state of Illinois refuses to bow to the principal of its senators being elected by the United States Senate, and all of its officers have certified to Smith's election. Under the constitution, the senate has no power to refuse a sovereign state equal representation with other states, and yet that is just what the Senate has done in both of these cases.

It is hoped that the state of Illinois will find some means of taking this case to the Supreme Court and finding out once and for all if this state sovereignty is indeed dead in this bureau-ridden country of ours. — Rio Grande Farmer.

Senator Cutting's Kind Offer of Assistance

Senator Bronson Cutting writes this office concerning the Coast Guard examinations, the particulars of which were published in our last issue, and says that as the circular sets forth, it offers an exceptional opportunity for young men to complete their education at the expense of the government. He also adds, that all young men, who feel themselves in readiness to take the examinations, may confidentially write him and he will take pleasure in giving such advice they may desire on the subject.

While the circular advises that inquirers address the Commandant, U.S. Coast Guard, Washington D.C., the Senator says that they may address him and he will set them right on all matter of procedure; in other words, he wishes to help such young men who have ambition to become military experts in the service of the government afloat and ashore, which is the first time one of our Senators has made such an offer.

Dodge Brothers magnificent Seniors have already achieved a unique and enviable distinction.

By delivering a quality of power unknown to their price class, they are no longer thought of in their price class, but challenge constant comparison with the proudest names in motordom.

Records of Senior brilliance are daily pouring in from all parts of America, and invariably the trend of owner enthusiasm runs the same —

"No car at any price can surpass Senior performance" . . . "I have owned several cars that cost more, but have never so thoroughly enjoyed driving" . . . "I should like to broadcast my impression of your new Senior. It is splendid!"

The Habit of Work

It is very important that the young people of Carrizozo learn to work. The earlier they start the better. It should not be work that will injure their health or deprive them of their just share of the pleasures of youth, but it should be work, real work. As they grow older work becomes a pleasure and will soon grow into a habit.

HOWE ABOUT—

By ED HOWE

(Copyright by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

I heard a woman criticizing her husband in a nice way. She said: "He can walk into a room, and wreck it more completely than any other animal except a bull."

It is natural for a man to hustle for his food as it is for him to hustle for his share of lady company; there is as much food naturally provided and it is as easily acquired as lady company.

Why are there so many impudent, idle, dishonest, worthless, disturbing people? Because they get away with it so easily. . . . You make a mistake if you do not promptly "call down" the dead beat, the loafer, the liar, the impolite, the dishonest. To firmly rebuke all such is the most effective way an honest private citizen has of preaching.

There is a new trouble in the world: Complaint is made that there are more educated people than can be supported. The preliminary wall comes from Bulgaria, and no doubt will spread.

In a great majority of cases the desire to be educated is a desire to escape work. The educated wish to be professors, politicians, preachers, lawyers, doctors, entertainers, and exploit the workers.

In Bulgaria there is such a rush for education that too few are left to cultivate the fields and work in factories. The plain people are complaining and may revolt.

There are lately almost as many patent practitioners as there are patent medicines. Every school, every college, is turning out some kind of new professor to collect another unnecessary tax, and further unnecessarily burden real workers. There is a gent in nearly every public school teaching athletics, learned as a part of his education. Another gent or madam teaches music, which becomes jam rendered on mandolins and saxophones.

A good many in this country are also of the opinion that there is too much education; if a Bulgarian rebel will come to this country with his doctrine, he will gain quite a following.

Results of Essay Contest

The New Mexico Underwriters Association annually feature an essay contest to be participated in by High School students of New Mexico.

This year the topic was "Insurance—for Thrift, Protection and Education." This week the results of the contest were announced in various papers throughout the state. We are proud to announce that Carrizozo was awarded more places in the essay contest than any other school in the state.

76 essays were submitted — a Roswell girl was awarded first place, a prize of $25; Frances Aguayo of Carrizozo was awarded second place, a prize of $15.

Ten Honorable Mentions were given of which Carrizozo won four awarded to Vernie Holliday, Mary Elma Ludlow and Mary Romero of the local High School, and Mary-Bell of the Santa Rita school.

Every citizen of Carrizozo should rightfully have an interest and pride in a school which can make such a remarkable showing in a state contest.

By Pastor Rev. F. C. Rowland: The shadow of sorrow came to the entire community when Jean, little daughter of C. C. Merchant of Capitan passed away. The death occurred on Saturday evening, Jan. 7. Deep Impress Lincoln Left Not Equaled

The centenary of Abraham Lincoln's birth was celebrated on February 12, 1909, with an even deeper interest than such events usually arouse in a nation.

Abraham Lincoln has been dead for nearly sixty-three years. Few who remember him remain alive.

Here was a man who came of a wandering and itinerant, sometimes shiftless and always shifting and foot-loose stock.

In that "half-bred camp" in the Indiana woods his mother taught him his "letters" from the old "blue-back speller" of American tradition.

Lincoln's "Library."

Somewhere in that raw country the "Archie Nights" came into his hands. He read the Bible, Shakespeare, "Aesop's Fables" and "Pilgrim's Progress."

Clay became to Lincoln "the bean ideal of a statesman."

Out of the raw, rough and rocky school of frontier politics and frontier law Lincoln somehow brought the power and experience needed for the nation's greatest emergency.

It included a deep understanding, a great generosity and an utter absence of malice, resentment and vindictiveness.

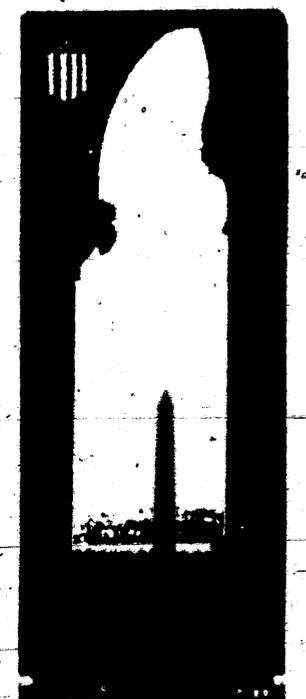

When he conquered, it was by the power of truth. That may be why no other American statesman has left so deep an impress upon the thought and the imagination of the world. There is no more romantic figure in the annals of statecraft than this tall and strangely, sorrowful, sometimes humorous and always burdened, child of the clearings and the prairies.

Dignity and honesty, strength and generosity, charity and understanding, were the hummers under which he waded a broken nation.

What constitutes the bulwark of our liberty and independence? It is not our frowning battlements, our brilliant sea-coasts, our army and our navy.

In odd setting

The national capital is often called "The City of Beautiful Distances," and this photograph, made from atop the Post Office department in downtown Washington, tends to prove it.

Lesson for February 12

JESUS PICTURES THE KINGDOM OF GOD

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:14, 15: 41-44.

GOLDEN TEXT—Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven.

PRIMARY TOPIC—How God's Kingdom Grows.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How God's Kingdom Grows.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How the Kingdom Grows.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Growing Kingdom of God.

I. Jesus Preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom of God (Mark 1:14, 15).

1. The time.

After the voice of John the Baptist was stilled because of his imprisonment, Jesus took up the message.

It was the gospel of the kingdom of God. Since "gospel" means "good news," the "good news" which He preached was that Christ had come to establish His kingdom.

He said, "Repent, for the kingdom is at hand." The King was then ready to set up His kingdom if the Jews would receive Him.

II. Jesus Pictures Four Classes of Hearers (Mark 4:1-20).

1. The sower (vv. 1-10).

He was obliged to enter a boat to escape the pressure of the crowd.

2. The wayside (vv. 11-12).

It was not until the rulers had set their hearts against Him that He employed the parabolic method.

3. The stony ground (vv. 13-16).

Observe that the seed and the sower are the same in all these instances, but the results are entirely different, determined by the condition of the soil.

(1) The wayside (vv. 14-15).

The wayside means the track beaten by the hoofs of animals and the feet of men because the soil was broken and uncultivated the seed could not get beneath the surface, therefore was devoured by fowls, which represent the agents of Satan (v. 15).

(2) The stony ground (vv. 5, 6, 10, 17).

Stony ground means stones with a thin layer of soil upon them. Under such conditions the seed springs up quickly and is soon scorched because it has not much depth.

(3) The thorny ground (vv. 7, 13, 19).

In this case the ground is good, but has thorns in it. It is mellow and has depth, but has not been cleaned of the thorns.

(4) The good ground (vv. 8, 20).

This ground differs from all the rest. It is soft and mellow, deep and moist, therefore is capable of bringing forth fruit in varying degrees of abundance.

III. Jesus Pictures the Growth of the Kingdom (Mark 4:21-34).

1. The parable of the candle (vv. 21-23).

The bushel stands for the cares and material things of life, and the bed for ease and comfort.

2. The parable of the growing grain (vv. 26-29).

(1) The attitude of mind of the gospel preacher (vv. 26, 27).

He should with the utmost fidelity cast seed into the ground, preach the Word, and leave results to God.

(2) The processes of the spiritual life are gradual (v. 28). It is "first the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the sheaf."

(3) The consummation of the spiritual process (v. 29).

Despite the difficulty under which sowing is done, we can be assured of a harvest time.

3. The parable of the mustard seed (vv. 30-34).

(1) The unimportant beginning (v. 31).

(2) Its vigorous growth (v. 32).

The greatest power on earth today is that which had its inception in the preaching of the gospel.

To My Valentine

World Owes Much to St. Valentine

If for Nothing Else Than the Establishment of Pretty Custom.

It is a far cry from the year 270, with its pagan celebration and St. Valentine suffering martyrdom, down to the present one, and yet he still holds mastery in the heart of today.

The origin of observances of St. Valentine's day is somewhat clouded in obscurity, but it is fairly well established that the saint who met his death by being first beaten with clubs and then beheaded had very little to do with the celebration except that his day happened to be at hand when it became desirable to substitute a Christian festival for a long-established pagan observance.

In ancient Rome it was the custom during the greater part of the month of February to celebrate the Lupercalia, or feasts in honor of Pan and Juno; the latter deity was then named Februus, Februus and Februus.

Old Customs Modified.

The leaders of the early Christian church diplomatically endeavored to quash all such pagan celebrations and superstitions. This was chiefly accomplished through changing the forms somewhat or substituting other thoughts or ideas, for it had been proven that it was impossible altogether to extirpate a ceremony to which the masses had become attached through generations of observance.

In various countries the celebration has taken on different aspects. At Norwich, in England, for instance, St. Valentine's eve is kept as a time for general giving and receiving gifts.

On St. Valentine's day, look like that at a miss, and you've got the girl pat if she looks back like this.

sweetheart the marriage was sure to take place during the year.

As the celebration of St. Valentine comes down to the present generation it is one of purely sentimental remembrance, emphasizing the modern tendency to sweep away the cobwebs of antiquity and retain the sociable customs of merit.

Hearts Old and Young

Young hearts are sending many a rime To other hearts today, And I've been thinking all the time What old hearts have to say.

Well, here's a line to you, my dear, From this old heart of mine; The fateful day of love is here, And here's your valentine.

So here's a heart, a simple heart, A heart of other days— Although we meet, although we part— That loves the same old ways.

On St. Valentine's day, Look like that at a miss, And you've got the girl pat if she looks back like this.

If Back Hurts Begin on Salts

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally by Drinking Quarts of Good Water

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications.

The BABY

No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby something she did not know was perfectly harmless, especially when a few drops of plain Castoria will right a baby's stomach and end almost any little ill.

That's the beauty of Castoria; its gentle influence seems just what is needed. It does all that castor oil might accomplish, without shock to the system.

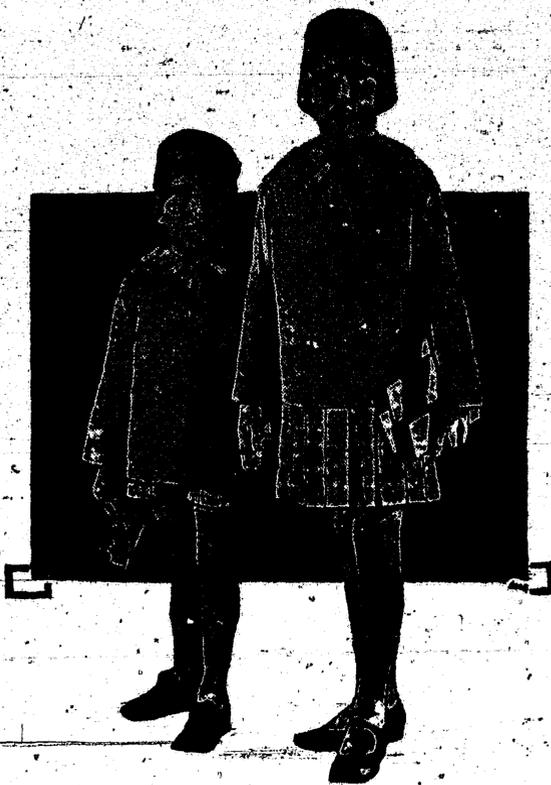

Just one warning: It is genuine Fletcher's Castoria that physicians recommend. Other preparations may be just as free from all doubtful drugs, but no child of this writer's is going to test them! Besides, the book of care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold.

or tweed ensemble of coats with hats to match.

The duplicate idea evidently pleases, and we are going to see more of it this spring and summer. Among pretty big-and-little sister frocks for the coming seasons are models with skirts of the Jersey in contrasting hue, the material of the skirt carried into the waist in a trimming way.

Clothes which are "related" as here pictured will be seen on "Junior" and his sister at the smart Southland winter resorts from now on. The brother-and-sister outfit in this illustration is fashioned of homespun plaid weave combined with solid colored crepe. The plaided collars and similar details are carried out in duplicate.

Sewing mothers can easily secure patterns which are similar, for boys and for girls. With the materials identical, one can make at home these cunning "twin" outfits. Also one can buy read-made for tiny tot and big sister which are exactly alike, as the stores are now making a specialty of "repeat" models.

APPLE TARTS

South Carolina's History

South Carolina seceded from the Union, to be the first of the Confederate States of America, on December 20, 1860. The history of this state is divided into the periods of discovery, exploration, proprietary and royal rule and statehood.

NO, IT is not a case of "seeing double," so do not rub your eyes and stare in amazement, for it is due to the latest whim of mode, that little brother and sister, likewise sister and sister are dressed exactly alike.

So, to mothers who are at the threshold of a siege of spring sewing, here is a timely word of advice—be sure to buy material enough for two-of-a-kind frocks, for "it's the style" for the wee members of one family to have their clothes made of identical fabric, also in duplicate styling.

To be sure, this is a departure from the old way of thinking. Time was when if two little girls dressed alike it meant one of two things, either they were twins or else a thrifty mother happening to have some "material left over" from the eldest girl's dress, decided to utilize it by conjuring a frock for wee sister-out of the remnant.

Today, by the decree of the mode, the fashionable thing to do is to dress sisters in frocks of the same fabric with identical trimmings. Even in winter coats this idea has been carried out, for wherever dimly lit fashionables gathered, one would see children of one family dressed alike in that they would be wearing chipchilla

Bureau of Home Economics Aids Producer and Consumer

From one point of view much of the investigation work of the bureau of home economics might be said to stand between the producers of household commodities and the homemaker-consumers. Its findings often serve as a guide to production or distribution, and at the same time may be used by the consumer as an aid in choice and use of household equipment and materials. The work is of significance to each group in a different sense.

The recently inaugurated household refrigeration studies are a good example of the two-sided function of the bureau of home economics. These studies, aided by the financial co-operation of manufacturers of ice and of mechanical refrigerating units, are aimed at obtaining facts to guide the design and distribution policies of the manufacturers, and also to enable the housewife to select and operate her ice box or mechanical refrigerating unit to best advantage.

Again, in the dietary studies, which show what foods are actually being consumed in the group of families surveyed, and how completely these foods meet nutritive needs, information is assembled for the guidance of food producers, and also for use in educational programs directed toward the consumer through radio releases, newspaper articles, bulletins and other agencies carrying information about good nutrition.

Other studies may reveal to the producer the reasons for conditions in his particular field, as in the case of studies of the present use of cotton fabrics for clothing and household articles.

Again, the bureau offers a neutral territory for the meeting of equipment manufacturers and homemakers, as in the permanent exhibits of different makes and types of washing machines, ironing machines and sewing machines.

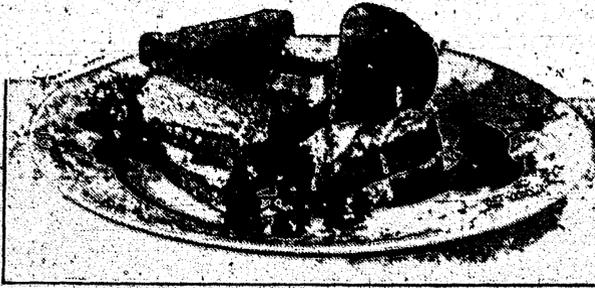

In the annual report for 1927, Dr. Louise Stanley, chief of the bureau of economics, outlines its three main branches of work—foods and nutrition, economic studies and clothing and textiles—and indicates the investigations now going on in each division. As most of the research work of the bureau consists of long-time projects, the report is chiefly a statement of progress.

In the food and nutrition division the principal lines of work are the vitamin studies, co-operation in the project dealing with palatability of meat, the collection of data on the chemical composition of foods, and the co-operative study of household refrigeration.

Dietary studies have been given especial attention in the economic division, which is continuing its analyses of clothing and other household expenditures, and the studies of the use of the housewife's time in order to determine the most needed household equipment. This section has also undertaken a study of the changes in the consumer demand for cotton fabrics, and the reasons for those changes.

Much of the work of the textile and clothing division has been directed toward helping the cotton situation, es-

Tasty Club Sandwich Can Be Easily Made

Club Sandwiches With Cottage or Cream Cheese Filling.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

All sorts of good combinations of flavors are possible in club sandwiches, which might well be used more often for an easily prepared Sunday night supper or for other luncheons. When you order a club sandwich in a restaurant you usually expect to be served a three-tiered sandwich made of toast, with two filled sections, usually containing some lettuce, a slice of chicken, a slice of tomato, a little ham or bacon, and mayonnaise dressing to molten. Both sections of the sandwich may be alike, or the ingredients may be distributed as you please, provided that the total combination is a palatable blend.

It is not necessary to use chicken every time you make club sandwiches. Veal, lamb, pork or other cold meats may be used, or cottage or cream cheese. The last makes an excellent filling because it can be combined with various other flavors in an appetizing way. For example, cottage cheese with nut meats and slices of tart tender apple, in addition to the dressed lettuce. Sliced Spanish onion and tomato also go well with the cottage cheese, and cucumber may be used during its season.

The bureau of home economics says that the secret of making successfully any club sandwiches successfully is to have all the ingredients assembled conveniently for rapid work. Do not undertake to make these sandwiches for a large group of people unless you are sure of being able to fill and serve them before the toast cools.

Suppose you are ready to make the sandwich illustrated. Your cottage cheese mixed with chopped green pepper, lettuce, mayonnaise, and sliced tomato are before you on the kitchen work table. While you are toasting the bread, fry the bacon. On a slice of toast spread the cheese generously, lay on a leaf of lettuce, add mayonnaise, slices of tomato, and strips of bacon. Cover with another slice of toast, add more filling, and top with a third slice of toast. Cut the sandwich diagonally with a very sharp knife, garnish with a small pickle or olives or radishes, and serve immediately. Sandwiches of this type are intended to be eaten with a knife and fork.

Cleveland, Ohio.—"After having my first baby, I lost weight, no matter what I did. Then a doctor told me I would be better if I had another baby, which I did. But I got worse, was always sickly and went down to 98 pounds. My neighbor told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it helped her very much, so I tried it. After taking four bottles, I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework now without one bit of trouble."—Mrs. M. RISSWORTH, 10004 Nelson Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

The Bedtime Story

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"I'd like to tell you about myself," said one of the animals in the zoo.

"Well, I'd be charmed to hear," said the red fox politely.

"There is my cousin, the Swift, or the Kit fox, as he is sometimes known, but I have a far nicer name, a more generous name."

"What is your name, creature?" asked the red fox. "I think I know it, but of course I would like to be sure."

"Of course you would," said the creature.

"Then tell me," said the red fox. "My name is Large-Eared Swift," said the animal.

"That's what I thought," said the red fox. "You are very much like your cousin, the Swift, or Kit fox, aren't you?"

"Yes, our ways are very much alike," said the Large-Eared Swift. "But pray tell me, why did you say you had such a generous name?" asked the red fox.

"Can't you tell for yourself?"

pecially through suggestions on the use of cotton fabrics for women's and children's clothing and household articles. Fabric finishes, especially starches, have been studied, and also the most effective temperatures for laundering clothes.

"If I could have told without asking you, I would have done so," replied the red fox proudly.

"Then I will tell you," said the Large-Eared Swift.

"I have a generous name because my name sounds like something big. 'To be generous one must be big and give large things away, or make large gifts of something of the sort."

"Are you so generous, and what has your name to do with it?" asked the red fox. "Still I don't see."

"You must be very stupid," said the Large-Eared Swift. "I have large ears—that's generous of me."

"Doesn't my name speak for itself—Large-Eared Swift?"

"But you don't give your ears away," said the red fox.

"Of course not," said the Large-Eared Swift. "That would be foolish."

"But you aren't generous unless you give something away or do something generous," said the red fox.

"Oh," said the Large-Eared Swift, "I hadn't thought about it that way."

"Well, you'd better think about it that way," said the red fox, "and give up boasting."

Little Household Hints

Put the children on the pay roll with rewards for good work well done.

Just plain soap and water are among the best aids to health.

Books kept on open shelves are more likely to be read than those shut behind glass doors.

Buttons on heavy coats will stay sewed on if the thread is run through smaller buttons on the reverse side of the material.

To make elder apple sauce, prepare apples as for apple sauce and cover them with sweet elder reduced one-half by boiling. Cook slowly until tender.

Bluish fruit stains that do not come out with boiling water, usually give way to alternate applications of a 10 per cent solution of acetic acid and boiling water.

Detects Thunderstorms
A radio device has been perfected to give notice of approaching thunderstorms. A detector starts ringing a bell at intervals when a storm is still 200 miles away. When the storm is only half an hour distant, though the sky may still be clear, the bell rings continuously.

Foods We All Like

By NELLIE MAXWELL

A most wholesome dish and one which will be enjoyed by young and old is:

Beets Stuffed With Spinach.—Select six medium sized beets, scrub them well. Place them in a baking dish with just the water that clings to them; cover and bake until tender in a moderate oven. Remove and slip off the skin. When cool enough to handle scoop out the centers, leaving a good sized cavity in each. Sprinkle each with salt and pepper and put a half teaspoonful of butter in each. While the beets are baking, cook spinach until tender. Drain, then chop fine and add one chopped hard cooked egg, two tablespoonfuls of butter and salt and pepper to season. Press the spinach into the beets, cover with buttered crumbs and bake for fifteen minutes in a hot oven. Serve hot.

Chicken and Mushrooms in Peppers.—Prepare the peppers for stuffing by removing the tops and taking out the white fiber and seeds. Parboil in slightly salted water for ten minutes, then drain. Drain the liquid from a small can of mushrooms, cut into pieces and add the yolks of three hard cooked eggs chopped, one cupful of cooked chicken, one cupful of soft bread crumbs, one tablespoonful each of butter and lemon juice and half a teaspoonful of salt. Moisten with cream, fill the pepper shells and cover with buttered crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven until the crumbs are brown.

Raisin, Open Sandwiches.—The open sandwich is especially well liked to serve with tea on an afternoon, as it is pretty to look at and just a mere mouthful, all one cares to eat. Mix chopped raisins with orange juice, add a few drops of lemon juice, garnish with halves of blanched almond.

We all like to try new things. At this time of the year when the new nuts are in the market let us use them as freely as possible. Nuts are rich in food value—concentrated food—and when properly manufactured are entirely digestible. For those who must not eat meat, nuts offer many ways of taking the place of it.

Salads are improved by a table-spoonful or two of minced or finely broken nuts, and cakes and cake fillings are made very delicious.

Peanut Butter Fudge.—Take two and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one-third of a cupful of corn syrup, one-half cupful of milk and one-half cupful of peanut butter. Boil to the soft ball stage and set away to cool. Stir until creamy, drop by spoonfuls on waxed paper.

Wool Material for Tailored Frock

(Prepared by the Bureau of Home Economics, United States Department of Agriculture.)

Every one needs at least one trim, tailored, wool dress for winter street wear, and the woman who goes to an office or a classroom may need several to alternate with each other. A coat frock of any lightweight wool material is an excellent type for the medium or stout figure, since the lines are usually long, and the design simple.

A most attractive coat frock of wool voile is illustrated by the bureau of home economics. Other materials such as wool crepe or wool georgette may also be adapted to this easily made style. The surplus front accentuates the desirable long lines and makes it possible to arrange the fastenings so that the dress is easy to put on and take off. The three buttons at the belt line and two snaps on an inside stay fastened to the underarm seam and which holds the under edge in place, are the only fastenings necessary.

Two shades of brown were used in the ensemble. Dress, gloves and hose are of cinnamon brown. Shoes and purse are of a darker brown leather. A tan velours hat trimmed with brown velvet, and tan bands of silk to protect the collar and cuffs of the dress, harmonize with the browns of the costume.

The waistline is marked by a belt set in between the waist and skirt, shaped to continue down the open edge of the skirt as a facing. In back the belt is also shaped to form a square design on the waist, which reieves plainness slight fullness in the waist is added over the bust by two small tucks in the shoulder, which provide a few gathers at the waistline. Fullness is added to the skirt by two wide tucks in the back.

At Alamogordo

Last Saturday a few of the people of Carrizozo journeyed to Alamo with the girls' basketball team and witnessed one of the fastest and best games they have ever seen. Although our girls were beaten, the score was not so one-sided as it could have been. Our girls' teamwork was wonderful to behold, but they could not seem to hit the basket until late in the last half, when Vera Richard opened up with a volley that took everyone by surprise and brought the hope of our rooters to a white heat, but to no avail. Another thing that hampered our girls was the fact that they had to play only six-minute quarters.

The score at the end of the half was 20-6 in Alamo's favor. At the end of the third quarter the score stood 30-12 for Alamo and then our girls started working. The guards did their stuff to perfection and the forwards worked together as never before. Both teams played well and must be complimented on their excellent sportsmanship and teamwork. The final score was 33-22 in Alamo's favor.

We were also hampered by the fact that Hada Corn was out on account of mumps and Velma Gage had tonsillitis; Jessie Pearl Rustin had to leave the game on account of injuries. The outstanding players for Carrizozo were Margie Rolland, Vera Richard and Ella Bell.

High Rolls and Alamogordo played a very exciting game, being refereed by Mr. Riddle.

Albert Ziegler left Sunday for the east on his semi-annual purchasing trip, mentioned in our last issue. Mr. Ziegler will be one of the earliest to visit the markets, hence his having the chance to make the best of selections.

The gentlemen mentioned are all business men of Ruidoso.

Carrizozo Boys Go Out on Warpath

The Carrizozo boys went out on the warpath Saturday and invaded the Mescalero Indian Reservation, defeating the braves by a score of 13-11 on the Reservation school court. Mescalero led 2-0 at the end of the first quarter, 10-6 at the end of the half—the score stood 10-10 at the end of the third quarter. When the fourth quarter started our boys showed their superior training by letting out a burst of speed that made the final score stand 13-11 in our favor. "Chief" Lemon as center and Raymond Lackland as forward scored most of the points for the boys, while Gallegos, Harkney and Sterling did their bit with some excellent teamwork.

Bryan Hightower and John Fageros were here from their ranch near Ancho this week and talked much about the nice snowfall they had last Sunday.

PRICE $2.00 THE YEAR

Fought a Good Fight

Hi School Students:
The Carrizozo High School team went to Artesia Thursday with hopes of trimming some of the prospectives and had been champs in the valley and succeeded in taking Hope into camp by 25 to 17. The team was not full strength on account of Cooper having a bad ankle and Gallagos being ejected on fouls. The next game was with Carlsbad, the game ending with a score of 44 to 23 against us. This meant our elimination, but we were requested to play Hagerman after Lake Arthur gave up to that team and while it meant nothing to us, we won by a score of 40 to 23. Our boys were awarded honors for good sportsmanship and smooth team-work. The final game was played Saturday night between Capitan and Carlsbad, after the Carrizozo-Hagerman game and Capitan won by a score of 33-28. We were glad to see the mountain boys win the championship and wish them well in the tournament at Albuquerque.

Paul Gallagos was the outstanding player for Carrizozo and was placed on the all-valley team as guard. His fast pivoting and good team-work was admired by all.

On this trip, the boys gathered to elect a captain who would follow in the footsteps of this year's captain, George Cooper. They acted wisely by electing Maurice, 'Chief' Lemon as their leader. We are all sure he will lead them well and that we will have another good team next year.

Boy Scout Scoutin's

The Boy Scouts met last Thursday night at the Lutz Hall, with 15 boys in attendance. The meeting opened with a single drill. One new name was added to the roll. It was decided to attend the "Jamboree" at Roswell on April 20.

The Scouts enjoyed themselves with games of various kinds, after which the lights were turned off, and an artificial camp fire around which the Scouts assembled in a circle.

During the time the lights were turned off, ghost stories were told, and the meeting was finally closed with a benediction from the Scoutmaster.

Meetings will be held as announced in The Outlook, every Thursday night.

Carrizozo Honored

During the past two weeks, Carrizozo has been honored by two different state organizations.

The first was the Order of the Eastern Star, which order honored Carrizozo by the selection of Mrs. Jeanette Lemon as a Grand Warden of the Grand Chapter, a position of distinction which came unsolicited and of which Carrizozo should justly be proud.

The second was the selection of one of our prominent stockmen, T. A. Spencer, as head of the New Mexico Cattle & Horse Growers' Association.

We congratulate the new officers and commend both organizations on the wisdom of their selections.

Nail Fuller Coming

Word has been received at office from district state highway engineer B. F. Kelley to the effect that the machine for picking up nails on the public highways, spoken of in The Outlook's issue of Feb. 24, will soon be here and will make a demonstration.

This will be something unusual for the people of Carrizozo to see, as it is the first of its kind ever introduced in the United States, and is the work of our present Highway Commission.

Grand Secretary, I.O.O.F. Here Last Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. C. Bert Smith came in last Saturday from Albuquerque where Mr. Smith attended a meeting of the I. O. O. F., where the deputy Grand Sire of the order in the United States gave a lecture. They returned by way of the Grand Quivira and viewed the ruins of the ancient city. On the trip from the Grand Quivira to Carrizozo, they had some car trouble which kept them over here for Sunday. They registered at the Carrizozo Eating House, attended church Sunday morning and left for their home in Artesia, late in the afternoon. Mr. Smith is the Grand Secretary of the I. O. O. F. of New Mexico.

Demetrio Perea Dies

Last Sunday, at a local hospital in El Paso, Demetrio Perea, old resident of this county, died after an illness of several weeks duration. Mr. Perea spent the most of his life in Lincoln county until about two years ago, when he moved to Roswell where he lived until he was taken ill a short time ago and was taken to El Paso for treatment, but to no avail. He was a good accountant and held various county positions during his long residence here.

The funeral was held Monday, his brothers, Joseph Romero of Carrizozo and Juan Perea of Santa Fe, attending.

He leaves two sons and two daughters at El Paso, two brothers, Juan Perea of Santa Fe, Joseph Romero of Carrizozo and other relatives over the county to mourn his loss.

Mesdames Spencer and Allen Entertain at Bridge

Mesdames T. A. Spencer and S. G. Allen entertained the Carrizozo Bridge Club last Saturday afternoon at the Spencer home.

The date being the birthday of Mrs. W. C. McDonald, the Bridge Club presented her with a painting by Willard Page. The lady was the recipient of numerous individual presents from different members of the club.

At bridge, Mrs. Louis Adams won the first prize and the second went to Mrs. S. Ramsdale. Refreshments followed.

Home Economics Dinner

Too late for last week:
On Thursday evening, Feb. 23, the Home Economics class of the Carrizozo High School served a six o'clock dinner in the Home Economics Room.

They served 18 people, consisting of the city school board and the faculty.

The dinner was a four-course affair. The first course was a fruit cocktail with crackers; the second was the main dinner course of roast chicken, dressing, creamed peas, mashed potatoes and clover leaf rolls; the third was a perfection salad with mayonnaise and cheese straws; the fourth was plum pudding.

The tables were decorated very daintily. The color scheme was lavender, pink, and white; and the center pieces being sweet peas of those colors. The tables were arranged in an oblong, opened at one end.

Miss Helen Sterling acted as hostess and as toastmistress after the dinner.

After everyone had finished eating, a program followed, which was enjoyed by all.

State Highway Equipment Will be Painted Red

All state road equipment such as graders, trucks, tractors, etc. is to be painted a uniform color, a bright red, it is announced by the State Highway Department.

There are several reasons for this move: First, equipment painted a bright red offers great visibility to motorists and therefore lessens the probability of accidents due to drivers running into pieces of machinery.

Second, by having all state road equipment of a uniform color, it is readily recognized and identified. Thievery of such equipment would be more hazardous and stolen machinery could be easily identified and quickly recovered.

As rapidly as pieces of equipment are brought into the state highway shops for repair, they will be repainted the standard 'highway red' before being returned to the job. In this manner, the painting of the state machinery will be done gradually and with a small amount of inconvenience due to shortage of equipment.

Box Supper and Dance

were given at Capitan Tuesday night to raise funds to defray the expenses of the boys' basketball team while at the Tournament in Albuquerque. Nearly $90 was realized by the undertaking and the boys left Wednesday.

Burkett-Griffith

Slipping away from his many friends the latter part of last week, J. C. Burkett of the Carrizozo Schools and manager of the Crystal Theatre, journeyed to his old home in Abilene, Texas and returned Monday, accompanied by a life companion, who will share all his joys and woes, the last named of which we trust will never befall the new companionship.

J. C. Burkett and Miss Margaret Louise Griffith were united in marriage at Abilene, Texas, with the Rev. J. C. Burkett, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Abilene and father of the groom, performing the ceremony, Sunday morning, March 4.

Mrs. Burkett is a young lady possessed of a lovable disposition and this, together with her many becoming accomplishments will endear her to the hearts of our people in her new home who extend to her the warm hand of welcome.

The groom is so well known among our people that an introduction is unnecessary. He has been with us in our schools as a music, manual training and science teacher for the past two years, during which time he has given the best of satisfaction to the school board and made many lasting friends among our citizens.

Mr. Burkett is entitled to an ideal wife as a life companion; he has her. The new Mrs. Burkett is worthy of a good, loyal husband; she has him. We offer our congratulations.
